THE

General HISTORY

SPAIN.

FRO M

The first Peopling of it by Tubal, till the Death of King Ferdinand,

Who United the Crowns of CASTILE and ARAGON.

WITHA

CONTINUATION

TO THE

Death of KING PHILIP III.

Written in Spanish,

By the R. F. F. John de Mariana.

To which are added,

Two SUPPLEMENTS,

THE FIRST

By F. Ferdinand Camargo y Salcedo, the other by F. Basil Varen de Soto, bringing it down to the present Reign.

The whole Translated from the Spanish

By Capt JOHN STEVENS.

L O N D O N:

Printed for Richard Sate at Grays-Inn-Gate in Holbourn, Stantis Saunders in the New-Exchange in the Strand, and Chomas Bennet at the Half-Moon in St. Paul's Church-Yard. 1699.

Right Honourable CHARLES,

Earl of Dorset and Middlesex, &c.

MY LORD.

Ariana's History of Spain has been an Offering worthy the Acceptance of two Kings. Its first appearance in the World was in Latin, in the Reign, and under the Patronage of the Mighty Monarch Philip II. of Spain, from whom it met with so favourable a Reception, as encourag'd it, when made Spanish by the fame hand, to aspire to no less Protection than the same great Prince's Son, Philip III, then Sovereign, not only of all Spain, but of the East and West-Indies. This same History now first brought to speak English. I prefume to prefent your Lordinip, as the worthieft Patron I could make choice of, for a Work, that has hitherto been thought, deferving the Acceptance of Kings. Nor do I think my choice inferiour to my Authors, not that I mean to bring the Dignity of Crown'd Heads into a Parallel with other Honours, but because Kings, tho' they are above all other Men, as to their Character; yet they may be, and are often inferior to many in the Beauties and Accomplishments, both of Body and Mind. Philip II. was more a Politician than an Historian. and Philip III. had more of the Saint than of the Scholler; the Fa-, ther made it his only Study to over-reach other Princes, and gain, some Advantage upon them, the Son rather aim'd at Heavenly than Worldly Learning. Thus it appears neither of them had those parts your Lordship is possess'd of, to render you, if not so powerful, yet a more worthy Patron. Their Power might shade their Ignorance but your Lordships Judgment and Learning will exert it self even above their Power. They might receive the fawning Flatteries of their Subjects: but your Lordship is so far above being Flatter'd that it would be a very difficult Task to give a true Estimate of your real Abilities. Twill refrain enlarging upon this Subject, left Malice or, Envy, should interpret that a Reflection upon others, which is only a faint Expression of what is your Lordships due. I must desist from all that looks like Praise, as well, because I can't in a small compais express so much as is known to the World, as because it is an undertaking much above my reach to give a Character of your Lordship, or to express the worth of your Noble Ancestors. Persons so truly Great, are above all Flattery, and mean Objects are rather expos'd to scorn than extoll'd by it. Your Lordship stands highly visible among the first, among those mean, who having attain'd to the utmost pitch of Honour, can receive no Addition of Glory from the best of Pens. This makes my Task in approaching so able a Judge, the more easie, which others, perhaps, may think the greatest difficulty. Much Study and Accurate Language, they fay is requisite to express our selves duly to Persons of eminent Parts, who are able to discover the least Imperfections, and expect to be treated according to their Merit. I confess, the ablest Pen can never exceed where there's true worth; but at the fame time, it must be allow'd, that those who deserve most, are generally contented with least. Thus we see the Greatest and Best of Men are nothing pleas'd to hear their own Commendations, because, tho' never foreal, Modesty makes them look like Flattery in their Eyes, and they easily connive at Faults, which are not willful, because the sweetness of their Temper makes them rather commiserate then expose the Failings of others. This is a Generofity, without which, no Man can be call'd truly Good, and he that is not Good, can never be truly Great. Tyrants, and others, rais'd by infamous means to mighty Titles, may according to the mistaken vulgar Sense of the World, be call'd, and look'd upon as Great, in respect of their Power or Riches; but only those are really so, and will transmit that Name to Posterity, who either rise by Noble and Vertuous Actions, or being Nobly Born, preserve that Nobility unblemish'd. Your Lordship has Worth to be above Flattery, Generofity not to be puff'd up with due Praises, and Goodness to overlook Faults. I am too fensible of my own weakness, not to think so able a Judge may discover many in this Work, for of this Epifle I do not speak, it being only design'd to beg Pardon for the rest. The Work I own deserv'd an abler Undertaker; but there is something of Glory, even in attempting great things, tho the Success don't anfwer, and it is Honourable to favour and encourage fuch Attempts. Scipio deserv'd no less Commendation for favouring Ennius, than Augustus did for encouraging Virgil, and Your Lordship in Patronizing this Translation, tho' it prove inferior in value, will do no less than the two great Monarchs I mention dat first, in giving their Protection to the Originals. The less my Merit appears, the greater will be the Demonstration of his Goodness, who supports my Weakness. The Mighty Artaxerxes accepted of Water a Country-man brought him in his Hands, and stoop'd to drink of it. History ought to be pure as Water, without any Partiality to diffurb, or discolour it, such has my Author been general rally accounted, if the course way of presenting of it in the hands of my tinpolith'd Stile make it appear the less valuable, Your Lordship will be pleas'd to consider it was the best Vessel I had to serve it up in, and to look upon it as the best mark I was able to give of the profound Respect I owe, as

My Lord,

Your Lordships

Most Faithful and most

Devoted humble Servant, 70HN STEVENS.

THE

PREFACE

HE Learned part of the World is so well acquainted wish the value of this History, that it will seem superstuous to give any Charatter of it; so that what-soever I can say in its behalf, must fall short of what it deserves in the Opinion of those who are Judges of its worth, and such as have no knowledge of it, may be apt to think me Partial, as Translator, should losser any thing in commendation of it. Mariana needs no Apology, having established an unblemished Reputation; and that particularly, as to the best of Qualifications requir'd in an Historian, which is, being Impartial. I will not go about to prove him so in the strictest Sense, for that were to make him more than Man, since we know there is none absolutely such, because Nature inclines all Mortals to affect one Party more than another, and we should look upon him as stuped and insensible, that had not some love for his Country above another. For this reason, I do not pretend to assirm, that my Author is absolutely Impartial, being a Spaniard; but I dare confidently aver, he is lo, far beyond all that have undertaken to write History in that Nation, and perhaps, sbould I say in any other, it might be no more than he deserves. Our English Histories are very well known to carry too much Byasis; those of France are no more exempt from it, nor do I think any other Nation free from the vanity of extolling its own Actions. If all the World be guilty of the Crime, he that has least of it, must doubtless, be accounted the most Vertuous, and such I look upon Mariana to be, which I think as great a Commendation as can be given an Author. The Fabulous Stories of Antiquity he lightly runs over, being unwilling, as he fays, wholly to omit that which others have treated of at large, or to impose Fictions upon his Reader as Truth. This, as to what hap ned in Spain before the coming of the Romans and Cathaginians; for of their times we have good Lights in Lain Authors, and there is as much faid here, as can well be made out of them, peculiarly relating to the Country, without straying too much into Foreign Affairs, of which, still there are sufficient hints, as far as they are requisite for making those of Spain the more plain and intelligible, and even at times, they are enlarged for the Instruction of the Reader, who has not seen them in other Authors. are enlarged for the Instruction of the Keader, who has not seen them in other Autoors. The Gothilh times are again dark, because the Barbarous Nations breaking into Spain, so oppress the Natives, that all Learning was almost lost, as may appear by the profound Ignorance that reign's for many Years. This continued till the Conversion of the Goths, when receiving the Faith, they began to be Civilized, and by degrees, applyed themselves to prostable Studies. But being Conqueryis of so great a Nation, and having no Body left to oppose them, they gave themselves wholly up to Pride and Luxary. God, as may med he believed, permitting them to fall into Juch heinous Sins, that he might at once ganilly their Nation for the inhumane Barbarities their Royefathers had committed throughout the greatest part of Europe. And indeed so heavy a Judgment fell upon them, that the very Name of them was almost Obliterated by the Invasion of the Moors, who in about eight Months space over-ran the greatest part of so wast a Dominion as Spain is, Acaving the distressed Natives nothing they could call their own, but the barren, uncosh Mountains in the Northern parts, where they liv'd in Caves and Dens, like wild Beafts. Father , because the Infidels contemned, than that they wanted Power to Subdue them. Tet this bandful of Men, breaking out by degrees from those wild places, when God's Mercy began to take place of his Julice, in time grew formidable to the Moors, and erecting fe-meral petty Kingdoms, went on, enlarging their Borders almost insensibly, till in near 800. Tears, they recover'd that, which, as was faid before, they loft in 8 Months. This second Inundation of Barbarians again bore down all that had been fet up towards restoring of Learning and no remains of Literature feem'd for many Years to be left among the Christians, those who were subject to the Moors, groaning under the heavy Yoke of Oppression, and those that had afferted their Liberty making it their only study to handle the Sword, without finding leasure to think of the Pen. For this reason, doubtless, many considerable Actions have been bury'd in Oblivion, and others, which in part were true, have been deliver'dto us with such a mixture of Fables, that there's no possibility of separating the Wheat from the Tares, tho! I believe, F. Mariana has labour'd as much, and perhaps more fuscossfully, than any other in this particular, as being intent upon discovering the truth, and not fond of the Vanity of Honouring his Country with Fictions. The latter Ages. which drawnear to us, furnish much Matter for History, as well because the Kings of Spain, extended their Dominions, and carry'd their Arms beyond the Limits of their own Country, as because there were able Men, whose care it was to transmit to Posterity the Actions of their Princes. This may leftee as to the History.

As to the Author, I think formething ought to be Said of him, the I say the less of his History, because it will speak for it self; and having considered what account to give of him in sew words, I have found none so succept and full, as that he gives of him self in ten

Lines, at the end of his Latin Supplement to his History, which are thefe.

Elbora me genuit, Compluti Mystica cepi, Romæ & Luteriæ dogmata, quæ docui. Sed fractus Cælo duro, atque labore, Toletum, Conscripsi Hesperiæ tempora prisca, redux, Pondera, de Rege, & Scana, de Morte, Jacobo, Pascha, Egira, Nummis, inque libros Biblicos. Est Mariana Domus, Jesu inter Vita sodales, Multiplicis Sophiæ Cultus, amica Quies. An dabis extinctus tarda ut post fata quiescam, Octo Novemque Deus quem fere Lustra premunt.

These are his own words, which for the Satisfaction of the English Reader, who is not acquainted with Latin, I had put into EnglishWerfe by an ingenious Friend, who in compliance to my desire, has Translated them almost Verbasim, and confind himself to a narrow compass, in these words.

Elbora gave me Birth, Complutum fraught, My Mind with Sacred Knowledge, which I taught At Rome and Paris, till th' inclement Air, And broken Health conftrain'd me to repair Back to Toledo, where I first Compos'd Spain's History, from ancient times disclos'd Weights, Coins, t'Hegira did my Pen engage, Kings, Death, St. James, the Palchal Feaft, the Stage, And Books of Sacred Writ, my Dwelling wears The Virgins Holy Name, where free from Cares Among the Tribe of Jesus, in the Chase Of various Truth, I pals my quiet Days, Give me, good God! at length to fleep in Peace, Whom more than four core Years with weighty Age oppress.

Elbora, where he fays he was Born, is a Town now call'd Talavera, upon the River Tas gus, in Castile ; Complutum, where he Study'd, is the University of Alcala de Henares, betwixt Madrid and Toledo. He taught Divinity some Tears at Rome and Paris, and then, as appears by his own Words, return'd into Spain, and setled at Toledo, where be Compos' a all those Works he mentions, which are, his Weights and Measures; that is, those of the Hebrews, Greeks and Romans, reduc'd to those then us'd in Spain'; a Treatise concerning the Stage, another Pious, upon Death and Immortality; one to prove the coming of St. James the Apostle into Spain; one of the Day on which Christ dy'd, which is that he calls Pascha, as being the Rule of keeping Easter; one of the Hegira, or MoorishComputation of Years from Mahomet; one about the Change of Coins; and one in defence of the Vulgate Edition of the Bible. But that which has made most noise in the World. and particularly in England, is his Book de Rege & Regis Institutione; for some Years since, there was scarce a Cobler, tho' he knew not so much as the Title of the Work, but quoted Mariana's Treasonable Doctrines to Authorize Otes's Narrative, insomuch, that had it not been for the former, the Reputation of the latter had been in some danger. However, this Book, the fo much talk'd of is known but to few, being very scarce, and one Reason of it may be, that as it contains many Treasonable Propositions, most Monarchical Governments have doubtless endeavour'd to suppressit, because destructive to Kings. And yet the fo much rail dat once, even by those who never law, or were capable of understanding it, of late, it finds good Approbation among many, who keep and read it with Satisfaction, but Such it is, as well deserves the Sentonce past and executed upon it, at its first coming into the World, for both at Romoised at Patis, it was publickly burnt by the hand of the Common Hangman, a sufficiencial estimony of the Tabborreno these Places had of the Opinions it teathers. And perhaps, that the Lattor, been at either of them at that time, helad not found much better. Quarter than the Book did's but he came not off Scotfree, for being express Commonad from Rome, he was kept, actole. Profiber for above 20 Tears, and wife released by Deatin. I have made to much mention, of this Book, because that Imprisonment, which was the Consequence of it, was improved by Mariana for Composing of this present, at 1500 ment, which was the Consequence of it, was improved by Mariana for Composing of the present of the Profit of the World, in the Consequent, as Six Walter Rauleigh, is failed butte Composit by History of the World, in the Tower, the Maria Countries the History of Schon. He work to the in Latin and then we had the contribution of the superior countries the History of Schon. did Mariana Compile his History of Spain. He writ it first in Latin, and then, as he says himself, searing lest some unskilful Ren Translating it into Spanish, should fully its Reputation, he undertook the work himifelf, not as a Translator, but as he fais, with the liberty of an Author, altering and adding, is he found convenient, upon further search into Records and Angient Authors. Termeir but the Latening, the Spantin, came lower than the end of the Reign of King Berdingan Grandather to the Emperor Charles V. where Mariana confluded his 30 Books; being affain whome down naver to his own time, and this, because he could not speak with that Freedom and Impariality, which he had us'd throughout this Work, by reason, that either the Persons themselves, or else the Children of those who had acted in those latter Reigns being living, it took may that liberty of laying open ill Actions, and exposing the Crimes of those, who in themselves, or their Off-spring, open in actions, and expering the termining the properties of the different properties Thus far went F. Mariana, after whose Death, F. Herdinand Camargo v Salcedo. of the Order of St. Augustin, carry'd on another Supplement, from the Year 1621. where Mariana left off, till 1649, inclusive, where F. Basil Varen de Soto, of the Regular Cleryy, took it up, and went on till the Year 1669, being the 5th of the Reignof this prefent King of Spain, Charles II.

The PREFACE.

Flaving laid as much, as Lebink, requisite, in relation to the Author and his Work, it only remains now, that I add a few words as to the Translation, wherein, I will be as brief as possible, because I don's affect swelling a Volume with my own Notions, and this being me own Labout, as no Man will imagine I can fay any whing to lessen it; so neither am I so wain at so commond it. If had, the World is not so Charitable, as to connive at my faults, and if it has any thing good, it will recommend it felf. There are in the Original many Fi-Hions, which Mariana mentions after other Authors, and these being allowed of by him as Fables, I have infersed, with as much Brevity as I could, thinking it needless to insist much upon those things; which no Reader could be pleas'd with, as being rather Romantick than Historical, as he that writes them sufficiently proves, In the next place, as there is no Spanilh History but swarms with Lives of Saints and Miracles, so this could not but have its space of them among the rest. Now this fort of Legend, the very acceptable to Spaniards, is not at all taking among us, nor to say the trath, any way pertinent in Prosane Hifory; therefore, thefe things I have much retrench'd, not that I have wholly omitted them. for that I would not do, for fear of being thought Unfaithful; but I have reduc'd them into a narrow compass, that the Reader may have a taste of, and not be cloy'd with them. This, and the irregular Method of Mariana in his Chapters, has forc'dme not to make so great a number of them as he has done; but I have put two or three into one, as I found most convenient; yet so, as the Reader, who shall have a mind to compare the Translation with the Original, may easily do it because every Break in the English is a Chapter in the Spanish: by which they are easily to be found. The reason of Translating it from the Spanish rather than from the Latin, is because the former, as was hinted above, is the perfecter Work; being sompos'd after the other by the Author, and much improv'd. The Names of Persons I have kept as they are in the Spanish, where they are such, as can't be found in English, such as Ordoño, Nuño, Sancho, and the like. These Isay, we have not in English, and therefore I would not alter them at all, as some have done, turning them into Latin, which is as odd to us as the Spanish, and calling them Ordonius, Nunius, Sanctius, and fo forth. Others there are, which the Spaniards have corrupted, being Names us'd in other Nations, the perhaps, not among us, these generally, I write after the manner of Spain, but upon the first coming to mention them, do explain and setthem down, as they are call'd where they are in use, an instance of these, are Ramon, in English. Raymund, Brunechilda, whom the French call Brunchault; Pelay of a Letter Pelagues, Bernudo, more presently Verenundo, or Verenundos. Those the Ramon practice and the second and seco Peter, we call him D. Pedre, at it Peter wee, not the true English of Pedro, and Elizabeter, we call him D. Pedre, at it Peter wee, not the true English of Addb over, as in Ordod betting I label. These Names that in Spanish have want with a dash over, as in Ordod betting I label. These Names that in Spanish have want with a dash over, as in Ordod betting I label. These water done and the state of the state of the state of Printed in the state of the man true in the state of the sta Peter, no sall bim D. Pedro; as if Peter were not she true Englift of Pedro, and Elizaporer a cataguranere me opiante que in 1 pet it is not impertinent to mention it because 'sis supposed that many may read this History who have no knowledge of that I ongue. One word more, as to another error in prohomicing of Sancho, Sancha, and other Names ending in that manyer, which are universally by Learned and Unlearned spoken as if they were written Sanco and Sanca, a thing never known in Spanish, where every Letter has its full found, and so it and vanca, a suing never known in Spaniin, where every Letter past its full found, and fo if but in shele words, and all that end in cho, which is to be pronounced as we do those three Letters in the word chosen. I must also inform the Readers that Mariana has been nothing enrious in dividing his Books, which has made me in some few of them take the liberthing currous in avoiding one Doors, where one the pring things to a more completely employ, ty of borrowing a little from one to add to mother to bring things to a more completely employ, as they ought to be at the end of a Book. As for instance, to my first Book I have added the fieft Chapter of the second, as it is in the Spanilly, because that breaks off in the middle of the Relation of Hanno and Himilco's Travels, and begins again with their return home, which I thought more proper to put together, and finish the Back with the conclusion of their Labours. So in the 27th and 29th Books, I have borron'd fomenhat from the 28th and Labours. So in the 27th and 24th Doors, I have out too a jumping the first shings of the first final things which I hope none will find cause to blame me for, nor will it be any Argament against me to which I have none will find cause to esame me sor, nor wish any argument agrangement of so so for so greatest Men is of so for the greatest Men is of overfights, and its wishle, he rather labour a to deliver a good History to Posteria ty, than to feek the Embellishment and Forms that might fet it off. I think I have faid enough, both as to the Author and my self; for I am not ambitious of agaudy Preface, it will be more satisfaction that the History be approved of, the Preface pass unregarded, than that the latter should prove the only thing good in the Book. Since they come into the World, I don't doubt, but they will find enough to censure, and perhaps, but few to defend them; yet the best Judges are usually most favourable, and don't delight to make Faults where they don't find them, and for those that do, their Resections at the long run, may light on themselves, Such may be the fate of all that read, only to carp and rail at what they don't understand. A great deal of Care has been taken to Correct the Prefs, get in fo great a Work, some few Errata's have likely escap'd, which if they have, I hope they are inconsiderable, and only litteral. I had almost forgot to let the Reader understand that D. flands as well for Dona, as for Don, according as the Name it is prefixt to, is either a Man's, or a Womans, tho' in some sew places the Woman is distinguish'd thus, Da, but I could not get it so carry'd on throughout the whole Work. THE

TABLE of Chapters to MARIANA.

The First BOOK. F the first Peopling of Spain by Tubal, of the Fruitfulness of the Soil, its Situation and Circumference, and of its principal Mountains and Rivers.

Chap. II. Of the Ancient and Modern Division of Spain, of the Languages used there, and of the Cufloms of the Spaniards, Chap. III. Of the Fabulous Kings of Spain, of the Geryons, of King Hispalus; and the death of Hercules and of Hesperus, Atlas and Siculus, Kings of Spain. p. 6 Chap. IV. Of the coming of several Nations into Spain.

as the Celtes, Rhodians, Carthaginians and Phenicians, also of Abides, and a wonderful Dearth.

Chap. V. Of the Age of Argantonius. The Phenicians attempt to subdue all Spain, but being repulfed, send for Aid to the Carthaginians, who Ravage the Country, but sustain great loss from the Natives.

Chap. VI. The Carthaginians make War upon the Phenicians; Peace made, in which, the latter become subject to the former. Sappho comes into Spain. Discoveries made by Himilco and Han-

The Second BOOK. Chap. I. THE Actions of the Spaniards in Sicily. The Government of Hanno. An Embassy fent to Alexander the Great. The first Roman and Carthaginian War. Chap. II. The second coming of Hamiltan. Asidrubal succeeds bim. His Preparations for the Roman War, and Death.

Chap. III. The Beginning, Progress and End of the Saguntine War, with the utter Extirpation of that

Saguntine War, with the utter Extirpation of that City.

Chap. IV. The beginning of theisfecond Roman and Chap. IV. The beginning of theisfecond Roman and Carthaginian War. Hannibal marches throf France Carthaginian War. Hannibal marches throf brance Marcus Aurelius and Commodus, the Persecution into Italy. Some of his Astions there, and of the Scipio's in Spain.

Chap. V. Afdrubal designing to march thro France into Italy, is defeated by the two Scipio's, who af-ter that overthrow Mago, and rout the Carthagi-Dians a third time at Bigerra ; but are at laft themfelves vanquish'd and stain.

Chap. VI. Lucius Marcius checks the Progress of the Carthaginians, and gives them a great Querthrow. First Nero, then Publius Scipio comes into Spain, and takes Carthagena.

Chap. VII. Publius Sciplo Routs Afdrubal, and drives the Carthaginians quite out of Spain, other notable Aftions of his there. Cornelius Lentulus and Lucius Manlius, succeed him, and overthrow the Spaniards that had Revolted. p. 28

Chap, VIII. The Spaniards Revolting , are again Subdu'd by the Romans. Cato being Conful, comes into Spain. Several Pretors succeed bim. Their Government and Actions.

The Third BOOK. THE first War of Numantia, and Peace concluded with that City. The War in Eustania, and other parts; and Treachery of the Pretor Sergius Galba.

P. 33
Chap, II. Viriatus's Original and Affions against the Romans. The Government of several Roman Generals, and among them, of Metellus and Pompey, and Death of Viriatus.

p. 35

Chap. III. The second War betwixt Rome and Numantia. The Conful Mancinus, concludes a difhonourable Peace with that People, and is therefore delivered up to them. Scipio Africanus sent against them. The City destroy'd.

Chap. IV. Other Occurrences in Spain after the War. of Numantia. The beginning of the War of Sertorius. His Altions, Defeat and Death. P. 40 Chap. V. Pompey appeales the Tumilts in Spain.
Julius Cælar comes into Spain. The beginning of the Civil Wars there. Pompey's General defeated, the whole Country reduced by Julius Cæfar, who returns to Rome.

Chap. VI. Longinus Governs Spain. His Attions. The War betwixt Caefac and Pompey's Sons. The famous Battle of Munda. Cæsar returns Victorious to Rome.

Chap, VII. Other Commotions in Spain after the Death of Cæsar. The beginning of the Empire of Augustus, and War of Cantabria. p. 48

The Fourth BOOK.

Chap. I. THE Birth of Christ our Lord. The Death of Augustus, and Reigns of the Emperors, Tiberius, Caligula and Claudius, With an Account of the coming of St. James the Apolle into Spain, and first Preaching of the Gofhap. II. The Reigns of the Emperors Nero, Galba, Otho, Vitellius, Vespasian and Titus. With an Account of the Colonies, Free-Towns, and Courts of ons under them. The building of the City Leon, and rife of the Herefie of the Gnosticks.

Chap. IV. The Reigns of the Emperors Pertinax, Severus, Caracalla, Macrinus, Heliogabalus, Alexander Sevetus, Maximinus, Gordianus, Philip, Decius, Tribonianus Gallus, and Emilia-

Chap. V. The Reigns of the Emperors Valerianus, Galienus, Flavius Aurelianus, Tacitus, Flavianus, Probus, Carinus, Dioclesian and Maximi-Constantius and Galerius, Maximinus and

Chap. VI. The Reign of the Glorious Constantine the Great, the first Christian Emperor. The Arian Herose. The first General Council of Nice. p. 60 Chap. VII. The Reigns of the Emperors Constantine, Confrantius, and Confrans, Julian the Apolitace, Jovianus, Valentinian and Valens. p. 62. Chap. VIII. The Reigns of the Emperors Gratianus, Valentinian, Theodolius, Arcadius and HonoThe Fifth BOOK.

Chap. I. HE coming of Several Barbarous Na-Chap. I. FIFE coming of feveral Barbarolis Nations into Spain, as the Vandals, ions into Spain, as the Vandals, Alans, Suevians, Silingians and Goths. Their Original, and observe the fetted.

D. G. Chap. II. The Goths vanquiff and fubdue all the other Barbarous Nations in Spain. The Vandals after this, Successful, go over into Africk. The rife of the Kingdom of the Suevians.

Chap. III. The Painar of the Vines Thandards.

rife of the Kingdom of the Suevians.

D.69,
Chap. III. The Reigns of the Kings Theodoredus, Torifmund and Theodorick. Attila, King of the Huns, twice routed. The General Council of Chalcedon.

Chap. IV. The Death of King Theodorick, and Reigns of Euricus and Alaricus. The Goths twice overthrown by the Franks.

Chap. V. The Reigns of the Kings Gefaleycus, Theo dorick and Amalaritus. Several Spanish Synods.
Defeat of the Franks. And Tryal by Ordeal. p.74.
Chap. VI. The Reigns of Theudisclus, Agila and Athanaglidus. Agreat Plague. The 5th General Council: An Interregnum. And the Con-

Chap. VII. Of the two Sifters Calfuinda and Brunchilda. The Reigns of the Kings Liuva and Leuvigildus. This laft, makes his two Sons his Compaversion of the Suevians.

nions in the Throne. Chap. VIII. Ermenegildus, Son to Leuvigildus, Marries the Lady Ingundis, is Converted to the Catholick Faith; is Besieg a by his Father in Sevil, and put to Death by him. Chap. IX. The remaining part of the Reign of King Leuvigildus. He Perfecutes the Catholicks. Sub-dues the Suevians, his Death, and causes of his Chap. X. The Reign of Recaredus, his and Peoples Conversion. Conspiracies against him detected and punisted. He overthrows the Franks. The third Council of Toledo.

The Sixth BOOK.

Chap. I. THE remaining Adlions of King Recaredus, He Marries Clodofinda, Sister to Childebert King of Lorrain. His Death.
Original of Dukes and Counts.

p. 84

Original of Dukes and Counts.

Chap. II. The Reigns of the Kings Linva, Witericus, Gundemarus, Sifebutus and Recaredus II.

Several Synods; the Few thought Spain. p. 86

Chap. III. The Reigns of the Kings Suinthula, Rechimirus, Sifeanadus and Chintila. The Romans quite research? Const. The Sounds. quite expell'd Spain. Three Synods at Toledo. p.87

Chap. IV. The Reigns of the Kings Tulga, Chinda-fuinthus and Receluinthus, Several Synods of Toledo, Increase of the Mahometan Power. The Election and Coronation of King Wamba. p. 89 Chap. V. The War with the Rebels in Gallia Gothica. Paul, Wamba's General joyns with them. The King marches against them, and reduces all the Country to bis Obedience. Chap. VI. Wamba returns into Spain. Punishes the Heads of the Rebels. His Publick Works. Eleventh Council of Toledo. A great Fleet of Sarazens de-froy'd. Wamba depos'd. Ervigins Usurps the

Chap. VII. The Reigns of the Kings Ervigius and Chap. VIII. The Reign of King Witiza. Roderick

ascends the Throne, Ravishes Count Julian's Daughter, and breaks open an old Castle at Toledo, said to be Inchanted.

Chap. IX. The first coming of the Moors into Spain. They grove fuce spisil, and sack over in great Multitudes. King Roderick overthrown in a great Bastleway. tle. Mis Death. The Moors over-run the greatest Chap. X. The Moor Muza comes over with Supplies.

His Attions. The Moorish Computation of Years, call'd Hegira. Abdalasis, Son to Muza, bis Actions. End of Count Julian and bis Family. Del plorable state of Spain.

The Seventh B O O K.

Chap I. PRince Pelayus, or Pelagius, takes up Arms agams the Moors. Is declar'd King, and Asiraculously Vanquishes the Instales. The Death of Muza. Alahor Governs Spain. p.102 Los Death of Muza. Alanor Governispain. D.102 Chap. II. Pelayus's Power increases, be takes several Towns. His Death. The short Reign and Death of Favila. Several Mobrill Governours in Spain. Allions of the infidels in France.

p. 104.

Chap. III. The Reign of D. Alonfo the Catholick.

His Conquest and Death. Several Moorish Government in Spain. Affairs of the Mahometans both in Spain and Africk.

Chap IV. 48. Parisan of the Mahometans both in Spain and Africk.

Chap. IV. The Reigns of the Kings Froyla, Aurelius, Silon, Alonfo, Mauregatus and Veremundus, or Bermudo. Monarchy of the Moors eveddus, or Bermudo. Adonarcy of the Moors eveted in Spain by Abderhaman. His Death, and Wars among his Sons.

D 107
hap, V. The Reign of D. Alonfo the Chaft. The Netforian Herefix revived. The Kings Sifter debauchd, he taken Lisbon. Wars among the Moors. Invention of the Body of S. James the Apolle, and defeat of Charlemaine.

D. 100

deteat of Chartemanne.

Chap. VI. The remaining part of the Reign of King Alonio. Rebellion sumong the Moors. Alhaca, the Moor dies, and Abderhaman Jucceeds him. The Reign of King Ramiro, be overthrown the Moors in a great Battle. His Death and Invasion of the Normans. p. 110 hap. VII. The Persecution rais'd by the Moors at

Cordova. The Reign of D. Ordonno over the Christians, and Mahomet over the Moors. p. 112

Christians, and Mahomet over the Moors. p. 112. Chap. VIII. The Reign of King Alonso the Great. He is expell'd, and resort of the Street Conspire against him, and are punish'd. The Church of St. James the Aposte made an Archistoprick. Mahomet the Moorish King dies.

Line Street of D. Garcia and D. Ordonno II. of Oviedo, and of Almundar, Abdalla and Abdebarra of Cordons.

derhaman of Cordova.

The Eighth BOOK.

Chap. I. THE Original of the Kingdoms of Navarre and Aragon, and Earls of varre and Aragon, and Earls of Barcelona, with their Succession and Adions, down to the time of King Ordonno II. of Leon. p. 118 Chap. II. Of the Earls of Castile. The Reigns of D. Fruela II. King of Leon. Fillions concerning the Kings of Navarie. The Reign of their King D. Sancho Abarca. Chap. III. The Reigns of Alonfo IV. and Ramiro II. Kings of Leon. Sancho Abarca, King of Navarie flain by Fernan Gonzalez, Earl of Castile. Several Defeats of the Moors, Agreat Eclypse. p. 121

The CONTENTS.

Chap. IV. The Reigns of D. Ordonno III. D. San-Chap. VIII. The Death of Almenon, King of Tole-cha the Groß. Kings of Leon., and of Garcia do, and of D. Ramon, Earl of Barcelona. The cho the Grois, Kings of Leon, and of Garcia Sanchez, King of Navarre; and Allions of Fernan Gonzalez, Earl of Castile.

Chap. V. The Reign of Ramiro III. King of Leon Death of Earl Fernan Gonzalez, Normans infest the Coasts of Spain. Divisions among the Moors. Rebellion against the King of Leon, and bis Death.

Chap, VI. The Reign of Bermudo II. call'd the Gouty, King of Leon. Discord betwirt bim and the Earl of Castile. Leon and Barcelona taken by the Infidels. Garcia, King of Navarre, dies. His Son Garci Sanchez, succeeds bim. p. 127

Chap. VII. The Death of King Bermudo the Gouty, and beginning of the Reign of D. Alonso V. King of Leon. Many troubles among the Moors. The Earl of Castile stain by the Infidels.

tans of Cattiet pans by two suppless.

Chap. VIII. Continues the mighty Revolutions among the Instidets: with the differentiate of the Mighty Kingdom of Cordova? and ereding of several other little Sovereignities in the chief Cities of Spain.

Chap. IX. The last Actions of D. Alonfo, King of Leon, and his Death. The Reign of D. Bermudo III. His Son Sancho, Earl of Castile, Poisons his Mother. His Son Garcia Murder'd. D. 133
Chap. X. The remaining part of the Reign of Sancho
she Greater, King of Navarre. Wicked Contrivance of his Sons. against their Mother. He settles Religious Affairs; Rebuilds Palencia, and is Murder d.

The Ninth BOOK.

Chap. I. HE Posture of Affairs in Spain. Alti. ons of D. Berenguel, Earl of Barcelona. Kingdoms of the Moors. Wars betwiet the Kings of Castile and Leon. Ferdinand Crown'd King of Leon.

Chap. II. Ferdinand, King of Castile and Leon, the most Powerful King of Spain, overthrows the Moors, takes several Towns, and ravages the Territories of the Infidels. Ramiro, King of Aragon, Wars on his Brother of Navarre.

Chap. III. S. Ifidorus's Body translated to Leon. Conversion of two Moorish Princesses. Garcia, King of Navarre, killd by bis Brother Ferdinand. Ramiro, King of Aragon, recovers his Dominions

Chap. IV. The manner bow Spain came to be exempt. ed from the Roman Empire. The famous Roderick Diaz de Bivar, commonly call'd Cid. His Extraction, and first Actions. Three Synods beld in

Chap. V. The remaining part of the Reign of Ferdinand, King of Castile and Leon. His Dominions divided amongs his Children. Of D. Ramiro, King of Aragon. Perpignan built. p. 143 Chap. VI. The Progress of the War D. Sancho made upon his two Brothers. He expels Alonfo, King of

Leon, first, and then Garcia, King of Galicia, lays Siege to the City Zamora, and is there mur-Chap. VII. King Alonfo returns from among the Moors, and recovers his Brothers Kingdoms. The first part of his Reign. Allions of Roderick de Bi- Chap. I. THE coming into Spain of the Moors, var. King Sancho of Navarre, murder day bis Conquests of the Moors in Italy. The Conquest of Toledo resolv'd upon. Ramon, Earl of Barcelona, murder'd.

hap. IX. The famous City Toledo closely Besseg d and Surrendred; many other Places taken. King Alonso stiles bimself Emperor. p. 150 Chap. K. The Election of the new Archbishop of Toledo. The abolifting the old Millal and Brevlary.

The Original of the Archbishop of Toledo. His Spiritual Jurisdiction over all Spain. King Alphonfo's Wives and Children. New Wars break out in Spain.

The Tenth BOOK.

THE Moorish Family of the Almora-Chap. I. vides comes into Spain. King Alonfo twice overthrown by them. Several Strangers come out of France to serve under bim, be bestows three of his Daughters on them. The Holy War in the East.

Chap. II. The great Actions of D. Sancho Ramirez, King of Aragon. He is kill'd at the Siege of Huesca. His Sons continue the Siege, rout a great Army of the Moors and Christians that come to raise it, and take the Place.

Chap. III. Great Preparations thro' Christendom for the Holy War. Valencia taken by Roderick de Bivar, other Actions of his, suspected to be Fabu-lous. His Death, and that of Joseph, the Moorish Monarch.

Chap. IV. The Death of Sancho, Prince of Castile, and of the two Kings, Peter I. of Aragon, and Alonso IV. of Castile. The Moorish King of Za-

Anisot V. of Castle V. of the Men. p. 158
Chap. V. The Reign of Queen Urraca. Her Lewineft. She is Divorc'd from her Husband, Depording the Government. Her Son Alonto Proclaim'd King of Castile. p. 160 Chap. VI. The Wars of Majorca and Zaragoça. The Schism of Burdinus. Peace concluded betwixt the Crowns of Castile and Aragon. The Original of the Kingdom of Portugal.

Chap. VII. A Schiffn in the Church, on account of the Antipope. Peace betwirk Castile and Aragon.

War with the Moors. Original of the Kingdom of Portugal.

Chap. VIII. The War betwixt the King of Castile

Chap. VIII. The War betwirt the King of Castile and the Moors. The Death of King Alonfo of Aragon, and Revolutions of that Kingdom, and Navarre. The former chofes Ramiro, a Monk, the latter, Garcia for their King. p. 164 Chap. 1X. The King of Castille alpires to the Crowns of Aragon and Navarre. Stiles himself Emperor. Ramiro, King of Aragon resgm, and his Son-inlaw, Raymund, Earl of Barcelona, assuments the Chap. X. D. Alonso of Portugal, takes the Title of King. His Wars with the Moors. War betwixt the Christian Princes, and Peace concluded. Baeça and Almeria taken by the King of Castile, and Lisbon by him of Portugal.

The Eleventh BOOK.

call'd Almohades. The Death of D. Garcia, King of Navarre, by a fall from bis Horse, bis Son Sancho succeeds him. King Alon-1; so and his Daughter both Marry'd. Many Places taken from the Moors.

Chap. II. King Luis the Tounger of France, comes into Spain. Alonso of Castile and Leon, call'd the Emperor, dies. His Sons Sancho and Ferdinand, inherit the Crowns of Castile and Leon. Original of the Knights of Calatrava.

Of the Knights of Calatrava.

Chap. III. The Death of Sancho, King of Caffile.

The great Commotions that enfetd. The Death of Raymund, Prince of Aragon, bis Isue. Alonfo. bis eldest Son succeeds in his Dominions. P. 176 Chap. IV. Alonso, the young King of Castile, takes upon him the Government, recovers most of his Dominions, joyns in League with the Aragonian, and Marries Ellenor, the Daughter to Hehry II. King of England. Some Allions of Ferdinand King of Chap. V. The League made against Peter Ruiz de Agagra. The Original of the Knights of Santiago. The taking of Cuenca by the Christians. Increase of the Knights of Santiago, or S. James the Apostle. Several Places in Navarre taken by the Castillans.

Chap. VI. Rebellion in the Kingdom of Loon Jupipers' A. Alonfo, King of Portugal, taken by Ferdinand of Leon, and fet at liberty. Being Befing d in Santarem, by the Moors, is relieved by him. He Kantalitation of the Alondon Santarem, by the Moors, is relieved by him. quishes the Infidels. Attions of his Son Sancho.p. 182 Chap. VII. The Death of the Kings of Leon and Portugal. Alliances betwiet the Kings of Spain. The Defeat of the Corifians at Alarcos. Sancho the Wife, King of Navarre, dies. Sancho I. King of Portugal. Alonfo IX. of Leon. p. 183. Chap. VIII. King Alonfo of Aragon dies, and his Son Peter fueceds him. The King of Leon. Diword. Caltilians and Aragonians over-run. Navarre. Alonfo, King of Caltile? stop. Daughters Marved to the Kinac of Evolund and Leon. Blaue. Marry d to the Kings of England and Leon. Plague p. 186 and Famine in Spain.

Chap. IX. The Marriage of the King of Aragon. and Death of some Persons of Note Peace concluded, and Alliance betwirt all the Christian Kings of Spain: The beginning of the War with the Moors.
A vast Multitude of Foreigners comes to the Assiftante of the Christian Kings of Spain. P. 187 Chap. X. The further Progress of the Christian Army, which obtains a most signal Victory over the Infidels of whom 200000 are flairs and this call'd the Battle of Navas de Tolosa. Many Towns taken after this Success.

The Twelfth BOOK.

Chap. I. THE Original and Growth of the Herefie of the Albigenses, which spread all over France, and some part of Spain. Preaching a-gainst them unsuccessful War is resolved upon p. 191 Chap. II. The Death of Peter, King of Aragon, and of Alonfo, King of Caffile. Simon, Earl of Montfort, General of the Catholicks. Overthrows the Hereticks, and takes the Towns they had poffeffed

Chap. III. Disorders in Castile and Aragon, under the two Insant Kings. Sancho, King of Navarre, altogether decripid. The Lateran General Coun-of Castile into their Hands. They commit many Infolencies, and oppress the Nobility. Toung King Henry Marry'd and Divort'd. The King of Aragon escapes from his Keepers. Chap. V. Great Disorders in Castile rais'd by the Family of Lara. Young King Henry kill'd by the fall of allie. Ferdinand Prince of Leon, fuecceds his Mother Berengaria, renouncing her Right. Or-ders of S. Dominick, S. Francis and La Merced Instituted Injusticea.

Chap. VI. The Marriages of two Kings, Ferdinand of Caffile, and Jayme of Aragon. King Ferdinand quells many Commotions. Death of the Kings of France and Portugal. Chap. VII. King Ferdinand of Castile's great Success

againf the Moors. King Jayme of Aragon feix, a gainf the Moors. King Jayme of Aragon feix, by fome Rebellion Nobles, make this efcapes, and commences War against the Rebels. p. 202. Chap. VIII. The War with the Moors renew.d. The Island of Majorca Conquer'd by the Aragonians. The Popes Legate disanuis the Marriage of King Jayme, on account of Confanguinity. Raymund, Earl of Toulouze, a Heretick, reduc'd. p. 204 Earl of Toulouze, a Heretick, reduce. p. 204. Chap. IX. Alonfo, King of Leon defeats the Moors, takes Merida and Badajoz, and dies, Crowns of Caltile and Leon united under Ferdinand. San-tho. King of Newsyng. cho, King of Navarre, dies, Theobald fucceeds

bim. Interviews of several Kings. p. 20% Chap. X. The beginning, progress and end of the War against Cordova, with the Conquest of that Noble

hap. VII. 1ee Death of the Kings of Spain. The City. Usual. Alliances betweet the Kings of Spain. The Chap. XI. A Moorish King Baptiz d. Descriptions Descriptions at Alarcsos, Sancho to of Valencia, its Siege, and Surrender to the King of the Chap. The Chap. XI. A Moorish King Baptiz d. Descriptions at Alarcsos, Sancho the Of Valencia, its Siege, and Surrender to the King of the Chap. Aragon; who is wounded before it. Theobald. King of Navarre, goes with others to the Holy-

The Thirteenth BOOK.

THE taking of many Towns by the Christians. The Kingdom of Murcia surrendred to King Ferdinand. His Marriage. Salamanca made an University. 20000 Moors defeated by the Christians.

p. 208
Chap. II. A defeat of the Christians, who recover, and are successful, take Jaen, and may other Places. The King of Granada made Tributary. King Sancho II. of Portugal expelled by his Rebellious

Chap. III. The beginning of the War against Sevil. Aragon under a General Interdict. The Siege and Surrender of Sevil. Carmona and several other

Chap. IV. S. Luis, King of France, fends Prefents to the Church of Toledo, and makes an unfortunate Expedition to the Holy-Land. Aragon embroyl'd King Ferdinand of Castile, after gaining much from the Moors, dies

From the moors, ates Chap. V. The beginning of the Reign of King Alonto, be is cholen Emperor by part of the Electros, and Richard, Duke of Cornwal, by the reft. Theobald I. King of Navarre, dies; bis Son Theobald II. fiacceds bim.

Chap. VI. Aragon and Castile at variance, and reconcil'd. Sancho, King of Portugal, dies in Exile. Death of the Queen and Prince of Aragon. Portugal under an Interdict. Marriages of the King of do.

The Family of Lara take the Government Chap. VII. The Family of the Merines obtains the

The CONTENTS.

Empire of Africk. The War against the Moors renew'd in Spain. Cuidad Rodrigo built. Troubles in Aragon. The City Murcia taken, and the King of Granada made Tributary.

Chap. Vill. The Kingdom of the Normans in Sicily, extinguished by the French. The Empress of Constantinople comes into Spain, and Jayme, King of Aragon, to Toledo. p. 215 Chap. IX. The King of Aragon's Expedition for the Holy-Land. The Kings of France and Navarre, and the eldeft Son of the King of England, move upon the same Enterprize. The Nobles of Castile revolt. Troubles in Aragon. Chap. X. Rodulphus of Ausburg, chosen Emperor. Henry, King of Navarre, dies. His Daughter of Joanna Inherits. Alonfo, King of Caffile, agrees with his Nobles, then goes into France to plead for the Empire, before the Pope, and returns re iniceta.

The Fourteenth BOOK.

hap. I. THE King of Morocco paffes over into Spain. The War with the Moors.

The Christians twice defeated. Death of PrinceFerdinand, the Heir of Castile. Troubles in Navarre betwint the Natives and the French. Ghap. II. Three Popes die in one Year. Prince Sancho of Castile contrives to Usurp that Crown from his Nephews. The Death of Jayme, King of Aragon, and of Alonfo of Portugal. Peter succeeds the first, and Denis, the latter.

P. 218
Chap. III. The Practices of Prince Sancho.

He Rebels against his Father. The King of Morocco comes to aid King Alonso; returns home, leaving 1000 Horse to serve under him. King Alonso dis-too range to gerve under min. Song Kullo ag-bebrits, and curfes bis 50n Prince Sancho. p. 221 Chap. IV. The confipracy of John Prochita, in Sicily, againg the French, and flaughter of them, call solid Sicilian Pelpers. Kings of France and Aragon at War about Sicily. Castile and Aragon under an Interdict at the same time.

Chap. V. The Death of Alonfo, King of Castile.
The beginning of the Reign of King Sancho IV. The defeat of the French Fleet on the Coast of Italy. Albarazin taken by the King of Aragon. p. 224 Chap. VI. The French Invade Catalonia, take Girona, and retire back to France with lofs. The King of Morocco Besieges Xeres, and is repuls'd. The Death of the four Kings of France, Aragon, Naples and Morocco.

Chap. VII. The Kings of Castile and Portugal meet D. Lope de Haro flies to Navarre. A Treety in order to release the two Princes of Castile. Charles, Prince of Salerno, fet at liberty. France and Castile joyn against Aragon. Denis, King of Portugal's Issue. p. 228

Chap. VIII. Troubles in Castile. The rightful Heirs to that Crown, before Prifoners in Aragon, fet at liberty. Wars on that account between the two Growns. Badajoz Mutinies, and is reduc'd. An Interview betwixt the Kings of France and Castile. p. 230 Ghap. IX. The Revolt of D. John Nunez de Lara. The Death of the King of Aragon. His Brother Jayme Succeeds him. Matches betwixt the three Kings of Spain. Defeat of the Moors at Sea. Original of the Dukes of Medina Sidonia. Chap. X. Alcala de Henares made an University

Tarifa Besieg'dby the Moors. A brave Action of the Governour. Sancho, King of Castile, dies. Ferdinand IV. fucceeds. Peace betwint France and Aragon.

The Fifteenth BOOK.

Chap. I. EW Troubles and Wars in Castile, where Prince Henry takes the Government from the Queen. Prince John Proclaimed King of Leon and Galicia. Castile invaded by the Moors, Portugueses and Aragonians. p. 236 Chap. II. Peace betwixt Castile and Portugal fetled by means of the double Alliances betwixt those Princes. The Progress of the Wars in Sicily. The Jubilee first Instituted. Bilbao built; and Prince John reconcil'd to the King. p. 238 Chap. III. Of Raymundus Lullus, and the Master of Calatrava. The Marriage of King Ferdinand, Peace concluded betwixt the Kings of Sicily and Naples. A Synod of Bishops. Troubles in Castile.

Chap. IV. The Differences betweet the Kings of Caftile and Aragon reconcil'd. After which, they joyn in league against the Moors, but to no considerable effect. Death of Roger Lauria, the great Admiral of Aragon; and Divisions among the

Chap. V. The King of Granada depos'd. The King of Castile's Sister Marry'd to the Duke of Britany. The Extirpation of the Knights Templers. The Death of Ferdinand IV. King of Castile. p. 244. Chap. VI. The beginning of the Reign of Alonso XI. King of Gastile. The many Confusions in that Kingdom, by reason of bis Infancy. The Moors of Granada expell their King. The Turks, their Original and Growth.

p. 246
Chap. VII. The Allions of the Catalonians in Greece. The War in Andaluzia. Death of Luis Hutin, King of France. Philip the Long, fucceeds him. John XX. chosen Pope. Defeat of the Moors by Prince Peter of Castile.

Chap. VIII. Institution of two new Orders of Knighthood in Aragon and Portugal. Peter and John, Princes of Castile, kill'd by the Moors. The Goveriment of that Kingdom in Confusion. A great Overthrow given the Navarrois, by the Biscainers.

Chap. IX. King Alonfo XI. of Castile, takes upon him the Government. The Conquest of Sardinia by the Aragonians. The Death of King Denis of Portugal. His Son Alonso succeeds bim. Jayme II. King of Aragon, is succeeded by his Son Alonso

D. 251 Chap. X. The Wars betwixt the Christians and Infidels. Rebellions in Castile. Aragon, Castile and Portugal joyn in League. The King and Queen of Navarre, come into that Country, and return again to France.

The Sixteenth BOOK.

Chap. I. HE King of Granada goes into Africk. Abomelique passes over into Spain.
The War with the Moors. A Truce concluded. A. lonso de la Cerda rightful King of Castile, sib-mits to King Alonso the Possessor, p. 256 Chap. II. The Moors of Granada murder Mahomet, their King. Wars among all the Christian Kings of Spain. Alonfo, King of Aragon, dies. Erelh Rebellions in Castile. The Portuguese Fleet beaten by the Castilians.

Chap. III. The Death of Frederick, King of Sicily.

A Truce betwist Caltile and Portugal. The Death of Abomelique, and defeat of his Army. Peace betwirt Castile and Aragon. A Synod at Barce-

Chan. IV. A new Invasion of Spain by Albohacen, King of Morocco, with 470000 Moors, he Be-fieges. Tarifa, is there routed with the loss of 200000 Men, by the Kings of Castile and Por-tugal. Three defeats of the Insidels at Sea, p. 261

Chap. V. The Siege and Surrender of Algezira. The Infidels attempt to murder King Alonio of Castile. The Earls of Derby and Salisbury, come to his affifiance out of England, and the Earl of Faux out of France. Robert, King of Naples dies. p. 262

Chap. VI. The King of Aragon Conquers Majorca, and all its Dominions. Great Troubles in Aragon. The Rebels suppress d. An Universal Plague. The Knights of Calatrava at variance, at length reconsil'd.

Chap. VIII. The Siege of Gibraltar; the King dies, Peace betwixt Castile, Portugal and Pavarite, and the Siege is rais'd. King Peter succeeds him.

And the Siege is rais'd. King Peter succeeds him.

The Lady Ellenor de Guzman kill'd. Some Nobles Chap. X. Peace concluded betwixt Castile and Arameted to the gon. Several Matches of Princes. French and Castiles and Castile Kebel, and are subdu'd. Biscay annexed to the Grown of Castile. Interviews of Kings. p. 267 Crown of Calitie. Interviews of Kings. p. 267] Chap. Mill. Embalfadors fent by King Peter into France, to obtain far his Wife, Blanch. Daughter to the Duke of Bourbon, who is brought into Spain, and Marry'd to the King; but he being before in Love with the Ludy Mary de Padilla, flights and factors.

forfakes his Queen.

Chap. IX. King Peter of Castile, removes bis Offiaup. 1A. Ang Ecci of Cattle, removed to Soft-cert, punishes some Rebels, and reduces several Towns. The War of Sardinia, where Diseases rage-ing in the Aragonian Army, that King claps up a dishonourable Peace, and returns to Aragon. p.270

Chap. X. The Nobility of Castile, particularly the King's Bastard Brothers in Rebellion; they treat with the King without fuccefs, the Queen Mother joyns them; the King gets the better, and Executes many of them.

D. 272

put to Death. The War betwixt Castile and Aragon carry'd on by Sea and Land.

Chap. II. The Kings of Castile and Aragon, both call the Moors to their assistance. The War is carry'd on vigorcusty on both sides. The Castilians Chap. III. The Death of Queen Blanch, ragon. The War with the Moors, and Death of their King. The King of Aragon's Daughter Marry'd to the King of Sicily. p. 278 Chap. IV. Castile and Navarre joyn in League.

The War is carry'd on successfully against Aragon, by King Peter of Castile, who declares the Lady Mary de Padilla, to have been bis lawful Wife.
The Death of John, King of France, and Constance Queen of Aragon.

p. 281 Chap. V. Count Henry Proclaim'd King of Castile.

King Peter expell'd the Kingdom! Refus'd Entortainment in Portugal, gathers a Fleet in Galicia, and flyes into France to the Brotellion of the Chap. VI. The War betwire France, Navatre and Aragon, King Peter of Califle, hapported by the English in France, is brought into Spain by the Prince of Wales, with an Array, Owarthrows Henry, the Ofurper, and recovers his Kingdom.

Chap. VII. King Peter Excommunicated and Abfolv'd. Count Henry returns into Spain, is again received by many Places. Toledo popoles him, and is Befieg'd. King Peter comes to its relief, it overthrown, betray'd to, and murder'd by Henry. the Bastard.

Chap. VIII. Several Foreign Princes pretenders to the Crown of Castile. War with Aragon, Portugal and Granada. Affairs of Aragon, Sardinia and Navarre. The League betwixt Portugal and Ara-

Chap. IX. The Siege of Carmona. The King of Portugal Marries the Lady Ellenor de Meneles. Peace betwixt Castile, Portugal and Navarre.

Spaniards Besiege Bayonne in vain. The Papal Chair restored to Rome. Death of Frederick, p. 292 King of Sicily.

The Eighteenth BOOK.

Chap. I. THE Wars of Navarre. Matches of Chap. I. THE WAY: of Navarre. Matches of Sobifm in the Church; caujed by the Election of the two Poper, Uthan and Clement. The Beath of the King of Catille, and of Mahamet, the Moorila King of Granada.

10.294

Chap. II. King John fucceeds his Father in the Throne Catille.

of Castile. Charles, King of France, dies. Charles VI. succeeds bim. Pope Clement own'd in Spain

thro' the French Interest.

D. 298
Chap. III. Charles, Duke of Durazzo, Crown'd
King of Naples. The War with Portugal. Peace concluded. The War Section 1. concluded. The King of Portugal dies. Actions of the Aragonians and Catalonians in Greece, and THE beginning of the War in Aragon.

of the former in Sardinia.

P. 207

many Rebellious Nobles in Castile Chap. IV. Portugal full of Divisions about the Succession to the Crown. King John of Castile, bav-ing been Proclaim'd at Lisbon, enters that King-dom, bar many places deliver'd to bim. Bessegs Lisbon, but is forced to raise the Siege, and return ry a on vigorousy on both sides. The Calithans rreacherous to their King. He punishes many of Chap. V. John, the Bastard, Master of Avis, Proceed.

Description of Time in Aragon altered.
Description of Castile, fends his Fleet, then enters Portugal himself with an Army. The same Battle of Aljubarrota, and Description of the Castillans.

To Calithe.

P. 297

In Maria de Padilla. Peace betwirk Castile and A. rour of the Castillans.

Chap. VI. The Portugueses make an Inroad into Castile, and defeat a Body of Castilians. The Duke of Lancaster lands at Coruña, and takes several Towns. The Death of the Kings of Naples, Ara-

Bun and Navarre.

p. 303
hap. VII. Peace concluded with the English. The Heir of Castile in imitation of the Prince of Wales in England, is created Prince of Afturias. A Truce with Portugal, and the Moors. King John of Castile, kill'dby a Fall from his Horfe. p. 304

The CONTENTS.

Chap. VIII. John, King of Aragon, spon complaint of his Subjects, complies with their degrands. It supplies of the French fine Aragon, Iterry, III. Proclaim a King of Calille. The Form of Government appointed there, during his Admortry, In. 307 Taba, IX. The Contentions, between the Nobility of Calille daint, the Government. They agreement a Settlement, them distry, it. The Affairs of the Moors as Granada. Was renewed with Portugal. King Charles VI. of France, run difracted.

Charles VI. of France, run difracted.

Day S. The Divisions among the Nobility of Canfille, continue. A Ruce between Calille, and Fortugal for 1x Tears, The Nobility at length parify'd.

tugal for 1.5 Tears. The Nobility at length pacify'd.

The Nineteenth BOOK. Chap. I. King Henry takes, upon, bim the Govern-ment. The Cortes at Madrid, Difcontents among the Nobility. The Death of the Master of Alcantara. The Biscainers invade the Majter of Alcantara. 1 De Bilcanners, invade the Canary-Ifaids. The Plague at Madrid, D. 31, 3 Chip. II. Another, Robellion in Galfile quell' by the Kitt. Pope, Clement dies, and Benedict XIII. is, Elected, which continues the Schiffm. The Arrange Death of John, King of Aragon, Chap. III. The Queen of Navarre, returns, to her Artificial Chip. In Carl of Faux invades Aragon, The Madrid Chip. In Carl of Paux invades Aragon, The Madrid Chip. In Carl of Paux invades Aragon, The War betwixt Castile and Portugal renew'd. Jo-Seph, King of Granada dies. Mahomet his second Son Usurps. The Turks come over into Europe.

Chap. IV. Two Franciscans Preaching to the Moors of Granada, fuffer Martyrdom. The Truce with Portugal renew d. Two great Plagues in Spain, and France. The Tear of Jubilec 1400. p. 319 Chap. V. The Death of the Queen of Sicily. Of Tamerian and Bajazet. Pope Benedick againveeing die Caffile. The Kino of Caffile has a com-beiv'd in Castile. The King of Castile has a Son born. Pope Boniface dies. Innocent VIII., chosen at Rome.

Chap, VI. Great Tumults in Aragon appeared by the Cortes. A Battle between the Caltilians and the Moors, The Cortes of Castile meet at Tolego, and King Henry dies there. A Notable Astion of

Chap, VII. The Crown offer'd to Prince Ferdinand Copp. VII. 1 to Crown offer a to refuce Fertulano, the refuges it, John II. Proclaim'd King of Cattle, The Death of the Queen of Aragon. The War of Granada. Several Places taken by the Chiffiant, who also otation a Vidioy at Sea. P. 334. Chap. VIII. The Murder of the Duke of Orleans, by hin of Burgundy. The War carry'd on mith the Moors, and a Truce concluded. Original of D Alvaro de Luna. Continuation of the Schifm p. 320 Chap. IX. The Death of Martin, King of Sicily. Several Pretenders to the Crown of Aragon. Their Feveral Claims. Martin, King of Aragon, pre-fers that of his Nephew Prince Feedinand of Castile.

Chap. X. The Moors baving done much barm in the Christian Territories, Prince Ferdinand marches against them, defeats them, and takes Antequera, and other Places. Martin, King of Aragon dies. A Love Adventure.

The Twentieth BOOK. Chap. I. HE State of Christendom., Nine Judges appointed in Aragon to decide the diffute about the Succession. Arguments us'd by each of the Candidates. The Covernment of King John of Rartugal.

p. 332

John W. M. wegan. Chap. H. Fordinand., Prince of Castile, declar'd King of Aragon by the Gudges, and afterwards. Po-claim dat Latagona. Let settles the Kingdom, Be-sleges and taken the Hark of Urgel, who aspired to the Grown the Grown.

Chap, Illa The Christian Princes all Combine with the Emperor to put an end to the Schifm in the Church. In oxder to it. King Ferdinand of Aragon, bas a Conference, with Pope Benedict. The Council of Constance, The two Popes, John, and Gregory, Abdicate. The Portugueses pass over into Africk, and take Centa. All endeavours us'd to move Popo Benedict to resign the Papacy prove vain. Ford-nand, King of Aragon's Death. The Council of Constance puts an end to the Schism in the Ohurch.

Chap. V. The Death of the Queen of Castile, Marriages of Princes. Prince Henry of Aragon, Seizes the King of Castile. Tumults in that Kingdom. Strange Prodigies: Many Colleges built in Castile.

Chap. VI. Original of the Portuguele Discoveries. King Alonio of Aragon, adopted Heirito the Crown of Naples. The King of Caltile escapes, from his of Names. To King of cattle eleages, Joseph of Confinement, and suppresses made on Earl. if P. 341. Chap. VII. The Death of the Moorish King of Granada, A Truce between Castliste and Portugal. The nada, A Truce verying safetic and Follogal Ine-Interest of the Aragonians decays at Naples, The Death of the pretended Pope Benedict. p. 343 Chap VIII. The pretended Pope Benedict dying, another is supported by the King of Aragon, who plunders Marseilles, prepages to make War upon Castile, but comes to an Accommodation, yet loses Carling, sue comes town Accommodation, yet toges all bis Intereff at Naples. The Add Chap, IK. The Death of King Charles of Navarre. King John Proclaim'd. D. Alvaro de Luna Baniffed the Court of Castille. Villanous Prassices of the Nobility. The King of Granada depor'd.p. 347 Chap, K. D. Alvaro de Luna returns to Court greater in the Kings favour than ever. The banish'd King of Granada restor'd. Some Affairs of France. and final end of the Schism in the Church. p. 348

The Twenty First BOOK.

Chap. I. HE War betwixt Aragon and Navarre on the one fide, and Caffile on the other. The King of Navarre Crown'd John, King of Castile, breaks into Aragon with a powerful Army, and does much harm there. p. 351 Chap. II. Actions of the Aragonians against Castile. Several Assemblies of the Cortes. The Estates of the Princes of Aragon in Castile, Confiscated. A Truce concluded with that Crown for § Tears. War with the Moors.

Chap. III. The Death of Pope Martin V. Eugenius IV. Succeeds bim. The Moors of Granada overthrown in Battle. Peace concluded with Portugal. A Truce with the Moors. Prince Peter of Aragon made Prisoner.

gon made Frioner.

Chap. IV. The declining possure of the Aragonians at Naples. Tet that King a again invited thither, and adopted anew by the Queen. Ite agrees with Castile. King John of Portugal dies. Edward, sincime to Javour ine Aragonians. The Pope ex-pella Rome, and reflord. P. 358. Chap. VI. Mighty lundations throughout Spain. A great Villory over the Moors. The further Attions of the Aragonians at Naples. The Kings of Aragon and Navarre; taken by the Genoeles, and fet at liberty by the Duke of Milan.

Chap. VII. The Affairs of Italy, after the King of Aragon, was releas'd. Peace concluded betwirt Cafile and Aragon. The Prince of Castile Maries the Princess of Navarre. The Portugues loss in

Chap: VIII. The State of Spain, and of the Catholick Charch, under great apprehensions of Troubles. A-Churco, under great apprecentions of Trouvers, Additions of the Argonians at Naples. King Edward Chap. I., THE Council of Mantua. Beginnings of Tumults in Castile. War at Na-

Chap. IX. The King of Castile and the Rebels agree. nap. 1A. 1 be Ning of Cattile and the severs agree.
The Rebellion breaks out again. The King taken Prifoner. Blanch, Queen of Navarre dies. Her Son Charles fuecoeds. The Council at Basil deposes
Pope Eugenius, and choses Felix.

Pope Eugenius, and choses Felix.

Nabana Sanda Sanda

Chap. X. The Progress of the Aragonians in Naples. That City taken by them. New Diforders in Spain.
The Archbishop of Toledo dies. Of some Men sa. mous for Learning

The Twenty Second BOOK.

Chap, I. THE fuccess of the Aragonians in Italy. The Rebellion in Castile. The

D. 369 Chap. II. The Marriage of Ferdinand, Bastard Son to the King of Second

Chap. III. Diforders continue in Spain. rentine War. Pope Eugenius dies. Nicholas V. Jucceeds him. The Breach betwirt Castile and Aragon continu'd. Several Noblemen of Castile apprehended. Others fly.

Chap. IV. The Earl of Benavente efcaping, raifes new Tumults. The Affairs of Portugal. The Mutiny of Toledo. Freh Tumults among the Nobility of Castile. The Mutiniers of Toledo punish'd.

Chap. V. The Mutiny of Segovia. The Affairs of the Crown of Aragon. The Civil War in Navarre. The Fallions of the Agramonteles and Biamontefes there. The Emperor Frederick Marries Ellenor, Sifter to the King of Portugal. The Moors twice defeated by the Christians.

Chap. VI. D. Alvaro de Luna, the King of Castile's great Favourite's Charafter, and fatal end. Ma-inet the Turk, takes Constantinople. Mahomet, King of Granada, depos'd. Cruzadoes coin'd in Portugal.

Chap. VII. The Defigns, and Death of King John of Castile. Discoveries of the Portugueses along the Coast of Africk. Prince Henry Proclaim'd King of Castile. Peace concluded betwixt Castile, Aragon and Navarre. The Charafter of Henry the new King of Castile. Chap VIII. The great League made in Italy. The Death of Pope Nicholas. Calixtus succeeds him.

War of Granada. King Henry of Castile Marries Joanna, Sister to the King of Portugal.
Europauates in Italy.

p. 382

La requires in Italy.

Chap. IX. The Prince of Viana flies in Naples. The Kings of Caltille and Navarre meet, and impediate a Peace. The Way with the 12 ce. of Alonso, King of Aragoni. His Charatter and Will. John King of Navarre, Inherits the Crawn of Aragon.

Chap. X. The new War at Naples, supon the Death of King Alonfo, and Succeffor of his Bafard Son Ferdinand. Pope Calixtus dies Pius II. succeeds him. Alcazar on the Coast of Africk taken by the King of Portugal. Prodigies in Spain. P. 386

The Twenty Third BOOK.

ples, betwixt the Aragonians and House of Anjou. pies, perwixt the Aragonians and trouge of Angol.
Scanderberg, Prince of Epirus, comes to the Affigance of Ferdinand, King of Naples.

Chap. II. War renewd with the Moors of Granada. The Prince of Viana Imprison and Releas A. His Death, The Rebellion of Catalonia, also in Navarre. The Kings of France and Castile meet.

Chap. III. The Catalonians fend for Peter, Confla-ble of Portugal, and Proclaim him Earl of Barcelona. The Kings of Castile and Portugal meet.
The Rebellion in Castile. D. Beltran de la Cueva, great Favourite to King Henry of Caftile, Created

Death of the Queens of Portugal and Castile. The Battle of Olmedo; and Death of Prince Henry of Aragon.

Aragon.

Aragon.

Aragon.

Alay. II. The Marriage of Ferdinand, Bafard Son to the King of Aragon, and appointed Heir to the King of Aragon, and appointed Heir to the King of Aragon, and appointed Heir to the King of Naples. Mahomet, King of Granada, Aghor'd, D. Alvaro de Luna, chofen Maßler of the Order of Santiago.

P. 371 of the Order of Santiago.

P. 372 of the Rebellion in Caltile, and model of Portugal dies. The Nation of the Order of Santiago.

P. 372 of the Rebellion in Caltile, and model of Portugal dies. The Nation of the Order of of the Queen of Aragon, and Prince Alonso of Castile. The King recovers Toledo. The Rebels of Castile affront the Pope's Legate, and are Excommunicated.

Communicatea.

Chap. VI. John, Duke of Lorrain, Jupports and beads the Rebels in Catalonia for bit Father. Ferdinand, Printe of Aragon, declar'd King of Sicily. The Crown of Catalie offer'd to the Princefs Elizabeth, the refuses it. Peace between the King and Nobles.

Chap. VII. The Marriage of Ferdinand, King of Si-city, with the Princel Elizabeth of Caftile, and of the Tuke of Chile of the Duke of Guienne with the Princess Joanna, who is sworn Heiress of Castile. Differences betwixt the Knights of Alcantara and their Master, and Troubles in Biscay. The Portugueses take Arzila and Tangler in Africk.

Chap. VIII. The Tumults and Confusions in Aragon. Sardinia and Navarre. The King of Castile la-bours to reduce his Rebels. Pope Paul II. dies. Sixtus IV. chofen. King Alonfo of Portugal , takes Arzila and Tangier in Africk.

Chap. IX. Catalonia reduc'd. Charles, Duke of Guienne dies. Cardinal Borgia, the Pope's Legate, comes into Spain. Interview of the Kings of Castile and Portugal. The Master of Santiago strengthens himself against his Enemies. Barcelona furrendred fivrentred to the King of Arigon.

A. The Popt's Execute Fredlines spainf King Henry of Galilie.

A grant of Capture of the General Supel Londry of Peter de Chip. Visit of the State Fredlines of Blizabeth, Sifter to King.

The Twenty Fourth BOOK.

Chap. I. The Evented Elizabeth presides to be reconciled

Chap. I. The Evented Elizabeth presides to be reconciled

Chap. I. The Evented Elizabeth presides to be reconciled

Chap. I. The Evented Elizabeth presides to be reconciled

Chap. I. The Evented Elizabeth presides to be reconciled

Chap. I. The Evented Elizabeth presides to be reconciled.

The Twenty Fourth BOOK.
Chap. I. THE Frincip Elizabeth periodic to be reconcil to the Books, and speak splites to the Grown spon bit indisposition. D. John Pacheco, Master of Santiago, dies. Difference between the French and Aragonians. King dies. Différences betwies the French and Aragonians. King licerdinand goes to Barcolona. Jews Malgared in Scity, Ferdinand and Elizabeth Prodelmind King and Queen of Castile. The King of Portugal undertakes the Protection of the Princeft Joanna, bis Niese.

Ohap, II. The Death of Henry, King of Castile, Ferdinand and Elizabeth Ujurps the Cromn of Castile from Joanna, the Rightful Istirofs, and are Fredelium of the Rightful Istory of Portugal undertakes the Protedlium of the Rightful Istory.

or vortugal undersket the Proteillon of the Rightful Heire's in Niese.

P. 422
Chap, III. The King of Portugal calls bimfelf King of Caftile, and is affiled by many of the Nobility. being contrailed to Joanna the Rightful Heirels. He takes feveral Places in Caftile. The French made Peace with England, and engage to affis Portugal against Ferdinand.

Chap. V. Priese John of Portugal ones into Castile with Ropes to his Father's affishese. The Bestle of Toro, between King. Ferdinand and him of Portugal. He laster defeated, The Castilian Nobility forface him, and he resures home, p. 426
Chap, V. Per Tomulis of Navarec. The King of Portugal's Ropage into Feace. Toro recover'd by the Castilians From the Roctugueless. Several other Places retaken. Charles the Bold, Duke of Burgundy, and Galcazzo, Duke of Milan, murded, Chap. Vs. King Feedinand policies bindels of the Matteribis of Santiago in rule, whole because it is made in the King of Santiago in rule, whole backere since continued in the King of Santia was the Moors of Andaluxia. The King of Poers and the Moors of Andaluxia. The King of Poers and the Moors of Andaluxia. The King of Poers and the Moors of Carlie. The Inquisition of Carlie. The Inquisition soft of the Santial entirely reduced. The Birth of John, Poers concluded the Santia Persage and Carlie. The Death of King John of Andrias of Carlie.

ngon,
Chen, III. Blenor, Queen of Navarre. The Troubles of the Ringdom, and her Death The Countrie of Medellin safes, Camulus in Caffile. Portuguedis everterous by the Caffillian at Rescaled Opinion Harted, and condensed in Spain. King Fer-

Esconsida Opinion of Berta, and condemned in Spain. King Fer-dinand gost im Aragon.

P. 434

Chan, IX. Peace concluded betweek: Cassis and Dortugal. The Turks are foreing in Italy, and are again expell. King Alon-Gaos Portugal dist. Heavy, the late King of Cassis: we was object Cortes, Februs John, Non to King Ferdinand, Novos Reir of Cassis.

Associated by Cassis and Conference of France, its Composed, and Sometime dies. A Conspiracy spatial the King of Portugal punishes, and the Cassis are good to the King of Portugal punishes, and the Cassis are good to the Cassis Cassis

The Twenty Fifth BOOK.

Chap, I. The B. logining of the Wer with Granada. King Albaharen furpriret Zahara. Alhama takan from she Inflates, and in such adhegad by shem again, p. 440 Chap. II. Preparations for chrying on the War againf the Moora. Lovas in with bodingsh, and that War laid able for former time. Some Tubusit in Galicia. A great flaughter of Christiant on the when times in Malaga. A great judger of the M. P. 441 Majundian of Malaga. And Boabdill, their King taken, Muundian Jill. The Moos defeated, and Boabdill, their King taken, and differential relegied. The Affairs of Navarye. It of the tus dies. Innocent VIII. Increase sim. Marguris del Gafto and Peticara, from whom defeated.

P. 444 Chap. IV. Alora, and other Places taken from the Moors.

hohardil Ujurps the Crown of Granada, and defeats the Earl of Cabra. The Rebellion in Naples. Birth of the Princess Katherine of Caffile, afterwards Wife to Henry VIII. King of Chap. V. The Tumules in Aragon and Catalonia. SeveralTown taken from the Moors. A Sedition in Galicia. King Albohardi) attacks the Castle, called Albayzin in Granada, and is repulled. Azamor on the Cossi of Africk delivered to the Por-

Chap. VI. King Ferdinand takes Malaga, and other Places from the Moors. Albohardil, King of Granada, having been de-Cattle.

On P. Vill. The Mafterphips of all the Military Order's in Spain, americal to the Crown for ever. Three Cities, and other Places taken from the Moors. Elizabeth, Princel's Castlie, Marcado to Alonfo, Prince of Portugal. His, and his Fusher's Death.

Chap. IX. The War with the Moors now effectually renewed. The Description of the City of Granada. King Ferdinand lays Siege to it, and Builds a Town for his Army to Quarter in during the Siege, to Shew his Resolution not to depart without being

Muster of that City. P. 456
Chap. X. A mighty Mustry raised in Granada by a Phonastek
Moor. The Cityssurended to King Ferdinand. The Character of King Ferdinand and Queen Elizabeth Their Trimphal
Entry into Granada, and Universal Foy for their Success, p.457

The Twenty Sixth BOOK.

Chap. I. HE Affairs of Britany. The Jews expelled spain;
Pope Innocent VIII. dies. Alexander VI. fuceed by Type Innocent VIII. ares. Alexanus va.

fuceed bim. Navarre pacifed, Rouffillon and Cerdagne reftwed to King Ferdinand.

p. 460.

Indies. Controverfies and Conquefts of the Spaniards in the Weftlandies. Controverfies artife between the Crowns of Spain and ineties. Convoceine any octaven to Coronin of Spain and Portugal, concerning teler Differentiate Rouffillion and Cerdenge reflored to Ago Ferdinand.

p. 467:
Ghap, III. Palma, one of the Canary-Illands Conquered. The Midferliph of the three Milliary Orders annexed to the Cropn of Catllic. The Original of the Neapolitan War. The Death of Callile. The Original of the Neapolitan War. The Death of Feedinand, King of Naples.

Chap IV. The French mouse the Kingdom of Naples. An Account of Luis Storcia, Duke of Milan. The Ivench King at Rome. Alonds, King of Naples Additions. The French Long of Luis Storcia, Duke of Milan. The Ivench King at Rome. Alonds, King of Naples Additions. The Venetians of the Miland of Naples and Language and Ferrench Long returns home. The Venetians overstroom by the French. King returns home. The Venetians overstroom by the French King returns home. The Venetians overstroom by the French King returns home. The Venetians overstroom by the French King returns home. The Venetians overstroom by the French King French Solit City. p. 468 Chap, VI The Death of John II. King of Fortugal. The French quite expell'd the Kingdom of Naples. Ferdinand, King of Spain homoured by the Pape with the Hille of Catholick King.
The public of Affairs in Portugal under Emanuel, the new King.

A.19.
Chap. VII. The Death of Ferdinand, King of Naples. The Emperor paffes into Italy. The Poper Forces defeated by the Urfini.
The Death of the Duke of Gandia. The Marriage of Prince John of Spain. Propodals concerning festing the Kingdom of John of Spain. Propolats concerning, lealing the Kingdom of Naples.

Naples.

Chap. VIII. Progress of the Portugueles Discoveries in 1672.

Chap. VIII. Progress of the Portugueles Discoveries in 1672.

Peter Covillam, and Alonio de Paira sem to India, by Lead.

Valia de Gama sem to discover India by See with some Ships;

His Vogges till be sems to Calicut.

Ph. 474.

Chap, I.K. A short, but particular Account of India, whis happened to Valico de Gamaa. Acad Emergine there, and a Relation of bit return to Portugal.

Chap. X. M. Account of the Navigation of Valico de Gama, and of all the Coast of Alia, as far as China; and the Mechod of Scottoria, and of all the Coast of Alia, as far as China; and the Mechod observed by the Portugueles in Salling thiker. p. 478.

The Twenty Seventh BOOK.

Chap, I. THE Death of the Prince of Castile. Of Charles VIII. King of France. Matches of woDaughters of Spain. The Prince of Salerno expelled Naples. France and Spain agree. Hierom Savonorola burn at Florence.

Chap. II. The King of Portugal issue Heir to the Cross of Caffel. Elizabeth bis Quene, delivered of a 50n, diet. The Dake of Milan expelled bis Dominions. Univerlys of Alcala founded. Redelion of the Mountain Moors. p. 481 (Chap. III. The Birth of the Emperor Charles V. The French polifishem/elves of itse State of Milan, and state the Dake, and bis Brobber, the Cardinal. The great East of Jubelee 1500. The League between France and Spain. Celalonia rates from the Turks.

rice lurks.

P. 884

Chap. IV. King Ferdinand's double dealing. The Princel's Marry of Castile, Marry d to the King of Portugal. The French

The CONTENTS.

todeponiards jointly subdue the Kingdom of Naples. Allians of the Great Captain.

Chap V. The French and Spaniards fall as variance about dividency of the Great Captain.

Chap V. The French and Spaniards fall as variance about dividency in the Captain of the Kingdom of Naples, ing their Captain of the French King's Frechet King's Frechet King's Frechet King's Frechet French French King's Frechet French French French French French King's French Fr cd. VIII. Great Boot steen by the Spaniards, at all phobesteur de la Palific. A Combat betwinks, 13 Frenchendist may Italians. Several office of the French. The Marques del Gatto comes over to the Spaniards.

Ohap, IX. The Testes concluded by the Arch Dulte with France, Its takes no effect, Surveys from Spaniards. The Lord Aubigain defeated and taken.

Chap X. The Basile of Citicals, and great overshrom of the French. Amoff all the Kingdom of Naples, fubdued by the Great Capatin. His Reception due that Noble City. P. 497

The Twenty Eight BOOK.

Chap. I. The Steep Geacus, the Death of Fope Alexanders.

Chap. I. The Steep Geacus, The Death of Fope Alexanders.

Chap. I. The Steep Geacus, The Death of Fope Alexanders.

Chap. I. The French Beliege Saultes, or as the Spaniards call it.

Saniards. The French Beliege Saultes, or as the Spaniards call it.

Salia. In the Steep right. Mineten Sail of Infidets delivery.

Salia. In the Steep right. Mineten Sail of Infidets delivery.

Salia. The Steep Copies gives them.

The Freigh Operat gives thrue bermine France and Spain. The Profess of Rome fallowing to Spain. The Nobility of Naples jives Allegianes to Spain, and feoveral Critical in the Spain in the Profess of Rome fallowing and feoveral Critical Chap. The Spain is proteined. Trues for 3 gara bermine France and Spain.

and Spain

Chap. VI. Perfidioujingli of Duke Valentine, who is as perfidioujingly from into Spain by the Great Captain, comrany to his Promite, and be illerpreferred to the King, Projekti of Peace betwine France and Spain come to mothing.
Chap. V., The League betwine the Emperor, the Arch Duk, orn Chap. V., Tence. The League againft the Venerians. The Death of King Frederick of Naples, and Queen alliazabeth Gaffille. Contintion about the Government of Calific, hemiot, King Serdinand, and King Philip. Treatter with France.

B. Cool.

Chap. VI. King Ferdinand becomes edious to his People. The pofture of Affairs in Italy. The Emperor, and King Philip of Castile, Raifie the Peace with France. King Ferdinand Agrees which be French, King. Chap. VII. Mazalquivir in Africk sakes from the Moors. The Nobility of Spain divided, for and againg King Philip. The Agreement. made between the two Kings, Ferdinand and Hillio. The Justice in Emiland.

Agreemen. mêdê berwixi be 100 Kpag., Perdinand and Phi-lip. The latter in England.
Chap. VIII. The Affair of Portugal. Abloody Maiting at Lif-bon. Kjag Berdinand Marstes Queen Germana. Kjug Phi-lip. Comercia of the Common Common. Kjug Phi-lip. Comercia of the Christopher Columbus.

10 Kpag. K. The Spaniards and Flemings at war tance upon tektr fulf Meeting. Kjug Ferdinand rasfer Forces, pretending to refuse bit Danghere. Many Grake tim, and be is forced to quit Calitle. An Interview of the 100 Kpag.
Chap. X. The 100 Kpag. Chap. Chap. Chap. Chap. Chap. Chap. Chap. The 100 Kpag. Chap. Chap.

The Twenty Ninth BOOK.

The Twenty Ninth BOOK.

Chap. I.— THE Settlement made by the Nobility of Cultile After the Deads of King Phillp. The Catholick King goes over to Nobiles. His Reception in that City. No for ilements in the Gouernment of Calitle. Andlick their Conflying Duke Valentitie makes his efeage.

Chap. II, Queen joanna depotary from Burgos. In mobily incapable of having any part in the Government. The Affair of Naples. Queen Joanna brought to Bed of a Daughter at 1970 quemada. Great Different in Cattlie.

Chap. III. The Drait of Duke Valentine, and Troublet in Natvare. The Treaty between the Empty. and King Ferdinand. The Great Capatine courted to Command the Venetian and Page's Forest. King Verdinand Jeites the Affairs of Naples.

ples. W. The King of France enters Italy with an Army to reChap, IV. The King of France enters Italy with an Army to reduce Genoa, has an Interview with King Ferdinand, Tothe Army to Califle. The Spanlards defeated in Affich, ToEmperor of Jenual and King Levillands. Chap, V. The, Defgus of bringing Prince Line Spain.
King Ferdinand in Andaluzia or fertie that Country. Peanon in Africk, salen by the Spanlards. The Portuguedes tooffer at Azamor, in this part of the World, synteties Arrilla, p. 320
Azamor, in this part of the World, synteties Arrilla, p. 320
Chap, VI. Differency of Confinates in Spain. The Soldants
Fleet worlden in India. Dead of Henry VIII of England,
Fleet worlden in India. Dead of Henry VIII of England, Chap, VII. The Caddinal of Spain takes Oran in Africk. The War againfi the Venetians, and their loffer. They recover Padua, and other places.

P. 524

War againft the Venetians, and their lofter. They recover Paddua, and other plates.

Chap. VIII. The excerd betwin; the Emporer and King Sq4 Chap. VIII. The excerd betwin; the Emporer and King Sq4 Chap. The except between the state of the Squarards, and Coa in India, by the Portugueles.

Chap. IX. The War in Italy. The Fope grants the Invofiture of the Kingdom of Naples to King Ferdinand. D. García de of the Kingdom of Naples to King Ferdinand. D. García de Chap. K. Som Cardinals revolt from the Pope. Bolonia taken by the French. The revoltes Cardinals Summon a Generalcantil.

P. 430

The Thirtieth BOOK.

hap. I. AFF AIRS of India. The Pope Summon a Council to meat at S. John Lateran. The Lesgue betwinthe Pope, King of Aragon, and the Venetians.

Lesjue berwitst the Pope, King of Aragon, and the Venettans, Lesjue berwitst the Pope, King of Aragon, and the Venettans record to the Pope of the Pop

Chap. VIII. The Death of the Queen of Prante. True benefits from the Party of Prante. The Brain of Party of Prante. The Brain of Prante Prante and Prante Prante and Prante Prante and Prante Prante and Prante Pran

King of Spain.

THE HISTORY SPAIN

The First BOOK.

CHAP. L

Of the first Peopling of Spain by Tubal, of the Fruitfulness of the Soil, its Situation and Circumference; and of its principal Mountains and Rivers. .

Chal, the Son of Japheth, was the first Man that Peopled Spain after the Flood. Many Tubal in grave Authors testify that he planted several Colonies in this part of the World, Spain, and governed Spain with Pietry and Justice. The motive of his coming was this, In the Year 131. (according to the best computation) after the Deluge, the Sons of Adam, having, at the instigation of the haughty Nimrod, attempted to build the famous Tower of Babel in contempt of God's Omnipotence, were dispersed and scattered over the Tower of Babe! in contempt of God's Omnipotence, were differfed and feattered over the Face of the Earth. One Language being before common to all, through the juli Judgment of the Almighty, there arole among them fuch a Confusion of Tongues, that not able longer to converse or understand one another, they were obliged to part Companies, and spread abroad into several Countries. The World was divided among the three Sons of Noab, after this manner. To Shem was allotted all Asia beyond Euphrates Eastward, as allo the Country of Syria and Palessine. To Ham was assigned from Babylon Westward, the three Arabia's Egypt, and all Asia's. The Portion of Syabeth, and his Posterity, was that part of Asia which lies North of the Mountains Taurus and Amanus, and all Europe. The Earth being thus divided, the Children of Jabeth settled themselves in several Provinces, and Tubas who was his Fifth Son. was sent to the farther? Regions Westward, that is, to Sasia where he founded the the Children of Japosep setted themselves in several Provinces, and Awas who was his Fifth Son, was sent to the fartheft Regions Westward, that is, to Spain, where he founded the Spanish Monarchy, which continues to this time. This is that Empire which in all Ages has afforded Men Famous, both in Peace and War, which has been bleffed with Plenty and Proferity, and which has always surinished extraordinary matter to imploy the greatest Pens: and yet it has ever wanted Writers to celebrate the great actions and heroick atchievements performed by its People. This defect has given many the boldness to write Romances and Bostical Efficient when the treatment of the profession of the professio ments performed by its People. This defect has given many the boldness to write Romances and Poetical Fictions rather than true Hisfories; and has moved me with that little Learning, and sinall salent I have attained, to attempt this great Work, rather for the sake of truth than in hopes of any honour or reward, which I expect not from Man, not can any be proportioned to the labour of this Undertaking. I will not fill a Volume with Preambles; but fall to the real matter I have in hand; and in order thereunto, it will be convenient in the first place to give some account of the Soil and Product of Spain, of six Situation, Extent, Division, Mountains and Rivers, as also of the Language and Customs of the Inhabitants.

The Converged Spain is no way inferiour to any of the helf in the World clines in regard of monntains and Rivers, as an of the Language and Cultoms of the inhabitants.

The Country of Spain is no way inferiour to any of the beft in the World, either in regard of Deferipthe Climate, or of the Plenty of all things necessary for Life, which it abundantly produces; or tion of the great quantity of Gold and Silver, and other Metals, and precious Stones; which are found in it. It is not forched with the violent heat of theson as Africk, nor for libject to flormy Winds, Frost, and Damps as France, but being seated between both enjoys a greater temperature.

Chap. II.

rature than either, fo that the heat of the Summer and Winter, Frosts and Rain, renderit rature than either, 10 that the near or the summer and winter, Proits and Rain, renderit fo fruitful, that it not only abundantly supplies the Natives, but also furnishes other Countries, its Product being whatever is necessary for the support of human Life, and satisfaction the support of human Life, and satisfaction that the support of human Life, and satisfaction the support of human Life, and satisfaction that the support of human Life, and satisfaction the support of human Life, and satisfaction the support of human tries; its Froduct being whatever is necessary, for the support of human Life, and fatisfaction tries; its Froduct being whatever is necessary. The Fruit is most delicious to the tast, the Vistes experant, of Man's Pride and Ambition. The Fruit is most delicious to the tast, the Vistes experant, and the Winnes generous. The Plenty of Corn, Honey, Oyl, Cattle, Sugar and Silk, is example the Winnes generous. The Plenty of Corn, Honey, Oyl, Cattle, Sugar and Silk, is example transferrant by the Heavy of Gold and the Winnes of Gold and the Winnes of Silver, and Veins of Iron; transferrant Stones like Looking-Glasses, as a silo many Oparries, of Silver, and Veins of Iron transferrant by the Manne of den, a Town antiently called Sisson, among the People formerly known by the Manne of Ortain. The Soil in feergal places varies, some produces Woods, some Corn, and some is Ortain. The Soil in feergal places varies, some produces Woods, some Corn, and some is ortain. The Soil in feergal places varies, some produces Woods, some Corn, and some is bare; for the most there are but few Rivers and Springs, but the ground is of that goodness bare; for the most there are but few Rivers and Springs, but the ground is of that goodness bare; for the most there are but few Rivers and Springs, but the ground is of that goodness bare; is not very vare. In many parts of Spain, there are barren Mountains, and some bare this is but very vare. it commonly yields twenty or thirty for one increase, some good years eighty for one; yet this is but very rare. In many parts of Spain, there are barren Mountains, and some bare and stony Hills, which have something of deformity. This is mostly in the Northern Parts, and stony Hills, which have something of deformity. This is mostly in the Northern Parts, is very scarce in the Inland, by reason there are but few Rivers; and sewer Lakes. Neverise very scarce in the Inland, by reason there are but few Rivers; and sewer Lakes. Neverise very scarce in the Inland, by reason there are should fruitles. Where no Corn grows there is these so the set of the Cauthe, of small Rushes whereof Cordage is made for Shipping; and plenty of Grass to feed Cattle; of small Rushes whereof Cordage is made for Shipping; and large Rushes to make Mats. and for other uses. The Horses are so sleet. That it gave onpienty of Grais to freed Cattle, or imal Russes whereor Cordage is made for Shipping, and of large Rushes to make Mats, and for other uses. The Hories are so fleet, that it gave ocasion to the Poets to feigh they were ingendred by the Wind. In fine Pliny himself rethines, that all near the Sea-Coast, Spain is the best and most fruitful of all Countries, except Italy, which that an near thesea-coan span is the per and more fruithful of an country-scale than, which it exceeds in the temperature and pleafantness of its air, and doubtless were there not want of it exceeds in the temperature and pleatantnels of its air, and quotiens were elected to want of rain forme Summers, it were far beyond all the Provinces of Europe and Africk. Now in our Age, that the Spaniards have made their way to the Eaff and Weft-Indies, it abounds in all manner of Riches, and may be faid to exceed all other Nations. The quantity of Gold, Silver, manner of Riches, and the strings of the manner of Riches, and may be 1310 to exceed all other Nations. The quantity of Gold, Silver, precious Stones, and other things of great value, that have been brought hither is fo great, freaked, it would feem incredible 4 yet which is much to the honour and advantage of our fit related, it would feem incredible 5 yet which is much to the honour and advantage of our Nation; and the no fmall benefit of others who are partakers of our Riches and Plenty.

Nation; and the no small benefit of others who are partakers of our Riches and Plenty.

Nation; and the no small benefit of others who are partakers of our Riches and Plenty.

Its SituaSpain is the most Western part of Europe, it is divided from France by the Pyrenean Hills Form.

Spain is the most Western part of Europe, it is divided from France by the Pyrenean Hills extended (as represented by Geographers) encompassed on all sides by the Sea, except on extended (as represented by Geographers) encompassed on all sides by the Sea, except on extended (as represented by Geographers) encompassed on all sides by the Sea, except on extended (as represented by Geographers) encompassed on all sides by the Sea, except on one upon the Ocean, or Bay of Bissay, called Olarso, near Fuenterabia, the of diterranean, formerly called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood

diterranean, formerly called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood

diterranean, formerly called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood

diterranean, formerly called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood

diterranean, formerly called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood

diterranean, formerly called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood

diterranean, formerly called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood diterranean, the Country Promontorium of the Stood of Society of Called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood diterranean, the Country Promontorium of the Society of Called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood

diterranean, the Country Promontorium of the Society of Called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood

diterranean, the Country Promontorium of the Society of Called Veneris Promontorium, from a Temple of that Goddess that stood diterranean, the Country Promontorium of the Society of the Society fide of Spain is Colibre, an ancient City of Gallia, at prefent more noted for its antiquity and the conveniency of its Harbour, than for the number of its Inhabitants, which is but inconfiderable, or for its value being extreamly poor. After Cape Venus, or Cruces, which is near iderable, or for its value ocing extreamly pool. Extent supplements of Tentbrium; Colibre, follow the two Capes, called formerly Lunarium, and Ferrarium, or Tentbrium; making the Mouth of the River Ebro. In this interval is the Mouth of the River Lobregat, making the Mouth of the River Eiro. In this interval is the Mouth of the River Lobregat, which runs red into the Sea, and thence was called by the ancients Rubricatus, that is ruddy, which runs red into the Sea, and thence was called by the ancients Rubricatus, that is ruddy. On this fame fide fland the Cities Barcelona, Tarragona, Totola, and Monviedro, the formerly of the Romans, and for its destruction. After Monviedro place well known for its fidelity to the Romans, and for its destruction. After Monviedro place well known for its fidelity to the Romans, and for its destruction. After Monviedro place well known for its fidelity to the Romans, and for its destruction. After Monviedro many Agates there found. The Greeks called it Promotorium Charidenium, which signifies many Agates there found. The Greeks called it Promotorium Charidenium, which signifies spacious, believing those Stones did win the good will of men, and made them Friends, Next is Almeria, which some believe to be built out of the ruins of the ancient Abdera, others are of opinion it is the ancient Oris, seated among the Bastesani in the Territory of Bastes are of opinion it is the ancient Oris, seated among the Bastesani in the Territory of Bastes are of opinion it is the ancient Oris, seated among the Bastesani in the Territory of Bastes are of opinion it is the ancient Oris, seated among the Bastesani in the Territory of Bastes are of opinion it is the ancient Oris, seated among the Bastesani in the Territory of Bastes are of opinion it is the ancient Oris, seated among the Bastesani in the Territory of Bastes are of opinion it is the ancient Oris, seated among the Bastesani in the Territory of Bastes are of opinion it is the ancient Oris, seated among the Bastesani in the Territory of the Stringlyt, for-more of the Stringlyth of the St Tartellum, but that this name was given to Cadiz the City of Carteia, and another City that flood in an Island made by the Mouth of the River Betts. Next is Tartellum, (commonly known by the name of Tarifa) whence once the whole Streight was called Tartessaum. This Streight was also called Herculeum from Hercules, who is reported to have endeavoured to ftop it was also eatled Herculeum from Hercules, who is reported to have endeavoured to ftop it was and join the two Continents. It is also called Gaditanum from Cadiz, in Latin Gades, and and join the two continents. It is ano cance Gamanan from Gaar, in Latin Gaes, an Island on the right hand coming out of the Streights. This name was given to Cadit. from a Carbaginean word, fignifying a Fence (as does the Hebrew word Gheder) because it flands as a Bank to bear off the swelling Waves of the Sea. This Island was formerly 700, paces diffant from the Coast of Spain, and had 200. Leagues in Circumference; at prefent it is but Three Leagues in length, and is joined to the Continent by a Bridge, fo little is the diffance, From the Mouth of the Streights to Cape Finisterse (formerly Norman Promontarium) Sailers reckon 226. Leagues, because Gape St. Vincont (formerly Promontorium Sacrum) which is opposite to the Pyrenein Mountains, and makes the greatest distance in Spain, running far out into the Sea stretches out the extent of that Coast much longer than if it could be gone in a frait line. On this Coast facing the Ocean are scated Sevil upon the Banks of the River Guadalquivir, and Lisbon on the Tagus, Cities not inferiour to many of the best of Europe for Greatness, Populousness and Trade. The third side of Spain lying East and West, contains 134 Leagues, not in a strait Line, as Pomponius Mela thought, but full of Creeks and tains 134 Leagues, not in a trait Line, as romponus mens in nought, our full of creeks and Bays. The chief Ports in that Part are Coruna, Bilbao, Laredo and Santander. The length of the Pyrenean Mountains which form the fourth fide of Spain, bending in towards it, and running from the Ocean to the Mediterranean N.W. and S. E. is 80 Leagues. Such as have passed over the highest Mountain of Cantabria called St. Adrian, report that from thence have passed over the highest Mountain or containing cancer of the many the feet, but they may take their own Fancies and Imaginations for Truth.

Between Biscay and Navarre at the Place called Roncescalled, (famous for the great Slaughter Riversand of the Nobility of France made there when Charlemaign Invaded Spain) a ridge of Hills Spring. Mountain of the Nobility of Spain.

of the reconstry of Franke made increasing name and leaves on the Right Hand the Cantabri and Province of Aftarias, then cuts Gallicia in the middle, and forms Cape Finiferre butting out far into the Sea. By this Mountain are divided the Ultramontani from the Ciramontani. or those beyond from those on this side the Mountains. From these Mountains springs that formerly called Idubeda, now Oca, taking the Name of the ancient City Auca, whose Ruins are to be seen near Villafranca, about 5 Leagues from Burgos. This Mountain rising near the Spring of the River Ebro, on the Borders of Asturias, where is a Town called Fontibre, the Spring of the River Ebro, on the Borders of Aflurias, where is a Town called Fontibre, of the Fountains of Ebro, and running down by Bribiofia and the Arevaci, near Mount Orbino and Monceyo paffes along between Calatoyud and Daroca, and ends in the Mediterranean not far from Tortofa, from which City, that part of thefe Mountains takes Name. From this Mountain Idukeda or Oca, begins that of Orofpeda, which as furt lifes fo leaturely it is scarce perceivable, but further on lifts its Head, and sorms the Mountains of Molina, then those of Cluenca, where on the Left-Hand are one Springs of the River Xucar' and on the Right those of Tagus, both noted Streams. Next follow the Mountains of Confuegra, near which in the Plains, formerly called Laminitians, now of Montiel are the Fountains of Caudiana. Hence it goes on to Meara's and Segura, where in different places spring the Rivers of Segura, Gromerly Tader Scaudalquivir running towards different Seas. At Caporlathis Mountain Orofpeda divides it left into two Branches, one of them opposite to Marvia expires in the Sea near merly Tader Schadalqueer running towards current seas. At Caseria this Mountain Orospeda divides it self into two Branches, one of them opposite to Murcia, expires in the Sea near Muxacra, or Murgir; on the Right-Hand whereof are the Bashetani, io called from the City Basha, now Basea, on the Left are the Contessani, ancient People of Syain, whose Metropolis now is Murcia. The other stretches it self towards Malaga, and joyning to the Mountain of Granada, runs beyond Gibraltar and Tavisa as if it designed to pass the Streight into Africk. From Orospeda near Alearaz, rise the Mountains Mariani, vulgarly called Siera Morona, the foot whereof all along almost as far as the Ocean, is washed by the River Guadalawiyir, which foot whereof all along amout as in as the Ocean, is rained by an extra Ormaniporon, which at Andurar cuts Andaluzia in the middle, runs by Cordova, Italica, and Sevil, and falls into the Ocean near the Place formerly called Templum Luciferi, now to St. Lucar. At prefent this River has but one Mouth, in ancient Times it is faid to have had two; for Nebrixa and this River has but one Mouth, in ancient 1 imes it is laid to nave nad two; for Nebruxa and Affa which the Ancients placed on the Illand of Gazdalquivor, are now two Leagues from the Mouth of it. Not far from the rife of Orofpeda, and near Moncayo, in the midlt of a great Plain other Mountains lift up their Heads, which no doubt are Branches of the Pyreneaus, as all others that croß Spain are. The rife of this is fearce perceivable at first, but for the fall of feveral Waters, and because the River Duero, whose Source is in the Pelendones, and whose Course is Southward as far as Soria, it is there by them turned away to the Westward. A-Courte is solutionard as in as soria, it is there by them cannot are first or the vertical armong anchern Authors I find no mention of these Mounts, at prefer they have several Names, taken for the most part from the Neighbouring Cities, as of Soria, Segovia, and Avila. Caffile the greatest Province of Spain, 18by these Mountains divided into the Old and the New. Hence they run on near Coma and Placentia, are watered on the Left by the River Tagus, and passing on, part Portugal into two almost equal Portions. They expire at Simra, which is on Mount Tagrus, seven Leagues to the Northward of Lisbon, where they form in the Ocean the Cape called by Solinus, Promontorium Artabrum.

CHAP. II.

Of the Ancient and Modern Division of Spain, of the Languages used there, and of the Customs of the Spaniards.

Pain was divided by the Romans into three Parts, Lustania, Betica, and Tarraconensis. The Ancient Lustania Inhabited the farthest parts of Spain Westward; their Limits were the Rivers and Menuscope on the North, and Guddiana on the South, and a Line drawn from that part of Duron of which is opposite to Simaneas to Puent ed Argibis, and thence through the Oretani, which was that part where Almagro now stands, to the Banks of Guadiana; which Line parted them from the Province Tarraconouls in fuch manner, that within Lustania was comprehended the Country about Avila, Salamanca, Soria, and other Places now belonging to Capile. Retica or Anidalusia, is shut in on three sides by the River Guadiana and the Sea, as pine. Deliver of Amazing, is much on the Promontory Charidenium, or Cape Gata, from far as Murgis or Muxacra, a Town near the Promontory Charidenium, or Cape Gata, from far as Murgis or Muxacra, a Town near the Promontory Charlaemum, or Cape Cataia, from whence a Line drawn to Caffulon and the Oretani, where stands the rich Town of Almagro makes the fourth side towards the East. All the remaining part of Spain was included in the Province-Tarraconnssis, so called from the noble City Tarragona a Colony of the Scipio's, Province-Tarraconnssis, so called from the noble City Tarragona a Colony of the Scipio's, revince 1 arraconenis, 10 caned from the none caty 1 arragona a colony of the Sopio 5, which for many Years was the Metropolis of the Roman Empire in Spain, where they kept their Courts, and the Majesty of their Government resided. St. Isladorus following the division their Courts, and the majerty of their Government reduced.

Chap. II.

5t. spaceta following the division made by Conflamine the great, which is to be feen in Sextus Rufus, finddivides this Province inmade by Confiantine the great, which is to be seen in dexius asins, undurvides this Province into Tarragonenshi, Caribaginenshi and Gallicia; but does not assign the Limits of each; and it is no wonder, for these Provinces were often believed or enlarged, according to the will of those who Commanded. All this Province Tarragonenshi is also known by the Name of Hispania wonder, for thefe Provinces were often lessend or enlarged, according to the will of those wonder, for these Provinces were often lessend or enlarged, according to the will of those who Commanded. All this Province Taraconensis is also known by the Name of Hispania who Commanded. All this Province Taraconensis is also known by the Name of Hispania who Collected in the Collected of the theory of the two Spains, the doubtels once it was 60. Both these Pro-River Ero for the Bounds of the two Spains, the doubtels once it was 60. Both these Pro-River Ero for the Bounds of the two Spains, the doubtels once it was 60. Both these Pro-River Ero for the Bounds of the two Spains, the doubtels once it was 60. Both these Pro-River Ero for the Bounds of the Workshop on the would be troublesome to reduce to any vinces at present have several new Names, which it would be troublesome to reduce to any vinces at present have several new Names, which it would be troublesome to reduce to any vinces at the Certainty, but may all be comprehended under five Kingdoms, which were Erected as the certainty, but may all be comprehended under five Kingdoms, which were Erected as the certainty, but may all be comprehended under five Kingdoms, which were Erected as the extensive five Mantaussus says he was of the House of Lorain, tho Born at Belgasom in Burgundy. When the Give Pout at the Mouth VI. of Cassie, gave him in Dower with his Daughter Teresa, the City of Porto at the Mouth VI. of Cassie, and those more Learn-Name of Poutugal was then conspounded of Porto and Gallia; others, and those more Learn-Name of Poutugal was then conspounded of Porto and Gallia; others, and those more Learn-Name of Poutugal was then conspounded of Porto and Gallia; others, and those more Learn-Name of Poutugal vas then conspounded of Porto and Gallia; others, and those more Learn-Name of Poutugal vas the Cassie of Poutugal vas Evantaus of Poutugal and Erecuration of Poutugal and Erecuration of Poutugal and Erecuration of Poutugal and Erecuration of Poutugal a because for many Years it was the extream or farthest part of what the Christians possessed because for many years it was the extream or natural part of what the curritains possened. Sometime this Kingdom reached as far as Merida in Luftania, and Badajoz. in Betica. The Kingdom of Navarre, the third of the five in order, is among the People formerly called Kingdom of Navarre, the third of the five in order, is among the People formerly called Kingdom of Navarre, the third of the five in order, is among the People formerly called the Vascout, and to the Vescout, and on the Welf, by another sinds by the River Angan, or Arga towards the which runs to Cape Finisherre, on the other sides by the River Angan, or Arga towards the South, and on the Welf, by another small River that falls into Ebro below Calaborra, and by part of the River Ebro; this is to be understood of that part beyond Ebro, for the Kings part of the River Ebro; this is to be understood of that part beyond Ebro, for the Kings of Navarre Possible by way of Dower, the Town of Tueles of Navarre, and other Places adjacent. Tho'this Kingdom be small, and foi ill Peopled, that at present it contains not adjacent. Tho'this Kingdom be small, and foi ill Peopled, that at present it contains not adjacent. Tho'this Kingdom be supported that Country from the Moors, and erected a Kingdom, which lasted till the mereovered that Country from the Moors, and erected a Kingdom, which lasted till the mereovered that Country from the Moors, and in many Places far distant from Navarre are still the are still seen in the City Najara, and in many Places far distant from Navarre are fill the Mouments of their Sovereignty. Some derive this Word Navarre, from another like it, Mouments of their Sovereignty. Some derive this Word Navarre, from another like it, which is Navaeria, which being made up of the Biscain and Spanish Languages, signifies, a Plain Country. The Capitians call Plains, Navas; the Cantabri call the Land, Erria, which put together, signifies, Plain Land; this is a witty, and not contemptible Fancy. We in this Prian Country. In Columns call Plains, Plants; the Cantabre call the Land, Errig, which put together, fignifies, Plain Land; this is a witty, and not contemptible Fancy. We in this History call the People and Kingdom of Navarre, Vasconers in Lain. It is divided into fix Parts or Liberties, which are that of Pamplons, of Eficia, of Tudola, of Olive, and of Section 1918. The first called Citrapuertos, the chief Town whereof is called St. John de Pie de Puer-to, is the only one that remains united to the Lordhip of Bearn. The Kingdom of Aragon is divided the Contable Valencia and Aragon Proporty & called the Contable Contable. to, is the only one that remains united to the Lordship of Bearn. The Kingdom of Aragon is divided into Catalonia, Valencia and Aragon, properly so called; on the South, East, and North, it is encompassed by the Mediteranean Sea, that part of the Pyrenean Mountains where formerly inhabited the Certaini, now Cerdania, and the Borders of Navarre. On the West it is divided from Navarre by the River Ebro, and from thence forward, by a crooked Line drawn by Tarragona, Davosa, Hariga, Timela, Xaiwa, and Origuela, to the Mouth of the River Segma, which is between Alicant and Caribagena, where it reaches to the Sea, and the River Segma, which is between Alicant and Caribagena, where it reaches to the Sea, and the River Segma, which is between Alicant and Caribagena, where it reaches to the Sea, and leges, and are Governed by Laws far different from the other People of Spain, most tending to Curb the excessive Power of their Kings. The Name of Aragon is derived from Tayraco, which is Taragona, or what is most likely, from the River Aragon, now Aga, which runs through that part whence first the Borders of this Kingdom began to be enlarged. Under the Kingdom of Castile, (Io called from its many Castles, and which is not only the largest, but most Fertile and Beautiful of all Spain, and inferiour to no other Province) is comprehended that part of Asserting a last statement of the Preneaus, but asterwards inlarged, as appears by the City called Camabria, which its supposed was betwixt Logrono and Viana, on the Banks of Ebro, upon a high Clift, to this day called Camabria. Medicas, Estalogius Matry, speaks of the River Cantaber, which is believed to be Ega or Ebro, into which falls the River Aragon, which proves that Cantabria was once larger than Probemy makes it, and than that part we now call Bisary is in the Basica, which firetches along the Sea from Portugaleie to Hondaroa, are the Towns of Bishoa and Bermeo. The Sea-coalt of Guipusion teaches from Bisary to Functivabia, within its Liberties, besides st. Schaftian, and the Port of Guetaria are Salinas, Tolosa, the City Vitoria, and Moindagon, Towns of Alaba. In Cassile, we call all that are of that Lordship and use that Language, Biscainers, as we do all the Subjects of the House of Austria in Gallia Belgica, Flemings, though Flanders be but a small part of that Dominion. Besides this, the Kingdom of Toledo is also part of it, and is now called New Cassile, formerly Carpetania; through it runs the River Tagus, the noch note of Spain for its golden Sands: the sweetness of the Water, fruitfulnels and beauty of the Fields it washes, it runs towards the West, but turns somewhat Southward, as do also the Rivers Duoro, Gandaina and Guadalquivir; Tagus runs by Toledo, a City Itated in the midd of Spain, the Ornament and Guadalquivir; Tagus runs by Toledo, a City

The History of SPAIN.

All the Spaniards at present use one Language, which we call Cashillian, and is compounded Language of many other Tongues, especially the Latin, which appears by the Name it bears, being of Spain, called Romance, and its so great affinity, beyond the Itashan, for that Latin and Spanish either in Prose or Verse, agree in the very words and manner of Composition. The Portugese have a Language peculiar to themselves, being a mixture of the French and Cashillian. The People of Catalonia and Valencia, use a distinct Language, very like that of Language. Only the Biscainers still retain their mother and barbarous Tongue, void of all Elegancy, totally different from any other in Spain; but the Ancientest, and that which was formerly used throughout the Kingdoms before the coming of the Romans, who spread their Language where-ever they Conquered. Others affirm the Language of Biscay was always peculiar, to that Province, and Strabo says, it was not one Tongue, or one fort of Character that was used throughout Spain. It is not material to distinct which of these Orinions is the forcemed.

Moreover, to the Kingdom of Cassile belongs the Province Betica, now Andalucia, in which are Sevil, Cordova and Granada, formerly liberis, or at least liberis was very near it, as specied by one of the Gates of Granada, to this day called Elvira, and a Mountain hard by of the where-ever they Conquered. Others affirm the Language of Bifesy was always peculiar to that Province, and Strabo lays, it was not one Tongue, or one fort of Character that was used throughout Spain. It is not material to dispute which of these Opinions is beft grounded.

The Manners and Customs of the Spaniards in former Ages were Rude and Barbarous, Customs their Nature Genned to have more of wild Beafst than Men. They were remarkable for Se- of the crecy, no Rack being of force to draw a Secret from them; their Inclinations were restless Spaniards: and the Worship of their false Deities, averse to Learning, the of sharp Wits; so that when improved by seeing other Countries, they made appear they were inferiour to none for clear Judgments, excellent Memories, or Elegancy and Copiousiness of Words. In War they were more Couragious than Politick, their Habit plain and course, their Diet much in quantity, but free from Delicacy; they commonly drank Water, and but little Wine; they were rigorous with Malesacors, kind and loving to Strangers; this was in former Ages, for at present there is as great an increase of Vices as Vertues. Learning sourishes as much as in any part of the World; no Country affords greater Rewards of Vertue. The Spaniards are great lovers of Justice, the Magistrates supported by the Power of the Laws, bind together, and unite the greatest, and the means and Robberies, and restrains Men from Book J.

Murder, and offering Violence; for none is allowed to Transgress the Divine Laws, or Murder, and offering Violence; for none is allowed to Transgress the Divine Laws, or Oppress the Meanest of the People. What is most Glorious, is that it has always preserved the true Religion against all Heresy and Error. The Spaniards after expelling the Mogra, have Discovered and Conquered a great part of the World, with incredible Valour and Lahour; they are naturally very patient of Hardship and Hunger, which has carried through great Difficulties by Sea and Land. It must be allowed in our Days they are degenced, and grown more Effeminate, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminate, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminate, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminate, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminate, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminate, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminates, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminates, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminates, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminates, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminates, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and grown more Effeminates, through excess of Plenty, and costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and English excess of Plenty, and Costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and English excess of Plenty, and Costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and English excess of Plenty, and Costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and English excess of Plenty, and Costly Eating, Drink-nerated, and Dri nerated, and grown more Effeminate, through excefs of Plenty, and coffly Eating, Drinking Cloathing, and all other Extravagancies; our vast Commerce with other Nations, who ing Cloathing, and all other Extravagancies; our vast Commerce with other Nations, who refort on account of our Riches, is the cause of this Mischief, our Strength being decayed, and our Manners depray'd by the Communication of Foreigners, and the Connivance of
and our Manners depray'd by the Communication of Foreigners, and the Connivance of out putting any measure to their Profuseness. Hence we may expect a great change of out putting any measure to their Profuseness. Hence we may expect a great change of Fortune, and a mighty Fall of our Grandeur, which ever threatens all great Empires, and ours more especially, as having provok'd many by the Pride and Arrogancy of our Governours.

CHAP. III.

Of the Fabulous Kings of Spain, of the Geryons, of King Hispalus, and the Death of Hercules, and of Hesperus, Atlas, and Siculus, Kings-of Spain.

Fabulous

It is agreed on of all Hands, and beyond dilptote, as was faid before, that Tubal came to Spain, but it is hard to guels, much more to decide what part of Spain he first Planted, or where he made his Abode; some fay his first Footing was in Lustrania; others, that among the Pascones, now Navarre. The Portugels bring Setubal, the Pascones, Tuched as Arguments of his coming into their Countries, from the likeness of the Names of those Places with his. But their are ridiculous and shameless impositions, as if Setubal the Names form Countries and Tubal whereas Countries is a Latin word naver heard in those Places with his. But these are ridiculous and shameless impositions, as if Setubal could take Name from Cirius and Tubal, whereas Cartus is a Latin word, never heard in Portugal till the time of the Romans, many hundreds of Years after Tubal. Others say, Taragona and Saguntam were Built by Tubal, but this is no better than the other, and Taragona and Saguntam were Built by Tubal, but this is no better than the other, and Authors knowing nothing of these Antiquities, have pleased themselves by imposing their Fictions on their Posterity for History; some have close this to honour their Country with such reversed Antiquity; but these Fictions only serve to take off the Credit of the real functions, which would much more illustrate those Places than all their Dreams and Chippers's The Fables of Noals's coming into Sagin and Founding the Cirics Noals and Chronicles, which would much more illustrate those Places than all their Dreams and Chimera's. The Fables of Noab's coming into Spaim, and Founding the Cities Noala and mera's. The Fables of Noab's coming into Spaim, and Founding the Cities Noala and Noaga, and his Son berus giving his Name to the River Ebro, and the Province of Iberia, Noaga and his Son berus giving his Name to the River Ebro, and the Province of Iberia, rare Pleasant, but not Credible; that River and Province, it is more likely, took their are Pleasant, but not Credible; that Part of the Country came to be called Celiberia, mixing with the Celta of France, that part of the Country came to be called Celiberia, mixing with the Celta of France, that part of the Country came to be called Celiberia. There are many more Inventions of this fort, as that the Mountain Idubeda was so called There are many more Inventions of this fort, as that the Mountain Idubeda was so called there of one of the Brigia, afterwards called Phrysiain Asia, that his Son Tagus gave his Name whereof was Brigia, afterwards called Phrysiain Asia, that his Son Tagus gave his Name Too Doubtles, the Province took the Name from the River, and the River, believe, had it from Doubtles, the Province took the Name from the River, and the River, believe, had it from the Hebrew word Bath, which signifies a House, because of the many Buildings that were the Hebrew word Bath, which signifies a House, because of the many Buildings that were the Hebrew word Bath, which signifies as House, because of the many Buildings that were the Hebrew word Bath, which signifies as House, heaven of the fabluous Kings, of whom no Auupon the Banks of it. Thus much may suffice for the fabluous Kings, of whom no Auupon the Banks of it. Thus much may suffice for the fabluous Kings, of whom no Auupon the Banks of it. Thus much may suffice for the fabluous Kings, of whom no Auupon the Banks of it. enors have spoken of.

Gryon was the first that may be accounted King of Spain, of whom much mention is made by the Greek and Latin Authors. He was no Native, for Geryon in the Chaldean

Language, fignifies a Stranger; he was the first that discovered the value of Gold there, Language, fignifies a Stranger; he was the first that discovered the value of Gold there, which before lay about unregarded, and heaped great Treasures, as also hekept great Herds which before lay about unregarded, and heaped great Treasures, as also hekept great Herds and Flocks of Cattle; for which reasons, he was by the Greeks called Chrysas, that is Golden. He was the first that Lorded it over that People, who before lived dispersed without any He was the first that Lorded it over that People, who before lived dispersed without any have built a Fort near Cadia; called Geranda, and a City often same Name in Catalonia, now have built a Fort near Cadia; called Geranda, and a City often same Name in Catalonia, now have built a Fort near Cadia; called Geranda, and a City often fame Name in Catalonia, now have built a Fort near Cadia; called Geranda, and a City often fame Name in Catalonia, and in a where he taught the planting of Vines, and Gowing of Corn, came into Spain, and in a where he taught the planting of Vines, and Gowing of Corn, came into Spain, and in a where he taught the planting of Vines, and Glow him. Geryon was Buried near the Mouth of the Streights, and after worthipped as a God, as appears by the Tgmple of Osivia, Built in Sicily by Hercules, and his famous Oracle at Padua, which Princes often visited, as Sueronia

Enetonius affirms. Ofiris having thus refcued Spain from the Tyranny of Geryon, thought not fit to punish the Grimes of the Father in the Children, which were three beautiful some in the cherefore he gave the Kingdom, appointing who should Govern during their Minority, and then returned into Egypt. These Geryons being come to Age, did not only Tyranize over their Subjects, but meditating Revenge for the Death of their Father, induced Typhon to Murder his Brother Office, which he performed, and seated himself in the Throne of Egypt. Orns the Son of Office who then Governed Sophia, understanding what Throne of Egypt. Orus the Son of Ofris who then Governed Soybia, understanding what had passed, hasts into Egypt, and in revenge of his Fathers Murder slew Typhon; then gathering a great Army, he passed into Spain, and drove the Gorpons into the sland of Cadic, where they Fortified themselves. Fearing lest so great an Army should suffer want, if the War were protracted, and desiring to avoid the great Bloodshed that must ensue in the sea to a Battle, he offered to decide the Quarrel by his own Person, and sight the three Brothers; They accepted of the Challenge, and were all Slain by him. Their Bodies were buried in the sland, and from thence forward it was called Erithrea, of some People that came orns, or with Orus, or Hercules from the Red Sea, who, with the Approbation of their General, silks the planted there. This done, Hercules caused walt Stones and other Materials to be cast into the three Sea, at the mouth of the Streights, and railed the two Mounts. So samous by the name of of Gerian. Sea, at the mouth of the Streights, and raised the two Mounts, so famous by the name of of Gerion. Hercule's Pillers; that on the Weft of Spain is called Calpe, the other in Africk, Abyla. All things being fettled to his Mind, he chofe Hipalus, one of his Companions, of whose good Conduct he was fully fatisfied, to Govern and Reign in Spain, and then went over by Sea to Italy.

Dea to Italy.

It is agreed on all Hands, that Hifpalus Reigned in Spain. From him Jufim affirms, it Hifpalus took the Name of Hifpania, only one Letter being changed. Others fay, he built Sevil, in King. Latin Hifpalis. St. Ifidows fays it was built by Julius Cafur, and called Julia Romana; perhaps it was then enlarged and beautified. Plutock affirms, Spain took its Namic from Plin, a Follower of the fecond Hercules; and was first called Plinia, then Spaina, others fay it was from Hifpanus the Son of Hifpalus. Their are all bare furmities; our Hiflorians write many things of this Hifpalus of their own Invention to beautifie their Works; but their belian to be such a Count of finch Antioutivit is better to Dafs it by in Silence than Immose upon ing no certain Account of fuch Antiquity, it is better to pass it by in Silence than Impose upon the Readers. Authors do not agree about the time of the Death of Hispalus; but after his the Readers. Authors do not agree about the time of the Deathor Phipains; but after his Days Herealers returned into Spain, where having Governed with Moderation, and Built (as some will have it) the Towns of Julia Lybica, Urgel, Barcelona, and Taragona; he departed this Life, being of a very great Age. The Spainard Confectated him a God, and payed him Divine Honours, railing a Temple where his Body was Buried, and placing Priests

Histories and Hercules dying without Issue, the latter before his Death, appointed Hesperus, Hesperus, Hipalus and Hercules dying without line, the latter before his Death, appointed Helperus, Belperus. Brother to Asias, and one of his Compations, to succeed him. The Fame of this Helperus's Helperus's Valour and Vertue gained him such Credit among the People, that of him some Greek and Latin Authors say, Spain was afterwards called Helperia: the others are of Opinion it was from Helperus's the Evening Star. The good Fortune of this King was not latting; for his Brother Alias offended that he should be preferred before him, came over into Spain, and having gained the good Will of the Soldiers, son possessing the metallic of the Kingdom, Asias extensions of the Color of the Soldiers of the Soldie and having gained the good Will of the Soldiers, soon possessed in the Kingdom. Assistance Hosperus thus forsaken, seed into Italy, where he was Friendly entertained, and soon after pells He-constituted. Tutor to the young King Corius, called by others Janus, or Jupiter, white Region. he behaved himself so well, that having gained the Affections of that People, he gave his Name to Italy as he had done to Spain, and it was called Heperia. Assistance alous of his Brother's greatness, and fearing he might in time recover his Kingdom, resolved to prevent him. In order hereanto, he raised a mighty Army, and under colour of Honouring them, took the Chief Men of Spain along with him into Italy; but his design was to keep them as Hossaes, left the People in his Absence, should endeavout to cast off a foreign Yoke. At Sta a violent stoom featured his feet and infeat of I anding in Italy he was Forced into rousages, ser the reopie in ms Aosence, monic endeavour to care on a foreign Yoke. At Sea a violent Storm feathered his Fleet, and inflead of Landing in Haly, he was forced into Sieily; that Illand being exceeding Rich and Fruitful, he left a confiderable Number of Spaniards to Plant there. This done, he put to Sea again, and arrived in Haly, where he found his Brother Helperus was Dead; to that there was no difficulty in feizing Coritus King of Tuferany, and making himlelf Mafter of the Country. Alias had two Daughters; one of them called Elellra, was Married to Coritus, and had Ilius Jaffus and Dardamus, of whom more histografies. The his detail Daughter alled Rose Built had City Rose Label more like hereafter. That his other Daughter called Rome, Built the City Rome, looks more like a Fiction of our Historians than a true History; therefore I will make no further mention of it, no more than of Sicous, Sicous, Sicoleus and Lufus, whom our modern Writers reckon among the Kings of Spain; whereas among the Ancients there is not the leaft Account of them, nor of Morgetes the Son of Alias giving his Name to the People of Italy, called Morgetes, for which there is no other Anthority but framed likeness of Words. Philistius Siracufanus's Authority is sufficient to believe that Siculus, the Son of Atlas, Siculus Son

Governed Spain in his Father's ablence, and increeded him in the Kingdom after his Death of Allar In his time the two Brothers Jaffus and Dardanus being at Variance about the Kingdom of Inherits Tulamy, by reason of the Death of their Father Corinus, Sieulus their Uncle went over with an Army to pacific them, and by the way Landing in Sicily, is faid to have given his Name to that Island, till then called Trinacria, of the three great Promontories that rub. out into the Sea. Thence passing over into Tuscass, he endeavoured to reconcile the Brothers, but Dardanus dealing Treacherously, Murdered Jassus, and Susulus in Revenge throw him out of Itasys. Dardanus with a great Number of the Abrigiuse who followed his Fortunes, sied into Asia, where he Built the famous City of Troy. Susulus having settled the Affairs of Itasy, and Seated the Son of Jassus on the Throne of Tuscass, returned into Spains, and from this time we find no Account of aby other Actions of his, unless we hould writes the Theorems and Rayings of modern Authors, who also Forge other Kings of Casis under the Casis with the Casis wit Spain; and from this time we find no Account of any other Actions of his, unlefs we should write the Dreams and Ravings of modern Authors, who also Forge other Kings of Spain upen as vain grounds as the former. One of these is Teffa, who, they say, built a Town of his own Name, and from him the People of that part of Spain were called Contestani, Another is Romus, to whom is assigned the building of Valencia. The third is Palatius, from him they write the Palatius, and the City Palamia took their Names. Such another is Eriture Canada to have come from based the Palatius. him they write the Palatus, and the City Palancia took their Names. Such another is Erithrus, feigned to have come from beyond the Red Sea. Laftly, among thefe is Melicola, called a lio Gargoris, of whom, Jufim makes mention. I would not wholly omit the Names of thefe Kings, fuch as they are, because learned Men as well as the Ignorant, have thumbled upon them, tho they are to be looked upon no better than old Women's Tales. I suppose, Justin calls Siculus, Sicorus, which I note, that none may be deceived and imagine, they are two distinct Kings.

CHAP. IV.

Of the coming of feveral Nations into Spain, as the Celts, Rhodians, Carthaginians, and Phenicians, also of Abides, and a wonderful Dearth.

T is impossible particularly to allign the Time that each of the above-mentioned Kings Reigned, or in what Year of the World. The nearest we can gues, is, that the Geryons lived about the 4th or 5th Century after the Deluge, and Siculus above 200 Years before the Destruction of Troy. In his Time, or not long after, a great Fleet failed from Zant, an Island in the Ionian Sea on the West of Pelopomesus, or Morea, and Landing in Spain, they built a strong Town, which they called Zazyushus of their own Country, afterwards, Sagustum, now Mossington. These People in process of time seathering Strength five and they built altrong Town, which they called Zazynimus of their own Country, atterwards, Sagunium, now Monviedro, These People in process of time gathering Strength, spread built by farther along the Coast, and at length built the not framous Temple of Diama, from which the Promontory Diainum, now Denia, took Name. In this Temple they placed Idols and Friests, and offered great Sacrifice, to the Admiration of the ignorant Natives, who looked upon them as something more than Men. All the Timber-work was of Juniper, a fort of Wood first and leavestable in the Temple than Men. All the Timber-work was of Juniper, a fort of Wood first and leavestable in the Temple than Men. All the Timber-work was of Juniper, a fort of Wood first and leavestable in the Temple than Men. All the Timber-work was of Juniper, a fort of Wood first and leavestable in the Temple than Men. fivet and incorruptible, in fo much, that Pliny affirms it was ftanding in his Time without the leaft fign of Decay. After the coming of the Zazynthians, Authors fay there came anothe leaft fign of Decay. After the coming of the Zazyuthians, Authors say there came another Dionysius, or Bacchus, who was the Son of Semele, about 150 Years before the Trojan War, and in the farthest parts of Spain, betwitt the two Mouths of Guadalquivin, Founded War, and in the farthest parts of Spain, betwitt the two Mouths of Guadalquivin, Founded War, and his Followers, especially when they offered Sacrifice. The Name Yeneria was afterwards given to Nebrisa. Diodrus Siculus Writes, there were three Dionysis or Bacchi. The first given to Nebrisa. Diodrus Siculus Writes, there were three Dionysis or Bacchi. The first given to Nebrisa. Diodrus Siculus Writes, there were three Dionysis or Broderine or Son of Deucalion or Noals, the same, above called Ossis; the second, son of Proserine or Son of Deucalion or Noals, the same, above called Ossis; the second, son of Proserine or Son of Deucalion or Noals, the same, above called Ossis; the second of Proserine or Son of Deucalion or Noals, the same that single the same thing, in the Carty Meroa, which signifies, a Land; the third, the Son of Semele, Borrin Adultery in the City Meroa, which signifies, a spain from Tyranny and Oppression. About this same time Milico, the Son of Mirica, is said to have had great Power and Authority among the Spaniards; and that his Success not from the Place where Bacea now stands, built Castulon among the Oretani, formerly one of the noblest Cities in Spain, now no other Memory of it is remaining but in the Cottages of trom the reace where Bases now hands, built captures among the crisisms, formerly one of the noblect Cities in Spain, now no other Memory of it is remaining but in the Cottages of Carlona. Dionysius at his departure, left two of his Companions behind, the one Lustus, of Luftiani fo whom the Luftiani took Name; the other Pan, whom the ignorant People working as a call'dfrom God, and from him [as Varro and Plutarch will have it) the Country was first called Pania, call'dfiom God, and from him (as Varro and Plutarch will have it) the Country was first called Papsa, and after by the addition of one Letter, Spania; Jason the Thelsalian destring to gain Honor, and Enrich himself, built a great ship, and tasking into it Hercules the Theban, Orphenous us, Linus, Castor, and Poluss, and many more, after Pillaging all the Coasts of Assa, can in Spain. The Araches built a Fort called Heraclea, now Gibralian Far as the Mouth of the Streights, where Hercules built a Fort called Heraclea, now Gibralian in Spain. See the Mouth of the Streights, where Hercules built a Fort called Heraclea, now Gibralian in Spain and Spain and Spain and Gibralian in Spain and Sp

Greeks. From Sagunium they went over to Majorea, and took Bocorris the King of that Island; but understanding there was no Gold there, having taken in Provision, and some large Oxen, they passed into Italy, where Hercules slew Cacus, and then returned into Greece, Hecateus denies that ever this Hercules came into Spain ; but Diodorus, and all other Authors testifie the contrary. To him it is that Virgil attributes the Killing of the Geryons; but this is a Poetical Licence, and great miltake of Times. After the coming of Hercules, and Death of Milico, Gargoris Reigned in Spain, and was called Mellicold, being the first that found out the taking of Honey. In this King's time hap'ned the famous Trojan War: which ended, the remainders of the Greeks and Trojans' firead themselves, and Planted in several Parts of the World, and among the rest, in Spain. The first reckoned among those that Trojans came, is Tearus, the Brother of Ajax, who not being permitted by his Father Telamot come into return home alone, went first to Cyprus, where he built the City Salamina, now Fanagosta, Spain. and thence passed into Spain, and is there said to have erested another City called Teucria. and thence patted into Spam, and is there is no to have erected another Lity caired Teneria, in the place where Carribagens now Hands. Julin and St. Highers, both mention his coming to Spain, but not his building any City. But all agree that he passed out of the Streights, and failing along the Coast, landed in Galicia, where he Founded the City Helene, now Pontevedra; and add that he erected another called Ampholocia, by the Romans called Ampe Caire, by the Scarilla Case Caire. Next, Tydeus is faid to have attempted several parts of the Spanish Coast, but that meeting Opposition, he failed on to the Northern Coast of Portugal, where betwixt the Rivers Minbo and Lima, he Founded the City Tuy, in Latin, Tude or Tyde. Strabo writes, that Mnefteus the Athenian with a Fleet came to the Mouth of the River Belon, now Guadalete, where he built a City of his own Name, and is the fame that is now Port St. Mary; and befides, a Temple between the two branches of Guadalquivir, which was called Oraculum Muesseum. To conclude, Strabo and Solimus affirm, that Ulyssee came into Spain, and built the City of Lisbon, from him in Latin called Ulysippo, but others reject this Opinion, in regard the ancient Name was Olysippo, not Ulysippo, and because there are no Grounds to believe that ever Ulyffes was there.

Chap. VI. The History of S.P. A.I.N.

About this time (according to Julin) Dagotis Reigned over the Cwetes, and relided in the Gargotis. Forest of the Tarrefii, where Ancients seigned the Titass waged War with the Gods. This or Melli-King stained all the Virtues with which he was endowed, with the Cruelty he used towards wild. his Grandion Abides. This Child was Born of his Daughter out of Wedlock; the Grand-Father to hide this shame, caused him to be exposed to wild Beasts, who forgetting their Abide's Fierceness, Nursed him with their Milk. Gargoris no way Mollisted, caused him to be laid British and Fierceness, Nurlea aim with their Milk. Gargoris no way Mollined, cauted him to be laid milk in a Path where Cattle was to pais, to be troot to Death; and having efcaped this danger dion. cafe him to Dogs that had been kept Hungry on purpose that they might Devour him; in fine, he was thrown into the Sea, which laid him again on the Shore, where he was Suckled by a Doe. Being grownup, Abides of the nature of his Nurse, became so nimble, that he out ran the swiftest Beafts, and withall so wild, that he lived on the Mountains by Rapine. The neighbouring People having suffered much, laid a Toil, into which he fell, and was by them carried to his Grandfather; Gargoris by some natural Instinct, as also by Marks that had been observed in the Body of him when a Child, discovered who he was, and changing nad been otherved in the body of this when a clink, officered who he was, and changing his Severity into Love, named him Abides; keep him as long as he lived as became his Grandfon, and at his Death appointed him his Heir. Abides being feated on the Throne, für Histeign. passed all his Predecessors in the Administration of the Government; he persuaded his Subjects who before lived differfed, to gather themselves into Towns and Cities, whereny the Wildness of those People was much Polished, he restored the use of Wine, and manner of Tilling the Glound, which had been long forgot; the People living upon such things as Nature produced. He instituted Laws, erected Tribunals, and named Judges and Magistrates. By these means he gained the good Will of his Subjects, and purchased great renown among Strangers; and having lived to a great Age, departed this Life, leaving behind an immortal Fame. He was Contemporary with King David; but Typhin will have it, that he lived at the same time with the Geryons, and was King only of some part of Spain. It is faid his Program Reisend for many Vestra stere him, but none of their Actions, or so much jects who before lived dispersed, to gather themselves into Towns and Cities, whereby the faid his Progeny Reigned for many Years after him, but none of their Actions, or so much as their Names can be found, nor any other remarkable Occurrence for a long Tract of Time; only a most wonderful Dearth that hap ned, which lasted 26 Years, so that all the A wona lime; only a moit wonderful Dearth that hap'ned, which latted 26 Years, 16 that all the A won-Rivers, except Elvo and Guadalquivin were dryed up, and the Earth gaping, the rich People derful who flay'd longeft, were deprived of means to fly to other Countries, the Poor having at Dearth first withdrawn themselves to the neighbouring Provinces. Thus the greatest part of Spain, especially the Inland was not only stript of all manner of Trees, but totally unpeopled, and left Desart. This season being past, and the Land again moiltened with Rain, the Natives that had escaped, mixed with other Nations, returned, and restored the Spains Race, almost extinct. Most of our Authors agree in this Account, but others, and those very learned, will no way allow of it. and the Reasons they give are that no Greek not Latin Learned, will no way allow of it, and the Reasons they give, are, that no Greek nor Latin Author makes any mention of it, and so remarkable a Transmigration could not have escaped their Knowledge; that it is impossible Ebro and Guadalquivir could have preserved any moisture during so many Years, if we consider how many great Rivers are almost dryed up in one hot Summer; that such a Drought would not cause the Ground to open, but rather fall away all to Dust; as may be seen in Libya, and other parts of Africk, because Moisture unites, and Driness dissipates Bodies. This is what our Historians write; my Opinion is, that as things at a great distance, are always represented greater than really they are, so it hap ned in this Dearth, which doubtless, was much less than it is made; and it is probable it Rained sometimes, and so much as might unite the Earth, and preserve the Rivers, yet not enough to produce any fort of Grain or Fruit.

Chap. V.

10

The Fame of this Defolation being fpread, moved many of the neighbouring People once it was palt, to come over with their Stocks and Families to re-people the Country; every one it was palt, to come over with their Stocks and Multitudes reforting from all Parts, throw their polled himself of that Part he liked belt and Multitudes reforting from all Parts, throw their polled himself of that Part he liked belt and Multitudes reforting from all Parts, throw their polled himself of that Part he liked belt and Multitudes reforting from all Parts, throw their polled himself of that Part he liked belt and Multitudes reforting from all Parts, throw their polled himself of the Part he liked belt and Multitudes reforting from the Part he liked belt and Multitudes reforting fr possessed himself of that Part he liked best and Multitudes resorting from all Parts, tilro' their holds are all the greatNumber of their Off-spring, the Beauty of Spain was again soon restloyed. Industry and the greatNumber of their Off-spring, the Beauty of Spain was again soon restloyed. The Celte, a People of France passing a People of Prance passing and Propher of Prance which lies on the North of France, of Ebro, and East of the River Idubeda, a fertile and pleasant Country, where is now the of Prance, of Ebro, and East of the River Idubeda, a fertile and pleasant Country, where is now the Spain. State Berro, and the Come into City Taracona, and formerly those of Netobriga and Propher of Celte, and the Come into City Taracona, and formerly those of Netobriga and Propher of Celter, and the Come into City Taracona, and formerly those of Netobriga and Arcelia and Spread, as appears by Segobriga, Belsino, Urcessa and other Towns, reckoned among the Celtiberi, on the Northern Borders of the Celtiberi were the Arevaci, where are now Osma, Celtiberi, on the Northern Borders of the Celtiberi were the Arevaci, where are now Osma, Celtiberi, and Included under the geand Agreda, the Duraci, Netter, Pelemance, Presamacci and Cilemi, all included under the general Name of Celtiberi, and iowned to them by Affinity. It is a received Opinion. that the and Agreda, the Duraci, Nerita, Pleundones, Prefamarci and Cileni, all included under the general Name of Celiberi, and joyned to them by Affinity. It is a received Opinion, that the neral Name of Celiberi, and joyned to them by Affinity. It is a received Opinion, that the neral Name of Celiberi, and joyned to them by Affinity. It is a received Opinion, that the foot of the Preincains, which in the time of the Gelbs, was a great City and Bilhoprick, the foot of the Preincains, which in the time of the Gelbs, was a great City and Bilhoprick on which then to make Cables, and Weave Rufles for many uses, and allo to make Horice-mills to grind to make Cables, and Weave Rufles for many uses, and allo to make Horice-mills to grind to make Cables, and Weave Rufles for many uses, and allo to make Horice-mills to grind to make Cables, and weave Rufles for many uses, and allo to make Horice-mills to grind to make Cables, and another to the first that taught them the use of Copper Coin, which then their Corn; they were allo the first that taught them Rofe; is Emparias, at the Foot of the ana, and another to the Spaniards. In process of Time, they built a Temple to Diagnosia, which Place, about this same time, the Mountain was Fired, whether accident President, at which Place, about this same time, the Mountain was Fired, whether accident the Tops of them. This great Fire melted the Veins of Gold and Silver, which were very the Tops of them. This great Fire melted the Veins of Gold and Silver, which were very plentiful there, and in many other Parts of Spain, in fuch maniner, that those Metals ran plentiful there, and in many other Parts of Spain, in fuch maniner, that those Metals ran plentiful there, and in many other Parts of Spain, in fuch maniner, that those Metals ran plentiful there, and in many other Parts of Spain, in fuch maniner, that those Metals ran plentiful there, and in many other Parts of Spain, in fuch maniner, that those Metals ran plentiful there, and then their the thing the thread the first that durft

The Phenicians are effected the first that durst venture out with great Fleets into the Phenicians are effected the first that durst venture out with great Fleets into the phenicians are effected the first that durst venture out with great Fleets into the phenicians are effected the first that durst venture of spain the Sovereignty open Sea, and setted the Seas from the Rodians, and Popygians, are faid to have fet out from the famous City and setted to the Seas from the Rodians, and Popygians, are faid to have fet out from the famous City for the Seas from the Rodians, and Popygians, are the first, who coining to the Streights-of the Seas from the Rodians, and the first, and the sliver, to be fome of that melted by the great Conflagration abovementioned. Our and the Sliver, to be fome of that melted by the great Conflagration abovementioned. Our and the Sliver, that Siebeus commanded one of their Fleets, and got here, those great Historians relate, that Siebeus commanded one of their Fleets, and got here, those from Riches, which tempted his Brother-in-law Pygmalion, to murther him. This Voyage being Riches, which tempted his Brother-in-law Pygmalion, to murther him. This Voyage being for fome time laid ande, by reason of the Death of Siebeus, Pygmalion fet out with a Fleet for fome time laid and landed among the Turduli, that is, in Andaluzia, at the Place where now from Tyre, and landed among the Turduli, that is, in Andaluzia, at the Place where now from terturing home with much Treasure, made afterwards several Voyages, till he came and returning home with much Treasure, and afterwards several Voyages, till he came far as Cadia; which Island before called Erybras, from that time was known by the Name far as Cadia; which Island before called Erybras, from that time was known by the Name and returning home with much Treasure, made afterwards several Voyages, till he came as and returning home with much Treasure, made afterwards several Voyages, till he came as far as Cadix, which illand before called Expitera, from that time was known by the Name far as Cadix, which illand before called Expitera, from that time was known by the Name of Gadara, that is, a bulwark, either in respect it is the Bulwark of Spain against the investigation of the Fortistications ratifed by the Phoniciann. They affo built a seven that the theorem of the Continent, and is Temple to Hercules, on that point of Land which is opposite to, the Continent, and is thence called Promonstorium Herculeum. The Phenicians grown Rich with the Trade of Spain, thence called Promonstorium Herculeum. The Phenicians grown Rich with the Trade of Spain, and having built Malaga and Adara, thought of nothing less than possessing themselves of the Mingdom of Israel. This is the same Salamanasson, who laid Siege to Jeruslatem, and design king of the Allprians thad extirpated the kind Reigned in Jeruslatem, after Salamanasson, who laid Siege to Jeruslatem, and design in to Conquer the whole World, went with a mighty Army into Egypt, where he was oning to Conquer the whole World, went with a mighty Army into Egypt, where he was oning to Conquer the whole World, went with a mighty Army into Egypt, where he was oning to Salama, where not far from the River Etro, he built the City Tarragona, which the came into Spains, where not far from the River Etro, he built the City Tarragona, which he came into Spains, where not far from the River Etro, he built the City Tarragona, which the Carbos's long after rebuilt, and made the Metropolis of the Roman Empire in Spain; which Solivia, to attribute the Foundation of it to them.

After the Death of Queen Dido, the Power of the Carthaginians increased by Sea and Solimus, to attribute the Foundation of it to them.

After the Death of Queen Dido, the Power of the Carthaginians increased by Sea and After the Death of Queen Dido, the Power of the Europe, to this end, they attempted in Europe, to this end, they attempted in Europe, to this end, they attempted Sciety, Sardina, and Cartea; but being repulfed by the Natives, thought fit to try their fortune upon lefter Illands; in order hereunto, directing their Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain, they are the same of the Courfe towards Spain the same of the Courfe towards Spain the Spain the Spain the Spain than the same of the Courfe towards Spain the Spain possessed themselves of Ivica, which is an Island girt with Rocks, and difficult of Access. unless toward the South, where is a large and spacious Harbour. This siland is opposite to Cape Denia, about 100 Miles distant from the Coast of Spain; it is small, being not above 20 Miles in Circumference, at that time it was Wild, and covered with Woods of Pine-trees. whence the Greeks called it Pytaiffatt. It produces great plenty of Salt, the Air is temperate, and the nature of the Soil fuch, it does not only breed no Vermin or venomous Creatures, but if any are brought of thick, they prefently die. This is the more wonderful, for that as ancient Cosinographic attent, they became your. In it the more wondertun, that as ancient Cosinographic affirm, near it was another Illand, not Habitable, by reason of the Multitudes of Snakes and poisonous Animals, whence it was called Opbinso, that is, Illand of Snakes. We cannot certainly determine which Illand this should be, at prefent; some fail is Formentera, because but two Miles from Ivica; others will have it to be Dragonera, by reason of the likeness of the Names. The most Learned are of Opinion, that a Mountain reason of the likeness of the Names. The most Learned are of Opinion, that a Mountain called Colubre, joying to the Continent, and opposite to Peinfola, was called in Greek Opbins, and in Latin Colubraria; notwithstanding, ancient Geographers place their Opbins near to lvisa. The Carbaginians being possessed, and Amora, distant 20 miles from one another, and 60 from the Coast to attempt Majora, and Minora, distant 20 miles from one another, and 60 from the Coast of Spain. The Greeks sometime called them Gynessa, by reason the Inabalitants went Naked, and other whiles, Balaeue, for their skill in casting Stones with Slings; but in particular, the greatest was called Clumba, and the lesser, as Amstonians teltifies, and from him Florian. Before they would attempt to Land, the Carthaginians pelavaris went round these stands to view all their Creeks and Harbours, and being terrified by the sissands fierceness of the Inhabitants, having lost some of their forwardest Men that durft go a shore, they desired of Success there, and Hong to the Coast of Sasia, with a design to make nercenes of the innantants, awing foir tome of their forwardert Men that durit go a shore, they defipiated of. Success there, and stoodover for the Coast of Spain, with a design to make - Discoveries, and gain some Footing there. But with little Success, for the People of Saguntum foresting the danger of sinch Neighbours, persuadat the Natives to have no Commerce with them; which together, with the Dusties of their own Country, at that time labouring under Civil Broils, and ser upon by the Neighbouring Africans, obliged the Carbaginians to return home. Where to appeale their Gods, they instituted an inhuman Sacrifice of Young-men, which was afterwards used in Spain, with fuch Rigour, that in their greatest Distress, they thought none a sufficient Sacrifice, but the King's eldest Son; a Custom taken from the Moabites, and fometimes practifed by the Idolatrous Tews.

CHAP. V.

Of the Age of Argantonius, the Phenicians Attempt to Subdue all Spain, but being Repuls'd, sent for Aid to the Car-thaginians, who Ravage the Country, but sustain great loss from the Natives.

A Bout the Year 620 before the Birth of Christ, and 132 after the Building of Rome, was 132.

the Age of Argantonius, King of the Tartessis, who, according to Sitius Italicus's Account, Arganizatived 300 Years. Pliny out of Anacron, assigns him 150. To him, for his great Skill in us great War, and long Experience, the People committed the Government, hoping by his Courage Age and Conduct, to be able to oppose the Designs of the Phenicians, who had now laid asside and conduct, to be able to oppose the Deligns of the Promitians, who had now laid alled their Mask, and openly aimed at the Sovereighty of all Spain; having to this effect, palled over from Cadiz to the Continent. They used Policy as well as Strength, sowing Diffention among the Natives, and by that means, had posselled themselves of several Places. The Natives gathering under the Conduct of their King Argantonius, not only check'd the Phonicians, but, as some will have it, drove them out of all the Province of Betica, or Andalucia, ciaus, but, as some will have it, drove them out of all the Province of Betica, or Andalucia, and even out of the Island of Cadiz.; a thing the more likely, for that many were gone before to the relief of their own Country, the City of Tyre being then Besteged by the mighty King Nebuchahrezzar, after he had Taken Jerufalem. This Relief that went from Cadiz.; getting into Tyre, was the cause it held out four Years, and Nebuchahrezzar being called away into Egypt, rais'd the Siege; and having subdu'd the greatest. part of Africk, resolved nexter said to pass over into Spain, as well to possess, the said of the Riches of that Country, as to take Revenge for the Relief fent thence to Tyre; he landed his Army near the Pyreneans, and querypsis. from thence, without any Opposition, rang'd all the Country over till he came to Cadiz. Josephus says; he Conquered all Spain. The Natives taking Gourage, began to make Head; the King fearing to tempt Fortune, and satisfied that he had stretched his Empire to the utmost limits of the Earth, loaded with Riches, returned Home, in the Year 171. after the Building of Rome. This comming of Nebuchahrezar, is much spoken of in the Hebren Books, Building of Rome. This comming of Nebuchadnezzar, is much spoken of in the Hebrew Books; and this gave occasion to affirm, that many Towns in Andaluzia, and the Kingdom of Toledo, which have Hebrew Names, were then Built by the Jews that were in his Army. Among which have Hebrew Names, by the Herry of the theory o and this gave occasion to affirm, that many Towns in Andaluzia, and the Kingdom of Toledo, gamonius, much about the rear 200, and the Bunding of Rome. For his greater Frondir, they railed a Magnificent Sepulcher with as many Pyramids about it, as Enemies he had Sin with his own Hand; for this, Arifforle fays, was the manner of the Spaniards Burying their with his own Hand; for this, Arifotle lays, was the manner of the Spannards Burying their Dead.

Chap. VI.

12

Great Revolutions hap ned after the Death of Argantonius, and Spain like a Ship without faint their a Rudder, or Pilot, was toffed by every Wave. The Fortune of War at firth variable, and their a Rudder, or Pilot, was toffed by every Wave. The Fortune of War at firth variable, and their and their a firth variable, and their and their and their afterwards wholly averify to the Spain was the causes of all thefe Mifchiefs, the occasion of their of the Carbbaginians to Spain was the causes of all thefe Mifchiefs, the occasion of their of the Carbbaginians to Spain was the causes of all thefe Mifchiefs, the occasion of their Spain, and repossed themselves of the Bland of Cadiz, designing upon the first Opportu-Spain, and repossed themselves of the Bland of Cadiz, designing upon the first Opportu-Spain, and repossed themselves of the Bland of Cadiz, and thought none so good, as that of Religion. They asked leave of the Natives, to erect a thought none so good, as that of Religion. They asked leave of the Natives, to erect a thought none so good, as that of Religion. They asked leave of the Natives, to erect a thought none so good, as that of Religion. They asked leave of the Natives, to erect a thought none so good, as that of Religion. They asked leave of the Natives, to erect a thought none so good, as that of Religion. They asked leave of the Natives, to erect a thought none so good the sound of the same should be the same should be the same should be the same should be same sh rom rarija, along the Coalt of the mediterrantal to a lown then cause Barea, now inpposed to be Vera. The Turduli began at the Port of, Musseus, now Port St. Mary, and ran North and East, as far as Sierra Morena, and the farthest part of the Province Bestica.

Livy and Polybius, make the Turduli and Turdetant the same; and most Authors confound the Limits of these People, therefore it will be needless to labour to fix their Bounds, no more Limits of these People, therefore it will be needless to labour to nx their Bounds, no more than those of the Massim, Schissis, Gurenses, Lignis, and others, whose Names are found in approved Authors: but what Places particularly they Inhabited, can not be alligned. But to return to the Matter in hand, the Natives provoked by the wrongs they received from the Phenicians, and growing jealous of the Increase of their new City, held a great Consultation, they had a great when the control of the Invites they had a great with the provided of the Invites they had a great with the provided of the Invites they had a great with the Invites the Invites they had a great with the Invites they had a great with the Invites the Invites the Invites they had a Phenicians, and growing jealous of the Increase of their new City, held a great Considuation, in which they treated of the Injuries they had received, and Dangers that might rense from in which they treated of the Injuries they had received, and Dangers that might rense from in which they treated of the Injuries they had received, and Dangers that might rense from the growing Dower of those Stranges. Baucins Capetus, Prince of the Turdetani, was there for the growing Dower of those Stranges of Festually, that they all presently Voted the War against the Phenicians. They appointed rest of Officers, and gave them Power to raise Men, withal, recommending to all, to be private, and the that so they might surprize their Enemies. To Baucins for his great Experience, and the that so they might surprize their Enemies. To Baucins for his great Experience, and the that so they might surprize their Enemies. To Baucins for his great Experience, and the ving gathered a mighty Army, they fell upon the Phenicians, who where wholly unprovided, ving gathered a mighty Army, they fell upon the Phenicians Sidonia, whither the retite plunder of all their Riches to the Soldiers. The City Medina Sidonia, whither the retite plunder of the Phenicians fed; confiding in the strength of the Temple son follows the fate of the reft, and all within it were put to the Sword. Such was their defire of Revenges, of the reft, and all within it were put to the Sword. Such was their defire of Revenges, and the Stately Buildings they had with great Cosh erected, were destroy'd, and nothing left the the facely Buildings they had with great Cosh erected, were destroy'd, and nothing left the Temple level with the Ground. I has all the Riches they had been many Years heaping, and the flately Buildings they had with great Cost erecked, were deltroy'd, and nothing left the hemicians on the Continent, except some few small Towns, which escaped unregarded, and not because they could make any Opposition. Those of Cadis, despairing of accommodation with the Natives, found they must either resolve to quit Spain, or lend for Succours from Abroad. To expect Relief from Tyre in that Diftress, was too tedious, therefore, they agreed to call to their Affiftance, the Carthaginians, to whom, they were Allied, as Defeended from the same Original and otherwise united by continual Commerce and Amity. The Embaffadors being admitted to Audience in the Senate, laid before them the extream Dan-They ger those of Cadiz were in, that they fought not to recover what they had lost, but to pre-crave Aid ger thole of Cada: were in, that they lought not to recover what they had loit, but to pre-crave hid ferre their Liberty and Lives; that the Opportunity they had fo long defired of entring of the into Spain, now offered it felf very Honourable, in Defence of their Allies, and in re-Carabagivenge of the Religion Profaned, in the Deftruction of the Temple of Hercules, whom they man. chiefly Worshiped. The Senate of Carabage bid them be of good Heart, and make good their Ground, till a sufficient Fleet could be fitted out to be sent to their Relief. The Carabage was the country of the country of the carabage was the Ground at this time, were Masters of the Sea, had great Fleets abroad, as well of Merchants, as Ships of War, and were possest not only of all the Coast of Africk, but of several Islands in the Mediterranean. Till this time, they could never get footing in Spain, which made them the more eager to fit out this Fleet, the command whereof, they gave to Maberbal; who passing along by the Islands Balearer, and touching at Ivica, arrived at length at Cadiz, in the Year after the building of Rome, 236. Others say, it was but a finall time before their first War with the Romans; whensoever it was, from that time forward, they ravaged the Coast of Spain, taking the Spainish Ships, plundering along the Shore, and raising Forts in several parts. The Spaniards provoked by these Injuries, met again in the City Turdetum, and again appointed Baucius their General. He getting toge-Baucius a. ther what Men he could, by Night surpriz'd one of their Forts that was nearest to Turdetum, gain Geand put all that were in it to the Sword, except Maberbal, and some few that escape in the total read and put all that were in it to the Sword, except Maberbal, and some few that escape in-eneral vately a By-way. This done, Baucius pursi'd his good Fortune, and Vanquish'd, and made gainthey are great Slaughter of the Enemies, in feveral Places. The Carthagnians perceiving they were Garhage not like to prevail by open Force, had recourse to Policy and Altissee, they proposed an Accommodation with the Spaniards, with great Brows of Amity, and the better to convice them of their Sincerity, offered to withdraw their Cartisons out of all the Forts they fill held. To this the Turdetani gave a refolute answer, concluding, they should give credit to the Carthaginians, when their Actions were suitable to their Words. Still the Carthaginians the Carthaginians, when their Actions were tuitable to their Words. Still the Carthaginians under fhadows of a Truce, Fortify'd themfelves on the Coaft, and fometimes made Inroads, which, when any Danger appear'd, they excused, blaming the Infolency of the Soldiers, and to deceiving that ignorant People; they continued their Robberies in other parts. Those of Cadix, were pleased with this Success of their Allies, the Spanians made no great account of it, for Men little value publick Losses, in which they are not particularly concerned; and the Carthaginians stally increased in Power, which was the more advanced by the Death of Baucius, which hap'ned about this time; but whether he left any Successor, is not known.

CHAP. VI.

The Carthaginians make War upon the Phenicians; Peace made, in which, the latter become Subject to the former. Sappho comes into Spain; Discoveries made by Himilco and Hanno.

Fter the Death of Baucius, the Carthaginians aiming at the Sovereignty of all Spain A and forgetting that the Phemicians were their Friends and Allies, and had invited them into Spain, refolved to Expel them the Island of Cadiz. To compass their Design, it Caribagithem into Spain, refolved to Expel them the Illand of Caditi. To compais their Delign, it Carthaginess requisite to make use of Fraud and Deceit; therefore, they began to sow Discord be minumake twixt the Phonicians and the Natives, and by cunning Insinuations, gaind the Love of the War upon latter, and made the others Odious. The Phonicians complained of the unjust Proceedings the Phonicians to the Carbaginians; but Words being of no effect, they had recourse to Arms, and falling stans, unexpectedly upon them, slew many, and obliged the rest to fly for shelter, to a Fort they had built in the sarchest part of the Island, opposite to the Carbaginians, which show, they turned all their Fury against the Houses and Lands of the Carbaginians, which they Burnt and Plandred; these Losses no way grieved the Carbaginians, but they rather rejoiced they had now the Opportunity they had so long sought after. Having gathered Forces from all their Gartisons, they took the Field; and because the Phonicians refused to come to a Battle, sate down before the City, of which, after a Siege of some Months; they made themselves Masters. At this siege, some Authors will have it, that one Pephalmenus a Tyrithemselves Masters. At this siege, some Authors will have it, that one Pephasimenus a Tyrian, invented the Engine called Aries, or the Battering-Ram. This Injury done to the Phemicians, rendred the Carthaginians odious to all the neighbouring People; but more especially, those of the Port of Minesteus, who were great Friends to the Phenicians, and threatned that so great Wickedness should not pass unpunished. From Words they passed to Action, and great Numbers were drawn together on both fides, but before they came to Blows, fome Accommodation was endeavour'd, and chiefly, by the Carthaginians, who fear'd to commit the fate of their acquired Dominion to the fortune of a Battle, and therefore, were commit the tate of their acquired Dominion to the fortune of a Bathe, and therefore, were the first at offering Conditions of Peace; which was concluded without any difficulty. It was agreed, that Trade should be re-established, Prisoners restored, and reparation made of Damages, and a general Amnesty passed. Hence it is believed, the River Guadalate, that falls into the Sea, at the Port of Mneseins, had the Name Lethe signifying, Forgessiantly, that the Name Lethe signifying, Porgessiantly, the last the last the state of the Sea, the Sea of the Sea of the Sea, the Sea of the Sea of the Sea, the Sea of the Sea given it. I do not believe all I Write, but will not reject what others Relate, nor confirm what they fay. Great Joy was at Caribage at this Treaty, because they were not in a Condition to relieve Cadiz; and the Phenicians, the they lost the Sovereignty, were content dition to relieve Cadiz, and the Phenicians, tho' they loft the Sovereignty, were content with the Trade, which brought them great Riches. About this time, being 252 Years from the building of Rome, hap'ned a great Drought and Famine in Spain, and many Earthquakes, which occationing the Earth to open diftover'd vaft Treafires of Gold and Silver; and thence follow'd a great Refort thither of fundry Nations. After this, a Fleet was fet out of Carthage, for Spain, under the Command of Afaubal and Amilear, but Afaubal being Killed in a Deicent they made by the way, in Sardinia, and other Dangers prefing Carthage, the Deagon was the property of the Reformation of Strify, in four Ships, to the Relief of Cadiz, with a Promife of greater Succours. By the way they touch dat Majora, and Minora, but were repulfed by the Natives, with the Slings they made use of, and forc'd to put to Sea in great Confusion; and at length, arriv'd at Cadiz. At this time, this report of the Region of Capion, to Plant in the resported, a Colony was fent from Tarifa, under the Comman of Capino, to Plant in the Plant built near the Oracle of Mneseur, a City call'd the Mouth of the Cartessia, to distinct the Comman built near the Oracle of Mneseur, a City call'd the Mouth of the Cartessia, to distinct the Cartessia of resum numer near the Orizon or paneseus, a cuty can a the panan of the Caristy, a difficult found the formerly bore the same home, for even Tarteling was formerly named Carteia; and on the Mouth of the Caudalasivir, was built a Tower nam'd Capion. When this hap'ned, is not certainly known; but this is the time, some Wits have

Chap. I.

All Africk now joyn'd in a League against the Carthaginians. and among them, the Mauritanians, who endeavoured to draw the Spaniards into the Confederacy. The Senate of orthanians, who endeavoured to draw the Spaniaras into the Contederacy. The Senate of Caribage, forefeeing the Storm that threatned them, fent Sappho, the Son of Afarabal, to Caribage Govern what they held in Spain, that he might at once encourage their People against all that might happen, and endeavour to dissipate the Spaniards from joyning with their Enemies. He play'd his part to dexterously, that the Spaniards were not only diverted from affiltmight nappen, and endeavour to diliwade the Spaniards from joyning with their Enemies. He play'd his part fo dexteroully, that the Spaniards were not only diverted from affifing the Africans, but gave him leave to raife 3000Men, with this Provifo, he should make use of them only to oppose the Enemies of Caribage, but not to Invade the Mauritanians, their ancient Friends and Allies. Sappho kept these Spaniards at the Mouth of the Streights, in loopes the Mauritanians would forbear Affilting the other People of Africk, but perceiving they did not, he passed over, burning and destroying all the Towns and Country, Dundering the Houses, and carrying away Slaves all the People that came within his reach; Complaint hereof, being made by the Mauritanians, the Spaniards sent Embalsidors to Carbage; where it was agreed, that Sappho should withdraw his Forces out of Africk, and the Mauritanians theirs, giving Aid against the Cartbagnians. Notwithstanding this Agreement, the Mauritanians continued their Hostilities, whereupon, Sappho, who had return'd into Spain, repassed the Streights again, doing much greater Damlage than the first time; till the Spaniards again interposing, with much difficulty obtaind; sending him fresh Supplies of Men, that he should pass farther into Africk, beyond the Limits of the Mauritanian, against the other Enemies of Carbage. By these means, the Africans being inclose by those that came out of Carbage, and those that passed out of Spain, were entirely Defeated, and so that War ended, the Year of Rome 283. Seven Years after, Sappho having settled the Affairs of Spain, was recalled Home, and Himileo, Hanno, and Giseo, his three Couses, sent in his place. Confins, sent in his place.

Himileo and Hanno fet fail with a Fleet for their new Government, and touching by the Himilto and Hanno fet fail with a Fleet for their new Government, and touching by the and Hanno Way at Majorca, and Minurca, obtain'd leave of the Natives to raife Forts there, which after, ferved as fteps to the inflaving those People. In Minurca, they are faid to have built three Towns, Jama, Magon, and Labon. Hanno no fooner arrived at Cadiz, but being ambitious of Glory, and defirous to difcover fomething New, he failed along those Coasts as far as Promontorium Jarum, or Cape St. Pintent, and fent Notes of all he had observed; to the Senate, promising great Advantages if two Fleets were fitted out, the one to discover the Coast of Africk, the other those of Spain and France. It was ordered by the Senate, that Himilto Roundly Indertake the Discovery of Europe, and Hanno that of to the Coalt of Agrick, the other thole of Spain and France. It was ordered by the Senate, that Himilto finolid undertake the Diffcovery of Europe, and Hanno, that of Africk; Leaving Gifgo to Govern in Spain. All things being provided, about the Year of Rome 307, the two Brothers fet out feveral Ways. Himilto kept close to the Coalt of Spain; and palling Cape Finiferre, ran to the Eaftward till he came to the Gallick Shore; and to is falls along faid, to have gone thro'the British Sea, and even as far as the Baltick, and having figent two the Coalt Versia his Voyage returned. Hause with a Elect of the British Sea, and even as far as the Baltick, and having figent two the Coast Years in his Voyage, returned. Hanno with a Fleet of 60 great Galleys, in which were therefore supposed to have built the Town of his Name in the Island Minorca: but this is therefore supposed to have built the Town of his Name in the Island Minorca: but this is only a bare furmise, without any Authority to back it. Hamibial being arrived at Cadix, Hamibal Gifgo loaded his Fleet with the Treasure he and his Brother had heaped, during his the Elder, Government; and in his return home, was cast away with all his Riches, in the Year Govern after the building of Rome 315. Hamibal is said to have built a Town not far from Spain. Cape St. Fincent upon a good Port, which was formerly call'd Portus Hamibalis, now Albor, near Lagos, once Lacobriga. The Tartefis built a Fort at the Mouth of Guadalquiviv, and a Temple to Fenus; and becamfe that Star is also called Lucifer, it was named Templum Luciferi, now St. Lucar, a most noted Town for the Trade of the West indies. About this same are well stirry and we rean a blood War herwity those of the Browing. this fame time, our Historians say, began a bloody War betwixt those of the Province Betica, and the Lustiani, Nations divided by the River Guadiana. This War, they say, had its beginning from small Quarrels betwixt the Shepherds; the Carthaginians fided with the Lustiani, a great neighbouring City, supposed to be Iberia, affished those of Betica; their Rage on both fides was fo great, that the very Women are faid to have taken Arms. They came to a A bloody Battle, which was very Bloody, and lasted the whole Day, till Night parted them. In Battle 18 8000 Men were Slain, and among them, the Commander in chief of the Carbagi, wint spinians, supposed (if this Matter be true) to be Hammiol. Mago hearing the news of this state. Battle, came from the Islands Balears to the Assistance of his Country-Men, and oblig'd the People of the City, who had sustain'd great loss in the Fight, to fire it, and feek new Places to Inhabit. The same Year, a great Revolution hap'ned in Carbage; for Assistance of the City, who had sustain'd great loss in the Fight, to fire it, and feek new Places to Inhabit. The same Year, a great Revolution hap'ned in Carbage; for Assistance was wholly overthrown by his Enemies, the whole Power of the Government, was put into the Hands of an Hundred Men, who were to inspect into the Actions of all Generals, when they return'd from the War. By them, Hamo was Try'd, and Condemn'd to perpetual Banishment. The principal Crime laid to his Charge, was, that he was a Man of too great Parts and Ability, to live in a Free-City, being the first that had ever tamed a Lion, and therefore might be likely to prove dangerous to the Liberty of Men, fince he could overcome the savage Nature of Bealts. But it is the Fate of Common-Wealths to hate the best of Men. both sides was so great, that the very Women are said to have taken Arms. They came to a A bloody to hate the best of Men.

THE

History of S P A I N.

The Second BOOK.

CHAP. I.

Actions of the Spaniards in Sicily. The Government of Hanno. An Embassy fent to Alexander the Great. The first Roman and Carthaginian War.

E have no Account of any thing remarkable that hap'ned in Spain, for some time, till the Year of Rome 327, which was the time of the Polopome fan War. An unitative time, till the Year of Rome 327, which was the time of the Polopome fan War. An unitative the polopome fan War. An unitative the year of Year of

Chap. II.

16

be Fired. In Sicily, at this time, the Carthaginians were posself of fome Towns near the Promontory Libyhaum, not far from Trepana, which was a great Eye-fore to the People of Promontory Libyhaum, not far from Trepana, which was a great Eye-fore to the People of Agrigentum, now Gergento. It hap'ned, the Carthaginians went out into a Wood, near the City Minoa, to offer Sacrifice, which the Agrigentines, who watch'd their Opportunity, laying hold of, fell upon, and laughter'd all, but some few that sled, and lurk'd anity, laying hold of, fell upon, and laughter'd all, but some few that sled, and lurk'd anity as the Woods. This News being come to Carthage, the People resolving to take Rebout the Woods. This News being come to Carthage, the People resolving to a Battle, not Silngs. With these Supplies the Carthaginians took the Field, and coming to a Battle, not only Vanquished their Enemies, but Belieged them in the City Agrigentum, whither they were sted; and after a Siege of two Years, made themselves Masters of it, in the Year after the building of Rome 346. The end of this War, was the beginning of a greater; for Dionysius the Tyrant of Syracuse, taking into his Protection those that sled from Agrigentum; and on the other side, the Carthaginians having to do with so powerful an Enemy, raised an Army of 15000 African Foot, and 5000 Horse, besides 10000 Spainards; to oblige whom, they restor'd Casia, and withdrew all their Garrisons, except from the Temple of Hercules, and some other small Forts. Himitoe Cipo, was appointed General of be Fired. In Sicily, at this time, the Carthaginians were possest of some Towns near the oblige whom, they reftor'd Cadiz, and withdrew all their Garrifons, except from the Temple of Hercules, and some other small Forts. Himileo Cipo, was appointed General of these Forces, who, at his first. Landing in Sieily, took the City Camarina, which he Burnt, and put all the Inhabitants to the Sword. The People of Gela terrified at this Cruelty, abandon'd the Town. Dionysius was not idle, but having gather'd a great Force, meets the Carbaginians, and at first put them to hard to it, that their Horse began to give way, till Himileo coming up with a Reserve of 2000 fresh Men, obliged the Sicilians to betake themselves to Flight. Night prevented the Pursuit; but Morning being come, Himileo tacks the Feemy in their Camp, and after a great standibler, makes himself Master of it themselves to Flight. Night prevented the Pursuit; but Morning being come, Himileo Attacks the Enemy in their Camp, and after a great laughter, makes himself Master of it, acks the Enemy in their Camp, and after a great laughter, makes himself Master of it, Dionysius saving himself by flight. But to see how uncertain Humane Prosperities are, atter all this Success, so violent a Phague ranged among the Caribaginian Forces, that Himileo returned Home with a very small Number, where, for Grief of this Loss, he Slew himself. After this, some will haveit, that Dionysius endeavourd by his Embassadors to withfelf. After this, some will haveit, that Dionysius endeavourd by his Embassadors to withmake the Spaniards from siding with the Caribaginians; but they with Kindness, and all manner of Courtesie, kept them in their Friendship. About the same time, certain Caribaginians saling from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; minus failing from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; minus failing from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; minus failing from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; in the Willand Lindship of the Caribaginians failing from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; in the Willand Lindship of the Caribaginians failing from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; in the Willand Lindship of Caribaginians for the Spaniards of Caribaginians failing from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; in the Weather of Caribaginians failing from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; in the Weather of Caribaginians failing from Spain, whether designedly, or forced by bad Weather, is not known; in the Weather of Caribaginians failing from Spain, and the Spaniards of Caribaginians failing from Spain, whether designed from Spain failing from Spain, and and the Spaniards of Caribaginians failin Death, lest the Citizens allur'd by the Kiches or the illand, and weary or War, should abandon the City. Some are of Opinion, this Island was one of the Canaries, others, that it was Hispanisla, or fome part of the Continent of America.

The Carthaginiants burning with the desire of renewing the War in Sicily, raised Men in Spain and Africk; but the Spainards were averse to the War, by reason of the distance, because of the two great Losses sustained there, and for that, as they said they, had received no wrong from the Sicilians. This obliged the Carthaginians to lay assist benefits. fign till a fitter Opportunity, which was foon offered ; for a great Famine hap ned in ngn citta never Opportunity, which was not noticed; not a great raining mappined in Spain, and after it, as ufual, a Plague; the Spainards became more inclinable to take up Hamo in Arms, to fly from the Miferies of their own Country. 2000 Spanish Foot, 1000 Horie, Skilly with and 300 Sling Men of Majorca were railed. Hamo was appointed General for this War, sitify with and 300 Sling Men of Majorca were raifed. Hanno was appointed General for this War, 2100-55s who with these forcess, and 10000 Africans sailed over into Sicity. Dionysius, who was niards, and 1000 Africans failed over into Sicity. Dionysius, who was niards, and 1000 Africans failed over into Sicity. Dionysius, who was niards, and 1000 Africans. Storm that threatned him, was forced to haste back, to secure his own. His Fleet which served to Transport his Army from Regio into Sicity, was Descated by the Carabagians, and ferved to Transport his Army from Regio into Sicity, was Descated by the Carabagians, and ferved to Transport his Army from Regio into Sicity, was Descated by the Carabagians, and Account of the Preparations made againsh him; which he did in Revenge, for that he had not been appointed General; but it cost him his Life, and it was Enacked, that for the future no Carabagians thould ever learn the Greek Language that they might not have the future, no Carthaginian should ever learn the Greek Language, that they might not have the opportunity of Conversing with an Enemy, without an Interpreter. After this Vide yat Sea, many Places submitted themselves to Hamo; and the War was continued with ry at Sea, many Places submitted themselves to Hanno; and the War was continued with various Success, till the sixteenth Year thereof; which, according to Eusebius, was from the Foundation of Rome 336. or rather, according to others, the second of the 99th Olympiad, which was of Rome 371. Then Dionysius the Elder dying, Dio, who Govern'd the Young Dionysius, made a Truce with the Caribaginians; yet the Quiet of Sicily lasted nort long; but it is time to return to Spain. It has been already said, how the Caribaginians at the beginning of the War of Sicily, in part, respond those of Cadia to their Liberty. This War being ended, they sent Spain response to the Spain Roberts of Covern the Relarics stands with Orders the endeavour to gain the Good Will of

y, in part, rentored those of Cadaz to their Liberty. This War being ended, they fent Boffar to Govern the Balearick Islands, with Orders to endeavour to gain the Good Will of the People of Sagustium; but they fearing all his fair Words tended to deprive them of the People of Sagustium; but they fearing all his fair Words tended to deprive them of Assistance of the People of Sagustium; but they fearing all his fair Words tended to deprive them of the People of Sagustium; but they fearing all his fair Words tended to deprive them of Assistance of the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they fear they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but they have been given by the People of Sagustium; but the provok'd the Spaniards to Conspire against the Carthaginians. All on a studden, they appear'd in Arms, slew many of their Enemies, and Plandred their Goods. Hamo having lost many of his. Men, and being forslaten by his Allies in Spain, sent into Africk for Succour. These Auxiliaries committed great Crucities, and made Havock in that part of Spain, now called Abidatucia. What had hapned, being known at Carthage, they sent another to succeed Hamo, but we have no account of his Name, or any thing, he sid in that Government, his coming, was about the Year of Rome, 308. The War which employed the Carthaginians in Selly, gave Peace to Spain for some time; but the joy and faitsfaction of this Tranquility, was allayed by great Floods, which destroyed infinite Floods. Numbers of Cattle, and bore down many Buildings. The Year following, the Earth-guakes were 6 violent, that many-Cities on the Coast of the Mediterranean, foffered extreamly, more especially Saguntum, by how much it exceeded all the others in Beauty and Grandeur. The third Year, which was 405, after the building of Rome, was noted for mighty Storms at Sea, which caused extraordinary. Shipwracks.

The History of S P.A I N.

The Governour that succeeded Hamo, Dying, one Boods; was sent in his place, and after him, Ababrab, but no. Account can be had of any Actions of theirs, or what Governour followed. It is agreed by all, as certain, that the Inhabitants of Marfeilles in France, being grown too numerous, in the Year of Rome 410. Sent a Colony into Spain, for Marfeilles in France, being grown too numerous, in the Year of Rome 410. Sent a Colony into Spain, for Marfeilles in France, being grown too numerous, in the Year of Rome 410. Sent a Colony into Spain, for Marfeilles in France, being grown too numerous, in the Year of Rome 410. Sent a Colony into Spain, for Marfeilles in France, being grown too numerous, in the Year of Rome 410. Sent a Colony into Spain, for Marfeilles in France, being grown too numerous, of the Year of Rome 410. Sent a Colony into Spain, for Spain, for the Freite Subdu'd more Countries than another Man in that time could have Travelled through. This An Entmov'd the Spaniavis Inhabiting along the Coast of the Mediterranean, to fend an Embasily to basily to thim, to desire his Protection against the Caribaginans, who aim'd at the enlaving of all that Alexander Province. Findus Orosius says, Maurinus was Chief of this Embasily, who joyning by the way with the Embasiladors of France, went in their Company, to Babylon, where they found those of all other Provinces, that were there by Alexander's appointment, expecting his coming. Alexander being come to Babylon, they gave him an ample Account of their Commission, received a savourable Answer, with promite of his Protection; and, having been richly presented, returned Home well satisfied. No doubt, but this Embasily was very displeasing to the Carbaginians, but it was no time to take notice of it, they being then employed in the War in Sicily, whence they were totally Expell'd by Agashbeles.

Not long after, enfu'd the first War betwick: Rome and Carbage; and at the same time, The first our Authors say, Spain suffered by Civil War, 'without naming the Parties or Places, only ex-Bomas and prefs that it was carried on with the greatest Cruelty, Killing, Plundering, and Burning on Carbage; all Hands, without Mercy. Much about this time, which was the Year of Rom's Co2. the min War has War in Mary Mary.

all Hands, without Mercy. Much about this time, which was the Year of Rome 502. the mian War. all Hands, without Mercy. Much about this time, which was the Year of Kome 502, the Mallorquine Revolted from the Carthagnians, and having put their Garrifons to the Swong, oblig'd the Fleetthat lay in the Harbour with Showers of Stones, to put to Sea; and at laft, there being no hopes of appealing those People, to return to Carthage. To retrieve this loss, the Senate fent Hamilear Barbhinus, who with great Prudence, by Courtesse and Address, reduced those Islanders to Obedience without using any Force or Violence. The Year 507, of Some, and last of the first Panick War, was fatal to Spain, for a great Drought and violent Earthquakes, by which, part of the Island of Cadiz was broken off, and sunk in the Sea.

CHAP. II.

The second coming of Hamilcar. Asidrubal succeeds him. His Preparations for the Roman War, and Death.

No sooner did the Carthaginians begin to breath after their unfortunate. War with Rome, and other Disafters which followed it, but they cast their Eyes upon Spain as the most proper plate to make up their Losses. Hamilear was appointed to Command there with an self-little Power. He at his setting out from Carthage, according to Castonir, Sactified an Gent to Offered up his Yows. His Son Hamibal then but nine Years of Age, being present, he caustic dimit to touch the Altar, and Swear, that when he was of Age, he would revenge, his country against the Romans. Besides him, Hamilear, had three younger Sons, Alarubal, Mago, and Hamio. Being arrived at Casiz, he received Emballadors from the Turdetani, who had always continued in Amity with Carthage, offering their Forces, if he had occasion for their service. With their stills and the service with had been for their service. With their affistance Hamilear not only recover'd that part which had been loft, but possess himself of all the Province of Betica, either by Force, or the Submission of the Natives, and this was the Year of Rome 516. Strabo lays, the Sumards at that time were for the himself of Rich, that their Mangers and Water Troughs were made of Silver. Hamilear Coasting along the Mediterranean, ran up the River Etro, where he built a Town formerly called ling along the Mediterranean, ran up the River Etro, where he built a Town formerly called West, among the People then called Hercanges. The following Year he subdired the Coasts of the Bastedoniand Contestions, where, now are the Cities Base and Marcia, and not far from where Saguntum once flood, and whence Embassicas came to Hamilear, bifuging Presents, and Congratulating his success; but not with any intention of submitting themselves to him, Hamilear received and dismissed them with Kindness, yet he earnessly, desired to be Master of that City. It was recuisite to have some Colour or Fretence for that Undertaking. of the Bafferdan and Chutchani, where, now are the Caties Baga and Marcia, and not far from where Saguntum once (Bod), and where Emballidors came to Hamilian, "bigging Prefents, and Congratulating his Species, but not with any intention of (bubinting theesile) reference for that Cluy. It was require to have been colour or Pretence for that Undertaking, Mafter of that Cley. It was require to have been colour or Pretence for that Undertaking, in order to it, he perfuseded the Visudenum of the Colour or Pretence for that Undertaking, and the saguntum, which was called Tradepute the both of the Saguntum, which was called Tradepute the both of the Saguntum, which was called Tradepute the both of the Tradepute of the Saguntum, and at an other undertaking in the Tradepute, the Saguntum, which was the Saguntum of the Tradepute of the Saguntum of the Sagun on the other fide of that River, they should not intrude upon their Liberties. In fine. that none flould offer any wrong to the Friends and Allies of the other. This Embely, was very ungrateful to the Caribaginians, thinking it too great a Prefumption in the Romans to give Laws to the Conquerors in their own Province. However, they thought fit to fubmit to the Necessity of Times, till they were better provided to carry on a War, and therefore agreed to all the Embassadors demanded, and the more, because they understood the Gauls had been Defeated by the Romans, and 40000 of them Slain in the Battle, besides the Gauss has been besteaded by the kommuns, and 40000 of salesh sain in the Battle, believes 10000 taken. The Embaldaors being gone, Affarbal spent three Years in providing all Necessaries for the War he designed. But Death op to a stop to his Proceedings, for he was Kill'd by a slave (in Revenge of the Death of his Master, whose Name was Tagus, a Noble Assault of Salesh Spaniard that had been slain by Assault of the fecond Year of the 130 Olympiad, and $32.0 ft Death. the building of Rome. So great was the fatisfaction this Slave receiv'd in Killing of Afdrubal 532. ar the Altar as he was offering Sacrifice, that the he was taken, and put to exquisite. Torments, he never expressed the least sense of Pain, but bore all with a chearful and smiling Countenance.

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. III.

The beginning, progress, and end of the Saguntine War, with the utter Extirbation of that City.

A Sdrubal being Slain, as above, the Government of Spain by the general Confent of the Etamibal Soldiers, and Approbation of the Senate and People, was Conferred upon his Bro-Governs ther-in-law Hannibal. He was then in the Frime of his Youth, being 26 Years of Age, of in Spain-great Courage and Refolution, andow'd with excellent Natural Parts, but he lefs inclind to Vice, of Body hardy, as inur'd to Labour, his Mind generous, and more covetous of Honour than Eafe, his Boldnels was extraordinary, his Frudence and Secrecy nothing inferiour. All these virtues were darkned by his Treachery, Cruelty, and Irreligion, yet was he Efteenged, and generally Beloved by all. Being posses of the Government, and fearing left Death Bould cut him off as had hap ned to Assaush, his only Study was how to carry on a War against the Romans. It was requisite to find some Colour and Pretence; and therefore he resolv'd first to break with Saguntum, to revenge some Injuries done to his Allies. Before he entred upon this great Undertaking, he thought fit to Celebrate his Nuptials with Himilee, a Native of Cashuon, then a Noble City, where now stand the poor Cottages of Cashona, not far from the City Baeza, where are fill some foothers of its Greatnels. This Lady was of the Race of Assico, an ancient King of Spain; and it was faid, that Cyribeus the Phocensian, from whom also the was Descended, had Founded that City, and given it the Name of his Mother Cashuona. He Dower was very great, and the Power of Hamibal hereby much increased, because the Pook of Mounty-man Hamibal hereby much increased, because the People look'd upon him as their Country-man rammon nercoy much increased; because the People look'd upon him as their Country-man and Friend. In his time also, and by his order; were discover'd feveral Mines of Gold and Silver, which were call'd Hannibas's Wells. We may gues at the Treasure thee Mines yielded, by one of them call'd Bebelus, out of which it is Recorded, there was Dayly taken 300 pound Weight of pure Silver. Hannibas's first War was against the Carpetani, that is, the Kingdom of Toledo, a Fierce and Warlike Nation, and which in Number of Men. exceeded any other in Spain Of these the Oledon, where now Ocked Garde (the) tani, that is, the Kingdom of Toledo, a Fierce and Warlike Nation, and which in Number of Men, exceeded any other in Spain. Of these the Oleades, where now Ochia stands, (tho' Stephanus places them near the River Ebro) were the first Subdu'd. Then near unto Tagus was Fought a bloody Battle, in which, the Natives were Defeated. At the same time there arose Differences among the People of Saguntum, which serv'd to make way so that recourse to Rome, whence at their Request, Embassadors were sent, who Appeasing some, Threatning others, and Punishing the most Faulty, quieted those Disturbances; by which it was fear'd, the weakest Party would haye call'd Hamnibal to their Assistances; be grown proud with Success, having Subdu'd all the Country on that side the River Ebro, thought of nothing but carrying on the War against Saguntum. To give a colour to this Breach, he persaded the Twelstan to fall out with those of Saguntum about the Bounds of their Lands, and to the Turdetani to fall out with those of Saguntum about the Bounds of their Lands, and to make War upon them; hoping this would be ground sufficient for him to undertake what the defir'd, and begin the War with the Roman: The Saguntines having more Confidence in the Friendlinp of the Romans; than in their own Strength, which was but shall, dispatchon the Friending of the koman; than in their own Strength, which was but man, suparched their Embalfadors to the Senate, who reprefented the Danger that threatned them from the Malice of Hamibal, the small hopes they had, unless in the Roman Protection, their Resolution to stand firm to their Alliance, the danger of Delays, and Dishonour of Exposing them to the Fury of the Enemy. This Affair being debated in the Senate, some well and the delaying War invasidated to the content of the Protection of the Senate of the for declaring War immediately; however, the more moderate Countels prevail'd, and Emballadors were immediately fent to Hannibal. They landing at Carthagena about the end of the Summer, deliver'd their Message from the Senate, requiring him not to Infringe the Peace, nor offer any Violence to the Saguntines, or other Confederates of Rome, nor to pass the River Ebro; which in case he did, the People of Rome would Stand by, and Protect, their Friends and Allies: Hannibal answer'd, That the Romans did no Justice, having Murdered many of the chief of their Friends at Saguntum, and now conniving at the Injuries they had offer'd to the Turdetani; That as it was but reasonable, the Romans should stand by their Allies, so it was equitable he should support his Consecrates. Having thus dispatch'd the Embaliadours, to gain the forehand of the Romans, he immediately march'd, and sate down Emballadours, to gain the forehand of the Romans, he immediately march'd, and fate down before Sagnitum with 150000 Men, in the Month of September, and firt Year of the 140 Olympiad. He Ravaged all the Country, Plundring many neighbouring Towns, only Denia was interest, on pretence of refipect to the Temple of Diana. Sagnitum was feated among the Editami, four Miles from the Sea, in a plentiful Country, the Town Rich, by reason of its Editami, four Miles from the Sea, in a plentiful Country, the Town Rich, by reason of its Trade by Sea and Land, well Fortified with Ramparts and Bulwarks. No fooner had Hannibal Internet'h himfelf, but he began to make ready his Engins, and to Batter the lowest part of the Wall, which lay in a Valley, and feem'd the weakeft with his Rams. This place prov'd stronger than was expected, and the Townsimen defended themselves with much prov'd stronger than was expected, and the Townsimen defended themselves with much the Thigh with an Arrow from the Works. So great was the Construction among his Men, by reason of this Wound, that they were near quitting all their Engins, and the Battery cased for some Days, whilst he was in Care. The Sagnituse having taken an account of what Stores were in the Town which could last but a few Months, sent again Emballadours to Rome to press the Senate for speedy Relief, before Necessity cast them into the dours to Rome to press the Senate for speedy Relief, before Necessity cast them into the Hands of their mortal Enemies; and as soon as they had dispatched these Messengers, they Hands of their mortal Enemies; and as foon as they had dispatched these Mcslengers, they fell to work to strengthen such places as were weakest, or had received most Damage. No sooner was Hamibal recovered of his Would, but he apply'd his Engines, and beat down three Towers, with all that part of the Wall that lay between them. Things being in this readines, the Assault was given with great Fury, and with no less Resolution suffained by the Besseged, who seeing, that beyond their own Hopes they were not Vanquish'd, fell on with such fresh Vigour, they not only drove the Assaults from the Breach, but pursu'd them to their own Works, which they had difficulty to maintain, so great was their pursu'd them to their own Works, which they had difficulty to maintain, as great was their leave no way unattempted that might make him Master of the Town, and therefore resisted to give Audience to the Roman Embassidaours that came to Treat about that Assair. Conternation. In sources was least to Sagunsium, for remained in a Rage resolv to leave no way unattempted that might make him Mafter of the Town, and therefore refused to give Audience to the Roman Embassadours that came to Treat about that Affair; fused to the Roman Embassadours that came to Treat about that Affair, the Romans being resolved to use the utmost means of Accommodation before they would the Romans being resolved to use the utmost means of Accommodation before they would there work that one of the War. From Spain, and the Embassadours, as they had it in their Instructions, passed one by their Army in Spain, and demanded that Hamibass should be delivered to Wrongs done by their Army in Spain, and themanded that Hamibass by desired nothing but When the Embassadours had made their Demands, Hamib sid, They desired nothing but When the Embassadours had made their Demands, Hamib sid, They desired nothing but Spaines. But the Faction of the Barshin prevailing, the Senate answered, That the Saguntines, sund not Hamibass in the mean while gave some rest to his Soldiers, wearied out with with them. Hamibass in the mean while gave some rest to his Soldiers, wearied out with with them. Hamibass at the same time, his Wife Himise was brought to Bed of a Son, call-continual Labour, and at the same time, his Wife Himise was brought to Bed of a Son, call-continual Labour, and at the same time, his Wife Himise was brought to Bed of a Son, call-confirmes upon this Occasion, the Belieged loft no time, but provided all Necessiaries for and Passimes upon this Occasion, the Belieged loft no time, but provided all Necessiaries for their Desence, and Repair'd that part of the Wall which had been beaten down. This Precaution prov'd fruitlets, for the Enemy from a Wooden Tower which they had apply'd to the Wall, beat off all the Desendants with Showers of Darts and Arrows. Beliedes, 500 Africans with Pick-axes cast down a great part of the Wall which was the Beliedes, 500 Africans with Pick-axes cast down a great part of th piy'd to the Wall, beat our all the Defendants with Showers of Darts and Arrows. Besides, 500 Africans with Pick-axes cast down a great part of the Wall; which was the easier, becasse it was not built with Lime, but Clay. This done, the Soldiers encouraged with the boilie of the Plunder, entred the City by force of Arms, whilst the Besieg'd not able to withstand that Force, retir'd to the further part of the Town, which they joyn'd to the Castle with a Wall they cast up in that little time; this was but a weak Defended that the Wall they can be a supported by the support of the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the supported to the Soldiers with the Soldiers was the supported to the Soldiers with the Soldiers was the Soldiers with the Soldiers was the Soldiers with the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers was the Soldiers when the Soldiers was the S joyn'd to the Castle with a Wall they cast up in that little time; this was but a weak Defence, and all their hopes lay in the Relief they expected from the Roman. Some breathing time they gain'd by the departure of Hannihal, who was call'd away to Appease the Carpetani and Oretani, that were in Arms, by reason of the too much Severity of the Carthaginians, in raising Men among them. Maberbal, the Son of Himileo, was left to command the Siege as Hannihal's Lieutenant. He very much streightned the Beseged, preventing their Excursions, and gain'd another part of the City, so that they were reduc'd to the utmost Extremity. Hannihal having quell'd those Commotions, return'd to the Siege, and possess had been a castle of part of the Castle; so that those miserable People had no hopes of Defence left them: Despair only supported them, an Evil incarable of receiving Siege, and posses diminist of part of the Cassle; so that those miserable People had no hopes of Defence left them; Despair only supported them, an Evil incapable of receiving Advice, and the Inlet to utter Destruction. Haleon, a Citizen of Sagunium, taking compassion on his People, stole out of the Town, and of himself set on stot a Treaty. But no other Condition being granted, only that the Townshine might depart with their wearing Apparel, and build a Town where the Conqueror should appoint; he returned, not despairing that such hard Terms would be admitted by the Besieged. Morats, a Spaniard, not despairing that such that set with Hamilber's Army residue Commassion of the Saguntines. by whom be had bethat served in Hannibas's Army, taking Compassion of the Saguntines, by whom he had before been well entertain'd, got into the Town, and taking alide some of the Principal Men, began to advise them to make a Virtue of Necessity, and accept of hard Terms, rather than expose themselves to certain Destruction. This Discourse of Aloreus was received with

Chap. IV.

20

than expose themselves to certain Destruction. This Discourse of Aboress was received with great Indignation of the Commonalty, which gathered to hear what he had to offer; and many of them bringing out their Gold, Silver, and other Riches into the Market-place, set Fire to it, and then east their Wives, Children, and lastly themselves into the Flames.

At the same time, a Tower which had long 'suffain'd Battering, fell down, and gave an segmentary open way for the Enemy to enter the City, then all on fire, kindled by the Gittzens themedelitoy'd felves, whill the Soldiers endeavour'd to Quench it. Such is the chance of War, that it Inverts the very Laws of Nature: all the Inhabitants, without any regard of Sex or Age, were put to the Sword, many of them to avoid Captivity, ran upon their Enemies Weathers where we want to the Sword. pons, others fetting fire to their Houses, were burnt in them; Few were taken, and those, the best part of the Soldiers Booty, the some Plunder was sent to Carbage; for the Townsmen could not burn all. This siege lasted Eight Months, and that most noble City was destroyed in May, and the 536th Year of Rome, some say 534; but all agree it was when Publius Cor- 536. nelius, and Titus Sempronius were Confuls.

CHAP. IV.

The beginning of the second Roman, and Carthaginian War. Hannibal Marches through France into Italy. Some of his Actions there, and of the Scipio's in Spain.

HE news of the destruction of Saguntum, and the Embassadors that had been sent to The Ro-Hannibal, and went from him to Carthage came to Rome at the fame time, to the un- mans de-Hammbal, and went from him to Carbage came to Rome at the fame time, to the unfipeakable grief of the Senate and People. Heroupon War was immediately declared againft clare War Carbage, and all things with diligence provided for the carrying of it on. Neverthelefs fire the fection Emballadors were fent to Carbage, to know whether Saguntum, had been deftroyed by Authority of that Senate, but receiving no faitisfactory answer, they passed over into Spain, when they drew to their side the Bargussi, a People in the utmost part of Spain, near the Ceretans; but were rejected by the Volcians, and upbraided with their neglect of Saguntum. These Volcians, were doubtless near about that fame part of the Country, they some will have them to be aboutVilladoke not far from theSprings of theRiver Guerva, which Town they say was formerly called Volce. This answer being spread abroad, all the other Cities thereabout, dismised them with thelike scorn. Thence they pass dover into Gallia Narbonensis, where, in a great assembly, they demanded of those People in the name of the Senate of Rome, that they should not give Passage to Hamshall into Iday thro; their Country, but were no butter received here, than they had been in manded of those People in the name of the Senate of Kome, that they anould not give rainer to Hannibal, into Italy, thro't heir Country, but were no better received here, than they had been in Spain. Thus without any success in their Negotiation, they return'd by the way of Marfeilles to Rome. Hannibal was not idle, but having difinised his Soldiers, with leave to return to their Houses; provided, they all met again the beginning of the Spring at Carthagena, the himself went to Cadiz, to offer his Vows to Harcules, sending away his Wise and Son into Africk, or to Cassulon. Next he gathered 13000 Spanish Foot, called Cetrai, of the Tar-Agrice, or to Cafition. Next he gathered 13000 Spanish Foot, called Cetrati, of the Targets they used, 1900 Horfe, and 800 Mallorquins, whom he fent to Cartbage, and in return, in the same Fleet, came from thence 11000 Africans, to which he joyned 800 Ligurians, and gave them to his Brother Affarabal, for defence of Spain. Besides, he left him a shiftient Fleet to secure the Sovereignty of the Sea. All the Hostages given by the Cities, which were Sons of the Principal Men were left in the Castle of Saguntum, under the care of a Noble Cartbaginian, called Bostar. When all things were disposed according to his Mind, he set forward with an Army composed of several Nations, in which were 90000 Foot, and fet forward with an Army compoled of reveral Nations, in which were your root, and 12000 Horle, Polybids affigns a much lefs number. Having pass d the River Ebro, he gained Hamibal the good will of a Spaniard, of the greatest note in those Parts, called Andubal, with him he marches left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, that they might be the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army, the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the Army and the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the fitter for 60 long a March, broaden left all the heavy Baggage of the fitter for and Hanno was appointed with a good Body of Men, to fay and fecure that Country. Being entred upon the Pyreneans, 3000 of the Carpetani, or Kingdom of Toledo deferted him, which he not daring to Punish for fear of offending the others, voluntarily dismissed 7000 more that seemed to go against their wills. By this Policy, the rest of the Soldiers were perswaded the first had been also treely dismissed, and that they might all have leave to return home, whensoever they pleased. Thus he passed on through all France, but what he did here and in the documents of the Liston. This came Van Carlon was a Prodigiles. there and in Italy, does not appertain to this History. This same Year Spain was very plentiful of Corn and all Provisions, but very sickly, there was Plague, Earthquakes, Storms at Sea, and Apparitions of Armies Fighting in the Sky, certain Omens of the evils that followed this War.

Frannibal being Marched into Italy, there overthrew the Romans in two Battles at Ticinus, and at Trebia. Mean while Gneius Scipio, palled through France into Spain, where at his first Gn. Scipio coming he fibdu'd all that part of the Province that lies upon the Sea, from the Lacetani, and Eagles into Cape Creus, to the River Ebro, those People easily submitting by reason of the ill will they Spein. bore the Carthaginian. The Roman Fleet Winter'd near Taragona, I suppose in the Port of Salu, which Rusus Festus calls Solorius four Miles West of that City. Scipro still advancing, met Hanno, whom, as was faid, Hannibal had left to govern the Province. Both sides being cager to Fight they came to a Battle, near a Town then called Cyffo, fupposed to be now Siffo or Salde, the Victory sell to the Romans, who see 6000 of their Enemies, took 2000 Fishors, and among them Hanno and Anubal, who as was said had taken part with the Carthaginians, but so wounded, that in a sew days he Dyed. Afarubal who was Marching to joyn Hanno, hearing of this defeat, turned off flort towards the Sea, where he see many of the Roman Seamen by surprize, and then with the same Celerity, for fear of meeting the Roman Army, that was in pursuit of him, repassed the River Ebo, and Marched his Army, consisting of Scoof Foot. and 1000 Horse. into Places of fastey. From Amburdan whither he the Roman Atmy, that was in purious of minitepanted the Inverticate, and matched his Army, conflitting of 8000 Foot, and slood Horle, into Places of fafety. From Ampudan, whither he was gone after the Flight of the Caribaginians, Scipio was forced to return back upon the llergeter, or People about Lerida, for that after his departure, they were revolted to the Caribagines, or People about Lerida, for that after his departure, they were revolted to the Caribagines. the ind, and obliged to increase the number of their Hostages. Thence he moved towards the Accitani, inhabiting near the River Ebro; who fill continued firm to the Carthaginians. the Accitani, inhabiting near the River Ebro; who still continued firm to the Carthaginians. Others fay they were the Austani, where now Vique and Girona stand. Certain it is that, having being'd Acete, the Capital of that Country, the Lacetani (where now Jaca stands) having by Night to the relief of the besieged, and hoping to get into the Town, they fell into an Ambush, that was laid for them, where 12000 were slain, and the rest put to slight. The besieged being destitute of all hopes, especially for that Amussius, their chief slote away to Assistant and the standard out thirty days surrendred. The Town was since 20 Taplents of Silver, and then the Romans took up their Winter quarters at Tarragona, send the sheep with the Strike that strike under them to their own homes Great Produces are said to have been the source of the strike own homes Great Produces are said to have been the Spaniards that ferv'd under them to their own homes. Great Prodigies are faid to have been Prodigies the paniards that ierv'd under them to their own nomes. Great trougets are into have been now feen in the Skyes in Italy, Africk, and Spain, for which reason extraordinary Sacrifices were now feen in the Skyes in Italy, Africk, and Spain, for which reason extraordinary Sacrifices were used to appeale the wrath of Heaven. Especially at Caribage, they returned to the old Carbon of the Phenicians, of offering the Sons of the Principal Men, among which it is reported, the Senate appointed Afpar the Son of Hamibal should die. But this founds more like an investing of the Utilian of the Son of the Son of the Son of the Son of Hamibal should die. invention of our Historians, than a true Relation.

Chap. V.

22

The Romans firecels in Invention of our lineorisms, usuar a cure execution.

Winter being pass'd, Hamibal, after recruiting his Army in the Country about Genos, March'd over the Appennine, with better fuccess than he had done before. Yet in his passage March'd over the Appenniue, with better fuccefs than he had done before. Yet in his paffage over the Lakes, made by the fwelling of the River Annus, he lost one of his Eyes, through the excessive cold and Moistness: Besides many Men and Beast's dy'd, and almost all his Elephants. Notwithstanding all these difficulties he advanc'd, and near the Lake Thrasimenus, which is in Tuscany, near the City Perouss, of which now it takes name, defeated the Consul Flaminius, killing, 5000 of his Men, and this done never ceased spoiling and ravaging all the Country about, till a stop was put to him, by the Dictator Q. Fabius Maximus. In Spain, Assibubal sent Himiteo with a good Fleet, to score the Coast, and at the same time March'd forward himself with an Army of 2000 Men. Scipio being in no Condition to oppose both these Powers at once, resolv'd to preserve the Sovereignty of the Sea, and fitting out 30 Ships at Tariagana, surprized the Carbaginian Fleet, which lay at the Mouth of the River Ebro, took 24 Sail in the Face of their Commander, the rest were either sunk or stranded, most of the Men being ashore, as little thinking of any such accident. To make this success the Compleater, they took 14 great Ships at Sea, entred and plundered the City Honosca, Pilmoit of the men being amore, as httle trinking of any inch accusent. To make this increis the Compleater, they took 14 great Ships at Sea, entred and plundered the City Homofea, Pillaged the Country about Carthagena, and burnt the Suburbs. Afatubal followed the track of the Romans as far as Cadiz, rather as a witness, than reverger of the harm they did. After these fortunate Atchievements the Romans attempted the siliand logica, and above 120 Towns are the California. thele fortunate Alchievements the komans attempted the mann roysa, and above 120 10 whis in Spain, submitted to them, among which were the Celtiberi, a Powerful and great People, in whose Territories were the Towns now called, Segorve, Calatoyud, and Medina Celi, as also Veles, Cuenca, Huete, Agreda, and the Ancient Numantia, as far as the tops of the Mountain Moncayo. This addition of strength rendered the Roman General much more formidable; who gathering a great Army, Marched as far as the Woods of Capluon, but was forced to re-turn and repats the River Ebro, without having perform'd any Memorable Action, being in-form'd that Mandonius a great Man, rais'd Commotions among the Hergetes, which occasioned a lafting War. Afdrubal was fent for by the Mutiniers, to oppose a body of the Romans, that coming to appease, had put many of them to the Sword. At the same time the Celibers mov'd thereto by Scipio, took three Cities belonging to the Carthaginians, which oblig'd affarubal to leave the Hergetes, to be able to frop that growing evil. The Armies met, and the Celiber in two Battles flew 15000 of the Carbagnians, to two red end of Adultante Celiber was very remarkable in Spain, for the great abundance of Corn, and all forts of Provisions.

The Affairs of Spain, being in this pofture, Gneius Scipio writ to the Senate, for Recruits of Menand supplies of Provision and other Necessaries. P. Cornelius Scipio, was sent by the Senate to the Affishance of his Brother. He landed near Tarragona, the beginning of the Year following, which was § 38. from the building of Rome. His Fleet consisted of 30 Galleys, his Army 8000 Men, with great store of Provision, and Power equal with his Brother.

The Brothers being involved as the remained of the Constitute. The Brothers being joyn'd at the request of the Saguntines, that were dispersed and banish'd, and desir'd to return to their Country, and revenge the injuries done them, they sate down with their Armies before Saguntum. Bostar the Governour kept in this City the Spanish Hoftages, with but a final Garrifon, and this hindred many clitics from joining with the Romans, leaft their revolt should cost them their Lives. Acedux, a Noble Man among the Seguntings, and a Friend to the Romans, defir'd to gain their good will, by some signal Service, to this effect he spoke in private to Bosta, and perswaded, him, it would oblige the Symmatch if he restor'd their Hostages and rely'd on their Fidelity to him. Bosta suspension of gave an Account of his design to the Romans, and setting out at Mid-night carry'd them to their camp. Thus the Romans restoring the Hostages, gain'd the affections of all the Natives. The joy of all their Prosperities, was much abated by give News of the Fatal Battle at Camma, in which were sain 4200 Foot, and 3000 Hoste, as also the Consult Aminist, and The Battleon Empire had then been Extirpated, the principal Romans being about to fly out of Camas Stady, all the Cities thereabout submitting to the Victor, and many in Spain that were well inclin'd, deferred declaring themselves. However through the care and vigilance of the Sopio's, no diffurbance ensu'd, but on the contrary, at the same time they beautify'd the City of Tarragona, rebuilt and enlarged its Walls, and made it a Roman Colony. At Cartage, notwithlianding the instances of Hanno, who advised to make Peace with the Romans, now they had a good Opportunity, least their joy should be gurned into storrow, the Senate resolv'd to find Succours to Hannish, and Afarbas of Men, Money, and Ships, 40000 Africans, and Asabs were rais'd, of these good Foot and 1000 Horse, were first fent to Afarbas, where the danger was most pressing, Mago who Commanded thee Succours, had orders to raise both Horse and Foot in Spain, to maintain and enlarge that Province. Horse and Foot in Spain, to maintain and enlarge that Province.

CHAP. V.

Aldrubal designing to March through France, into Italy, is defeated by the two Scipio's, who after that overthrow Mago, and rout the Carthaginians a third time at Bigerra, but are at last themselves vanquish'd and slain.

Bout the fame time the Tarteffii, upon the streight of Gibraltar, a fierce and resolute Commotive People, taking Arms, chose one Galbo for their Leader, and seized the City Afena, tions a where the Carthaginians had laid up much Corn and Provisions. Afarubal, soon quelled these mong the where the Carinagement had rate up much corn and revenues. Significant from Carinage, that he was ordered to pals over in Spaints. to Italy, to the affiftance of his Brother Hamibal. This Command was no way pleafing to him, and gave occasion to many to take part with the Romans, but it was absolutely necessarily ry, to obey. Himileo the Son of Bomilear, was appointed his Successor; to him he disclos'd the screets of the Province, advised him in what manner he was to carry on the War, and having made great Levies of Men, and gathered much Money to pay them, he set forward with his Army, in the Year of Rome, 539. The two Scipios, foresceing the danger their Country 539, would be in, if Assaurable pass'd into Italy, (which would be oppered with two Armies, and was not in a Condition to oppose one) resolved to stop or at least divert him, by falling upon those People that sided with the Carthaginians. To this purpose they laid siege to Iberia, a City near the River Iberus, or Ebra, from which it took name, but Assaurable to Iberia, a City near the River Iberus, or Ebra, from which it took name, but Assaurable the Romans, which obliged them to quit their Enterprize, and come to the relief of their Friends. Both Armies drawing together, there happen'd several Skirmishes, till at last the Signal being given, the main Bodies met with great Fury and resolution. They fought as if the Empire The two of the whole World, had depended upon the success of that Battle, but the Romans, in par-scipio's chart signalized, themselves, as if they had stood under the Wall, and before the Gates of delated Victory. The first that fled were the Spainardic, who for the hatred they bore the Carthaginians, who would force them upon an expedition so far from their Country, were more inclinable to the Romans. The Carthaginians, and Assaurable, with a very sew get into Carthagena. The news of this Victory was received with great by at Rome, not so much for the Victory it self, as because it hindred Assaurable from passing into Islay. This reason, the Romans and Spain, and Spain, and for this yurpose borrowd Money of the Merchants, because the Treasury was received with great by at Rome, not so many senate sent even with severe a largue, which destroyed Multitudes, no of Pague. ry to obey. Himilto the Son of Bomilton, was appointed his Succellor; to him he difclos of the fecrets of the Province, advised him in what manner he was to carry on the War, and hanoing them (as some will have it) the Wite and Son of Hamibat, For this reason, the Roman Senate sent Provisions to their Army in Spain, and for this purpose borrowd Money of the Merchants, because the Treasury was exhausted. Assume that the sent shage is the Brother of Hamibat, was order'd for Spain, with the Fleet he had in readlines, to have passed into Italy. He arrived as Cartiagena, with 60 Galleys, and 12000 Man in them, where he sound Himito, who came not long before with Succours from Carthage. Mago's arrival caur'd a great alteration of affairs, for they who after their defeathage. Mago's arrival caur'd a great alteration of affairs, for they who after their defeathage. Mago's arrival caur'd a great alteration of affairs, for they who after their defeathage, which had before belonged to them, and was revolted to the Enemy, placing their Army 16000 Men. On the other side the Carthaginian; with a convoy of Provisions guarded by 16000 Men. On the other side the Carthaginian; advanc'd, advanc'd, to prevent their defign, and the Romans not flinching, they came to a Battle, in which not only Aldrinal, but Mago, and Fimileo, who came to his Aid, were defeated. The flaughter was greater than the Number of the Conquerors, 2000 Horfe were taken, and the cool-fores more in the Camp; befides, five Elephants killed & After this the Carthagnia, the vine gathered and recruited their forces, attack'd at Town called Invibito; 7 MiesWeft of Toriofa, which have a continued their processing another Eight in which cancel and the camp in the camp of the continued the camp of 1000Horfes more in the Camp; besides, sive Elephants killed & Aster this the Carbagini, alt, his voing gathered and recruited their forces, attack'd a Town called Insibile, 7 Miles West of Toriola, ving gathered and recruited their forces, attack'd a Town called Insibile, 7 Miles West of Toriola, ving gathered and recruited their Tores, attack and the right, in which 3000 of the Carbanian a the state of the carbanian and as many taken; hesides, that among the dead was Himileo, an Official for of great testem. Some will have it, that Insibile, is that which is now called Chotol, as the Kingdom of Valencia. Illiargium is supposed to be Andapian in Andaluaria, or Lietor, in the Kingdom of Valencia. Illiargium is supposed to be Andapian in Andaluaria, or Lietor, in the Kingdom of Valencia. Illiargium is supposed to be Andapian in Andaluaria, or Lietor, in the Kingdom of Valencia. In the Success in Spain, it was that Hamibal had be desteade, at Rome, added no small joy to the Success in Spain, it was that Hamibal had be desteaded, st Rome, added no small joy to the Success in Spain, it was that Hamibal had be desteaded, in the Bald, passing from Italy into Africk, was routed and taken by T. Manilua Torjathis, the Bald, passing from Italy into Africk, was routed and taken by T. Manilua Torjathis, the Bald, passing from Italy into Africk, was routed and taken by T. Manilua Torjathis, the Weather would permit; and therefore, presently put their Soldiers into Legarites, rether Weather would permit; and therefore, presently put their Soldiers into Legarites, rether Weather would permit; and therefore, presently put their Soldiers into Capitaries, rether Weather would permit; and therefore, presently put their Soldiers into Ganafars, rether Weather would permit; and therefore, presently put their Soldiers into Ganafars, rether would be the middle of the Chief, permit in his History. Tarragona is feated on a simal Plain, fo XI. King of Chilic, as may be seen in his History. Tarragona is seated on a simal Plain, fo XI. King

The History of SPAIN.

No fooner was the Winter over, in the Year of Rome 340, then the two Brothers, No fooner was the Winter over, in the Year of Rome 340, then the two Brothers, Mago and Affarabal, gathering all the Forces they could, of Strangers and Natives, took the Field, with a refolution to use their utmost endeavours to drive the Romans out of all the Pro-No fooner was the Winter over, in the Year of Rome 34.0. then the two Drocking Mago and Afdrubal, gathering all the Forces they could, of Straigers and Natives, took the Mago and Afdrubal, gathering all the Forces they could, of Straigers and Natives, took the Mago and Afdrubal, gathering all the Forces they could not be the Pro-Field, with a refolution to use their utmost endeavours to drive the Romans out of all the Pro-Field, with a refolution to use their utmost endeavours on drive the Romans out of all the Pro-Field, with a refolution or the farther where they prosses, and plant-better to oppose their Deligns, passing the River Ebro, broke in upon the Vestomes, and plant-better to oppose their Deligns, passing the River Ebro, broke in upon the Vestomes, and plant-better to oppose the Amnial, was there slain. 2000 Roman Söldiers were here that Hamilar, the Father of Hamilal, was there slain. 2000 Roman Söldiers were here that Hamilar, the Father of Hamilal, was there slain. 2000 Roman Söldiers were here that Hamilar, the Father of Hamilal, was the remove into another Part that was at Peace with them. Scipio To the Canther of This General was newly come over the Sea, some few Miles beyond Ebro, thither resorted Gneius Scipio to trengthen his Brothe's Sea, some few Miles beyond Ebro, thither resorted Gneius Scipio of the rengthen his Brothe's and the went out to take a View of the Enemy, and was beste by such a number of them, that he went out to take a View of the Enemy, and was beste by such a number of them, that he went out to take a View of the Enemy, and was beste by such a number of them, that he went out to take a View of the Enemy and the Carthaginians, and had forced out their Garthaginian poon the first advice hereof, marched to suppress this Commotion rison. The Carthaginians poon the sire advice hereof, marched to suppress this Commotion parts, and making a great Slaughter, got safe into the Place. Next two following days lie first, as the cause of the revolt of the other; Gneius tho such safe su with his Victories, Wintered in Betica, or Andaluzia with great caution and vigilance. At the very beginning of the Year of Rome 541, both Armies took the Field, and came to a Battle in Andaluzia, with the fame Courage and Refolution as before. The Success was fill the same, the Execution greater; for of the Carthaginians 8000, of the Gauls almost the whole Number, with their Commanders Civismarus and Menicatus perished. After this Fight, the Romans brought their Army before Saguntum, and at length took it by force, the fixth Year fince it was taken and destroyed by the Caribagnian. Some of those that had been banished, and fled from thence, being still alive; they were restored to their Country; the City Turdetum, which had caused all that mitchief, was demolsthed, and laid. vel with the Ground, their Lands were given to the Saguntines, and their People were fold in open Market, which was some Comfort and Revenge to the Saguntines, for the Losses they had sustained. Now also came News into Spain, that the City Arpos in Apulia, that had revolted to Hannibal, was taken by the Consul Quintus Fabius, and 1000 Spaniards had deferted to the Romans, which gave them no small hopes of greater Advantages; and therefore the Schate ordered the two Scipio's to send some Spaniards of Note to Rome, who might induce their Country-men to forfake the Service of the Carthaginians.

Winter drawing on, the Carthaginians refolved against the next Year to draw over to spaniards their Party the Celtiberia fierce, and warlike People, by offering them great Pay; but the two honourd Sopho's understanding their design, prevented them, by bidding more, and by way of Hotoincline nour permitting them to serve under the Roman Standards, not in distinct Bodies, as was serve the nied before. Moreover, to oblige all the Spaniards to forfake Hamibal, they fent 300 of Romans, them to Rome, who arriv'd there the beginning of the Year of Rome 542. Four Ships fent 542. from Rome with Provisions and Money, relleved their Ariny that began to fuffer want; but their Joy was much greater when they understood that Hamio, fent to the Relief of Hamibal, with great Forces from Carebage, and others raised in Gaul and Liguria, was Defeated before he could joyn him. At the same time, the City of Syracusa in Sicily, which after the Death of Hierom, and his Grandson Hieroma, had sided with the Carbbaginians, after a Siege, which lasted three Years, was taken by Marcus Marcellus.

In Africk, Syphax, King of the Numidians, and Confederate with the Romans, had been Sybax swice Routed by Massiniss, which simple, routed by and who had entred into the Confederacy with Carbbage. Massiniss, and Carbagena with 7000 African Foot. and 700 Numidian Horse. Indibits, also the Brother of Mandonius used before. Moreover, to oblige all the Spaniards to forfake Hannibal, they fent 300 of Romans.

my lett to oppose him in Agrick, this lame summer landed at Cartaagena with 7000. African Foot, and 700 Numidian Horfe. Indibility also the Brother of Mandonius, had rasted 500 Men among the Suessierian, and was in a readiness to March and Joyn them upon the first Advice. Some are of Opinion, these Suessierian, were People of that part of Navarre, where now Synguessa finands, on the Banks of the River Argan; a Town, as appears by Charters of Kings, once called Suessa, as is believed, from the Latin word Sues, because the Country thereabouts, has always abounded in excellent Swine. With because in Southery increasours, has always abounced in excellent swine. With their great Supplies, the Carthagnians being put in heart, were the first that took the Field, and marched into the Country in two Bodies; one was Commanded by Africhald Barchinus, the other, by Maga, Mathinijfa, and the other Africhald. The two Scipio's having likewife received Supplies from Italy, and being increased by the Addition of 3000 Celtiberi, mov'd forward to fight that Enemy they had so often Defeated. Gneius with the Celteberi, and the third part of the Roman Soldiers undertook Asarbal, and to this purpose, Encamp'd near the Enemy, and not far from the City Anatorgis, a River running betwixt the two Armies. Publius moved towards the other Carthaginian Generals, to the intent that Afdrubal being Defeated, (which he questioned not) the others might not save themselves in the Neighbouring Woods and Forest, but be hemmed in on all sides, and all destroy'd. All this Design was disappointed, for Astrubal being well acquainted with those People, easily prevail'd with the Celiberi to forsake the Romans, and return home. The better to colour this Treachery, a Report was industriously spread abroad, that the Spaniards, who sided with the Carthaginians, were Plundering the Houses of those that follow'd the Romans; Greins having loft to great a part of his Army, resolved to retire. Another Missortune disappointed this his Resolution; for Publish being streightned by Massiniss and Forting the Work which continually were Skirmishing before his Intrenchments, and fearing it Indibilis joyned the Enemy, he should not be able to withstand so great a Force, he resolv'd upon a dangerous Remedy, which was to meet Indibilis, and prevent his joyning the other Forces. He left a small Guard in the Trenches, and by Night marched out to put in execution what he had defigned. Romans This was not done fo fecretly but the Enemy having notice of it, Maffinilfa came up with Overhis Horfe at fuch time as the Romans were Engaged with the Senfetani, and began to have thrown-the better, and by his unexpected arrival, putting them into Confusion, obtained a perfect Wildows. Victory. Many were fail in the Fight, and among them, Publish their General, many more in the Puschit; fone few under the shelter of the Night, retired to the neighbouring Roman Garrisons, others to the City Publish of the State of the Night, retired to the neighbouring Roman Garrison, others to the City Publish of the State of Garrisons, others to the City Hiturgum, and the rest to their Camp. After this Victory, that part of the Carthaginian Army joyned Affathais; which made Gneius conclude his Brother was killed, for that he being fafe, the Enemy durst not have joyned their Bodies; befides, a sudden Sadness had seized him, which seem'd to forebode some great Missfortune, and therefore he quitted his Camp by Night, without the least noise. Morning discovering that the Romans were gone, Astrubal order'd the Numidian Horse to pursue, and keep them in play till the Body of his Army could come up. Gueius perceiving no Prayers nor Exhortations, were of force to encourage his Men, refolved to gain the advantage of a Hill that was near him; which was easily performed, but the Ground being hard and flony, their was no conveniency for casting up a Trench. To supply this want in some measure, he caused the Carriages and Waggons, to be drawn up round his Men; a slight Defence, but that for a while put a flop to the Enemy, who admired the Valour and Industry of the Roy mans failed them not, even in that desperate Estate. The Caribaginian Generals coming up, mans failed them not, even in that desperate Estate. The Caribaginian Generals coming up, blamed the backwardness of their Men, and thus at length the poor Fence being broke, they blamed the backwardness of their Men, and thus at length the poor Fence being broke, they blamed the backwardness of their Men, and thus at length the poor Fence being broke, they blamed the backwardness of their Men, and thus at length the poor Fence being broke, they blamed the backwardness of their Men, and thus at length the poor Fence being broke, they blamed the backwardness of their Men, and thus at length the poor Fence being broke, they blamed the backwardness of their Men, and thus at length the poor Fence being broke, they blamed the backwardness of the Bourse of the on it, is the Sepulcher of the two Scipio's.

Chap. VI.

26

CHAP. VI.

Lucius Marcius checks the progress of the Carthaginians, and gives them a great Overthrow. First Nero, then Publius Scipio comes into Spain, and takes Carthagena.

L. Marci THE unfortunate end of the two Scipio's, caufed a great Alteration, and the Power of the Romans in Spain, had been utterly overthrown, but that the Valour of Marcius at us reflor eithte Romans in Spain, had been utterly overthrown, but that the Valour of Marcius at us reflor eithte Romans in Spain, for thole of Cafluon were the first that shut their Gates upon the Romans Roma eththe 20mus Powtunate, fo it hap'ned in Spain, for those of Cashuon were the first that shut their Gates upon mus Powtunate, fo it hap'ned in Spain, for those of Cashuon were the first that shut their Gates upon rinspain, the Romans, those of listingum did worse, first admitting, and then murdering them; and many other places revolted. Those that were left in the Camp with Titus Fonteius, and the others that had reforted to them, being surrounded with 50 many missfortunes, with all possible speed marched away, and re-passed the River Elmo. Lucius Marcius, the Son of Septimius, ble speed marched away, and re-passed the River Elmo. Lucius Marcius, the Son of Septimius, a Roman Knight, a Youth of much Courage, who had been a Tribune in Gravies, Sepie's Artmy, gathering a good Body out of the Roman Garrisons, and of those who after the Rout had reforted to him, joyn'd, and gave new life to those under Fonteius. So great was the joy of the Soldiers for his coming, that they chose him their General; but their mirth was sport of all upon them, and a Migo follow'd at his heels. So great was the Construction among them at those Tridings, that they gave themselves over for lost, and took no notice of Marcius, who encouraged and persuaded them to re-assume their former Valour, and all would succeed

Carriagia
carriag rity, as coming to a certain victory, was the first of the animals, no sping now adminished at this unexpected boldness, they turned their backs and fled. Marcius would not fuffer them then to purfue, for fear of some Ambuth, but being satisfied with that Success, sounded a Retreat; at which the Soldiers were so offended, they threatned they would not follow him Men to purine, for rear of some Amoun, our cents latined with that the Soldiers were so oftended, they threatned they would not follow him upon another occasion. This Retreat of the Romans was wondred at by the Carthaginians, but attributing it to fear, they encamp'd without Intrenching. Marcins I ent of lip of good an opportunity as offer'd it felf, but communicating his Intention to the Soldiers, and biding em take their reft, and be in a readiness, drew them out at the fourth Watch, much encouraged, because they saw a light about his Head, which was receiv'd as a good Omen. Askinbai's Camp was but fix Miles from the Romans, and between them a Valley cover'd with Trees, where Marcius left three Companies of Foot and some Horse, as a referve. The Romans marched silently, and there being no Guards upon the Carthaginian Camp, they were easily surpriv'd; great was the laughter, all the Army being unarmed and asleep. Few escaped, for those that thought to fave themselves in the other Camp, fell into the Ambush, and were put to the Sword. Assistance in the sum of the sword of the swor of their Meakil'd, to the Senate, where many were offended that he called himself Propretor; but promised to fend Corn and Cloaths for the Soldiers. Claudius Nero was appointed as foon as the War of Capua was concluded, to go over into Spain with 11000 Foot, and 1100 Horse. Nero landed near Tarragona, and having joyned Marcius and Foneius, marched with speed to-wards Madiucia, in quest of Afahusa, who was incamped at a Wood between [littingum and Mentifa, supposed to be Montizon, or Cazorla, where he posses himself of the Passes, thro' which, of necessity the Enemy was to retire. Afdrubal had recourse to Policy, and reigning he would take Conditions, gained to much time, that his Army by Night ftole a-way over the Mountains, and the Roman General too late, discovering the cheat that had been put upon him, offered the Carthaginians Battle, which they cautioully avoided.

At the same time in Rome, Publius Cornelius Scipio, a Youth of 24 Years of Age, but of P.Com.Sci-

At the same time in Kome, Funnus Cornelus Scipio, a Youth of 12, Years of Ago, but of P.Com. St. Pio Proconlanus was appointed Propretor in the place of Nero; and Scipio chofe his Brother Lucius, and ful of Spain. This is that Lelius for his Legats, or Lieutenants. This is that Lelius who was thought to govern all the Actions of Scipio, and of whom it was commonly faid, that he composed the Play, and Scipio according to the landed in Spain about the end of the Year; he commended Play, and Scipio acted it. He landed in Spain about the end of the Year; he commended the Soldiers for what they had done; honoured Marcius as he deferred, and ever after, made great account of him. At the beginning of the Spring, in the Year of Rome 544. Scipio took the Field with his own, and the Forces of his Confederates, refolving to pass the River Ebro, and possible himself of Carbagena, a City opposite to Africk, the strongest the Enemy held, and where they kept the Spanish Hostages, and laid up their Magazines. His design was well grounded, for, that there was but a small Garrison in the Town, and the Carbaginian Generals were at a distance, Mago near Cadiz. Assimia for the Kingdom of Toledo. To Lelius was given the command of the Fleet, with Orders, that he should steep near to the Land Army, which in all, confished of 2500 foot, 2500 Horse. In seven Days Scipio came before Carbagena, and resolved to Attack it the next day by Sea and Land. Mago, who commanded in the Town, was not idle, but provided all things for his defence. This City is seated on a rising Ground, over the Harbour, opposite to which, is an Island, which scures it against all Winds, it is encompassed by the Sea on three sides, and that which is on the Land side looking towards the North, is of disficult ascent, and was fortshed with a good Wall. Scipios Men astempted to Scale this Wall, but the Spaniards that defended it, did not Land fide looking towards the North, is of difficult aftent, and was fortified with a good Wall. Scipios Men attempted to feale this Wall, but the Spaniards that defended it, did not only make good their Polt, but fallying, obliged them to retire in diforder, till [freh Supplies coming to their relief, the Spaniards were forced to take to the flelter of the Wall. This caused fo great a Conferention in the Town, that many quitted their Polts, and the Befiegers laying hold of the opportunity, laid their Ladders to the Wall by Sea and Land. The Befieged perceiving the danger that threatned them, took heart again, and throwing flowers of Stones, and all other Weapons, again repulfed the Enemy. On the Welf side of the Town was a shallow, which the Fisher-men said a Man might walk over at low Water. Tho' the Soldiers had taken no rest after the other Attacks. Solid and the said them or off after the other Attacks. ter. Tho' the Soldiers had taken no rest after the other Attacks, Scipio orders them to affault the Wall in two places, to the end that the Townsmen being all bent upon the defence of those parts, his Men might enter at that third, which by reason of the Water was weaker, and unregarded. His Orders were punctually obeyed, and all things fucceeded according to his wishes; for the Soldiers entering on that side, open'd a Gate, and let in their takes Companions. Thus the Romans in a moment were possess'd of the City; and Mage having these the companions. Companions. Thus the Romans in a moment were possess of the City; and Mage having in ohopes of maintaining himself, delivered the Citadel. The Booty was great, many Engines of War, 74 Colours, 63 great Ships that were in the Harbour laden with Provision and Ammunition, and toooo Prisoners, besides Slaves, were taken. All the Citizens of Carthagean were set at liberty, and the more to oblige them, their Goods restored. Part of the Hoslages were deliver do the Embassadors of their Cities, the rest honourably entrained, and among them, the Wise of Mandonius, and the Children of Indibilis. Moreover, a beautiful young Maid being brought to Scipio by the Soldiers, he would care see her, to avoid Temptation and Suspicion, but commanded, her to be taken care of, and restored to Lakeour, a Noble Celibbrian, to whom she was Betroth'd, giving, her in Dower the Gold her Parents offer'd for her Ransom. This goodness and liberality so highly oblig'd that Youth, that soon after, he return'd to serve the Romans with 1,000 Horse, and continud the Youth, that foon after, he return'd to ferve the Romans with 1400 Horfe, and continu'd in the fervice with great Zeal and Affection. The Soldiers that first entred the Town, were rewarded according to their Merits; and because there arose a dispute betwix Sextus Digitus, and Quintus Trebellius, about the Mural Crown, each pretending he was the first that mounted the Wall; and the Army was divided about it, the General decreed that both should have it, which gave full fatisfaction to all Men. To Leitus was given a Crown of Gold, and 30 Oxen for Sacrifice; and he was fent to carry the news to Rome, in a Galley of five Slaves to an Oar, and with him, Mago, and five Senators of Carthage. Next, the Walls of the City that had been damag'd were repair'd, all which being perfected, Scipio at the end of the Year, that has been asmag a weet epair a, an which being perfected, steps at the end of the Year, rethrined with great Honour and Reputation to Taragona, where he had appointed an Alfembly of the Confederate Spaniards. Leitus being come to Rome, laid before the Senate the great advantage that had accru'd to them, by the taking of Cartbagena. But their faits action was much abated by the news brought them, that 5000 Numidian Horfe, and other African Forces were ready to be fent from Cartbage into Spain; besides great Recruits that African Forces were ready to be fent from Cartbage into Spain;

drubal Barchinus was bringing into Italy to reinforce Hannibal, who had lately in the Territory of the Samnites, now part of Abruzzo, routed the Roman Army, killing the Pretor Gneius Fulvius, and twelve Tribunes, with 1 3000 Men, as some will have it, or 7000 according to others.

CHAP. VII.

Publius Scipio Routs Afdrubal. and drives the Carthaginians quite out of Spain: other notable Actions of his there. Cornelius Lentulus, and Lucius Manlius succeed him, and Overthrow the Spaniards that had Revolted.

THE taking of Carbagena changed the face of Affairs in Spain, and many inclined to the Roman Interest; for most Men follow the greater Power. Among the rest, Edefeus, aman of great note, came over to the Romans, because they had restored his Wife and Children that were among the Hostages. Mandonius, and Indivisit, Princes of the Cestibers, observed that were among the Hostages. tain'd Pardon for the late Milcarriages, and were receiv'd into Grace. Afdrubal Barchinus tain'd Pardon for the late Miscarriages, and were receiv'd into Grace. Askarbal Bacheinus was quarter'd about Betulon, a City supposed to be in Andalucia, where now are Ubeda, and Bacça. A soon as the scain of the Year, which was of Rome 545. Would permit, Scipio advanced from Tarragona towards him; but he having notice of it, and suspecting the Courage of his Men, as well as the fidelity of the Spaniards that were with him; by Night mov'd his Camp to an Eminence, the greatest part of the foot whereof, was encompass'd by Piver, supposed to be Guadalquivir. Upon this Hill were two Plains, on the lower, Asharbal planted the Numidians, Asiricans, and Massarquins; on the upper, he encamped with the gross of the Army. Neither the roughness of the way, nor the steepness of the ascent departed Scipios from strateging the Fenery, who had more confidence in the fragath of the gross of the Army. Executes the fougations of the way, not the necessary and the factor of the place, than the courage of his Men. All the difficulty was in mounting, and nothing that the Enemy cast down fell in vain; but as soon as they reached the first Plain, and came that the Enemy cast down sell in vain; but as soon as they reached the first Plain, and came to their Swords, the Desendants sied to the upper. The ascent thither, was more craggy than the other; and therefore they were obliged to go about and divide the Army into two parts. Scipio marched towards the left, and Lesius towards the right; no sooner had they mounted, and sallen on, on both sides, but the Enemy side; for they had neither room to draw out, nor time to place their Elephants in the Front, 8000 were slain, 10000 Foot, and 2000 Horse taken, and among them, Massiva, a Youth, Nephew to Massiva, lately come over from Africk. Scipio gave him at Horse, clad him richly, and sent him away without Ransom, to his Uncle. Assivable having sent the Money and Elephants before, made no stay till he came near to the Assivable as the soon of Sisso, and Mago loyn'd him. Having held a Consultation, it was resolved, that Assivable, the Son of Sisso, and Mago loyn'd him. Having held a Consultation, it was resolved, that Assivable, the Son of Sisso, and Mago into Lustrania, and Massimis with 3000 Horseshould insert the Province Ostiphania Citerior; but that both of them should be all means avoid coming to a Battle. Mago was sent to Maiorea to raise of them should by all means avoid coming to a Battle. Mago was fent to Majorca to raise fling Men in those Islands. Lastly, It was thought expedient, that Assertions should march into staly, as well in obedience to the Commands of the Senate, as to secure the Spanish Soldiers that began to be inclinable to the Romans, by removing them so far from home. Dollers that began to be inclinable to the Komans, by removing them to far from home. Thus the Caribaginians; on the other fide, Scipio, because the Summer was almost spent, extended to Taragona thro the Woods of Castillon, and part of Sierra Morena, where he spent all the next Year, which was $46, without doing any thing remarkable, the Forces of the Caribaginians being much broken. From Caribage, instead of Asphaba Barchinas, came Hame to Govern Spain, by the way, he took up Mago in the Island of Majorea, and landed in Spain in the Year of Rome. $47, and immediately went to raise Men among the Cetiberi. Scipio sent in the Year of Rome 547, and immediately went to raise Men among the Celiberi. Scijo sent Syllamus against him, who coming to a Battle, first Routed Mago, and then took Hanno, who was marching to relieve him. Next, Scipio refolved to move towards Assimately the Son of Gisgo, who was encamp'd near Cadiz, but he having notice of it, divided his Forces among the Garrisons, despairing of being able to keep the Field. This news coming to Scipio, he turned back, only sent his Brother Lucius to take Oringe, a City of the Miless. Phips places Oringe, in the Province of Betica, near where Jaen now stands. This Enterprize was successful, for the Town was entred by Storm, all the Caribaginian, and 300 of the Townshen that shut the Gates against the Romans, were made Slaves, the rest were set fiee, and their Coods respond to them. Winter drawing on the Army was feet into Onarters, and Luci-Goods refored to them. Winter drawing on, the Army was fent into Quarters, and Lucius to Rome, with Hanno and other Prifoners, where he gave an account of what had been

548. The Year following which was the 548 of Rome, Aldrubal the Son of Gigo, gathered a Aldrubal mighty Army which with the Auxiliary Spaniards amounted to 50000 Foot, and 4500 Horse, Son of Gif. and incamp'd in the Province Betica, or Andaluzia, near the City of Silia. Scipto having go, entire and meaning in the revenue arms, or amounts a literal time city of some arms, sorph institute of the placer intelligence hereof, took only 2000 Spariff Foot, and 500 Horfe, being warned by the fate of ed by 5th. Father and Unkle not to place much Confidence in them; With these Auxiliaries, and the Romans Legions, he marched towards Afathals. Some dayswere special in Skirmilles, and then both Armies drew out in order of Battle, but neither car'd to give the first stroke. Between the two Armies was a Valley, and each expected the other should pass it first, to keep the advantage of ground on which they stood; at length Scipio adventured early one Morning to attack the Enemy in their Camp. Advabas surpriced at this unexpected boldness, placed his Horse in Front to check the adverse Cavalry that gave the first charge; whilst he drew the rest of the Army into the field. The Horse stood to it so Couragiously, that the Fight a for long time was doubtful, Scipio withdrew back his Cavalry into the center of his Battle, and stretched out and advanced the Wings in which the Roman Legions fought. Thus before the main Bodies joyn'd, he made the Enemies Wings give way, as being compos'd of Mallorquins, and Spaniards, both raw and unexperienced Soldiers, and that came out falting, whereas the Romans were better provided; tho' the Enemy at first retired in order and after fled outright; yet the Romans could not enter their Camp by reason of some Rain that fell. Assault terrify'd with this misfortune, and fearing least all his Allies should desert him, as some had alreafy'd with this misfortune, and fearing leaft all his Allies fhould defert him, as fome had already done, the following night quitted his Camp, defigning to get away by long Marches. But in the Morning Scipio perceiving he was gone, fent the Horfe to fall upon his rear, and keep them in play till the Legions coming up, put them all to the rout; great was the flaughter this day, for of all that vaft Army fearce 7000 eclaped with their General, who climbed a very craggy Mountain, a place naturally fivong. Hence Addubal fole away privately to Cadiz, and Scipio with part of his Army return d to Tarragona, leaving Syllamus with the reft to befiege them on the hill. Among the Caribaginans was Maljinija who perceiving the Affairs of Caribage totally declin'd, refolv'd to fide with Fortune, and accordingly had a private interview with Syllamus. In order to come over to the Romons. Which is all that was remarked. terview with Syllanus, in order to come over to the Romans, which is all that was remarkable in that Siege; this happen'd in the beginning of Summer, and so ended the power of the Carthaginians in Spain, which then fell into the hands of the Romans, in the 14th Year after Hannibal destroy'd Saguntum, and the 5th after Scipio, took upon him the Government of

This tedious and dangerons War in Spain, being in a manner brought to a conclusion, Sciscipio pio bent his designs against Africk, and Carthage, and in order to them, Treated with Massia gains the nissa, and sent him over into Africk, to dispose his People to leave the Friendship of the CarAfrican. and net nim over the state of the tellus to Treat with Sphar King of the Majeflatin Africk, who refufing to harken to any Propofals, unlefs made by the Roman General himself, Scipio went over himself to his City, then call'd Siga, supposed to be now Arefgol, because Pliny says, It was opposite to Malaga. Admindracement the tame time to secure the Friendling of that King; who made some overtures of Peace betwixt those two powerful Enemies; but that King; who made tome overtures or reace betwick those two powerful enemies; but soipio faying, he had no infructions concerning that Affair, that project took no effect, and yet he compals'd what he came for, which was to gain the Friendship of that King. No foonerwas Scipio recturn'd into Spain, but he possessed himself of Illiungum, and Cashulon, Cities that had held out for the Caribaginians, rather because they despair'd of Pardon, than for any affection; Illiungum was destroy'd, Cashulon was spar'd because least guilty, and also for that it submitted. After this Marcius was order'd to subdue some other places, and Scipio went to Caribagena, to Celebrate the Funeral rites, of his Father and Unkle; which were perform'd with orear Pown and Swerzel forts of Stours. Particularly Galaignes. Carinagena, to Cetebrate the Funeral rives, or his Fainer and Chinke's which were perform a with great Pomp, and feveral forts of Sports: particularly Galdaitors. Among the reft that fought were two Brothers call'd Corbis, and Orfua, who were at Variance about the Sovereignty of the City 18a, the Younger of them, who confiding in his great frength, had refus'd to fhand to Judgment, was kill'd; Many Cities fubmitted themfelves to Marcins, only Alphap Memorahaving highly provok'd the Romans, and definiting of pardon, endur'd a tedious Siege in which ble Siege many of them Perished, as also in a Battle they ventured to Fight in open Field; At length of Allaya. there being no possibility of holding out, or hope of relief, they slew their Wives and Children, burnt all their Goods in the Market-Place, and then kill'd themselves. The ruins of this City are still to be feen on the banks of the River Xenil, not far from Ecija, and Antequera. Letius, and Marcius were fent to Cadiz, in hopes they might make themselves Mastersof thatssland, by means of intelligence they held with certain out-laws belonging to it, but were disappointed, Mago having discover'd the contrivance, and taken the necessary measures to prevent it. It happen'd also that Scipio fell dangerously ill, which gave occasion to many to think of raising Commotions, Particularly Mandonius, and Indibitis, revolted. It grieved them to be disappointed of their hopes, having slattered themselves with the thoughts of becoming Sovereigns of all Scipii is the Cathesians are usualled. Sovereigns of all Spain, if the Carthaginians were expelled. Moreover 8000 Romans, that were Quartered along the River Xucar, Mutinjed for their Pay. Mago thinking he might make his advantage of these troubles, writ to the Senate of Caribage, defiring they would find him considerable supplies. All these designs were disappointed by the recovery of Scipio. The mutinous Soldiers having received a promise of pardon, and their pay, went to Caribagena, where they were severally reproved by Scipio, and only the Heads of the Mutiny Punished, Mandonius, and Indibitis, being among the librageter, were defeated and forced out of their Interchanger, the light heads are not supplied to the second of the second Administration and inations, being among the inergetes, were deteated and rorced out of their interachiments, the right lafted two Days, yet after all, upon their Submillion were admitted to Grace, only a mulch laid upon them, to Pay the Soldiers. Malfiniss was now again return'd out of Africk, to Cadix., with a good Number of Numidian Horse, having not yet declared for the Romans. Script forth Arquits before, and designed to follow thicker in Person, which Adassiniss an understanding, the came over, to the Continent upon pretence of making an injury with road, but in reality to Treat with Scipio; where he fettled that Friendship which lasted as long as the Romans.

28

his Life, Mago despairing of any fuccess in Spain, by Order of the Senate, Shipped all the Gold and Silver, belonging to the publick, and to private Persons, and sailed with it for Carthage, By the way, he fell upon the Mallorquins, because they had revolted to the Romans, can deally made himself Master of Minorea; whence he sen tooo Sling Men, and Autumn being passed, stayed to Winter there. Cadia, was delivered up to Scipto, who about the same time founded Italiea, a Roman Colony, in a place called before Sancii, afterwards the Country of three Emperors, Trajan, Advian, and Twodosfus the Great. This done, he returned to Rome in a Fleet of Ten Sail, after he had governed Spain five Years. The Senate received him in the Temple of Bellom; and the his Adrions had deferved it, they granted him not the honour of a Triumph, because till then it had not been allowed to any Proconsul.

him in the Temple or Benoma; and the instructions had deserved in the state of the theonour of a Triumph, because till then it had not been allow'd to any Proconful.

Scipio being gone, the following Year, which was of Rome $4.9, Mandonius and Indibitis, either to deliver their Country from a Foreign Yoke, or in hopes to make themselves Kings, either to deliver their Country from a Foreign Yoke, or in nopes to make themlelves kings, revolted again. At first the War was carried on, not only among the Illegeres, where their Dominion was but among the Austrain, that is, the Country about Tque, and then passed on to the Neighbouring Parts, and the Sederahi, as Livy says; I rather believe it was the Ceretani, that reach to the Pyrmeans. Those that had taken Arms amounted to accord Foot, and 4000 reach to the Pyreneaus. I note that had taken Arms amounted to 30000 Foot, and 400 Horfe. Lucius Cornelius Lentulus, and Lucius Manitus Acidinus, who had fitceeded Scipio, a Froconfuls, marched againft them. They came to a Battle in which 1 3000 of the Mutineers Froconfuls, the reft fled to the Woods and Mountains. Individua was flain in the Fight, Manwers Will'd, the reft fled to the Woods and Mountains. were kin u, the rele ned to the woods and mountains.

Administration was hard in the right, Mandonius deliver'd up, by his Men, to purchase their own Pardon, because the Proconfuls had declared, they would not hearken to Peace till the Authors of the Revolt were given up. The clared, they would not hearken to reace till the Authors of the Kevolt were given up. The next Year, which was of Rome 550, the Spaniards were quiet, being spent, and worn out, with 60 many Years War. But the foregoing Year at Rome, Public Cornelius Scipio, and P. Kicinius Crassia, were chosen Consults. Scipio had Sciely for his Province, with Power, if he thought it convenient, to pass over into Africk; which he did, with a Powerful Army and Fleet. There he first overthrew Hamio the Son of Hamilton; but made no other great Propriet that the state of the heavy being strengthed with Province and Propriet that the state of the heavy being strengthed with Province and Pro-Fleet. There he first overthrew Hanno the Son of Hamilear; but made no other great Progress that year. In the beginning of the next, being strengthned with Recruits out of Hannoth the wice routed Afrubai and Sypbax, killing 40000 of their Men. To conclude, Hannibai himself being call'd out of stay, to defend his own Country, was defeated and drove out of Africk; whereupon ensu'd a Peace betwire those two mighty contending Nations; much to the honour of the Romain; and dishonourable to the Caribaginians. Thus ended the second Punick War, in the Year of Rome 552. Scipio triumphed at Rome, and had the Title of Africanus confer'd on him. This succinct Relation may suffice of things so remote.

CHAP. VIII.

The Spaniards Revolting are again Subdu'd by the Romans. Cato being Conful comes into Spain. Several Pretors succeed. Their Government and Actions.

Othing of note happen'd in Spain't ill the year 554, when L. Cornelius Lentulus, being gone to Rome, C. Cornelius Cethegus increeded him as Colleague to L. Manlius Accidinus. The Spaniards nists for now at length to their great grief perceived that the War the Romans had undertaken, was not the Romans upon account of reftoring them to their liberty, but of enlarging their own Empire. This w upon account of restoring them to their liberty, but of enlarging their own Empire. This gave them occasion to conspire, and take up Arms among the Ceretami, but Cethegus coming upon them with speed, slew 15000, and so quelled that Commotion. The following year Cornelius Lentslus, and L. Sterimius, were sent to govern Spain, in the place of Cethegus and Aridinus. This and the following year there was no action of note in Spain, only that by Order of the Senate, Spain was divided into two Provinces, or Governments, and distinguished by the sames of Cherior and Ulterior; the latter comprehending Lustamia and Betica, or Portugal and Andaluzia, and the former, all the other part to the Pyrenean Hills. In the year of Rome 557. Gneius Schnpronius Tuditamus, obtain'd the Government of Hispania Citerior, and M. Helvius of the Ulterior: against whom the Shaniards took up Arms in several parts 14000 0 and M. Helvius of the Ulterior; against whom the Spaniards took up Arms in several parts.

The chief Heads of this Revolt were Colea and Luscinon; and the motive that encouraged Revolt. The chief Heads of this Revolt were Colca and Lussimon; and the motive that encouraged them to it was the difmilling of the old Souldiers, whereby they thought the Roman Forces so weakned, as not to be in a condition to withstand them. Acidmus adventuring to fight with part of them was defeated, and received some Womds, of which soon after he dyed. This disaster being known at Rome, but the Senate into much fear, least it might produce a dangerous War; the Forces of Spain being united. Therefore in the year 548, they sent Q. gerous War; the Forces of Spain being united. Therefore in the year 548, they sent Q. Fabius Buteo into Hispania Ulierior, and Q. Minucius Thermus into the Citerior; but these distributes the theorem of the City Turba. This nothing abated the Senates care, and therefore they ordered, that the succeeding Consuls should cast Lots for the Government of Spain, and the Lot dered, that the succeeding Consuls should cast Lots for the Government of Spain, and the Lot dered, that the succeeding Consuls should cast their in the year 550. with two Legions full man and twenty free Galleys. He was the first Conful sent into Spain, and Appits Claudius Novo first Con- ordered, that Publius Mansius should command in Hispania Citerior, and Appits Claudius Novo first Con- ordered, that Publius Mansius should command in Hispania Citerior, and Appits Claudius Novo first Con- ordered, that Publius Mansius should command in Assaults and the Cuterior, with the Title of Pretors. Caso landed near Roses, whence he drove the Spains nish Garison, and then went on to Ampurias. That part of the City which the Greeks inhabited received him with joy, but this was the lesser, as not above 400 paces in Circumference, whereas the other in which were the Spaniards, divided from it by a Wall, was three Miles round. There was only one Gate in this Wall, which the third part of the Greeks always guarded, and by that means preferr'd their liberty, till the coming of the Romans. The Special relief, refolv'd to ftand it out. Cato as foon as he Encamped before the City, dismissed all the Commissaries of Provisions, and sent the Galleys away to Marfeilles, thereby to oblige the Souldiers to live upon the spoil of the Country, and take away all hopes of a retreat. At the fame time Helvius came out of Hispania Ulterior, to attend the Conful, and by the way, re- Helvius covered liturgum, which had revolted, and overcame a great Body of Celither that came up-lingum, on him; both which actions he perform'd with only the Guard of Souldiers his Successor Nero and Your on jun; both with actions per formed with only declared so and fourtes in some the livery and fourtes had given him for the fecurity of his Person. Beligastes, a Powerful Man among the livery the spanifent Emballadors to the Consul, begging affiltance against the revolted Spaniards, by whom, he ards. was much streightned, only for his fidelity to the Romans, and showed that 5000. Men would be a sufficient relief. Gato excust himself to the Embalsadors, representing the small numbe a fairteen. The control of the Enemies that was advancing to relieve Ampuriar, which he Befiegd; withal incouraging them to hold out couragiously for some time and their reward should be the greater. At this Answer the Embassadors fell down before him, begging he would not forsake the Friends and Allies of Rome in so pressing a necessity. Caso mov'd at their intreaty, and confidering, that in War Policy often goes as far as strength, promis'd the Embassadors the relief they demanded should be sent next day; and the more to promised the Emballadors the relief they demanded should be sent next day; and the more to personate them, caused the third part of his Men to be Shipped in their sight, ordering them to go before to carry the News, and thereby encourage their People. No sooner were the Emballadors gone, but he Unships his Men, being resolved to give the Spaniards Battle, who were come in sight of the City. To this effect, at the third Watch of the Night, he caused all his Army to march, and come upon the back of the Enemies Intrenchments, which were vigorously Attacked by three Cohorts by break of Day. The Spaniards, tho surprized that the Romans, who the day before Fronted them, should fall now upon their Rear, suriously fell on them without any order. Nevertheles, their Charge was so violent, that they broke the Romans Horse, and put the Foot into some confusion, but they soon Rallying, checked this sury of the Enemy. For some time the Success was dublous, till the Referve of the Legions coming on fresh, made the Spaniards at first give way easily, and then to sty outright to their Works; 40000 of them, are said to have been slain. After the Romans had taken some rest, 40000 they were to the tother works; 40000 of them, are said to have been slain. After the Romans had taken some rest, 40000 they were sounded as the Spaniards at since the Spaniards Works; 40000 of them, are laid to have been hain. After the komans had taken lome relft, 40000 they went out, ravaged all the Country about Ampuirias, which moved the Citizens, having no hopes of Relief, to furrender. Cato treated them courteoully, and difinified the Garrison killed by without any Ransom. All the Country from thence to the River Ebvo, being secured by Cato, this Success, the Conful departed for Tarragona; but the Bergislami laying hold of this opportunity, revolted, and were as soon subdued, and still offering to Mutiny, they were all fold as Slaves; a fevere punishment, but necessary example to terrifie others. Some place told as stayes, a levere pulminent, out electary example to terrine contest. Some place the Bergifani near the City Tirue!; others, near Huefra, where now is a Town called Bergua. Cato deligning to march towards the Turdetani, a People of Andaluzia, (as has been faild) who, after they had been Defeated by Manlius and Nero, intended to renew the War, with the affiftance of the Celtiberi, to secure the Province behind him; he resolved to dif-arm all the People beyond Ebro. This was so grievous to many of them, that they sew arm all the People beyond Ebro. This was so grievous to many of them, that they sew themselves rather than deliver their Weapons; whereupon, the Consul altering his resolution, sent his Orders to all parts, for demolishing the Walls of Towns, which was put in execution; and at the same time, news was brought, that Manhius the Pretor, had appeased the Commotions among the Twateani. Hereupon, the Consultant and the Country, and having passed the River Ebro, stopped not till he came before Segoncia, now Singuenea, where the Celiberi considing in the strength of the place, had laid up all their Riches. The Booty was great, but there being little hopes of taking the Town; he marched on to Numantia, as appears by Ansia Gellius. Nothing of note was done in those parts. About the Pyreneans, the Ceretani, Austrani, and Suesseani, submitted themselves; the Lacetani, who several lay farther off, were also brought under. Thus all things being quieted in Spain, the Roman Provinces Revenues increased by the improvement of the Gold and Silver Mines; and new Pretors submit.

After this, many Pretors came from Rome to Govern Spain. The first were Lucius Digi- Several cius, for Hispania Citerior, famous for the Mural Crown he gained at Carthagena; and Publius Govern Steplo Nation, the Son of Greins, adjudged by the Senate, the holieft Man in Rome, Spein Thefe, were fucceded by Manius Fulvius Nobilior, who took Toledo, then a small, but a Logici-Ancedon. Next came L. Paulus Hypfeus into Hipania Citerion, and L. Rebin Diversino the Medical Macedon. Next came L. Paulus Hypfeus into Hipania Citerion, and L. Rebin Diversino the Medical Macedon. Next came L. Paulus Hypfeus into Hipania Citerion, and L. Rebin Diversino the Medical Macedon. Next came L. Paulus Hypfeus into Hipania Citerion, and L. Rebin Diversino Medical Medica coming from Rome, Cato returned thither, and was received in Triumph, in which, he carried 148000 pound of Silver, and 540 pounds of Gold. To each Foot Soldier, he gave fewer Alfes, and three times the fum to the Horfe. After this, as long as he lived, he took Spain into his protection, and defended it against all wrongs.

L. Amilius Lepidus. Paulus Hypfeus, and Bebius Dives. Flaminius. Lucius

Man. Aci- Lucius Manlius Acidinus Governed Hilpania Citerior the space of two Years following, and disus, ald Caius Cainius, the Olterior; during which time nothing of note hap ned. Caius Calpurnius Cainius. Polyo and Lucius Quintius Crispinus, succeeded them in the Year 568. Which same Year, Catteriors was killed in a Battle in Lusitania before his Succellor arrived. Two Years after, Aunius was killed in a Battle in Lufitania before his Successor arrived. Two Years after, AuEast and produits Larrentius Varre took upon him the Government of the Province Citerior, and Paulus SamPile, and produits Longus, of the Ulterior. Publiss Manilius, he that was Pretor in the time of Cato, sucQuintius Cipinat.

Ci mantia became Confederate with Rome, as Plutarch tells us. Besides, he either built, or Pub. Man. manna occame connectate with come, as runared cans us. Serious, in center builty of line, and per beautified the City, of him called Graccharit, near Numania, where now Agreda flands. lius and F. beautined the City, of mini cancel transcripting, recar yearnaming, where now green leading Flecus.

There is a Coin to be feen in Spain with the name of Gracehoris and Albinus, both toge-flecus of the There is a Coin to be feen in Spain with the name of Gracehoris and Albinus, both toge-flebinius there. In the Year 576. M. Thimius Curous, was chosen Pretor of Hispania Citerior, and Quintus Homes in the Continued three Years, and it is not known what Pretors furnished Senceeded them; but we have an account that in the Year 579. Appins Claudius Centho, had the Honour called Outio granted him, for a Victory obtained over the Celiberi. In the Year and Sem-580. came Servilius Cepio to the Province Citerior, and Furius Philo to the Ulterior. Their Gracchus. Successors were M. Marcienus, and Gueius Fabius Buteo. But because Buteo died by the way at Marseilles, Furius continued his Command, till in the Year 582. Spurius Lucretius was sent to succeed him, and Marcus Junius the other. After this, the two Provinces were again Incorporated, and the Government of all Spain committed to Lucius Canuleyus, as Pretor. Beteins. corporated, and the Government of all Spains committed to Likins Camarpins, as Pretor.

579. fore he fact out of Rome, he was conflicted Judge between the Spanish Emballadors, and the Api. Claus former Pretors, who were accussed of receiving Bribse, and Defrauding the Country. The Streillins Pretors were cleared, because the Roman Senators used great Severity towards others, but Servilins Copio, and winked at Faults among themselves, to the great dislatisfaction of the People, and loss of Furiar Heir own Reputation. However, to please the Natives, it was granted, that the Roman Philips Governours should not fell Corn at rates set by themselves; and that the Spaniard heir Country and Procedure of the People will and the Philosophia. not be obliged to Farm the Imposition (called Vicesima) at the Pretor's will; and that there ems, and not be coniged to rarm the imposition (called Vicejmas*) at the Pretor's will; and that there are not not be committed to the Corporations. Another Embally was fent from Spain, to know what 522. Mould be done with the Balfards, called Hybrida*, that were the Sons of Roman Soldiers, 5p. 1mcr and Spanifb Mothers, desiring Lands might be assigned them. It was agreed to by the class, and Mymins*, nate, that Lands should be given to those whom Canuleyus the Pretor thought fit to deliver 1. Canule out of slavery. For they were fold as Slaves, and that he should carry them to Canule. M Junius, mac, char Lands mount be given to deliver the mount cannot be a recommended and the finding and the tree of the carry them to Cartesia, yus.

and that it flould be deemed a Roman Colony, which was the furft in Spain, and called Colombia, mia Libertinorum. Canuleyus having Governed two Years, Marcus Marcellus succeeded him in Marcel. ma Locersmann. Canney is naving Governed two I tails, marked bracems indeceded him in the Year §85. Strabs fays, he was the Founder of Cordova's but Silius Italians, makes mention of it in the time of Hamibal; whence it may be concluded, he only inlarged and beautified it; giving it the Name and Title of a Roman Free-Town. Fonteius Balbus succeeded Marcelnames. Cu it, giving it the realise and rine of a comman rice-town, romens based named for the first f of the Pretors, which would not be pleafing, if continued; nor is it easie to perform, or proper to fill up the breaches of the Spanish Hilbory with the Grandeur of the Roman.

The End of Book II.

History of S P A I N.

The Third BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The first War of Numantia, and Peace concluded with that City. The War in Lufitania, and other Parts, and Treachers of the Pretor Sergius Galba.

N the Year of Rome 601. were fown the Seeds of a lafting and bloody War in Spain, Numanta which for a long time was carried on with various fuccess, and at last proved fatal to its Descri-the Spaniards. The first Beginners of this War, were the Inhabitants of Numania, a Ption. fierce and warlike People, grown weary of the Roman Yoke, and provok d by the Wrongs they fulfain'd. The City Numantia, once the Terror of Rome, and Glory of Spain, Wrongs they juitain'd. The City Numantia, once the lerror or nome, and Citry of spain, was feated on the utmôt! Northern Border of Chibbria, among the Areaci, a League above Soria, on the Ground where now is the Bridge of Garay, not far from the Springs of the River Duero, where some footsteps of it are still to be seen. It was stronger by Nature than Art, being built on a Hill not steep, but difficult of Access, by reason of the Mountains that encompass it on three sides. On the South side, is a beautiful and fertile Plain, which runs along the banks of the River Tera for the space of three Leagues, till it mixes with the River Duero. After the manner of the Lacedemonians, it was neither girt with a Wall, nor strengthened with Bulwarks or Towers but for the conveniency of Cattle grazing, it stretched out farther than was convenient to encompass with a Wall. However, there was a Fort, or Citadel, capable of opposing any Enemy, where, in time of War, they used to secure all their Riches. The Number of the Citizens was small, not exceeding 4000 Men fit to bear Arms; others double this number. Their manner of life being constantly inured to labour, made them hardy and bold; they were couragious in undertaking a War, and prudent in managing of it. Sempronius Gracchus, when he Govern'd Spain, a War, and prudent in managing of it. Semptons of the transfer and the confidence with the Numanitans, and other neighbouring People, upon these Articles. That they should neighbor for the the state of the semple of Rome; that they should be applied by the semple of Rome; that they should be applied by the semple of Rome; that they should be applied to the Roman Standard when severe call d upon. Among the Aremanita by vaci, was also another City, call'd Segeda, 40 Furlongs in compass. Appianus places it in experimentally extremity of Celiberia, among the Beli; perhaps, where is now the City Ofma. This City, Gracebast and the neighbouring Places, privately made a League, and began to fortifie and provide themselves for War, Having received Commands from the Roman Senate to delist from those Preparations, to pay their Tribute, and repair to the Roman Camp; they fill delay'd time upon feveral pretences, and framing excuses. Hence sprang that War in which Numantia, as being near, and Allied to them, was also involved; and the Romani fearing, unless speedily remedy'd, that evil might grow to a greater head, had immediately recourse to Arms. At the same time, the War was carried on against the Romans, in Lusitania, by Ce-Jaro, who, by the confent of the People, had taken upon him to restore them to their Liberty, and was Successor to another Commander called Africanus, that was killed with a Stone at the Siege of a Town. These Commotions were looked upon at Rome to be of such dangerous Confequence, that after Lucius Mummius had been appointed Pretor of Hispania Ulterior, it was thought fit to fend one of the Confuls with a Confular Army to the War against the Celtiberi. And, whereas the Confuls used to be chosen in December, and enter upon their Command in March, it was now anticipated, and they commenced from the first of January, which was afterwards continued. Into Spain, was sent the Conful Q. Eulovius Nobility; with confiderable Forces. The Segedani knowing all these Preparations tended to their ruin, Robbitor fent their Wives and Children to the Avevaci, and chose for their Commander one Carus, a che Con-Man of great Experience in warlike Affairs. This Man thinking to perform some remarkable Act whereby he might at first gain Reputation, laid an Ambush for the Confus, who was into spans; marching with 30000 Men. His design succeeded so far, that he slew 6000 of the Enemy, and put the rest to flight; but pursuing his Victory too far, the Roman Horse, who were in the Rear, came up, killed him, and made great havock among his Men. This Battle was fought on the 20th of August, on the day the Romans celebrate the Feast of Vulcan, called Vulcanalia. So great was the dread conceived on both sides, that for several Days they avoided meeting one another. On the same Night, the Arevaci met at Numantia, which was

THE

Book III.

rwo Enders the Field of Battle; and there inftead of Carus, chole Haraco and Leucon for their Leaders; the Numanians named one Limbeus to command them. Three days after the Fight, the Confull encapped within foot Miles of Numanian. In his Army, befides the other Forces, the provok'd the Enemy, and they again refolved to try their fortune; in the heat of the Battle the Romans opening their Ranks, the Elephants advanced thro, which ftruck fuch Terror into the Celiberi and their Horfes, that they field into the City. The Romans purfuing clofe, thought to have entred with them, and had done it, but that an Elephant being wounded on the Head with a Stone, grew enraged, and turned back upon his own Men, which the other Elephants feeing, did the like, difordering the Roman Battle, and killing all that flood in their way. At the fame time the Numanians laying hold of this opportunity, rallied, and drove the Romans into their Camp. Of the latter, 4000 were killed in Repulled two Engagements; of the former, 2000. Not far off was a Gity called Axenia, a place much frequented by Merchants. After the Battle, the Conful thought to have poffelfed himself of that Gity, but was Repulfed with great lofs and fhame. Upon the news of their Defeats, the Gity Ozile, where the Romans laid up Magazines, and left their Baggage, Refeats, the City Ozile, where the Romans laid up Magazines, and left their Baggage, Refeats, the City Ozile, where the Romans laid up Magazines, and left their Baggage, Refeats, the City Ozile, where the Romans laid up Magazines, and left their Baggage, Refeats, the City Ozile, where the Romans laid up Magazines, and left their Baggage, Refeats, the City Ozile, where the Romans laid up Magazines, and left their Baggage, Refeats, the City Ozile, where the Romans laid up Magazines, and left their Baggage, Refeats, the Conful thought to have poffelfed the Conful thought numen of that city, but was repulsed with great loss and manier upon the news of their Defeats, the City Ocile, where the Roman laid up Magazines, and left their Baggage, Revolted to the Celiberi. The Conful terrified hereat, and fearing, left other Places might follow the Example, Fortifi'd his Camp near Numania, and Wintered there with great loss voited to the Celibori. The Conful terrified hereat, and feating, left other Places might follow the Example, Fortifi'd his Gamp near Momantia, and Wintered there with great lofs of Meng's thro' the violent Cold, and want of Provisions. This was what happened in Hispania Citerior. In the Ulterior, at the same time, Munmitus waged War with the Lustiani; at first with various Event, but in the conclusion with Success. In the first Flight and it is pursuing the Enemy too violently, gave an opportunity to Celaro to rally, and wrest the Victorana station showed their booty in all parts, as Trophies of their Valour. Success made them by the engligent, and Munmitus, who was retired with about 5000 Men, taking the advantage, fell Humatian.

Sergius Galba.

Ticinius Lucullus.

In Junianian, among the Cumii, in that part of Andalusia, where now Niebba stands; thence he marched to Cadix, and so with part of the Army over into Assignite, a City belonging to, the marched to Cadix, and so with part of the Army over into Assignite, a City belonging to, the marched to Cadix, and so with part of the Army over into Assignite, and brought under command; for which, the Year following, 602. Munmitus obtaind a mbrought under command; for which, the Year following, 602. Munmitus obtaind a more deed Fuliouia. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Government of Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assists. The Hispania Ulterior, was given to Marcus Assist fering up the Town to the Contul, he ordered them to be lead this to riorie. Atterwards, because fome few of them fell upon the Baggage in the Rear of his Army; he would admit of no Excuse, but fold their Horse-fien, destroyed the Country, and laid Siege to the City. They again sent Embassacks, excusing themselves, shewing they had been sufficiently punished, and praying they might not be forced to desperate courses. Still the Consul persisted he would not hearken to Peace, unless the Arawis, Beis, and Tibbis, who had began those Commotions, entred into the Treaty. Those People were willing to make Peace, provided, it were upon the same Articles they had made with Gracebus. Marcellus, would comply; but they are the sent the sent that the substitute of the sent the sent that the substitute of the sent the sent that the sent that the substitute of the sent that the sent the sent that the sent that the sent that the sent that the Roman Allies withstood it, saying, It was not reasonable those who had done so much harm, should be admitted to the same Articles they had made before the Offence committed. Herefhould be admitted to the same Articles they and made before the Ornec commuted. Hereupon, the Conful being deubtful what courfe to take, agreed both Parties should send Embassach and the same to treat of their Affairs, and the mean while granted a Truce. Fishvius Nobilior being then at Rome, opposed the Embassach of the State and revolted, exaggerating their Perfidiousness, and the harm they had done to the Romans. So they were sent back without concluding any thing, and were again referred to Marcellus for an Answer, which cut off all hopes of any Accommodation.

About the same time, Marcus Atilius in Hispania Ulterior, subdu'd the Lustani, and had many Towns surrendred to him. The following Year Sergius Galba was sent to succeed Atilius, and the Consul L. Licinius Luculius in stead of Marcellus; with him came as Legate, or ins, and the Contul L. Liemus Luculus in read of Marieums, with him came as Legate, or Lieutenant, Pub. Corn. Scipio, called the Leffer, who afterwards, deftroyed Caribage. Before Lucullus's arrival, Marcelus ambitious of the Honour of ending that War, drew his Men out of their Winter-quarters. Nertobiga to provide against this Storm, took 5000 Arevaci within P. Cornel. P. Cornel.
Scipio.
Profeculi: their Winter-quarters. Neriobsiga to provide against this Storm, took $000 Arevaei within Scipio.
Profeculi: the Walls. Numantia made no less preparation, against which, as the head of the War, on of the Marcellau being bent, he march'd and encamp'd within five Miles of it. Nevertheless, at the War with instance of Lintbeus, the Peace was concluded, upon condition the Numantians should formantian. Sake the Beil, the Tribii, and Arevaei. The design of the Consul, was, that those People being the Stormantian of the War with and they were all received into Grace, giving Hostages, and paying 600 Talents, as Strabo tells us. Luculus came into his Province with a desire and resolution of making Spoil; but finding the War of cof Celtiberia was at an end, he marched towards the Carpetani, thence he passed Tagus, and came to the Tdeei, now, part of Old Caffile, where the defigned to Attack the City Caucia, now Coca. To justifie this War, he pretended, it was upon Account of Wrangs done to the Celtiberi by those People; but in truth, it was Avarice that moved him, being a Man of finall Fortune. The Inhabitants of Coca met him in open Field, but were overcome, and finall Fortune. The Inhabitants of Coca met him in open Field, but were overcome, and drove into the Town; hereupon, they furrendred, delivered Holfages, were obliged to furnish a certain number of Horfe, and to pay 100 Talents of Silver. Upon these Conditions they admitted the Garrison that was appointed by the Consul, to enter the City, which was no soner within, but the Signal being given with a Trumpte, all the Inhabitants were put to the Sword, without sparing Sex or Age. An inhumane Barbarity, which mov'd all the Inhabitants were not being single people, no longer relying on the strength of their Walls, or the Roman Fath, the Control by with their Families and Goods into the Woods and Mountains, burning all they could be control the Woods and Mountains, burning all they could be control to the Woods and Mountains, burning all they could be control to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be control to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be control to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains, surring all they could be controlled to the Woods and Mountains and Controlled to the Woods and Mountains are controlled to the Wo to fly with their Families and Goods into the Woods and Mountains, burning air they could brond carry with them. Leavillus, whom Poverty, made Covertous, and Avarice, Cruel, de-cruelty. Fighting of having any fhare in those Treasures, marched to Besiege the City Distretain, which was formerly about the midway betwict/Dalabolia and Aspoza, First he summoned the Town, but they answered, in case they should surrender, he would keep his Word with them, as he had done at Coea. Then he drew out his Army to provoke them to a Battle, which they refused, resolving to make good their Works. Some sew Sallies they made, but nothing of note had done at Coea. Then he drew out his Army to provoke them to a Battle, which they refuted, refolving to make good their Works. Some few Sallies they made, but nothing of note hap ned, only that Seipio overcame a mighty Spaniard that challenged all the Romah, when no other durft encounter him. In the Army there was great fearcity of provisions, so that the Soldiers fed upon boild Wheat and Barly, which, together with the thinness of the Watter, catifed many to fall Sick of the Flux. Yet ftill the hope of taking the Town, made 'em hold out. Having cut Wood, and made Enginess, they calt down a great part of the Wall, and adventuring to give an Alault, in which Seipio first mounted the Breach, and gain'd a Mural Crown; they were repuls'd, and fied in fact Consilion, that many were drown'd in a Lake that was hard by. At Night the Besieg'd repair'd the breach, and the Consili had been forced to raise the Siege, but that hunger oblig'd the Townsinen to Surrender. The conditions were tolerable, that the Besieg'd flould turnish 1000 Coats, a number of Beats for Carriage, and give Hostages. No Money was demanded because they had none, as being a Mountain Péople, that only minded Tillage and Cattle. Hence the Consul manched to Palemia, dred. but could not enter it. Some Authors ia, that from old Cashie he traversed all Andaluxia, as far as Cashie, where was presented to him a monstrous head of a Fish. Sergius Galba, who is awas said, commanded in Hispania Ulterior, was not tille, but opposed the Lustiani, who made Inroads into. Andaluxia, and inserted the Consectates of the Romans. He adventuring to fight the Eneumy when his Men were tird, was put to the Rout; 10st 7000 Men, and was forc'd, with the rest, to fly to Carmena, as Appianus calls it, I rather believe it to be Carmona, then the strongest Town in those parts. Here he Winter'd, using all possible diligence to recruit his Forces, and raise new Supplies. In the Spring, being destrous of Revenge, he broke into Lustania, Plundering, burning, and destroying, all tha People mov'd by their folies, ient Embanators of that, in the Cartes when their Neighbours, in confideration whereof, he would affign them better Lands to inhabit. He appointed them a Galba's connucration whereor, ne would allign them better Lands to inhabit. He appointed them a day to come to him in three Bodies; which they fulpeding no Fallhood or Treachery, readily barbarous obeyed. But the Pretor was 6. fast from keeping his word, that he put them all to the Sworf, Treacher a Cruel Butchery and barbarous deceit. Part of the Booty was given to the Souldiers, the ry-reft the General kept to himfelf; by which means it is believed, he became the richeft Citizen in Rome.

CHAP. II.

Viriatus his Original and attions against the Romans. The Government of several Roman Generals, and among them of Metellus and Pompey, and Death of Viriatus.

THIS cruelty of Galba inftead of Terrifying, to far incented the People against the Romans, that it occasion the War of Virianus, which lasted Fourteen Years, during Original which time the Romans sustained many and very great losses. Viriatus was a Native Lustinia, and Rice. which time the Komans initianid many and very great loiles. Priatus was a Native Lapitania, of mean Parentage, as being in his youth a Shepheard. Leaving that course of Life he fell to Robbing, and having by degrees got together a good number of Men; made excursions into the Neighbouring Country Subject to the Romans, about the mouth of the River Guadiana. Macus Vitellius, succeeded Galba, in his Command the Year of Rome 804. His first care was in time to suppress Viviatus, who leaving Lufitania passed the Streight of Cadiz, and kept himself in the saftnesses of streighted the Mutiniers, that they began understand to Treat of submitting. Fitellius willingly save are to them but Viriatus understanding what was in hand fubmitting. Vitellius willingly gave ear to them, but Viviatus understanding what was in hand, dissipated his Men, and having brought them to his beck, drew out as if he intended to fight. He plac'd his Cavalry in the front, while the Foot stole away thro' the Woods, and then they all made to Tribala, a City where Viriatus hoped to make good his ground, and protract the War. The Romant purfuing, near the City he laid an Ambush, where 4000 protract the War. The Romant purfuing, near the City he laid an Ambush, where 4000 protract the War. The Romant purfuing, near the City he laid an Ambush, where 4000 protract the War. The Romant purfuing, near the City he laid an Ambush, where 4000 protract the War. The Romant purfuing has a common to the Romant of the Tradestant, and Carpetani. As foon as the Romant to the Romant of the Tradestant, and Carpetani. As foon as the Romant to the Romant of the Tradestant, and Carpetani. As foon as the Romant to the Romant of the the Inferiptions of Assonitants, which, he brings to this purpose. Others may judge of the Credit that is due to him; but by some learned Men, he is look d upon, as no better than a meer Inventor of ill contriv'd Fables, and Lyes.

Chap. II.

At Rome in the Year 610. the two Confuls Servilius Sulpicius Galba, and L. Aurelius Cotta, contended for the Government of Spain, the Senate could not agree about it; and Scipio being contended for the Government of Spain, the Senate could not agree about it; and Sospio being ask'd which of them he thought fittest, answer'd, Neiber, for the one has nothing, the other new has enough. Hereby shewing, that neither a poor, nor a covetous Man is fit to Govern. Whereupon the Pretor Popilius was sent. To him, Pliny says, Viriatus delivered the Towns Whereupon the Pretor Popilius was sent. To him, Pliny says, Viriatus delivered the Towns that were in his Possellion; which, if so, is a sign he was much streightned by him. After Popilius, in the Year of 1.1 the Considerable Metallus, sirnam'd, Macedonicus, came to Govern Hispania citerior, in order to quiet the Celiberi, who, at the Instigation of Viriatus, were raising Commotions. There is an Account of one Quintius, who prosecuted the War against Viriatus

Friatus, but whether as Pretor, or by Commission from the Conful, does not appear. Cer-Viriatus's sain it is, that this Quintius, at the foot of Mount Venus, near Ebora, in Portugal, gave Viris further atus a great Overthrow; but he gathering his Forces, returned upon him with fuch Vigour, Adion. and a great Overtriow; out the gathering in the control upon this water and the victors having received much damage, tho it was the middle of Autumn, were glad despect to retire to Cordova, as if it had been Winter, where they Fortified themselves, without ta- and is a king any care of the Spaniards their Confederates, or the other Romans, who were in weak Gar-gain rifons, and left exposed to eminent Danger. Metellus subdu'd the Celtiberi. Pliny says he worsted overcame the Arevaci; nevertheless, he was continued in his Command the Year 612. and by him. overcame the Arevaei; neverthelefs, he was continued in his Command the Year 612, and you have Conful Q. Fabius Servisius, was fent againft Viriatus with 18000 Foot, and 1500 Horfe. findellus Besides those Forces Micros Allens and 1500 Horfe to Besides those Forces Micros Allens and 1500 Horfe to the Celinical Pricks. Notwithstanding all this mighty Army joyd to what was before under the Ro. bert. Aman Pay, Viriatus who lay hid in the Mountains of Andalucia, with frequent Excursions of Parameters of Parameters, with frequent Excursions of Parameters of Parameters and their Camp to Utica, Servillus Control Parameters of Parameters of Parameters and Parameters of Para great Dámage, and obtain'd many Advantages, till the Romans remov'd their Camp to Usica, formerly a City of Andaluzia. Then Viriatus for want of Provisions, retir'd with his Army formerly a City of Andaluzia. The Conful being rid of that danger, marched to the Consei, where he overcame two Captains of Robbers, call'd Curio, and Anuloyus', and carried fome Townshy force that were held for Viriatus, with strong Carrifons. A great Booty was taken, and a multitude of Prisioners, 500 whereof, that were found most Guilty, he put to Death, 1000 more were fold as Slaves. Metellus at the same time gain'd much Honour by entirely reducing the Celiberi, and taking the famous Cities Controlia, Versoring, and Centobriga. Then hearing that the Consul Quintus Pompeius was appointed to succeed him, he was so offended at it, that to weaken his Forces, he dismilled the Soldiers, neglected the Magazines, and starty of the Elephants; for which reason, the Triumph he had otherwise well defery'd, was refuse'd him at Rome. Q. Fompeius came to Spain in the Year of 2. Servilianus was continued by order of the Senate, in his Command, where he received into favour Canoba, a Captain of Pompein at Rome. Q. Fompeius came to Spain in the Year of 2. Servilianus was continued by order of the Senate, in his Command, where he received into favour Canoba, a Captain of Pompein and the service of the Senate, in his Siege, and fly away; whereupon many neighbouring Towns submitted themselves to make the Methads of all Canoba's Men, and 500 other Prisoners, because they had deferted from his Camp. This Action in stead of terrifying the Natives, put them upon desperate Counsels. The Romans laid Siege to the City Erisoner, Viriatus without being discovered, got in by Night, and the next Morning made such a survival was called a Friend of the People of Rome, and all that his Men had plunder'd, was allowed them. A great shame and dishonour to the Majesty of the Romans Empire.

Quintus Pompeius held the Government of Hispania sizerior two Years; but because formerly a City of Andaluzia. Then Viviatus for want of Provisions, retir'd with his Army the Conful doing any Action of note. On the contrary, Servilius, who by order of the Senate had vacated the Peace he made before, near the City Arfa put Viriatus to the rout, and pursu'd him Servilius to the rout, and pursu'd him breaksthe into Carpetania, where, by a Stratagem, he got away. He drew out his Men, as if intend-Peace, ing to give Battle, placing his Horse in the Front, and whilst the Romans were forming their and routs Body, caused his Foot to llip away thro'the Woods that were near; that done, the Horse Vinious-with the same swiftness, got off. The Conful despairing of taking 16 subtle an Enemy, marched to the Vectores in Esprendaura, and thence without stopping, into Galicia, where all was in Disorder, and full of Murders and Robberies. Vividus tired with 10 lasting a War, and fearing his Men should make their Peace with the price of his Head, fent three Embassadors fearing his Men inouin make their reace white the pince of his read, the clinic Educations of the Conful. The means he choice to fecure himfelf, provid his ruin; for Servolius corrupted the Emballadors, who, at their return, murderd Viriatus as he lay fleeping.

His Funeral was honour'd with the Tears of his Soldlers, afterwards with Sports, and the Death of De Sacrifice of much Cattle. The Murderers petitioning the Senage at Rome for a Reward their Service, received answer. That the Senate and People of Rome, did not approve of Soldiers killing their General. To Prissus, increded in the Command, one Tantalus; but he not being of equal Authority, Valour, and Conduct, soon submitted himself to the Consul, and was received to Command, one Tantalus; and was receiv'd to Grace. These, and the other Lustani were disarm'd, and Lands allotted them, to the end, that being employ'd in Tilling, and the care of their Cattle, they might, be more inclinable to live in fubjection, and want the Power of Revolting.

Chap. III.

GHAP. III.

The second War betwint Rome, and Numantia. The Conful Mancinus, concludes a dishonourable Peace with that People, and is therefore deliver'd up to them. Sci-pio Africanus sent against them. The City destroy'd:

The History of SPAIN.

The very Year that Viriatus was, murder'd by his own Men, which was of Rome 614. the Virianus again Revolted. The occasion of it was thus, Metellus having subdu'd the Celiberi, there remaind only the Numanisans, and Termessian, who by former Treaties were declar'd Friends, and Allies of the People of Rome, and consequently, prefery'd their Liberty declar'd Friends, and Allies of the People of Rome, and consequently, prefery'd their Liberty declar'd Friends, and Allies of the People of Rome, and consequently, prefery d their Liberty Chappel, call'd of our Lady of Tiermes. Pompey intending to tring them under Subjection, took for a Pretence to fall out with them, that they had received into their City the Segedam, who had selded with Viriatus. Should is replaced to be among withe Reliand at this December 1. Chappel, call'd of our Lady of Tiermess. Pompey Intending to bring them under Subjection, took for a Pretence to fall out, with them, that they had receiv'd into their City the Segadani, took for a Pretence to fall out, with them, that they had receiv'd into their City the Segadani, who had fided with Viritats. Segada, is reckoned to be among sight Belis, and at this Day who had fided with Viritats. Segadani, and Ofma, believ'd to be the Remnant, of that City. This there is a Town betwixt Soria, and Ofma, believ'd to be the Remnant, of that City. This Crime was not great, yet the Numanians fent Embaliadors to exceed it, which, Pompey turned back with diffuse. Still the Numanians fent others, renouncing their Friendfhip with the Segadani, and defiring to renew the Peace, and Alliance they had made with Gracobin. Pompey reply'd, it was in vain to Treat of Peace, unlefs they laid down their Arms. All Pompey reply'd, it was in vain to Treat of Peace, unlefs they laid down their Arms. All hopes of an Accommodation being thus out off, the Numanians provided for War, and to this effect, raifed, 8000 Foot, and 2000 Horfe, a finall number, but of great Courage and this effect, raifed, 8000 Foot, and 2000 Horfe, a finall number, but of great Courage and this effect, paided, 8000 Foot, and 2000 Horfe. The Pompey was not idle, but incamp'd near Numania with 30000 Foot, and 2000 Horfe. The Numanians kept them in continual alarm, yet fo, that they always avoided coming to a Battle, which Pompey perceiving. Sale down before Termasicia, whence he was allo forced to retire in great diforder, by a Sally the Befieged made. Next day they came to a Battle, the event whereof, was dubious, but that Pompey marched away to the City Mania, which was delivered to him, tho' there was a Numanian Garrifon in it. There is at prefent in that Neighbourhood, a Town call'd Mallen, perhaps the Remains of that City. Then he returned upon Termancia, and took it. Now, only Numania remain'd; before Pompey mov'd toed upon Termancia, and took it. Now, his Men within their Works, during the hardeit Season of the Year, which caused many to die of Sickness, besides what were cut off by the Besigg d. Hereupon, the the Winter was far spent, Pompey was fored to raize the Siege, and disperse his Army among the Neighbouring Towns. In the Year of 15, the Consult M. Popilius Lenus was appointed to succeed Pompey. But he either for being blamed at Rome, or that his Successor might not reap the benefit of his Labours, in the beginning of Summer, concluded a Peace with the Numanians. This first being dishonourable to the Romani, was managed in private, and Pompey to avoid Signing of it, seigned himself Sick. Popilius as soon as he came, begando examine that Affair, Pompey deny'd he had consented to it, the Numanians call'd the Principal Romans in the Army to witness in their behalf. At last, the Business was referred to the Roman Senate, where Passion being more prevalent than Justice, it was decreed, the War against Numania should be continued.

Pointer fraudu-

mould be continued.

Whilst these things were debated in Rome, Popilius made Way upon the Lusoner, a People Whilst these things were debated in Rome, Popilius made Way upon the Lusoner, a People of the Rome of to. the time of his Composition and having been prolong of the was overthrown by the Numanians. In Hispania alterior, the Government whereof fell to the Consul Decisia Bristis. Viriatures old Soldiers, who had desired by the Numanian. In the Consult what Valentia this was, some say, the was Valentia de Misson, and some will have it to be the great resulting.

617. Mancinus finceeds

Lands allign'd them, built the City Valencia. It is doubtful what Valentia city was, in was Yalencia de Alcanigra, others, Valencia de Miño, and fonie, will have it to be the great Valencia by but that cannot be, because it is in another Province. To return to what is more material, the Year, following, which was of Rome 617. Britiss was continu'd in his Command, and the Conful. C. Hofitiss Mancinus fucceded Popilius. No fooner did he take upon him the Command, but he fate down before Numantia, where, after receiving several Overhim the Command, but he fate down before Numanita, where, after receiving feveral Overthrows, hearing that the Naeci, and Cantabri, were marching to relieve that place; he was fo terriffed, that he, iftole away by Night, to that part of the Country which was not in Arms. His departure was not known at Numanita till two days after, the Townthen being taken up in Sports and Pafftines, without any regard, or care of the War, It was discovered by two young Men, who being at variance about marrying a Maid, agreed, that he, who first brought the Hand of a Roman, should carry her. They going out upon this design, and finding the Roman Camp abandond, returnd with the News. Hereupon, the Numanitans following the Tract, overtook the Romans beforethey were well Fortified, and hem'd in those, who who before Befieg'd them. The Conful despairing of his safety, set on soo and conclud. Mantims ed a Treaty with the Numantians; by which, they were restored to their theory, and Still, concludes Friends, and Confederates of the People of Rome. And this Peace he obtained by the means nourthless Friends, and Confederates of the Feople of Aome. And this takes to Montace by the means nourable of Tib. Oraccour, who was belowd in Spain, for the fake of his Father Semponius. As foon Peace as this fhameful Peace was known at Rome, Manninus was fummoned to answer for himself; with Numarian the Conful Amilius Lepidus was fent in his place, to revenge that different. The Numarian mania, siams sent their Embassadors with the Articles to the Senate, that in case they did not Ratific them, the Army might be deliver'd into their Hands, fince they escaped under colour of Peace. them, the Army might be delivered into their Hands, inner they eleaped under colour of Peace.
The Senate refolving not to stand by fo dishnourable a Peace, decreed, that Mansimus, who was the Author of it, should be delivered up to the Numanians. Gracchus, tho' concerned in the Treaty, escaped unpunished, because, what he did, was by command; but the Commonatty faid, it was by the Interest of Scipio, who had married his Sifter Cornelia.

Marcus Lepidus without staying to hear what the Senate would decree, fell upon the Vacci, Marcus Leptaus without traying to hear what the Senate would decree, fell upon the Paces, which is a part of Old Capite, upon pretence, that they had been affilting to the Numantians.

After plundering and burning all that plentiful Country, he attempted to polities himself of the City Placencia, notwithstanding, he had received Orders from Rome to commence no new War with the Spaniards. Lepidus having been worsted by those of Placencia, and wanting M. Lepidus Provisions, marched away illently by Night, which those People perceiving, they purfied, Consoli is and cut off no lefs than 6000 of the Romans. This was so highly resented at Rome, that Lerouted, the Consolidation of the Romans. pidus was fummoned to appear, and aniwer for himself, as a private Man, and Condemned with the of Male-administration. These Losses were in some measure, made easie, by the Success in 6000 Retention, and Condemned of Bratus, who quieted the Commotions in must. Lustrania, and Galicia, and subdud the Labricani. He ordered them to deliver up all Fugi. tives, and theinfelves to appear before him without their Arms; which, when they performed, he drew his Army about them, and reproved them to feverely, they thought they fhould all have been put to the Sword; but he only impofed a fine, and took away their Arms. For this reason, British had the Sirname of Gallatine given him. The following Year, which was of Rome 618. Brutus was continu'd in his Command, and the new Conful P. Fuwhich was or know 618. Status was consider in its command, and the new counting to P. Faring Philo, had the Government of Highania Citerior, and charge of delivering up Mancinus of P. Faring the Numanitians, alligned him. 2. Metellus, and 2. Pompeius, the most powerful Citizens of Philothe Rome, opposed Furius's going, as to a War where great Honour and Riches were to be purgently the purpose of the with a wonderful Resolution using his Authority, as Consul, commanded Highenia Highenia them both to go along with him, as his Legates, or Licutenants. Being encamp'd before Cherior. Numantia, he caufed Mancinus, naked, and his Hands bound behind him, (according to the Mancinus Chemon Cuftom of delivering up their Generals) to be left early in the Morning at the Gate of Numantia. But he having flood there all the day, for faken by the Roman, and not remainlant. of Nimantia. But he having 1000 there are the day, 1071aKen by the Komans, and not remantians, garded by the Enemy, was again at night received into the Camp. We have no account of 619.
any thing elfe done by Furius in Spain. The following Year, which was 619. Brutus was Fife for again continued in his Command, and Q. Calpurnius Fife fucceeding Furius, as Conful, fought creds Furius, the Namantians, fuftaind a great lofs, and was in imminent danger of having all his worked.

Army cut off.

The Senate, and People of Rome being extreamly perplexed at this misfortune, choic P. Scipio of Scipio Africanus to command in that part of Spain; and it is believed, ftill continued Brutus ricanus in the other Province. 4000 Youths of the Roman Ngbility, and others, that had been fent fent a by feveral Princes to be brought up in Rome, follows Scipio, and all the reft had done the gainting fame, but that the Senate forbid them. The Army in Spain was quite debauch'd for want of manita. Discipline. To remedy this Evil, Scipio left Marcus Buteo, his Legate, in Haly, to follow with the Recruits, and he himself with all possible speed palled over into Spain, where, with much Care and Industry, he soon Reform'd the Army. First, he turned out of the Camp 2000 Strumpets, then a great number of Sutlers, and others, that only served to make the Soldiers lewd and vicious. Besides, he caused every Soldier to carry upon his Back 30 days Provision of Corn, and 7 Stakes to drive into the Ground for making their Trenches, and often removed his Camp, fill Fortisying every where, that the Soldiers might be inured to Laten removed his Camp, fill Fortifying every where, that the Soldiers might be inured to Labour. The Generals good example was of more force than any thing elfe; for Scipio was the first at the Work, and the last that went from it. Having spent a good part of the Year in this manner, Summer being come, Scipio advanced towards Nummania. He thought not sit at first to hazard a Battle, because his Soldiers were not yet fully returned to their former at first to hazard a Battle, became his Soldier's were not, etc. thus, returned to their former Courage; 6 he range'd about, plundering and destroying all the Country. Thence he mov'd to the Pacei, defigning to revenge the affront the Conful Lepidus received from the Palentini, Here Scipio had like to have been drawn to a Battle, thro' the rathness of Raitlins Rufus, who advancing too far to repress the infolence of the Palentini, that kept them in continual alarm, was just falling into an Ambush, had not Scipio understanding the danger, commanded the whole Army to make up to him, and the Horse to furround the place of the Ambustade, and skirmish with them, whilst the others drew off. In this march, Scipio saw the City Caucia destroyed by the Treachery of Luculius, and being moved to compassion, made Procla-mation, that all such as would Rebuild, and Inhabit it, should be free from all manner of This is as much as was done that Summer. About the beginning of Winter the Roman Army encamped near Numantia, and continued all that Season, plundering and de-ftroying the Country round about. Near to the Camp was a Village, for the most part encompalled with a Morais, not far from which, certain high Clifts lifted themselves up, very opportunely for to lay an Ambuth. There a great number of Numantians lying in wait, had opportunely for to lay an Ambush. There a great number of Numantians lying in wait, had certainly cut off a Party of the Romans that were pillaging, but that Scipio perceiving the danger, gave the Signal for them to repair to their Colours. At the same time, he sent 1000 Horse to rescue them, whilst he followed with the gross of the Army. Whill the Numantians had to do with an equal number, they maintained their Ground, and pressed their Enemy, but when they saw the Standards of the Legions advance, they betook themselves to Hight, to the great joy of the Romans, who a long time had not seen their backs before. Juguriba, the Grandson of Massinisa, was now sent by his Uncle Micipla, to serve under Scipio, with the Deschapets and 2004 Body of Horse and Feor.

Book III

The History of SPAIN.

Jo Elephants, and a good Body of Horse, and Foot.

The following Year, which was of Rome 621. Scipio was continued in his Command, which Deftruition of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson of Numantia. He as soon as the Winter was over, having by often Skirson o 10 Elephants, and a good Body of Horse, and Foot. veral bodies, and to as to the number of his men, tome white he had occoo, others, only 40000. The Numantians proud with their former Victories, the they exceeded not 8000, drew out, and offered Battle, refolving rather to die, than endure the mileries of a tedious Seige. On the other fide, Scipio was positive to avoid fighting, and therefore designed to cast up a Trench round the City, to curb the boldness of the Besieged. He ordered the Cities that were in Amity with the Romans, to fend Supplies of Men, Ammunition and Provities that were in Amity with the Romans, to lend Supplies of Men, Ammunition and Provifion. A Trench was cast up about the City, with Towers, Parapets, and Loopholes; it was ten Foot high, and five Foot in thickness. No access was left to the City, but by the River Duero, and there were Roman Guards upon both the Banks; yet the Besseged could send out, by the means of their Divers, and brought some Provisions in light Boats, whose swittness lectured them from harm. But even this finall Comfort was not lafting, for the Romans raifed two Castles, one of each side the River, and saltned Beams across, in the nature of a Chain, with large Hooks fixed to them, so that nothing could pass. The Numanians were nothing discussed at this but often stacked the Roman Contained and the country of the stacked the Roman Contained and the country of the stacked the Roman Contained and the country of the stacked the Roman Contained as the country of the stacked th nothing difinayed at this, but often attacked the Roman Outguards; yet were fill Repulied nothers coming to their relief, tho few were killed, the Roman faring them; that their Provisions might be the sooner consumed, and they thereby necessitated to Surrender. Being in Provisions might be the iooner contumed, and they thereby necessitated to surrender. Being in this Condition, one Retogense Caravinus with four others, broke thro' where the Roman Works were weakest, and made their way to the Arevati. There having convened the principal Men, they used all their Rhetorick to perswade them to take up Arms, and relieve Numania. All their endeavours proved successes, and it is not known what became afterwards of this Researce and his Endows Cartinis is that the Books of Turio Toronto an afterwards mania. All their endeavours proved fucceislefs, and it is not known what became afterwards of this Retogenes and his Fellows. Certain it is, that the People of Lucia, a Town a League diltant from Numania, attempted to relieve the Belieged, but were Repulled by Scipio, who caufed the Right Hands of 400 of them to be cut off, which terrified all others from being contented in the like rafh Enterprize. Thus the Numanians having loft all hopes of Relief, and being reduced to great Extemities by Famine, fent Emballadors to Scipio to make their Submillion, and fue for Peace. His answer was, That they must expect no Conditions, but Surrender upon Discretion. The Numanians having received this Answer, in a rage slew the render upon Discretion. The Numanians having received this Answer, in a rage slew the Emballadors, and making themselves drunk with a Liquor made of Corn, called Ceila, falli'd out, and affaulted the Roman Works, where they killed many, till fresh Supplies coming in, and their Drunkenness wearing off, they were droveback into the Town. After this, they are said to have fed some time upon the Bodies of their own Dead, and then again made an attempt to break thro' the Romans, and get away. Nothing succeeding according to their attempt to break thro' the Romans, and get away. Nothing facceding according to their attempt to break thro' the Romans, and get away. Nothing facceding according to their defire, mad with Rage and Defpair, they flew their Wives and Children, fet fire to all their Goods, and Houfes, and then caft themselves into the Flames. Thus was Numantia destroyed a Year and a quarter after the coming of Sciplo into Spain. Such Buildings as escaped the Fire, Sciplo caused to be cast down; the Lands he divided among the neighbouring People; Triumphs and having fettled all things according to his mind, returned to Rome, where he Triumphed over Namentians is higher than the state of the s tained the Name of Gallaicus.

Peace in

CHAP. IV.

Other Occurrences in Spain after the War of Numantia. The beginning of the War of Sertorius. His Actions, Defeat, and Death.

THE War of Numantia thus happily concluded, there enfued a lafting Peace, and Tranquility in Spain. For some time after, it was Governed by ten Legates; every one of which, had his particular Province. The Mallorquins were become Pirates, and committed Rapine all along the neighbouring Coafts. The Conful Q. Cecilius Metellus, fubdued them in the Year 631. And thereby, gained the Sirname of Balearicus. Caius Marius, who at the fame time governed Hispania Ulterior, mended and cleared the Roads, then much inselted by Robbers. He also put the Laws in Execution, and supported the Authority of the Judges. Twelve Years after, that Province revolting, Calpurnius 11/16 fifth, and then Sulpicing Galba appealed those Commotions. Much Coin is often found in Spain with the Name of 11/16 frampt upon it. Peace being restored by the Conduct of Piso, and Galba, the Government was again The Cincommitted to ten Legats, at the time that the Cimbri, a Northern People, like an impetuous brienter Torrent, having spread themselves thro' many Provinces of the Roman Empire, passed over Spain. anto Spain. Here by the Valour of the Romans, and Natives, they were obliged to turn back again into France, and Italy, in the Year 645. This fame Year, Q. Servilius Cepio, gave the Luftania great Overthrow; in what quality he commanded, does not appear; but certain it is, that three Years after, the same Cepio being Conful, the Luftania were revenged of the Romans, giving them a greater Defeat than that they had received. Two Years after this, being 650. after the Building of Rome, the Cimbri, mixed with the Germans, broke into Spain a fecond time, and were again Repulfed by the Celtiberi, and drove back into France, Lucius They re-Span a recond tine and were again reputed by the combain and tive data the Year 655. No ten with fooner was that Province appeared, but the following Year another War broke out among the the Gericht, the Conful Titus Didish was fent to command there. The Armies met, and came are again Celtiberi, the Conful Titus Didish was fent to command there. to a Battle, which lafted the whole Day, till Night parted them, without deciding the republic, cefs, the lofs being equal on both fides. The Conful made use of Policy, and cansed all his 65-cown Pead to be taken up, and buryed by Night. Next Day the Spaniards imagining all the Adrawn lofs had fallen on their fide, despairing of Success, submitted themselves upon such Conful Battle. ons as the Romans would impose. In that War 20000 of the Arevaci are said to have been fain; a great number, if Authors militake not. Because the Termelini often revolted, confiding in the Arength of their City, it was ordered to be deftroyed, and laid level with the Ground, and the Inhabitants to come down into the Plain, and live in Villages, without prefuming to Fortifie them. An entire Company of Robbers submitted themselves, and upon Abarbapromise of Pardon, delivered themes the superior the Consul, with their Wives, Children and rous Action Goods, all whom, nevertheless, he put to the Sword. A base Action, yet it seems not much addiapproved of at Rome, since for his other Actions they allowed Didius to Triumph. Quinstasphoved of at come, mise of his other tectors they always and a finding the Romans that were in Garrifon at Castulon, from being all murdered, as was agreed betwirt those Citizens, and the Geriseni, supposed to be the People of Jaen. Sertorius hearing the uproar, for they had began to put their Delign in execution, ran out, and gathering sich as had escaped the slaughter, fell upon the Townsinen, and revenged the Death of those that had been slain. Thence he marched to the Gerisen, who being deceived, by the Cloaths of the People of Castulon, which he had caused his Soldiers to put on, received him with joy, a great number of them were killed, the rest fold as Slaves. All these things happened in Hispania Citerior, during the five Years Government of Didius. For in the Year 67, the Consul Publius Licinius Crassus came into Hispania Ulterior, and in the fixth Year of his command ob-Triumph at Rome, for the Actions he had performed there. It is thought, there he gathered those Riches which made his Son Marcus Crassus the richest Citizen in Rome. During the time that Crassus was in Spain, Edwins Elaccus by his good conduct, quieted some first that happened among the Cethiers, in the Year 660. At which time, Italy was all'in a flame with the Civil Wars kindled by Marius and Cima, against Sylla, and many of the Nobility was to Company to Company the Company to Company the Company to fied into Spain, where he had many Friends, on account of Favours they had received from his Father; but most Towns being of Marius's Faction, he durst not appear in publick, and therefore hid himself in a Cave, which was in the Land of one "bibus Reicus," an intimate Friend of his. Who being informed of his coming, lest his going to fee him might cause fome suspicion, ordered a Slave every day to leave such Provision as he would give him, up-

From those Civil Wars at Rome, sprang another in Spain, which; tho' at first it appear'd inconsiderable, yet for the space of nine Years it withstood, and often foiled the Roman Power; but at lastended to their fatisfaction. Quintus Sertorius was the Man that managed it, sertorius he was by Birth an Italian, of mean Parentage, at Narsium, a Town near Rome. His Valour Actions was great, as has before been hinted. In the Civil Wars of Italy, he sided with Marius, lost an Eye, and was by Sylla Proscribed, which is the same as Outlawed. To save his Life, and believing, that in this confusion, every one would keep whatever he could posses himself of, he being well beloved, both by the Soldiers, and Natives, fled into Spain, refolving to make good his Party thete. To this intent he fecured the Ports, and left one Sainano with a inflicient Force to guard the Paffes of the Pyrenean Mountains, whill he himself went farther; on a certain Rock, threatning him with Death, if he durst go to see who it was for, or disclose the secret. In this manner Crassis lived for some time, till the News was brought, that Marius and Cinna, were overthrown by Sylla. Then coming out of the Cave, by fair means, he drew to his Party, many Cities of Spain, and among them, Malaga, which, nevertheles, was plundered by the Soldiers, againft his will, as he pretended, but perhaps, he only conterfeited, and had permitted it to gain the good Will of the Army. The Cave where Craften and the Cave where Craften are the Cave where Cave wh fus lay hid, is shown to this day, betwixt Ronda, and Gibraltar, near a Town, called Ximena, in which, 'tis faid, are all the marks that Plutarch gives of it.

Book III.

42

into the Country, raifed Men, and gathered store of Arms, and Provisions. All his Deinto the Country, raised ruen, and gathered note of Arms, and revolutions. All his Defigus were nipt by Caius Annius, who routed the Guards upon the Pyrenaus, and flew Salinator, by means of one Calpurnius Lanarius, his intimate Friend, that bafely murdered him. Sertor, by means of one Calpurnius Lanarius, his intimate Friend, that bafely murdered him. Sertor, by means of one Calpurnius Lanarius, his intimate Friend, that bafely murdered him. tor, by means of one Calpurnius Lanarius, his intimate Friend, that baiely murdered him. Sertirius was so dismayed at this Misfortune, that he sed from Caribagena into Africk, where Fortune being no kinder to him than before, he suffered much, yet passed over, and possessed fortune being no kinder to him than before, he suffered much, yet passed over, and possessed himself of the standard standard season was called upon by the Lustrais, who being desirous of recovermies to the Canary slandard, was called upon by the Lustrais, who being desirous of recovering their lost Liberty, thought this a sit Opportunity. Servirus readily embraced their offers, and as he was a Man no less versed in the Arts of Peace than War, by his affability and coursesses of the standard heir Affabilities. For the greater show of Maiesty. he erected a Senate of and as ne was a main no less verted in the distance of the greater flow of Majelly, he erected a Senate of Spaniards like that of Rome, with all the Honours and Dignities belonging to it. He Honour-ed all Men, but more especially the Romani, as his Country-men, and those he could best coned all Men, but more especially the Komans, as his Country-men, and those he could belt confide in. The fame hereof being fpread abroad, he not only became Sovereign of Hispania Ulterior, but gained the Love of the Citerior; all the Spaniards being perfusaded by his means, To fettle this affection the more, he caused Masters of the Roman Yoke. To fettle this affection the more, he caused Masters of the Country Ulterior, but gained the Love of the Citerior; all the Spanaras being persuaded by his means, they might cast off the Roman Yoke. To settle this affection the more, he caused Masters of Hesounds all Arts and Sciences to come from Italy, and Founded an University at Osca, persuading the all Arts and Sciences to come from Italy, and Founded an University at Osca, persuading the invasion of the Men to send their Children thither to Study, upon pretence of Improving them; but singularly the send of the Men to send their Children thither to Study, upon pretence of Improving them; but further to Study, upon pretence of Improving them; but further to Study, upon pretence of Improving them; but further to Study, upon pretence of Improving them; but further to Study, upon pretence of Improving them; but further to Study, upon pretence of Improving them; but further to Study, upon pretence of Improving them; but forest to keep the Men to Study, and the pretence of Religion, segment that said one abroad, and received Directions from Heaven tives were persuaded he knew all that was one abroad, and received Directions from Heaven tives were persuaded he have a still the sent of the Efficies of Sertorius on how to Act. There are Pieces of Coin to be seen in Spain, with the Efficies of Sertorius on how to Act. There are Pieces of Coin to be seen in Spain, with the Efficies of Sertorius of how to Act. There are Pieces of Coin to be seen in Spain, with the Efficies of Sertorius of how to Act. There are Pieces of Coin to be seen in Spain, with the Efficies of Osca, and Protomy, that the was Huglea in Aragon; but I rather think it was the University; is uncertain, some think it was Huglea in Aragon; but I rather think it was the University; is uncertain, some think it was Huglea in Aragon; but I rather think it was the University; is uncertain, some think it was Huglea in Aragon; but I rather think it was the University; is uncertain, some think it was Huglea in Aragon; but I rather think it was the University is uncertain, serto

Mitheida.

he Defeated the Conful Didius, and flew 2000 of his Men. These Successes gained him much Credit among his own people, and struck a Terror into his saemies.

This moved Systa, in the Year 674- and his second Consussing Dominius Toranius, who, at the solution of the Systa into Systa, and foot of the Pyreutain Mountains, was stain by Hirstseyss, one fent by very entrance into Systa, and foot of the Pyreutain Mountains, was stain by Hirstseyss, one fent by Systa into Systa. Windows and the Army defeated, which missfortume moved manisus the Systa. Hirstseys Proconsus of Sertorius's Commanders, and his Army defeated, which missfortume moved that the faved his Life, being overthrown, and forced to sty with present than the other, only that he save Commander. Metallus with his Army peirced thro' the fourtry as far as Andalusia, where he was often worsted by Sertorius, and obliged to Fortse rist, twice Country as far as Andalusia, where he was often worsted by Sertorius, and obliged to Fortse himself sit the strong Towns, trusting rather to their Walls, than his own strength, yet he adventured to sit down before the City Lacobriga, now Lagos, near Cape St. Vincine, the he adventured to sit down before the City Lacobriga, now Lagos, near Cape St. Vincine, the which was the only thing they wanted, their Conduits being cut off, and a Well they had, not which was the only thing they wanted, their Conduits being cut off, and a understanding being enough to supply all. The Romans having but five Days Provision, and understanding which was the only thing they wanted, their Conduits being our on, and a well they had, not being enough to supply all. The Romans having but five Days Provision, and understanding this Relief was put in, were constrained to raise the Siege. As they drew off, Sertorius kept close in their Rear, cutting off many; for now the Spanish Soldiers were not inferior to the Romans for Discipline, but obeyed Command, and Fought in good Order; besides that, they had aim. Thus the fame they had aim. Thus the fame of Sertorius was not only firead throughout Spain, but reached into Afia, whence Miteridates, then in War the second time with Rome, sent Embassadors to him, offering Supplies of Motes fends then in even the second time with nome, tent embanators on him, chering suppress of redemballa-ney, and a Fleet, intending by that means to divide the Forces of the Romans, For the greater Granduer, Sertorius received the Embassadors in the Senate, and agreed to all they had to propose, granting that they should carry along with them, Marcus Marius, with a number of Soldiers to introduce the Roman Discipline among that King's Forces, But Serionumber of Soldiers to introduce the koming Distribute among that King's roles, but bestering was now fireightned by the coming of Lucius Lelius out of France; who joyning with Mestelliu, so encreased his Forces, that Sertorius durft not give them Battle, which before, she endeavoured, yet made frequent Excursions, and kept them in continual alarm. In this manendeavoured, yet made frequent excurnons, and kept them in continual alarm. In this many properties ner, he kept himself for two Years, till Pompey the Great, at the request of Metellus, was freat as his Colleague, to command with equal Power. For his Questor, or Pay-Master came ones in L. Cassina Longinus, of whom, more will be fail thereafter. Pompey made halte to joyn Metellus, resolving not to fight the Enemy till all the Forces were come together. Sertorius at tellus, resolving his house with the came and the Enemy. this time, lay before the City Laurona, with his own, and the Forces M. Perpenna brought this time, lay before the City Laurona, with his own, and the Forces M. Perpenna brought him out of Sardinia after the Death of the Conful Amilius Lepidus, who having revolted from the Senate, and being therefore driven out of Italy, had posselled himself of that Island; where he died of Sickneis, and therefore, those who had followed him, passed over into Spain. Perpenna thought to have Lorded it himself over that Province, but either because his Soldiers mutinied, or that he considered better of it, he joyned Sertorius. As soon as Pompey and Metellus had joyned their Forces, they marched towards the Enemy, to raise the Siege of Laurona, supposed by some to be the City Livia in the Kingdom of Valencia, sour Leagues from the City of that Name, near the River Xucar. Their Delign was disappointed, for 10000 Romans, who advanced to guard the Foragers, falling into an Ambuín, were all for 10000 Komain, who advanced to guard the Foragers, saming into an amount and cut off, and with them, Decius Leius, Pompey's Legate, or Lieutenant. Thus the Befleged having loft all hopes of Relief, were forced to furrender, upon Condition their Lives should be spared, and they might carry away their Goods. This being performed, the City was fired, rather in feorn to the Roman Generals, who looked on, than thro malice. Or four says, the control of the Roman Condition was called the property of the says. Pompey was gone before Laurona was taken; that the Townsmen were either put to the Sword, or fold as Slaves, and the Town plundered. Moreover, it is faid, the Roman Army con-Swoid for a social factor of the state of th the Pyrenean Mountains; Sertorius returned to Lusitania, where his greatest strength lay. As soon as the Season would allow it, in the Year 677, both Armies took the hield. The formans divided their Forces, Pompey took the City Segada by fform; Metellus fought with hilkeacood Hirtulepus, Sertorius's General, killed 20000 of his Men, and he himself escaped by flight, of Sentorial Company of the City Segada by flight, of Sentorial City Segada by Metellus was so proud of this Success, that he wore Embroidery at Feasts, and at his en- u's Mentry into any City suffered Incense to be offered to him as a God. Some imagine, that one of the two Bulls at Guisando, that are cut in Stone, was fet up in memory of this Victory, because it has this Inscription in Latin. To Q. Metellus Conqueror, twice Consul. Pompey, after taking Segeda, adventured to give the Enemy Battle, which was very bloody, and he had certainly been lost, but that Metellus, who was near at hand came in, and rescued him; so the Armies parted with equal loss on both sides, and no visible advantage, as to point of

Doe, which, he feared was taken by the Enemy, and he looked upon as an ill Omen; but last Exthe on a fudden again appearing, he refumed his ufual Mirth, and applyed himself to the care ploits, and of the War. Another Battle was fought about the fame place, near the River Turia, which runs thro' the Country of Valencia, and is now called Guadalaviar. Both Parties fought with great Refolution, but Pompey got the day, and Servinius's Army was entirely Defeated. Hirtuleyus, and his Brother, as alio Caius Herenius, were killed. In the leat of this Fight, one of Pompey's Men flew his own Brother, that ferved on the other fide, which, when he found, as he was about firtipping of him, it to fenfully touched him, that after fleding many Tears, and he was about stripping of him, it to tentiby touched nim, that after incoing many 1 cars, and laying the dead Body on the Funeral Pile, he fell upon his own Sword. Sertonius was at Calaborra, gathering new Forces, which, when Pompey understood, he marched to Besiges him in that place; but he broke thro, and scaped, tho with the loss of 3000 Men; and having got together a mighty Army, offered his Enemy Battle, which he avoided, and marched nto Winter Quarters. Metellus beyond the Pyreneaus, and Pompey in Old Cashie. Sertonius was naturally of a sweet Temper, had not Jealouses altered his good Inclinations, and prevailed with him to flight the Romans, who were disobliged, for that he committed the Guard of his Person to the Celtiberi. Besides, he became Cruel, and killed several of his Friends, and some of those Youths he had sent to Osca to Study, the rest he fold as Slaves; and thus he alienated the Affections of the Natives, which, were his only support. Metellus in the Spring took in feveral Towns. On the contrary, Pompey was forced by Sertonis to raife the Siege he had laid to Valencia; but having increased his Forces, constrained the Enemy to re-

Stege in that had to P memory in the naving interactions rocked, countralined the enemy to retire, and purfued him as far as Cape St. Martin, near Denia, formerly, called Prom. Hemera-feopeum, where there happen'd a Skirmish betwist them, and nothing else considerable, both Parties being unwilling to come to a Battle, by reason of the smallness of their Forces. In Spanish Antiquary, belides whom, no Author of Credit mentions any such thing, nor is any such Inscription to be heard of, tho' it was inserted in my Latin History, upon the bare Authority of the aforesaid Morales,

After this Battle, Sertorius for some time, was extreamly Melancholy for the loss of his Sertorius's Parties being unwilling to come to a Battle, by reason or the imainets of their Forces. In floor, the affairs of Sertonius went to decay, till at length all fell to the Ground by his Death. He was killed at Ofea, by one Anthony, a Man of note, who fabld him as they fate together at a Feaft. This Design was laid by Perpenua, and tho' in part discovered; for which, some were put to Death, yet that very thing hasfned the others to put it in execution. This was the end of Sertonius, by the Spaniards, called the RomanHannial. He left no Children, and died in the Year 681. It is fupposed, his Body was buried at Ebora, because a Tomb was found in that City, as they were digging the Foundations of St. Lewis's Charch, with an Inscription in Lation to that effect; but for this, we have no Authority, but that of Ambrofe de Morales, our

Chap. V.

CHAP. V.

Pompey appeases the Troubles in Spain. Julius Casar comes into Spain. The beginning of the Civil Wars there. Pompey's Generals defeated, and the whole Country reduced by Julius Cafar, who returns to Rome.

THE Death of Sectorius being known, caused great Grief among his Men, and they were highly Enraged, when they understood Perpenna had been the Author of it, and that he was by Sectorius's Will appointed one of his Heirs, and sole Successor in the Governhe was by Sertonius's Will appointed one of his Heirs, and fole Succellor in the Government. Perpenna what with Gifts, and what with fair Promiles, foon appeafed them; which was the eafter, because the fear of the Romans, tyed the Hands of many that meditated Revenge. Perpenna being possessing to a Battle with Pompey, who laboured to put an end to that diers, carefully avoided coming to a Battle with Pompey, who laboured to put an end to that Va. M. M. Allishub being gone to Rome. But the conduct of Pompey, out-did the warines of Va. M. Mellous being gone to Rome. But the conduct of Pompey, out-did the warines of the Perpenna, for he fell into an Ambush, where many of his Men were cut off, the rest put to flight, and he himself was taken out of the Bushes, where he had hid himself. He begged to be carried to Pompey, having still some hopes in the Roman mercy; but was deceived in his Expectation, for he caused him presently tobe killed; as is thought, for tear he should make any Discoveries, whereby others might suffer; for which same reason, he burnt the Letters and Discoveries. Expectation, for he caused nim presently to be kined; as Is thought, for real ne mount make any Discoveries, whereby others might fuffer; for which fame reason, he burnt the Letters of those that in ited Sertonius into Italy. Sertonius, and Perpuna, being dead, the Troubles of Spain were soon appealed. Huesed, Valencia, and the Termeshini, presently submitted to the Conqueror. Opina offering to stand out, was taken by storm, and destroyed. Afranius the Conqueror. Ofina offering to stand out, was taken by storm, and detroyed. Agrained kept such a streight Siege upon Calaburra, that the Townsmen lived for fome time, upon the fieth of their Wives, and Children; which gave occasion to the Romans, to call any great. The ramine, Fames Calaguritana. In conclusion, it was entered by Assault, the Town Demoishfund of the dealers of the War being ended, Pompey raised many Trophies upon the Proverb submitted themselves. The War being ended, Pompey raised many Trophies upon the Proverb submitted themselves. The War being ended, Pompey raised many Trophies upon the Proverb submitted themselves. The War being ended, Pompey raised many Trophies upon the Provention of the War being ended, Pompey raised many Trophies upon the Provention of the War being ended the War being end nean incommans, in memory of the visconess obtained, and towns in had taken, which were above 8.00, as well in Spain, as that part of France he passed they in the Valleys of Andorra, and Altavaca, betwirt the Pyrenean Mountains, towards Sobrarve, are to be feen to this day, certain Iron Rings fixed to the Rocks, with Lead above ten foot in Circumference each; which are supposed to be remains of Pompey's Trophics; because such used to be fixed to Triumphal Arches to fasten the Trophics to them, as is still to be seen in the City Merida. Among the Valcones, in the Kingdom of Navarre, he Founded the City Pamplona, by rida. Among the Vascones, in the Kingdom of Navarre, he Founded the City Pampiona, by fome in Latin, call'd Pompeyopolis. Then returning to Rome, he Triumphed, together with 683.

685.
59alius Carlos State can's les distribution into Spain, with the Character of Pretor. His first Action was, to oblige the Inhabitants of the Mountains Herminii, which are betwirt Duero and Anino, to leave their Habitations of the Mountains Herminii, which are betwirt Duero and Anino, to leave their Habitations, and come down to the Plains, in regard that many Companies of Robbers filettered themfelves in those Places, and from thence, infested the Provinces of Lustinia, and Betica, felves in those Places, and from thence, infested the Provinces of Lustinia, and Betica, some of the neighbouring People offended at it, designed to pass the River Duero, and feek new Seats, but were prevented by Cefar, who fell upon, and routed them, so they submitted themselves. The Herminii Revalted again, and being overthrown, fied to an Illand mitted themselves. The Herminii Revalted again, and being overthrown, fied to an Illand that was upon that Coast. This perhaps, was one of those Illand that was called Albiano, and another, Lacia. Cesar fent an Officer to study the Open People, his Name we have not, but Dio relates the Passage. He, by reason of the Ebb, could not land lihis Men; so those that landed, were easily cut off by the Herminii. Publius Seeza Signaliid himself in this Action, who, the much wounded, swam away to the Ships. To reministended the submitted of the Island, the Hermini being out of heart, and wanting Provisions. Thence sailing over to the Coast of Galicia, he took the Port Brigantinum, now Coruna. nimeir maiter of the Hand, the Harmin being out of heart, and wanting Provisions. Thence failing over to the Coaft of Galicia, he took the Port Brigantinum, now Coruña. Those People easily submitted, being frighted at the greatness of his ships, as those who were only used to see, and use simal Boats; the lower part whereof, was made of light Timber, the upper of Wicker covered over with Hides, to keep out the Water. This done, he prescribed Laws to the Province; to those of Cadiz, he allowed such as they themselves had those and manded Laws grains Historica in such amounts that the Datase should be a small such as the province in such amounts that the Datase should be a small such as the province in such amounts that the Datase should be a small such as the province in such amounts that the Datase should be a small such as the province in such amounts that the Datase should be a small such as the province in such amounts that the Datase should be a small such as the province in such amounts that the Datase should be a small such as the province in such amounts that the Datase should be small some single should be a small such as the province in such amounts that the Datase should be small some single should be small some should be small some single should be small some chosen, and enacted Laws against Usurers, in such manner, that the Debtor should enjoy the third part of his Estate, the rest to go to the Creditor till the Principal was paid. Then he returned to Rome without waiting for a Successor, and refused the Triumph the Senate offered him, for fear of flipping the opportunity of being chosen Consul. He carried out of Spain a Colt, whose Hooss were cloven, which Diviners said, betokened to him the Sovereignty of the World. Only he could ride this Colt, and when it died, he canged a Starne to be Erected to it, in the Temple of Venus.

Cafar after this, making War in France, fent Crassius to subdue the Gauls that bordered 38000 upon Spain, who called the Spaniards to their assistance; and Orosius says, 50000 of the shirt by Cantabri, or Biscaners, went over to them; but with bad Success, for 38000 Spaniards are spain Garages. faid to have perished in that Service. Strabo adds, that Crassis sailed to the stands Gass for far in des, opposite to Prom. Cronium, or Cape Finisherre, and easily brought them under the Gast. People being lovers of Peace, and their Eafe. In the Year 699, the Proconful Q. Cecilius, O. Cec came to Govern Spain, and continued two Years. He fought a Battle with the Paces, near Secret Clunia, the Ruins whereof, are to be seen not far from Osma, and was overthrown; where-shrong. at, the Senate was so much concern'd, that they resolved to send Pompey into Spain, which by the was accordingly done, in the Year 701, giving him that Command for the Term for five Piech.

Years, as well in regard he was well beloved there, as of the good fervice he had done beThree LeThree LeTh fore. He came not himself, being kept back by the charms of Julia, Casar's Daughor, to gates sent whom, he was newly Maried, but fent three Legates, or Lieutenants to Govern in his one to Govern the were Petrepus, Afranius, and M. Varno. To Afranius, he committed Hilpania Gr. or Sp. ba. with three Legions; to Varro, that part which lies betwitt Sierra Morena, and Guan, now called Efremadura; and to Petrejus, all the reft of Luftania, and Beica, and the and Turo, and Tur Gones, with two Legions. These Forces curbed the fierce Spirits of the Natives to the Expain enjoy'd Peace, at least, there was no Trouble of moment. In Italy, began a fusious and bloody War, which foon involv'd Spain. Julia, Cafar's Daughter, and Pompey's Wife, dying, that knot which held them together, was untied, and each strove for the Sovereignty of the World; whence enfued that Civil War, the effects whereof, were felt throughout the Roman Empire. It will be enough here, to relate 60 much as appertains to Spain. Pompay Civil War being gone into Macedonia to gather the Forces of the Eaft, fent Bibulius Rufus into Spain. Coff and with Orders to Perryus, and Aranius, that they flould joyn their Forces, and by all point longer, ble means, hinder Cafar from getting any footing there. They instantly obeyed, and levy-ing Paro to command in Hispaira Chieria, with their united Forces, and 80 Companies they

the East it is watered by the River Segre, which, a little lower, mixes with Cinga, and both a little farther fall into Ebro. Cafar having settled all things to his mind in Rome, resolved to pais over into Spain. By the way he was flopped at the Siege of Marfailler, which refufed to receive him, and theretore fent Caius Fabius with three Legions before. He having Defeated Pompoy's Forces that guarded the Pyreneam Mountains, flopped not till he incamp-

ed in light of the Enemy. There three Legions more, and 6000 Foot, with 3000 Herse out of France joyned him. All these Preparations were making, because it was reported, raifed among the Celtiberi, incamp'd upon the River Segre, near to the City Lerida This Town is feated on a high Ground, towards the North is another Hill that commands it; on

That Pompey would very speedily come into Spain, by the way of Africk.

Cafar finding he could not so soon as he defired, put an end to the Siege of Marseilles, cane Cafar reaway to Lerida. At first, they spent their time in Skirmishes, which always proved adtums invantageous to Cefar. Soon after, the Rains falling, and Snow melting, the Floods were so spain, and exgreat, they carried away two Bridges Cafar had upon the River Segre, above Lerida, over pells Panter which, his Foragers passed. On the other side there was no Relief, because the River Cings personal ran no less impetuous, and swollen. The Army was reduced to great streights, and sufficial much want of Provisions. Fame soon carried about this News, and the Letters of Pompey's Officers fo heightned it, that in Rome they gave Cafar for lost; whereat there was great Rejoycing, and many, that till then had stood Neuters, went over to Pompey. But all their ill grounded hopes vanished like smoke, for Cafar with great diligence, laid a Bridge over the River 20 Miles above Lerida, by which, he was abundantly supplied with Provisions, and the Forces that came out of France, joyned him; so was he delivered from that danger. Berefres that came out of France, joyned him; to was ne derivered from that canger. Befides, many Towns declared for him, and among them, Calaborra, Huelea, Tarragona, the Aufetani, Lacetani, and llung autonemies. For this reason, because Cafar cutting several Channels, had made the River Segre fordable; Pompey's Generals fearing Cafar's Horse, which was fronger than theirs, might cut off their Provisions, they passed the River-Segre at Lorida, and the Ebro at Osiogessa; supposed to be Mequinemia, with a design to retire farther into the Country. But these basine forced to the greater country. Country. But they being forced to take a great compass about, Casar was beforehand with them, and secured all the Passes of the Mountains, thro' which, of necessity they must make their way. Thus without a Stroke, or shedding one drop of Blood, they were forced to submit themselves. Casar pardoned, and gave leave to the Soldiers to Disband, and return to their Homes; and the more to gain their Affections, restored to them, all that his Men had taken from them, paying for it with his own Money. Some would have it, that Pompey's Generals had fold Spain; and Cato, after his fnarling manner, at Pharfalia, upbraided Afranius with it. Varro in the farther Spain, at first, had seemed inclinable to Casar's Party, but hearing what Streights he was reduced to at Lerida, cast off his Mask, and began to make all manner of Preparations against him, raising Mon, bringing together Galleys at Cadiz, and Sevil, and gathering Money from the Natives, without sparing the Temple of Hercules, which he robbed of all its. Treasure, tho' then esteemed one of the most Sacred Places in which he lobbed of an its Fragine, the cheef of Afrania, and Petreyus, with his usual celerity, put a frop to Varro's Proceedings. Besides, near Sevil, most of his Men deserted, and went over to Casar, so that he was also constrained to surrender himself up, and had his and went over to Cæsar; so that he was also constrained to surrender himself up, and had his Life granted him upon delivering to the Conqueror, his Ships, Money, Corn, and all other Stores. At Cordova, Cæsar held an Assembly of the Chief of all that Country, response to Treasures Yarro took from the Temple, and made the People of Cadia. Free Denizons of Treasures Yarro took from the Temple, and made the People of Cadia. Free Denizons of farme, for having sided with him, and expelled Pompey's Gartison. The Government of the Rome, for having sided with him, and expelled Pompey's Gartison. The Government of the People, and farther Province, he gave to Q. Calius Longinus, who was then Tribune of the People, and had been before Questor under Gneius Pompeyus, then went himself by Sea to Taragona, thence by Land to France, and so to Rome. From Rome, he sent M. Lepidus to Govern Hispania Cibyl Land to France, and so to Rome. From Rome, he sent Pharsaita. The following Year terior, in regard he being Pretor at Rome, had declared him Dictator. The following Year 1906. Was famous for the Victories obtained by Cæsar at Pharsaita, over Pompey, and in Egypt over Ptolomy, thence he returned to Rome, and Posted over into Africk, where he Vanquished King 40sb. and the Romans that adhered to him. King Juba, and the Romans that adhered to him.

Chap. VI.

46

CHAP. VI.

Longinus Governs Spain. His Actions. The War betwixt Cæsar, and Pompey's Sons. The famous Battle of Munda. Casar returns Victorius to Rome.

A T the same time, there were great Commotions in the farther Spain, caused by the in danger of being in the time of Pompp, had like to have cost him his liste, infomuch, that he came off wound-murdered at Cass had ordered him to go over into Africk, against King Juba, a Favourer of Pompuricand Poy's Party. Upon pretence of this Expedition, he gathered great Sums of Money, as well by variceand or well mipositions, as by felling Licences to those that were defirous to stay in Spain, and not new Impositions, as by felling Licences to those that were defirous to stay in Spain, and not of these, the chief were Lucius Recilius and Aminis Scapalia. One Minicius Solo, upon pretence of delivering a Petition, was the first that wounded him, then the others coming on, threw him down, and struck at him, but the Gaards coming to his rescue, took Solo, and threw him down, and struck at him, but the Gaards coming to his rescue, took Solo, and carried Longinus to his Bed. The Wounds were flush, so he escaped with Life. Solo being put to the Rack, discovered his Accomplices, whereof, some were Executed, others fled, and others being Imprisoned, bought themselves off. Longinus's Avarice exceeding all his other Vices. By this time, he had an account of Casar's Victory, and yet under colour of passing over into Africk, caused the Army to march betore him to Cadiz, and being well reother Vices. By this time, he had an account of Cafar's Victory, and yet under colour of paffing over into Africk, caufed the Army to march before him to Cadiz, and being well repaired to the property of the Merchant Art. Covered of his Wounds, went to fee the Fleet. At Sewil he underflood that the Army had my mutihits. Oueflor to Cordova, to quiet those People, and defend the Town, supposing Thorius would Queflor to Cordova, to quiet those People, and defend the Town, supposing Thorius would greateff Poft, should have the Supreme Command. Longinus finding every Body was against greateff Poft, should have the Supreme Command. Longinus finding every Body was against a called Ulia, now Montemagor, feated on a Hill five Leagues from Cordova. His Army lay at a called Ulia, now Montemagor, feated on a Hill five Leagues from Cordova. His Army lay at the foot of the Hill, the Enemy coming on, and he refuling to give Battle, they encompassed the foot of the Hill, the Enemy coming on the refusing to give Battle, they encompassed the Country of the Carlon of Mauritain and to Marins Levidus. Who Governed Hispania Citerior, for Aid. Bogud came first. ritania, and to Marius Lepidus, who Governed Hilpania Citerior, for Aid. Bogud came first, and having increased his Forces with others that joyned him in Spain, had fome Ren-counters and naving nicrossed his rolles with others that joyned min in opans, had tone ten-connects with Marcellus; but could never deliver Longinus from the Siege, till Lepidus coming quieted all things; for Marcellus referred the Determination of all their Differences to him, which Longinus refuing, he was permitted to go whither he would. Marcellus, and Lepidus, marched to Cordova. Longinus understanding Trebonius was come to succeed him, set fail from Mala-

Longinus to Cordova. Longinus understanding Tribonius was come to succeed him, set fail from Malagoing to go for Italy, and was cast away near the mouth of Ebro, with all the Money he had gatheritaly.

Spain distributed for having mutinied; but was soon pardoned thro' the Mercy of Cassar.

Spain distributed for having mutinied; but was soon pardoned thro' the Mercy of Cassar.

Spain was divided into Factions betwixt Cassar, and Pompey; many Cities sent Embassadors

Spain was divided into Factions betwixt Cassar, and Pompey; have to Spain, took the Ion. Gneius Pompey, the eldest Son of Pompey the Great, in his way to Spain, took the Ispanner.

In the mean While. Aminis Scaoula, he that conspired against: Longinus, and Q. Aponius, by Indus of Arms, drove the Proconful Aulus Trebonius out of all the Province, and held it for Pampey, till he recovered, and came into Spain, as did his Brother Sexius, after being Defeated in Africk by Cefar, and with him, Actiss Varro, and Titus Labienus, with the remains of their Army and Fleet. Gneius having taken many Towns, and among the reft, Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus there, and went to Beliege Visa, which held out for Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus the Carlot of Ca-Cordeva, left his Brother Sexus t but refused coming to a Battle, and protracted the time till his coming. He being taken up in Celebrating four Triumphs at Rome, and fettling the Common-wealth, delayed his coming till the beginning of the Year 709, when fetting out from Rome, he made furth haft, that 709, he came to Saguntum, now Monviedro, in 17 Days, and in 10 more to Obulio, now called Cafarrehe came to Saguntum, now Mombiedro, in 17 Days, and in 10 more to Obulio, now called Cofficient Porcuma, betwixt Cordova and Jaen; just at the time that a Battle was fought at Sea betwixt turns to Diding, Cestar's Admiral, and Parro, who commanded for the Enemy. The loss was equal, Spain. but Varo show'd he had the worst, by putting into the Port of Tairja, and drawing a Chain cross the mouth of it. The People of Cordova being inclined to Cestar, the Embassicos to him, shewing they were forcibly, kept under by the Enemy, and advising, the Town might easily be surprised by Night. Those of Vibra also sent Embassacous acquainting him, they were reduced to great Streights, and could not long hold out, unless relieved. Cestar being thus divided, sent Lucius Jamius Pacieus with its Colores to affile Olia. He got into the Town in a stormy Night, thro' the middle of the Enemies, saying, He was sent by Pompey. This, and the hopes of being relieved incouraged the Besieged to hold out. This done, to give a diversion to those that lay before Vibla. Cestar having ordered his Lieutenants Pedius and I his and the nopes of being relieved incouraged the beneged to note out. I his done, to give a diversion to those that lay before Ulia, Caefar having ordered his Lieutenants Pedius, and Folius to repair to him by a certain Day, himself encamped before Cordova. Sexussurprivid hereat, sent immediately to his Brother to quit Ulia, and come to his relief; which he accordingly did, and encamped near Cafar; but refused to give Battle, and some time being thus spent, on a sudden Cafar fell so Sick, that he marched away silently by Night to Attegua. This Town was four Leagues from Cordova, where there fittl appear fourleys of ancient Buildings, by the Name of Teba the old. In this Town, the two Pompey's had laid up their Treasure and Stores, which moved Cefar to sit down before it; either to draw there tnerr reature and stores, which moved Gesfar to it down before it; either to draw them to a Battle, or by taking the Town to weaken their Force, and lessen their Reputation. On the other side, Gneius being resolved not to sight, marched to two Towns, now called Cassroetio, and Espezio, formerly Castra Possumiana, places of strength, where he might die secure. Thence he passed over the River Guadaxox, that ran down near Attegua. Having been there worsted in some skirmishes, and no hopes left of relieving the Besieged, he returned to Cordova. The Inhabitants of Attegua, set Commissioners to Treat of a Surrender; the state of the state o but upon such haughty Terms, that nothing was concluded. This put the Garrison into a but upon tuch nagging ferms, that forming was concluded; and fuch was the cruelty of rage against the Townsmen, that favoured $Ces[a^n]$ Party; and such was the cruelty of Numantus Flaccu, their Governour, that he killed all the Inhabitants who bore any affection $Ces[a^n]$, and threw them over the Walls, the same he did with their Wives and Children. Notwithstanding all this, the Townsmen surrendered on the 18th of February. After this, $Ces[a^n]$ No ceight, and threw them over the waits, the lame he did with their Wives and Children. Notwithflanding all this, the Townfimen furrendered on the 18th of February. After this, Cafar burnt Attub, and took many other Towns, and then fate down before Munda, a Town feated on a Hill, five Leagues from Malaga, and near a little River that waters a rich, and beautiful Plain. At that time, it was a considerable Place, now small, but fill retains its Name. Near this place they came at last to a Battle, Cafar was Ttronger in number, and goodness of The famous Battle was fought with great Courage and Resolution on both sides, both less Wings were the Battle was fought with great Courage and Resolution on both sides, both less Wings were the overthrown, and put to slight, the main Battles stood long, without giving any trens of Manda vielding the Victory; much blood was spilt, and the Fields covered with dead Bodies. At last, Cafar by his own Valour, purchased success, for alighting from his Horse, and taking a Target, he fought at the Head of his Men, and stops feveral of them that were about to fig. On Pompey's side, 30000 Foot, and 3000 Horse were flain 3 among the rest Varro, and Labienus. Thirteen Eagles belonging to the Legions, which were their chief Standards, were taken. Of Cafar's Men 1000 were killed, and 500 wounded. Two Affican Kings served under Casar, the one called Bochius, the Other Bogud. The latter of these had the chief Honour of the Victory; for he in the heat of the Action breaking into the Enemies Camp, was the cause that Labienus hastily drew thinter, and the rest of the Army thinking he had field, and despirating of the Victory; turned their backs. This Battle was fought on the 17th of March, on which Day the Festival of the God Bacchus, was Celebrated at Rome. Cafar speaking of this Action, used to say, He had often fought for Honour and Glory, but that Day he fought for his Life.

fought for his Life.

Some will have it, that Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius Pompeius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius being wounded in the Shoulder, fled to Tarifa, and Gneius being wounded in the Shoulder being endeavoured thence to clape by Sea, but was forced, by reason, his wound festered, to leach the fourth day, and being discovered in a Cave, was there slain. Florus says, He was killed Death. slighting near Leurona, now Liria; or according to, others, Laurigi. His sleer was partly taken, and partly burnt by Didius. Sextus the Younger Brother, sied into Hispania citarior, where he had many Friends. Scapula after the Battle, returning to Cordova, made a Feast at which all drank plentifully, and then he cauled his own Slaves to kill him. Munda ftill holding out; Cefar left Fabius to carry on that Siege, with part of the Army, and went himfelf to Cordova, which being taken by Affault; he put to the Sword 20000 of those Citizens. that had followed Tempey's Faction. Thence he marched to Sevil, by the way he had the Head of Gneiff Pempey prefented to him, and with his usual good fortune, possessed which again Revolting, was reduced the factond time, on the 10th of Angali. Occudants the Towns in that Neighbourhood, following the example of Sevil, submitted themselves; reduced the Towns in that Neighbourhood, following the example of Sevil, submitted themselves; reduced the second time to the second time. and among the rest, the City Asa, struct two Leagues from Xeres, now a defert place; but by Cafar. still retains the ancient name. Fabius on the other side, so streightened those of Munda, that after a fiege of fome Months they furrendred, and then he took Offuna, but whether by Force or upon Submillion is not known. All things being fettled with a wonderful Celerity, rorce or upon subminion is not known. An timings being tection with a wonderful Celerity.

Cafar having gather'd valt times of Money, to which effect he spared not the Temple of Hericans to Rome, where he arrived in Olfober. Assimilar Pollio was left to govern Rome.

Hispania Olterior, and Marcus Lepidus the Citerior, together with Galliar Narbonensis. About this time some guess Cordova had the name of Colonia Patricia given it, and several other losses the state of th Towns, to flatter the Conqueror chang'd their Names, as Attubis, which was call'd Claritas I comp, to hatter the Conquerior thange their realists and sharing fulla, Ebora in Portugal, Liberalitas fulla, Calabora, alio took the name of Julia, Sexi, that of Firmum Julium, llinege which is Anduxar, that of Forum Julium. Those of Ampurias laying afide the diffinction, there was betwixt Greeks, and Spaniards, receiv'd the Roman Custom, Language and Laws, with the Name of a Colony. There are many Monuments of this War remaining in Spain, and particularly at Talavera, a Town well known in the Kingdom of Toledo, on that part of the Wall which is opposite to St. Peter's Church, these words are to to feen cut in the stones. To Gettus Pompey, the Son of Pompey the Great. The remaining part is worn out, and not legible, but supposed to be set up in Memory of some great Action.

CHAP. VII.

Other Commotions in Spain after the Death of Casar, the beginning of the Empire of Augustus, and War of Cantabria.

HE power of Julius Cafar was at its greatest height, when the Senators Compiring against him as a Tyrant, slew him in the Senate on the 15 of March in the Year 710, 710. giving him 23 Wounds. From that time fome begin the Computation of the Years of Au-Gafar Murdered guifus his Reign, but the most Commence from the following Year; when on the 22 of Sepin the Se. tember, according to Dio, he was chosen Conful in the Place of C. Vibius Pausa, flain near Modena. In Spain Pollio attended to suppress the Robbers, that thro' the Confusion of the times were grown very Numerous about Sierra Morena. When the News of Julius Cafar's Death was brought to him, he Assembled the Principal Men at Cordova, and there protested hefore them that he would in all things submit to the Authority of the Senate of Rome. This seem'd to promife fome fettlement of Affairs, but it prov'd otherwise; for sextus Pompey appear'd about Jaca, formerly the Lacetani, thinking to make his advantage of the times. He set up his Standard, made Levies, and some Men resorting to him, form'd a Legion, with which Sextus Pompey rehis Standard, made Levies, and iome men reiorting to nim, form a Legion, with which he took a Town near Carthagena, call'd Vergi, now Vera, or as others will have it Verja. This finall beginning chang'd the Face of Affairs, and Pompey's Party which feem'd to be quite forgot was revived, and grew the more formidable, for that he having in a pitched Battle defeated Pollio, poffels'd himfelf of all that Province of Batica, or Andalucia, The upper Garmed of Pollio falling, or being by him caft off, was a great cause of this Victory, for the Soldiers imagining thereby, that their General was Kill'd, distany'd and soon fled. Marcus Lepidus Comment of the Comment o Defeats from quieted these troubles, and perfended sextus with the Money he had got to go to Rome, whereby he might recover his Father's Inheritance. Italy was no less embroil'd in Civil Wars at the same time, the Senate setting up Octavian, Julius Casar's Nephew, to oppose the Angulius designs of Marc Antony, whom he defeated at Modena, where he had belieged Decius Brutus the place of Ceslar. Lepidus, and both of them foon after with Angustus. This was the beginning of the Triumvirate, which divided the Roman Empire into three Parts. Lepidus had Gallia Narbonensis, and all which divided the comman company into three tarts. Learning and a warming and a The Spain, Antony the reft to Gaul, and Augulus Italy, Africk, Siethy, and Sardmin. The Provinces of the East were not divided, becapie Brutus, and Cassius, the Murderers of Cassar, were Provinces of theEast were not divided, becapite gratust, and capital, the introductors of Lafar, were The Pro-policited of them. There followed a great Butchery of the Nobility, call'd the Profeription, feription, whereby many fuffered, and among the rest, the Famous M. Tallius Ciero.

CivilWars

Thus the City of Rome again lost its Liberty. There ensued other Wars, first with the of Rome. Murderers of Casar, then with Lucius Antonius, Brother to Mare Antony. After which followed a new distribution of Provinces, which was in the Year 714 after the building of Rome. It is division Spain fell to Odiavian, and hence it is the common and much us'd Computation of Years, called Ara Casaris takes its beginning. But the most usual now Commences.

Era Casaris from the Birth of Christ. Which was the 200 of the other Computation, according to the best

Era Cafair from the Birth of Christ, which was the 39 of the other Computation, according to the best Accounts. In Spain that Computation continu'd till the Year of our Lord 1383, when King John, the first of Castile in an Assembly of the States, or Parliament, order'd that for the future all computation of Years should Commence from the Birth of Christ. The same had been done not long before at Valencia, and was follow'd foon after in Portugal. But to reDomicia: turn to the Affairs of the Government. Domicius Calvinus, in the Year 35 before the Birth
Calvinus of Christ govern'd Spain as Proconful, and afterwards obtain'd a Triumph in Rome, for haTirumbhs. ving subdu'd the Ceretani, at the foot the Pyrenean Mountains, in that part where Cerdania now stands. New divisions hap ned betwixt the Triumphirs, part of the evil consequences whereof fell upon Spain. Oliavian being at Variance with Lepidus, soon made himself Master of Africk, which was his lot in the distribution of Provinces. Marc Antony who had the Eastern Provinces, thought much that Ollavian should seize upon all without allowing him any share. Hence sprang that War betwixt them, which ended in the ruin of Antony, and Angallus for consequently Odavian remain'd sole Lord of all the Roman Empire, in the 28th year before sole Lord the birth of Christ. He took the Name Octavius in Memory of his Father, and that of Cestar in of the Honour of his linkle that of Augustus was viven him by the Senate as to a Man fart from World. Honour of his Unkle, that of Augustus was given him by the Senate, as to a Man feat from Heaven to Restore Peace to the World. During this last War, Rogud King of Mauritania, came over into Spain, in favour of Antony, but was defeated and fulfain'd great lofs. Not long after in the eighth Confulfhip of Augustus 25 Years before Christ, the great road h. Not daluzia, that ran from Cordova to Ezija, and thence to the Ocean was pav'd, as appears by a Marble Column that is in the Monastery of St. Francis at Cordova, on which is an inscription fignifying it was fet up in the eighth Confulfhip of Augustus, and that from the Temple of Janus on Guadalquivir, to the Ocean were reckoned 121 Miles, This Temple is supposed to have stood in or near Cordova. After this there ensued some Commotions among the Carlo bri, Afturiani and Vacci, about Old Castile. Statilius Taurus appeas'd them, it is suppos'd or, Japaneni and rece, about the Norbanus, who about this time Triumphid over. Spain. About the Norbanus as Limeneni to Caius Norbanus who about this time Triumphid over. Spain. About the Norbanus fame time, the form of the Government of Spain was changed, for inflead of Pretors, and triumphis Proconfuls, it was under Legates with Confular Power, as began then to be us'd in other overspain.

Provinces. Befides the Provinces of the Empire were divided betwixt Augustus and the Senate, fo that in Spain only Betica or Andaluzia fell to the Senate. Hercupon Hispania Ulterior had two Governous one over Betica appointed by the Senate, the other over Luftania chosen by Augustia. Thus the greatest part of Spain being in Peace, many Roman Colonies were founded, which gave occasion to the Natives to change their Manners and Language for those of the Romans, as Strabo Witnesseth. ..

upon the Lungones, on the South they were bounded by the River Ebro, and on the North

In the heighth of this Prosperity, when Spain Flourish'd with Riches and Plenty, there Canabri, broke out a New War, which proved more Fierce and Bloody than was imagin'd. This they were, War was begun by the Cantabri a fierce People, till then not intirely subduced by the Romans, as being the llubborneft Nation of Spain, and protected by the hardiness of the Country they Inhabited. Ptolemy says, the Cantab. i border'd on the East upon the Antigones, on the West upon the Linguist, on the South they were dounded by the Kuntabrian-Sea, or Bay of Bifest. Their principal Towns were Juliobriga, and Velliga. Others, and with reason, extend the bounds of Cantabria, as far as the Pyreach Mountains. At that time the Cantabri, were a rude and serce People, and had no use of Gold or Silver. The Women as well as the Men were of large Stature, on their heads they wore a dress like a Turbant, and not unlike to what the Women of Bifest now use. The Women Tilled the Land, and when they were Deliver'd of their Children, the Men lay in and they tended A frange them, as is used now in Brasil. In their Dances they made a Noise with their Fingers and Custor Callanets. The Men brought the Portion when they Married. They had always polion prepared to kill themselves rather than fulfer any Volence. In order to Commence the War, they shird up the People of Alwais, and Gallicia to take up Arms, and that done made incursions into the Neighbouring Country that was fubject to the Romans. This did not only strike a Terror into the Natives, but perplex'd Augustus fubject to the Romans. This did not only strike a Terror into the Natives, but perplex d. Angulus the Emperor Angulus. fearing it might be the beginning of a more dangerous War than oin Spain; there expected. Angulus being come into Spain, forces resorted to him from all parts, so that he gather'd a formidable Army. They march'd towards Biseay, and incamp'd near Segisma. Supposed to be that now call'd Brisma, in Guipusca, betwixt Alpeisia and Tolofa. Then being divided into three parts, they soon indud'd all the Neighbouring Country. The Cantabri not trusting to their own strength to avoid coming to a Battle, withdrew with their Goods and Families unto the Mountains, which prolong'd the War, and made it be feared it would last long. Angulus what with vexation, and what with the unwholesomeness of the Airfell Sick, and was carry'd away to Tarragona. Cains Antifius, and Pub. Firmius, were left to prosecute the War in Galicia. Pub. Carifus in Alberias. M. Aeriba was left with the left to prosecute the War in Galicia, Pub. Carifius in Afturias. M. Agrippa was left with the Supreme Command. He was then the Emperor's Favourite, and afterwards marry'd his Daughter Supreme command. He was then the empetor scaroon regame and array a mediant of states were easily put to the rout. Upon the Coast of the Ocean near to Segisama, rises the Mountain Hirmins, by tile Latins called Vinius, of difficult afcent, where many of them that fled fav'd themselves. The Romans to avoid encountring with the strength of the place, and with Men that were desperate drew a Trench quite round and fortify'd it. So those miserable

People were reduc'd to fich extremity, they being oblinate, not to furrender, and the Romans not to quit them, that the greatest part Persined. A Town near Brisama, then called Aracil, now Araxil, after a long siege was taken and destroyed by the Romans. Mean while

Antiffius and Firmius, were not idle in Gallicia, but drew a Trench about the Mountain Midu-

who had divided his Army into three parts, their design being discover'd by the Tregeceni

lia, 15 Leagues in Compass, where a great number of those People were retir'd, and after Galician

Swords, and others Drank the polionous juice of a Tree that grows there. In Affurias the War was carry'd on with the like success; for those People thinking to surrize Carifius, their Confederates, were tuernielves oppreis a by Carifus, who came upon them when they leaft expected it. Such asefcaped, field to the City Lancia, now Oviedo, where they Fortified themselves, and held out a long Siege, but were at last ford to furrender, and submit to the Conqueror. Thus Galicia, Afterias, and Cantabria, were reduc'd into the form of a Province. Augustu, the War being ended, returned into Cantabria, where he pardoned the Multitude; but left the roughnels of the Mountains might again encourage them to Rebull he canded them to come down and this in the plair Canada and allowed them to Rethe Multitude; but left the roughness or the Mountains might again encourage them to Reibel, he caused them to come down, and live in the plain Country; and also to give a certain number of Hostages. Many of the medic oblinate, were sold as Slaves. Great was the Joy at Rome at the News of this Success. It was decreed, that Augustus should Triumph, for having intirely subdus spain, in the 198th Year after their first entrance into it under the committee of the Country by wing intirely fubdu'd Spain, in the 1981b Year after their first entrance into it under the command of Gneius Cepius Calous, which was a longer time than they spent-in conquering any other Province. Augustus would not accept of the Triumph, but Sports were Celebrated in ther Province. Augustus would not accept of the Triumph, but Sports were Celebrated in the Ramp; and the Temple of Janus at Rome, was now the fourth time shut. The Soldiers that had ferry'd their appointed time, according to the Roman Laws, were distarred, and Lands given them, in that Country we now call Estremadura, then a part of Lustrain where the Banks of Guadiana, they founded a Coslony, for that reason, call'd Emerita Augustus.

on the Banks of Guadiana, they founded a Colony, for that reason, call'd Emerita Augusta, now Merida, in its time one of the principal Cities of Spain. Rasis the Arab, with the Colones and Colony, and the Colones and Callony, and the Colones are considered in River Ebro, where before frood a Town called Salduba, was sounded a Colony, nam'd built on the Borders of Portugal, and called Par Augusta, one corruptly, Badajoz. Braga, built on the Borders of Portugal, and called Par Augusta, one corruptly, Badajoz. Braga, built on the Borders of Portugal, and called Par Augusta, one corruptly, Badajoz. Braga, built on the Borders of Portugal, and called Par Augusta, one corruptly, Badajoz. Braga, built on the Borders of Portugal, and called Par Augusta, pow corruptly, Badajoz. Braga, built on the Borders of Portugal, and called Par Augusta, pow corruptly, Badajoz. Braga, built on the Borders of Portugal, and Called Par Augusta, built, and the fame time and the fame of Augusta returned to Taragana, where, he was the eighth and ninth time appointed Conful; there he received Embassa Augusta of Storm, in the fifth Year after that War was began. He carried some Spanish Soldiers of the returns to Rome, in the fifth Year after that War was began. He carried some Spanish Soldiers of the dors from India and Syphia; to far was the fame of his Actions firead. Thence he returned to Rome, in the fifth Year after that War was began. He carried fome Spanifs Soldiers of the Cohort of Calagarris, for his Guard. No sooner was he gone, but the Cantabrians, and A-stanis, were again in Arms, but the Efforts being without Strength, were ineffectual; for L. Emilias, and Pub. Carifius first, and afterwards Caius Furnius, having slain many of the Revolters, appealed the rest. Many, rather than submit, killed themselves; others went singing, and full of joy to Execution. Some of those that were made Slaves, conspired together, and killing their Masters, fied to the Mountains; whence, they made Excursions into gether, and killing their Masters, fied to the Mountains; whence, they made Excursions into the neighbouring Country; inticing the People to take up Arms. To appease these Troubles, M. Agrippa, then Son-in-law to Augustus, came out of France, and in some Rencounters he had with those oblinate People, was worsted, which moved him, as a punishment to a Legion that had been the most faulty, to deprive it of the Title of Augusta, which before, it enjoy'd. This difgrace was a warning to the other Soldiers to behave themselves better; to that at last, Agrippa was Victorious. All that could bear Arms, were put to the Sword, the rest forced to come down, to live in the plain Country, and their Weapons taken from them. Some fay, there were other Commotions after these among the Canadri; and tent the Embassadors sent to Rome to Treat, despairing of ever returning home; killed themselves that the Embassadors fent to Rome to Treat, despairing of ever returning home; killed themfelves. Among the illiterate and rude Spaniards, some about this time, were samous for their Learning, as Caius Julius Higinus, and Porcius Latro, a great Rhetorician, and Friend to Seneca, the Father of the Philosopher. Those Books that are extant under the name of Highnis, are by most Men attributed to another of the same Name, a Native of Alexandrian, on But Suevonius seems to be of another Opinion, signing, Some called him an Alexandrian, or But Suevonius seems to be of another Opinion, signing, Some called him an Alexandrian, or Keeper to Augussa, and samiliar with Ovid. Besides, the Honour Spain received from these Keeper to Augussa, and samiliar with Ovid. Besides, the Honour Spain received from these them, it was illustrated by Cornelius Balbus, a Native of Cadiza, who having been Consul, Triumphed at Rome over the Garamante, it of Years before the Birth of Christ. He was the first Stranger that obtained that Honour, and the last of Subjects; for from that time forward, only the Emperors, or at most, their nearest Kindred Triumphed. All others, were rewarded with the Triumphal Ornaments; which were a long costly Robe, a Garland of Laurel, a Chair called Curuiis, and an Ivory Rod. Here let us conclude this Book, and the Laurel, a Chair called Curuir, and an Ivory Rod. Here let us conclude this Book, and the Computation of Time from the building of Rome; being to begin the next, with the Birth of a God incarnate, and from thence to date the following Years. The End of Book III.

ken from them. Some say, there were other commissions are the embaging of some that the Embaffadors fent to Rome to Treat, despairing of ever returning home; killed them-

THE

History of S P A I N.

The Fourth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The Birth of Christ our Lord. The Death of Augustus, and Reigns of the Emperors Tiberius, Caligula, and Claudius. With an Account of the coming of St. James the Apostle into Spain; and first Preaching of the Gospel,

E are now come to the most happy Times, when the Son of God, as was requisite, for fulfilling the promises of the Holy Prophets, appeared to Lordborn Men, himself made Man, and with the new Light he brought into the 7.22 Yeas World, show'd and made easie the way of Salvation to Mankind, till then wandring, and aftray. He restored justice, before sted from Earth, and obtaining by his contact the Heavenly one, and Establish'd it for ever upon't Earth, under the Name of the Church the Heavenly one, and Establish'd it for ever upon't Earth, under the Name of the Church of this Church we are all Members, who, thro'the goodness of the Same God, have throughfour the World, received the Christian Religion, and preferve it with a true and constant flat.

Faith. Now, for as much as Spain was one of the first that received this Divine Faith, and most firmly ashered to it: therefore it will be necessary to relate how much it suffered in flat. most firmly adhered to it; therefore it will be necessary to relate how much it suffered in moth firmly adhered to it; therefore it will be necessary to relate how much it suffered in those primitive Times on that account; and at the same time, to set down the new Form, and Method that was Established in the Secular Government; as also the Lives and Actions of the Roman Emperors, as Sovereign Lords of Spain; the Combats and Strifes of the first Christians, and the Triumphs, and victories of the Holly Martyrs, who, in defence of the Truth, split their Blood, and loss their Lives. Most happy and truely renowned Souls I Our brevity in this matter, shall be particular; for we shall rather hint at, than enlarge upon the Ecclesiastical Affairs, that this jWork may not exceed bounds. May the Divine Light from Heaven guide and direct our Pen and Intention; may it change our Ignorance into a kinche Wildiam and canfe our Words to comal the greatness of the Subiect. The Birth of higher Wildom, and cause our Words to equal the greatness of the Subject. The Birth of Chrift, the Son of God into the World, was on the 25th of December, in the Year 752- after Chrift, the Son of God into the World, was on the 25th of December, in the Year 752. after the building of Rome, and 42d of the Reign of Angulus; the Confust then, being Ochavian Augulus, the thireenth time, and Macus Claudius Silvanus. From this number of Years fome Authors deductione, and others two; neither do they all agree, who were then Confuls; which difagreement, was in the time of St. Augulin, as he himself mentions. We have herein, after considering all Opinions, adhered to that which seem'd to us most likely, and which grave Authors follow; But Jaying aside this, and the like Debates, not to be certainly decided, we will return to the Assars of Spain, tho' at this time, scarce any thing occurs worthy the relating. besides the matter of executed money which is the at the local curve worthy the relating. taminy decided, we will return to the Affairs of Spain, tho at this time, learce any thing occurs worthy the relating; befides, the matter of greateft moment, which is, that all the Provinces being reduc'd under the Power and Government of one Monarch, the Spaniards, as well as all other Nations, enjoy'd the happiness of a bleffed Peace, and quiet Repose; being wearied out with fich tedious Wars, which, like Links of a Chain, hanging one by another, continued for for many Years, that so the Author of eternal Peace, Christ, the Son of God, wights either field became others it is not have the Weath. For this continue, the Son of God, might either find Peace, or bring it into the World. For this reason, few things of note happen'd in Spain, during the Reigns of Augustus, and Tiberius. However, some few shall be related, rather to continue the Series of History, than for that they are remarkable in themlated, rather to continue the Series of History, than for that they are remarkable in themelives. Dion alone, among all Historians, without fixing the time, or place, relates, that a Captain of Robbers, called Corocata, after whom, great fearch had been made, of his own acord, presented himself to the Emperor, who not only pardoned, but gave him the Reward that had been promited for taking of him. Augustu dy'd at Nolain Campania, on the 19th of MaAugustus' and yoldes the Empire alone, for the space of 44 Nears. He appointed Tiberius Novo, his Son-in-law, to succeed him; being overcome by the importunities of his Wife Livius, Whereas Gerimbinus, and his Children had the better Right. Tiberius Governed the Roman Empire 22 Years, 6 Months, and some Days. He was of double Inclinations; some Good, but more Bad. At first, he gained Credit by his good Government, and soon lost it, by his Captain and possible Luxury, Cruclety, and Avarice. In his time Germanius waged War in the farthele X Verss. excellive Luxury, Cruelty, and Avarice. In his time Germanicus waged War in the farthest 22 Years, part of France; and it being known in Spain that he fuffered great want of all Necessaries, they fent him Arms, Horfes, and a great rum of Money, which last, he refused, but acceptthey fent him Arms, Horfes, and a great rum of Money, which laft, he refuied, but accepted of the reft, returned thanks to the Spaniards for their Affection to the People of Rome. This hap'ned in the fecond Year of Tiberius, at which time alfo, leave was given to the Emballadors of Hippania citerior, to build a Temple in Honour of Augustus. Those of Hippania silverior, that they might not be behind hand with the others in Flattery, begged leave to build a Temple in Honour of Tiberius, and his Mother Livia, a thing never used whilst Princes were living, and therefore it was denied them. The Cantabri at the same time Revisited, and infested the neighbouring Country, which obligd the Romans to place several Garritons in that Province, whereby their Infolency-was curbed; and those barbarous People, by Converting with the Romans, grew more Civiliz'd. Gneius Pifo, who had Govern'd by Converting with the Romans, grew more Civilig'd. Greeins Pifo, who had Govern'd Spain, and was fulfocted to have Poiforid Germanicus, kill'd himfelf at Rome. Vibius Screuns, Spain, and was fulfocted to have Poiforid Germanicus, kill'd himfelf at Rome. Vibius Screuns, who had been Proconful of Hilpania utterior, accused his own Son of taking Bribes in that Province; and he being Convicted, was Banished to Amorga, one of the Islands in the Lagran Province; and he being Convicted, was Banished to Amorga, one of the Islands in the Lagran New Taxes and Impositions, to far incens'd the Natives, that they Conspired agains him, and he was kill'd by a Country-man, among the Tormisini. He endeavoured to make his escape, we was kill'd by a Country-man, among the Tormisini. He endeavoured to make his escape, but having tir'd his Horse, was taken, and put to the Rack, to draw from him a discovery but all in vain; for the Day after, being again brought out to be ful Fidelit of the other Conspirators, but all in vain; for the Day after, being again brought out to be a Country-man.

THE

Tormented, he slipt from his Guards, and ran his Head against a Rock with such force, that the feld down dead. So great was the Fidelity, Secrecy, and Regard of Friendship in a Clown.

This hap'ned in the Year of Christ 26. As Tiberisa davanced in Years, so he grew in Avacual Regard of Price All the Constant of Christ 26. As Tiberisa davanced in Years, so he grew in Avacual Regard of Friendship in a Clown. The Emperor Tiberius dy'd on the 16th of March, in the 78th Year of his Age, which was of Christ 38. Gneius Accronius Proculus, and C. Porcius Niger, being Consuls. Caius, the by Converling with the Romans, grew more Civilized. Guenn Pife, who had Govern'd

The Emperor Tiberius dy'd on the 16th of March, in the 78th Year of his Age, which The Emperor Tiberius dy'd on the 16th of March, in the 78th Year of his Age, which The Emperor Tiberius dy'd on the 16th of March, in the 78th Year of his Age, which Sand Chillian as of Chrift Age, which Earth as of Chrift Age, and English Called in Latin Caliga, he had the name of Caligath. He was only remarkable for Madnets, and reigns captains of his Guards. Amelius Regulus of Cordova had attempted the fame before, but Captains of his Guards. Amelius Regulus of Cordova had attempted the fame before, but Months, and eight Days, which were spent in extravagant Vices, and Enormities, Caligath being dead, and eight Days, which were spent in extravagant Vices, and Enormities, Caligath being dead, out, and Proclaimed Emperor, in the Year of Chrift 42. This Emperor was wholly adicted to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his Wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his Wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his Wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his Wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his Wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his Wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was such, that his wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was funch, that his Wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was funch, that his Wife Mafalina durft presume publick-to Vice; but above all, his carelenses was Claudius rul for Uncles to Marry their Nieces. He held the Roman Empire almost 1.4 Years. In his can be called the Duffiaus Rotundus Govern'd Hiffpania citerior, and Ombonius Silus Beica. Now, also et almost Christianity was first Preachig and began to take Root in Spain; to Tames, the Son of Zebedee, fourteen Years.

Simultanity was first Preaching in Judea, and Samaria, came into Spain, as Jidorus wither the Apo built a Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received the first force of the Tames and the Computer Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received the first force of the Tames and the Computer Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received the computer Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received the computer Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received the computer Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received the computer Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received the computer Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received the computer Church of the Invocation of the blessed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as In the Church of the Invocation of the Samara Church of the Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as In the Church of the Invocation of the Church of the Invocation of the Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as In the Church of the Invocation of of the I built a Church of the Invocation of the bleffed Virgin, now called of the Pillar, as it is received to a constant Tradition among those People. Afterwards having suffered Martyrdom at Jerujalem, in the Year of Christ 42. his Bodywas taken up by his Disciples, and put into a Ship, and after Coasting about the greatest part of Spain, they landed it in the farthest parts of Galicia, in the City Iria Flavia, now called El Padron; whence it was translated to Compeleda, a place held in Veneration throughout all the Christian World, on account of that Holy Body lying there. The Body of this Apostle, for several Ages was lost, and forgot, till in the Reign of King Monifo the Chast, about the Year of our Lord 800. It was miraculously differenced. and a Church built is the same place, where it has been highly Reverenced. This the Reign of King Alonfo the Chaft, about the Year of our Lord 800. it was miraculously diffeowered, and a Church built in the same place, where it has been highly Reverenced. This Devotion was much increased, when D. Ramiro, who Reigned soon after Alonfo, with the Allistance of this Saint, won the famous Battle of Clavilo, fought against the Along; whereby, he delivered the Christians of a most heavy Imposition, by which, they were obliged to delivery Yearly to those Insidels 100 chosen Maids. Hence the Custom used by the Spanish Soldiers, of calling upon 8t. James in Battle, had its Original. And from this time, the Spanish obliged, themselves by a Vow, to pay a certain Measure of Corn out of every Acre of Arable Land. Vearly to the Church of & Stames, which Castom having suffered many changes, has been Yearly, to the Church of St. James, which Custom having suffered many changes, has been rearry, to the court of st. yames, which cultion naving untered many changes, has been renewed by feveral Popes, who have iffued out their Bulls to that effect; and it is fill perferved in a great part of Spain. St. James had but very few Followers in Spain, whereof, fome reckon up nine chosen Dilciples; which others say, were sent into Spain by the Apostles St. Peter and St. Paul; which Controverse being altogether impossible to be decided, think fits the state of t ter to pass it by, than to take up the Reader's Attention, with what is altogether uncertain.

CHAP. II.

The Reigns of the Emperours Nero, Galba, Otho, Vitellius, Vespasian, and Titus, with an Account of the Colonies, Free Towns, and Courts of Judicature then in Spain.

Laudius the Emperour was Poison'd by an Eunach, or as others have it, by his Wife Agrippina, to the intent her Son Domitius Nero might obtain the Empire; which proved Agrippina, to the intent ner Son Domitias Nero might optain the Empire; which proved fatal to her. Certain it is, he dyed in the Year of Grace 55. Nero, his Son-in-Law, and Succeffor, held the Empire 14 Years; the first 5 he govern'd well, as Trajan used to testify, after that he such into all manner of Vice and Debauchery, like a wild Beast, that breaking Routed Book from its Confinement, bears down all before it. To such a degree did his Gruelty and Fourteen that he kill'd his own Mother, of whom he would first have had Carnal Knowledge; he also that ne kind his own houser, of whom he would his hafter Senera, the Famous Poet Lucan, and a great number of Men of Quality. His Luft was fo extravagant, that he publickly Married a Young Man, and caused a Boy to be cut, that he might make use of him as a Woman. He used to sing in the Theatre like a Player, for his Sport set Fire to Rome, and then to appear to the control of the property of the street of peafe the raging People, charg'd it upon the Christians, against whom, upon that score, he raised the first Persecution. On the one hand he profused the publick Revenue, and on the other, by all unlawful means, feir'd the Riches of private Perfons. In his time liv'd the famous Apollonius Thyaneus; and in his Travels came into Spain. The same is sid of the Apofile St. Paul, but other Authors of his in the same into Spain. The same is sid of the Apofile St. Paul, but other Authors of his coming hither; and for St. Peter's ever being in Spain, as Metaphrases affirms, there is the little ground to believe it. Servius Sulpicius Galba had go-grand Spain the terrip of eight Years, he was very old, being above 70 years of Age, when verns Julius Findex, who govern'd Spains, he was very old, being above 70 years of Age, when verns Julius Findex, by Letter invited him to put a stop to all those Evils, by accepting of the Empire. But Galba excusing himself on account of his Age, and the danger of such an undertaking, Vindex declared himself, and took up Arms against Noro. This news being brought into Spain, Galba in an Assembly of the chief Men of all the Country, whom he had called together to Caribagena, declar'd the cause, why all Men were oblig'd to put their hand to redress so many grievances, and relieve the Commonwealth. He invessed against the Cruelty and Vices of Noro, showing the mischiefs he had already done, and what they might expect from him. There happen'd to be there present a Child banished by Noro into Adagiora, which so heightned the indignation of all there present, that with loud Acclamations they other, by all unlawful means, feiz'd the Riches of private Persons. In his time liv'd the fawhich so heightned the indignation of all there present, that with loud Acclamations they which io heightned the indignation of all there prefent, that with loud Acclamations they Proclaimed Galba, Aivujuhs, and Emperour. He would not accept of that Title, but offered Is Prolimfelf to be General of the Romans, and Lieutenant for the Senate against Novo, which was claimed an extraordinary Tokeh of his Modelty. Otho Silvius, then Governour of Lufitania, was a Emperor. great Instrument in forwarding this Work, for he refolv'd to follow Galbas, and to that purpose Otho Joins Coin'd a vast Quantity of Gold and Silver, he had gathered. Upon this Account Otho was prefer'd to the New Emperour's Favour, and had the first Place about him, which T. Joint his Lieutenant aimed at, but neither could he attain, or was he acceptable to the People, as one that fold the Favour of his Prince; whereas Othos effounded the pretengions of the needy one that fold the Favour of his Prince; whereas Otha espous'd the pretensions of the needy, without any prospect of advantage. "Julius Vindex being betrayed in France, where he had declar'd againft Noro, kill'd himself. Virginius Kusus who vanquished him, would not accept of the Empire, but left all to the disposal of the Senate, which was a singular Moderation. The missfortune of Vindex so startled Galba, that he retir'd almost in despair to the City Cunia, but the News of Noro's Death being ston after brought to him, he reviv'd and took heart again. The manner of Noro's Death was thus. As soon as the Senate understood what Vindex had done in France, and Galba in Spain, they conceiv'd hopes of destroying the Tyrant, and in order to it, they declar'd him an Enemy to his Country. Immediately his Guards, and Servants for fook him, and he fled to the Country House of one Phaon, a freed Man of his own, where defpairing of making his escape, he kill'd himself in the 32th Year of his Nero kills Age. Thus ended the Crimes of this Prince, and in him the Family of the Cosars and Claudii. himself. Galba understanding what had happen'd, resolv'd to march with all speed to Rome; for his Guard he carry'd with him a Legion of the choicest Soldiers in all Spain. With him also went Fabius Quintilianus, a Native of Calaborra, the Famous Rhetorician. When Nero dy'd Silius Italicus was Conful at Rome, which was the Year of Grace 69. Galba being come to Rome enjoy'd the Empire but 7 Months, and was then slain by the Pretorian Bands in a Mutiny they Galba but raifed, because he gave them not the Donative he had promis'd, and kept a strict hand over 7 Mondis; them, which they being us'd to liberty, could not brook's, as also because he was heard to say, wit slain. which they being us to merry, could not brown, as an obscume it was not as any, he chofe, but did not buy Soldiers. But the greatest Promoter of this Mutiny was Otho; who offended that Galba had adopted one Pife, a Youth, of great hopes, and thereby cut him off the reward he expected for the assistance he had given him; caused himself to be carryed in a Chair to the Pretorian Bands, who faluted him Emperour, and Murder'd Galba; together with Pifo, and Titus Junius. His ill gotten Power was not lafting, for he was Emperour only Otho only the space of 95 days. The German Legions, in imitation of those of Spain, declar'd their 95. days.

Book IV.

orbo des

feated

Vicellius

enters Rome.

General Aulus Vitellius Emperour, and France join'd with them. Spain feem'd to stand Neu-General Anna Frances Emperour, and France point of the Joyle College of Hand ter, therefore Otho to gain the Affections of that People, gave them Jurisdiction over Manritaria Tingitana, whence is enfued that the People of that Province long after repaired to the ritania Ingitana, whence is entired that the reopie of that Province long after repaired to the Roman Courts at Cadia, to determine their Law fuits, and were tubice to the Goba as long as they held the Sovereignty of Spain. However Lucius Albinus Governour of Mauas long as they held the Sovereignty of Spain. However Lucius Albinus Governour of Mauvitania, came over into Spain, the more to firengthen other perts, but was defeated by Cluvius Refut, left there by Galba, that had now declared for Viellius, Otho being vanquished in Lombardy, killed himfelf, and Vitellius entred Rome armed, and befet with Soldiers, as if he had Triumphed over his Country. This, and the manner of his Government, not unlike the beginning made him odious to all Men, besides that, having spent the former part of his kilis him the beginning, made inthe outputs to all men, venues that, having spent the former part of his Life in diforderly vices, now, with the increase of Power, he gave himself the greater loofe, and so became Contemptible, which gave occasion to the Legions that were in the East, and to try their Fortune in choosing an Emperor, as they did with much better success than any or the others.

Flavius Vespasianus the chief of the most Noble Family of the Favij, in the time of the Emperor Claudius, made War in Britain, and subdu'd the Isle of Wight. The many Victories peror Casacana, made ever in prinam, and made the specific of those times he retir'd to a Prigari'd there made himFamous, but by reason of the Confusion of those times he retir'd to a Pri-Tlanins gain a three made numramons, but by realout of the contained of those three three was call'd the laft Year but one of Nero's Reign, to Command the Army, vate Life, whence he was call'd the laft Year but one of Nero's Reign, to Command the Army,

Emperor.

vate Life, whence he was call'd the laft Year but one of Nero's Reign, to Command the Army, vate Life, whence he was call'd the laft Year but one of Nero's Reign, to Command the Army, that was fent againft the Jews. He had almost fubdu'd that Province, when his Soldiers declar'd him Emperor, and Muciams who governd Siria on the one side, as also Tiberius at that Title. This being concluded and agreed upon, they caus'd their Legions to take an that Title. This being concluded and agreed upon, they caus'd their Legions to take an that Title. This being concluded and agreed upon, they caus'd their Legions to take an that Title. This being concluded and agreed upon, they caus'd their Legions to take an that Title. This being concluded and agreed upon, they caus'd their Legions to take an that Title to him, their example was soon followd by the other Provinces. The particular account of their Actions belongs not to this Hildroff, but in Conclusion Vitellius was slain ticular account of their Actions belongs not to this Hildroff, but in Conclusion Vitellius was slain ticular account of their Actions belongs not to this Hildroff, but of the Conclusion Vitellius was slain to the state of the Conclusion Vitellius was slain at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign, and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving his at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign, and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving his at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign, and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving his at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign, and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving his at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign, and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving his at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving his at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving his at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving his at Rome; in the ninth Month of his Reign and 57th Year fit his Age. Velpafan leaving be feemed to want nothing but the knowledge of the Christian Faith. Titus having fubdu'd the Jews, and deftroy'd Hierufalem, Triumph'd with his Father at Rome, and having brought the Jews, and deltroy'd Hierufalem, Triumph'd with his Father at Rome, and having brought over with him a vast number of Captive Jews, part of them were sent into Spain, where they fetted in the City Merida, as their Writers affirms. At his first coming to the Empire, Felded in the City Merida, as their Writers affirms. At his first coming to the Empire, Felded in the Party, they at that time favouring Vitellius. Licinius Latius, now governed Hitem to his Party, they at that time favouring Vitellius. Licinius Latius, now governed Hitem to him the Fredom of Money, and Fore Triend to Pliny then Questor Spain Girling and Fred Triend to Pliny then Questor Spain Girling and Fred Triend to Pliny then Questor there, for whose natural History, and some other Works, he offered a great sum of Money, there is supposed to have built the Bridge of Segovia, a Work to loty and wonderful, This Licinius is supposed to have built the Bridge of Segovia, a Work to loty and wonderful, that the commonalty are persuaded, it was built by the Devil. Others Attribute the build-that the commonalty are persuaded it was built by the Devil. 7 icinius Larius ing of this Bridge to the Emperor Trajan, but there are no fufficient gounds to affert either Opinion. It is much more credible, that the Town in Galicia, now called Betanços, formerly Opinion. It is much more creatible, that the Town in Canena, now cancer beaution, formerly Flavium Brigancium, the other now called Padron, then Iria Flavia, also the Town Municipium Flavium Arginerum, the other now cancer reason, then the Flavium, and the Lown Armeepium Flavium Aranitanum, now Lora, and other places of that name, were built by the Family of Velpalian, who were all called Flavii, or elfe they took those names in Honour of the Emof Velpajian, who were all called Flavij, or else they took those names in Honour of the Emperor, or one of his Sons. The Emperor Velpajian lived to be 70 Years of Age, and then dyed at Rome, on the 24th of June in the Year of our Lord 80. He was as happy in his Death, as his Life, for that he left behind his Son Titus, to succeed in the Empire, who enquald his Father in all his Virtues, and far exceeded him, in Affability, Sweetness of Temper, and Liberality, to which he was fo inclind, he was used to say, none ought to go from his Princes presence distastyed, and remembring one Night that he had bestowed no favour that day, said to those about him, Ally Friends we have left a day; These good qualities of the Age of Titus 2 Months. ties gained him the Attections of all Men 10 intirety, that he was caused, the Ornament and delight of Mankind. But Death cut him off very untimely, for he was not above 42 Year of Age, reigned only two Years, two Months, and twenty Days, and deceased on the 13th of September, in the Year of Chrift 32. Nothing of note appears to have hapfied during this September, in the Year of Chrift 32. Nothing of note appears to have hapfied during this September, in the Year of Chrift 32. Nothing of note appears to have hapfied during this September, in the Year of Christian and Lustinia. In Betica there were eight Roman Colonies, and as many Manicipiums, which caused her visualedges than the others, and four Courts to determine Law finite than and 20 deliciæ.

bumani ge-

which enjoyed lefs priviledges than the others, and four Courts to determine Law fuits, that which enjoyed lets priviledges than the others, and four Courts to determine Law juits, that spain how were held at Cadix, Sevil, Exija, and Cordova. In Luftania were Five Colonies, one Munidivided cipium, which was Lisbon, called by another name Felicities Julia, and three Courts at Meridivided da, Badajoz, and Santaren, then called Scalabis. In Hispania, Citerior, or Taraconenfis, there were Fourteen Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums, and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums, and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums, and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums and Seven Courts at Cartavere Colonies (fome fay more) Thirteen Municipiums (fore) Thirteen Municipium (fore) Thirteen Muni gena, Taragona, Zaragoga, Clunia, now Coruna, Alorga, Lugo, and Braga. The Pretors, now when the time of their Command was expired, and they waited for one to fucced them,

CHAP. III.

The Reigns of the Emperors, Domitian, Nerva, Trajan, Adrian, Antoninus Verus, Marcus Aurelius, and Commodus, the Persecutions under them, the building of the City Leon, and rife of the Herefie of the Gnosticks.

HE virtues and good qualities of Titus, were fet off and received the greater Lufter, by the diforders, and extravagancies of his Brother and Successor Domitian, a Man so vicithe diforders, and extravagancies of his brother and succeilor Dominian, a Man to vicious he rather refembled the Nevos, than the Flavij. His madnes was finch that he caufed his Wife, to be called Augusta, which none of his predecessors had done, and himself to be stiled Lord and Good. He persecuted the Christians, banshed St. John the Evangelist to the Island Fathmas, killed Marcus Ælius Glabrio, and Flavius Clemens, who had both been Consus, and banished Flavia Domicilla Wife to the latter, into the Island Para, without regard to theKindred he with had both of them. This his cruelty to the Christians, is thought to have shortned his Days, his death being foretold by Flashes of Lightning, that continually fell for the space of eight Months. His Avarice made him the more odious, for he seized upon the Estates of the Martyrs, therefore some, to please him, accused Domicilla's Steward, that he had concealed her Riches. The Steward whose name was Stephanus, having notice of it to nad concealed her Riches. The Steward whole hand was Stephanns, having hoteled in the Domitian, avoid that danger ventured upon a greater, for with some others he conspired to kill the Ty- 15 Years rant, which he put in Execution, within his own Palace on the eighth of September in the Somentis, Year 97. He dyed at the Age of 45 having Reigned 15 Years and 5 Months, his Death was pleafing to all Men except the Soldiers, to whom he denyed nothing that they might branding that they might branding fland firm to him. In Spain he put out an Edich by which it was forbid to plant any more Mender-Vines. About the fame time Eugenius. Difciple to Dionylins Aeopagia, fent by him edito Preach in Spain, and first Archbilhop of Toledo, fleed his blood in defence of the Faith of Jesus Chrift, in Faper, whither he went to vific his Mafter. At this time three Famous Spanish Poets Flourished at Rome, viz. M. Valerius Martialis born at Biblilis, now Calatoyud, Caius Canius, at Cadiz, and Decianus at Merida. The Senate upon the Death of Domitian chose Caius Nerva Emperor. He was a Person of

The Senate upon the Death of Dominia Child Camar New 2 Employ. The Was a Felioti of great Authority, but very Ancient, and therefore the more exposed to contempt, which Norwigan being sensible of adopted M. Ulpius Trajanus a Spaniard born at Italica near Sevil a Man much by 16 Metabs. The American Company of the Company of Company of the Company of in Esteem and of great parts, and appointed him his Companion and Successor. He repeal'd all the Decrees and Edicts made by Domitian, whereupon many returned from bannifument, and among the rest St. John the Evangelist from the Island Pathmas, to his Church at Ephesus. Nerva was Emperor only sixteen Months, and then upon his Death, M. Ulpius Trajanus, his adopted Son undertook the Government in the Month of February, and the Year of Grace
99. His great virtues were answerable to the hopes had been conceived of him. His good na-Philosopher Plutareh. Trajan built two Bridges of wonderful structure; the one in Germany 19 Yrajans. over the Danube the greatest River in Europe; the other in that part of Spain, we call and shall. Estremadura, over the River Tagus, and is known by the name of the Bridge of Alcantara. By an infeription that is still to be seen on that Bridge, it appears that many Towns of the Neighbourhood contributed to the Charge. This is one of the most remarkable pieces of Antiquity in Spain. In a Town of Andaluzia, called Aragua, belonging to the Knights of the Order of St. James, on the Wall of the Palace, are two stones which were once the Pedestals of two Statues erected in Memory of Matidia, and Marcia Sifters to Trajan, as appears by the inscription upon them. At the same time the Soldiers of the seventh Legion called Gemina, quiting the City Sublancia in Alpuria, becaule it was feated on the ridge of a hill, two Lean-gues, below it founded a Town which from them was called Legio, now the City Leon, and but flenderly peopled, yet was once the Court of the Kings of Leon, when after the defined-on of Spain, the Christians began to gather firength Trajan governed the Empire the space of ninteen Years and a half. In the third year of his Reign, he raifed a more cruel perfecution against the Christians, than could have been imagined from a Prince esteemed as he was, Mild and Prudent. This fury was in some measure abated five Years after, at the instance of Pliny on under the Younger, then Proconful of Bitbynia, who in a letter advised him, that the Christian Superstition (as they termed it) ought rather to be suppressed by Art than force, because it was forcad abroad in the Country, as well as in Cities, and that the Christians could not be convicted of any Crimes, only that they had meetings before day, where they Sung Hymns in Honour of Christ. Upon this Trajan answered, that no search should be made after the Christians, but that if accused they should be punished. An infinite Number of Christians fuffered in this persecution. Spain was not exempted from its share of blood. Among others Mantius sirst Bishop of Ebora was Martyred. There is a Rich Monastery within a League of Medina de Rio Seco of his invocation, and therefore called Villa Nueva de S. Mancio. At this time also Macarius, Justus, and Russius instered; Trajan dyed in Glicia, at a place then called Schumte, afterwards Trajanopolis, or Trajans Town, in his return to Rome from the His death.

Parthian War; Nevertheless his Ashes were received into that City with Triumph for having

Chap. IV.

Years.

Aurelius

vanquished his Enemies. A thing never granted to any before or after him, that they should Trimph after death. Alius Adrianus appointed by Trajan his Successor, as soon as he entred upon the Government, intending to viiit all his Provinces, let out from Rome, and through Gomesny passed into Great Britan; thence he went over into Spain, so to Africk, and into the East, his head always bare and often afoot. In this long journey he is faid to have narrowly efeared an eminent danger at Tarragona, where a Slave ran at him with a drawn Sword, but being supposed to be mad, he delivered him up to the Physicians, to be cured without any obeing improved to be mad, no derivered thin my to the rayhteans, to be cured without any other punithment. Sexus Aurelius Vidor fays, he divided Spain into fix Provinces, viz. Betica, Laghania, Cartbaginenii, Tarracomeniis, Galicia, and Mauritania's Tingitana. It appears by fome inferiptions of those days, as also by judinians Laws, that the Governours of Betica, and Luftania were Confular Legates, those of the other four Provinces were only Presidents. This Emperor having no Children choic Ceionius Commodus Verus for his Successor, and gave him the Title of Cafar, referving to himself that of Augustus, and this was the Original of him the Title of Cajar, reterving to himlest that of Augujius, and this was the Original of the Cultom, of calling the Emperors Children, or Succeifors Cajars. In the Eleventh Year of his Reign, Advian ordered that none should be punished merely for being a Christian, unless he were Convicted of some crime, and was so well inclined towards the Christians, that he designed to place Christ among his other Gods, and caused Temples to be without any Idols. Fearing that the greateness of the Roman Empire might cause it to sink under it our weight, he for bounds to it, so which purpose the Bridge built by Telegra on the without any idois. Fearing that the greateness of the Koman Empire might caue it to link under its own weight, he fet bounds to it, to which purpose the Bridge built by Trajan on the Danube was demolished, and in the East he ordered the River Euphrates, should be the utmost Limit, quitting what was Conquered beyond it. He was very fischly, and being irred with the continual dependance on Physicians, at Bayae to avoid having more to do with them, he abstained from meat and dyed, having Reigned Twenty One Years. In the days of this Emalorians are the continual and the continual dependance of the state of the stat autrained from meas and dyed, naving actiqued a worky of class, in the days of this Ent-peror, Bafilides in Agypt, and Saturainus in Syria spread the Sect of the Gnofficks, which conperor, Bafilides in Egypt, and Saturninus in Syria ipread the Sect of the Gnofiteks, which confounded the Divine perfons, and fubjected the free will and its Operations to the force of destiny, and thestars. Besides, they affirmed that Christian justification depends only upon Faith. A disciple of Basiliates, called Marc, came into Spain, and there sowed his Wicked Doctrine. Among others there followed him a Woman called Agape, and the Rhetorician Holpidius. From these Ashes and Embers Priscillian afterwards raked a Fire which spread a mighty flame; as shall be observed in its place.

est places of Devotion in Spain. .

Commodus Verus died foon after his adoption, and in his place was substituted Titus Alius Antonimus, who succeeded Adrian in the Empire in the Year 139. During the Term of Twenty Two Years and Seven Months, that his Reign lafted, he maintained all the Provinces of the Empire in fich Peace and tranquility, that he was compared to Numa. All Men frove to pleafe and obey so good a Prince, and he laboured to gain the Affections of all Men. His most peculiar virtues were Clemency and Meckness, which gained him the Titles of Pious, and Pater Patria. Under him the Christians suffered no perfecution as under the of Pious, and Pater Patric. Under nim the Christians sumered no perfection as under the other Emperors. It does not appear that he did any thing remarkable in Spain, but his name is to be seen in some Roman inscriptions. He dyed near Rome in the Year 162, and left M. Is to be teen in tome Koman inicriptions. He dyed near Kome in the Year 162, and left M.

Autoimus Antoninus, and Antoninus Verus to succeed him in the Empire. This was the first time that two Emperors were seen in Rome with equal Power and Authority. Verus lived but nine Years, he renewed the persecution against the Christians, quieted the East where the Persans had raised Commotions, and is believed to have been the first that gave the Title of Committee, or Counts to the Governours of Provinces. By his death the whole charge of the Government was devolv'd upon M. Aurelius Antoninus, a Prince of great goodness, the firname of Philosopher, given him is a sufficient Testimony of his Learning, as is the Learned Book of his fill Extant. He Reland nineteen Years and one Month, and dyed the 17th of March in the Year 181. Alius Aurelius Commodus Antoninus, succeeding his Father, by the March in the Year 181. Allius Aurelius Commodus. Antoninus, fucceeding his Father, by the Vileness of his Actions much obcurred the Glory of his Family. It was ippposed one of his Pamily. It was in the Concubines named Marcia, had diftempered his brain with fome Potion fine gave him a for and 8 Nooths, and the gave him a doe of Poison, were to be slain, she conspired with the Eunush Narcissus, and they gave him a doe of Poison, but finding it did not Work fast enough, they stifled him. He lived but Thirty Two Years, but finding it did not Work fast enough, they stifled him. He lived but Thirty Two Years, hereof he Reign'd Twelve, Eight Months and Fifteen day It is reported he kept Three hundred Concubines, and a like number of the Beautifulest Youths, that could be found to satisfy the bestleve of the Some Authors saw it was at this time that the holy Marture Earundus and his beaftly Luft. Some Authors fay, it was at this time, that the holy Martyrs Facundus, and Primitivus fuffered at the Banks of Cea, a River that runs down from the Mountains of Afterias, into Old Cassile. Here the Christians built a Church in honour of them. In the time of the Moores, they were remov'd into Afturias, and thence returned to the same place, and a Monastery of Benedictine Monks built there, near that of Sahagun, and is one of the chief-

CHAP

CHAP. IV.

The Reigns of the Emperors, Pertinax, Severus, Caracalla, Macrinus, Heliogabalus, Alexander Severus, Maximinus, Gordianus, Philip, Decius, Trebonianus Gallus, and Æmilianus.

THE Emperor Commodus was killed in the Year 193. Helvius Pertinax born of a *193. Libertine, or which is all one descended from Slaves, succeeded him, and ruled only two Helvius Months and Twenty eight days. The Murderers of Commodus procur'd him the Crown, for his Pertinax, Months and Twenty eight days. The Murderers of Commodus procured him the Crown, for his Pertinax, approved goodnels, and the Pretorian Soldiers deprived him of it and his Life, within his own a months, Palace. No fooner was Pertinax Murdered, but Sulpicianus, and Didius Julianus, repaired to the Pretorian bands, like Merchants to buy the Empire, as if it had been exposed to fale. Julianus carryed it, by promising each Soldier Twenty five Sestercies, which amounts to Sulface Twenty five Sestercies, which amounts to Soldier towns, an extravagant sum, and no being able afterwards to pay it, the Souldiers for fook him, and he was killed by the contrivance of Septimius Severus, Six Months after he undertook the Commonds. Each this good service Section was declared Emperer, but he leads to the contribution of the section of t detrook the Government. For this good fervice Severus was declared Emperor, by the Les Severus Countries and the Severus was declared Emperor, by the Les Severus was declared Emperor, by the Market of Petrinas, by diffarming, and banding them a Hundred Miles from and Severus, vanquished Pesennius Niger, who called himself Emperor in the East, destroyed the City meanths. Name and the second of the sec was cut off by Death, which here days. In the buy of long, which he had reight Months and three days. In the Ninth Year of his Reign, he raifed a perfecution against the Christians, in which much blood was spillt. Severus, eleft two Sons two Wives.

Aurelius Antoninus Caracalla the Eldest, at his first coming to the Crown, flew on under two wives. Austine Automatic caracana the Ender, as in sint coming to the Crown, new on under his Brother Geta, by the Father's will, appointed his Companion in the Empire. This bloody sevent. Action made him odious to the People, and he increased their harred by Marrying Julia, 212 Geta's Mother, and as some will have it, his own. He stopped not here, but put to Death Caracalla, all that were any ways inclined to his Brother. But his Barbarities could not be lafting, for 6 years, 2 months, all that were any ways inclined to his promet. Due his parameters of the parameters of the parameters of the was flabbed by one Marciality, a Soldier, as he fate eafing his Body, when he had Reigned Six Years, Two Months, and five days. Optima Macrima, Commander of the Preton optima bands, by the free confent of Audentius a Noble Man, whom the Soldiers would have preferred, was declared Emperor. He did nothing of note, and his time was 6 floor the an Macrima, fare be counted in the Number of Emperors. Mefa, the Sifter of Julia, prevailed with the 28 days. Soldiers to kill him at Chaleedon, together with his Son Diadamenus, on the 7th of June 219.

His power lasted but Three Months and Twenty Eight Days.

His power latted but Inter months and I wenny Engine Lays.

Auctius Autominus Vagins, who was Priest of the Sun in Phenicia, as is signifyed by the name Heliogabalus, and for the Beauty of his Person, and gracefulness which seemed to be Heliogalus, the Tokens of a fair Soul, and above all by the help of his Mother. Mesa, was by the unaniance of the Mother Mesa, was by the unaniance of the Mother Mesa. mous consent of the Soldiers saluted Emperor. His Life and manners were vicious beyond 9 months. mous content of the Soidiers lauted Emperor. His Lite and manners were victors beyond 9 measure, fo wholly addicted to Luft, that he acted and fuffered things not to be named, and raved to that excess of brutality, that he endeavoured to change his Sex, to the shame and difgrace of the Roman Empire, and of all Mankind. The World could not endure such a Monster, his own Guards killed him, on the Tenth of March, in the Year of our Lord 223, the Eighteenth of his Age, and when he had Reign'd Three Years, nine Months; and four days. Alexander Severess. Coulin-german to Heisogabalus, succeeded him in the Empire, his Virtues could be a be a world all the supplied that the Severess. Alexander Severus, Coulin-german to Heliogabalus, fucceeded him in the Empire, his Virtues equalled the Vices of the other, and he had proved one of the most glorious Emperors, had Severus, he not been cut off by Death. He was fo far a favourer of Christians, as to cause the Image of Christ to be placed among those of his other Gods, he overcame the Parthians, and the waging War in Germany, was basely Murdered by Maximinus, in the Twenty Ninth Year of his Age, when he had Reigned Thirteen Years, and nine days equal to the best, for Justice, Clemency, Prudence, and Meekness. There is no Memory of any thing remarkable that happen'd in Spain, in the days of the Emperors. At Guadix, is the Pedestal of a Statue greefed in honour of Manimus. Statue erected in honour of Mammea, the Mother of Alexander the Emperor, the inscription

To Julia Manunea Augusta, Mother to the Emperor Casar Marcus Aurelius Severus Alexander, pious, happy, Augustus, Mother of the Army; the Colony Julia Gemina Accitana, devoted to her Deity and Majesty.

This Lady is supposed to have been a Christian, at least site was Familiarly acquainted with Origen; About this time, Pope Anterus, who then governed the See of Rome, writ a Letter to the Bishops of Andaluzia, and Kingdom of Toledo, in which among other things, he tells them that Bilhops cannot lawfully be Translated, from one See to another, for their own ease, or advantage.

of Body, Strength and Swittness, passed through the Degrees from a private Soldier; till by force he possessed immess of the Empire after the Death of Alexander Severus, in the Year of of Body, Strength and Swittness, palled thro' all the Degrees from a private Soldier, till by force he possessing the temperature of the Empire after the Death of Alexander Severus, in the Year of force he possessing the Revolted Germans, he prepared to make War upon Samartia, (now Poland) when News was brought him to the City Sirmo, that the Soldiers in Africk had falled Germans, the Governout of that Province, Emperor, and the Senate approved of faluted Germans, the Governout of that Province, Emperor, and the Senate approved of their choice. Inflamed with the desire of Revenge, he marched towards Rome; but stopped their choice. Inflamed with the desire of Revenge, he marched towards Rome; but stopped at Aquileia, that City having stutte Gates against him. Here he was inform'd, that Govards and the his stead, chosen Balbinus and Pupienus. Great was the danger that threatned, had not the his stead, chosen Balbinus and Pupienus. Great was the danger that threatned, had not the Emperors Balbinus and Pupienus, were killed by their own Guards, within the first Year of the Profession of the German State of the Perfectution he had raised against them. The Empire was the the state of the Perfectution of the same Name, was before saluted Cestar, and appointed their Successor; and notwithstanding, he was yet searce in years of age, without any opposition declated Emperor. After putting an end to the Persian War with the wish'd for Success, he was basely murdered by Philip, the Captain of his Guards, in the wish'd for Success, he was basely murdered by Philip, the Captain of his Guards, in the wish'd for Success, he was basely murdered by Philip the Captain of his Guards, in the wish'd for Success, he was basely murdered by Philip the Captain of his Guards, in the West 241, which he held above 5 Years.

He was by Birth an Arab, of mean Extraction; but a good Soldier, which raised him to show the same and marked and said to the Empire, in the Year 241, which he held above 5 Years. Years of The Goods at this time infettin Amilianus, and a man a m Amilianus, his own General, an African of Mauritania Tingutania, after having defeated those People in a great Battle, to Revolt; and Gallus being slain, to seize upon the Empere. His Power lasted but 4 Months, his own Soldiers killing him as soon as they heard of the Election of Valerianus; and therefore some do not reckon him in the number of the Emperors.

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. V.

The Reigns of the Emperors Valerianus, Galienus, Flavius, Aurelianus, Tacitus, Florianus, Probus, Carus, Carinus, Dioclefian, and Maximian, Conftantius, and Galerius, Maximinus, and Licinius.

linius Valerianus, was 70 Years of Age when the Legions in Gallia faluted him Emperor, when the Legions in Gallia faluted him Emperor, and the Year of our Lord 254. Having Reigned 7 Years, he was taken Prifoner, in a fall the fought with the Perjans, and liv'd above a Year in Slavery. His Son Galienus, thought of nothing lefs, than relieving his Father, and regaining the loft Honour of the Emperor, and indeed, he was Diftracted on all fides by the Perjans, Gobs, and Germans, and by Generals, who in feveral places, had taken upon them the Title of Emperors. It would be endlefs to relate what each of them did, it only makes for our purpose, that one Towicas for endied himself of Spain, and had recourse to the Germans for Aid. They tailed thither possible with Fire and Sword. It appears by some Stones sound in Spain, that the Emint their way with Fire and Sword. It appears by some Stones sound in Spain, that the Emperor Galienus's Wife was called Cornelia Saloina, and Decin's Empress Heremia. About peror Galienus's Wife was called Cornelia Saloina, and Decin's Empress Heremia. About this time, Pope Lucius Governed the Church, wao in an Epistle to the Bilhops of Spain, or dethis time, Pope Lucius Governed the Church, wao in an Epistle to the Bilhops of Spain, or their Suffragan Bilipops, forbids Communication with Hereticks, and encourages them their Suffragan Bilipops, forbids Communication with Hereticks, and encourages them their Suffragan Bilipops, forbids Communication with Hereticks, and encourages them their Suffragan Bilipops, forbids Communication with Hereticks, and encourages them their Suffragan Bilipops, forbids Communication with Hereticks, and encourages them their Suffragan Bilipops, forbids communication with Hereticks, and encourages them their Suffragan Bilipops, forbids and the Advice of the Suffragan Bilipops of Spain, in a Council they held, Degraded Marnial, Bilipop of In whose time, the Bilipops of Spain, in a Council they held, Degraded Marnial, Bilipop of In the Hereticks, and encourage th

Crime, they might be again received into the number of the Faithful; but not Replaced in the Sacerdotal Dignity, as had been Determined by Pope Cornelius; and that if Pope Stephen had ordered otherwise, he had been imposed upon, as being so tar off. Therefore Pope Sixtus 11, succeffor to Stephen, in his Epiftle to the Bilhops of Spain, tells them, the Decrees of the Fathers are not to be altered, nor sliftops deposé d without acquainting him of Rome. How this Difference ended, is not known; but certain it is, all these three Popes suffered Martyudom under Valerianus, as did St. Laurence, the Honour of Spain, born at Huefca, and also Orencius and Pacientia, both accounted Saints. The Emperor Galienus Beslieging Milan, his Soldiers and Patientia, not accounted saints. The Emperor Gaineria Geneging within, his Soiders weary of the War, Mutinied, and Killed him, in the Year of Grace 269, when he had Governed 15 Years. The Empire being thus without a Head, Flavins Claudins, a Noble Man, Claudins 1 and great General, took upon him the Title of Emperor in the Year following. The begin Year, to ning of his Reign was fortunate, for he killed the Tyrant Aureolus, overcame the Goths and Moncha, ning of his Reign was fortunate, for he killed the Lyrant Laureolus, overcame the Gobs and Months, Germans; but as he was preparing to march, either gagaint Terticus in Spain, or Queen Zoio and 15 bia in the Eaft, Death cut him olf at Sirmo, a City of Hungary, when he had Reigned one Days. Year, ten Months, and fifteen Days. His Death being known, the Senate in his place, chole Quintiliarus, his Brother, a Man of fo poor a Spirit, that he killed himfelf, 17 Days atter his Quintiliarus, his Brother, a Man of fo poor a Spirit, that he killed himfelf 17 Days atter his man 17 Election, upon the News that Claudius's Legions had faluted Lucius Domitius Laurelianus Em-Days. ERCCION, upon the News that Clausius's Legions had hauted Lucius Dominios Justinianis Emb Days, peror. This might have been counted among the belle of princes, had he not defac'd the Lu-L. Dominitre of his Martial Exploits with Morofeness, and the hatred he bore to Christianity. He time suggested that the Lucius Luc Reigned 4 Years, 11 Months, and 7 Days. In his Days, Narvissus and Felix, suffered Martydom at Girona, on the Borders of Spain. After the Death of Aurelianus, a new and unufual Contention in point of Civility han'ned betwixt the Senate and Army, each referring the choice of an Emperor to the other. Six Months were spent in agreeing the point, at length, the Senate overcome, by the mo claudius desty of the Army, named Claudius Tacisus, a Man of great Ability, but 68. Years of Age. Tacinus, 6 So his Command prov'd but short lived; for he Governed only 6 Months, and 20 Days, and Months, 30 nis Command prove out meet river; in a Government of the meeting and 20 day dat Tarfus in Citica. Florianus, his Brother, who was there prefent, canfed himself to and 20 be Proclaimed Emperor; but repenting, ordered his Veins to be opened 3 Months after, and Florianus. bled to Death. The reason was, he thought he had not force enough to withfland the Legislandard one of the East, which had nam'd M. Aurelius Probus Emperor. He, tho' by Birth a Scia M. Aurevinan, was a Person so well as Martial Affairs, and of such known limit probus to the comman, was a Person so well as Martial Affairs, and of such known limit probus wonian, was a Perion to well veried in Livil, as wen as martial Analis, and of the hillowing 5 Years, bis good Life and Behaviour. His Reign lafted but 5 Years, and 4 Months, at the end of which, he was killed by his own Soldiers, who, in his place, choic M. Auchitus Carus, in the which, he was killed by his own Soldiers, who, in his place, choic M. Auchitus Carus, in the Named his two Sons Carimus and Numerianus, his Companions Marchines and Marchines and Numerianus, his Companions Marchines and Marchines and Numerianus, his Companions Marchines and Marchines and Numerianus, his Companions Marchines and Numerianus, his Companions Marchines Marchin Year of Grace 282. And he Named his two Sons Carinus and Numerianus, his Companions Maderlin the Empire. Carus was killed by a Thunder-bolt, or flash of Lightning, near the River us Carus Trgiris, in the fecond Yeaf his Reign; and Numerianus murdered in a Litter, in which a 2 lears, was carried, because of his fore Eyes, by his Father-in-law Aper, in hopes of making himself Emperor. Hereupon, the Army choe Diotelfans, who overthrew and killed Carinus, that pretended to the whole Empire by Right of Succellion. At this time, a Prefect, called M. Badding America, Governed Hilpania crierior, as appears by certain Inferiptions upon Stones, fill min 20 preferved in Spain; by which, it also appears, that the Emperors, befides all their other Ti-Years teles, used the Name of Proconful; as may be seen upon a Stone preferved to this Day in the Market Hales of Manurica. Market place of Monviedro.

Dioclessian was a Native of Sclavonia, Descended from Slaves, and nevertheles, was made Emperor of Rome, in the Year of Christ 284. He was not inferior to the greatest Princes for Warlike Exploits; but blemished all the Actions of his Life with an insatiable thirst of for Watthe Exploits; but definited at the Actions of the Electric at material that the Christian blood. In the fecond Year of his Reign, he declared Maximianus Herculeus his Companion in the Empire, and soon after, gave the Title of Cafars to Galerius Maximinus, and Constantius Clorus. Galerius was married to Valeria, Dioclesian's Daughter. Constantius by his cammand, was Devorced from Helena, the Daughter of a King of Britain, and Mother of Conflamme the Great, and Martied to Theodora, the Daughter-in-law of Maximian.

During the whole Reign of these two Emperors, the Persecution against the Christians, was Ablood. fo violent and bloody, as it never had been before, or was after in any part of the World. Perfecuti-Many fuffered in Spain; but especially after the coming of the President Dacianus, no corner on. of it was free from the Blood of Martyrs. Dioclesian grown weary of the Government, and despairon twas tree from the motion of marrys. Interplate Bowl weary of intercoveriment, and deligned, renounced the Empire at Milan, after he had held it 20 Years, and retired to a private Life. Maximian by his perfivation, did the fame at Nicomedia; an example rarely to be feen. By this means, Conflamina and Galerius, were left absolute, in the Year of Christ. 204. Conflamination of the Proposition of the Proposit this means, Constantius and Galerius, were left absolute, in the Year of Christ 304. Constantius for his part, chole France, Spain and Britain. He was a Prince of that Moderation, that 1 Year, the Service of his Table was Earthen Ware; a great Friend to the Christians, as appeared up and to on several occasions. The other Provinces of the Empire sell to Galerius, who, the more to Months. strengthen himself, declared his two Nephews, Severus and Maximinus, Casars. To Maxi-Galerius, foon as Baptized, he began to Cultivate the Religion he had embraced, building Churches in minus, he gave charge of the East, to Severus, of Italy and Africk; he himself took care of Selavonia and Greece. Death put an end to the Actions of Constantin; for he dy'd at York, in the Year 306, having Reigned only 1 Year, 10 Months, and 8 Days. About this time in the Year 300, having Reigned only I year, 10 Months, and 6 Days. About this time lived Prudentius, Bifhop of Tarragona, Born at Armenia, a Town in Bifay, formerly Epifeopal Sec, now only a feattered Village, fince the Collegiate Church was removed from theme to Vitoria, by the Bull of Pope Alexander VI. In their Days also, flourished Rustus Epicopaisee, now only a leattered vinage, mire and solutions was leanoved from these to Vitoria, by the Bull of Pope Alexander VI. In these Days also, fourished Rusius the famous Writer of the Roman History, and a noted Poet. The Year after Confession, and a minist dyd, Maxenius, Son to Maximian, possession and the first of Emperor. Severus marched against him, but was Defeated and Slain by the Tyrant, of Emperor. Severus marched against him, but was Defeated and Slain by the Tyrant, of Emperor. Ambition observes no respect of Persons, his Son turn'd himout of recover the Empire. Ambition observes no respect of Persons, his Son turn'd himout of Rome, and he field to the Protection of Constantine, then residing in France, who understanding that Maximian without regard to their Kindred, or the Rites of Hospitalty, contrivying that Maximian without regard to their Kindred, or the Rites of Hospitalty, contrivying that Maximian without regard to their Kindred, or the Rites of Hospitalty, contrivying that Chemius, Casar, in stead of Severus, marched himself into Italy, to suppress the Constituted Liebius, Casar, in stead of Severus, marched himself into Italy, to suppress the Tyrant; but fearing his Army would Mutainy, returned into Sclavonia without effecting any thing. There he began to venthis Rage upon the Christians; but Death put an end to his Designs, for he dy'd of an Impositiume in the Groin, 5 Years after he was raised to the Empire. At that time Melebiades was Pope, who in an Episte to Maximus, Leonius, Beneditus, and the other Bishops of Spain, adultes them to take warning from the shortness of Humane and the other Bishops of Spain, adultes them to take warning from the shortness of Humane and the other Bilhops of Spain, adulies them to take warning from the flortness of Human Life to Govern their Flocks with Moderation. That among the Apostles, tho equal in the Vocation; there was a difference in the Power, which St. Peter had above the reft. He alfo treats of the Sacrament of Confirmation. This Epiftle is dated in the Confulfhip of Rubrius and Polylanus, which is in the Year of our Lord 314-

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. VI.

The Reign of the Glorious Constantine the Great, the first Christian Emperor. The Arian Heresie. And first General Council of Nice.

Confianting T HE Romans weary of the Tyranny of Maxentins, and reposing no confidence in the Cafars, Maximinus and Liemins, fent for Ald to Conftantine, then refiding in France. He , I fars, Maximinus and Lieinius, fent for Aid to Confiantine, then residing in France. He readily condescended to their request, and marched with his Army to Milan, where to see cue Lieinius, he gave him in Marriage his Silfer Confiantia. That done, he advanced towards the Tyrant. Being near Rome, his Thoughts fully bent upon the business in hand, in a bright Sunshine day, he saw the sign of the Cross in the sky, with this Inscription, In both signo Sunshine day, he saw the sign of the Cross, in the manuer as represented in the Mar-Labarum, should be made in the signer of a Cross, in the manuer as represented in the Mar-Labarum, flound be made in the signer of Cross, in the manuer as represented in the Mar-Labarum, which was the form of the Labarum. This is proved by a stone found at Oreto, with X-P, which was the form of the Labarum. This is proved by a stone found at Oreto, near Almago, of the time of the Emperor Valentinian II. where it appears, the Name of Christ was then writ in that manner. Constantine advanced, and in Vertue of the Cross, in sight of was then writ in that manner. Confamine advanced, and in Vertue of the Crois, in fight of Rome, vanquished his Enemy, who slying over a Bridge of Boats he had made upon the River Tiber, sell in, and was Drowned. Thus Rome was delivered from Tyranny, and Constantine entred the City in Triumph that way, where now stands the most beautiful Triumphal Arch, entered his property of this Videous. erected in memory of this Victory. At the same time ceased the crue Persecution raised against the Christians by the Tyrant. It was then also, that Maximin in the East profusely gaint the Christians by the Tyrant. It was then also, that Maximum in the East profusely spile the Blood of Christians; and so great was his desire of extripating Christianity, that he ordered throughout all the Provinces under his command, Children should be taught to read in, and get by heart a Book, in which, what passed betwixt Christ and Pontius Pilate, was in, and get by heart a Book, in which, what passed betwixt Christ and Fontius Pilate, was failely, and leandalously represented, on purpose to make the facred Name of our Saviour odificults, and contemptible. It is true, not long before his Death, he Repealed all those Edicks; not so much pick own pulmentary as for fow of Constanting whose Power daily encreased ous and contemptible. It is true, not long perore his Death, he repeated all those Edicts, not fo much of his own Inclination, as for fear of Conflamine, whose Power daily encreased, also of Licinius, by whom, he had been lately overthrown in Bittle. Licinius soon changing alto of Licinius, by whom, he had been lately overthrown in Bittle. Licinius foon changing his mind, began to declare against the Christian Religion, which drew Constantine upon him. They came to a Battle, first in Hungary, where Licinius was vanquished; but pardoned at the intercession of his Wife Constantia; then again in Bithynia, and being again defeated, Constantine spared his Life, yet reduced him to live as a private Person; but became afterwards, he endeavoured to Revolt, caused him at last to be killed. He was of such an extravagant Humour, that he used to say, Learning was the Poisson of the Common-wealth; and no wonder, since he was so ignorant himself, he could not write his Name. Thus all Commotions and Broils, being appraical, as well at home. As Abroad, all the Empire was brought under one ince ne was to ignorant numeri, ne courd not write in Name.

I nus an Commonis and Broils, being appealed, as well at home, as Abroad, all the Empire was brought under one, the head, who for far favoured Chriftianity, that it daily encreased, and fill flourished more and the head, who for the favoure are the supported in Rome, and by vertue of the Baptism delimore. The Emperor Confiantine was Baptized in Rome, and by vertue of the Baptism delimore. vered of a Leprofie he languished under, as some Authors will have it; but the most received Opinion is, that this must be understood of the Spiritual Leprofie of Paganism. A beautiful Font in the Church of St. John Lateran, of curious Workmanship, and adorned feveral places, Enacting many Holy Laws and filtring up all People with his good example. The Arian Great was the prosperity of the Christian Church. But all this Glory suffered some Eclipse Hereste. by the obstinacy of Arius of Alexandria, who taught and maintained, That Christ, the Son of God, and the eternal Word, was not of the same Subfrance with his Father. This was the Founder of the famous Sect and Herefie of the Arians: The holy Martyr St. Lucianus, was Mafter to Arius, but not in this madnes; his fellow Difciples, Friends and Affertors, were the two Eufebii of Nicomedia, and Cafarea. Ambition was the principal Motive of his Fall, being offended that after the Death of St. Peter, Bishop of Alexandria, Alexander was promoted to that See, without any regard had of him. From hence sprang that Division between thriftians, which spread over almost all the World, and seemed to threaten Destruction. For many Men of Note, as well of the Clergy, as Laity, followed the new Opinion, without giving ear to the Advice and Perfuations of those that continued firm in the true Faith. The Emperor was highly concerned at this Schiffin, and fent Hossus, Bishop of Cordova, to Alexandria to compole those Differences, as being the most famous Man of that Age for Learning, Prudence and Authority, He handled that Affair with much Circumspection, and for the better reconciling the Matters in Dispute, is said to have been the first that invented the words Oufia, which fignifies Effence, or Being; and the profit of the Supposition, or Perfon. Nothing was of force to convince the oblinate Arius; whereupon, he was Banished Alexandris; and atterwards being Summoned to appear at Constantinople, he there going to ease him Aelf, voided his Entrails, and so made a miserable end; as St. Abanasius, who lived at that time, Althyroided his Entrails, and fo made a miserable end; as St. Albanasius, who lived at that time, techifies. The evil still encreasing, and taking root, the Emperor resolved to have recourse to the last Remedy, which was to call a General Council. Nieva, a City in. Bithynia, was the Council of place appointed by Constantine for the Bishops to meet, and thither by his order repaired 318 Niev. from all Parts. In this Council, Arius and his Dockrine were Condemned. Aletisis was also deprived of his Bishoprick, because he too hotly reproved the easiness of Peter, Bishop of Alexandria, in reconciling, and admitting to the Clurch such as had fallen from the Faith; and by this his Zealoty, had bred Divisions in the Churches of Egypt. There were great Disputes about the time of Celebrating the Feast of Easter; that also was settled, and ordered to be about a town and the same time throughout the World. The Eastern Clean were dered to be kept at one and the same time throughout the World. The Eastern Clergy were grown very Loofe and Disorderly in their Lives; particularly, in what related to living Chastly; and it being thought hard to reduce them to the Rules observed before, therefore by the Advice of Paphnucius, the Fathers condescended to allow them to keep their Wives. All Persons were forbid keeping the Books of Arius, upon pain of Death; the said Books were all ordered to be burnt. Some say, the manner of reckoning by Indictions, was first brought up in this Council, and that it commenced in the Year of Grace 313, because in that Year, the Emperor Constantine saw the sign of the Cross in the Sky. The Great Hosius was present the Emperor Confiamtine faw the lagn of the cross in the say. In carear requisions was precautat this Council; and fome will have it that he Presided in it for Pope Silvester, together with the two Priests, Visis and Vincentins, sent from Rome to that purpose. At the same time, or so foon after, was held in Spain, the Council called liberitanum, of the City Iliberis which stood in that part of the Province Betica, where now is Grandad; as appears by a Gate of that City, still called Elvira, and a Hill near it of the same name. They mistake, who hold that this Council was held near the Pyrokeans at Colibre, then called Eliberis; because the difference of the same name. betwixt the Names of those two Cities, still continues, and no Bishop of France, or the adjacent Country, was prefent at this Synd, except Valerius, Bilhop of Zaragoça. This is one of the ancientest Synods, and in which, several weighty Matters were handled. In it mention is made of Virgins. consecrated to God. The Bishops here dispensed with the Fasts of the Months of July and August, a Custom before received in France, tho' not in Spain, where there was more need of it, because of the great heat. They forbid Married Women writing and receiving Letters, without the knowledge of their Husbands; and also the painting of Saints on the Walls of Churches, that they might not be defaced by the decay of the Walls. They likewife mention Metropolitans, before called Bishops of the first Chair. To return to Constantine, he Rebuilt the City Bizantium, destroyed by the Emperor Severus, and removed the Imperial Court thither, calling it of his own Name, Constantinople. He instituted our Present Prevois, two to command in the East, and two in the West, one of these over listy,

But many Learned Pens have writ of him in particular, and it belongs not to us to enlarge upon this Subject.

the other over France and Spain; the Residence of the latter, was in France, and under him a Vicar Governed Spain. Confiamine having settled all things to his mind, dy'd in the Year Confiamine for Lord 337. having Reigned 30 Years, 9 Months, and 27 Day. His putting to time's Death his Son Crissus, and Wife Fausha, gave occasion to fome to flander this great Monarch, Death, and many other Calumnies have been raised to deface the memory of his glorious Actions.

62

CHAP. VII.

The Reigns of the Emperors, Constantine, Constantius, and Constans, Julian the Apostate, Jovianus, Valentinian, and Valens.

Onstantine left three Sons by his second Wife, to wit Constantine, Constantius, and Conflans, all three at feveral times during his Life named Cafars, and at his Death he di-Confiamine, vided the Empire among them in this manner. To Confiamine the eldelt, he alliqued the Confiamines, West beyond the Aples, to Confiamins, the second Son the East, and to Confians, the young-and cil Italy; Africk, and Sclavonia. The fame he confirmed by his last Will and Testament, and ordered moreover that Dalmains, Coulin-germain to the Emperors, should have the Title of Cafar in the East. Him Conflantius, casted tobe killed in a Mutiny of the Soldiers, in the first year of his Reign. Constraine, the Eldest of the three Brothers, the third year after the Death of his Father, was Treacheroully flain near Aquileia, having marched fo far in order to deprive his Brother Constants of the Empire, upon pretence it all belonged to him, and that he had been wronged in the distribution of the Provinces. Some have writ that Constantine was an Arian, but the contrary appears in that, through his means his Brother Constantine, recalled St. Athanasius from bandhment. The Emperor Constant, was a great Confrantius, recailed St. Attoanaplus from Dabinillett.

In the Empelor Confrant, was a great fupport to the Catholicks, and they foon found a great mile of him, for he ended his days on the way to Spain, a the City Erna, in the county of Rouffillon. He was killed by Magnetius, who was in Rebellion, and policified of France, and Spain.

Conflantius refolving to revenge the Death of his Brother, before he fet out named Gallus, his Coufin, Cafar. Both Armies met near the City Murcia, in Sclavonia, where they came to a battle, which proved every bloody, for of the usurpers side 24000 Men were killed, and 30000 of Confiantius, yet very bloody, for of the usurpers side 24000 Men were killed, and 30000 of Conflamins, yet he got the day, but the forces of the Empire where much weakned by so great a laughter.

The Tyrant after the Fight field to Lious, in Frânce, there he and his Brother Decentius, tolow Morarch with the provinces of the Empire were again brought under one Monarch. Nevertheless the Germans broke into France, doing great harm there. The Emperor, besides his other faults was lealous of all Men, and gave ear to Court-Whisperers, the Plague of all Courts, whereby he had been prevailed upon some time before in the East, to kill his Cousin Gallust. Notwithstanding that a concernate the Parliant and onlet France, he took Colling the Parliant and onlet France.

by he had been prevaned upon some time before in the Lan, to All his could dain. Food withflanding that he might at once oppose the Persons, and quiet France, he took Gallus, withflanding that he might at once oppose the Persons, and too bind him the failer sown Brother fullan, out of a Monaltery, and declared him Cassar, and too bind him the failer states the to his interest, marryed him to his Sister Helen. Julian was sent into France, whilst the treasure. Emperor prepared for the War against the Persians. At this time St. Abbanasius, for fear of being killed absenced himself again, and lay hid till the death of Confamius, which hap ned in this manner. The event of the Persian War was unformanner, which map ned in this manner. The event of the terphan was was under tunate, and met with feveral difafers, at which the Emperor was highly corned. At the same time the Soldiers in France pleafed with the conduct of Julian, faluted cerned. At the same time the Soldiers in France pleased with the conduct of fusion, slabted him Emperor at Paris. This was a fresh cause of grief to Constantial, who resolved to march against him, but was prevented by death, which overtook him at Antioch. There he was repartized after the manner of the Arians, either that he had deterred it till then, or that he baptized after the manner of the Arians, either that he had deterred it till then, or that he his death was rebaptized after the major of the Arians, either that he had deterred it till then, or that he was rebaptized after the major of the Arians, either that he had deterred it till then, or that he constantial was rebaptized after the major of the Arians and the Arians was respectively. It is a constantial to the Arians and the Arians are the Arians are the Arians and the Arians are the Ar when lights are broughtin, had its Original among us. A certain Roman that was pretent imagining this word had carryed fome farther meaning, drew his Sword and kill'd the Mafter nonguing ans word had cell yet some in the meaning of the House with all his Family. This Ammianus Marcellinus relates without any other Circumtance. About this time also Flourished Clemens Prudentius, a Soldier, and Lawyer in cumtance. About this time and Frontined Liemens Primensia, a Souler, and Lawyer in his Youth, in his riper years a Poet, famous for the verfes he writ in praife of the Holy Martyrs. Alfo functions a Spanish Prieft, writ the like of Christ in Heroick verfe, and Pacianus, Bishop of Barcelona, employed his Talent in writning against the Novatians.

The Emperor Constantia left never a Son, and therefore appointed him, he would have Persecuted whilst living, his Successor at his death, that is his Cousin fusion, a Man of Learning and good natural endowments, that might have been compared to the best of Emperors, had he fill adhered to the true Rélieion and not suffered himself to be preverted

Learning and good natural endowments, that might have been compared to the belt of Emperors, had he fill) adhered to the true Religion, and not fuffered himfelf to be perverted by his Mafter Libáhus, fo as to forfake Chriltianity, by which he got the name of Apphate. As foon as possed to the Empire to gain the good will of all Men, he gave full Liberty to very one for follow the Religion they pleased. He revoked the Sentence of banishment, that had passed against Catholicks, excepting Abanasius, whom because after the death of Constantius, he returned to his Church he ordered to be apprehended, and so forced him again to abscond. To the Jews he gave Liberty to rebuild the Temple of Jerssalem, but such learness issued out of the foundations they were obliged to desist. The Gentiles were permitted to open their Temples, shut up since the time of Constantius. His hatred to the Christians was great ver he thought flut up fince the time of Constantine. His hatred to the Christians was great, yet he thought better to weaken them by Policy than open force, and therefore forbid their being admitted to any places of honour or truft, or their Childrens to be taught in the Greek Schools, which stirred up many Christians to write Learnedly in Verse and Prose, particularly the two Apalinarii, Father and Son, Perfons of great Learning. This Emperors end was suitable to his beginning. He undertook the War against the Persians, was at first successful, but to me beginning. The undertropy the war against the respons, was at first inderesting out thereupon advanced so far, that all his Army was in danger of pershing, and he himself slain galian with a Dart, as some say accidentally, thrown by his own Men, or the Enemies, others say killed he was struck by the Martyr, St. Mercurius with a Spear, which was then found bloody upon he was truckedy the Marryt, St. Paersana Will a Spear, y months, and 27 days. The whole Army upon his death offered the Empire to Flavius Jovianus a Person of very Excellent parts, who refused it saying, He was a Christian, and would not govern tibe the whole show the the state of the same of dectaring information to be committants, in connectication that request. Setting inverted in Months, the Imperial dignity, he made peace with the Persians, the not advantageous, yet such as 2 days, was requisite to deliver himself and Army, from the danger into which the rafines of Julian had run them. Catholicks were restored to their honours and dignities, the revenues to had run them. Catholicks were reflored to their honours and dignities, the revenues to Churches, St. Athonafius, and others recalled from banihment, and all things feemed to begain in a flourishing. Condition, but this happiness was not to be lasting, for the Emperor in his way to Rome, betwist Galaita, and Bithynia, was littled to death, by a pan of Coals that was left in the Rooft where he lay, which was newly whitened. He dyed at the Age of 40 Years, and Reigned only 7 months, and 22 days. By him it was made death to offer wrong to any Virgin conferrated to God, tho' upon pretence of Matrimony.

Flavius Valentinianus, an Hungarian succeeded Jovianus. His first education had been Fl. Valen-Figures Palentinanis, an Finingarian increased Journals. In this case and the best Ff. Valencian, but being Wife and Valiant, he ran through all Commands in the Army, at length, tipiani, attained to be prefect of the Pretorian Bands, was by the Army chosen Emperor, and proved in Years, always a zealous Christian, as appeared in the time of the Emperor Julian, when for refusing 8 Months, and 22 to deny his Religion, and giving a Box on the Ear to a Pagan Sexton, that fprinkled him and 22 with their Lutral, or cleanting Water, he quitted the Ginguian, which was laying down his. Committion. As foon as elected, he appointed his Brother Valent, his Companion in the Valentiem. Empire to govern the Eaft, and went away himfelf to Italy, where with much zeal the quiet error of the City of Rome, than in an uproar, about choosing a Pope. For the Electors being divide the East, ed upon the Death of Liberius, one party had named Chimus, but the more Numerous and better made Choice of Damagius a Spaniard 5, some will have him born at Egita, now Guimaraens better made Chôfe of Damasus spaniard; some will have him born at Egita, now Guimaraens in Portugal, betwitt the Rivers Duero, and Mino, others at Taragona, and others at Madrid. Certain it is he was a Spaniard, and a Person, excellently qualifyed. Upon this occasion there hap ned so great a Mutiny that (as Ammianus Marcellinus, a Heathen Author who lived at that Mutiny in time relates it.) 137 Men were killed one day, in the Church of Sicinium; and the same Rome, a. Author blames the Popes, for going in Coaches, and making more than Kingly Banquets, bout e-The Emperor quieted this Tumult, sending Ursimus to be Bishop of Naples. Yet the contrary party desired no, but accused Damasus of Adultery, and obliged him to call a Council of Bishops to clear himself. He declared the Council of Ariminum, to be void and of the force as grathered without the configure of the Pope decorded Ausentius Rishops of Miles. cil of Biflops to clear himfelt. He declared the Council of Arminium, to be void and of no force; as gathered without the confent of the Pope, depoted Auxentius Biflop of Milan, as being an Arrian, ordered the Pfalms of David, flould be Song in Churches, with the verfe Gloria patri, &c. at the end, infiltuted fajing the Conflictor, at the beginning of Mali, built two Churches at Rome, the one in honour of St. Laurence, the other of St. Peter and Paul, ad Catacumbar, in the Via Ardeatina, where he buryed his Mother and Sifter, and was a great Friend to St. Hierom, whom he much refembled in his Life and Learning. The Empire was not altogether in a peaceable Condition, for in the Eaft one Procepius, a Kinfinan of Julian, called himfelf Emperor. and saifed neur troubles. called himself Emperor, and raifed new troubles. Paless prefently moved towards and overcame lim in Porgia, where he was deliver'd up to him by his own Men. At the tame time Valentinian was succeessful in the War against the Germans, and Saxons, which is the first time, any mention is made of the latter in the Roman Hiltory. Besides, he drove the Goths Saxons Wives. Marcellinus tays, he gave Liberty of Contence to an even, to live in War Rengegion they pleafed. He dyed at Brigecium, a Town in Germany, where he was bufy, making yaleninian War upon the Quadi, having Reigned 11 Years, 8 Months, and 22 days, his Death was on Death.
the 17th of Nogember 375. By his Wife Severa, he left Gratianus, and Valentinian, by Juffi375.
18. Valens, in the East perfected the Catholicks, his Wife Dominica, and Endoaxus, Billing of Configuratiople, by whom he was baptized, after the manner of the Arrians, diffracted him fectors to finch a degree, that he had refolved at the City Edeffa, to enter the Church with Armed the Configuration of the Configuration of the Arrians of the Configuration of the Config to ance a degree, that he had reloved at the City Lacija, to enter the Church with Armed the Church with Service. But, Modeling the Covernour of the City, diverted him from putting it in Execution, for he told him that upon the rumouring of this his intention, more People than ordinary were gathered in the Church, with fuch a refolution to fuffer death for their Religion, that a Woman half undrett for half, led a child, fie had thither leaft, either herfelf, or he might mis the Opportunity of Moding this block for the Lith Unapprover that define but havified tunity of sheding their blood for the Faith. Hereupon Valens gave over that delign, but banished many Priests, among others Eustebius, Bishop of Cesarea, in Cappadocia, as famous for his resolution and constancy, as the other of Cesarea, in Patestine, for his Learning and Writings;

The great St. Bafil, succeeded him of Cappadocia, in the Bishoprick, and had enough to do with

1 Vear . 7

Book IV

Tamblichus, the Mafter of Procius, had great influence over Valens, he taught the Emperor. January, the manes of him that was to succeed in the Empire, which the Emperor him the way to find out the name of him that was to notice in the Empire, when the Emperor much defired. The manner was thus, they writ all the letters of the Alphabet upon the History and Analysis one a grain of Corn, then turning loofe a Cock, whilf the difficult when the corn off first, and madicis. those they supposed to express the name sought for. Another way was to blind a Man and obthose they supposed to express the name lought for. Amount way was to blind a Man and ob-ferve the letters he pointed to. Foolish and vain inventions. However by those means they found out the name Theodofius, whence the Emperor Malers took occasion to Perfecute, and kill all those whose names began with the same Letters, as Theodofius, Theodorus, and Theodorus, ilis. Among the reft was flain Honorius Theodofius a Spaniard, born at Italica, of the Family of the Emperor Trajan. This Gentleman had appeared certain tumults in Africk, and was of the Emperor Trajam. Therefore raifed to be General of Horfe, and received Baptism before death. No human Policy therefore raifed to be General of Horfe, and received Baptism before death. No human Policy is of force against the Divine decrees, so it hap ned this great Man by his Wise Termaneia, left two Sons, Theodosius the Great, and Honoritis. At the same time yast Multitudes of the coats broke into the Imperial Provinces, under the Command of Fridgernus, and Athanaricus. Discord arising betwirt them, as is usual among Persons in Equal power, Valent made in the province of the followed Athanaricus, by contract he gave the Province of Messa to plant in upon condition they should be baptized, which they did, but after the manner of the Arrians. Then it was that Upila, a Bishop among that People inversed the Cashibe Characters (distring from the Latin. and Translated the holy Continued to the continued to the continued the Cashibe Characters (distring from the Latin. and Translated the holy Continued to the continued to the continued the Cashibe Characters (distring from the Latin. did, but after the manner of the Arrians. Then it was that Ulfila, a Bilhop among that People invented the Goibick Characters differing from the Latin, and Translated the holy Scripture into their Language. This agreement, nor the late defeat were not of force to reduce in that furious and Warlike people, but they broke into Thrain. Valens coming to optic them was overthrown, and himself slain, for retiring into a cottage and refusing to pose them was overthrown, and himself slain, for retiring into a cottage and refusing to survey the street first oit, and the was burnt in it. This hap ned four Years after the survey of the street of the marching to his Assistance. Fridigernus, was Commander of these Goths, who after his defeat had gathered New forces, with hopes of revenging the affront he and his People had received.

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. VIII.

The Reigns of the Emperors, Gratianus, Valentinian, Theodolius, Arcadius, and Honorius.

B Efore his Death the Emperor Valentinian, had declar'd his Son Gratianus Cafar, and appropriate him his Heir and Successor in his last Will, which was punctually obeyed, only Valentinian the Army would have his Brother Valentinilm, be his Companion in the Empire, and fuch whe Army would have his Brother Valentinilin, be his Companion in the Empire, and fuch he was declar'd tho' then but very Young. The Victory obtain'd by the Gaths, over Valent made them fo infolent, that all the Eaft was in danger of being loft. It was requifite to find out fome Person of extraordinary valour and conduct, to whom the charge of curbing them should be committed as General. Such was Theodossis, who after the death of his Father liv'd retir'd at Italica, the place of his Birth in the farthet part of Spain. Thence as then live'd retir'd at Italica, the place of his Birth in the farthet part of Spain. Thence as the Goths, and humbled their Pride, which had carryed them so far, as to lay singe to Confantinopie, then the head of the World. In conclusion he press'd them so hard, they were forced to the sor Peace and had lands allusted them to plant in delivering up. Abdustinists. grantmople, then the head of the World. In conclusion he preisd them to hard, they forced to fue for Peace, and had lands allotted them to plant in, delivering by Abhanaicus; the Son of Fridgermus, as an Hoftage for performance of Articles on their part. Great was the honour Theodofius gain'd by this action, and fo great the faits action of Oratianus, that he thought as a reward of his good fervice; and for the fecurity of the East, he could do no less than Capiting this action. as a reward of his good tervices and for the fecurity of the East, he could do no less than Confiture him a third Ediperor. Besides, his worth and other good qualities in which he surpassed all Men, he was very Religious, as appears by a Law by him Establish'd, in his first, and Gratianus his fifth Consulhip, which Commands all Persons to follow the Doctrine of Pope Damass, and Peter, Bilhop of Alexandria. Three years after, which was of Christ. Eaft. Pope Damajus, and Peter, Bilhop of Alexandria. Three years atter, whiton was of Chrift.

383. 383. on the 1616 of January, Theodojus, named Arcadius, his Eledit Son, his Companion in the Empire. It hap ned that Amphiloshus, Bilhop of Iconium, in Lycaonia, vifited the Empire the Empire, was fitting by his fide, ror Theodojus, at fuch time as his Son and Companion in the Empire, was fitting by his fide, The Bilhop delignedly made his obeyfance to Theodojus, without taking notice of Arcadius. The Bilhop delignedly made his obeyfance to Theodojus, without taking notice of Arcadius. General

Chemeral Empirev, for you do the Jame with Ood, Ince you permit the Arrians to deliptic his Son. At the same council of time was also held a Council at Confiamtinople, reckoned the fecond of the General Councils of time was also held a Council and Confiamtinople was then in life, but only in a Dream thought he nut a Crown unon his Head. Confiantinople was then in life, but only in a Dream thought he put a Crown upon his Head. Constantinople was then in Diforder, and without a Bifton, because Gregory Nazianzen, on account that fome bore him Diforder, and without a Bifton, because Gregory Nazianzen, on account that fome bore him ill-will, had of his own accord retigned that Church. The Emperor caused Natianis, a Senator, not yet Baptized, to be chosen Bifton. In this Council all Herefics were Condemned, particularly that of Macedonius, who had been Bishop of Constantinople, and held a false Opinion concerning the Holy Ghoft; saying, He was a Creature. Pope Damasus approved all Heresie of the Decrees of this Council, and more especially their Creed; in which, as I find it in the Condemn-Conneil Forpillenie, they exprelly declare, that the Holy Ghoft proceeds from the Father ed. and the Son. Damafia ordained this Creed should be used in the Mass, in stead of the Nicene. He dy'd the Year after this Council was Celebrated, and Siricius Succeeded him. France and Spain were in Rebellion, for Clemens Maximus, by Birth a Spaniard, after stilling himself Em-Spain were in Rebellion, for ciemens maximis, by birth a spaining, after fitting infinite Emperor in Britany, had feized those Provinces; Gratian the Emperor marched against him.

They came to a Battle near Paris, where the Tyrant got the Victory, and Gratian at Lions, Gratian whither he fled after the Fight, was murdered by the Treachery of Andragacius. He Reignthe Emperor ed 7 Years, 9 Months, and 9 Days after the Death of his Father, left no Children, and was ror mu ed 7 Years, 9 Months, and 9 Days after the Death of in states, the first of the Roman Emperors that would not accept of the Pontifical Stole, which was offer-dered, ed to them as High-Priefts by the Romans, when Pagans. Leta the Wife of Gratian, and Pi-MacReign-famena, his Mother-in-law, lived in Rome with the state of Queens, till that City was destroy ed Years, ed, on Revenues affigned them by Theodosius, in acknowledgment of the Empire he had re- o Months. ed, on Revenues anigned them by Themashin, in action to the Linghit view of the Carly to Prifcillianus & 9 Days, raked up the embers that had remained of the Gnofficks, fince Mark, the Disciple of Bashides, raked up the embers that had remained of the Gnosficks, fince Mark, the Disciple of Bashides, as was said before, sowed his false Doctrine. Priscillian was a Noble and Powerful Man, prisillian man, and the property of the Carly the Carlot of t Born in Galicia, had good Natural Parts, was wateful, and could endure Hunger and Thirdt, but had other Vices, which blemifined all, for he was proud, and unfettled, and his Learning made him bold. By these means, he drew over to his Party two Bishops, whose Names mig made min bott. By there means, he drew over to make any observable were Inflameius and Saivinus. Islancius, Bilhop of Merida, opposed them, at the instance of Ilifatinus, Bilhop of Cordova. The harsness of these Men, caused the fore to rankle, which, if gently handled, might perhaps, have been healed. Recourse was had to the last Remedy; which was to Cite the Hereticks to appear before a Synod at Zaragoga, there to answer for themselves. They appeared not, whereupon, the Bishops Instancia and Salvianus, as allo Epidius and Pricilianus, who were Lay-men, and with them Agidina, Bilhop of Codova, who of an Enemy, was become an Afferter of their Doctrine, were all Excommunicated. Itacius Sostubensis, as Severus Sulpicius has it, but it should be Ossonovensis, that is, Bishop of the sum of the sum of the charge of publishing and notifying this Sentence to them. St. If-Eformar in Portugal, had the charge of publishing and notifying this Sentence to them. St. If-dorus only flys, he was a Spanish Bishop, and Sigibertus, that he was of Lamego. He was a passionate and talkative Man, reproved those that safted, and was much given to read the Holy Scripture. This Itacius and Idacius, obtained an Edict from the Emperor Gratian, then living, whereby those Hereticks were ordered to be expelled all Churches and Cities. Infancius, Salvianus, and Priscillian, then by the affiltance of his Adherents made Bishop of Avila went to Rome to answer for themselves; but could not obtain Audience of Pope Damasus, They returned to Milan, where the Emperor Gratian was. St. Ambrole would not give ear to them, for all Men were offended at that new Doctrine. Yet they were no way difinayed, but Bribed Macedonius, the Emperor's Steward, and by his means the former Edict was vacated, and Priscillian, and Instancius restored to their Churches, for Salvianus dy'd at Rome, In this manner they returned to Spain fo encouraged, that they accufied Interim as a Seditions Perfon. Followithing the Vicar, caused him to be Apprehended; but he Appealed to France. Thence, being not well received by Gregory the Prefect, he went on to Treves to feek Favour with Clemens Maximus, who stil'd himself Emperor, with whom, he so far prevailed, that the business was again referred to a Gouncil of Bishops, who, by his Command met at Bourdeaux. Priscillian and Instancius, appearing, the latter was Deposed, the other Appeal'd to Maximus. The Appeal was allowed of, so the Cause of the Hereticks was again put into the hands of Lay-men; a thing then very new. The Cause being try'd at Treves, and managed by Itacius, Prifcillianus was Convicted of Sorcery, and of entertaining scandalous Meetings mis, and of Men and Women by Night, under colour of Religion; for, which Grimes he received his Ad-Sentence of Death, and was Executed; and with him Felicissimus, Armedius and Latronianus, herents Sentence of Death, and was Executed, and what had well all the best of the Condem-who is reckoned among the Poets of that Age. Inflancius submitting to the Judgment of the Condem-who is reckoned among the Poets of that Age. Inflancius submitting to the Judgment of the Condem-who is reckoned among the Poets of that Age. Inflancius submitting to the Judgment of the Condem-who is reckoned among the Poets of that Age. Inflancius submitting to the Judgment of the Condem-ment of the Condem-the Condem-the Condem-the Condemthe Con opposed all these Proceedings, saying, That Hereticks ought not to be put to Death, especially at the instance of Bishops. A meekness perhaps, suitable to those times, but, which exany at the initiate of binops. A meetines perhaps, initiate to those times, but, which experience has taught is not at all agreeable with ours. Thefe Evils did not coae by the Death of Prijeillian, the dead Bodies were brought to Spain, and by the Followers of that Doctrine, honoured as Martyrs; among whom, it was held the most facred Oath to swear by the Name nononica as materis; among whom, it was need the most latest of the read of Prifeillian. On the other fide, Itacius, and Idacius, (Ifidows calls him Officius) were accused of what they had done, and Condemned to Banilhment. These Hereticks, not to speak prifeilliof the corruptness of their Lives, consounded the Divine Persons, allowed of Divorces, held amus Errors. it a Crime to eat Flesh, said that the Souls proceeded from the Divine Essence, and descend- rors. ed thro' feven Heavens by the help of certain Angels, as it were by steps to the combat of this Life, and there fell into the power of the Prince of Darkness, the maker of this World, They made Men wholly subject to the Stars, and taught they were Governed by the 12 Signs.

Pope Siricius, who succeeded Damasus in the Government of the Church, wrote a Letter to Himerius, Bishop of Tarragona, in answer to many Questions he had put to him concerning Baptism, Matrimony, Virgins and Men Consecrated to the Service of God and Holy Orders.

He commands him to communicate it to the Bishops of the Provinces Carthaginiensis, Betica, and Galleia. In the fifth Year after the Election of Stricius, Theodosius and Maximus came and Gauria. In the nith year after the election of Stribin, 1 necouplus and Adaximus came to a Battle near Aquileia. The Tyrant loft the day, and foon after was taken and killed. Thus to a Battle near Aquileia. The Tyrantlost the day, and soon after was taken and killed. Thus Nathinian the younger, who was sted for sear into the East, again recovered the Empire of the West. The beginning of this War was good, and God prospered them accordingly; the West. The beginning of this War was good, and God prospered them accordingly; for on the 14th of succeeding the total constant the first time, in Stobis, a City of Macedonia, they enacted a Law, forbiding Hereticks to have Meetings, or Stobis, a City of Macedonia, they enacted a Law, forbiding Hereticks to have Meetings, or Communicate out of the Church; and on the 27th of August the same Year, was gained that remarkable and important Victory. Thus far the Emperor Theodosius showed himself very remarkable and important Victory. Thus far the Emperor Theodosius showed himself very remarkable and important Victory. Thus far the Emperor Theodosius showed himself very remarkable and important Victory. Rengious, our used great clustry at the City Inefficient, which, because in a muchy the City tizens had killed Butereius, an Officer in the Army, and fome others, of the Emperor's Servants, Theologist he cauled 6000 of them to be flain. Ambrofe, Bp. of Milan, having notice of them to be flain. Ambrofe, Bp. of Milan, having notice of the flut the the maper - Church Doors upon Theodofist, Excommunicated and Reproved him feverely for what he had not be a communicated and reproved him feverely for the communicated and reproved the mpe Church Doors upon Theodofius, Excommunicated and Reproved him feverely for what he had ror Exist done, and flewed him there was no way to appeale God but by Penance. Theodofius took one, and flewed him there was no way to appeale God but by Penance. Theodofius took one, and flewed him there was no way to appeale God but by Penance. Theodofius and flewed him there was no way to appeale God but by Penance. The further the sent in the first returned to try if the Bp. Months after, thro' the perfusions of his Favoritie Rushius. Anthorée again received him at the Door with no lefs fevere Language than before; but being fentible of his Repentance, ad-Door with no lefs fevere Language than before; but being fentible of his Repentance, admitted him, upon Condition, that for the future, none should be put to Death till 30 Days intend him, whensover he was Angry he should were passed after the Sentence. He also enjoyed him, whensover he was Angry he should were passed after the Sentence. He also enjoyed him, whensover he was Angry he should were passed after the Sentence. He also enjoyed him, whensover he was Angry he should were passed after the Sentence. One should be put to Death till 30 Days in the first passed on the sentence of the senten Anisob in what hap ned at Anisob. The Emperor's Officers had laid some new and heavy Tax on that dauger of City, the People Mutinying, raged to fuch a degree, that they dragged a Statue of the Empress of City, the People Mutinying, raged to fuch a degree, that they dragged a Statue of the Empress of City, the People Mutinying, raged to fuch a degree, that they dragged a Statue of the Empress of Placilla about the Streets. Theodofius refented this Affront in the highest degree, as well in the Company of the Company of regard his Wite was dead, as because the had been to Holy and Vittuous, that she used with her own Hands to feed the Sick in Hospitals; and put her Husband in mind of what he had been, that he might not grow proud. For these Reasons, he had infissed a most exemplary Punishment on that City, had not the Advice of Ambroge fostned his Heart, together with the coming of Embassacors from their caywho, whilst the Emperor was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from their caywho, whilst the Emperor was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from their caywho, whilst the Emperor was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from their caywho, whilst the Emperor was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from their caywho, whilst the Emperor was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from their caywho, while the Emperor was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from their caywho was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from the caywho was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from the caywho was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from the caywho was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from the caywho was at Dinner, caused cerwith the coming of Embassacors from the caywho was at Dinner, caused cerwith the caywho was at Dinner, caused cerwith the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the caywho was at Dinner can be carried to the cayw with the coming of embanations from thence, who, withit the embander is a Dinner, cancer tain Children to fing a Song made for that purpose, set to a doleful Tune, whereby he was moved to compassion. Theodofius now returned into the East, which gave Arbagestes an opportunity of the Compassion of the tunived to companion. I occusions now recurred into the Ean, which gave Aconggles an opportunity to Drown the young Emperor Valentinian, at Vienne in France, and with his affiliation. Eugenius of a School-malter preliumed to take upon him the Style of Emperor, in the Year Eugenius of a School-malter prelumed to take upon him the Style of Emperor, in the Year 392. This looked rather like a Jeft; yet was a great affront to the Empire, and fo far was 1 beodofius concerned, that he had recourfe to the holy Hermits in the Delarts, to beg they would be mindful of him in their Prayers. One of those Fathers, called John, by Letter, gave him affurance of the Victory, and at the same time acquainted him he fhould never return hiles him from Italy. He marched towards the Enemy, who was not unprovided; at the foot of the form.

The History of SPAIN.

Alls the two Armies met, the Battle was bloody, and obfinately fought. On a fudden there arose a Storm of Wind, Rain, Thunder, and Lightning, which drove so upon the Rebels, arose a storm of wind, the translation of the storm of which we have the storm of which the story that the story of the that they could not weild their Weapons, as Claudian, a famous Poet of those times relates it.

2000 Gobbs, who served under the Emperor's pay, since the death of Albanaricus, did great fervice, and thus as length, Theodofius having made a great flaughter, became Master of the fervice, and thus as length, Theodofius having made a great flaughter, became Master of the field. Eugenius after the Fight was killed by his own Men, and Arbogostes made away with Field. Eugenius after the Fight was killed by his own Men, and Arbogostes made away with fields in the first own for foot and for the first own for foot for first own first own for first own for first own for first own first own for first own first that they could not weild their Weapons, as Claudian, a famous Poet of those times relates it.

for his great Actions and Virtues, tho it had not been given him by his Father. It was a fufficient demonstration of his Zeal for Religion, that he caused the Pagan Temples which fufficient demonstration of his Zeal for Religion, that he caused the Pagan Temples which Constantine had shut up, to be utterly demolished.

Arter the Death of the Great Theodosius, his Sons took upon them the Administration of After the Death of the Great Theodosius, his Sons took upon them the Administration of After the Death of the Great Theodosius, his Sons took upon them the Administration of After the Death of the Great Theodosius, had had the East, and Homorius the West. They were more Religious and Virtuous than Fortunate; for in their time the Majesty of the Roman Empire, which from a dividual height, that it laboured under its own weight, bean and the Spain, and never more recovered it self. By the Death of Pope Stricius, Anashaisus was gan to fall, and never more recovered it self. By the Death of Pope Stricius, Anashaisus was an to fall, and never more recovered it self. By the Death of Pope Stricius, Anashaisus was demonded to the Government of Theodoson and the Spain, and commenced on the first of September, in the Year 400. This Synod conhect the Hercefic of Prifcillian, and reconciled to the Church the two Bps. Simphosius and Duttinius, and a Priest called Comassius, who all Abjured it. The Government of the Embustician and a Priest called Comassius, who all Abjured it. The Government of the Embustician and Priest called Comassius, who all Abjured it. The Government of the Embustician and Priest called Comassius was a Person of greater Authority than the other two, as being like in the West. This last, was a Person of greater Authority than the other two, as being lico in the West. This last, was a Person of greater Authority than the other two, as being Allied to the Emperors, for Serena his Wife, was Daughter to Honorius, the Brother of Theodofius the Great, and he was Father-in-Law to Honorius the Emperor. Theodofius had thus ordered that these three might be in the nature of Tutors to his Sons, and case them of the burden of the Government, but they giving way to Ambition, and forgetting their duty, the burden of the Government, but they giving way to Ambition, and forgetting their duty, attempted to usurp the power and fo deftroy the Empire. Gildus was the first that rebelded in Africk. His own Brother Mazecel was fent to suppress him, who vanquished and slew him, and then himself usurped the name of Emperor, and came to the same end. Rusinus, by birth a Britain, or French-man, stirred up the Goth, and other barbarous Nations, but the Tresson being discovered, lost his Head. These Examples were not of force enough to deter Traytors, for Stiftion intending to make his own Son Eucherius Emperor, and destroy the Children of Theodofius the Great, invited several Nations to invade the Empire, and particularly, made a private agreement with the Alans, a fierce People, and the Vandals, of whose Alans, and Country he was. The Goths were the first that appeared in Arms, offended that their pay was kept from them, which was done defignedly. After over-running all Thracia, and the stilled by Stilles.

Radagasius, one of their chiefs, without any opposition, pierced as far as Tuscany, and there, near Florence, was slain with all his Men by Stilico. He might have deftroyed Alaricus, who commanded the other party, but would not, to keep the Emperor still in awe, but worsted him, and then assigned his Men places to inhabit in the farthest part of France, Stilico was unwilling they should leave Italy, and therefore fent one Saul a Jew, to fall upon them who was killed, and his forces routed, and therefore fent one Saul a Jew, to fall upon them who was killed, and his forces routed, and the Golbs provoked by this injury, retrured into Italy, where they flayed some Years. The treachery of Stilico was not fuspected at first, but being discovered soon after, his head was cut off in the Year 408. His Wife Serna, and Son Eucherius were also executed, and Honorius put away his Wife in hatred to her Father Stilico. Great was the mischief, thee Golbs did throughout all Italy, and never ceased till they sate down before Rome the head of World, which after a long siegethey entred, putting all within to Fire and Sword. Rome was taken in the Year 4 to according to the best computations. Placidia, Sistent to the two Emm. In the perors, was there taken, and marryed to Atauljus Brother-in-Law to Atlaricus, and Soon Year succeeded in the Kingdom, he dying at Cosponia, a City of the Bruti, now Calabria, but the Standing, and Honorius agreed, and the Golbs went to inhabit those parts of Atlarics. France, and Spain, which lie next the Pyreneam Mountains. Hence they took occasion to make King of themselves Masters of all Spain, and a good part of France, as will appear in the follow the Vision. themselves Masters of all Spain, and a good part of France, as will appear in the follow- the Visoing Book.

THE

History of S P A I N.

The Fifth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The coming of several Barbarous Nations into Spain, as the Vandals, Alans, Suevians, Silingians, and Goths. Their Original, and where they fettled.

E shall now Treat of a mighty power of fundry, sierce, and barbarous Na- Who were tions, which like an inundation, spread themselves through all parts of the and the same tions. Spain, these were the Vandals, Alans, Suevians, and Silingians. But above Alans, Sile-all the Goths, who having quitted their Ancient Seats and Habitations, after vians, Silin-▼ ■ all the Golds, who having quitted their Ancient Seats and Habitations, after value, filling all from Eaft to Welft, with the terror of their Name and Actions, and over-running flant, and all Italy, at last fettled in Spain, and there having partly expell'd, and partly subdued the other Nations, for above 300 years maintained their Sovereignty. There is no doubt but all these People and others like them, at several times came from the North, and entred the Provinces of the Roman Empire, their own Native Countries, being overstocked with Multitudes of People, and the barrenness of its foil obliging them to seek more plentiful and pleasant Seats. As this in general is certain, so is it no less doubtful from what particular parts or provinces each of the Nations came. there is great pientitui and pleaiant seats. As this in general is certain, 10 is it no teis quoutful from what particular parts or provinces each of these Nations came, there is great variety of Opinions, and the ignorance of those times gives us but little light to discover the Truth. Pliny places the Vandals in that part of Germany, about Pomerania, the' Dio fays, the springs of the River Abbi, or Elbe, are in the Mountains of Vandalia. The Burguadis quadrans, are to be reckoned among the Vandalis, taking their fame from Burgs, signifying and Villague, in which they lived dispected, and some facilities among the Vandalis are their pome. Villages, in which they lived dispersed, and after settling among the Hedui, gave their name to that part of France, now called Burgundy. Dionysius, who writ Geography in verse, places the Alans, near Dacia, and the Getes. Marcellinus places them in Scythia. The Silings came into Spain with the Vandals, and fettled in Andaluxia, without having any particular King of their own. It is uncertain what part of the North they came from, fome believe them to have been part of Bavaria, where formerly was a Town nome believe them to have been part of bavaira, where connects was a foundable of the miles from Ingolfadd. Grave Aucalled Salingofaddium, near the Danube, three miles from Ingolfadd. Grave Authors affirm, the Suevians, had formerly their Seats near the River Elbe, but Strabo places them near the Springs of the Danube, about the City Aufburg. It remains to fpeak of the Golds who Golds, whole origin, because they gained and maintained the Sovereignty of Spain for many they were. years, we will look into more exactly. Some were of Opinion, the Gotts where the fame with the Getes, who Piny, and Herodotta place about the Mouth of the Danube. Most and the best Authors are of Opinion, that the Goths came from the Province called Scandia, or Scandinavia, formerly Balilia, or Balilia, a large Country North of Germany, and Poland, joining on the East to Finand, and encompassed on all the other sides by the Balick, and Frozen joining on the East to Finand, and encompassed on all the other sides by the Balick, and Frozen joining on the East to Finand, and encompassed on the total state of the Scandina, altogether is a large Peninjula, longer than it is broad, and divided into Nor-Dea. Scanata, altogether is a large Pennjuan, songer than it is broat, and divided into Pornay, Sneden, Lapland, and Gobland. The South-Eaft part of this great Peninfula forms, another leffer, which is called Gobbia, or Ociobland, and is fubdivided into Ofrogobbia, and Vijogobba, or Westrogobbia, that is the Eastern and Western Gobbs. Among the Vijogobs, Vijogothia, or Westrogothia, that is the Eastern and Western Gotos. Among the Vijogoths, the Batis, which in their Language signifies bold, and among the Ostrogoths, the Amasi, the Complexion fair, like the other People of Germany, their Language not unlike, nor much differing from those offer Nations, that the other National Maria Coulombs, and the Maria Coulombs and Maria Coulombs. that about this time broke into Spain. Only the Alans are faid to have used the Language of Scythia, but this is rather a furmife than a known truth. As to Religion all these Nation had Scythia, but this is rather a furmine than a known thath. As to Religion of then, or foon after did imbrace Chriftianity, for before they were given to Idolatrous fuper-the Gaths, the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they Saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they Saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they Saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they should have no fuccets in War, unless they saturday the Gaths, believed they saturday the saturday they s orificed human Blood, and therefore offered up the Prifoners of War to Mars, whom they chiefly honoured, and dedicated the beft of their boory, hanging the skins of those they flow on Trees; Before the battle they facrificed Horfes, and carryed their heads on spears, with the mouths open before them. They believe the immortality of the Soul, and that there with reward and punishment after death. When it Thundered they caft Darts up towards Hearward thinking to affift God against those that endeavoured to force him out of Heaven. They Song the praises of their Forefathers, to Musick, as is now used in Spain. Some fay the Arms of the Goths were, Wavy a Lion Regardant; others will have them to be three Lions like those of England. But it is to no purpose to infist upon these uncertainties, let us see the occcasion that Occasion brought to many and so barbarous Nations into Spain. In the height of that confusion, into Occasion of the Bar- which the Roman Empire was fallen, and was related in the laft Book, one Marcus, in Britany, of the Bar- which the Roman Empire was fallen, and was related in the laft Book, one Marcus, in Britany, by BroussNa- was falleted Empireror by the Legions, and foon after by them killed. In his place they then some choic Gracinus, whom also they slew within 4 Months. Next they Proclaimed Constanting into tine, for no other merit but the take of his Name, which was looked upon as Fortunate. This hapned in the year 411, Theodofus the younger being then Emperor of the East, his Fa-This hapned in the year 411, Theodojus the younger being then Emperor of the East, his Father Mcadius being dead three years before. A great part of France, and Spain, declared for Conflantine, yet fome adhered to the true Emperors. Among these Didimus, and Perinianus, raising an army, indeavoured to secure the passes of the Pyrenean Mountains against Conflantine, but were discomsted and sain by Conflant the Tyrants Son, whom he had taken out of a Monastery, declared Casar, and sent before into Spain. The Army of Conflants was for the most part made up of those People that came out of sermany, into France, and by realton of an apreement they had made with Homerica. and by reason of an agreement they had made with Henorius, were called Honoriacs. These by consent of Constans, spoiled all the Country of Spain, as far as Palencia, for he deligned to purchase the good will of those Barbarians, with the ruins of others. To these at his return into France, he committed the care of guarding the paffes on the Pyreneam Mountainsturn into France, he committed the care of guarding the paffes on the Pyreneam Mountainsturn The Spaniard were offended at it, and threatned fome fudden change, which foon after hapned. For the Homoriaci invited the Vandals, Alans, Sueviam, and Slingiams to come into Spain, and agreed to give them free passage. The occasion that moved them to quit France. Vandati, Alani, Sin. where they were fettled, is supposed to be the fear they had conceived of the Goths, whom, when, and being then joyned with Honorius, they thought they should be in no condition to resist. No Silingians, less was their dread of Constantine, who having subdued great part of France, aspired to be neme into Mafter of all the reft. Hermenericus was King of the Suevians, Ataese of the Alans, Gundricus of the Vandals, and Simgians. The coming of these Barbarous Nations was the ruin of Spain, for they seized indifferently as well what belonged to Spaniards, as Romans, and Famin and deftroyed the Towns and open Country, whereupon enfued fuch a Famine, that the Nature of the Result of t a Plague, and raged to that degree, that betwixt both evils, great part of the Country was left walt, and so the Barbarians feated themselves where they belt liked. The Sievians, a part of the Vandals, possessed Galicia, then larger than it is now, as containing all Old Castile. The Alans planted in Lustania, and the Province Caribaginensis, except the Kingdom of Toleda, and the Celtiberi, who continued in the Roman subjection. Betica, fell to the other Vandalis, and Silingians. Having thus divided the Country, they agreed with the Romans, and then began again to till the land, the Spainards looking upon this Slavery, as more tolerable than the Romans. Yet some sew preserved their Liberty, especially in Galicia, among the Suevidas. In Hispania Citerior, one Maximus was saluted Emperor, by the procurement of Geroncius a Count, who did it in hatred to the Tyrant Constantine, they he had once been of his party. His chief aim was under the shadow of the other to make himself absolute. Therefore leaving Maximus at Tarragona, he marched with an Army into France, took the City Vienne, seaving oraximus at 1 arragona, ne marched with an Army into France, took the City France, and flew Confians the Cafar; but hearing Confiantius: was coming upon him, returned into Spain, where the Spaniard fet fire to his House and burnt him. Maximus having lost Geroneius, who was his support, laying aside the Imperial Robes, fied, and led the reli of his life in mifery, which lasted till the time of Paulus Orofius, as he himself testifies. Mean while the frant Confiantine, and his Son Julian, as allo Jovius and Sebastianus, who had Rebelled in France, were killed by Constantius, and all France reduced under the obedience of Emorius, in the Year 413. Two Years after, by the Emperor's confent, the Goths polletied themselves of the Country about the Pyrenean Mountains, and choic Narhonne for the Court of their Kings, in the Year 415, whence that part of the Country came afterwards to be called Gallia Gabica; the Bounds whereof, were often changed, according to the various Success they had in their Wars with the neighbouring Franks and Romans.

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. II.

The Goths Vanquish and Subdue all the other Barbarous Nations in Spain. The Vandals after this Successful, go over into Africk. The rife of the Kingdom of the

S Pain was divided into feveral Kingdoms, differing in Laws, Customs, and Religion. The Romans and Spaniards, were Catholicks, the Goths, Arians, the other barbarous Nations had not yet embraced Christianity, but followed the Superstitions of their Fore-fathers. Each defiring to fecure to themselves that part they had seized in the time of Confusion, laboured to fettle Peace and Amity with the Romans. Godigifius, King of the Vandals, was the first Godigifius poured to lettle reace and anily with the common. Our gives that the concluded an Agreement upon the Terms, that his People found live peaceably in Spain K. of the without wronging the Natives; and should at no time plead Prescription of 30 Years, to remakes tain what they had unjustly and violently taken from the Romans. The Alans being a more Peace fierce People than the others, affaulted the Vandals and Silingians, obliged them to quit all with the Province Petica, and retire into Galicia, that with the affiliance of the Suevians, they Romans. the Province Bettea, and retire into Gancia, that with the animalies of the Progress might be inabled to recover their Lands from whence they were drove. But the Alans turn of the might be inabled to recover their Lands from whence they were converted that the detection of the Romans of the detection and Carpetania, and took many Towns from the Romans of the Gobb also, the next Year after they had fettled in France, palled over into Spain. Atail. Amiliar first their King, either weary of the War, or being better affected towards the Romans, as and significant the Romans of the Romans of the Romans of the Carpetania and Muchaerd him as Razcelona of the Carpetania and Muchaerd him as Razcelona of the rious Nature of the People, who hereupon Confpired and Murdered him at Barcelona, by Golis the means of one Versulfus, his Favourite. In the place of Anadfus, they chose Sigericus, a murdred. Man of known Courage and Conduct; but he also following the Footsteps of Anadfus in his inclination to Peace, was killed by his own People within the first Year of his Reign. Walia. a restless and turbulent Man succeeded him. He at the beginning of his Reign gathered a a retriets and utroutent man increeded num. He at the beginning of his Reign gathered a great Fleet, in order to pass over into Africk, which was so shattered by a Storm in the nar rowest part of the Streight, that he was forced to return into Spain, and come to an Agreement with Conflamins. The Conditions were, that he should deliver up Placidia, the Widdow of Analysis, that by her Brother the Emperor, was promised to the said Constantius, the Remans And that the Costs should make We was the other hadroner. Nation in Costs and the Remans And that the Goths should make War upon the other barbarous Nations in Spain, all that they and that the Goris mound make War upon the other parasities reactions in Spain, an that they gained to belong to the Roman Empire, and they to be content with what was affigined then you the Borders of France and Spain. This was concluded in the Year 418 according to Paulus Orofius, Prieft of Tarragona, well known for his Learning, who lived at this time Paulus Orofius, Prieft of Tarragona, well known for his Learning, who lived at this time And writ the Roman Hilfory, which he continued to the following Year. Honorius befides Marrying Confiantius to his Sifter, made him his Companion in the Empire. To Walia, he freely added the Dominion of Guienne; for having subdued, as was agreed, the barbarous Nareceip acceut the Dominion of Guenne; for naving mounced, as was agreed, the barbarous wattions. For the Gobbs having taken in hand that War, fell upon the Alans, who proud with their late Success, assired to the Sovereignty of all Spain, flew their King Anaces, and a great Alans and number of them in Battle, and forced the rest to quit Lustinania, and sy into Galicia, where submixing with the Swevians, the Name of their Nation and Kingdom, was quite lost. The Succession of the Cohen Cohen and Control of the Cohen Co mixing with the Succians, the Name of their Nation and Kingdom, was quite lott. The Signature ling were also defeated, in a Battle near Tarifa; and so entirely brought under, that they received Gothish Governours. The Vandals and Succians, terrified at this Success, submitted Vandals themselves to the Romans, in whose name the War was made, tho' at the expence, and dan- and Sucger of the Goths. The Suevians offered to ferve under the Romans, but they refused, less be-vins subing in Arms, they might have power to Mutiny. Walia having concluded fo great a War, mit. and pacified Spain, returned into France, where he dy'd, in the Year 419. Having Reigned 419. only 3 Years; in which small time he performed Actions that added much to his own, and his Nations honour, and increased their Territories with the addition of Guienne. After the Death of Walia, two things fell out very fatal, one, that the new Emperor Constantius returning into Italy after quieting Spain and France, dy'd at Ravenna, in the Year 421. Laving by his Wife Placidia a Son, an Indantanamed Valentinian, whom his Uncle Hono-Gunderium in tropk case for Educated as his Confinition and Confinition. rius took care to fee Educated as his Successor in the Empire. The other was, that the bar-K. of the runs took care to tee Educated as its successor in the Empire. In outside was, that the object by additions in Spain began again to Revolt, and refunded their former Authority, especially the Padalis, whose King Gunderieus, defigned to possess they fell upon the Suevians, and forced them to retire to the Mountains Ervasi, supposed by fome, to be those now called Arvas, betwixt Leon and Oviedo. But because they refused to come to a Battle, the Vandals despairing of doing any good upon them, gathered a great Fleet, and passed over to the Islands Mallorea and Minorea, which they destroyed with Fire and Sword. Returning thence to the Continent, they utterly demolished Carthagena, fome time before taken from the Alans, and restored to the Romans. It continued in Ruins a long time. till at length for the conveniency of the Port, it began to be Rebuilt, and in our days fearce this at length for the conveniency of the Port, it organ to be recoult, and in our days learce contains 600 Families. This defiredion hapined 900 Years after it was built by the Carbaginians. Gunderius, King of the Vandals, after thing Carlbagena, affaulted the Silingi, who were fubject to the Romans, wasted the Country and having entred Sevil by force, and plundered it, offered to Rob the Church of St. Piment, a place of great Devotion and Riches; but was by a juli Judgment of God, fruck dead at the very Door. His Bastard Brother Genseaus ricus, by others called Guntharis, succeeded him. All this haphed the same Year the Emforce of the Port of the St. The same time also Sominus and Maximus called themselves Emperor fucceeds peror Confiantius dy'd; at the fame time alfo, Jovinus and Maximus, called themselves Empe-fucceeds peror Confiantius dy'd; at the same time alfo, Jovinus and Maximus, called themselves Empe-Gundericus rors in Spain, which obliged Honorius to send Cassimus, an able Commander, with fresh Forces, rors in Spain, which obuged Honorius to tend Casimus, an able Commander, with their forces, as well to suppress those Usurpers, as to quell the Vandals. Jovinus and Maximus were soon taken, and put to Death; but to subdue the Vandals, was more difficult. Cassimus therefore not confiding in his own strength, called over into Spain the Earl Bonifacius, a Man much known for his great Abilities in Peace and War, as also for his Friendship with St. Augusin. He came over from Africk, where he was Governour; but Divisions falling out among them. as is usual, where the Power is equal, returned again into Africk, and Castinus deprived of as is usual, where the Power is equal, returned again into Apprex, and Capinus deprived of his Affiliance, being in no condition to oppose the Fundals, went away into Italy, in the Year 423. This fame Year, the Emperor Honorius dy'd, on the 14th of Anig reigned 28 Years, 11 Months, and 10 Days. He was no lefs famous for his Zeal in Religion, than for the decay of the Romas Empire, which began in his Days. Valentinian III. Son of Confamitus, a Child, succeeded in the Empire; which gave occasion to Flavius Joannes to attempt to usure the Empire, but two Years after, he was vanquished and slain. Placidia* the Empires, Governed for her Son. Bonifacius, who Governed Africk, thinking to make his adpreis, Governed for ner son. Donthams, who Governed Africa, limiting to make his advantage of the times, called over Genferius, King of the Vandals, into Africa, who refolved, not to flip fo fair an opportunity of gaining fogreat a Dominion, and therefore immediately palled over with 80000 fighting Men. The Silingi staid in Spain, especially in that part of the Province Betica about Sevil; upon which account, they being mixed with, and effeemed pattesover part of the Vandals, the Country losing its former name of Betica, was called Vandalosia, into africa and Andaloria do not exofile agree now Andaluzia; notwithstanding, the Bounds of Betica and Andaluzia, do not exactly agree. By reason of the departure of the Vandals, the Power of the Suevians began to grow Formito your round of the department of the Fanance, and force of the medium negative grow forming dable throughout all Spain. Hermenerius was their King, and he dying of a tedious Sickness, in the Year 440, and the 324 of his Reign, Rethila his Son, a hot and fiery Youth, following his Father's Foothers, near the River Xeni met Ardebotus, fent by the Emperor into Spain, nis rather's roothers, heat the Meet Administration was fine, as left him rich enough to fup-overthrew and killed him in Battle. The Booty was fine, as left him rich enough to fup-port the charge of the War. After this Victory he Conquered all Betica, and took Sevil, a City then, by reason of the Wars, not so considerable as it was before, or is at present. Thence he turned into Lustrania, and took Merida, whereby, what remained of the Alans, was wholly brought under. It was no small help to the Suevians, that at that time the Country was naked, and without defence; for Sebastian the Roman General, was gone over into Africk, try was naked and whether was by them slain, as Paulus Diaconus relates it. Wherefore the Suevians went on, and subdued Carpetania, or the Kingdom of Toledo, and the Profore the Suevians went on, and subdued Carpetania, or the Kingdom of Toledo, and the Profore the Suevians went on, and subdued Carpetania, or the Kingdom of Toledo, and the Profore the Suevians went on, and subdued Carpetania, or the Kingdom of Toledo, and the Profore the Suevians went on, and subdued Carpetania.

Book V.

Reign'd

vince of Carthagena; but soon after agreeing with the Romans, they restored these two Provinces. Rechila dy'd in the Year 448. and left his Son Recciarius to fucceed him, who was the first of the Suevian Kings that received the Faith of Christ, and propagated the true Religion among his People in Spain. Thus much of the Sucvians.

CHAP. III.

The Reigns of the Kings Theodoredus, Torismund, and Theodorick. Attila King of the Huns, twice Routed. The General Council of Chalcedon.

flourished both in Riches and Honour. For this reason, and because they were used to make the end of one War, the beginning of another, they broke the Peace with the Romans, and began to spread a Terror. Theodoredus's numerous Issue much encreased his Power; for he had fix Sons, Torifmundus, Theodoricus, Euricus, Fridericus, Reccinerus, and Himericus; as alfo two Daughters, one Married to Humericus the Vandal, Son of Genfericus, who Persecuted the Catholicks in Africk, and upon a groundless Suspicion sent her home, after cutting cuted the Catholicks in Africk, and upon a groundless sulption tent her home, atter cutting off her Nofe. The other, to Receiving, King of the Suevinas in Spain. About this time, the Huss, led by Attila, commonly called, I be Scourge of God, had entred France, after burning Rome, and laid Siege to Orleans, which moved the Romans, Franks, and Gobts, to join Emit, in a League in order to oppose them. Theodoredus, King of the Goths, fearing that Barbarian France, might fall into Guienne, was the first that made head against the common Enemy, and obliged him to rafie the Siege, and draw off into the Plains called Catalaunici, by others, Marochii, and Maurifit, near Toulouse. Actius, Valentinian's General, and Meroveus, King of the Franks came up now, and joyned the Goths. The Forces being come together, they ordered their Battles. Theodoredus commanded the Right Wing, Lius the Left, the Franks and Sanguibans, King of the Alans that Inhabited about Orlean, were placed in the Center. On the other fide, Attila made up his Wings, which extended along those wall Plains, of his Auxilianaed up his Wings, which extended along those wall Plains, of his Auxilianaed up his Wings, which extended along those wall Plains, of his Auxilianaed up his Wings, which extended along those wall Plains, of his Auxilianaed up his Wings, which extended along those wall Plains, of his Auxilianaed up his Wings, which extended along those wall Plains, of his Auxilianaed up his Wings, which extended along those wall Plains, of his Auxilianaed up his Wings, which extended along those wall plains and wall his wall have been along the ary Forces, posting the Ofrogoths on the Left against the Vilogoths, the Huns, where he was in Person, made the Main Battle. Betwixt both Armies was a rising Ground, very advantageous to those that should possess themselves of it. Both Parties strove for it, but the Romans gained it. This somewhat dismay'd Attila's Men, but being encouraged by him, the Huns gave the Onset with great Fury, and were received with no less Resolution. The Bo-dies closing, there was a great havock, both sides sighting obstinately for the Empire of the World, 180000 Men were killed in this Fight; which gave occasion to frame some Lyes, as that a Rivulet which ran hard by, overflowed with Blood, and that the noise of Arms was heard in that place three days after, as if the Ghosts of the Dead had continued the Action; meer Fables to express the greatness of the slaughter. King Theodoredus was killed at the beginning of the Fight, being trod to Death by his own Men, by reason of his age and weaksaming of the right, being tool to beath by in Sorin inct., by teach of this age and wead-nets; tho fome will have it, that he was flain by an Ofrogoth, called Andages. What would have discouraged others inruged his Men, for Torifmundus and Theodoricus, his Sons, with a frong Body turioufly charged, and broke the Enemy, and forced their General to fly, after he had done all that could be expected from a wife Commander and brave Soldier. The two Brothers went fo far in the Purfuit, that at Night they paffed near the Enemies Camp, where they were in some danger, Trismundus was beat off his Horse, wounded in the Head, and brought off by the Valour of his Men. Attila who had before thought the World too ittle for his Conquelt, retried to his Camp with a Resolution if he were present about his felf, having to this purpose, kindled a great Fire. The Carts he had drawn up about his Camp, and Night that came on, saved him, which he foresaw, and therefore began the Fight after Noon. Actius spent the Night with no less fear under Arms, having made a Trench of the dead Horfes and Armour. But the next day finding the Enemy refused to give Battle, he Besieged him in his Camp at first, and when he could with ease have destroyed him, suffered him to march out of France, and return into Pannonia. The Joy of this Victory was much abated by the cEque of Astrila, and Death of Theodoredus; yet it was believed, the Death of fo Powerful a King was not displicating to the Romans and Franks. This Battle was fought in the Confullipi of Maritanus Augulus and Clodius Adelphius, in the Year of Chrift 451. and the 31st of the Reign of Theodoredus. Some are of opinion that Receiavius, King of the Sustantial Confusion of Theodoredus.

HE Goths and their King Theodoredus, Kinsman and Successor of Walia, possessed but a Theodorefmall part of Spain, to wit, only that which is now Catalonia; but in France they dus K. of the Golds.

and Galicia, still aspiring to the Sovereignty of all Spain.

Theodoredus's Funeral Rites being perform'd by the Goths, and Torismund succeeding in wherein the Kingdom, by the advice of Etius, he forbore pursuing Attila, till he had settled his were own Affairs, that his Brothers might not have the Power to raise any Commotions. This 180000 own Amans, that his frothers might not have the rower to faire any Commontons. This benefit done, he marched after Attida, and overtaking him near the River Loire, where he was found duing the Alam that had fettled there, gave him a mighty Overthrow, whereby he was observed that the control of the control liged to quit all France. But he Recruiting himself in Pannonia, and marching towards Italy, Theodorethe Emperor Valentinian caused Atius to be killed, for having suffered him to escape at the das.

tne 315 of the Reign of Theodoreaus. Some are of opinion that Receivants, King of the Suevians, was in this Battle, upon account of his Affinity with the King of the Goths. Certain fought at it, that after over-running the Valennes, who inhabited that part of Spain, now called Mavarre, and fill were subject to the Romans, he passed into France to visit his Father in-law, the Ham, and then affifted by the Goths, wasted the Country of Carthagena, and Carpetania. At last, by the Ro having made Peace with the Romans, he returned into his own Dominions in Betica, Lustania, Francis, &

CHAP.

Catalaunian Plains. At this time St. Leo was Pope, he, who by the strength of his Eloquence perfuaded Attila to turn back when he was marching to Rome, and Genfericus the Vandal from burn-

Service, it was agreed, the Goths should enjoy all they could gain of the Suevians in Spain, who incroached upon the Roman Territories, and aimed at the Sovereignty of the whole. It was convenient before the War was declared, to find some plausible colour for it. To this purpose, an Embassy was sent to Recciarius, advising him not to Invade his Neighbours, without Provocation given, and withall threatning, in case he proceeded, that the Goths would not attempted to pass over into Africk, but was forced back by a Storm to the City Parto in Partugal, at the Mouth of the River Duero, where, by command of the Conqueror he was kill'd, in the Year 456. according to Ado Viennensis. Braga was plundred, but no Blood of the Citizens fpilt; the Booty was rich, by reason, as is supposed, it was the Seat of the Suevian Kings. After the Battle, Theodoricus having subdued Galicia, placed one Leiniphus of the Family of the Parni, not of the Gobish Nobility, and a disloyal Person, Governour there. Next, he entred Lustania, where, at the request of S. Eulasia Protectress of Merida, he forbore plundring that City. This done, Ceurila with part of the Army was fent into Andaluzia, Nepecianus and Nericus to Galicia, against Actiusphus, who forgetting his Duty, had Rebelled, and kept that Province to himself. Theodoricus returning to France, took up Arms against the Romans and Majorianus, upon account that they had forced Avitus to renounce the Empire, and as was faid before, Avitus and this King were Friends. He wasted the Country of France, plundered the Towns, and passing on as far as the River Roosne, fack'd and destroy'd Lions. Thus much in France. In Spain, Ceurila unexpectedly entred Andaluzia, the People sent Embassa-dors to him, offering to submit themselves to the Goths, saying, They had not joined with the Suevians against the Romans, and were ready to give Hostages, and obey whatever other commands should be laid upon them. All Towns received him Peaceably, and furnished his Army with Corn, and all other Necessaries. Thus Andaluzia without any Bloodshed was brought under the Power of the Goths. In Galicia the War was carried on with more Vigour; but at length Actiuhhus, who stiled himself King, was in a Battle near Lugo, taken, and lost his Head. The Suevians sent Holy Men with the Vestments of Churches, and o

Chap. IV.

ing of it. Toribius, Bilhop of Aflorga, was familiar with Pope Leo, and by his Advice, gather'd a Synod of Spanish Bilhops at Geiens, in Galleia, where the Herclie of Priscillian, then again Revived, was Condemned. Let us return to Torismund, who, because he Governed with more received, was Condemned. Let us return to torijmina, who, because he coverined with more feverity, and rigion't than that fierce People could bear, was murdered by the contivance of his two Brothers Theodoricus and Fridericus, and by the hand of Afcalernus, his great Favourite, as he lay fick in his Bed, in the fift Year of his Reign. In the enfuing Year, which was of Christ 455, Torafila, a Souldier of Elius's, killed the Emperor Valentinian, in Revenge, as some will have it, of his Generals Death; but in reality, at the Infligation of Maximus, who upon it Usurped the Empire, and the better to secure himself therein, Marry'd Eudoxia, Valentinian's Widow. By the Death of Valentinian, the Empire of the West fell quite to ruin, for nine Usurpers, or unhappy Emperors that succeeded one another afterwards, scarce deserve to be named. Marcianus, who succeeded Theodosius the Lesser, in the East, Assembled a General Council of Bishops at Chalcedon, in which, was double the General number of Prelates that had been at Nice. They Condemned the wicked Opinions Ratted by Diofeorus and Eutyches, concerning Christ. Theodoricus began his Reign over the Goths with fingular Prudence and Moderation, and might have been reputed an excellent Prince, had he not been infected with Arianism, and blemish'd his Life with the Blood of his Brother. Sidonius Apollinaris, Bp. of Arvernum, or Clermont, in an Epistle to Agricola, highly extols the Virtues of Theodoricus, Avitus resided at the Court of Theodoricus, as Embassador from Maximus Augufus, him the King persuaded, upon the News of his Master's Death, to possess himself of the Empire of the West, and assisted him with his Counsel and Forces. In requital for his be wanting to affift their Friends and Confederates, the Romans. Recciarius haughty with his late Success, answered, He would soon be at Toulouse, where the Matter in Debate should be Theodoricus having received this answer, resolved to be beforehand with him, K. of the Gabts in and having raised a great Army of his own, with Supplies of Franks and Burgundians, passed having raised a great Army of his own, with Supplies of Franks and Burgundians, passed by Trenean Mountains, and near the River Tribicus, which runs betwixt Iberia and Astorga, in Galicia, after a bloody Fight Overthrew and put to flight his Enemy. Great was the flaughter made of the Suevians. Receiarius himself was wounded, and not thinking himself safe in any part of Spain, and lost his Head. The Suevians fent Holy Men with the Vettments of Churches, and other Sacred rhings to Theodovicus, to implore mercy, and he not only forgave, but allowed them to gather the remains of their Nation, and choose a King. The Electors being divided, one Party elected Franta for their King, and the other, Majára. This last, within two Years was killed by his own People. Remifmundus, his Son and Succession, in the Year 460. making a League with Franta, and joyning his Forces, entred Lusitania, putting all to Fire and Sword; yet could not wholly subdue it. Majorianus, who Depoted Avinus, and made himself Emperor, came over into Spain, and having settled Affairs, provided a Fleet at Carthagena to pass over into Africk to subdue the Vandals; but was disappointed, part of his Ships being hurth and part taken by the Engeny Hence he went into France, and recovered all being burnt, and part taken by the Enemy. Hence he went into France, and recovered all the Goths had taken from the Roman Empire; but was at length killed at Detrona in Italy, in the Year 461. Vibius Severus with the affiltance of Recimer the Murderer of Majorianus, and Imperial General, succeeded in the Empire. During these Troubles, Theodorick recovered the City Narbon deliver to him by Rabenius, whom, with mighty promifes he withdrew from the Emperor Severus. Let us now return to Galicia.

CHAP. IV.

The Death of King Theodorick; and Reigns of Euricus, and Alaricus. The Goths twice Overthrown by the Franks.

T this time the Sucvians were embroiled in War among themselves. For Franta dy-Broils' I this time the sucrians were embroned in War among themselves. For Franta my Broils' mismandaus before the new King could be well settled, defigned to make himself fole Sovethessucrians, which he compassed the safeth, Frantairus dying of Sickess. Neverther was the safethessucrians of the Sucrians of hels tria Flavia, a City helonging to Remijimundus, was destroyed by the other Faction, then not entirely subdued. All the Nations of the Sucvians being thus brought under one head, great Levies were made, and Remifmundus with a mighty Army entred Lustrania, where he took first Combra, and then Lisbon delivered to him by Lucidius the Governour. The took nyir commen, and then Landon delivered to him by Luciaus the Governour. The Power of the Romans was not looked upon, but the Goths were feared. Therefore to appeare Theodorick, the Suevinas fent him an Embalfy, promising to be faithful to him, and obey his Commands. The Goths gave ear to this Embalfy, and to bind the Friendhip the faster, Remismands Marryed Theodorick's Daughter, who was fent into Spain, and with her, Salanus, a Noble Man, to attend her, and Africa This Man's business was to make the Commission of the total first the Commission of the C time before turned Arian. This Man's business was to pervert the Suevians, that the differthe botton control of the Anison and some swar to pervert the secondary, that the american Religion being taken away, the Amity might be the firmer. He performed what he was fent for, being introduced to the King by the Queen. Salams after the Marriage returning into France, found Theodorick was killed by the Treachery of his Brother Euricus, in the Year of our Lord 467, and the 13th after he in like manner had destroyed his Brother Torifmund. The Kingdom of the Goths, as a Reward of his Treason sell to Euricus. He was Entition Active and Resolute, only seared Remissional would revenge the murder of his Father-in-law, Kin and defired to expel the Suevian out of Luftania, and the Roman out of all Spain, to become absolute there himself. Spain then was divided into three parts, the Suevians possessions abfolute there himself. Spain then was divided into three parts, the Suevians possession of Lustiania, the Goths, Betica and Catalonia, and the Romans all the rest of Spain. Euricus having made Peace with Leo, Ethiperor of the East, entred Spain with a thence he sent part of his Forces to take Pamplona and Zaragoga, still subject to the Romans, the same part of his Forces to take Pamplona and Zaragoga, still subject to the Romans, the samous Sirty Taragona held out a long Siege, laid it level with the Ground. This was country, except Galicia, which the Suevians held, was brought under the Dominson of the Goths. All the Provinces of the Roman Empire were filled with Consusion. Goths. All the Provinces of the Roman Empire were filled with Confusion, which Eurieus who Governed France for the Emperors, he invaded that Province. Besides, Genseieu, King of the Vandals in Africk, to divert the Power of the Romans from himfelf, firrred up the Offrogaths and Vifogaths, to fall into their Provinces. Aroundus and Seronatus their Treathe opingons and ryogons, to tail into their provinces. Aroanaus and seronaus their Trea-ion being diffeovered, loft their Heads. Genspricus's Project succeeded better, for Theodemire King of the Ofrogoths in Pannonia, having recovered his Son Theoderick, who had been long a foldage at Constantinople, and to whom Heaven had decreed the Empire of Italy, fent his Brother Pindemirus to carry on the War in Italy. He overcome by rich Presents sent him by Neps Augustus, leaving Italy, passed into France, and joined his Forces with Euricus, to the great Terror and Destruction of that Province, the open Country being by them wasted, and the Towns put to Fire and Sword. Epiphanius, Bishop of Pavia, a Man than in great effects, fent by Neps Augustus to Treat with these People, had no success; but as soon as he was come the Countries of Liveage Original and the Cou fent by Nepos Augustus to Treat with these People, had no success; but as soon as he was gone the Countries of Limoges, Quercy, and Roverge, were subduced by the Goths. Bessels, of a great part of France, the Emperor Nepos sent his General Orestes with a considerable Force. This Man was himself a Goth, and according to the use of those times turned the Power he was intrusted with, against his Master, whom he deposed, and raised his own Son, commonly known by the name of Augustustus to the Throne. Oreste's return left the Province exposed to the Goths, who extended their Empire without any opposition. They took Markeilles, and many other Places along the River Rhose. In conclusion. Extracts unifed vince exposed to the Goths, who extended their Empire without any opposition. They took Marfeilles, and many other Places along the River Rhose. In conclusion, Euricus pussed up with Success, as if he had no Enemies lest, placed his Royal Seat at Mies, and being an Ariam, fell to Perfecting the Catholicks, Banished the Bishops, the Piets field, and the Churches were lest desolate. His Reign lasted 17 Years, after which, he dy'd at Mies, in the Year 483. Simplicius, Bishop of Rome departed this Life this same Year; there is fill exernment in those times of Affliction, and constituting him his Vicar General in Spain. Felix was Successor to Simplicius; there is also an Epistle of his to the same Zeno, but nothing in it remarkable.

Chap. V.

great O-

Euricus's Funeral Rites being performed, his Son Alaricus was Proclaimed King. During Euricus Funeral Rues being performed, ins son Alareus was riocialmed Ring. During Proclaim. his Reign the Affairs of the Vijogabs in Spain, continued in a feetbled and peaceable Condition. Not fig in France, which being divided betwirt the Goths, Franks and Burgundians, could not be long quiet. The Franks, who not long before had embraced the Catholing Religion, with their King Clodoveus, hated the Vijogabs, as being Arians, and each defining to enlarge the Bounds of their Kingdoms, it was plain a dangerous War must ensue. Theodorick, King of the Offrogabs in Italy, interposed his Authority to bring them to an Accommodation, but all the Offrogabs in Italy, interposed his Authority to bring them to an Accommodation, but all in vain. The War was declared, both Parties took the Field, and advarcing towards one another, met in the Country of Poistiers. Neither thought himself inferior to the other, eight ther in Conduct, Valour, or Experience; and therefore prefently ordered their Battles with great refolution. For a long time the Fight continued very bloody, and the event dubious, Marieus omitted not any thing that belonged to an expert Captain, or courageous Soldier; but feeing his Men terrified with the great Slaughter turn their Backs, encouraged, called upon, and endeavoured to Rally them. He himself being diffinguishable by his Horse and Arunous given the mour fought among the foremost, and appeared where the greatest danger was. Exhortati-fouls by one and Examples were of no force, his Men all fled; he remained among the last, and seons and examples were on no love, his men an neut an economic among the late, and teling no hopes left, try to make his eleape, when Clodoveus, or Clouis, who charged at the head of his Men, bore him down with a shock of his Lance. Alaricus striving to rife was killed by a French Foot Soldier. Two Noble Goths thinking to revenge their King, ran at Claus, who was faved by the goodness of his Armour, and by the assistance of a Youth, called Cladarius, that came in to his Rescue. Alarius being dead, the Gabs dispersed themfelves into all the neighbouring Towns, in such manner, that no considerable Body remained toneives into an the neighbouring I owns, in usen manner, that no conductable Body remained together to oppose the Franks, whereupon, they presently possissed themselves of the City Anguleme. But those Gabs who have been in this Battle, assembling themselves, had the courage to try their Fortune near Bourdeaux. They proved no more successful than the contrage to the thing themselves, and the courage to the thing themselves, and the results of the same and the same and the same and the same and the same fields, from the Religion of the Gabs. Assembling themselves are the same and the same large same large same large same themselves and the same large same ter these two mighty Victories, many Places submitted to the Franks, as Bourdeaux, the Veter these two mighty Victories, many Places submitted to the Franks, as Bourdeaux, the Vefates, Cabors, Rbodes, and those of Alberinia. Even the City of Toulouse, where the Goths kept their Court, was taken, and nothing considerable left them in France. Among the Treasures of the Gobhsh Kings, were found the Vessels and Instruments belonging to the Sacrifices at the Temple of Jerusalem, which had been taken by Alaricus, the first King of those People when he Sack'd Rome, left by him to his Successors, and now fell into the Hands of Clouis. Alaricus dy'd in the Year 506. His Reign, which lasted 23 Years, he supported by Falshood and Cruelty, which made his end the less pity'd, all People saying, He bad well defround it. Yet he was the first King of the Gobbs that made use of written Laws and nubferved it. Yet he was the first King of the Goths that made use of written Laws, and publish'd those of Theodofus the same Year he was slain. Before his time, the Gobb, like other barous Nations, were Governed by the ancient Customs of their Foresathers. To these Laws of Marieus, succeeding Kings added many others, of all which together, was composed that Volume the Spaniards call Fuero julgo, whereof we shall speak in a more proper place.

CHAP. V.

The Reign of the Kings Gefaleycus, Theodorick, and Amalaricus. Several Spanish Synods. Defeat of the Franks. And Tryal by Ordeal.

Gefaleyous Throne.

A Laricus left two Sons, one by his Wife Theudicoda, call'd Amalaricus, and one by another Woman, nam'd Gefaleycus. The principal Men among the Golds chofe the latter for ther Woman, nam'd Gesaleyeus. The principal Men among the Goths chose the latter for their King, by reason the other was but five Years of Age. This offended the King of the Ossaroshis, who fent 80000 Men under the command of Ilba, as well to suppress the Franks, and restore the Kingdom of the Visigoths, then at the point of destruction, as to Re-inthrone his Grandson Amalaricus. Gesaleyeus searing so great a Power, as also because the King of the Burgundians had taken Narbonne, not thinking himself secure in any part of France, retired to Barcelona. He was naturally a Coward, and consequently Cruel, which moved him with his own Hands, and in his Palace in that City to kill Goericus, a Man of Note. Ilba, in France, affisted by the Visigoths, overthrew the Franks, with the shaghter of 20000 of them. By this means the Visigoths recovered Guienne, the Ostrogoths possessing the Processe Mountains. Hereupon Gesaleyeus not trusting to his own People, knowing the Parteen Mountains. tioners, took evacount from the bargamanns, and were about paining the pyrenen mountains. Hereupon Gefaleyens not trufting to his own People, knowing the harter they born fur his Cowardize and Cruelty, went over into Africk, Thaqimundus King of the Vandals, tho' Marry'd to the Sifter of Theodorick, received him Friendly, and relieved him with Money. Having received this Aid, he returned into France, and after lying hid a Year, raifed an Army with which he duelt venture to give a Battle near Rarcelona but was Vanmoney. Having received this Aid, he returned into France, and after 1 ying find a 1 ear, raifed an Army, with which he durif venture to give a Battle near Barcelona, but was Vantuilled by Ilba, and flying into France, foon after dy'd with Grief, in the Year of Chrift 510.

Gefalorus when he had Reigned, a Years. Authors do not agree who fucceeded Gefalorus, most of the maffirm; that Theodovick the Offrogoth, from thence forward called himself King of the Vifogoths. This Opinion is confirmed by the Synods then held in Spain, in which is seen the Name of Theodorick, and Year of his Reign. Others fay, Amalaricus succeeded and Theodorick only Acted as his Tutor. I can no way give Credit to what Spanish Authors write, viz., That Theodorick came into Spain, Married a Wife of the old Spanish Race at Toledo, and at the request, reflored them to their ancient Liberty, fince no Foreign Writer makes mention of any fuch Journey of his, especially Cassodaus, and others, who writ his Actions very particularly. Certain it is, that Theudius, or Theudis, who had served Theodorick as his Esquire at Arms, was by his Favour appointed to Govern, during the Minority of the young King, which was the first step by which afterwards he ascended to the Throne. In the Year 116. a Council of Bishops was held at Tarragona; here we find the first mention of any Monks in Spain. Here it was Ordain'd, that (after the manner of the Jews Sabbath) A Council of Spain. Sunday should begin to be observed on Saturday Evening, whence remains still the Custom a- cil at Tarmong Spania di of keeping Holyday, and rejoycing on the Saurday Night Another Counregonal cil was held at Girona the following Year 517. Pope Hornifda about the same time, wit a Letter to John, Bishop of Tarragona, commanding him Yearly to hold Synods of Bishops; a Thee Sything used in those Days for Reformation of Manners. After the death of Hormisda, in the nods. time of his Successor, John I. who was Elected in the Year 323, two other Synods were ce Amiliarlebrated, one at Lerida, the other at Valencia. Theodorick the Oftrogoth, dying in Italy, curskeign Amalaricus began to take upon him the Government of the Visugoths in Spain, from which Amazirus began to take upon hint the Government. Of the Injurior in Spain, from which time, fome begin to reckon the Years of his Reign. As soon as Amazirus commenced his Reign, he made Peace with the Frank, and to bind it the fafter, Marry'd Crotilda, their King's Sister, and Daughter to Clouis. In Dower with her, the Country of Toulouse was rething sinter, and Dauginer to Commis. In Dower with net, the Control of Tourings was refored to the Goths. Crotified was a Perion of fingular Piety, and had been Religioully Educated in the true Faith by her Mother, who was of the fame Name. This highly offended her Husband, who was an Arian. When she went to Church, the Rabble did not only Reyile, but would often throw Dirt at her. Her Husband did not only wink at it, but when she came home, frown'd, gave her ill Language, and at last proceeded to blows, infomuch, that several times he made the Blood gush from her. Long she endured, hoping with Patience and Meekness to soften his cruel Heart & but finding there was no hopes of mollifying him. and Mecknels to foften his cruel Heart; but anothing there was no nopes or monitying him, at laft fliewritt to her Brother Childebert, and together with the Letter, fent him a Hangker-chief dipt in her own Blood. She complained of her ill usage, and implored his Assistance towards her Relief. The Kingdom of the Franks was then divided among the Sons of Clouis. Childebert had Paris; Clotarius, Solffons; Clodomirus, Orleans; and Theodoricus, Metz in Lorrain, who all called themselves Kings. They all inraged against the Visogoth, for the wrong he did their Sifter Crotilda, joyn'd their Forces, and with much fipeed marched to-wards him. Amalaricus was wholly unprovided, besides, his ill Conscience terrifying him, he resolved to fly. God, who had decreed his Punishment, blinded him; for, whereas he might have escaped, he returned to save part of his Treasure into the City, supposed to be Barcelona. In this Distress, he thought to have taken Sanctuary in a Catholick Church; but His death, in the way was killed by a Soldier. St. Isidorus writes he was killed in a Battle, fought near Narbonne. But I rather believe Gregory of Tours, who lived before him, and relates the passage Naronine. But I faiter better Gregory of Lours, who have better language teach the planes in this manner. Ado Viennensis says, the Franks overran all Spain, destroy'd the City To-ledo, after a long Siege, and took many other Places. Procopius says, They took from them all that the Goths possess of the France; yet this, no other Author speaks of, and we find the Dominion of the Goths in the following Reigns extended as far as the River Rhosine. Besides, it appears that Amalassiumba, after the Death ofher Father Theodorick, gave Provence to K. Theodorick of Lorrain, that he might not be dissatisfied that the Ostrogoths possess of gone part of France, the rest she lest to the Visogoths, contenting her self with the Dominion of Italy. Amalarithe reit the left to the 1/19goths, contenting ner left with the Dominion of Italy. Amaiaries us dy'd in the Year $31$. Having Reigned five Years, unless we commence from the Death 531. of Gesalescus, and then it will extend to 20 Years. His Wife Crotislad dy'd in her return to France. In the 51 Year of his Reign, was held the second Council of Toledo. Montanus, Scoond Archbishop of Toledo, Presided in this Council, of whom, $51 Uldesous writes, That being founcil, accused of Incontinency, to clear his Innocency, he held burning Coals of Fire in his Bosome all the time of Mass, and yet neither his Linen nor Flesh were damaged thereby, tho Twal by the were the second of the Coston Trail by the were the second of the Coston Trail by the were the second of the Coston Trail by iome au the time or Mais, and yet neither his Linen nor Flesh were damaged thereby, tho they were taken out afterwards light as they were put in. Hence it is supposed, the Guston Variable afterwards received throughout all Spain of purting common Offenders to the tryal of red hot Ordeal. Iron, or boiling Waser, took its Original. Nide manner of it was thus. The Criminal having confessed his Sins, they brought him a red hot Iron, or a Cup of boiling Waser, which being blessed by a Priest after Mais; if the Party accused, handled the one, or drank the other, and escaped undurt, he was acquited. This Gustom was used in many places, till Pope Honorius III. forbid this way of Compurgation. About this time sourished in Spain four Bissons famous for their Learning these were Yushus Tractivations. Tathinawa Valentime. four Bishops famous for their Learning, these were Justus Orgelitanus, Justinianus Valentinus,

CHAP:

Nebridius Agathensis, and Elpidius ; besides these, Aprigius, Bishop of Beja in Portugal, Renowned for his Commentaries upon the Revelation.

Chap. VII.

CHAP. VI.

The Reigns of Theudis, and Theudiselus, Agila, and Athanagildus. A great Plague, The 5th General Council. An Interregium. And the Conversion of the Suevians.

76

A Malaricus dying without Issue, the whole Line of the Pilogoth Kings was Extinct, and the Crown devolved upon Theudis, by Descent an Ofregeth. He was chosen by the unanimous Consent of the Nobility of the Pilogoths, for his lingular Prudence, Experience unanimous coments the resolution the regions, to in mingual reactive, Aperinte and Knowledge; helides that he had gained their good Will whilf he Governed during the Minority of Amalarian. His Wife, who was of the prime Nobility of Spain, as a Portion, Minority of Amalaricus. His Wite, who was of the prime Nobility of Spain, as a Portion, brought him an Eflate able to raile 2000 fighting Men. All thefe Gircumfiances concurring, advanced him to the Throne. Theodorick, King of the Offorgaths, had endeavoured to draw Theoda's into Italy; but he fill kept off. During the Reign of Theudis, in the Year state the dead the Form of Government by Conflus in Rome, Bafilius, Junior, without a Colleague being the laft Conful. In the following Year, Childebert, King of the Franks, and Clotarius, the Conful of the Property of t his Brother, not fatisfied with what they had done before, again made War upon Spain, and after wasting all the Province of Tarragona, laid Siege to Zaragoça. The Citizens had recourse to their Patron St. Vincett, whose Garment they carryd in Procession about the Walls, imploring his Assistance, whereof Childebert being informed, he took Compassion, and defifted from doing em any farther harm. At his Request, the Citizens gave him that Garment, which he carry'd to Paris, and there built a Churchin the Submy, of the Invocation of this Saint, now called St. Germain. As he was to return into France he wasin great danger; for Therefore not being able to meet him in open Field, had fent Theudislus to fecure the Palls of the Mountains, which he did fo fuccefsfully, that the Franks were diffressed, and forced to Theudis not being able to meet him in open Field, had fent Theudis to fecure the Pull's of the Mountains, which he did fo fuccelsfully, that the Franks were diffirestled, and forced to purchase their passage with Money. After the War followed a Plague, for the space of two purchase their passage with Money. After the War followed a Plague, for the space of two purchase their passage with the first passage with the space of two purchase their their passage with the space of two purchase their their passage with the space of two purchase their their passage with the space of the space he might take their Wives to fatisfie his Luft. Hereupon he grew so hateful to his People that they Conspired, and killed him in his own Palace, as he sate at Dinner, when he had Is murder-

Reigned 18 Months, and 13 Days.
The Nobility upon the Death of Theudifet anchoic Agila for their King. At his first coming to the Crown, he laid close siege to Cohord, which resulted to acknowledge him. The ing to the crown, he had close siege to corrowa, which retured to acknowledge him. I he Befieged making a furious Sally, put his Army to flight with much flaughter, killed his Son, and took the Baggage; whereby he was oblig'd to quit the Siege, and retire to Merida. This was looked upon as a Judgment from Heaven, for his Profaning the Church of the Martyr African, litto which, he had put his Horfes. After this misfortune he began to be lefs looked upon by his People, and at length grew so much into contempt, that one Athana-gildus openly Rebelled. He the more to secure and strengthen himself, sent Embassadors to the Emperor Justinian, offering to restore a considerable part of Spain to the Empire, if he would affift him. In purfuance of this Embally, Liberius was fent out of France to his aid, and their Forces being joyn'd, the Battle was fought near Sevil, where the Rebellion is suppofed first to have broke out. Athanagidar obtained the Victory, and Agia was sain ship before first to have broke out. Athanagidar obtained the Victory, and Agia was sain this own Men, in the Year 554, when he had Reign'd 5 Years, and 3 Months. They killed him to put an end to the Civil Wars, fearing left the Power and Riches of the Gabi, being weakned by their own Divisions, the Romans might again recover all Spain, as they had done Italy and Africk. In the same Year 554b by order of the Emperor Justinian, was held at Constantinople the 5th General Council, in which were 165 Bishops, who Condemned the The5th. Opinions of Origen. Journales, a Gothish Bishop, continued the History of that Nation, till the General time that Athanagilats having killed his Enemy, was without farther Opposition acknowledged King of the Golos. This King had his hands full during his whole Life, being always in gaged in Wars, the Success whereof proved various. The great cause of these Troubles was, that Constituting his Promiss he endeavoured to expell the Romans all Status. On the other Chrome forgetting his Promile, he endeavoured to expell the Romans all Spain. On the other fide, Throne. they as well by Contract, as force of Arms, had possess themselves of 60 much, that their Dominions reached from Sea to Sea. By his Wife Golumda, he had two Daughters, the eld-Dollminons reactive from set of set. By its vite common, it has to Laughter, the effect of California, King of Metz in Lorrain, the Brother of Chilperick. These two Ladies were by the French Bilhops converted from the Sect of Arina, which they had been bred in; and forme will have it, that Athanagildus was in private a Catholick, but durft not openly profess it, for fear of the People. He Reign'd 15 Years, and 6 Months, and dy'd at Toledo, in the Year 567. After his Death followed an Interregnum of five Months. D. Lucas de Tuy, says, 567. It lasted five Years, and five Months. The reason of it was, that the Gothish Nobility Could An Intervention of the County of the Months. not agree, or pitch upon any one Person capable of supporting the Kingdom of the Goths, then in danger of sinking, and none minded the publick Calamities, studying to indulge their private Humours. At this time, John III. Governed the See of Rome. It was now altheir private Humours. At this time, John III. Governed the See of Kome. It was now alfo, that the Suevians, who polified Galicia, returned to the Catholick Church, renouncing Suevians the Herefie of Arius, which they had follow'd almost 100 Years, and grievously Perfected Convertthe Catholicks. Martimus Dumiensis, was a great Instrument of their Convertion. He was edan Hungarian, had Travelled throughout the East, and was a Perfon, of singular Learning, at last he was Archbishop of Braga, and after his Death esteem'd as a Saint, in Galicia and Poringal, where they Celebrate his Fealt on the 20th of March. When the Suevians embraced the Catholick Religion, Theodemirus Reign'd over them. What Kings Reign'd betwirt Remismundus, of whom we spoke before, and this Theodemirus, is not known, the Histories of those times being imperfect. The cause of the Conversion of the Suevians was this. Theo- Cause of The Caufe of the Miracles wrough to the Miracles wrought by St. the same Martin of Tours, being spread throughout the World, his Father sent Emballadors to the visus Consaints Tomb, with the Youths weight in Gold and Silver, to be offered for his Health, version. Sants 10000, when the 10000 weight in 3000 and only to only 1000 in 10000 But the Success not answering, the King believed it proceeded from the difference of Religion, and his being an Asian. He sent again, and the Embassadors brought a piece of the Saints Cloak, and in the mean while the Prince recovered. Hereupon, the King in purfuance of a Vow he had made, erected a Church in Honour of St. Martin; and caused the Suevians publickly to embrace the Catholick Religion. For the better confirming them in the Faith, and by the Advice of St. Martin Dumiensis, he caused a Synod of the Bishops of Calicia to be held at Braga, in the third Year of his Reign, and of our Lord, 563. This was the first Council of Braga, and Lucretins, Archbishop of that City, Presided in it.

CHAP. VII.

Of the two Sisters, Galfuinda and Brunechilda. The Reigns of the Kings Liuva and Leuvigildus. This last, makes his two Sons his Companions in the Throne.

T was faid above that Gaifuinda and Bruntehilda, the two Daughters of Athanagildus, were Marry'd in France, to two Kings; both which Matchesin the end proved unfortunate. The TheFrench one foon dy'd miferably, the other lived long, and always in trouble. Galphinda the elder, call this Wife to Chiperick, after fuffering much, thro the Infolence of Fredgunda, his Miftris, was brunchidad at laft found dead in her Bed, and left no liflue. Sigebert, the Husband of Brunchidis, was murdered by two Ruffians, employed by the fame Fredgunda, and the fent Prifoner to Rodar under the Cost of Chilments described administration because the Cost of Chilments and the Section 1988. murdered by two Ruffians, employed by the fame Fredgunda, and the fent Priloner to Koin, nate where Marovaus, the Son of Chilperick, admiring her Beauty, Mariy'd her; but the having Marriages been Wife to his Uncle, the Marriage was void. He might have hoped for Pardon from his of the two Father, in regard to his Youth, but by the procurement of Fredgunda, his Mother-in-law, Daughten was furf forced into a Religious Order, and then killed. Branchilda having the Tutions of Admander of the two Grandfons, Theoderic, King of Metz, and Theoderick of Rurgundy, made War plant of the two Grandfons, Theoderic, King of Metz, and Theoderick of Rurgundy, made War his rewhom the had, a more than lawful Affection. Befides, they add, that thro'her Intligation. Fraeb call the Brothers made War upon one another, that Theoderber was killed, and his two Sons and Thieri. Daughter being taken, the murdered the Sons; and becaute Theodorick defigned to Marry the Daughter, Poifon'd him. After all their Cruelties, Bruneshilds being taken by Closaria, was four times whipped, and then dragged to Death by the hair of her Head at a Horist tail, without any Compassion shown by the People, in regard, they said ten Kings, and a vast num * Doubtber of Men had dy'd by her wicked Machinations. I'm apt to believe, this is all a * mistake les, it is Mariana that mistakes, for the French Authors are positive in the Crimes of Brunechilda, and that she committed them after the Death of Fredegunda.

Chap. VIII.

in those Authors, who have attributed the Crimes of Fredegunda to Brunechilda; for St. Gre-In those Authors, who have attributed the crimes of preagantag to Brunceniaa; to Ist. Gregory writ a Letter to her, foll of her Prailes, befides, there are many Churches in France built by her, and many Captives were redeemed. Much more might be faid, both for and gagnift her; but it is not our business to reconcile the different Opinions of Historians, in a matter of so small moment to the History in hand. After the Death of Abanagilaus, who deceated at Toledo, as was faid before, Liuva, (fo his Name is writ upon ancient Coins) a powerful Man, who, till then, had been Viceroy of Gallia Gotbica, was Proclaimed King of Narbonne. This was in the second Year of the Emperor Justin, the Younger, who was the first that sent Longinus with the Ticle of Exarchia, peror jujim, the rounger, who was the first that tent Longinus with the little of Exarcola, to Govern stay. Linva, began his Reign in the Year 567. Nothing of Note is found in History, of this King, save, that in the second Year of his Reign, he declared Lewigislay, his Brother, his Companion in the Kingdom, with equal Power to himfelf. He continued in Gallia Gothica, as being the place he had most been used to. 1. And D. Lucas de Tuy, says, he Reigned in France 7 Years, before he was King of Spain. All the other Provinces that were under the Dominion of the Goths, he left to his Brother's charge, hoping by his care, were under the Dominion of the Goths, he left to his Brother's charge, noping by his care, they would be reftored to their former Grandeur. For at that time, they were at War with the Romans, who policis'd a great part of Spain, and maintained it not only with their own Power, but the Allithance of many Goths, who put themselves under their Protection. Leaving the Many Company of the Domines of Contactors, their Names were Enwagelished Description.

viguaus nad two sons by his Wite I heodofia, the Daughter of Severianus, Duke and Governour of the Province of Caribagena; their Names were Ermnegildus and Recaredus. After the Death of Theodofia, Lewigildus Marry'd Gofunda, the Widow of Albanagildus, at the fame time that he was called by his Brother to be his Allociate in the Kingdom. As found to the Communication of the Communicati foon as he came to the Crown, being a Man of great Courage, he made War upon the Rofoon as he came to the Crown, being a Man of great Courage, he made War upon the Komans. They came to a Battle among the Baftetani, where now flands the City Bafa; the Lewigil.

They came to a Battle among the Baftetani, where now flands the City Bafa; the Lewigil.

They came to a Battle among the Baftetani, where now flands the City Bafa; the Lewigilds were Defeated, and by that means expelled the whole Province. The Country admits the Manage of Manag would own no Superior, fince the Defeat of King Agila. Thither Lewigildus marched, and brought it under, with many other Places in the Neighbourhoo 1, and great defruction of People, and the Country. The Neighbourhood of Sabaria, (not knowing in what part of Spain' It lay) was also Ravaged and spoiled. Whilft Luwigildus was thus employed, his Brother it lay was also Ravaged and spoiled. Whilft Luwigildus was thus employed, his Brother Liwva dy'd in France, in the Year 1,72. Having Reign'd but 5 Years, some say, only 3. All the Province of Andaluzia being brought under, and the Romans totally expelled, Leuvigildus returned towards Bifeay, where he took Amaya by Assaut; others call it Argin vigillus returned towards Bifeay, where he took Amaya and Leon. All the rest of that and others, Varegia, a City as is supposed, betwist Burgos and Leon. All the rest of that Country was pillaged and spoiled, and many that were in Arms killed. Hence he passed over into Aguitain, where he took Assignment who was Revolted in the City Agen, with his Wife, Children and Riches. The same Year that Livera dy'd, Myrus, or as others call him Aria-

Second Council of mirus, was King of the Suevians by Succession, his Father dying two Years before. At the fame time, was held the fecond Council of Braga, by which, the Suevians were confirmed in the Catholick Religion. Leuvigildus having quieted the Assairans, which had lasted for spain, with a resolution to destroy the Kingdom of the Suevians, which had lasted for many Years. Mirus searing the Power of the Goths, who began to break into Galicia, sent Embassaots to sue for Peace, but could only obtain a Cessation of Arms for some time. The Goth was the more willing to condescend because he had no just Cause to make Was more

Emballadors to fue for Peace, but could only obtain a Cellation of Arms for Iome time. The Goth was the more willing to condefeend, because he had no just Cause to make War upon the Suevians; unlefs their change of Religion for the better, as also, for that he was to oppose a Roman Army, fent by Justin; the Emperor, upon the Frontiers of Spain. At first, pose a Roman Army, fent by Justin; the Emperor, upon the Frontiers of Spain. At first, Louise marching throt the Mguntains of Orospeda, which rise at the foot of Monoga, and palling by Molina, Cuenca and Sigura, end near Cadiz, fishdued certain Mountain People, who confiding in the strength of the Country, refused to obey him. Thus the Power of the Goths was increased, and that of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a similar for the state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a similar to the state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the state of the state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of the Romans diministed; for they had left them only a state of

of the Goths was increased, and that of the Romans diminished; for they had left them only a final Track of Land, near the Sea, as I suppose, the Mediterranean. Before Lewingildus noncertook this War, to take away the Custom the great ones had infittuted, of chusing their Ki gs, and to fecure the Succession in his own Family, he declared his two Sons, Irmenegistas and Recardur, his Companions in the Royal Authority, and to this purpose, divided the Kingdom is the Sons and Sons and Sons and Sons are supposed to the Sons are supposed to dom into three parts. To Ermenegidus, he affigned Sevis, tho Gregory of Tours, fays, te this wo son Komer of the Son Recaredus: this was in that place, where the River Guadiela falls into Tagus, not panions in far from Paffrana, as the Moor, Raffs teffices. This City was Founded in the Year 577.

Itaniquidus choose

Others will have it, that Receopidis was in Celibria, and is the fame with Amonach, commonly called Zerita Leweigidus choic the City Toledo for to keep his own Court in, and is odid the Kines of the Gathe. his kneedfires, whereas rill then it had been kent at Semil. From the Kings of the Golbs, his Succellors; whereas, till then, it had been kept at Sevil. For this beginning, that City by degrees, came to be the Metropolitan Secof all Spain, as shall appear in its place. Pope Benedial, Succellor of John III, now Governed the Church, and Tiberius II. the Roman Empire. About this same time, Mirus, King of the Suevians, made

War upon the People of Rioja, upon what occasion is not known; but it appears that he overcame and subdued them. These People were formerly called Ruccones, at least, the Archbishop D. Rodrigo calls them so. The Country is fruitful and pleasant, so proper to bear Corn, it often yields twenty for one.

CHAP. VIII.

Ermenegildus Son to Leuvigildus, Marries the Lady Ingundis, is Converted to the Catholick Faith, is Besieg'd by his Father in Sevil, taken Prisoner, and put to Death by bim.

Ngundis, Daughter to Sigibert King of Lorrain, and Brunechilda his Oucen, was Married to Emmergildus in the Year 579. She was Grandchild to Abanagildus, and Gossinda, by these means those two Royal Families were United, and Levingildus thought thereby to secure the Kingdom to his Posterity. Ingundis came out of France with a great Retinue. Her Ingundis Grandmother Gofuinda for some time used her with all possible kindness, in hopes to prevail Wife to Grandmoner comman for some time used ner when an position knowns, in hopes to prevail wise to with her to forfake the Catholick Religion, embrace the Sect of Artius, and be Rebaptiz'd, Emman. She gave no Ear to these perswasions, but continued firm in the Faith, which so far proved gildas, personal forces of the content of the content of the personal forces of the content of the content of the personal forces of the content of the content of the personal forces of the personal Golunda, being a haughty and ill-natur'd Woman, that she gave her very despightful Lan-forthed guage, and at length one day, laid hands upon her, dragging her by the hair of the head till the Blood ran from her; nay another time made her fall into a Fish-pond, with eminent Religion. danger of her Life. This cruel usage no way mov'd Ingundis to alter her resolution, but on the contrary it is believ'd, that through her means, Ermenegildus then began to think of becoming a Catholick. St. Leander, Bishop of Sevil, was very instrumental in this good work, for finding him well inclind, he instructed him in all matters of Faith. They had the better opportunity to do this, because Leavigildus was gone to Toledo. Ringundis the Daughter of Chilperick King of France, and Fredegunda, was about this time contracted to Recaredus; and was on her way to Spain to her Husband. Being come as far as Touloufe. She received the news of her Father's Death, who was Murder'd by Candricus his Constable, and thereupon the fiddenly return's Death, who was mutued by common in Containe, and infereupon the fiddenly return's home. Recerción having lost this Match, afterwards Married the Lady Bada, whose Country and Family are not known. Some say the was of the noblest Blood of Bada Wife the Goths, as being Daughter to Fontus Count of the Partimonis. Whilst Leuvigildus was to Resarethe Gobb, as being Daughter to Fontus Count of the Fattmonn. Whill Lewigidus was to Rearbuly making up these Matches, his Son Ermenegildus compleated the work of his Conversion, dus. This Princes Conversion was the Cause of a tedios and bloody War, betwitt the Father and the Son. Gosunda, who ought to have appeased her Husbands Passion, and labour'd for an action modation, being her stell naturally obstitute, and a Mother-in-law, blew the Coals, and convertically the testing of the Country of the this offset. That he had rather have treated with him Face to Face than by Letter. That he had bred him with all the tenderness of a Father, and when grown up made him his Comhe had bred him with all the tenderness of a Father, and when grown up made him his Companion in the Throne. That if he defir'd more, or refented his Brothers having a share in Messages the Kingdom, he ought to have made his Complaint to him. That it was only Ambition betwitt which hov'd him to despise his Father, and forsike the Religion of his Ancestors. To the Father conclude, perswades him to take whollome advice, and submit himself to his Father, from whom, so doing, he might hope for Forgiveness, or if he perssisted, expect to find no Mercy. Ermengislus was much troubl'd at this Letter, but being resolv'd not to alter his Opinion, he answer'd his Father, Acknowledging the Favours he had done him to be beyond his Merits, pratessing he desir'd not be more presented by the not answer grateful and expense in the more arressibly than to answer grateful and expense in the more arressibly than to answer grateful and expense in the more arressibly than to answer grateful and the properties him to the trouble more expensely than to answer grateful and expense in the more arressibly than to answer grateful and expense in the more arressibly than to answer grateful and expense in the more arressibly than the answer grateful and expense in the more arressible than the answer grateful and expense in the more arressible than the arressible more expense. protesting he desir'd nothing more earnestly than to appear grateful, and express his utmost duty to him as a Father; but withal shewing how his first duty ought to be to God and his own Soul, in taking care of which he thought he had offended no body. He ends, praying to God to direct his Father for the common good of his Sons and People. The Kingdom was divided into two Factions. The Catholicks, who were numerous, but not in Power, either openly, or underhand, favour'd Ermenegidus, the Arrians, who were more powerful, followed Lewigildus. Gregory of Tours fays, that Ermengildus, when he was Confirm'd, and receiv'd into the Church by the Arrians, took the name of John. This feems to be contradicted received into the Church by the Arrians, took the name of youn. I his teems to be contradicted by the Gold Coin frampyd in the heat of that War, as is fuppoe'd, which on the one fide bears the Name and Effigies of Ermenegildus, and on the Reverie the Image of Victory, with this Inferription, Man By from the King. The Catholicks fought for aid, from far Countries, Begin and to this purpofe Leander was fent, by Sea, to Conflantinophe, where Theria Mayufur erfo, ing of the ded. This Leander, of a Benedictine Monk, was preferred to the Bifhoprick of Sevil; he Wark Fallow, and the Conflantinophe Convertation and much Fallow with Fallow and the Conflantinophe of the Bifhoprick of Sevil; he Wark Fallow and Conflantinophe of Convertation and much Fallow with Fallow and Conflantinophe of the Bifford was a Perion of ingular Learning, great Sanctive, a fweet Converfation, and much Eto-ther and quence, a wonderful thing in those days. His Embally took no effect, but he was present at San. the Falie Prophet Mahomet, afterwards the Founder and Head of all the Mahometan Sects. hometism

Ermenegildus Fortify'd Sevil and Cordova, laying in store of Corn and other necessaries, either Born Anno

The History of SPAIN. to hold out a Siege, or supply him if the War were portracted. He made a League with the Roman Commanders, and delivered up to them, his Wife, and Son, newly Born, that those he loved beft, might be out of danger, in case things succeeded not according to his define. On the other side, Lewighdus sinding no perswasions, or fair promises prevailed with his force and the supplementary of with his Son, made all necessary Preparations to reduce him by force. To this purpose, with much Gold, he drew over the Romans to his Party, as Men that without regard of Prowith much Gold, he drew over the Romans to his Party, as Men that without regard of Promises or Engagements, follow'd that side which was Atongest, and where the greatest gain was, and therefore for sook his Son. This done, he endeavoured to reconcile the Differences betwixt the Catbolicks and Arians; being sensible, that Division in point of Religion, was the chief cause of all those Mischiefs. To this purpose, he held a Synod of Arian Bishops at Toledo, where it was determined, the Castom of Re-baptizing sinch as sell from the Church into Ariansim, should be abolished. It was also agreed, That the Person of the Son was equal to the Fasher: but all this was only in outward appearance. Negertheless, this Eight. unto arranjm, mound be abonined. It was an agreed, That the Ferion of the son was friendly to the Father; but all this was only in outward appearance. Nevertheless, this Fifting on fucceeded so well, that many left Ermenegildut, the difference of Religion, being as they on nucceeded to well, that many ield Ermeneghaus, the difference of Religion, being as they thought, taken away; and others were not to Zealous as they had been in his Caule. The greatest part seeing how great the danger was like to be, thought better to stand Neuters, greateft part feeing how great the danger was like to be, thought better to fland Nenters, than expose their Lives and Fortunes to eminent Peril. Three Years being thus spent in preparing, Lewigildus with mighty Forces he had raised, moved towards his 50n. He marched to the farthest part of Andaluxia, and laid Siege to Sevil, a noted, large and rich City. There befing no hopes that the Besieged would surrender, as those who were well inclined to Ernenegildus, and prepared by their Bishop Leander, he resolved to make use at once both of Strength and Policy, Guadalquivir runs thro't hat City, carrying so much Water as suffices to bear great Ships. The King, to hinder carrying any Relief into the Town, resolved to turn the River out of its Channel. This was a work that required much Time and Labour. For this reason, a League above Sevil. to secure their Camp. they re-Town, refolved to turn the River out of its Channel. This was a work that required much Time and Labour. For this reason, a League above Sevil, to secure their Camp, they rebuilt the Walls of the ancient Italica, whose Magnificence, in the time of the Romans, was singular, as appears by the Ruins that fill remain about the place, where now stands the Monaltery of St. Islabrus. Myrus, King of the Suevians, tho'a Catholick, brought Forces to the allistance of Lewvigildus, but dyed during the Seige. Eboricus, his Son succeeded him, Gregory of Tours says otherwise, to wit, that he sided with Ermengildus; that the War end-Gregory of Tours tays otherwise, to wit, that he haded with extremegiatas; that the war and ed, he made Peace with Lewigiddus, and returning home dy'd of a Sickness he had contracted during the Siege. The River was turned another way, which brought the Besieged into extreme want. Extremegiatus after holding out a Year, there being no hopes of withstanding any longer, fled to the Romans, not knowing they had forsaken his interest, and joyrd with any longer, fled to the Romans, not knowing they had fortaken his Interest, and joyn'd with his Enemies. Ermengildus being gone, the City was delivered up to his Father, in the Year 586. This did not fatisfie Lewigildus, hor did he defilt, till he had got his Son into his power. Authors do not agree in the manner of taking him. Some fay, That being ill treated by the Romans, he went away to Cordova, and was by the People of that Town delivered up to his Senil ta-Father. Gregory of Tours fays, He was taken at Offetum, whither he had retired, the Place Father. Gregory of Tours fays, He was taken at Offetum, whither he had retired, the Place being firong, and the Inhabitants well affected towards him. Into the Towa he took 300 Men, leaving the reft incamped hard by, intending, in cafe his Father attacked him, to fail on him in Front and Rear; he reckoned without his Hoft, and therefore was deceived. For Leavigildus having intelligence of his defign, countermined all his Contrivances, and falling Leavigildus having intelligence of his defign, countermined all his Contrivances, and falling furiously upon that Town, entred, and fet Fire to it on all fides. Ermenegildus despairing of making his escape, took Sanchuary in a Churchi, hoping to appease his Fathers Anger. Recambing his escape, took Sanchuary in a Churchi, hoping to appease his Fathers Anger. Recambing his escape, took Sanchuary in a Churchi, hoping to appease his Fathers Anger. Recambing his escape to the state of the sanchus his Father state. The saked his Father's leave, and Brother's consent, to speak with him, and Leavigildus. He asked his Father's leave, and Brother's consent, to speak with him, and there advised him to have recourse to his Father's mercy, with allurance of Pardon, and all there advised him to have recourse to his Father's mercy, with assurance of Pardon, and all there advised him to have recourse to his Father's mercy, with assurance of Pardon, and all Friendly Offices from his own part. These promises were construed by Oath, Lewigildus was called, and being come, Ermengildus with a forroyful Countenance caft himfelf at his Feet. He received him with exterior figns of Joy, and kifs'd him in token of Forgiveness; but he had other things in his Heart, for having cauled him to go to the Camp, he foon after the David Behar and four history as Called Him to go to the Camp, he foon after but he had other things in his Heart, for having caufed him to go to the Camp, he foon after was fiript of the Royal Robes, and fent Prifoner to Sevil. The Abbot Bicliarenifs fays, He Death of was Banifhed to Valencia, and dy'd at Tarragona. At Sevil, near the Gate called of Cordeva, there is fill to be feen a Tower, well known upon account of Ermenegildus's Imprifonment, which is very high, narrow and dark. It is commonly received, that he lived there with Bolts on his Feet, and his Hands ty'd behind him, and that, not fatisfied with those hardfinish, he used great Austerity in his Dvet. Iving upon Hair-cloth and friending his time in fhips, he used great Austerity in his Dyet, lying upon Hair-cloth, and spending his time in Contemplation. In this manner he continued till the Feast of Easter, which fell upon the Contemplation. In this manner he continued the the realt of Lafter, which fell upon the 14th of April, in the Year §86. Then Lewingildus fent an Arian Bilhop to him, to give him the Blelled Sacrament, after the manner of the Arians. Ermenegildus turned him away with Contempt, which his Father took so hainously, that he caused his Head immediately to be cut off. Pope Sixtus 1. Canoniz'd this Saint, and ordered his Feast to be kept throughout the saint of the saint has the saint of the saint has the saint him to the saint has the saint had the saint has the saint had the saint has the saint had the Spain on the 14th of April. His Prison was afterwards converted into a Chappel; and he was formerly held in great Veneration, fo that from him many, as well Women as Men, are supposed to have taken the Names of Ermengildus, Ermesinda, Ermensinda, Ermesildus, Ermesinda, Ermesildus, and Ermildez. Where his Body lies is not known, nor have we any account how he was and Erminace. Where his body ness is not amorning to any account about the his and Buryed. Gregory the Great relates the Death of Ermenegildus, lib. 3. dial. cap. 31, and flays Musick was heard near the Dead Body, and Lights were seen over it at Night. About this time Pelagius the second, governed the Catholick Church. St. Gregory the Great, was

Eremene

CHAP. IX.

The remaining part of the Reign of King Leuvilgildus. He Persecutes the Catholicks.
Subdues the Suevians. His Death, and Causes of his Conversion.

Omers, in whose candow meas, designed to read net, and a beaton for he son, to the Emperor Mauricius. On the other fide the Kings of the Franks, Childbert Brother, and Going Recurding trandus, Unkle to Indegundis, refolved to Revenge the wrong done her, and Death of makes Ermenegildus. Recaredus having intelligence of it, and intending to be beforehand with Warill' them, broke into France, plundered and wasted all the Country, and took a frong Castle, France. in the Territory of Arles, called Ugernum. Great was the havock he committed, and greater the Terror he spread, whereupon a Treaty of Peace was set a foot, and Leuvigildus sent his Embaffadors to affile at it. Nothing was concluded, for befides the former wrongs, the Goths at that time took certain French Ships, on the Coals of Galicia, with all the Men and Merchandize in them. This Action fo far incenfed the Franks, that tho another Embaffy precrandize in them. I has Action to far incented the trans, that the another limbelly was fent, their Kings, and chiefly Gintrandus, would give no Ear to the Proposals of the Goth. Authors say, Recaredus the second time from Narbonne, made roads into the Country of the Franks, and did great harm. Collabors who was most exposed to the danger, and concerned for the injuries done to his sister, and Brother-in-Law, the better to secure his revenge, invited Mauricius the Emperor (whose offers before he had slighted) to joyn his streets. The streets of the streets. Forces with him, in order to oppose the Longobards, who had possessed themselves of Italy, and the Goths in Spain. This Alliance being concluded, he marched into Italy with a great Arthy. The Enemy at first avoided coming to a Battle, whereupon the Franks growing Franks feure and despiting them, they sell upon them by surprize, and put their whole Army to overthe rout, with the greatest Slaughter that had been known of that Nation. This disaster in halfdoubtless made Childebert more complying with, the Goths, besides; that the Emperor being doubtleis made Childebert more complying with the Goins, beliaes; that the Emperor being otherwise employed, allisted his Confederates, rather with his Name than Power, and Indegundis, the cause of this War, was now dead, some say in Africk, others in Sicily, for Authors do not agree about it neither is it known what became of her son. There is an Account that he was carryed to the Emperor, and is supposed to have, dyed soon after. Maximus day sensigiliaes the Mother dyed at Palermo, and the Son was long after her at Constantinople. Lewingildus Persecutes defiring to extirpate the Catholick Religion in Spain, for that as he thought it had been the Catholick Religion in Spain, for that as he thought it had been the Catholick Catholick and holyest Men, as those that supported licks. and maintained it. Among the rest were Leander Bishop of Sevil, and Fulgencius of Ezija, and Maufona of Merida. The King seized upon the Revenues of the Churches, abolished all the Ecclefiaftical Priviledges, and put to Death many Men of note, some on just causes, others upon false informations, and enriched the Crown with their Estates. His chief aim was so to weaken all other Families that none might afpire to the Crown. Many not only of the Comweaken an other ramines that note linguit applied to the County, but even the Nobility Terrified with these proceedings, submitted 'themselves on the King's Will, and embraced the Arian Herese. Among others, Vinencius Bishop of Zaragora, turning Arian, by his ill Example drew many into the same ruin. Severus Bishop of Malaga, and Licinianus of Carthagena, his Contemporaries writ against him. The Kingdom of the and Lieinanus of Cartbagena, his Contemporaries writ against him. In exingtom of the Costs, which by these practices seemed to increase in Power, was at the same time Asymented by the additions of the Dominions of the Suevians in Spain, which hapned in this manner, Suevians King Eboricus, the Son of Myrus, was outed that Kingdom by Andeea, a Noble Man, who reduced was Marryed to Sifegunda, Eboricus his Mother-in-Law. Not content with usurping the Crown, he forced him to enter into a Monastery, and change the Royal Robes of a Religious of minor of the Habit. Eboricus was a Friend and Confederate of the Goths, for which reason Livingildus appositions. Habit.  Roboricus was a Friend and Confederate of the Goths, for which reason Levingidus appeared in Arms against the Tyrant. Him he overthrew in Battle, took Prifoner, and having fittpe thin of the Regidus, haved his Head, which according to the Cutfoner and having fittpe thin of the Regidus, was degrading, and making him incapable of being a King, and after all banished him to Beja, a City in Portugal. These disorders gave Opportunity to one Malaricus to Repel, and being affilted by the People to take upon him the Title of King. Levosigidus stoon quieted this Rebellion, and made himself Master of all Galicia. Eboricus its supposed, continued as a private Man in the Monastery, and the Goth had no inclination to restore him. Thus the King don't of the Suevians, that had long flourished and possesses and the Levosigidus of the Suevians, that had long flourished and possesses and the Levosigidus of the Levosigidus tho Leavigildus in his Heart was a Catholick, yet he did not publickly abjure Arianifm, but tho' Lewvigildus in his Heart was a Catholick, yet he did not publickly abjure Arianifm, but temporized for fear of his Subjects. Maximus, fays he, was prefent at the King's Death, temporized for fear of his Subjects. Maximus, fays he, was prefent at the King's Death, and faw figns of his Repentance and Tears. He places his decase on the second of April in an faw figns of his Repentance and Tears. He places his decase on the second of April in a finis Con-racles. Among others it is faid, that in the War against his Son, the Soldier's plundering a verifion.

Chap. X.

Monastery of the invocation of St. Martin near Carthagena, the Monks fed into an Island, and one of the Soldiers pursuing the Abbot fell down dead, whereupon the King caused all that had been taken from the Monastery to be restored. Another time in a dispute that was held about Religion, the Catholick, in testimony of the Truth he maintained, took a burning Ring about Religion, the Catholick, in testimony of the Truth he maintained, took a burning Ring out of the Fire, withhis bare hand, and received no harm, which the Arian durft not do the fire, withhis bare hand, and received no harm, which the Arian durft not do. These and other Miraghes caused the King to waver in his Mind. He asked of an Arian Bifloop, why they did not work such wonders in defence of Faith. He replyed, he had often given sight to the blind, and restored their hearing to the deaf, but did it not publick-These and other Mirages caused the King to waver in his Mind. He asked of an Arian Bishop, why they did not work such wonders in defence of Faith. He replyed, he had often given sight to the blind, and reflored their hearing to the deaf, but did it not publicked for given sight to the Did and the replaced of the would do it in sight of the World. Soon after the King and Bishop being together, an Arian, who at his Institution had reigned him-after the King and Bishop being together, an Arian, who at his Institution had reigned him-after the King and Bishop being together, an Arian, who at his Institution had reigned him-felf blind, called upon him earnestly to restore him his sight. All Men expected to see the Bishop touch Miracle which hap ned, contravy to what they thought, for no sooner did the Bishop touch his Eyes but he was struck blind, which that wretch being sensible of, he openly Consessed whole contrivance. These things caused the Arian Hereste to be much slighted, and the more, so that during four Years, continually all Spain, but especially the Kingdom of Toleck, was for that during four Years, continually all Spain, but especially the Kingdom of Toleck, was for that during four Years, continually all Spain, but especially the Kingdom of Toleck, was for the Earlie of Eccentric the Catholicks. By the testimony of St. Ishawa , this Ermengildus, and for Persecuting the Catholicks. By the testimony of St. Ishawa, this commendation may be given to Leavigildus, that he Corrected the Laws of the Gabs, at share commendation may be given to Leavigildus, that he Corrected the Laws of the Gabs, at share commendation may be given to Leavigildus, that he Corrected the Laws of the Gabs, at that commendation may be given to Leavigildus, that he Corrected the Laws of the Gabs, at that the Bishourhood men, where he was maintained by the King, till the Country people of the Neighbourhood men, where he was maintained by the King, till the Country people of the Neighbourhood men, where he was maintained by the King, ti

The Hiltory of SPAIN.

CHAP. X.

The Reign of Recardus, his and his Peoples Conversion. Conspiracies against him detected and punished. He overthrows the Franks. The third Council of Toledo.

The Reiga The Funeral Rites being performed to Lewigildus, with that State and Magnificentee that was requisite, Recaredus bent his Thoughts upon the fetling his Court, and the factor of Reare Government of lightingdom. His first care was to appeale the Kings of France, and in Order of the his first that was requisited to the his first care was to appeale the Kings of France, and in Order of the his first three was to appeale the Kings of France, and in Order of the his first first per large the Kings of France, and in Order of the his first of his first care was to appeal the Kings of France, and in Order of the his first of having had any hand in the Death of Francegildus, but that on he fent to except himself of having had any hand in the Death of Francegildus, but that on the contrary, it had grieved him to the Heart. The time of concluding fo important an affair the contrary, it had grieved him to the Heart. The time of concluding fo important an affair was not yet come, but it was near at hand. By the advice of the two Brothers, Leander and Fulgenius, he being already a Catholick in his Heart, began to think of eliabilishing the true Religion in Spalm, yet for the present was forced to distentible, rather than missing the true and thertaking. He weighted the humour of the Commonatry, which in matters of Religion is undertaking. He weighted the humour of the Commonatry, which in matters of Religion is better managed by art than force. Therefore he resolved to firsh tuntoft industry, chebetter managed by art than force. Therefore he resolved to firsh tuntoft industry, chebetter managed by art than force. Therefore he resolved to firsh tuntoft industry, chebetter managed by art than force. Therefore the resolved to the such as a such ing for Athalocus foon dy'd with Grief to fee his Party decay, and, for that the generality of the People being well inclined to the Catholick Religion, he could not perfused them to Revolt. The two Earls were overthrown in Battle by the Forces of Recardus, and all the harms they had done to the Catholicks revenged on them. This Revolt hap nod, and was queiled in Callia Nathoneniis, in the 10th Month of the King's Reign, at fuch time, as he publickly abjusted the Arian Herefie, and embraced the Catholick Religion. To the Churches, he receives forced all their Revenues and Polifellions, whereof they had been deprived by his Father, and the Built, and Endow'd many Churches and Monafteries with Royal Magnificence. Many Subjects he reflored to their Lands, and Honours, of which, they had been firplyd by his father, whose Severity, he out-did in Goodness. Thus the King was employed, and God prospered his Assairs. King Gentrandus had sent his General Desiderius, with a great Army to revenge the harms done him by the Goths. of the People being well inclined to the Catholick Religion, he could not perfuade them to to revenge the harms done him by the Goths, on their Lands in France. Recarded's Forces drew together, and gave them Battle near the City Carcalfonne. At first, the Goths were worsted, and sied into that City, but rallying, and drawing up there, they Sallied out a fresh upon the Franks, who pursued in Distorder, with such resolution, that the Fortune of the Day me changed their Francisco treatile Parish and they obtained a contribution. the Day was changed, their Enemies totally Routed, and they obtained a compleat Victory. He Over-The General of the Franks was killed, and more of his Men remained in the Field dead, than franks.

efcaped. This was in the first Year of the Reign of Recaredus, which was of Christ 87s. as appears by an Inteription on a Stone found lately in Toledo, and fet up in the Cloitler of the Cathedral; the Words on it are thefe.

Cathedra; the words on it are there. In nomine Domini, confectate exclete Santis Mariæ in Catholico, die primo idus Aprillis, Anno feliciter primo Regni Domini nostri gloriossissimi El. Recaredi Regni, Era DCXXV. That is, In the Name of the Lord, the Church of St. Mary, in the Catholick quarter, (or after. the Catholick manner) was Confecrated on the 13th of April, in the bappy first Tear of the Reign of our Lord, the most Glorious King Flavius Recatedus. Era 625, which is the Tear of Grace 87. Hereticks our Lord, the most Giprous King Havius Recatedus. Era 625, which is the Iear of Grace 87: Heratika exactly. The Year following, was discovered a Conspiracy against the King, upon account conspire of the change in Religion; in this manner Maujona, the Catholick Bishop, before Banished, against upon this Revolution, returned to his Bishoprick of Merida. Summa, the Arian Bishop, who theking was to fall from that Dignity, contrivid with some of his own Party to Murder Maujona.

The attempt was desperate, because, Duke Claudius, Governour of Lustiania, a Zealous Catholic Murder and Catholic Murder and Catholic Research. tholick, refided there with a firong Garrifon. Whereupon, the Configurators being sentile of their danger, resolved to kill Claudius, as well as Maufona. Witericus, a Noble

Youth, who was bred in the House of Claudius, and came afterwards to be King of the Goths, Youth, who was bred in the Houle of Claudius, and came atterwards to be King of the Golbs, was employ'd to put this in Execution. It was requifite to find fome good opportunity berform this wicked Act. In order to it, Sunna defired to have a time and place appointed, where he might vifit Maufona, who fulpecting the Arian, defired Claudius to be prefent at their meeting, thinking his Power and Authority might prevent any evil delign. This, the Confipirators thought a proper opportunity to execute their Delign in. The appointed time being come, after the first Salutations, the Plotters made a fign to Witericus, the Delight Claudius; but reactive being the proper opportunity to execute their Delign in. pointed time being come, after the first sanitations, the rooters make a light to whereday, who flood behind Claudius: but notwithstanding, he endeavoured it, he could never that his Sword. However, they were noways difimay'd, but refolved at a publick Procession that was to be made to the Church of St. Eulalia, in the Suburbs, to kill the Bishop, and all that accompanied him. To this effect, they hid a great number of Swords in creatin Carts they brought in loaded with Corn. Providence prevented the Execution, for Witeri-Carts they brought in loaded with Corn. Providence prevented the Execution, for Witerieus altering his mind, difcovered the whole Contrivance. Claudius immediately fell upon Summa and his Party, killed fuch as made refiftance, fecured the reft, gave the King an account of what he had done, and by his order, Banished the Offenders, and Consistent and Conficated all their Goods. Summa, tho's undeserving, having his choice given him, either to depart Spain, or abjure his Heresie; being obstinate, went over into Africk. Witerieus was Pardon'd for discovering. Parisia, one of the Conspirators having taken Sanctuary in the Church of Scipnalizadiai, was Condennach to serve the sale all his Life time. Count Paul Sega, another of the Principals, had his Hands cut off, and was Banished to Galicia. These Examples until the Commotion and the's they were sufficient to terrisite others, wet a greater Stone. quelled that Commotion, and they they were sufficient to terrific others, yet a greater Storm queited that Commotion, and tho they were unificient to terrine others, yet a greater Storm enflued. Queen Golinha at first, in compliance with her Son-in-law, feigned she embraced the Catholick Religion, and proceeded to far, as to spit out the blessed Sacrament she received in the Church; the same was done by the Bishop Vlaida, her great Favourite. This could not be long hid, therefore, they resolved to murder the King, which being discovered, Vlaida was Banished, and Gossimha son after, dy'd a natural Death. About the same time, being the Year of our Lord 588. King Guntrandar sent an Army of Sonoto Men, under the Common of the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men, under the Canada Resident of the Death of the Sonoto Men under the Sonot der the Command of his General Bosas, to break into Gallia Gothica, in revenge of the Death der the Command of his General Bosts, to break into Gallia Gotbica, in revenge of the Death of Desiderius. Against him, Recatedus sent Duke Claudius, of ancient Roman Extraction, Frist devide passing by the Pyreneau Mountains, met the Enemy near Carcassome. In that place he resolved to give Battle, as being of good Omen, for the late Victory obtained there. The fight was bloody, but the Gotbs at last were Victorious, a vast number of Franks were fall, fight was bloody, but the Gotbs at last were Victorious, a vast number of Franks were fall, and their Camp taken. In the following Year, another Conspiracy against the King was discovered, contrived by Argimundus, his Chamberlain, the Accomplices were apprehended, and after being Racked, put to Death; the Principal had such is Flair shaved off, which was a token of degrading him from the Nobility, then his right Hand being cut off, he was cartied ried about the Streets of Toledo upon an Als, a pleasing spectacle to all good People, who intrively loved the King.

Some time after, his Head was chopt off.

The third After Montanus Julian, Bacauda, Peter, and Euphimius, were successively Archbishops of Toledo, After Montanus Julian, Bacauda, Peter, and Euphimius, were successively Archbishops of Toledo, Church Discipline, then much depraved, conducted with Leander, Archbishop of Sevil, and Church Discipline, then much depraved, conducted with Leander, Archbishop of Sevil, and their Residence. This Council was opened, and held their first Session at the Reginning of their Residence. This Council was opened, and held their first Session at the Reginning of their Residence. This Council was opened, and held their first Session at the Recond Session, May in the Year 380. It consisted of Archbishops, and 65 Bishops. At the Recond Session, May in the Year 380. It consisted of Archbishops, and 65 Bishops. At the Recond Session, and Council of the Constanting the Heads of the true Faith, and particularly, according to the Constanting of the Faith, and Abjuration of the Arian Herethe King prefented the Prelates a Profession of the Faith, and A Polaration of the Arian Herethe King presented a from the Father and Son. After the King 9 Bishops, and 5 Bishops, and 5 Noblemen, presented a from the Father and Son. After the King 9 Bishops, and 5 Noblemen, presented a like Prosession and Abjuration. This done, the Prelates proceeded to publish 23 Canons for like Profession and Abjuration. This done, the Prelates proceeded to publish 23 Canons for like Profession and Abjuration. This done, the Prelates proceeded to publish 23 Canons for like Profession and Abjuration. This done is the proceeded to publish 23 Canons for like Profession and Abjuration. The About Bishops, and Euclidean Constanting the Ecclesiastical Discipline. Particularly, they-Ordained, that note hundred, the Euclidean Constanting the Ecclesiastical State Profession of the Euclidean Constanting the Ecclesia or Determined any thing, as not extending their Power to Eccleliaftical Affairs.

THE

History of SPAIN.

The Sixth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The remaining Actions of King Recaredus. He Marries Clodofinda, Sifter to Childebert, King of Lorrain. His Death. Original of Dukes and Counts.

True Religion flourishes

New light of Glory feem'd to spread it self over all Spain, after dispersing the for-New light of Giory Ieem a to ipread it jet over all spam, ancer dispersing from mer darknefs, perfect Peace was reflored, the preceding Commotions and Frombles being appealed, and nothing but Mirth, and publick Rejoycing, was feen in all Parts. It was a Blefling to behold those, who were before divided, and diffracted by their various Opinions in Religion, to that they agreed in nothing but the Tongue, which was common to all, now again united into one Body, and reconciled, as to their Sentents in the Holy Faith of the Church. This was a fingular Mercy of God, not only in respect to their prefent Felicity, but even in the affured hopes of a lafting Happines. Forreign fpect to their prefent Felicity, but even in the affured hopes of a lafting Happines. Forreign Princes Congratulated the King upon his great Success, and each offered his allistance to carry on 6 good a Work. Pope Gregory the Great, Successor Pelagins II. in the Year 590. The the beginning of his Papacy, fent a Letter to Leander, Congratulating the King's Reconciliation to the Church, and telling how happy he will be, if he perfeveres to the end. The King also understanding that Gregory was Elected Pope, sent an Embally to him, of which, Provinus the Pried was chief, and with him went some Abbots, with them he sent Presents of Gold, and 300 Suits of Cloaths for the Poor of St. Peter, in Rome; for then it seems, the Poor, and the Hospitals, were maintained upon the Revenues of the Church. One thing defenced by this Embals. figned by this Embally, was to obtain of the Pope to Confirm and Ratific the Decrees of the Council of Toledo. There are extant three Letters of Pope Gregory, dated the ninth Year of his Papacy, by which it may be concluded, the Embaffadors were forc'd back into Spain by Storms, and long detain'd there, as also that they made a long stay at Rome. The first Let- Several ter is directed to Duke Claudius of Merida, the Principal Man in Spain, next to the King, recommending to him the Abbot Cyriaeus, then going into Spain. The fector to Learder, come him. doling his Sufferings, by the Gout. The third is to the King, encouraging him to continue firm in the Faith he had received, and commending his good actions. With this Letter he feat him a piece of the holy Crofs, some Hairs of St. John Baptift, a Key touch'd to the Body of St. Peter; and fome filings of the same Saints Chains. To Saint Leander he sent the Pall. For at that time the Jews having offer'd large summs of Money, that a Law pass'd against them might be Repeal'd, the King had refus'd to grant it. There is a common received Opinion among Spaniards, the no Author mentions any fuch thing, that the Spanish Eu-Opinion among opinions, the location includes any next thing, that the opinion into Spain, among other Prefents they had for the King, and the Blatter, and that it is the fame which many Years after was found in a Cave; together with the and that it is the rame which many rears after was found in a care, together with the Bodies of St. Fulgeneius, Bishop of Ezija, and St. Florentina his Sister; and which at this time is held in great Veneration at Guadalupe, one of the chief Monalteries of the Order of St. Hierome in all Spain. Whilf the Emballadors resided at Rome, several Synods were held in Spain, according to a Decree of the late Council of Toledo, as is supposed, which Ordain'd there should be Yearly Provincial Synods held, for the reformation of manners, and several the good of the Church. One of these Synods was held by Leander at Sevil, another at Nar-Synods. bonne, in Gallia Gothica, others at Zaragoga, Toledo, Huesca, and Barceiona; whose Acts are not here set down, as belonging more properly to the Ecclesiastical History. Let us return to the King, who after the Death of his Queen Bada, being desirous to conclude a Peace with the Kings of France; and in order to it, laying aside all former resentments, sent Emballadors to Childeber King of Lordin, to ask his Sifter Clodofinda in Narriage, as was before Recaredur, linted. This Marriage was at laft concluded, Recaredur protetting to those Kings, he never harriad had any hand in the Death of Ermengildus, but had been very fensibly touchfu with his Bro-Chilosat thers Misfortunes. Clodofinda was before promis'd to Anthari King of the Longobards, but Sifter to Recardeds was prefer'd before him; both in regard of the prefling initiances be made, as also Chili-bert because he was a Catholick, and the other a Pagan. Authors do not agree as to the time of Lorrain. the Celebration of the Nuptials; but it is certain, that the Alliance with the Franks was setled in the latter days of Recaredus. About the same time such of the Romans as had remain'd led in the latter days of Recaredus. About the same time such of the Romans as had ren-ain'd in Spain, were deseated upon several occasions, and brought under by the Golbs. The Vafacons likewise, that is Navarre being revolted, were pacify'd and subdid. For these, and the other glorious Actions perform'd during his Reign, the King gain'd Immortal Renown, and the was end, with the singular greatness of Mind, much Wit, Prudence, and a pleasing Pere dued fon and Nature; but what most gloriously shin'd in him, was his great Zeal for the Catholick Religion. His Death was in the Year of Grace 610, having Reign'd 15 Years, one Month, and 10 Days. St. Isfdorns says, that being near his Death, at Toledo, he did publick Pennance 610. For his Sins, as was us'd in those days. He left three Sons, the Eldest called Liuva, the Kingkeatothers Suinibila and Geila. The first is suppos'd to be by his first Wife, he being of Age to reduct dies govern at his Fathers Decease, on whom the other two were got is not known. Certain it is, the present Kings of Spain are lineally defeeded from these Princes, and particularly from Revardus their gather. For the hetter understanding whereof it, will not he amis here to Recaredus their Father. For the better understanding whereof, it will not be amiss here to Recăredus their Father. For the better understanding whereof, it will not be amiss here to insert their Genealogy. Gossiunda the Wise of whangildus, had by him two Daughters, Gal-fuinda and Brunechilda. Also Clodoveus., or Clovis, King of the Franks, had Three Grandfons, which were Gunrandus, Chilperick, and Sigebert, all Sons of Clovarius the Son of Clovis. Kings of Galjiinda was Married to Chilperick, who perish by the Fraud of Fredgenda, as was himselven before. Sigebert Married Brunechilda, and by her had Childebert, Ingundis, and Clodofinda, Letwigildus, Succession of Albanagildus, by his first Wise. Theodofia had Emmengildus, and Recaredus, before he was King, and being come to the Crown Marry'd Gossiunda the Queen Dowager. Ermengildus Married Ingundis, and Recaredus Clodofinda. It is to be observed in the Hilbery of Recaredus, and the enting Kings, that whereas mention is made of Dukes, and Counts, or Earls, those Names fignify Offices and dignity of Command, and not bare Titles as at present: for Counts or Earls, were Goyernors of Provinces: the Dukes were Generals, as at present; for Counts or Earls, were Governors of Provinces; the Dukes were Generals, as at present; for counts of care, were considered in the counters; and hence the Crown and had the Power of Coining Money, for Payment of their Souldiers; and hence the Crown Piece in Spain came to be called Ducado, or a Ducate: Not only the Governours of Provinces Original were call'd Counts, but fuch as had any remarkable Office at Court, or Command in the of Dukes Army; fo in Military imployments, we find Comites Cataphrastariorum, Clibanariorum, and and Sagittariorum. At Court there was Comes Stabuli, now the Constable, and so others in imi-Counts tation of the Roman Emperors. From them also it is supposed Recaredus first took the strange of Flavius, as did the enfuing Kings after him. Belides Toledo was still d a Royal City, which was the very Title the Greeks gave to Conftantinople, the Seat of the Empire. Thus we that in those days, Dukes, and Counts, or Earls, were Persons of Command; and those Names were not barely Titular, as at present, Kings having of later Years made them Hereditary, affigning them certain Revenues:

Chap. III.

hap'ned in his time.

86

CHAP. II.

The Reigns of the Kings Liuva, Witericus, Gundemarus, Sisebutus, and Recaredus the Second; several Synods, the Jews Banish'd Spain.

Iuna being scarce Twenty Years of Age when his Father dy'd, was immediately Pro-

L claim'd King, but by reason of his Youth, lay the more expost to the infolencies of rebellious Spirits. Wherefore it followed that they he was a Prince of Excellent Qualities and like his Father, he was treacherously Murdered by Witericus, before spoken of, when he

Father Re-Ts Mur-

> Witericus the Mur-

had Reigned only two Years, during which time he did nothing remarkable, fave, that by the Beauty of his Person and gentle behaviour, he had gained the affections of all Men, and left his Subjects in extream grief for that he was cut off in the flower of his Years. There are Pieces of Gold found in Spain, with his name on the one side, and on the reverse, these words, HISP ALL PIUS, that is, Pious at Sevil, which is a token of his goodness. These Medals cannot be Attributed, to the other Liuva, because there is a Crown on them, which in the times of the former was not in use among the Goths. By this means the Traytor possessed himself of the Kingdom of the Goths, and held it fix Years, and ten Months. He was Fortunate in War, for the in some rencounters with the Romans, still remaining in Stain he had the worst, yet Three at laft his forces gave them an entire overthrow in a pitched Battle fought near Siguença. ultrus the Childebert King of Lorrain dying, his two Sons divided his Dominions, Theodebert was King of Lorrain, and Toeodorick of Burgundy. Theodorick marryed the Daughter of Witericus, but she was sent back into Spain a Maid, some said that Theodorick was bound with Spels and Witchcraft by the Concubins he kept fo that he could not have carnal knowledge of her. Others are of Opinion, it was done by the procurement of her Mother-in-law Brunechilda. However it was Witericus mount, was come by the production of her women that the production of the Longobards to join in a league against Theodorick. He finding himself in no Condition to oppose such a Power, bought his Peace with his Brother Theodoric, whereupon the other two Princes desisted from attempting any thing against him. This difgrace made Witerieus grow comtemptible to his Subjects, and their hatred began to break out which had long lain hid. But what incenfed the People most; was that it was rumoured he defigned to restore the Arian Heresie. The People were so was that it was rumoured ne dengined to Tendre the Arian Telene. The reopie weet a moved at this report, that taking up Arms, they broke in the Palace and killed the Tyrant Is killed as he fate at Dinner. Nor did this fatisfy their Rage, fo they dragged his Body about the and drag Streets, and then buried it in an infamous place. This divine Vengeance, the late, overtook him for the Murder of King Liuva. Gundemarus was immediatly Proclaimed King, either for that he had been head of that mutiny, or by the choice of the Nobility, in regard of his for that he had been nead or that mutiny, or by the choice of the Nobility, in regard of his great Wifdom and Abilities, both in civil and martial Affairs. He began his Reign in the Year of our Lord 610. and if it be Lawful to conjecture at Hiftory, I fuppofe the Franks affilted him in obtaining the Crown, for as appears by the Letters of Count Bulgaranus, Governour of Gallia Gobiea, which are fifthly preferved among the Antiquities of the University of Alcala de Henares, and the Church of Oviedo, Gundemarus payed a certain yearly acknowledges.

Gundema-

Fourth

ty of zinema as retenates, and the cunted of corteas, connection beyond a certain yeary akinow-ledgment to the Franks. Those Letters also give us to underfland, that Gundemarus his Em-balladors fent into France, were contrary to the Law of Nations, affronted by those Kings, and the' he fent other Emballadors to complain of that: (wrong) they could not be admitted to Audience. For this cause Bulgaranus would not fuffer Theodorick his Emballadors to pass into Spain, and at length broke out into open War, and took two Forts called Jubinianum, and Corneliacum. Count Bulgaranus attacked these two places, upon account they had been given by King Recaredus to Bruneshilda, who dying foon after, and her Sons, and Grandsons being also extinct, it is supposed for that cause the French Kings did not attempt to recover them. Thus much in France. In Spain, King Gundemans made War with fuccels upon the People of Navarre, who again had revolted, he had also some rancounters with the Romans, that maintained that part of Spain, which fill acknowledged the Roman Empire; All which, and his Death, which fell out at Toledo, was in the Year 612. when he had Reigned one Year, ten Months, and thirteen Days. The Queen his Wife was called Hisbeath it is not known that he left any lillue. At the fame time Heraclius who fucceeded Phocas, was Emperor in the Eath, and Bonifacius the 14th, Governed the Catholick Church after Gregory the Great, Sabinianus, and Bonifacius the Third. Aurafius was Bishop of Toledo, his Predeceffors were Euphimius, Tonancius, and Adelphius. In his time a Synod of 25 Bilhops from feveral parts of Spain was held at Toledo, upon account that feveral Bilhops of the Province of Carthagena, would not acknowledge the Superiority of the See of Toledo, for which this Synod unanimously gave judgment. About this time flourished the famous Poet Draconcius, who put the beginning of Genesis into Verse.

Gundemarus was interr'd with great Pomp, and what made it the more remarkable was the Sorrow and Tears of all the People for the loss of 6 Excellent a Prince. Next, the Nobility meeting made choice of Sifebutus to fucceed him, who being a Person no less qualify'd than the other, very zealous of the Catholick Religion, and what in those days was rare Learned, and skilled in the Latin Tongue, the grief conceived for the former loss was in some measure allayed. The hopes conceived of Sifebutus proved not vain, for he foon quelled the Affuriants Subdues and People of Rioja, who relying upon the fireight of their Mountainous Gountry, refused the Affuriants of Subdues and People of Rioja, who relying upon the fireight of their Mountainous Gountry, refused the Affuriants of Subdues and People of Rioja, who relying upon the fireight of the Affuriants of Subdues and People of Rioja, who relying upon the fireight of the Affuriants to acknowledge the New King. In this War he made use of Suinthila Son of the good King Reto achieve the tree King in this wan is made use to summing an order good in This good in This good in This country being subdued, the King increased Sumbila's Army, with Addition of many new Levies made throughout his Kingdom, in order to go himself in Person against the Romans, who still held some part of Spain about Cadiz, and along the Coast of the Ocean in Andaluzia, and Portugal. Having entred that Country, he defeated the Enemy in two Battles, Overtook from them many Towns, and scarce left the Romans a foot of Land in all Spain. What throw of was most commendable he made use of his success with great Moderation, setting at Liberty Romans. a great number of Captives taken by his Soldiers, in respect that they were Catholicks, and to take away all cause of discontent, paid their ransoms to the Owners out of his own Coffers. take away all cause of discontent, paid their ransoms to the Owners out of his own Cossers. Casarius, a Patrician, who governed for the Emperor in Spain, moved by the goodness of Sifebusus, and despairing of being able to withstand him, being so far from relief, was willing to set a Treaty of Peare on soot. A sir opportunity offered it self, for Cecilius Bishop of Metensa, being desirous of a more quiet Life, quitted his Bishoprick, and retired to a Monastery within the Precincts of the Romans. The Kingcited him to appear, and answer for what he had done. Cesarius, tho some Persons opposed it, caused him to be delivered to the King by Assignmentals, whom he sent as his Ambassador with Orders, if he found a sit opportunity to Treat of Peace. This Embassy was pleasing to Sisbusus, being himself inclinable Peace with to an accommodation, and therefore he sent an Ambassador of his own called Theodorick to Caster Romans Canada and Casarius who should be supported by the Superor Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Canada and Casarius who should be supported by the Superor Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Caster who should be supported by the Superor Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Casarius who should be supported by the Superor Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Casarius and the Superor Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Casarius and the Superor Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Casarius and the Superor Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Revenius to restrict the Conditions of the Romans Revenius to restrict the Rom to an accommonation, and interests the content Ambanation of this own carried the configuration, who first him with others to the Emperor Herachius, to ratify the Conditions of the Treaty. The Superor gave much credit to an Altrologer, who told him the Christian Empire would be in great danger from the circumcifed People, which being meant of the Moors and Saracens, he miliapplyed to the Jews, and therefore used all possible Means to oppress them. Now he easily was prevailed upon to ratify the Peace the Ambassador had concluded; only earnestly recommending it to the King Sistems, that he would Banish the Jews out of all nished his Dominions, which was granted, and such rigor was used towards them, that many against their Wills were forced to be baptized, a thing forbid among Christians. Among the Ancient Laws of the Goths called Fuero julgo, are two to be seen, to this effect, established by Sisebutus in the 4th Year of his Reign. Hereupon a great number of Jews went over into Sifebius in the 4th Year of his Keign. Hercupon a great number of Jews went over into Frame, whence not long after they were also expelled together with the Native Jews, by Dagobert King of the Franks, at the request of the same Emperor Heraclius. King Sifebiust taking, great Liberty in relation to the Ecclesiatical affairs, deposed Eufebius, Bishop of Barcelona, and gave that See to another, as appears by his own Letters. The pretence for fooling was, that certain Actors had been permitted by the Bishop to represent some things reing was, that certain Actors had been permitted by the bindop to represent some inning re-lating to the fuperfittion of the Heathens, and offenfive to Chriftian Ears. By the King's Or. Synod at der a Synod of 8 Bishops was held at Sevil, in which the Sech of the Acephali, formerly Or. Sevil. der a Synod of 8 Bilhops was held at Sevil, in which the Sec of the Leephali, formerly con. Sevil. demned in the Eaft, and now brought into Spain, by a Bilhop that came from Syria, was Anathematized, and he obliged to abjure it. The King being thus employed, was finatched away by Death, in the Year of Grace 621. having Reigned eight Years, fix Months, and fixteen Days. Several flories have been fyread abroad relating to his Death. Some faid the Sifebaus Phylicians gave him a Purge, good as to its quality, but that the quantity was too great; o. his Death, there that inftead of a Purge they poiloned him. It is cyrtain, many fallfibods are always fread abroad upon the death of Princes. His Funeral was performed with great Pomp, and many Tears, exprelling the great efteen he was held in by all Men. In the plain near Toledo, were the Barbas of Tays I and so a According which there the state of Tays the upon the Banks of Tagus, stands an Ancient Church dedicated to S. Leocadia, which threatens ruin. and is generally supposed to have been built by Sifebutus. It is also attribued to Sifebutus that he extended the Dominion of the Goths upon the Seas, either to fecure their Conquests on the Land, or with a delign to extend them into Africk. Some of our Historians write, on the Land, or with a dength of extend them and solution and the solution of Alia, and Africk, came over into Spain, and fled from Cordova for fear of St. Ifidorus. But this relation is wholly to be rejected as Fabulous, and not agreeing with Chronology and Foreign Hiltories. To Sifebutus succeeded his Son Recaredus, too young to take upon him so great a charge; Reigned he Reigned but three Months, and then dyed, without leaving any Memory of what a Months.

CHAP. III.

The Reigns of the Kings Suinthila, Rechimirus, Sifenandus, and Chintila. The Romans quite expelled Spain. Three Synods at Toledo.

Pon the Death of the two Kings, Father and Son, the Nobility made choice to fuc-ceed him, of Summilia, a Person who had given good proofs of his Courage and Con-chosen ducks in the late Wars; besides, that the Memory of his Father, King Recareau; gain'd King-the Affections of all Men, and made him be thought worthy that Dignity. He was not on-

Chap. IV.

Caules of 88

Usurpsthe and his

ly Couragious and Frudent, but so bountiful towards the Needy, that he was commonly called, The Father of the Poor. The People of Navarre, again Rebelled upon this change of Government, and over-ran the Province of Taragord with Fire and Sword; but the new King appearing, quieted them, only with his Presence, and Pardoned them, only upon condition appearing, quieted them, only with his Presence, and Pardoned them, only upon condition spearing made such ill use of their Liberty. This City is supposed, to be that, now called since they made such ill use of their Liberty. This City is supposed, to be that, now called since they made such ill use of their Liberty. This City is supposed, to be that, now called the Romain, after this War of Navarre was ended, were obliged to quit all Spain, after having for above 70 Years maintained themselves in part of Protugal and Andaluszia. There wing for above 70 Years maintained themselves in part of Protugal and Andaluszia. There are Authors of Opinion, the Golb Fortify'd Ebora, to be a check upon the Romain, some are Authors of Opinion, the Golb Fortify'd Ebora, to be a check upon the Romain, some Testimony whereof, are two Towers there, said to be Built by Sifebutus. The Romain had Teltimony whereof, are two Towers there, faid to be Built by Sifeburus. The Romans had maintain'd themselves so long in those Parts by the nearnels of Africk, whence they received Supplies, and being now cut off those Aids, the false Prophet Mahomet making War there, they were easily Expell'd. The Government of that Roman Province, was divided there, they were easily expend. The Government of that Roman Fiveline, was divided by Force, and betwixt two Patricians, one of them the King Corrupted, the other, he finduded by Force, and thus they both were brought under. All these remarkable things were concluded by King thus they both were brought under. All their emarkable things were concluded by King Saintbila, in the 5th Year of his Reignic which was of Carift 626. which fame Year, he to fecure the Succession in his Family, declard his Son Rechimins, tho' very Young, his Companion in the Throne. Yet, tho' the Youth gave good hopes that he would imitate the Virapanion in the Throne. Yet, tho' the Youth gave good hopes that he would imitate the Virapanion in the Throne. Yet, tho' the Youth gave good hopes that he crown flould the Sold Saint S be made Hereditary, which before was Elective. From this time forwards, they were fo be made Hereditary, which before was Elective. From this time forwards, they were fof far incensed, that they never gave over till both Father and Son were cast down from the Regal Dignity. What was most blameable in Suintbila, is, that after he had, subdued his Enemies, he inster'd himself to become a Slave to his Vices. Thoodora, his Wise, and Coyla, or Medical him the hil Will of his Subjects, and raticed those Enemies, who at left wrought his downfall. him the hil Will of his Subjects, and raticed those Enemies, who at left wrought his downfall, was preferred to that See. The ruin of Suintbila was contrived and Executed by Sifemandar, a bold and nowerful Man who thinking the batted the King had incomed affect the interest of the second of the s was preferred to that Sec. The ruin of Suinthila was contrived and Executed by Sifenandus, a bold and powerful Man, who thinking, the hatred the King had incurr'd, offer'd him a fair opportunity of railing himfelf, prevailed with Dagobeze, King of the Franks, to affilt he shadows and Venerandus, the Burgundian Generals, him. Having agreed upon Terms, Journalism of Venerandus, the Burgundian Generals, him Having agreed upon Terms, Journalism of Control of the William of Control of the Burgundian Generals, him Having agreed with their Forces as far as Zaragoja. The Nobility, who before, epiled by durft not declare themselves, then taking Arms, did not dessill they had expelled Suinthila, his Wife, and Son Rechmitus. This is more certain than what others have written, thia, his Wife, and Son Rechmitus. This is more certain than what others have written, thia, his Wife, and Son Rechmitus. This is more certain than what others have written, this, this, his work of the Gotte gave a Sum of Gold (as supposed, toward the charge of the War) to King Dagother which was of his Foundation. Suinthila Reign'd to Years, and was Deposed in that of our which was of his Foundation. which was of his Foundation. Sainthila Reign'd to Years, and was Deposed in that of our Sifenandus, having as he wished, ascended the Throne of the Geths, and being a prodent Man, perceived he was not well fixed, especially in respect, many still adhered to the contrary Party; therefore, to secure himself, he thought nothing could be more Efficacious than Religion. Hereupon, under pretence of Reformation of Manners, he gathered a Council of about 70 Bilhops, at Toledo But in reality, his chief design was, to obtain of those Prelates, that they would declare Suinthila incapable of the Crown; that fo all those who was of the Berty metric design and those who retates, that they would declare Summina incapable of the Grown; that to all those who were of his Party might desist. Their first Session was held in the Church of St. Leocadia, on the 4th of December, in the Year 634- and third of the Reign of Sijenandas, who appeared there in Tears, and full of hypocritical Words. They regulated the manner of holding the Provincial Yearly Synods, and made several other Ads relating to the Ecclesialtical Government. But the stranges is, they Decreed, That none should seize the Crown, unless chomes. But the stranges is, they made to Signature should be valid and Suimbild's Wife fine by the Nobility; that the Oath made to Siferandus, should be valid, and Suinthila's Wife, Children and Brothers Excommunicated. A hard strained point for Bishops to dispose of King Sifenandus departed this Life in the Year of our Lord 635, having Reign'd three King Sifenandus departed this Life in the Year of our Lord 635, having Reign'd three 635, Years, eleven Months, and fixteen Days. According to what had been Decreed in the Synody the Nobility and Prelates met, and by them, Chintila was elected King. In the place of the Nobility and Prelates met, and by them, Chintila was elected King. In the place of the Name, a Man famous for his Learning and Virtue. Some Authors are of Opinion, that the Name, a Man famous for his Learning and Virtue. Some Authors are of Opinion, that the Name, a Man famous for his Learning and Virtue. Some Authors are of Opinion, that the Name, a Man famous for his Learning and Virtue. Some Authors are of Opinion, that the Name, a Man famous for his Place of Name and the Name of Opinion, that the Name of Opinion of Name of Opinion, that the Name of Opinion of Name of Name of Opinion, that the Name of Opinion of Name of N and it is to be supposed the Sons would never suffer that to have been done in their' presence.

As soon as Chintia was chosen, he called a Council of Bishoss to consum his Election. It was tedious to stay for all the Bishops of the Kingdom, therefore 22, most of the Province of Carbagena, met, in the first Year of his Reign, and of Christ 636. The Prelates met in the Church of St. Locadia; and among other things, consumed the Election of the King, forbiding any, after his Death, to offer any wrong to his Children. They declard, any Excommunicate, that Usurped the Crown, without being legally chosen, and prohibit any Excommunicate, that Usurped the Crown, without being legally chosen, and prohibit any Excommunicate, that Usurped the Crown, without being legally chosen, and prohibit and probability of the Council of Toledo, and Patronia.

Eugenius, Archbishop of Toledo, Presided in it, and confirm'd its Acts. To make crees of this Synod the more binding, another of 50 Bishops, all within one Don't in Goths, met the Year following, which was the 6th neld at Toledo. In it were Rahifyed all the Acts of the former, particularly, in relation to the King and his children; and to live with Freedom within the Kingdom. These Councils were all that is researchable in the Reign of Chimita; it is fupposed, the People being inclined to Peace, and all Foreign Snemies removed, there hapined no War, at leaft none of note. The good Government of the King, and Authority of the Billops, kept the Subjects from offering at any Revolt.

Chintila dy'd in the Year of our Lord 639, when he had Reign'd three Years, eight 639. Months, and nine Days.

CHAP. IV.

The Reigns of the Kings Tulga, Chindasuinthus, and Recessiinthus. Several Synods of Toledo. Increase of the Mahometan Power. The Election and Coronation of King Wamba.

[Nitead of Chintila, by the unanimous confent of the Nobility, was chosen Tulga, young Tulga in Years, but old in Virtue, particularly Justice, Zeal for Religion, Prudence, Millire madeKing ry Experience, and Bounty towards the Needy, a quality most requisite in Kings, who ought to think they were intrusted with the Treasures of Kingdoms, to relieve the wants of fuch as are in diffress. His Perfections feem'd still to be in their increase, when Death cut him off at Toledo, in the Year 641. when he had Reign'd only two Years, and four Months. Sigibertus Gemblacensis fays, Tulga was a debauch'd Youth, and on that score, Deposed by his own People; but it is more reasonable to believe St. Ildefonfus, who writes as an Eye Witness. own People; but it is more reasonable to believe St. Indepning, who writes as an Eye Winels, than a Stranger, that either writ maliciously, or was imposed upon. After the Death of chindsfurning, the stranger of the Robellion a gainft the King, with the affiliance of the Soldiery, mounted the Throne, none of the Nobility daring to oppose him, that had all the standing Forces of the Kingdom on his side it fance of must be granted, that the he Usury'd the Crown Tyrannically, yet afterwards, he Government of the Soldiery was to govern the Army. must be granted, that the 'he Usury'd the Crown Tyrannically, yet asterwards, he Governe the Army, ed with great Moderation, as if he design'd that way to make good his bad Title to it. The first thing he did, was to settle the Common-wealth, by Establishing wholome Laws and Ordinances, for the better Administration of Justice, and the publick Good. In the 6th Year of his Reign, he called together to Toledo, all the Bishops in his Kingdom. Gardiner to the Asthory of the Asthory of the Asthory of Toledo, and this is counted the 7th Council of Toledo. The 7th Council of Toledo. The 7th Council of Toledo of Toledo, all of Toledo of Toledo, all of Toledo of Toledo, all of Toledo of Mahometan; fo blind is Man when once he strays from the right way. Those Authors that write in favour of the See of Toledo, and particularly, the Archbishop D. Rodrigo, will have it, that upon this occasion, King Chindasumbus made Toledo the Metropolitan See of all Spain; whereas before, Sevil had enjoy'd that preheminence, but they have not the Tetimony of any ancient Writers to confirm their Opinion; and therefore, we shall not lay much stress upon it. About these times, Theodorus, and his Successor, Martin I. Govern'd the Catholick Church. Chindashinthus being desirous to enrich Spain with good Books and the Catholick Church. Chindafunthus being defirous to enrich Spain with good Books and Learning, fent Tajus, Bilhop of Zaragora, to Rome, to obtain of Theodorus, then Pope, St. Gregory's Books upon 760; which are full of Allegories, and excellent Morality, and to bring them into Spain. The King thought those Books would be useful to Propagate, and Consisting the Catholick Religion, and be a great Addition to the Ecclefatical Library, as believing 75 Books now he had Peace on all sides, nothing could add more to the Glory of his Kingdom, than sent for the increase of Religion and Learning. Tajus having delivered his Embassy, the Pope was Rome, very willing to oblige the King. But those Books, thro' the Ignorance and Negligence of the times, were so hid among other Papers, that it was hard to find them. Much time was spent in fearching, and the Bilhop seing little hope of Success, had recourse to God, and spent the Night in Prayer, begging of God not to suffer the good Intentions of the King to be frustrated. He fail'd not of Success, for that Night, God revealed, or as he says in a Letter, St. Gregory appear'd to him, and discover'd where those Books were. Now it was that Frustroids began to be famous in Spain, he being of the Royal Blood of the Goths, left the World to go live in a Defart, and in time, at his own Expence, near Coplatica, at left the World to go live in a Defart, and in time, at his own Expence, near Cophaica, at the Foot of the Mountain Irago, in the place now call' Vierco, built a Monastery of Monks Monaster of the Invocation of the Martyrs, Justus and Pastor. The King was affilting to him in build-ries ing of this Monastery; and afterwards, the number of Monks being too great, not far off, in a Founded rough and uncouth place, Founded another, Dedicated to St. Peter. Fruduosus Founded a third Convent in the Island of Cadiz, and a fourth on the Continent, nine Leagues from the

Chap. V.

Recesuinvanced

to the Throne by

Coast, besides many others, as well of Men as Women. This was the Posture of Assain, in the latter Years of Chindashimbus, at which time, he to secure the Succession of the Crown, he had obtained by force in his Family, chofe his Son Flavius Recejuinthus his Companion in the Throne, in the Year of our Lord 648. after he had Reigned alone 6 Years, 8 Months, and 20 Days. It is true he lived three Years after, but that time is allotted to the Reign of his Son, because by reason of his great Age, he left the whole charge of the Go-Reign of his Son, because by reason or his great Age, he set the whose charge of the Government to him. Chindashinhus dyed at Toledo, according to some, of Sickness, but as others will have it, was possoned. His Body, and that of his Wife Reiberga, were buryed in the Monastery of S. Romanus, now called de Hormisda, betwixt Toro, and Tordesillas, on the Banks of the River Duero, founded by himself for his place of Burial, as was accordingly

The History of SPAIN.

In the Reign of Recejuinthus, Eugenius the Third, was Archbishop of Toledo; a Person of great Learning, as appears by many of his works still extant, and by some reckoned among great Learning, as appears by many or his works it in extant, and by iome reckned among the Number of Saints. In his time, and by his procurement $2 Bifthops met at Toledo, which is counted the eighth Council held in that City. This was rather a Parliament than Synod, all the Nobility of the Kingdom being prefent at it, and figuing to all the Decrees, which rather respected the Temporal than Spiritual Power. Two Years after, by the King's Order, there met 16 Bishops, who Celebrated the 9th Council, and published 17 Acts upon several Articles. The following Year 656. 20 Bishops met again in the same City, and this is reckoned the tenth Council of Toledo. The Asts of all these Councils, as also the Lives of St. Isidorus, and Council of St. Ildefonfus, whereof F. Mariana here Treats at large, I thought would not be fo acceptable to most Readers, nor so pertinent in this, as the Ecclesiastical History, which I do not pretend to Council of

The 10th write, and have therefore purposely omitted them. In the Year 660 Twelve Bishops of Portugal held a Synod at Merida, and published 23 Decrees, most relating to the Celebration of Divine Service. At the same time the power of the Mahometans grew formidable in Africk, for Abdalla, Duke of Moabia, the fourth from the the Malo. false Prophet Mahomet; in a great Battle, overthrew Gregory the Roman General and Governour of Africk, for the Romans, and by that means possess himself of all that vast Province. The Goths of old were Masters of Mauritania Tingitana, and particularly of Ceuta, and the Country about it. All the rest except this part fell into the hands of the Mahometans, who proud with fucces, from that time founded a new Empire in Africk, whofe Kings, in whom, according to the Cufton of those People, was the Spiritual, as well as TemporalPower, were called Advantamonisties, which signifies Princes of the Faithful. As those of the same People in called Miramamounes, which agains strings of the rathful. As those of the lame reopie in Afia, filled themselves Calipbs. Spain is divided from Africk, only by the narrow streight of Gibraltar. Many were of Opinion, this rise of those People threatned Spain, and their fear was much increased by an extraordinary Eclipse of the Sun, which hap ned in the Reign of Recesuintbus, so great that the day was totally darkned, as the Archbishop D. Rodrigo affirms, which they interpreted as an Omen of great mischiefs to ensue. Recessimbus quelled the People of Navarre, who were in Arms and made incursions, wasting the Country about them. Besides he corrected the Laws of the Goths, abolishing some, and instituting many new ones, the Number whereof, as appears by the Book called Fuero jufgo, is no less than that of all the others published by the Kings his Predecessors. By these Actions the King was Adions, what or an the others purposed by the Sonigs has reduced to the highest pitch of Honour, respected by his People, and well effected by his People, and well effected by his People, and in the Year of our Lord Death took him away, on the first of September in the Morning, and in the Year of our Lord Or2. having Reigned, from the time his Father declared him his Companion in the Throne, 23 Years, 6 Months, and 11 Days, after the Death of his Father 21 Years, and 11 Months. Two Leagues from Palladolid, (formerly, as fome think, called Pinnis) is a Town named Wamba, oferore called Gericos; here the King dyed, having been removed from Toledo, to try if the change of Air would do him good. His Body was buryed in the Church of that Town, where his Tomb is still to be seen, but the Bones were removed by King Alonso, the Wife to Foledo, and lay'd in the Church of St. Leocadia, according to a received Tradition in that City, near the high Altar, on the right fide. Philip the Second of Spain, in the Year 1575. Caused the faid Tomb to be opened in his Prefence, as also another on the left side of the Altar, no Inscription was found within, only the Bones wrapped in Cotton, and laid in wooden Chefts, but Learned Men that were present, believed that on the right hand to be the Tomb of Receivanthus, as being the Ancientest, and the other that of King Wamba, which was also Translated to Toledo, by the same King Alonso. Near Duerias, which is beyond Kalleddid on the Benke of the Bives Billiance is an Ancient Church Addisonance of the Church State of Valladolid, on the Banks of the River Pifuerga, is an Ancient Church dedicated to St. John Baptift, the workmanship Gothick, adorned with Marble and Jasper-stone. In it is an Inscription in fix lines, which declares it was built by King Reception bus, and finished in the Year 661, whence some Learned Men infer the Patrimonial Estate of those two Kings, was near about

In the time of Recessions, Constantine was Emperour of the East, and Adeodatus govern'd the Church of Rome. Upon the Kings Death there ensu'd a new and bloody War in that part of the Dominion of the Goths, that lay in Gallia Narbonnensis. Ambition was the cause of this evil, which bred great distractions in the Gotbish Kingdom, when they were in fullness of Peace, after having vanquished all Foreign Enemies. King Recessionshus leaving no lisue to fucceed him; his Brothers, either for their Age, or some other reasons, were not thought fit to inherit. Hereupon the Nobles met, and by common confent, made choice of Wamba, wamba a Man of Quality, who had been the Chief Favourite to the late Kings; besides, he was a good Soldier, very discreet, and so modest, that he refus'd to accept of that mighty honour, good soluter, very universe, and is mount, that he could not have been magney mount, excepting himself on account of his great Age, and begging they would not hay so heavy a burden upon him. He persisting firm in refusing, an Officer of note, with his drawn Sword, threatn'd to kill him, unless he accepted of the Crown. Wamba submitted to these threats, but so, that he should not be Anointed, as the Custom was, before he came to Toledo, reserving this honour for that City, and by that means gaining time, that those who were for him might alter their resolution, or at leaft such as opposed him be brought over, and io no differention might ensure. He set out for Toledo, where he was Anointed on the 29th of September in the Church of St. Peter and Paul, near the Royal Palace. In express terms he swore to ob-Errec the Laws of the Kingdom, and procure the wellfare of the People. Quiricus Archilfhop of Toledo, Succelfor to St. Ildefonfus, perform'd the Ceremony. Julian Archilfhop of Toledo writes, that when King Wamba was Crown'd, there rofe from his Head a Cloud in the form of a Pillar; and a Bee was also feen to Mount on high from his Head. It may be faid, that the People often fancy or imagine fuch things, but the Authority of the Author is of great force. All the Nobles did their Homage to the new King, and among them Paul; a Kinfman, as some imagine to the late Kings: but the name of Paul not used among the Goth, and his Disloyalty, make the Opinion of others more likely, who say he was a Grecian. Wamba was born in that part of Lustania, formerly called Igeditania, where is now a Town known by the name of Idania la Vieja, or Old Idania; and near it a Farm, with a Fountain, which retains the name of Wamba. The People of those parts are perswaded, as having receiv'd it from their Forefathers, that this same Farm was part of Wamba's Estate, before he came to the Crown.

CHAP. V.

The War with the Rebels in Gallia Gothica. Paul Wamba's General joins with them, The King marches against them, and reduces all the Country to his Obedience.

THE beginning of Wamba's Reign was full of Commotions and Troubles, the Subjects THE beginning of Wamha's Reign was mu or commonweal and a recommendation growing infolent, as believing him not well established in the Throne. The People of Wamha's aided Men in Cantabria or Biscay. Navarre, being of an unsetled temper, revolted. Wamba raised Men in Cantabria or Biscay, Navarre to be the nearer to oppress those Rebels, when at the same time news was brought him of revolts, more dangerous tumults in Gallia Gothica. Many of that Country were dislatisfied at his being Elected, and refus'd to acknowledge him as their King. They conspired together, and resolv'd to have recourse to Arms. Hilperick Earl of Nismes in France, was the first that de-Rebellion clar'd himself, confiding in the great distance he was at from the King, and his own extra- in Gallia ordinary Power. Gumildus, Bilhop of Magalona, and an Abbot, whose name was Remigius, Goibica. join'd with him. They labour'd to bring Aregius, Bilhop of Nismes, to their Party; but not being able to prevail, banish'd him to the inward part of France, and set the Abbor Remi-gius in his place. All things were carry'd on violently, and without regard to Equity or Jufilee, so they call'd out of France to their assistance, the Jews, who had before been Banish'd the Dominious of the Goths. Paul being a Man of great Wildom and Experience, was ap-Paul Gepointed General to quell this Rebellion; with fuch forces as were thought fufficient to op neral for pose the Revolters. All fell out contrary to expectation, for Paul being saste in his heart, takes part march'd slowly, and gave the Rebels time to grow strong; and at the same time, he contrived with the how the chief of the Goths might fall off from the King. By the way he agreed with Randfine Rebels.

dus Duke of Tarragona, and Hildigifus Gardingus, which was a dignity like to a Lord Lieutenant of a County. Both of them were Men of note, and by their means he policist himfelf of Barcelona, Girona, and Vique, Cities in Catalonia. Their Forces being thus increas'd they refolv'd to march into France, and join Hilpericus, not doubting they should be then in a condition to make head against the King. Argebaudus Archbishop of Narbonne, thought to have kept the Rebels out of that City, but they were so quick upon him, that he was forc'd to temporize, and feemingly join with them, rather through fear than affection. Paul having enter'd the City, call'd together the Citizens and Souldiers, and after reproving the Archibishop for having offer'd to keep him out; Condemn'd the Election of Wamba as illegal, and advis'd to proceed to a new one. Ranosindus, with a loud Voice, cry'd out, he knew none fo sit, and deferving to be a King, as Paul himself. This was only executing in publick, what they in private had before contriv'd. All that were of his Party being mix'd with the Croud, approv'd of what had been said, with great Acclamations, whilst the wifer fort were filent, not daring to gainfay. Thus Pani was declar'd King, and a Crown which King Reva-redus had offer'd to St. Felix, put upon his Head. So far had the Spirit of Rebellion tran-clardKing sported them, that they seiz'd not only the Riches of the publick, but laid their Sacrilegious hands upon the Treasures of the Church. Hilperick Earl of Nismes, the first that rais'd this Rebellion, consented with the others, and so all the Cities of Gallia Gothica; besides a great part of the Province Taracounfis, which follow'd the Example of their Duke Ranou findus. Paul grown Proud with this Success, fear a Challenge to the King, fall of bitter Invectives and Reproaches; upon which is believe that vulgan error was grounded, which makes Wamba of bale Parentage, as if he had been rais'd to the Thrope of the Plough, which is certainly a great missake, fou he was of the Chief Nobility of the Gobbs, and one of the greatest Favourites in the Courts of, those Kings, Wamba understanding what Paul had done; called a Council of his Nobles, to conflict whether it were better immediately to advance with what force he had, or return to Toledo to increase his Power. The more resolute were for Issing no time, but oppressing the Rnemy before they were grown stronger; the more Cautious, advised to gather new Forces, and leave all they were grown fronger; the more Cautious, advised to gather new Forces, and leave all things fetted in Spain. The King having weighed the Arguments on both ides, resolved to make up by Celerity, what he wanted in number of Men, and having exhorted his Nobles to fland by him, and relieve their Friends in diffrefs, his words were fo Efficacious that all Men taking New Courage, the War of Navarre was concluded in feven days, which was a good Omen of future Success. The Army was impatient to meet their Enemies, so they good Omen of nuture Success. The Army was impatient to nice their Lemantes, to they harded towards Calaborra, and Huefea, and came upon the Frontiers of Catalonia, with inderedible fpeed. Here the Army was divided into three parts, one Marched to Calpraibya; the chief Town of Cerdania, the fecond to Vique, and the Third to the Sea-Coaft to was that Country. The King himself followed with the flower of the Army. He punished many Soldiers, for Offering Violence to the Country People, and forcing of Women; for which Grimes he caused them to be Gircumcifed, as a punishment to them, and example ite others, Being come to Barcelona, the Metropolis of Catalonia, he eafily made himfelf Matter of it, pening come to Barceiona, the metropois of Caesionia, he canty made militer analysis and fecured the heads of the Rebels to be punished according to their Crimes! There he and fecured the heads of the Rebels to be punished according to their Crimes! There he and fecured to firm by the Bilhop called Amador, whom not Marched to Girona, which was delivered to him by the Bilhop called Amador, whom need long before Paul thought to have fecured to his interest, by a Letter in which he directed him to deliver the City to the first hist came. Here the Army rested two days, and passed the Typenean Mountains without meeting any Opposition. Beyond the Mounts they took and plundered Three Towns, Caucolibris, that is Coliver, Pullurain, and Castrolibra, beside another shutup betwirk the Hills, and therefore called Clausing, in this they took Ranofindus, and Hildigifus two heads of the Rebels. Witimirus was with a Garrison in a Town called and Hildigifus two heads of the Rebels. Witimirus was with a Carrison in a Town called Recovers and Hidagijus two nears of the reverse. Withmen was with a Gartinian a Town Carolina, but not thinking himfelf fafe fled to Narbonne, where Paul ftill lay contriving how to hinder the King from paffing the Mountains. Finding his Forces too weak he left that City to hinder the King from paling the Mountains. Finding his Forces too weak he lett that City to Witimirus, and retired to Nijmes, where he expected Succours, from France, and Germany Wamba having palied the Mountains, and incamped in the plain, flayed there two Days, till his other Forces that were disperied several ways came up, and thence sent Four Officers with a considerable Body of Men, to take Narbonne, a Noble City on the Frontiers of France. a connucrance Body of men, to take Ivarounce, a roote City of the Holling of These Forces being come before the City sent in to Summon it, they within answered with form, which so provoked the Soldiers, that they gave a furious Assault that lasted three hours, at the which to provoked the Soldiers, that they gave a furious Affault that lafted three-hours, at the end of which, having drove the defendants off the Walls, they fired the Gates, apply'd fealing end of which, having drove the defendants off the Walls, they fired the Gates, apply'd fealing end of which, having drove the defendants off the Walls, they fired the Gates, apply'd fealing end of the Walls, they force the Church, but was neverthered the Gates, and the Coral and the Archbithop, and Galiricia the left drawn from our Ladies Altar and Eccured. Argebaudus the Archbithop, and Galiricia the Rebels began to go down the wind, and the Loyal party to increase. The Loyalitis purfered their fucces, and with the same ease took the Cities, Magalona, Agaiba, and Beziers, where many chief of Rebels were taken, and among them, Remigus Bilhop of Nispnes. Counildus the Bilhop Magalona sted to Paul, at Nispnes, a City in those days, for the Number of the Inhabitants, beauty of Buildings, and strength of Walls, inferior to none in Galia Narbomensis. Against this City the King sent Four Resolute Generals, but they wanted Conduct and Englines for Battering the Walls, With them went 3000 Men. Being come in sight of the Town, they fornowly charged the Enemy that came out to meet them. The fight was Bloody, and lated all Day till Night parted them, each side boasting of the Victory, but the King's lasted all Day till Night parted them, each side boasting of the Victory, but the Kings Men were the first that sounded the Retreat. It hap ned that during the Ingagement, one of belsevery the Rebels cryed out, Great Numbers of French and Germans, will foon come to our Aid, and cut you all to Pieces. The King, with the rest of the Army, was not far off, therefore Advice was given him of what that Soldier had said, and he sent 10000 Men under the Command of Was given min of what that somet had land and he left 10000 men must the command of Wandemirus to reinforce the others. These were so eager to ingage, that Marching all Night, they reached the Town by break of Day, before the Assault began. At the sight of such a statement of the same of the s Multitude Paul was difinayed, yet endeavoured to hide it, and putting the best Countenance upon it, he incouraged his Men. The Assault was given, and lasted most part of the Day, till wijmet upon it, ne incouraged his pien. I ne Anault was given, and aircu noit part of the Bay, the belieged, being quite fipent with Labour, and over-powered, gave way, and fiftered the by Alfault. King's Men to come up to the Wall. Then fome fired the Gates, others with Crows, and ther Inftruments, beat down the Works. Having made a breach, they entred the Town, killing and deftroying all that flood in their way. The Citizens and French Solidiers fancying that the Spaniards, who were in the Town in hopes of obtaining their Pardon, had let in the Enemy, in a rage fell upon, and flew a great Number of them, and among the reft, one of Paul's A mitera. Servants by his own fide. It was a miterable fight to behold the Rebels attacked on all fides, A mileral servants by his own line. It was a infectance figure to account in fectors and all the Streets biellaugh, and put to the Sword by their own party, as well as by the Enemy, and all the Streets ter. frewed with dead Bodies, and running down with Blood. Paul himself seeing all lost, confessed with dead Bodies, and running down with Blood.

Book VI

fessed he had erred in every thing he had undertaken, and taking off his Royal Helmet, retired with his Family and Guards to the Theater, which being very frong, he hoped tho it could not be maintained, he might there obtain Conditions. Some observed that Paul stript himself of the Ensigns of Royalty on the same day Twelve-Months, on which Wamba had ascended the Throne, which was the first of September. The King's Army was possessed all the City, except the Theater and another small part, and therefore lay still, that and the any me cary, except the a matter and another input part, and incremer lay full, that and the following day, referving the honour of ending the War to the King, and perhaps in hopes he would pardon, the Offenders, they being all of one Nation, and some of their Kindred. To this purpose they made choice of degenausus Bishop of Nathonne, to send to the King, who this purpose they made enouse or argeomass pumply of rearborne, to lead to the king, who coming to his Presence, about four Miles from the Town, alighted off his Horse, and kneeling with Tears in his types, begged for the Rebels. The King who was no less merciful than brave, promised a General Pardon to all, except the heads, of whom alone he defigned to make an example. But Argebaudus still pressing that there might be no exceptions, Wamba with an angry Countenance, bid him be fatisfyed with what was granted, and think all was favour that extended not to the Lives of the least Offenders.

CHAP. VI.

Wamba returns into Spain, Punishes the Heads of the Rebels. His publick Works. Eleventh Council of Toledo. A great Fleet of Sarazens Destroyed. Wamba deposed, Ervigius Usurps the Crown.

THE King Marched to the City with the strength of his Army. At his Arrival all that Paul taken held out before submitted, and Paul delivered up the Theater, where were with him Gumildus the Bishop, and other Heads of the Conspirators, who were all secured, and Paul himfelf led by the Hair of the Head, betwixt two Officers, to the King's Presence. All the Criminals caft themselves at the King's Feet, who giving Thanks to Almighty God, gave them their lives, yet so that they should remain in Custody till he determined what should be done with them. Some French and Saxons, that were found in the Town, part as Hoftages, and others when came to ferve, were well Treated and fent home. This was the end of those great Commotions which threatened destruction to the Dominions of the Goths. Many thought this a tions which threatened detruction to the Dominions of the Gobbs. Many thought this a Judgment of God upon those People, for Robbing the Churches, and Wamba, after making a first Search, caused all that could be found to be restored. He ordered the City Walls to be repaired, the dead Bodies to be Bury'd, which took up three Days. Then the Rebels were brought into the King's Presence, and Sentence passed upon them. After the King had set his Foot upon their Necks, and other Formalities, Paul and all his Adherents were Consequently to Death, and to forse the these states the set of the King shade and the set of the set of the King shade and the set of the set of the King shade and the set of t demned to Death, and to forfeit their Estates, yet in case the King should Pardon their Lives, at least they should have their Eyes put out. The Hair was a Mark of Nobility, therefore Wamba to be thought merciful, was content only to have their Heads Shorn. Now news was brought that Chilperick, the fecond King of France, drew near with his Army in Battalia. Wamba having taking the Field, and waited four days, thought he had done enough, as unwilling to break into the Territories of France, and make himself the Aggressor, and therefore resolved to return into Spain. At the same time he was informed, that Lupus, a French General Control of the Co ral, walted and deffroyed all the Country of Beziers. He moved towards him, but the Frenchmay thinking himself too weak to withfland, retired to the Neighbouring Mountains, learning all the Baggage_behind, so that it looked more like flight than a Retreat. Withthis and the other Booty got in France, the King's Army was enriched, and returned to Narboune, whence the greatest part was dispersed into the Neighbouring Garrifons in France. Others at Canaba, a Town in the Country of Narbonne, had leave given them to return home and eniov the Fruits of their Labours. A great number stayed with the King, who from thence returned into Spain. At Toledo he was received in manner of a Triumph, as was due for having performed Wamba into Spain. At Toledo ne was received in manner of a I training, as was due to training personned return-fuch great Actions in only fix Months, which was the time fince he fet out from that City. into Spain. The order of it was thus. In the first place went the Rebels upon Camels, their heads and beards florn, barefooted, and it Cloathed, Paul, in derifion, had on his Head a Grown of black Leather. Then followed the Soldiers in their best attire. Last of all came the King, whose venerable Gray hairs, and the Memory of his exploits, added to the Majesty of his Countenance and Person. All the City went out to meet him, with loud Acclamations, wishing him long Life and Prosperity. To conclude, the Criminals were confined to perpetual Imprisonment.

Thus Spains, by the Valour of Wambs, began to flourish with a lasting Peace at Home, and recoverd its ancient Honour Abroad. Next, the King apply'd himself to Adorn and Beautisse his Kingdom. In particular, he enlarged the City Toledo, and for its security, raised a wamba bis new Wall, with Towers, Parapets and Battlements, reaching from one Bridge to the other, publick along the Suburb of St. Ijidarus. Three parts in four of Toledo, are encompassed by the Riworks. Wer Tagus, which coup'd up betwitt high Banks, runs in very narrow Chanels among the Pocks. The other new which is more higher aftern Ascent was enclosed by an articular than the process. Rocks. The other part, which is upon a high and steep Ascent, was enclosed by an ancient

Chap. VII.

94

Roman Wall, not so large as that of Wamba; the Ruins of it still are to be seen in the Mary Totalo, a ket-place of Zocodover, and at the Gate del Hiero. Wanhoa, the Ruins of it it ill are to be Reen in the Mair and the Ruins of it ill are to be Reen in the Mair and the Ruins of it ill are to be reen in the Mair and the Ruins of it ill are to be reen in the Mair and the Ruins of it ill are to be reen in the Mair and the Ruins of Ruins and Figures, which they had formerly raifed there, with Mairbe Stones in it, and Figures like a Greau, which they had formerly raifed there, with Mairbe Stones in it, and Figures like Roles, or Wheels carved on them. The common Sort are perfuaded, the fore were the Ruins of Wanhoa; but those very Stones prove the contrary, because, they are laid without any Order or Method. but tuff as they were brought to they were placed by the Works. Arms of Wamba; but those very Stones prove the contrary, because, they are laid without any Order or Method; but just as they were brought, so they were placed by the Work-Men. Grave Authors affirm, That in Memory hereof, he caused two Verses to be Carv'd on the principal Towers, in unpolished Latin, such as was used in that Age, the Sense of them, is, With the belp of God, the mighty King Wamba raised the beautiful Walt to bis City, for the Hosonor of his Nation. Besides, on the upper part of the Towers, he placed the Statues of those Saints held in greatest Veneration in the Town, of white Marble, and under them, of their two Verses, to this effect, Te Saints, who are Honour'd bete, keep this City and People, and avert, as you can, all Sickness. These Statues being fallen, and the Inscriptions worn out by time, King Philip II. caired them to be reflored anew. In the fourth Year of Wamba's Reign, which was of our Lord 67s. he caused a Synod 617 Bishops, and 7 Abbots, to be held at 675. which was of our Lord 675. he caused a Synod of 17 Bishops, and 7 Abbots, to be held at The 11th Toledo. This is counted the 11th Council of Toledo. About the same time, another Synod was Ceroundil of toteao. I mis is counted the 11th Council of 10teao. About the lame time, anothersynon was Celebrated at Braga, and was the third of that Ciry. We have no account of any other Councils in the Reign of Wamba; but it's lippofed, there were more, both in regard that the former Councils had Ordained the keeping of yearly Provincial Synods, and, because grave Authors affirm, that by a Council held at Toledo, in his time, the Bounds of each Bilhoptic Authors affirm, that by a Council held at Toledo, in his time, the Bounds of each Bilhoptic has been accounted and the land without the Counterpass of all the Bilhon of Sales. Council of Council were affigned; and this could not be done without the Concurrence of all the Bishops of Spain. Wamba Infilituted many Laws for the better Administration of Justice, whereof, there was great defect. In particular, he corrected the Military Discipline. He Ordained, that when Forces were raised, all should repair to the Standard that were not over or under Age, or rorces were raised, all mound repair to the Standard that were not over or under Age, or hindred by Sickneis. Alfo, that every one should fend to the Army the twelfth Slave, with sich Weapons, as are there specifyd, differing from therest. Even the Bishops and Priests, were commanded to march with their People 100 Miles, in case of Invasions, or Inroads made by the Enemy. By the prudent Conduct and Management of King Wamba, the Gabb mother of a memorable victory at Sea. The Saracens were possess of all Africk, along the Coast of the Mediterranean, from the Mouth of the Streights, to that of the River Nile, and Coast or pass over into Europe, had fet out a Fleet of 100 Sail, with which they can applied to the standard of the Saracens. Coalt of the Mediterranean, from the Mouth of the Streights, to that of the River Nilea and defigning to paß over into Europe, had fet out a Fleet of 170 Sail, with which, they ran and condard of Spain, putting all to Fire and Sword. The Goths fitted out another great Fleet, and coming to a Battle, utterly deftroy'd the Enemy, burning and taking molt of their Fleet. There are Authors that fay, The Fleet of the Saraens came into Spain at the Infligation of Ervigius, who being a Man in great Power, of the Family of King Receluinbus, aftired to the Grown; but being dilappointed this way, found means to give the King a poilod to the Grown; but being dilappointed this way, found means to give the King a poilod ones Potion, with which he preiently Sickned, and on a fudden, loft all his Senies, in fuch manner, that it was thought, he could not live beyond the first Hour of the Night. They have did not be presented the same of the Night of the Street More the Head like a Prieff and mut him on a Monke Habit as was afted in manner, that it was thought, he could not live beyond the fitted of the Night. They fhav'd his Beard, thore his Head like a Prieft, and put him on a Monks Habit, as was ufed in those Days. All this was done, as fupposed by the contrivance of Ervigius, that in case he recovered, he should be incapable of Reigning, as was Decreed by the 6th Council of Toledo. Being, as was thought, at the last Gasp, tho' he was not in his Senses, they caused him declare Ervigius, his Successor; and having drawn a Form of Rennaciation, fore'd him to Sign it. All this hap'ned on Sunday the 14 of Odlober, as is supposed, in the Year 680. Notwithstanding, Wamba the Day following, came to himself, yet he would not recall what he had done. Thus a mighty King was on a sudden made a Monk, and resolving to thursthe forfake the World (for Ervigius the fame Day had caufed himfelf to be Crown'd, and taken upon him the Government, the' the Anointing was deferred till next Sunday) immediately upon nm the Government, tho the Anointing was deterred till next Sunday) immediately went to the Monastery of Pamphiega, feated, according to some Opinions, in the Valley of Muzion, where he spent the residue of his Life; which, according to some, was 7 Years, and 3 Months, and more, according to others. He Reign'd 8 Years, I Month, and 14 Days, Neats, 1 Month, and the Monastery, and thence, by King Alonso the Wife, Translated to Toles, was Buried in that Monastery, and thence, by King Alonso the Wife, Translated to Toles, and Bury'd in the Church of St. Leocadia; where lies also King Receptions. The Monastery of the Church of St. Leocadia; where lies also King Receptions. The Monastery of the Church of St. Leocadia; where lies also King Receptions. Bishop of Toledo, Anointed the new King, whence it is inferred, that Quiricus, his Predeceffor dy'd about that time, if it was not that he Renounc'd the Dignity, feeing the wrong that was done the good King Wamba.

LawsEstablifh'd by

CHAP. VII.

The Reigns of the Kings, Ervigius, and Egica.

Ervigius the Uling Facilities by wicked means ascended the Throne, as has been faid, yet he governthe Uling Facilities to the better to secure himself in his ill gotten Power, he made use of the show the University of the State of the St active at Toledo, on of Religion, calling together all the Bishops of the Kingdom. Thirty five met at Toledo, on the verns well.

the oth of January 681. and this is counted the 12th Council of that City. Many Acts were the 5th of January 681. and this is counted the 12th Council of that City. Many Acts were passed in this Synod; but the two most remarkable were. The first approving the Election for Ervigius, because they durft do no otherwise, and declaring the Subjects free from their founcil Oath of Allegiance, on account of Wamba's Resignation. The second, was giving the Arch of Tokado. Bishop of Tokado Power to create Bishops throughout Spain, in the King's Absence, and of Consirming those made by him. Two Years after this, there met in the same City, by the King's Order, 38 Bishops, 20 Vicars of absent Bishops, andea Abbots, who, together, with Thamany of the Nobles, then prefent, Celebrated the 13th Council of Tokado, on the 4th o' Not Council of were 683, and the 4th Year of the Reign of Ervigius. In this Council, the chief Acts Tokado were, a Pardon to those that had followed Paul's Party, Abatement of Taxes, and a Law to protect Queen Leubigatoma, and her Children, in case of the King's Death. The following Year, by command of Pope Leo II. was held the 14th Council of Tokado, in order to their rethe Council of Tokado, in order to their rethe Council of Council ceiving the Decrees of a Council, celebrated not long before at Conflaminople, at which, were. The translation of the General Councils. Only 17 Bithops, and 10 Tolade Deputies affilted at this Synod, and approved, and received the Council of Conflaminople, Many Condemning, as that had done, the Monotellitet and Apolinarians, who afcribed to Chiff the translation of the Council they council they council the translation and placed it next to that of Chaledon, 5 or that it was a common Error thro' Spain, Africh and Illyrician, not to admit of the 9th Councils. Council, held in the time of the Emperor Juftinian. Errojian, notwithlanding all the Councils, means he had tifed to fecure himfelf, and pleafe the People, was much perplexed, fearing, content that the council of the place of the Councils of the Council of Councils of Coun ceiving the Decrees of a Council, celebrated not long before at Constantinople, at which, were Council of After this, having Repealed some of Wamba's Laws, too severe for that corrupt Age, and particularly, that relating to Soldiers; hedy'd at Toledo, upon Friday, the 1sth of November 687, having Reign'd 7 Years, and 25 Days. In this King's Reign there hap ned a great Famine in Spain, and the Bridge and Walls of Merida, were Repair'd with great mine in Spain, and the Bridge and Walls of metrica, were Repaird with great Magnificence.

Evoiging the Day before he dy'd, nam'd his Son-in-law Egica, to fucceed him, and that Egica Athe Nobility might without any feruple, swear Allegiance to him, he absolv'd them from wointed the Oath they had taken to him. The Ceremony of Anointing, was performed 9 Days after, at Toledo, in the Church of St. Peter and Paul. This King Son made it appear that the menory of Injuries is more-lasting than that of Benesits; for, at the very beginning of his Reign, in hatrest to his Father-in-law, he put away his Wife Cisilona, notwithstanding, he, had by her a Son, talled Wistca. Some are of Opinion, he did it by perfasion of Wamba, who, under the Cloak of Religion, concealed his hatrest to Evoigius, to the end of his Life. Besides, he punished some of the Nobles, who had a hand in the Deposing of Wamba. This is what some blame in Egica; for the rest, he was not inferior to the best Kings, in Justice, Pietry, Meckness and Prudence in Governing. He Convened the 15th Council of Toledo, at The interval of the principal Points decided in this Council, was, that the Oath Egica, and the Nobility Toledo, at Council of the Post of the Wislow and Children of Evoigius, did not extend to maintain em in the Post of the Wislow and Children of Evoigius, did not extend to maintain em in the Post of the Wislow and Children of Evoigius, did not extend to maintain em in the Post of the Wislow from the Wislom. Pope Benedist sin which, he found sault, that they had said, the Will proceeded from the Wislom For and Siebuts was the Man, who after preliming to put on the Vestment which was brought to St. Idesonal and Many who after preliming to put on the Vestment which was brought to St. Idesonal as the Man, who after preliming to put on the Vestment which was brought to St. Idesonal as the blace and the Mellion certifies the Kings and as its believed the Strangers to Invade the Connet. admired. Sisbertus was the Man, who atter preimming to put on the ventilent which was brought to St. Ildefonfus, from Heaven, ran from one Crimp to another, till he raifed a Rebellion against the King, and, as is believed, stirred up Strangers to Invade the Country. Three Battles were fought with the Franks, in all which, the Goths were defeated; yet we goths have no Particulars of any of these Addions. The King by his Prudence, quell'd the Rebellihard on in its first rise. Sisbertus, the Causer of all these Michiers, was first Banished by the King, seated. on in its first rise. Superius, the Cauter of an interestination, who to the number of 66,C2sdebrated the 16th Council of Toledo,693. Here was made a Confession of Faith, which expresses, that in God, meWill proceeds from the Will, the Wildom from the Wildom, the Effence from The 16th the 16t Christianity, were declared Noble, and free from all Taxes. The Laws of the Goths were Cor- Toledo. rected, and it was Ordained, that Prayers should be daily offered for the Health of the King, his Children, and Grandchildren, which Custom, still continues in Spain, in the Mass, only fome few Words altered. The following Year, on the 7th of November, was Celebrated 17th and the laft Council of Toledo. The number of Bilipops, is not known; but very few came from laft Council of Toledo. The number of Bilipops, is not known; but very few came from laft Council Gallia Gotbica, as well, because the Plague raged there, as for that the Country was infested cit of Toledo. trains country, as well, occasic the resque tages there, and that the fews, who, it was faid, so, but the fews, who, it was faid, so, had held Correspondence with the Moors in Africk, inviting them over into Spain, Condemned them all to be Slaves, all their Goods confifcate, and their Children ordered to be taken from them at 7Years of Age, and bred Christians. A Law was also made to protect the Queen lona, and her Children, after the King's Death, notwithstanding as was said, he was Divorced from her. Three Years before this, in a Council held at Zaragoça, it was Enacted in general, that every Queen, after the Death of her Husband, fhould become a Nun, that fo none might offend her. Egica having Reign'd alone 10 Years, made his Son Witiza, whom none might oftend her. Egica naving Reign'd alone to rears, made his son with which when he had by the Queen Cixilona, his Companion in the Throne, as appears by the Coin of those times, on which, are the Names of both those Princes. Near the City Tuy, in a pleafant Valley adorned with Springs and Trees, are to be seen to this Day old Walls, the Ruins of a House built by Witza, to divert himself, whils the Resided in that City; for his Father, ot a House built by Witted, to divert nimeer, while he Kended in that cluy; for his father, to prevent Tumults and Differders, fent him to Galicia, where the Kingdom of the Suevians Throne.

Father's

701. Egization. He Month of November. His Son coming from Galicia, was Proclaimed King, without any opposition, and Anointed, according to the Custom of the Goths, on the 15th of the same Month of November.

CHAP. VIII.

The Reign of King Witiza. Roderick ascends the Throne, ravishes Count Julian's Daughter, and breaks open an old Castle at Toledo, said to be Inchanted.

Whiza's Reign was Diforderly and Infamous, in all respects, but particularly, noted for Cruelty, Impiety, and Contempt of the Church. True it is, at first he gave hopes he would prove a good Prince, and protect the Innocent; for he recalled those, who had been Banished by his Father, and restored all their Estates. Besides, he cansed all the Records to be burnt, that there might remain no memory of the Crimes that had been false-Records to be burnt, that there might remain to memory of the Ginnes that had been rane-ly charged upon them. These were good beginnings, had they been follows; but it is hard to curb extravagant Youth and great Power. His first false step was, giving Ear to His differ-felt terers, at whose Instigation, he fell into all manner of Lewdness; a thing natural to him, but which he had concealed, for fear of his Father. He kept a great number of Concubines, with the same State, as if they had been Queens; and the better to colour this Implety, with the iame State, as it they had been expeens; and the better to colour this Implety, committed a greater, giving leave to all Men to do the like, and particularly, to Eccleiaftical Persons to Marry. Another Law was also Established, diswring the Pope. To give the greater force to these Laws, a Council of Bishops met at Toledo, but the Decrees of it, are not placed among those of the other Councils, as being contrary to the Cannon of the Church. From this time, all things began to fall into confusion; for tho many were pleased with Libertinism, yet some were Zealous for the Observation of the Laws and ancient. Customs, and began to think of restoring the Family of King Chindasuinthus, as the only Remedy against somany evils. Wittza was not ignorant of it, and from it took occasion to prosecure what he had began in his Father's days, which was to embrue his Hands in the Blood of that Family. There were living two Sons of Chindafuinthus, Brothers to K. Recessinthus, the one called Theodofredus, the other Favila. Theodofredus was Duke of Cordova, where he built a Palace, then, and long after, very famous. He had refolved not to go to Court, as being jealous of the King. Favila, was Duke of Cantabria, or Bifcay; and whilst Witiza in his Father's time resided in Galicia, had bore him Company, with the charge of Witiza in his Father's time relided in Galicia, had bore him Company, with the charge of Captain of his Guards, which the Goths, then called Protofpatarius. Witza flew him with a firoke of a Club, as fome think, on account of his Wife. These were the first Works of his Cruelty, and Hatred to that Noble Family, before he came to the Crown. Favila left a Son, called Pelayus, or Pelagius, who afterwards, began to restore Spain after its general Desolation, and at that time, was Lieutenant to his Father, but upon his Death, retired to his Estate in Cantabria; and Count Julian Marry'd to Writza's Sister, had the charge of Protospation. Eftate in Cantabria; and Count Julian Marry'd to Witiza's Sifter, had the charge of Protospatarius. Witiza being come to the Crown, turned his Rage against Pelagius, and his Uncle Theodofredus. The latter, he caused to have his Eyes put out. Pelagius estaped out of his reach, as did Roderick, Son to Theodofredus, who was afterwards King. It is said, Pelagius went in Pilgrimage to Jerujalem, as a Testimony whereos, the Staves used by him and his Companion, were shown long after at Artaria, a Town in Biscay. These Cruclics, and his other Vices, made Witiza odious to his People, he despiaring of gaining their Affections, resolved to keep them under by Terror, and to this end, caused the Walls of almost all the Cities in Spain to be Demolished. I say almost all, because some exempted, as Toledo, Leon and Assorga. Besides, he destroy'd all the Arms of the Kingdom, pretending it was to secure the Peace. He Persecuted Gundericus. the Archbishoo of Toledo, and some Priests.

Leon and Astorga. Besides, he destroy'd all the Arms of the Kingdom, pretending it was to secure the Peace. He Persecuted Gundericus, the Archbishop of Toledo, and some Priests, that still preserved their Innocence, and would not approve of, his Enormitics. Sinderedus, Successor to Gundericus, overcome by Witiza's cruelty, comply'd with him, and consented that Oppas, his Brother, or as some will have it, his Son, should be Translated from the Archbishoprick of Sevil, to that of Toledo. The Death of Witiza was suitable to his Life. yet Authors differ in the manner of it. D. Roderick, the Archbishop says, He was killed by the contrivance of Roderick, whose Father ended his Days at Cordova, in perpetual Imprisonment Death of and Darkness. Other good Authors affirm, Witiza dy'd a natural Death, at Toledo, in the 12th Year of his Reign, which was of Christ 711. He left two Sons, whose Names were Eba and Sifebutus. Some People favouring thefe two Youths, and others their Adversary, there arose great Contests and Confusions, which ended in a greater Destruction than could have been imagined.

Since the Division of the Boths, about these two Families, brought on their total Desolation. it will not be amifs to declare the Defcent of them both. Chindafainthus, by his Wife there Original ga, left Recession, who succeeded him in the Crown, Theodofredus, Favila, and one Daugh. of the diter, whose Name is not known. Recessimina dy'd without slive, therefore the Nobles choic Wamba to succeed him. Chindassimina's Daughter was Marry'd to Archassum, who the Golds. tho' a Greek, for his Valour and Birth, merited the King's Daughter, and had by her Ervithe a Greek, to this Valour and Birth, merited the King's Daughter, and had by her Ervijeius, he that was the Beginner of all those Calamities, Ufurping the Kingdom, and Depoling Wamba by wicked means. Ervigius by his Wife Liubigotona, had a Daughter, called Cixilona, Marry'd to King Egica, a Kinsiman of Wamba; this Marriage being defigned to cut off all Animostices, by unting these two Houses. Of this Marriage, were born Witizat that was King, Oppas, Bishop of Sevil, and a Daughter, as grave Authors say, Marry'd to Count Julian. Witiza, as was said above, had two Sons, Eba and Sifebutus. Theodofredus, the second Son of Chindasiunthus, by his Wise Riciona, a noble Lady, had Roderick, the Plague and Ruin of Spain. Favila, the third Son of Chindasiunthus, had Pelayus, no way like his Cousin, for by his Valour, the Christians in Spain began to make Head, after they had been cast down, and oppressive through the madness of Roderick.

been cast down, and oppress'd thro' the madness of Roderick.

Spain being in this condition, Roderick excluding the Sons of Witiza, afcended the Throne Roderick of the Golbs, by choice, as is believed, of the Nobles. The Kingdom was full of Diftractic afcends ons, by reason of the several Interests, the People were grown Effeminate, giving themselves the up to Feasting, Drink, and Lewdnets; the Military Discipline was quite lost, and the King- Throne. dom of the Goths was now running headlong to Defruction. The new King had good natural Parts, and feemed to be well inclined. He was hardy, refoute, bountiful, and had excellent ways of gaining of Men. Such he was before his Accellon to the Crown, but no fooner put into poliefilon of it, than he fullied all these Vertues, with no less Vices. Above all, he was implacable when offended, wholly given up to Luft, and had no Difcretion in his Undertakings; and in fine was more like to Witiza, than to his Father, or Grandfather. There are Pices of Money of his to be feen, with his Name, and Effigies armed, and with a ftern Countenance, on the reverte, these Words, Igeditania Pius, a Motto he merited not; but was given to Elatter him. King Roderick enlarged, and beautified the Palace built by his Father near Cordova, which the Moors afterwards, called Roderick's Palace. He called home his Cousin Pelayus, and made him Captain of the Guards, the greatest Trust at Court. Wi- The fa-tica's Sons he treated so ill, that they, for fear of worse Consequences, sled into that part of mous Barbary that was subject to the Goths, called Mauritania Tingitana. At that time, Count Re- Count Fuquila Governed that Province as Lieutenant, I believe to Count fulian, a Man in fuch Power, bian, who that befides it, he had the Government of that part of Spains about the Streight of Gibraltar, befines at her cut into Africk. Befides all this, he held a great Eftare of his own, befides all this, he held a great Eftare of his own, but the Moore. Confluegra, inferior to none in the Kingdom. Hence sprung all the Mischiefs that ensued, for both in regard of his good Service, and for the fake of his Daughter, he was highly Honour'd and Intrufted. The better to carry on his Defign, he perfuaded the King, fince Spain was at Peace, to fend all the Forces he had towards the Frontiers, to oppose the Moors and French, who committed some Hostilities on the Borders, by this means to leave the Kingdom naked and defenceless. This done, he gave the King to understand, that his Wife being Sick in Africk, nothing could be so great a Comfort to her as the light of her dear Daughter. The request was so reasonable, and he urged it so, that the King could not deny it. At Malaga there is a Gate called De la Cava, at which there is a Tradition the went out to take Shipping for Africk. At the fame time, the King is faid to have committed another great Error, which was, that he caused to be broke open an old Castle at Toledo, faid to be Enchanted, locked up with many Locks and Bolts, it being a received Opinion, that when-

Confuerra, inferior to none in the Kingdom. Hence Iprung all the Milchier's that enflued, for Witista's Sons before they went over into Africk, had fowed the Seeds of a Rebellion, and were affilted by Oppar the Bishop, who was of the Blood Royal, and very Powerful. These Beginnings, which ought to have been suppressed, were heightned by another Accident. It was the Custom of Spain, for the Sons of the Nobility to be bred up at Court, and attend upon the King, and their Daughters upon the Queen. Among the latter, was a Daughter of Count Justian, called Cava, of singular Beauty. As she played with her Equals, it fell out she discovered some part of her Body, which the King from a Window perceiving, was so taken with her, he could think of nothing elfe. The continual light of her, blew the Coals, and having used all possible means to gain her Consent, without any success, at last he Ravished her; and by that Act, cast himself, and his Kingdom, headlong into Destruction. Ravishes a dissolute Man, and one wholly abandoned by God. Count Julian was at that time in Africk, Count his Daughter in a Rage, wrote to him, lamenting her Misfortune, and firring him up to fallow Revenge. The Count having received this News, refolved to haften the Execution of the Daughter Treason he had till then been hatching. Therefore putting an end to his Alfairs in Africk, he came over into Spain, being well skill d, in the Art of Dissimulation. Being come to Court, fover it was opened the ruin of Spain was at hand. This the King imagined, was only a fover it was opened the ruin of Spain was at hand. This the King imagined, was only a report (pread abroad, to conceal: some Treasures his here, but being within found none, only a Cheft, and in it a Picture; on which were drawn Men of Istrange Faces and Habit, with a Latin Inteription to this effect; By these Teople Spain: spain shall soon be desired. The Countenances and Habit were like the Morry, whence it was inferred all the michief would come from Africh. The King too late repented his rafings: Some look upon this as a meer Fiction, I will give no judgment upon it, the Reader has his Liberty to believe, or disbelieve. on, I will give no judgment upon te, the reader has installed to believe, or dispense. I would not totally omit it, because grave Authors' relate it, the not all in the same man-

Chap. IX.

CHAP. IX.

The first coming of the Moors into Spain. They prove successful, and flock over in. great multitudes. King Roderick overthrown in a great Bastle. His Death. The Moors over-run the greatest part of Spain.

THE Power of the Sarasens, was at this time grown to a wonderful height, from the small and deceitful beginning of Makomer their Falle Prophet, for they had not only subdued and and conquered, a great part of Asia, but had over-run all Africk, from Stype, along the Moditerranean to the Ocean. Ohis was fole sovereign of all table? People, and called 'similar Miramanolin, a Title denoting abfoliute Sovereign of all table? People, and called 'similar Miramanolin, a Title denoting abfoliute Sovereign of Asia, but was to Africk, had a Conduct, governed Ajrick as his Eleutenant. Count Tables, a Man of great Courage and Miramanolin, a Title denoting abfoliute Sovereign of Asia, have a confugera, called Calderine, meeting with the Heads of the Conspirators, one about the sample of the wrongs King meeting of the Asia of the Conspiration, there is twas agreed, to invite the Moors which in Arabick fignifies, Monntain of Treason, there is twas agreed, to invite the Moors which in Arabick fignifies, Monntain of Treason, there is twas agreed, and the Probability limitative Raderick did his Subjects, thewech how easy it wouldback Conquet Spain, and the Probability into Spain. Being come into Africk, he required to Maka, complained of the wrongs King doubted of the Counts successive and the Africk and the Proposal, had the Moors with the Moors that the Wash of the Counts successed and the Counts actions were fusiable to his words. Makes being a Cautious Man, at first frent but 100 Horfe, and 400 Root, in four Ships, who Landing on the Illands, and along the Coost, about the Streights Mouth, many Christians came Ever to them. This encouraged him to feet 12000 Men under the Command of Tarif, Abernara, of Wash yas a deceased and the Cook Men under the Command of Tarif, a Shippofed to Ababic signifing a Mountain, and Tarif the General, from whom allo Tarifa; a Shippofed to take Name. Sting Raderick, having advice of what was doing, sent a Coulin of his own, called Sabbo, or according to others in Signification which they are an an HE Power of the Saraceus, was at this time grown to a wonderful height, from the small and deceitful beginning of Mahomer their Falis Prophet, for they had not only subdued and will have it. But I raunet believe it was on 5t. Armino Lay, being the 11th of Avoremore, in the Year of our Lord 714. as may be gathered from the Chronicon Abreldenie. Both Armies being drawn up, the King according to the Calton of the Gabijh Kings, when they went to Battle, appeared in an Ivory Chariot, Cloathed in Cloth of Gold, encouraging his Men.

Taif on the other fide did the fame. The Armies thus prepared, waited only for the Signal to fall on the Gabs gave the charge, their Drums and Trumpers Sounding, and the Almos received it, with the Noife of Kettle-drums. Such were the Shouts and Cries on both ider, the ceived it with the Noife of Kettle-drums. Such were the Shouts and Cries on both aides, the Mountains and Valleys feemed to meet. First they began with Slings, Darts, Javelins and Lances, then came to the Swords. A long time the Battle was Dubious, but the Moors feemed to have the worst, till D. Oppas the Archbishop, having to that time concealed his Treachery, formid in the heat of the fight, with a great Body of his Followers went over to the Insides. He joyned Count Julian, with whom was a great Number of fight, and both together fell upon a Bishop; and Followers went over to the Insides. History and tred with that the smallelled Treachery, and tred with fighting could no longer fustant heat Charge, but where easily put to dight. The King performed the part not only of a Wife General, but of a resolute Soldier relieving the weak-selbs with a great part of the Men and their there were tired and stopping those that turned their performed the part not only of a wife ceneral, but of a resolute solute returning hie weak-eft, bringing on freshmen in place of those that were tired, and stopping those that turned their Backs. At length seeing no hopes left, he alighted out of his Charlot, for fear of being taking, and mounting on a Horse, called Orelia, he withdrew out of the Battle. The Collection who fill flood, milling him, were most part put to the Sword, the rest betook themselves standard to slight. The Camp was immediately entred and Baggage taken. What Number was killed verthrown is not known, I suppose they were so many it was hard to count them, for this only Battle. robbed Spain of all its Glory, and in it perished the Renowned Name of the Goths. The robbed Spain of all its Glory, and in it persisted the Renownen rame or the worse. Ine Ring's Florse, upper Garment and Buskins, covered with Pearls and Precious Stones, were found on the banks of the River Guadelete, and there being no News of him afterwards, it was supposed he was drowned passing that River. But 200 Years after, in a Church of the City Vise in Portugal, there was found a Stone with a Latin infeription to this Effect; Here reposets Roderick the last King of the Goths: Whence it is believed, he fied into Portugal. The Soldiers that escaped, dispersed themselves throughout the Neighbouring Towns, Pelayus or Pelayuslics. lagius, who fome think, was in this Battle, retired to his own Estate in the farthest part of Biscay. into Biscay.

Soldiers that escaped, disperied themselves throughout the Neighbouring Towns, Pelayuu or Pelayuin, who some think, was in this Battle, retired to his ownstate in the farthest part of Biscay, into Biscay, who some think, was in this Battle, retired to his ownstate in the farthest part of Biscay, into Biscay, and the control of the Adori almost 16000 Men. Spain for some Years before, had suffered much by Plague and Famine, which had weakned, and laid them the more open to their Enemies, but above all the Vengeance of God, for their Vices brought on these Calamities.

A great number of those that escaped, out of the late unhappy Fight, repaired to Exist, and there opining with the Citizens, had the Gourage to take the Field, and give the Enemy Battle, but with no better success than before. The City being left Desenceles, was taken by the Moors and Destroyed. After this, by the advice of Count Julian, the Institute of the Enemy Battle, but with no better success than before. The City being left Desenceles, was taken by the Moors and Surgice and the endeadouring to escape was taken, the Church ed. S. George, and the neighbour of Magueda Renegado, march ed cowards Cordova, and surprised it by Night. But the Governour defended himself Three Moorth of Andalucia, and took Mentels, Malaga, Illiberis and Grandad. Muscia surrendred upon Articles, by the industry of the Governour, who being defeated, in the Field, made the Women stand upon the Walls, in Mens Apparel, so the Moors thinking, there was a great Garrisson within, granted their Conditions. Toldos treamined a City placed in the heart of Spain, and by Situation Impregnable, yet Urban the Archbishop, was retired to Assaults, and the Archbishop, was retired to Assaults, and the Archbishop, was retired to Assaults, and the Archbishop, went the Frincipal Men of Toldos. The Moors Joyaling their Forces again, really made themselves Malters of that City. Authors do, not agree about the manner. The ken, the other Clues of Spain, two Leagues from the place where the City at Amaya in Old Cassie, forced by hunger to surrender, exceeded that of all other places, because many confiding in its strength, had sied thither with all their Riches. That part of the Cassie was then called Campos de los Godos, or the Fields of the Goths, and still retains the canne of Campos. Africagi in Galicia was Burta, Gijon a Rrong place in Africa taken, Tarif having placed Garrifons in most Convenient places; returned with the rest of the Army to Toldo, to reap the Fruits of his Victories. All this hap ned in the Year 714, which same of their success. The Natives dispersed and terrified, could not relieve their Country, having the Army than the Natives dispersed and terrified, could not relieve their Country, having the Army to make Head origin. ving no Army to make Head against their Enemies, but every City that held out chose a Governour, whose Power being absolute, as depending of none, some Historians have given them the Title of Kings.

CHAP

100

Chap. X.

CHAP. X.

The Moor Muza comes over with Supplies. His Actions. The Moorille Computation of Tears, called Hegira. Abdalasis Son to Muza, his Actions. End of Count Iulian, and his Family. Deplorable state of Spain.

Whilst these things were active in Spain, Muza was much perplex'd; on the one side he rejoye'd that so noble a worince as Spain was subdu'd, and on the other it griev'd.

Mura lim that Tarif had gain'd all the honour and profit of that Expedition. He pas'd over into comes in Spain with 12000 Men, and tho some advised to join his Forces with Tarif, in order to sub-due what still remain'd, he took the Councel of those wicked Christians, who held their inbeing call'd to an account, and Muza envious of what he had done. Being come to Toledo, Tarif his accounts were call'd for, as well in regard to the charge of the War, as to the rary Tarif at Variance.

the Old Man. At length being reconcil'd, they fet forwards together towards Zaragoea, which City, and many others, too tedious to relate, they took without any trouble, they all Surrendring themselves. Thus all 'spain seem'd to be subdu'd the third Year after the first Army of Moors came over out of Africk. True it is, the farthest parts could not be brought under without much difficulty, as being desended by high, and almost inaccessible Mountains. Clip the Maramanich, understanding the success of his Arms, and the differences that were betwixt his Generals, Order'd them both to appear before him. Muza being about to depart, appointed his Son Abdalass to govern in his absence; having first oblig'd the Moors to swear they would be obedient to him. This done, Muza and Tarif, the two Famous Generals.

they would be obedient to him. This done, Musa and Tarif, the two Famous Generals, prepai'd to Imbark's carrying with them all the Treafures the Goths, in fo many Years, had From this time forward, the old Computation of Years used in Spain, beginning at the call'd He. Birth of Chrift, or the Julian Account, was quite laid afide, and that used by the Moors, and called Hegira, that is, an Expedition, was taken up, which begins from the time that Ma-bomet first took upon him the Title of King at Damascus. In what Year of our Lord this hap'ned, Authors do not agree, and this difference arises from that betwixt the Years of the Arabs and ours, theirs being 11 Days and 6 Hours less than ours, as confisting of only 354 Days. In my Opinion, the Account of the Arabs ought to commence in the Years of our Lord 722. on the 15th of July, as appears by the Annals of Toledo, composed above 300

Abdalusis for some time Governed the Province he had received of his Father, with Prudence and Wissom. Great Multitudes resorted out of Africk, to Plant and People that vast Country, left almost waste by the late Wars. They had Landsassigned them, and Sevil was appointed to be the Metropolis of the new Empire, in respect to its greatness, strength and appointed to be the Metropons of the new tempire, in respect to its greaters, in origin and commodion struation. Egitora, 'King Roderick's Queen was among theother Prifoners, the Modafar was Young, Ecautiful and Comely. The Governour caufed her to be brought to his Pre-the Moor, fence, and at first fight fell in love with her to fisch a degree, that he took her to Wife, Marie and the state of without debarring her the Exercise of the Christian Religion. He held her in great Esteem dow of K. all his Life-time; for besides her Beauty, she was Discreet, and in all his Affairs he was diall his Lite-time; for beindes her Beauty, hie was Ditcreet, and in all his Amairs he was directed by her, to that degree, that by her perfuainon, he took upon him the State of a King, and was Growned. In the Country of Antequera, where it Borders upon Malaga, there is a Mountain, called Abdalafis, perhaps, it took the Name from this Frince. Some also believe; that Amaguera, a Town belonging to the Knights of St. James, had the Name of Maguel the Moorish General, who, 'tis faid, used to drink the Water of a Fountain hard by it; and in the Arabick, Alma, is Water, from which Word and Magued, they suppose the Name of Maguel was comproprieded. At present, there are no Equations in that Town, but Name Almaguer was compoinded. At prefent, there are no Fountains in that Town, but all the People make use of Wells. There is no doubt but there has been as great a change in the Names of Places, as in other things, which causes great Confusion; for the Moorish Gethe Names of Places, as no ener things, which causes great Continuon; for the Amorth Generals, to perpetuate their Memory, gave their own Names and Sirnames, to Towns. There and of is no certainty of what became of Count Julian, but it is a received Opinion, without the Count Julian of the Count Julian, and the standard of the Count Julian of the County of the Moore, he for much laboured to ferve. In a Castile called Lebarri, near the City Huese, is shown a Stone Tomb without the Church of the Castle, where it is reported he was Bury'd. The Archbishop D. Roderick, and D. Lucas de Tipy, affirm, That both he, and the Sons of King Witiza, were deprived of all they possessed, and he put to Death. Certain the Sois of Ring, which, were deplived of an energy potential, and he put to Locatin it is, Spain was now in a deplorable condition, almost all brought under the Dominion of the Moors. There was no fort of Mifery but the Christians endured, Women were Ravished from their Husbands, Children from their Parents, and all they possessed, taken from them, with Deplora. out any Redress to be hoped tor. The Country yielded not its usual Product, both in regard ble State of the unseasonableness of the Weather, and for want of Labourers. The Churches were Pro- of Spain. of the unfeafonableness of the Weather, and for want of Labourers. The Churches were Prophaned and Burrth, dead Bodies lay about the Streets and High-ways, and nothing was to be seen or heard, but Sighs and Tears. Nor was there any Calamity, but what Spain groaned under, God permitting the Innocent to suffer with the Guilty, to punish the horritang the Christians Hill held out, rather, because the Places were almost inaccessible and Meurias, the Christians Hill held out, rather, because the Places were almost inaccessible and the Moors heighted them, than that they had any sufficient Force to make head. Those who were subject to, and mixed with the Moors, began to be called Mixit Arabes, and afterwards, corruptly Moratashes. The Push at the fere Everyties of Christian Religion, with Churches. were slubject to, and mixed with the Moors, began to be called Mixii Arabes, and afterwards, corruptly Moxarabas. They had the free Exercife of Chrittian Religion, with Churches, and Monafteries of Men and Women, as before. The Bifhops, left they fhould be fcornfully treated, retired with many of the Clergy into Galicia, and the Bifhop of Iria Flavia, that is, iel Padrow, affigned many of them Tyths, and other Ecclefiatical Revenues to live upon. Thus Spain was 'deftroy'd, and thus ended the Kingdom of the Goths. The Kingdom and Nation of the Goths were thus Subverted, in my Opinion, by a peculiar Providence, that out of their Afhes might rife a New and Holy Spain, greater in Strength and Dominions, to be the, Defence and Bulwark of the Catholick Religion. This was the Opinion of F. Mariana, and movemibout readous to write when Phillip II. of Spain was tood of the Eafl and Welf-Indies he neopositions reason; for the write when Philip II. of Spain and Lord of the East and West-Indies, by the Addition of the Kingdom of Portugal, as he mentions in this place. To what a low Ebb the Affairs of Spain are reduced since, will appear by the Sequel of the History, when we draw near our Times. Let us conclude this Book, to begin another with the Resurrection of Spain after these mortalities.

The End of Book VI.

History of SPAIN.

The Seventh BOOK.

CHAP. I.

Prince Pelayus or Pelagius takes up Arms against the Moors. Is declared King, and mixaculoush Vanquishes the Insidels. The Death of Muza. Alahor Governs Spain.

WO Years were not quite elapsed fince the Africans had commenced the War.

Irruption of the Moors into Moors palled over the Pyreams Moors into France.

Moor into France.

Monor into France.

Monor into Moors make Monor make Monor maken Monor into Moors palled over the Pyreams Monor into Moors into Moors palled over the Pyreams Monor into Moors into Moors palled over the Pyreams Monor into Moors into Moors palled over the Pyreams Monor into Moors into Moors palled over the Pyreams Monor into Moors into Moors into Moors palled over the Pyreams Moors into than, was covernor or organ to the reason, parameters of much as hope to gain the Confent obtain her for his Wife; but being too mean, could not so much as hope to gain the Confent obtain her for his Wife; but being too mean, could not so much as hope to gain the Confent obtain her for his Wife; but being too mean could not so much as hope to gain the Confent obtain her for his Wife and the Confent of Pelapsia. Therefore under colour of Friendship, he sent him to Treat about important of Pelapsia.

obtain her for his Wife; but being too mean, could not so much as hope to gain the Consent of Pelayus. Therefore under colour of Friendship, he sent him to Treat about important Affisirs with the Moorish General Taif, who was not then gone into Africk, and during his absence, easily compassed his ends. Pelayus returning, and understanding how his Family was dispraced, was incensed to a high degree; but nothing so much affisced him as the dissentive of compassing his revenge against a Man in so great Power. He thought it the best was for the present, to dissemble, and seem pleased at what was done. By this means he found an opportunity of recovering his sister, and sted what was done. By this means he found an opportunity of recovering his sister, and sted with the to the neighbouring parts of Assume frighted at this accident, and searning the Consequences might prove more dangerous than as yet appeared, gave advice to Taif of what had hap'ned. Taif sent a Party from Cordova, who had infallibly taken Pelayus, then wholly unprovided, if he, understanding the danger, had not sted in haste, and clapping Spurs to his Horse, forced him to take the River Pionia, at that time much swollen, and very rapid, which sav'd his Life; for they that particularly at the Heels durft not, or thought it not worth white to expose theimselves to such seminent danger to Apprehend him. In the Valley now called Cargas, then Canina, he see up his Standard, and beat a Dram. Poor banished People reforted to him from all Parts, many Voluntarily took up Arms for the love of their Country, others for fear of the Enemies, and even of their own People, who threatned them, if they forsook the common Cause. The Assumans in general, all appeared. Pelayus calling together the Heads of them, made a Speech, exhorting and encouraging them to behave themselves Manfully, and Repulse their cruel Enemy. Whill he spoke, the Sighs of his Auditory were so load Asso of them, made a Speech, exhorting and encouraging them to behave themselves Manfully, and Repu

the time that Impiety and Tyranny were predominant in Spain, a new and lasting Kingdom was erected, and a Standard was fet up for Relief of the oppressed Natives. The People of Galicia and Biscay, who like those of Assuriar, in some measure, preserved their Liberty, were invited to soyn in this Enterprize. The same was done underhand to the neighbouring Towns that were fubled to the Moors. Some People, reforted to Pelayus, but many descripting the new King, would not leave their Houses, nor expose themselves to such experiments of the more danger. Pelayus understanding how necessary it is to settle a good Reputation at first, and danger. Pelayus understanding how necessary it is to settle a good Reputation at first, wasfeed the Frontiers of the Moors, destroying all that stood in his way. He visited the Towns of Asturias, encouraging the Fearful, and commending the Resolute. Besides, he laid up Stores of all things necessary for his Defence, with great Labour and Industry, as knowing it would not be long before the Insidels would be upon him. He was Active and Courageous, his Age sit to endure hardship, his Presence not gay, but such as became a Soldier.
Oncost the most noted Commanders that came out of Assick, with Tarif, was Ascama, who was in the nature of a Major General. This Man understanding what passed in Assistance fleedily repaired thitter, from Cordova, with a good Army of Moors and Christians, and estorder of the Major General of Sovil, hoping he might be Instrumental in persuance Pelayus, and his Party, to desist from what they had understaken. At the News of Masan's coming, the Christians distinaved, and it was thought, they would never slotain so mercame coming, the Chriftians diffinay'd, and it was, thought, they would never infrain 6 much as overcame the fight of the Enemy. In this confusion, nothing, but the special Hand of God, and the agreed Valour and Franchers of Pelayus, could have protected those People, wholly forsighen by them the Infifelves. It were a madness to oppose a handful of unarmed, heartless then, against a disciplined dela-Valour and Prudence of Pelayar, could have protected thoir People, wholly forfaken by them-the-Inficives. It were a madnets to oppote a handful of unarmed, heartlets Men, against a disciplin'd dels and furious Enesy. Therefore Pelayar having disperted most of his Men into the neighbourning Towns, he, with 1000 of the choicest, betook himself to a large Cave, on the Mountain Mulinar, now calked the Cave of St. Mary de Cobadonga. He lad in Provintion for a long time, and furnished Arms offensive and defensive, either to make good his Ground, if Attack'd, or Sally out, if occasion offered. The Moort pursued him to the very mouth of the Cave, and being definous to prevent Bloodshed, for they must expect in those narrow places to receive much damage, resolved to try whether Persuasions and fair Promites could prevail to reduce those People. Doppas took this Employment upon, him, and having obtained liberty to Speak with Pelayar, used all his Rhetorick to bring him to an Accommodation, but understanding by his Answer, he and all his Men were resolved to die in defence of their Liberty, the Event was remitted to the decision of the Sword. The Insidels attack'd the mouth of the Cave, powring in a Shower of Stones and Darts. Here the Hand of God appeared in defence of the Christians's for all the Weapons cast against them, slew back upon the Moorx, with great slaughter of them. At this Miracle the Insidels stood association, but the Christians taking heart, rushed out upon them, the Fight was Disorderly, but the Enemy amazed at what they had sen, turned their Backs and fled. 20000 were killed in the Battle and Pursuit, the rest, after halting upon the top of Mount Pelayar, fled to the Field Libbonn-fis, thro' which runs the River Dova. There another Miracle was wrought, which was, that near a Farm, called Caulgeaids, part of a Mountain, with all that were upon it, fell into Amountain, with all that were upon it, fell into he River, by which a great number of Barbarians perished. For many Years after, Bones and pieces of nis Wile Egitoma, on account that he was kinder to other Women than to her; others lay, the caule of his Death, was his Pride, and his taking upon him the Regal. Authority by her perfualion. The chief of the Murderers was his Kinfman Ajub, who took upon him, and held the Government of Spain the space of 1 Month. D. Radgriek the Archbishop, say, it was he that built Calatayud, a noted Town a little beyond the Borders of Anagon. Viii dying, his Brother Zuleyman succeeded him in the Empire of the Adors. By him, instead of Adalasis, the Government of Spain was given to Alabor, a Man sierce and cruel, no less to the Moors than Christians, for he took their Goods from the Inhabitants of Cordova only to satiste his than Christians, for he took their Goods from the inhabitants of Cordova only to lattace havarice. He proceeded against all the Moors that came singli into Spain, only upon patterns they had wrongsuly taken to themselves all, the Riches of the Country. This is he that translated the Seat of the Moorib Empire in Spain, from Sevil to Cordova, and is said to have put to Death Count Julian, and the Sons of Witiza, imagining, the Disaster that hapined in Assuring had been contrived by them. As just Judgment of God, that Traitors to their Country should be thus used by those they served, and had called to their assistance.

CHAP.

Chap. III.

CHAP. IL

Pelayus his Power increases, he takes several Towns. His Death. The foort Reign and Death of Favila. Several Moorish Governours in Spain. Actions of the Infidele in France.

Pelegra his Pelegra his Pelegra his Power in Creates.

The Power in Creates his process dayly increated with the Fame of his Actions, to that he took the City Leon, at His Forces dayly increated with the Fame of his Actions, to that he took the City Leon, at His Forces dayly increated with the Fame of his Actions, to that he took the City Leon, at His Forces dayly increated with the Fame of his Actions, in the Year of our Lord 722.

The Foot of the Mountains, that part Galicia and Afturias, in the Year of our Lord 722.

Some will have it, that from this time Pelagras filled himself King of Leon, but it appears one of his Succellors called themselves by any other Title than Kings of Oviedo, till the time of Ordonius the second, who first called himself King of Leon, yet it is to be believed, that the Continue the taking of that City, the Ancient Arms of the Gotbijh Kings, were changed into Argent. a Lion Rammant Gales. which continues to this day. And the reason of it. doubtlefe upon the taking of that City, the Ancient Arms of the Gotoyo Kings, were changed into Argent, a Lion Rampant Gules, which continues to this day. And the reason of it, doubtles was because the word Leon in Spanish, is the name of that Gity, and signifies a Lion. The Valour of D. Alonjo, he who, when King was called the Catholick, contributed much towards advancing the Affairs of the Christians. He was Son to Peter Duke of Bicay, descendants ed of the Royal Family of King Recaredus, In his Youth he bore great Commands under ed of the Royal Family of King Recaredus. In his Youth he bore great Commands under the Kings Egica and Witiza, and now desiring to promote the Common good left his Country and Parents. A good number of Biscainers followed, him, which such encouraged the try and Parents. A good number of Biscainers followed, him, which such encouraged the Assertant, and was a great addition to their strength. To bind him, the faster he was Mar-Assertant, and was a great addition to their strength. To bind him, the faster he was Mar-Assertant, and the such their from the Periods, the Sucretal Towns in Galicia, and Assertant were taken from the Moors. It was casse to expel the Moors, the Moors of these Towns in Galicia, and Assertant was referred to the Inhabitants being Christians, killed their Cart the Moors out of these Towns, by reason the inhabitants being Christians, killed their Gartions, and submitted themselves to Pelayus. Besides, that the Insidels were diverted by Wars, visions, and submitted themselves to Pelayuu. Besides, that the Insidels were diverted by Wars, that broke out, one upon the Neck of another in several parts of Spains. Zaleyman, the Market Framamoliu dying, left his two Nephews Homas and Leichte Sons of Ulis, his Successors in that Empire. Homas dyd in the first Year of his Reign, and thus Leit remained sole Lord of all. Empire. Homas dyd in the first Year of his Reign, and thus Leit remained sole Lord of all. Empire. Homas dyd in the first Year of his Reign, and thus Leit remained sole Lord of all. Zama Go. He gave the Government of Spain to Zama; a Wise Man and a good Soldier, but worth the content of Spain into Larbon and laid Siege to under his Command. He put a Garrison into Narbonne, and laid Siege to Moder hims to Command. He put a Garrison into Narbonne, and laid Siege to determine the Content of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another were sent out of Africk. The news of this defeat being of Adaerbamas to Govern till another ftians enjoy'd their Lands, rather as Farmers than Proprietors. The Moor Rafis fays, he ftians enjoy'd their Lands, rather as Farmers than Proprietors. The Moor Rajis fays, he obliged the Moors to pay the 4th part of what they were worth, on pretence of relieving the Poor, but indeed to keep them under, that they might not have Courage to mutiny. He caused the Bridge of Cordova, over Guadalasisis to be Built, and took some cities that held out, at the Foot of the Mountain Moneaso, and among them Taragona, which was laid Level with the Ground. Having performed, these great, Actions, in two Years, and a half, that with the Ground Having performed, these great, Actions, in two Years, and a half, that his Government lasted, he was Murdered by his own People at Toriola. His Successor were Montago Gara and Jahea, according to D. Roderick the ArchBishop; I judge the Government was divided into these areas one lie see has them held it but a few Months. In Alia the Em-divided into three parts, or elfe each of them held it but a few Months. In Alia the Em-Several peror Leit dying, left the Crown to his Brother, Ifcham upon Condition he should adopt his Son Aluit, which he performed. Ischam began his Reign, in the Year 724, and held it son Autit, which he performed. Iseham began his Keigh, in the Year 724, and held it 19 Years. In his time Spain was governed by Odayla, Himen, Autuma, Albaytan, and Mabomet, each of these held it not a Year entire, especially the last continued but two Months. For we find that in the Year 731 Abderhaman, doubtless the same we mentioned above, had the Government of Spain. The Actions of this Governour were remarkable, and the end of them Fortunate to the Christians, therefore it will be Convenient to speak of them in particular to the Christians, therefore it will be Convenient to speak of them in particular to the Christians.

cular. The Severity and Rigor Abderhaman used towards the Moore made him odious. Upon this Muniz, a Powerful Man, wiro. governed Gallia Gothica, Pevolted, and the Province of Cerdania in Spain joyned with him. Befides Eudo Duke of Aquitain, made a League, and gave him, his own Daughter in Marriage. Abderbamas having advice of what was doing, Marched with his Army to the Frontiers of Spain, and befieged the City Cerdania. Munic.

Marched with his Army to the Frontiers of Spain, and befieged the City Cerdania. Munic.

Moori Precipies. His Wife and Head were fent into Africk to the Emperor of the Moors. Abders.

from spain haman, proud with this fucces, broke into France, marched along the Coast of the Mediteragain in rean without Opposition, as far as the River Rhose, and besieged the City Arles. Eudo comvadeFrance in a technical of its man amountable and to great a Cloughter made of his Arms as had not ing to the relief of it was vanquished, and so great a Slaughter made of his Army, as had not been feen that Age. Hence the Conqueror turned towards the left Hand, and Traverfing a great part of France fell into Aquitain, palled the River Garonne, deltroyed the Nole City Bourdeaux, and Ravaged all the Country. Here Eudo again trying the Fortune of Battle, had the same Fate as before. Angonielme, Periguux, Xantonge, and Poilliers but the fury of this War. Charles Martel, at that time great Senetchal of France, moved by the highlick Calamities and general danger, raifed a mighty Army, and advanced with it, as far as Tours. He intrenched himself on the farther side of the River Loire, on which that City is built, that the Enemy with their Multitude might not surround him. Here Eudo, laying aside former Animosities, joyned him with the Forces he could gather. The Insidels advanced with great boldness, as to a certain Victory, and were received with no less Resolution, where upon ensued one of the Bloodiest and most Obstinate Fights, that has been seen in the World. of the Moors there were 400000, with their Wives and Childrein, as deligning to Plant in France, the number of the Christians was much less, but they were Superior in Valour, Discipline, and the Justice of their Cause. It was a long time before the Victory seemed to incline, to either side, but at length true Valour prevailed against the Multitude. The Slaughter was either inde, but at length true Valour prevailed against the Multitude. The Staughter was incredible, 370000 Moors were killed, and among them Moderhaman. Of the Christians only 1500 were missing, but many of them of Note. By the Confession of Martel, Eudo Sig. Anno Dom, halized himself particularly in this Battle; for in the heat of it, as had been before agreed, 734-was he took a great compass, with the Light-Horse, and before he could be discovered, sell up-the great many fine the great many fine the great compass, with the Light-Horse, and before he could be discovered, sell up-the great compass, with the Light-Horse, and before he could be discovered, sell up-the great compass, with the Light-Horse, and before he could be discovered, sell up-the great compass, with the Light-Horse, and before he could be discovered. on the Enemy in the rear, which put them all into Confusion. This Fortunate Battle was fought Battle bein the Year of our Lord 734. one and twenty after the defruction of Spain. Abdelmelish tween finceeded Abderbaman, and Governed the Moors in Spain, and its dependencies, the space Charles of four Years, without being remarkable for any thing, but his Cruelty and Avarice, bid Orders to invade France, but was forced to turn back after losing many Men, in attempted that came ing to pass the Pyrenean Mountains. At the same time, which was in the Year of our Lord out of Spain 737. Pelayus the first King of Spain, after its Desolation, being of a great Age, and renown- and Africa, ed for his Exploits, departed this Life at Cangas. His Body was Buryed in the Church of Pelayus his Saint Eulalia Velaniensis, which he himself had founded in the Country of Cangas. There al. fo his Wife, Queen Gaddoja was interested. His Son Favila, by Confent of all the People Favila fucfucceded him, and Reigned two Years, being more famed for his Unfortunate Death, eeels him, and diffolute Life, than for any good Actions he performed. For notwithflanding, the mighty War he had in hand, and that his Kingdom was ftill tottering, as substitting rather by the Confusion of the times, than the strength of the Christians, yet he apply'd himself, not to the cares of the Government, but was wholly devoted to his Pleasures, neglecting the Publick good. Particularly he was addicted to Hunting, and at this Sport purfuing a Bear, was Iskilled by killed by it; inglorious both in his Life and Death. His Body was interred, in the Church a Bear, of the Holy Cros, built by himself in the Territory of Cangas, in which formerly was to be seen the Tomb of his Wife Froleud. About this time one Julian a Grecian and Deacon, Learned in the Greek and Latin Tongues, wrote the Antiquities of Spain, and Actions of Pelayus at Toledo. Men Fa-Urban Bishop of Toledo, Evancias Archdeaconof the same Church, and Fredoarius Bishop of mousfor Guadix, Men of singular Sanctity, and Learning flourishing in those Days, of darkness and igno-Learning rance. John Archbishop of Sevil, was their Contemporary, he Translated the Bible into and San-Arabick, for the good of the Christians and Moors, because Latin was then little used, some 105

CHAP. III.

The Reign of D. Alonso the Catholick. His Conquests and Death. Several Moorish Governours in Spain. Affairs of the Mahometans, both in Spain and Copies of that Translation are to be seen to this Day in Spain.

Avila dying without Issue. D. Alonso and Ormisinda his Wife, (as Pelayus had ordained in his Will) were Proclaimed King and Queen, with great Satisfaction of the People, and to the great good of the Kingdom. D. Alonfo was equally qualified in the Arts of Peace and D. Alonfo was equally qualified in the Arts of Peace and D. Alonfo was equally qualified in the Arts of Peace and D. Alonfo was equally qualified in the Arts of Peace and D. Alonfo was expected by the Alonfo was expected by the Alonfo was expected by the Third Council of Toledo, when renouncing the Herefie of had the Alonfo was reconciled to the Church. This Title was afterwards laid affide, till Pope Title of the Alonfo was reconciled to the Church. This Title was afterwards laid affide, till Pope Title of Carbolite was the Council of Theory and Title of Carbolite was afterwards laid affide. Alexander the fixth, bestowed it on Ferdinand of Aragon King of Spain, to be perpetuated in Catholick ADEMANAGE THE HIXTH, DESIGNMENT IN OF FERMANA OF Aragon Kings of Spain, to be perpetuated in Camble kings in his Successor. Spain at that time enjoyed the Fruits of Peace, Africk and France were conspain, and fumed with Civil Wars. Charles Martel, upon the Death of Eudo, seized all his Dominions then it aly in France. Eudo's three Sons, Aznar, Hunnoldus, and Vayserus, sought to, maintain their Dormant right by Arms. Aznar in that part of Spain, which lies near Navarre, took from the Moors, until France. Eudo's three Sons, Aznar, Munnoldus, and Decame the Founder of the Kingdom the Civy Jaca, with many other Towns and Castles, and became the Founder of the Kingdom Aragons and Castles, and Decame the Founder of the Kingdom Aragons. of Aragon, a name taken from the River Aragon, which runs through that Country, and to-time and was then revived by gift of Alexander the fixth, Popes gether with the River Ega falls into Ebro. Humoldus and Payferus did great harm, and fipread their terror thronghout France. The Moors desiring Revenge for their late Overafpread their terror thronghout France. The Moors desiring Revenge for their late Overafpread their terror thronghout France. The Moors desiring Revenge for their late Overafpread over the property of the Markey Governed Spain; at his first coming, he put ded the War in France. At this time Junguage Governed Spain; at his first coming, he put defluence on the state of the Markey are so (Noble Extraction, and fo Zealous in his Superstition, that he punished no Crimes to feverely as those that related to it. Having agreed with Mussice, Earl of Markeys was of Noble Extraction, and fo Zealous in his Superstition, that he punished no fillers, and the Sons of Eudo, with their assistance, and his own Forces, he pierced for far infillers, and the Sons of Eudo, with their assistance, and his own Forces, he pierced for far infillers, and the Sons of Eudo, with their assistance, and his own Forces, he pierced for far infillers, and the Sons of Eudo, with their assistance, and his own Forces, he pierced for far infillers, and the Sons of Eudo, with their assistance, and his own Forces, he pierced for far infillers, and the Sons of Eudo, Markeys as the Year 739. which was the first of the Resign of D. Alons, But the Valour of Mariel returned France, as to take Auignon, and Narlived France, for he drove the Enemy over the Pyrenean Hills, and took Avignon, and Narlived France, for he drove, the Endow of the Government, for the most Rebelled against the Emperor Isham. Several Battles were fought, for the most Rebelled against the Emperor Begins with a great Army, took him in Cordova Ruin, for Abderhaman fent before by Begins with a great Army, took him in Cordova Ruin, for Abderhaman fent before by Begins with a great Army, took him in Cordova Ruin, for Abderhaman fent before for Princered to his Command. This was his ordered the floudy the Emperor Islam, and Abdalla, of the Noble Family of the Alavecimes, kiled Masoas in Africk, in the Year 750, Abdalla, of the Noble Family of the Alavecimes, kiled Masoas in Africk, in the Year 750, Hollary de the Crown, and the better to fecure himfelf, destroyed most of the Family of the District Crown, and the better to fecure himfelf, destroyed most of the Family of the District Crown, and the better to fecure himfelf, destroyed most of the Family of the District Crown, and the better to fecure himfelf, destroyed most of the Family of the District Crown, and the better to fecure himfelf, destroyed most of the Family of the District Crown, and the better to fecure himfelf, destroyed most of the Family of the District Crown, and the Mercal Apparitions of Men going in Procession of the Crown of the Men which ended he portunity that offered of enlarging the Bounds of his Kingdom, now the Moors were at portunity that offered of enlarging the Bounds of his Kingdom, now the Moors were at portunity with mighty Success. For in Calicia, he took Lugo, Tuy and Aspara, in Lusitania, the King Alon.

Chap. IV.

Towns of the Mountain Crospeda, on the banks of the River Duraton, a place naturally Strong for of the Mountain Crospeda, and after, Sepulaveda. Then he turned his Victorious Arms to the merly called Segoriga, and after, Sepulaveda. Then he turned his Victorious Arms to the Country of Bribiese and Kioja, and possession of the Crown daily encreasing, for off the Mountain Idabeda, about the River Ogia, which falling from that Mount, runs inside of the Mountain the Cross of the Mountain Mount of the Crown of the Mountain Cross of the Mountain the Cross of the Mountain Cross of the Cross of the termix with our own, ought not to be forgotten. It will not therefore be amis to fay fomething of the great difford that about this time hapned among those People; on which were laid the foundations of a mighty Kingdom of theirs in Spain.

Mahomet the Founder of the Sarragen Empire, at his Death left never a Son, but three Affairs of Daughters, Faiima, Zeinebis, and Imicultis, all Married to Principal Men. Upon the Death the Macro of Mahomet, first Aubusara, and after him Homar, whose Daughters he had Married, fuc-metant. ceeded in the Empire. After them, Autuman, Husband to Fatima, the Eldest Daughter, ceeded in the Empire. After them, Muniman, Prosonic to Fairma, the Laucit Daughter, after defended the Throne; and of them defeended the mighty Family of the Mavecines. Mohabia, Husband to the other Sifter Zeinebs, fucceeded Anuman, and of him came another powerful Family called the Humeyas. His Successors were Ixit his Son, and Maula his Grandson, after whole Death, the Moors were divided, some following Maroan, and others Abdalla, who dying, all was again reduc'd under Abdelmelieb the Son of Maula; then Ulis Son of Abdelmelieb, next Zuleyman, Brother to Olit, and after him Homar and Izit the Sons of Olit. Their Succeffor was Iscam, a third Brother, and his was Alulit the Son of Izit, then Ibrahim his Brotend was juliny, a till'd blottlet, and his was muit the son of ter, then lordnim his Brother. Maroan, though of the faine family of the Hameyas, flew Irabin, and Uffurpd the Crown. Abdalla, a wife and refolute Man, of the Family of the Alaxeeines, defeended from Fatima, kill'd Maroan, and flep'd into the Throne, the better to fecure himself in which, he indeavour'd to extirpate the whole Race of the Humeyas. Abderbaman, who was of that Fatima, kill of the Company of mily, for his own Safety, was forc'd to fly into Spain; where the Moors being all well affected to the Benhumeyas, with their affiftance, he erected a new Kingdom, independent of the Miramamolius of Africk, or Calipbs of Afria. He chose the City Cordova for the Metropolis of his new acquir'd Dominion, as will further appear hereafter.

CHAP. IV.

The Reigns of the Kings, Froyla, Aurelius, Silon, Alonfo, Mauregatus, and Veremundus, or Bermudo. Monarchy of the Moors, erected in Spain, by Abderrhaman, his Death, and Wars among his Sons.

Pon the Death of King Alonfo, his Eldest Son, called Froyla, or Fruela, succeeded in the Throne of the Christians in Spain, in the Year of Grace 757. He Reigned eleven Years, and three Months, his Government was a mixture of Good and Evil, being of a harsh Years, and three Months, his Government was a mixture of Good and Evil, being of a harfn Temper, rather inclined to Cruelty than Mercy. Some Actions of a good Prince he did, for he Built the City Oviedo in Afraias, and made it a Bilhoprick. Befides, he forbid Priests Marrying, a Cultum introduced by Witza, and confirmed by the Example of the Greeki, which in the Opinion of the Wifee fort, had provoked God's Wrath, and brought fo many inisfortunes upon Spain. This Action, as it gained him the Esteem of the better fort, of it drew on him the harted of the Commonalty and Priests, by which his Memory was stained more than he deserved. Besides, his other good qualities, he follow'd the Example of his Father, in making War upon the Moors, and in the second Year of his Reign overthrew Juceph, who then governed Spain for the Insides, and had entred Galisia, killing 54000 of his Men. This 54000 Inside the Spain for the Insides, and had entred Galisia, killing 54000 of his Men. This 54000 Inside the Spain for the Insides, he for the Spain Cordova. but was taken by his Enemis dian. loß was the ruin of Juzeph, who for the space of four Years had opposed Abderhaman, and fidels now being oppressed by the Humeyas, he sled from Cordova, but was taken by his Enemies at Granada, and making his escape thence to Toleda, was there killed by his own People. From this time, which was the Year of our Lord 759, and according to the account of the Arabi, 12al the Moors in Spain were again United under one Head. Abderhaman Abenbumeya, who after took the Sirname of Adabii, founded a new Kingdom of his own Nation independent of the Moors in Africk or Asia, as has been hinted before. Only the City/alexical but the Morible held out some time, but after a longisting was forced to submit and joyn with the reft. Such was King in the hatred this Prince bore the Christian Religion that the Christians of that City were forced. to depart thence, and fetled in the farthest part of Lustania, about Promontorium Sacrum, carrying with them the Body of St. Vencent, from which that Cape now takes its Name : A Moor of Fez, some time after, Hunting about that place, slaughtered these People, and carryed over their Children into Africk, from whom the place was afterwards known, where the Holy Body had been buryed. Abderbaman, proud with his great Success, made War upon Galicia, and at the same time besieged Beja in Portugal; but was repulsed in both places, by the Valour of King Fruela, who with the fame Felicity, not only defended his Dominions againft the Infidels, but fibdued his Rebellious Subjects of Galicia and Navarre, in the Year of our Lord 761. In this expedition he Marryed Menina, or Momerana, Daughter of Eudo, Duke of Agui-761. In this expedition he Marryed Menina, or Momerana, Daughter of Eudo, Duke of Aguitain, according to F. Mariana, but the Bifhop Sebaffian, who lived 100 Tears after, and wrote the Afther of the Mariana, but the Bifhop Sebaffian, who lived 100 Tears after, and wrote the Afther of the Translation of the Mariana of the Blood Royal of Navarre. By her the King had D. Alonfo, to who was afterwards King, and Sirnamed the Chaffe, and D. Ximena, well known for her incontinency, and for being Mother to Bernard del Carpio. King Frula might have been reckoned among the beft Princes, had he not Blemished his Reputation, by killing, with his own Hands, his Brother Bimaranus, doubtlefs upon fuspition, that he defigned to Rebel, yet the A& was no way juditiable. However to allay the hatred, he had incurred by this A&thon, he adopted and named for his Successor, Bermudo, the Son of Bimaranus, which availed him at adopted and named for his Successor, Murdered him at Cangas. The King derd.

P 2

to fucceed him.

and his Queen Menina, were buryed in the Cathedral of Owiedo. The Murderer of Fruela, and Revenger of Bimaranus, Brother to both, tho' fome will have him to be their Cousin-768. German, and Son to Fruela, the Brother of King Alonfo, was inthroned in the Year 768.

Alonfo the Son of Fruela, was not regarded, as being a Child, and by reason of the Gene-Aurelia.

The Alonfo the Son of Fruela, when the Son of Fruela, was not regarded, as being a Child, and by reason of the Gene-Aurelia.

The Alonfo the Son of Fruela, when the Son of Fruela, when the Son of Fruela, was not regarded, as being a Child, and by reason of the Gene-Aurelia.

The Alonfo the Son of Fruela, was not regarded, as being a Child, and by reason of the Gene-Aurelia.

The Alonfo the Son of Fruela, was not regarded, as being a Child, and by reason of the Gene-Aurelia.

The Alonfo the Son of Fruela, was not regarded, as being a Child, and by reason of the Gene-Aurelia.

The Alonfo the Son of Fruela, was not regarded, as being a Child, and by reason of the Gene-Aurelia. time he did not any thing worthy of Commendation, unless it were the quelling a Rebellion, his Reign raifed by the Slaves in hopes of recovering their Liberty. But the honour gained by this ages no. Action, was quite blotted out, by the diffeonurable agreement he came to with the Moors, ofthing ho. Action was quite bioleted out, by the diffusionable agreement he can'te with the days, obtained himself every Year, to deliver to them a certain Number of Young Maids, as an account of the christians were jealous of the mighty Power of Abderbaman, and feared he might oppress their new Kingdom. Therefore Aurelius to provide against that storm, Marryed his Silter Adofinda, to Silon, a Man in great efteem, that he might be affilting to him, while living, and succeed in the Throne after his Death, for that he had never a Son, nor while living, and induced at the Hold Ming should be Great, his Chronicon fays, Aurelius was does it appear that he was Marryed. King Alonfo the Great, his Chronicon fays, Aurelius was interred in the Church of St. Marim, in the Valley of Jagueya. D. Lucas de Tuy writes it was at Cangas. It is hard to reconcile these differences, some will have Jagueya and Cangas. to be the same, others that Jagueya is the Town now called Tanguas, and that under the Church of St. Michael, in it there is a Vault dedicated to St. Andrew, where are two Tombs, which those People affirm to be of the Kings Favila and Aurelius. After the Death of Aureli-Silon, and us, Silon and his Wife Adolinda, were Proclaimed King and Queen at Paiva, and Reigned nine Adofinda, Vears, one Month, and one Day. At the beginning of his Reign he fubdued the People of King and Galicia, that had revolted about the Mountain Ciperius, now called Cebreros. Silon being Oneco. of a great Age, and naturally given to his eafe, refolved to lay afide all care by parting with the Government, and accordingly, by the advice of his Queen, named D. Alonfo the Son of

The History of SPAIN.

Fruela his Companion in the Throne, and gave him the abiolute Power of Peace and War. It was the misfortune of those times, that when there was most need of Active, and Heroick Kings, they proved Soft and Effeminate. From this time D. Alonso had the Title of rock Kings, they proved but and Enthmand. The Antientest now extant in Spain, of several Lands to King, as appears by a Grant of his, the Antientest now extant in Spain, of several Lands to the Church of St. Mary de Valpuesta, then a Monastery of Nuns, now Collegiate. This Grant bears Date according to the Julian account the Year 812, which is of our Lord 774. Authors vary about the burying place of Silon, fome fay it is at Oviedo, where there is a long Inscription at the entrance of the Church of S. Saviour, with his Name in the nature of a Cypher, and it is repeated 270 times, that he built the Church, besides under that inscription is another fignifying, Here lies Sylon, may the Earth be eafie to bim. Others fay, he lies at Paiva, in the Church of St. John the Evangelift, which he built from the Ground, and where without doubt is the Body of his Wife Adofinda.

without doubt is the body of the voice and the body of hatred conceived again his Father was forgot, and the Virtues that fhined in him reconciled Maurgath the Subjects affection. Only his Uncle Mauregatus, the 'lllegitimate, pretended a right to fucceed to the Be. his Brothers, and was put upon it by some Turbulent Persons, but finding little help in the first the state of the state Christians, he begged the Assistance of the Moors, and obtained it, upon Condition he should pures of every Year deliver them so Maids of the Nobility, and so of the Commonalty, an infamous Ar-the Crown every Year deliver them so Maids of the Nobility, and so of the Commonalty, an infamous Ar-affiled by ticle, yet nothing can Curb the inordinate Ambition of a Crown. The Moore above all Men are ainfied by ticle, yet nothing can Curb the inordinate Ambition of a Crown. The Moors above all Men are the Moors. given to Venery. This allurement, and the Commands of Abderbaman, prevailed with many to follow Mauregatus. King Alongo being unprovided to meet this florm, retired into Bifeay, where he had many Powerful Allies. He was only 25 Years of Age, when he was deposed in the beginning of his Reign. Mauregatus Reigned 5 Years, and 6 Months, and was reflicts, and markable for nothing but his Cowardile, Basenes, and Falshood to his Country. He dyed mauregatus Reigned 20 Years. This same Year dyed Abderbaman, the King of the Moors having Reigned 20 Years. he deceased at Cordova where Abderbaman, the King of the Moors, having Reigned 29 Years, he deceased at Cordova, where Succession he had fixed his residence, and adorned that City with many Royal Works, as the Gardens then called Rizapha, now Arricafa, and the now Cathedral, one of the Sumptuousest Buildings in Moorish Spain. He lette o Daughters, and 11 Son; and appointed Zuleman the Eldest, then Government our of Toledo, his Successor. Islem the second Son, taking the advantage of his Brother's absence, and being well beloved, Usurped the Grown, and coming to a Battle with Zuleman drove him to Murcia, where upon payment of 60000 Crowns, he renounced his right, and went over into Africk. Next Abdalla, another Brother, raifed fome Tumults, but was forced to Compound and quit Spain. Bermudo, Sirnamed the Deacon, as having received that Order, succeeded Mauregatus. Historians do not agree whose Son he was, nor is it casse to reconcile them. Some fay he was Son to Bimaranus, others to D. Fruela, Brother to King Alonfo.

He Reigned about 2 Years alone, according to Garibay his Account, for F. Mariana is not intelligible in this Place, and had two sons, D. Ramiro, and D. Garcia, by his Wife Ninilon, or Or fenda, to wiffom he was unlawfully Married, tho' afterwards he left her, and lived Chaft the reflection of the state of his Life. In other respects, he was Modelt, and Temperate, a Lover of his ease, and averse to Business, yet did one thing very pleasing and commendable, which was, declaring of D. Alonfo, who had been depos'd by Mauregaius, his Companion in the Throne, which according to Isidorus Pacensis, who then liv'd, was in the Year 791. After this Bermudo reign'd

Four Years and Six Months. This Prince was very remarkable for his continual Prosperity, good Conduct, Liberality, Piety, the Love of his People, and Terror of his Enemies. By his Valour the affairs of the Chriftians, almost funk, were re-established; for in the third Year of his Reign, Monso his Companion, vanquish Mugayo, General of the Moors, who had broke into Asturias, upon the Account that the King refus d to pay the Tribute of the young. Maids. The Battle was fought near a Town call'd Ledas, the Victory one of the greatest A great obtain'd in Spain, for 70000. Infidels were kill'd, by which the Christians were deliver'd from Fight, in a greatoppression, and the Moors diverted with other Wars, could not revenge this loss. a great oppression, and the Moors diverted with other Wars, could not revenge this loss.

70000 InAbout the same time, many Towns about the Pyrenean Mountains were taken from the Moors, fidels are About the same time, many towns about the Frances mountains were cased in the France shows, fidels by the Kings of Nevarre and Charlemaigne, the Famous King of France and Emperour. Here flain. again I am forced to follow the authority of Garibay, rsy Author being ill Printed, the fate of many Books Printed in Spain. Ilfem, King of Cordova, fent a good Army, under the Command of his General Modelmeich, to put a flop to thefe Proceedings, who retook Girona in Catalonia, and Narbonne on the Borders of France. From hence the Bishop D. Roderick says, the Moors caus'd Christians to bring Earth on their Shoulders, (which I suppose was Sand to bind their Mortar) for to finish the great Mosque at Cordova. This King also built another Bridge at Cordova, near the Pallace, and was the first of the Moorish Kings that took a Guard of Strangers, which were 3000. Renegado Christians, besides, he entertain'd 2000. Eunuchs, as his Menial Servants. He dy'd in the Year 705, having Reign'd 26 Years, 10 Months, and 15 days; and leaving behind the name of a Wife, Just, and Bountiful Prince, and his Son Alhaca

CHAP. V.

The Reign of D. Alonso the Chast. The Nestorian Heresy reviv'd. The King's Sister debauch'd, he takes Lisbon, Wars among the Moors. Invention of the Body of St. James the Apostle, and Defeat of Charlemaigne.

Uring thefe laft Reigns, Felix, Bishop of Treel, and his Disciple Elipandus, Archbishop of Toledo, revived the false Doctrine of Nestorius, Condemned at the Council of Ephesus. The He-They affirm'd, that Christ our Lord, as Man, was only the adoptive Son of the Father; and refy of endeavour'd to spread these their Opinions, but were Condemn'd by Councils held at Regi- Nestorius num of Bawaria, now Ratisbon, and at Francfort. Felix, dy'd obstinate at Lions in France. What reviv'd. became of Elipandus is not known. Some Years after Claudius, a Spaniard, Disciple of Felix. and Bishop of Turin, who lived in the Emperour Ludovicus Pius his Court, with great Opinion of Learning, among other things, to the Opinions of the others, added a new extravagancy, faying, that holy Images ought to be cast out of the Churches. Jonas Aurelianensis; his Contemporary, wrote Learnedly against him.

King Bermudo was Bury'd at Oviedo, where formerly his and his Wives Tombs were to be feen . Thus D. Alonso was left to govern by himself. It is a receiv'd Opinion, that he aiming at Alonso rea greater Purity of Life, never had Carnal Knowledge of his Wife Berta. He is faid to have flored. built the Cathedral of Oviedo, but others write it was D. Bermudo who began it, and the Infcription at the entrance as was faid above, attribute it to King Sylon. Perhaps all three had a hand in the work, and he who finish'd, had all the honour of it. Certain it is, King Alonso enrich'd it with many Gifts, and particularly with a curious gold Crois fet with Stones, made by the hands of Angels, as the People imagin'd, because after it was done they were never feen more. The glorious beginnings of this Princes Reign were somewhat Eclyps'd by a Missortine that hapned in the Royal Family, which was, that D. Ximena, the Kings Sifter, (was privately Marry'd, according to our Author, but that had been no fuch mighty difafter, and all other Hiftorians write, she) was debauch'd by Sandia, or Sancho Earl of Saldana, and The and an other Hittorians write, the was debauch d by samua, or samua and an other Hittorians write, the by him had Bernard, call'd Carpensis, or del Carpio, much fam'd for his Exploits in Spanish King's Si-History. The Earl being Convicted, had his Eyes put out, and was Condemn'd to perpetual Imprisonment, which he accordingly fuffer'd, in the Castle of Luna. D. Ximena was shut by a Count up in a Monastery of Nuns, and yet care was taken to have the Child bred up in Asurias, as if he had been the King's own. The Moors at this time were not idle, for Zulema, and Abdalla, the new King's Unkles, who till then had liv'd in Africk, came over into Spain. Ab- Wars adalla, who was the boldest, came first and posses'd himself of the City Valencia, deliver'd to mong the him by the Inhabitants. Zulema, who was ready at the first call, pass'd over to his Brothers Moors. affiftance, and both together, after wasting all the Country, adventur'd to give King Albaca Battle. It was fought obstinately on both sides, and much Blood spilt, but at last Zulema, and many more being kill'd, Abdalla fled to Valencia, where he came to accommodation with and many more being kill? Abdalla fied to Valencia, where he came to accommodation with the King, and had a Revenue affiging dim, to live upon, according to his Quality, delivering up his Sons as Hostages, whom the Moorish King treated, as became his Cousin-Germans; and Marry'd his own Sister to one of them. This discord among the Mooris was advantagious to King Alongo, for he took the City of Lisbon (as many Foreign Authors write; the ours make ken by no mention of it,) and sent a folemn Embally to Charlemaigne; to whom Friella and Basilium, King Action of the Charlemaigne, the whom Friella and Basilium, King Action of the Mooris was the basil of the second of the control of the second of the Mooris was a second of the control of the second of the the Principal Embassadors, of the Booty taken in that City, carried a rich Present from the King, of Arms, Horses, and Captives; besides a Moorish Tent of wonderful Greatness and Workmanship. After this there ensu'd so great a Rebellion in his Kingdom, that he was Workmannin. After this there end to great a repetation of the Migdon's that he was fore'd to retire for fafety to the Monaftery Abelienje, fituate in the most unbouth part of Earlieia. Thence, by the help of Theudius, a Man of great Power, he recovered all his Dominions with more honour than if that Misfortune had not befallen him. But in my Opinion, ons with more honour than it that Mistortune had not betailen him. But in my Opinion, nothing was more honourable, in the Reign of this King, than the invention of the Body of the Holy Apolite St. James. Which as is generally related, happen'd in this manner. Theodomirus Bilhop of Iria Flavia, hearing great Lights were feen in a wild part of a Mountain, went thither, and causing the Bushes and Briars to be cut down, and diging up a hear of the bushes and Briars to be cut down, and diging up a hear of the bushes and Briars to be cut down, and diging up a hear of the bushes and Briars to be cut down, and diging up a hear of the bush of the bushes and Briars to be cut down, and diging up a hear of the bushes and Briars to be cut down. Earth, found the holy Body in a Marble Sepulcher. Overjoy'd at this, he went to Court to acquaint the King, who in Perfon repair'd thither, and caus'd a Church to be Erected in acquaint the King, who in Terion tepan a children, and cause a children to be rected in that place, dedicated to St. James, but mean, as having only mud Walls. He also infituted Benefices belonging to it, and affigured them Revenues. The Fame of it being spread abroad, brought People from all parts of Christendom; and to this day it is one of the most frequented Pilgrimages in the World. Some grave and Learned Persons have made a doubt, when ther St. James the Aposse ever was in Spain, and consequently of the Invention of his Body. I will not undertake to discuss the point, but must consess. I think the general consent of all Christendom, in this behalf, appears to me more convincing than all the Arguments they can christenaum, in this denan, appears to the most continuing and form will have it be came more than bring to oppose it.

Choice maign in once; among the roft, our Author, F. Mariana, is of this Opinion, and relates his coming twice; once; among the roft, our Author, F. Mariana, is of this Opinion, and relates his coming twice; but both times with the every farme circumflantes; which makes me of the Opinion he missook, and but both times with the every farme circumflantes; which makes me of the Opinion he missook, and but both times with the every farme circumflantes; which grant the formation of Roncesvalles, and even the Spaniards themselves way much in their relations, many of which are Ronceivalles, and even the Spaniards them serves vary much in their relations, many of which refers fabilities; for which reason, I am more inclinable to give credit to the French, as the most probable. I will therefore, in a thing so dubious, not spend much time, but in sew words set down what own. Author says of it, and then briefly touch upon the more likely account given by the French. F. Mariana says, that the Emperor Charlemaigne was invited into Spain, by King Alonso, to assist him in driving the Moors out of all that Kingdom. As a recompence for this service, he was to Inherit the Crown. This Treaty being made known in Spain, the Nobility would no ways to Inherit the Crown. This Treaty being made known in 59am, the Nonlity would no ways confent to be brought under the Dominion of the French, and Bernard del Carpio, a hot Youth, offer'd to head thoic that would oppose them. King Alonfo himself repented, and Marshius the Morib King of Zaragopa join'd with him, as feating the Emperor, whom he had offended, by Usurping the Dominions of Ibnabala his Confederate. All these Forces possess'd the ed, by Liurping the Dominions of tomabata his Confederate. All these forces politis'd the Palles of the Pyrenean Mountains, and at the place called Roncefoulles, the two Armies met. Ruilandus, commonly called Orlando, Earl of Britany. Anfilms and Eginardus led the Van, the Spaniards falling Furioully on them, before they could put themselves, into Order of Battle, shew Ruilandus, of whom so many Fables are Written, both by the Spaniards and French, the Ruilandus, of whom so many Fables are Written, both by the Spaniards and French, tle, flew Rutlandus, of whom to many Eadles are WILLEN, Dott by the Spaniards and French. The Emperor feeing the great Slaughter of his Men, indeavoured to bring up the reft of the Army to their relief, but finding no hopes of fuccels, was himself forced to make away. This is in short the account F. Mariana gives, but Einhardus Chancellor to Charlemaigne, and his Sonim-Law, in the Life of that Emperor, which he writ, says, That Charlemaigne came to restore Ibnahala, expelled by Marsiluis, that he passed the Mountains and subdued all that part of the Country, the Willester that we have the same than the same tha but in his return, the Valcones fell upon the rear in the narrow passes of the Mountains, sew all but in its resum, the valuous Jen mon the teal in the main on pulse of the expansions, from the that were parted from the main Body, among them Eghartus, Anfelmus and Rutlandus, and that this could not be revenged because the Vascones on a studden were all dispersed and not to be found. All this could not be revenged because the Valcones on a suaden were an auspersea and not to be sound. All the French Authors agree in this account. Besides is appears (if ever there was such a Man as Bernard del Carpio, which is doubtful) that be could not them, according to the time assigned for Ms Birth be above 13 Tears of Age, and therefore unfit for such great undertakings. Nuch more might be said to this purpose, but I rather choose to adhere to certainties, than fill Paper with not only doubtful but Romantick flories, framed to swell Volumes, and please the ignorant. Let us therefore return to King Alonfo.

CHAP. VI.

The remaining part of the Reign of King Alonso. Rebellion among the Moors, Alhaca the Moor dies, and Abderhamen succeeds him. The Reign of King Ramiro, he overthrows the Moors in a great Battle, his Death and Invasion of the

A L L things during King Alonfo's Reign, fucceeded Fortunately for the Christians, and he not only applyed himself to the Buiness of the War, but Laboured to improve the Civil Government, and above all, was zealous for Propagating Religion. As soon as the Cathedral of Oviedo was finished, to increase the Devotion of the place, he caused it to be Consecrated by feven Bishops, in the Year of our Lord 802. He also Erected, in the same City, another Church, dedicated to our Bleffed Lady, with a Cloffer for the later nent of Kings, because then they were not buryd in the Church; besides this, a third Church to St. Thyffee Marryr, and a fourth to St. Julian; as likewise a Royal Palace. Thus contenting himself with indifferent Dyet, and Rayment, all his care was to beautify and adorn that City, by him first made the Capital of the Kingdom. The Moors were now in Rebellion against their The Moors King, and particularly those of Toledo, Plenty and Ease were the cause of these districtions, in Rebel-King Albaca being a Person subtle and deceifful, sent Ambroc, the Governour of Hules, a liou at 75 Kriend to the People of Toledo, to them, with fawning Letters, laying all the blame upon the Iddo. Magistrates, and courting the Citizens to be pacifyd. The People of Toledo are naturally open-hearted; therefore supersting nothing, they admitted him into the Town. Not long after Ambroc, seigning some discontent, perswades the People to Mutiny again, and builds a strong Castle, where now stands the Church of St. Chrisspher, into which he puts a good Garrison. Abderbaman, the King's Son, came to quell this Rebellion, and deceiving the People; as the other had done, was admitted. Therefore the better to put his design in Execution, he invites the best of the Town into the Castle, and there Mallacred 5000. of them in the another Church, dedicated to our Bleffed Lady, with a Cloifter for the Interment of Kings, beas the other had done, was admitted. Therefore the better to put his delign in Execution, he invites the beft of the Town into the Caffle, and there Maffacred 5000. of them in the Year of our Lord 805. This Gruel Execution quieted Toledo, but not fo at Cordova, where the Inhabitants of the Suburbs Mutinying, Abdelcarin, who had gain'd Fame at the Siege of The fame Caliborra, reduc'd them, and hang'd 300 along the River. By the Chriftians two Armies of acCordova. Infidels, that broke into Calibia, were overthrown, and forc'd to withdraw with great lofs in the Year 810. Ores, Governour of Merida, laid Siege to Benavente, but upon the approach of Gins Abdelcarin can be seen to see the second of the Siege to Benavente, and the second of t in the rear 310. Ures, Governour of Merica; laid Siege to Benavente, but upon the approach of King Alonfo, was dore'd to quit it and retire. In the fame manner, Aleama, Governour of Badajoz, was drove from before Camora. Soon after, Mabomet a Noble Moor, upon some discontent, put himself, with a good Body of Men, under the Protection of King Alonfo, and had a place assigned him in Galicia to inhabit. The Moor desiring to regain his Alonfo, and had a place assign'd him in Galicia to inhabit.

The Moor desiring to regain his Princes Favour, seizes upon a Town cass of St. Christina, two Leagues from Lago. King Alonfo was immediately upon him, and coming to a Battle, selew him and 30000 of his Men. In the mean while dy'd Albaca, King of Cordova, in the Year of our Lord 821, of the Arabs. Albera the 206, of his Reign 27. He left 19 Sons, and 21 Daughters. His Son Abderthaman succeeded Moor dies. Spain pass'd into Candia, and Planted there. Amch is now spoke of the Prowess of Bernard mas the Spain pass'd into Candia, and Planted there. Amch is now spoke of the Prowess of Bernard mas the Garbin, being and his Rebellion; but these are things more like Romance than History, and fine Carbin, and his Rebellion; but these are things more like Romance than History, and fine sceeded him. Ramiro, the Son of D. Bermudo, to succeed him, and dy'd Aged 85, years, laving Regin of 623 Years, five Months, and thirteen Days, and in the Year of our Lord 843, according to $43. the Chronicle of King Alonfo the Great, and the most national recent Records. He deceas'd at Ovindo; and was Buried in the Church of St. Mar. in that City. and was Buried in the Church of St. Mary, in that City.

and was Buried in the Church of St. Mary, in that City.

The Reign of King Ramiro, as to time, was flort, but glorious, and full of honourable Reign of Exploits. For to him, under God, is due the honour of reftoring the Spanish Monarchy to King Reits former luftre. His Government, in all respects, was excellent, but above all in Martial miration of King Reits former luftre. His Government, in all respects, was excellent, but above all in Martial miration for the Republic of the Republic of Reits of the Roberts, that then were in great numbers, to have their Eyes put out. At the time of King Alonson his Death, D. Ramiro was among the Varduli, a part of Old Cassilie, or Bislay. His absence age an opportus A Rebelmity to Count Nepotiams, to possess himself of Assurian, and assume the Title of King. All lion supports and turbulent Persons follow'd him, and he rais'd a considerable Army. King Rapressed was more time thim with an equal force: the Rattle was somehim in Galisia. mathous and turonient retions ronow a nin, and ne rais a connectable Army. King Ralmiro was not idle, but met him with an equal force; the Battle was fought in Galicia, near the River Narceya, where Nepotiams being forfaken by his Army, was forc'd to fly, but in the flight taken by two of his own Chief Officers, called Somma and Scipio, and deliver'd up to the King. After these civil dissentances called the War with the Moors, at first terribate that the conclusion and Scipio and deliver'd the War with the Moors. ble, but in the conclusion most fortunate to the Christians. Abderbaman was King of the Moors, a Prince fierce by nature, and haughty with his continual fuccess; for he had not only expelled his Uncle Abdalla, who endeavour d to recover the Kingdom, but had taken the City Barcelona. This done he refolv'd upon the War against King Ramiro, and upon this account fent to demand of him the Tribute of 100 young Maids Mauregatus had formerly confented count, fent to demand of him the Tribute of 100 young Maids Mauregatus had formerly confected to pay. His Embalfadors were difmilied with form, and protected only by the Law of Nations from differing for their prefumption. Next, all that were of Age in the Kingdom, except some few left to till the ground, for fear of a Famine, were lifted; the very Bilbops, and Persons Confectated to God, follow'd the Christians amp. To gain a reputation, and be thought the Aggressors, they broke into the Territory of Rioja, then positisf dy the Moors. Abdarbaman on the other side having made mighty preparations of all things necessary, as Town then of the strong the Christians. The two Armies met near Alvelda, or Alboyda, a Town then of freingth, now almost unpeopled, but famous once for a Monastery built there by Sancho King of Navagre, of the Invacation of S. Mostine, the Revenue and Library whereof was afterwards integen, now amout empeopied, but ramous once for a monattery duit there by sancho king of Navarre, of the Invocation of S. Martin, the Revenue and Library whereof was afterwards A menistranilated to the Church of St. Mary the Round, in the City Logrono, two Leagues diffant falls have the Church of St. Mary the Round, in the City Logrono, two Leagues diffant falls have from Alvelda. In that place the Battle was fought, and prov'd one of the bloodyeft of that falls have the Company being compos'd of Men gather'd in halt was no way to compare to the centre the Exemy for Discipline. All must have been lost had not the Commanders Rill appear'd where Christians the degree of the company of th

the danger call'd, encouraging the Men, not only with words but their Example, Night and the put put an end to the Battle. The smallest Accidents in War, often prove of the greatest Consequence, so now the approach of the Night saved the Christians from utter Destruction. The King retired to a rifing ground, that was near with his broken Fores, fortified himself the The King retired to a riling ground, that was near with his groven for so, torthed himself the best she time would permit, and caused, the wounded to be taken care of, whilst all the Army almost despairing of their fastery, offered their Vows and Tears to Heaven. Sorrow and Care so oppressed King Ramino his Thoughts, that he sell into a slumber, in which he thought he saw the Apostle St. James, bidding him be of good Heart, and assisting him of the Victory. This vision or dream so revived him, that he started up, and calling into his Presence all the Prelates and Chief Men of the Army, related at large what he had feen, and exhorted them, to put their The Bat- Confidence in God, and not doubt of the Victory. This done he, Ordered his Battle and therenew gave the Signal to fall on. Our Men Encouraged with what they had heard, attack the Enegave the signal to land. So, the little little grant with what the latter among furiously, calling upon S. James, whence sprang the Calchom to this Day, in ass among spaniards, of invoking that Saint, when they Charge. The Infidels surprized at the bold-ness of our Men, whom they thought vanquished, and struck with terror from Heaven, could not not be supported by the surprise of bear the brunt of that Charge, but fled, and were so sharply pursued, that 60000 of them were killed. It was said, the Apostle St. James, was seen in the heat of the Fight, leading our Men, upon a White Horse, in his hand a White Banner with a Red Cross in the middle. And take: After this Victory, the Christians regained many Towns, among them Clavijo, from which name this Battle took Name, Alvelda and Calaborra. This Memorable Battle was fought, in the this Battle took Name, Avveida and Calaborra. It is refined and battle was lought, in the Year 844. being the fecond of the Reign of King Ramiro. Having returned Thanks to Almightly God, the Victorious Army, by vow obliged all Spain, tho' the greatest part was mightly God, the Victorious Army, by vow obliged all Spain, tho' the greatest part was mightly God, the Victorious Army, by vow obliged all Spain, tho' the greatest part was fubility of the thought of the County of th Town of his share as a Horse Man. Of the spoils taken this War, the King caused a Stately Church to be Built, in honour of our Blessed Lady, which is to be seen to this day, half a League from Oviedo, on the fide of Mount Nauraneius, and near it was Built another Dedicated to St. Michael. The Queen, whom some call Urraca, others Paterna, Mother to D. Ordoño and D. Garcia, furnished those Churches with all things necessary, for she used to spare all that was possible of her own Expence, and lay it out upon Churches, especially that of the Apostle St.

James. The joy and advantage of this great Victory, was not lasting or considerable, as might have been expected, by reason of another War that ensued.

Our Nation had scarce began to shake off the Yoke, laid upon them by the Moors, who came from the South, when it Laboured under another Plague, first from the North. Such were the Normans, who drove by neceffity, or rather, the defire of doing mifchief, now ranged the Seas under the Command of their General Rollo. At first they had wasted and destroyed all the Coasts of France, till the Emperors Ludovicus Pius, and Carolus Crassus, gave them the Province of Neustria, from them afterwards called Normandy, to hold in Feof of them. These same People gathering a vast Bleet in France, now grew very Obnoxious to the them. These same People gathering a vast Bleet in France, now grew very Obnoxious to the Christians of Spain. They over-ran and Pillaged all the Coast of Galicia, till near Coruña, King Ramirus overthrew and put to Flight all that had Landed of them. Besides, in a Sea Fight 70 of their Ships were either taken or funk by ours. Those that escaped turning Cape Finisherre, came to the Mouth of the River Tagus, and distressed Lisbon at that time, in the hands of the Moors. The Year following, which was of our Lord 847: having gathered hands of the Moors. The Year following, which was of our Lord 847: having gathered news forces, they laid Siege to Sevil, plundered the Territories of Cadix, and Medina Sidonia, taking great numbers of Men and Cattle, and putting many Moors to the Sword. In fine, after spending much time in that Neighbourhood, understanding that Abderbaman, was fitting out a powerful Fleet against them, they left Spain, having gained much Honour and great Riches. Now followed other Commotions among the Christians. Count Alderedus and Piniolus, two powerful Men, one after another revolted, but were soon descated, Alderedus had his Eyes put out, Piniolus, and Seven Sons he had, were Executed by the King's Command, in the 4th Year of his Reign. Two Years after he dyed at Oviedo, having Reigned 7, he and his Wife Paterna, were buryed in St. Maries Church of that City, where the King's Tomb is still to be seen, with an Inscription to this effect, Ramiro of bappy memory dy'don the first of February, I desire all that shall Read this, to pray for his rest. D. Ordono Son to D. Ramiro the late King, succeeded his Father, in the Year of our Lord 850.

CHAP. VII.

The Persecution raised by the Moors at Cordova. The Reign of D. Ordonno over the Christians, and Mahomet over the Moors.

A Mighty Perfecution was now raifed against the Christians, and much Blood shed at Cordova. When first the Moors over-ran Spain, they allowed the Christians the free Exercise of their Religion, whereupon in all Cities, and especially at Cordova, as the Metropolis, there were Priests, Nuns and Monks, publickly in their Habits. They had also their Churches and Monship and the Policy and the Policy and the Policy and the Christian Service by Plantage Religion. Persecuti-Monasteries, and the People were called to Divine Service by Ringing of Bells, as formerly, without receiving the least Affront or Molestation. All the restraint laid upon them, was that they should not offer to Revile Mahomet, nor enter into the Mosques. By degrees the Moors began to lay new Taxes upon the Christians, to revile them, and by all means find out ways to Extirpate their Name. This made the Christians uneafie, so that first they complained, then fell to railing, and inveighing against the Moors, and their Supersition. Hereupon, King Abderhaman, many Christians siding with him in Condemning their Brethren, as was done by a Synod of Bishops that met at Cordova, put to Death, during the space of 10 Years, great numbers of Christians, who are reckoned as Martyrs, for that their greatest Crime, was the Profession of the true Faith, and their Perseverance in the same, In the Year 852. dy'd King Abderhaman. The Christians said, It was a just Judgment of God for the Blood he had spilt, and it was the more likely, because he fell down, and dy'd fuddenly, without speaking one word, as he stood looking upon the Bodies of the Martyrs Death, that hung rotting on Gibbets. This hap ned the beginning of the 32d Year of his Reign. He left 44 Sons, and 42 Daughters, In his time the Streets of Cordova were Paved, and Water brought to the City from the Mountains in Leaden Pipes. By him it was first Establiffed as Law, that the Sons should inherit, without any regard of the other Kindred, which was not till then, punctually observed. In pursuance of this Law, his Son Mahomet fucceeded him, and Reign'd 35 Years and an half. In the first Year of his Reign, he Banished all the Christians from Court, and not so satisfied, the second Year raged against their Lives, which he continued to the end of the 10 Years above-mentioned, After the Solemnity of the Interment of D. Ramiro the late King, his Son D. Ordono en-

Compostella, accused their Bishop Athaulphus, of a grievous Sin; the History of Compostella

which he most readily granted. Some write, he Excommunicated his Accusers, and retired to Ashurias, where he led a most holy Life, having resigned his Bishoprick. The Horns hung for many Years on the roof of the Church of Oviedo, as a Memorial of this Miracle. This F. Mariana says, Was at the beginning of the Reign of King Ordonno. Others will have it to have hap'ned above 100 Years after, in the time of King Bermudo II. It is hard to decide which is in the right, as to point of Time; for fince they vary in that point, it is no good Authority to obgainst the King of Cordova, and with incredible Celerity possessed himself of Toledo, Zarago ca, Huesca, Valencia, and Tudela. Then he over-ran the Frontiers of France, where he in Inequal, Valencia, and Tuacia. Then he over-ran the Frontiers of France, where he took two Generals that offered to oppose him. This firuck fuch a terror in that Country, that the King of France, Charles the Bald, thought fit to gain his Friendship with Presents. Proud with Success, he turns his Force against King Ordona, with whom, and the King of Cordona, he called himself the third King of Spain. Breaking into the Territor's Of Ripia; he took Alvelda, and Fortify'd it. King Alongo's Chronicle says, he built and called it Al-bayda. D. Ordono gathering his Forces, left a part before that Town, and with the rest marched towards the Enemy, who, he was informed, lay upon Mount Laturfus. At the first light the two Armies Encountred, casting their Darts and Javelins, and that done, fell flians. At the same time, Mahomet, King of Cordova, was making Preparations against the common Enemy, and resolved first to attack Toledo, as being the first that had Revolted and might be a means to reduce the rest. Lupus, the Son of Muza, held that City for his Father, and understanding the Deseat of his Army, to prevent farther mischief, entred into a League with King Ordono, to the end to be supported by his Forces. The King sen him number of Soldiers of Navarre and Aburias, under the command of his Brother D. Gargia.

Mahomet not relying on open Force, had recourse to Stratagem. He lay Encamp'd near the City, and therefore lays an Ambush at Guadacelete, a Brook near Villaminaya. This done, he in Person, with a small Party, came up to view the City. The Besieged seeing that small number, rushed out as if they went to a certain Booty, not to Fight; and so were easily tered upon the Government. He was Mild, Affable and Modest, which gain'd him the Af- Reign. fections of all Men; but being very Zealous for Justice, some ill-designing Men made of this Vertue, a Bait to draw him into some Miscarriages. Four Slaves belonging to the Church of fays, it was Sodomy. Being fent for to Court to answer for himself, he first said Mass, and went to the King in his Portifical Robes. At which instead of being appealed the King was Miracu-fo incensed, that he caused a wild Bull, anger'd by the Dogs, to be let lose at him. The loss Tryal Bishop making the sign of the Crois, the Bull came tamely, and suffered him to lay hold of of a bi-his Horns, which dropt off into his Hands. At this sight, the King and Nobles were so a - shop. Stonished, that they fell down at his Feet, begging Pardon for the wrong they had done him.

lige us to believe there ever was any such Passage. In the second Year of this King's Reign, one mong Muza, of the Blood of the Goths, but by Profession a Moor, well skilled in Warlke Affairs, the stirred up against himself the Arms of both Christians and Infidels, for he openly Rebelled a Insidels.

to their Swords. The Christians fought resolutely for their Country and Religion, and Great drawn into the Ambush, where being charged in Front and Rear, many of them were lost, the rest fought their way thro' to the Town. 12000 Moors, and 8000 Christians were slain in that Action. Only the natural Strength of the place fav'd it from falling into the Hands and Chritho' the Battle was obstinately maintained, they remained Victorious, killing 10000 of the overthrow Enemies, among them many of note, and particularly, one Garcia, Son-in-law to the Tyr of the rant. Muza eloaged with difficulty, being much wounded, whereof, I suppose, he after Moors, wards dy'd. All the Camp of the Moors, with a rich Booty, fell into the hands of the Chriof the Victors, after such a loss. For two Years after, the Enemy wasted the Country about Toledo, and burnt all the Corn upon the Ground. The Townsmen desirous of Revenge,

Chap. VIII.

Coaft of

marched as far as Talavera, but were worsted by the Commander there, and drove back towards Christians, by being continually among them, tho' they were Heathens themselves. Thence they failed over into Africk, and did no less harm there. In Spain, Mahomet made i nence they iaised over into Aprica, and did no test that it ties. In Aprica, inauguster made an incursion-into Navarre, towards Pamplona, and that part of Bisgay called Alava, but nothing was done worth relating. Merida in Estremadura, Rebelled against the King of Corthoga, for which fault, by his Order, it was Dismantled. In the mean while, King Ordono Towns re- enjoying Peace, without sparing any cost or trouble, Rebuilt several Cities, ruined and destroyed by the Wars, such were Tuy, Astorga, Leon and Ainaya. The Moors after the late Civil Wars, were divided into Factions, whereupon, many Governours of Towns prefumed to Revolt, and file themselves Kings; which was of great advantage to the Christians, who could not fo well have dealt with the Power of the Insidels, if united. Reith had possessed himself of Coria, Magara of Talamanca, or as others say, Salamanca, both of them were numer of coria, pagara of rammana, of as offices ray, summana, both of stell work Vanquilhed by King Ordono, their Cities taken, the Garritions put to the Sword, and all the Inhabitants fold for Slaves. This great Success was check'd by the King's Death, which happened in the 11th Year of his Reign; some Authors add 6 Years to this number. He dy'd at Oviedo, of the Gout, and was Bury'd in St. Mary's Church, then the Burial place for the Kings. This King was Successful in all his undertakings, except the loss of his Men at Toledo. By his Queen Minia, a Person of high Birth, he left D. Alonjo, the eldest Son, D. Bermido, D. Nuno, D. Odoario, and D. Fruela. Some write, his Death was on the 27th of May, there is no doubt it was in the Year 862. as appears by the Inscription of a beautiful Crois, which his Son D. Alonfo, presented to the Church of Oviedo, the Words of it, are these. May this Gift be acceptable to the bonour of God. Given by the Prince Alonso, Servant of Chrift, and his Wije Ximena. May any that prefirmes to take away thefe our Gifts, perifib by God's lightning. By this fign the Religious is defended, by this fign the Enemy is overcome. This Work was finished, and delivered to S. Saviour, the Cathedral of Oviedo. It was made in the Cafle of Guazon, in the 17th Tear of our Reign, and of the Era of Augustus, 916. Thus it appears, the Year 878. was the 7th after the Death of King Ordono. The same D. Alonjo being at Compostella, confirmed a Grant made by his Father, by a new one, which extends the Territory of Santiago to 6 Miles about, whereas before it was but three. Let us go on to his other Actions.

CHAP. VIII.

The Reign of King Alonso the Great. He is Expell'd and Restor'd. His Brothers Conspire against him, and are Punish'd. The Church of St. James the Apoftle, made an Archbishoprick. Mahomet the Moorish King dies.

King A-

Alanso who for his excellent Natural Parts, and the many Victories he obtained over his Enemies, was called The Great, immediately upon the news of his Fathers's death, for he was then ablent, repaired to Oviedo to perform the Funeral Rites, and take Postession of the Kingdom. For good Inclinations, he was inferior to none of his Predecessors; of on of the Kingdom. For good inclinations, and the Merciful, Valourous and Meek. In Body tall, his Countenance pleafing, very Affable, Merciful, Valourous and Meek. In Warlike Exploits, he was Singular, and very Liberal to the Poor, fpending upon them not only what his Father left him, but what he got himfelf. He was Zealous of Religion, and beautified Churches, but particularly, that of St. James the Apostle, which had only Mud Walls, he built from the Ground of Free-ftone, with Marble Pillars, a thing in those days wonderful, as well for the want of curious Workmen, as of Money. He Reign'd 48 Years, according to Sampyus Afturicensis. The beginning of his Reign was somewhat troublesome; Heisex For D. Fruela, Son to King Bermudo, Usurped the Title of King in Galicia. D. Alonso be-pelled, and ing as yet wholly unprovided to withfland him, thought fit to retire to that part of Bisay, called Alava; but the Usurper making use of the Power he had to oppress the People, was cause 2018/93, that the Little of the forms in that to oppose the first killed by the Citizens of Oviedo. Hereupon, D. Monfo returns to Affirias, is received with the good liking of all the People, fettles his Affairs, and punishes the Guilty. That part of Bifeay, called Mava, was subject to the Kings of Oviedo, the reft to Zenon, the chief of the Family of Eudo, late Duke of Aquitain. Eylon, a Kinsman of Zenon, governed Alava for the King. He relying upon the Consussion of the times, or the Assistance of Zenon, Revolted against his Master, who came in Person from Leon, to appease those Commotions, which he did without Bloodshed, took Eylon, and kept him Prisoner at Oviedo as long as he lived. Not long after, he overthrew, and took Zenon also, and put him into the same Prison. This Zenon, is faid to have left two Daughters, one called Toda, was Wife to Thigo Arifia, King of Navarre, the other Married Zuria, who was afterwards Lord of Biscay, from whom some will have it, the following Lords of that Country descended till it was Incorporate in the Crown of Castile. The Punishment of these two, was an Example to terrific others from attempting the like. After this, Alava was given to a Nobleman, called Count Vigi-la, or Vela. The Lordship of Castile was in the Possession of the Count D. James Porcellos; all this was in the first Year of the Reign of D. Alonso. The following Year began more hot, for Imundarus and Alcama, Moorish Generals, fate down before Leon, but the King obliged them to raise the Siege, with great saughter of their Men. To strengthen himself the more against the Infidels, he made a League with the French and Navarrois, and the more to bind this Alliance, Married a Lady of the Blood Royal of France, called then, Amelina, afterwards Da. Ximena. By her he had D. Garcia, D. Ordono, and D. Fruela, all three fuccesfively Kings, and D. Gonçalo, Archdeacon of Oviedo. The Broils among the Moors offered lion athe Christians a fair opportunity of carrying on fome Enterprize. The People of Toleton mong the provoked by the Cruelty of the Kings of Cordova, and relying on the strength of their City, Moore. Rebelled, and choic Mahomet Avenione for their King; but were soon subdued, and Avenione to the strength of their City, Moore the strength of their City, Moore the strength of their City, Moore the strength of the strength of their City, Moore the strength of the st lope, with his Brothers, fled to the Protection of King Alonfo, who received and entertained them favourably, believing they might be useful to him in his Wars against the Moors. Soon after, taking these along, and aided by French, Navarrois and Biscainers, he entred the Country of the Moors, Plundering and destroying all he met, and without doing any thing more confiderable, difinified his Army, rich with the Booty they had taken. In the following Vear, which was 874. the People of Toledo, as is supposed, to oblige their King, made an Inroad into the Lands of the Christians, as far as the River Duero; but the King unexpected-Great ly coming upon them, near a Town called Pulviraria, upon the River Urbicus, now Orbigo, slaughter killed 12000 of them, and foon after, destroyed an Army that followed the others from of Infl-Cordova, in such manner, that only 10 of them were found alive among the Dead. Almudar, Son of the King of Cordova, followed with the main Body of the Moorish Forces, but understanding the great saughter of his People, durst not advance to Sublancia, where the King was, and therefore marched back again by Night. A Treaty was now fet on foot, by means of Abubatis, who had been taken in Galicia, and was well affected towards the Christian, the conclusion was a Truce for three Years. This time being expired, the King broke for 3 into the Country of the Moors, and passing the River Tagus, advanced as far as Merida, and Years. thence returned loaden with Spoils, having met no opposition. Bernard del Carpio, is faid to have had a great share in all these Actions, and that as a Reward of his Services, he begged his Father's liberty, which the King refusing, he rose in Rebellion, and built the Caftle of Carpio, from which, he took Name. Besides, the Moors at his Instigation, infested the Lands of the Christians. After this, he delivered up his Castle upon Condition his Father should be released; but the King not performing, he fled to France and Navarre, and there dy'd in Banishment. All these Transactions have no good Authority to back them, and have much of Romance in them, therefore it is better be succinct in Relations of that nature. D. Fruela A Conthe King's Brother, on what account, is not known, conspired to kill him, but being disco, spiracy vered, was Condemned to lose both his Eyes, and live in perpetual Imprisonment, the same detected, punishment was inflicted on D. Nuno, D. Bermudo, and D. Odoario, all his Brothers, for and puconfipring with D. Fruela. This punishment being thought too Cruel, caused some new nibed. Broils. For D. Bermudo escaping out of Prison, took Aforga, and Fortified it, then coming to a Battle with the King, was overthrown, and fled to the Moors. This moved the King to make the greater havock on the Lands of the Infidels, particularly, he fo harraffed the Country of Toledo, that fome Years after, they were forced with great Sums of Money to purchase a Truce for three Years, to the great Honour of the Christians, and Disgrace of

About this time dy'd Athaulfus Bishop of Compostella and Sisenandus, a Person of great Piety The and Learning, succeeded him. In his time the Church of St. James was made an Archiepi- Church of scopal See: and the said Church then newly finish'd, Consecrated by certain Bishops that held S. Fames a Synod there. It was not lawful, without the confent of the Pope, to call a Council of made an Biftops, therefore Severus and Defiderius, were fent Embassadors to Rome, and obtain'd the fooplise. confent of Pope John the Eighth, and his Bull, Conflituting the Church of Oviedo a Metropolitan See. Together with the Kings Embassadors the Pope sent one called Reginald. There met at Composella 14 Bilnops, who Confecrated the Church of St. James the Apolle with great Solemnity, on the 7th of May in the Year 876. Eleven Months after this the same Bi-flops, by the King's Command, met at Oviedo, and decreed in pursuance of the Pope's Order, that that See for the future should be Archiepiscopal, and Ermenegildus was chosen for that ugnity.

For some Years the Moors were quiet, and nothing hapned worthy of memory. Only in for some Years 881. there were Earthquakes throughout all Spain, which destroy'd many Buildings. Great King Mahomes being at his Devotions, a flash of Lightning kill'd two that stood next to him fairth many the some statement of the some s whom the faid King repos'd fo much Confidence, that he entrusted them to breed his Son D. Ordono, was reconcil'd to the King of Cordova, and gathering Forces broke into the Lands of the Christians, doing great harm, till King Alonfo met, and worsted him at Cillorico; then drove him from Passervo, whence passing by Leon, and through Portugal; he return'd to Cordova. Next Winter Abdalla overthrew the two Zimaels, his Brother and Uncle, and fent them in Fetters to the Calle of Recaria. This action brought upon him the Forces of both the Kings, as well of the Christians as Moors, though at the same he endeavour'd to excuse himselft. both. D. Vela, and D. James, the two Earls of Bison and Cassile, also ented into a League against him, as the common Enemy. Almudar, Son to the King of Cordova, and Abubalis were sent to Besiege Zaragosa, but on o effect, by reason it was strong, and well prevised with necessaries. In their return they made an Inroad into the Territories of Bison and Cassile; but were by the Earls drove out again. King Alonso waited for them at Sublancia, which they understanding return'd home, only destroying by the way the Fannous Monnstery of Sabagun. Nevertheles, Abubalis sent undershand to treat of Peace, and Delicidius was sent by the King on the same frore to Cordova, about the end of the Year 883. In the mean while a great Fleet of Moors was gather'd at Sevii, to destroy the Coast of Galicia, the greatest part whereof peristid by Storms. A Truce was concluded with the Moors by Dutridius for Six Years. Presently after follow'd the Death of Mabomes in the Year 886. He lett 30 Sons, and 20 Daughters.

Chap. IX.

CHAP. IX.

The Death of King Alonso the Great. The Reigns of D. Garcia, and D. Ordonno, the second of Oviedo, and of Almundar, Abdalla, and Abderhaman of Cordova.

Lmundar, the Son of Mahomet, succeeded his Father. He was generous and mild, and A Limindar, the Son of Mahomer, increased in Facility an imposition of the tenths, the People of Cordova uted to pay. They forgetting his favour Mutiny'd, and he being about to inppress them, dy'd before he had Reign'd full two Years, leaving behind him Six Sons, and Seven Daughters. Nevertheles Abdalla his Brother was chosen Ring by the Souldiers in the Year 888, and Reign'd 2.4 Years. The beginning of his Reign was full of trouble, by reason that Homar, a turbulent Moor, revolted, and drew to his Party Lisbon, Asiapa, Sevil, and other Towns. Yet this was soon over, for Homar, of his own accord, submitted, and was reconcil'd to the King. This Ease in obtaining Pardon encourag'd him to rebel again, and the Moors being divided into Factions, betwixt the Families of the Humeyas and Alapecius, there never wanted some to side with any turbulent Spirit. Abdalla pursu'd Homar so close he was forc'd to fly to the Christians, and there receiv'd Baptism; tho' not with a good intention as Bifest Re afterwards appear'd. The Bifestiners, under the Conduct of Zuria, thought to be of the bels. Blood Royal of Scotland, and Son-in-law of Zenore, before-mention'd, revolted from King Blood Royal of Scotland, and Son-In-law of Lenove, Defore-mention a, revolted from Aling Alonfo. D. Ordovo, sent by his Father to reduce them, was overcome in Battle, whereupon Levia was declar'd Lord of Bifcay. This Battle was fought hear a place then call'd Padura, but afterwards Ariogorriaga, which in the Language of Bifcay fignifies Bloody Stone. The natural fittength of that Country hindred the King from taking Revenge, belides his great Age, which made him now study to govern inteace; building Churches, Forts and Cities, for the fatety and conveniency of his Subjects. At the beginning of his Reign he rebuilt/Subjancia and Cea, and conveniency of his Subjects. near Leon, and the Castle Guazon, on the Sea Coast, betwixt Ovicelo and Gipm. Afterwards the Cities Porto, Visco, Chaves, Oca, and Zamora: To his Son D. Garcia he recommended the Building of Toro. He took from the Moors Combra, Simancas, Duerias, and all the Territory of Campos. Besides, he rebuilt the Monathery of Sahagun, destroy'd by the Moors, Company of Campos. publick Works. one of the greatest in all Spain. His Revenues were too small for these mighty Expences, he was therefore obliged to raife new Taxes, at which the Subjects being difgufted, the Queen perfuaded her Son, D. Garcia, to lay hold of that opportunity, and Rebel against his The King'son Father. D. Alonfo, tho' Old and Decayd, prefently repaired to Zamora, took his Son, and Rebels.

Rebels. The Confined in the Castle Guazon. This did not put an end to the Troubles, for Nuno Hernandez, Earl of Castle, a Powerful Man, and Father-in-law to D. Garcia, made War upon the King, which lafted two Years, at the end of which, the Rebels prevailed and the King weary of trouble, and coveting repose, resigned the Crown to his Son D. Garcia, the Ring weary of trouble, and coveting repore, refigned the Crown to his Son D. Garcia, figned to his other Son D. Ordono, gave the Lordhip of Galicia, in the Year 910. The following Grown910.
HisDeath Country of the Moors, with the content of his Son, dy'd at Zamora. His Body, and that of his Queen, were firl Buried at Aflorga, and thence Translated to Oviedo. At the same dy'd at Cordova, Abdalla, King of the Moors, aged 72 Years, leaving 12 Sons and 13 Dughters. Abdarbaman, the Grandfon of Abdalla, and Son of Mahomet, inceceded his Deceased. At his accelsion to the Crown he was 23 Years of Age, and enjoy'd it 50 Years. To his Name was added the Title of Almanzor Ledin Alla, that is, Defender of the Law of Abdarbaman may be countried to the Crown of the Son of the Crown of the Crown of the Crown he was 23 Years of Age, and enjoy'd it 50 Years. God; as also that of Miramamolin, or Prince of those that believe. Abderhaman may be counted among the greatest of the Moorifb Kings. He spent all his Life in reconciling the differences betwist his People, adminitred Justice imperially, built a Calle near Cordova, took Centain Africa, and Beautified many Cities of his Kingdom.

Power ill gotten, for the most part is not lasting. So D. Garcia enjoyed the Kingdom. he took by Force from his Father only Three Years. During that time, he made War upon the Moors, wasted their Country, plundred their Towns, overthrew and took Existoner Ayola, a Noble Moor, that offered to oppose him, yet through the neglect of his Keepa, he made his escape, near to a Town called Tremulo. The King dy'd at Zamora, in the Year 913.

He left no Children, whereupon D. Ordono his Brother succeeded him, and had been reckon- King or ed a good Prince, had he not imbrued his Hands in the Blood of the Earls of Cafite. His Reign a mo fuclafted 9 Years and a half. At first to gain reputation and humble the Moors, he broke 11:0 cccds his the Kingdom of Toledo, and laid Siege to Talavera, a pleasant and strong City. An Army his browness can be the Kingdom City and Laid Siege to Talavera, a pleasant and strong City. An Army his browness can be the Kingdom City and Laid Siege to Talavera, a pleasant and strong City. was fent by the King of Cordova, to relieve the Place, but it was defeated, the Town taken, plundred and burnt, because it could not be maintained, being encompassed on all sides with Garrisons of the Moors. The Governour and many more were taken, and the Christian Army returned home Victorious, and loaded with spoils. The King of Cordova fearing this beginning might be an Introduction to worse Consequences, sent to desire Assistance of the King of Mauritania, who fent him a confiderable Body of Men, under the Command of his General Almotaraf. To these was joyned the Army of the Moors in Spain, Commanded by Avolalpaz, and thus they overran the Lands of the Christians, as far as the River Duero. Here A great the King met and gave them Battle, near to the Town of Santiflevan de Gormaz, which was Victory very Bloody, and for a long time the event feemed dubious, till the two Moorish Generals, obtained and a great number of their Men being killed, the rest fled. That the advantage of this by Christie witcory might be the greater, they wasted all the Country of Lustiania, as far as Guadiana, but ansa above all the Territories of Merida and Badajos, fuffered. This struck such a Terror into those People, that they bought a Peace. It happened in the fifth Year of D. Ordoño, which was of Christ 918. After these great exploits, the King returning was received in manner of Trisumph into the City Lean, which he designed for the Seat of the Kings, and therefore enlarged and beautified it, removing the Cathedral, which before was without the Walls, to his own Palace, formerly built with much Magnificence by the Moors for Baths. To add to the honour of the new Church, he caused himself to be Crowned in it by the Bishop, a thing not used before, and thus those Kings before called of Oviedo, came afterwards to be called of Leon. From henceforward the City Oviedo fell fo much to decay, that it not only loft the Title of an Archbishoprick, but in our days it has no Vote in the States General or Parliament. Mean while Abderhaman Almanzor King of Cordova, meditating revenge for the losses sustained, through Lustiania broke into Galicia, and came as far as a Town called Romdonia, Sampyrus names it Mindonia. There the Armies of Christians and Moors met, and A Battle fought refolutely with great loss on both fides, till Night parted them, without any visible undecided. dels out of Galicia, they, for that they had fustained the Fight till Day, left them. Not long after the King of Cordova; having received supplies from Africk, wasted the Lands of Nawarre and Bifeay. The King of Leon, marched to the Affiltance of D. Sancho Abarca King of Mayarre. They came to a Battle in the Valley Juncaria, now Junquera, in the Year 921. It was disperately fought on both sides, yet the Moors got the Day, for the Count of Aragon The Christian like the count of Aragon The was killed, two Bishops Dulcidius of Salamanca, and Hermogius of Tuy taken Prisoners, and flians dethat part of Biscay called Alava, was posses'd by the Moors. The ransom of the Bishops being agreed upon, they were set at Liberty, giving Hostages for the payment. Pelayus a Beautiful Youth, and Nephew to Hermogius was left for him. His Beauty and Modesty were equal, for the barbarous King lufting after him used all possible means to bring him to consent to his beaftly Appetite, first by kindness, and then by force, at which the Youth being provoked, Rruck him on the Face. Lust turning into rage upon this disappointment, the Youth was torn t. Pieces, and cast into the River Guadalquivir, in the Year 925. In the Reign of D. Ordano came to Spain, a Priest called Zanelus, fent by Pope John the 10th as his Nuncio (some Zanelusthe say he was a Cardinal) to enquire into matters of Religion, and particularly the Ceremonies Pope SNIsministration. of the Mais, the Roman being perfused that the Divine Office, according to the Goldin nitoin spain Form, was Erroneous and that falle Doctrines were taught. Zanelus found all things conformable to the Touch and t mable to the Truth, only fome small difference in the Ceremony, not the Essential part of the Mass, which he reported to the Pope in a great Congregation of Prelates, who all gave Thanks to Almighty God. To return to the King, the Fortune of War, feemed wholly changed after the Battle of Junquera. Nevertheless the two Kings of Leon and Navarre, made an incursion into the Country of the Moors, and wasted the Territory of Rioja, after which D. Ordono returned to Zamora. In the midft of this joy dy'd the Queen Munina Elqira, a Lady of great worth, and left these Sons, D. Sanobo, D. Alonso, D. Ramiro, and D. Gracia, and one Daughter D. Ximena. After her Death, the King Marryed the Lady Angonta, a Woman of high Birth in Galicia, and in a little time put her away wrongfully, as appeared afterwards. Instead of her, he took Santiva Daughter of D. Garci Linguez, King of Nauarre, with the confent of King Sancho her Brother. The two Kings joyning their Forces, broke into Rioja again, where they took Najara, and another Town called Vicaria. Thus far there appears by his Grant still extant, Bernard, Earl of Barcelona, being accused of Treason, for having to do with the Empress, Wife to Ludovicus Pius, for shame of this Slander, re-was more to praise in King Ordono, than to discommend, the untimely Death he brought the Earls of Cashie to, darkened all his Glory. But before we enter upon the Relation of that Affair, I will give a short Account of the rise and increase of some of the Chief Sovereignties of Spain.

History of S P A I N.

The Eighth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The Original of the Kingdoms of Navarre, and Aragon, and of the Earls of Barcelona, with their Succession and Actions, down to the time of King Ordonno the Second of Leon.

The Orifeveral

Fter that Memorable difafter to Spain, which the greatest part of it under the Subjection of the Moors out of the ruins of the Gothib Empire were raifed feveral Sovereignties, at first small and inconsiderable, yet such as in time recovered the Liberty of the Country, and re-established the Common-wealth. To Treat of them all would be endless, yet it is necessary to give an Account of the Original of the Chief, whofe Affairs are often intermixed with those of the Kings of Leon, such are the Principallwhole Affairs are often intermixed with those of the Kings of Leon, such are the Principalities of Navarre, Aragon, Barcelona, and Cafile. Part of the Spaniard: that escaped the general ruin of their Country, retired to Affarias, whence the Kingdom of Leon, hitherto spoken of, had its beginning. Another parcel that themselves up in the Pyrenean Mountains, along of, hed its beginning. Another parcel that themselves up in the Pyrenean Mountains, along the Borders of Bisery and Navarre, about those parts now called Sobarare, Orgel, and Cerdation. These not content with prefetring their own Liberty, attempted to relieve the rest of Spain. The motive that induced them at sirst to attenuar so great an Action was but Great Spain. The motive that induced them at first to attempt so great an Action, was but sfittall. A certain Religious Hermit, called John, on Mount Ouela, built a small Chappel of the Invocation of St. John the Baptift. The fame of his Sankity brought him Four Companions, and cation of St. John the Baptilt. The fame of his Sandwitz brought him root Companions, and many came dayly to vifit him. He dying, all the Inhabitans far add near came to his Function, in great Numbers, and among them 600 of the chief of the People. The Solitarines of the place, gave them opportunity to confult how to flake off the Yoke of the Moors, the natural the place, gave them opportunity to confult how to lhake oit the Yoke of the Moora, the natural fitrength of the Country encouraged them, and they doubted not of affiliance from France, besides, the example of the Afturians egged them on. After a long Consultation it was rebesides, the example of the Afturians egged them on. After a long Consultation it was reboiled to choose a Head, and by consent of all, the choice fell upon Garci Ximenex, a Man of a Noble Spanish Family. Lord of Amesseus and Abersusa. His Wife was D. Imiga, of no less Noble descent. Authors do not agree about the Title given the new King, or time of his E-Noble descent. Authors do not agree about the Title given the new King, or time of his E-Noble descent and among them such the Capital of Sobraries. The Hermits Chapmel enlarged. he lection, his Arms were only a red Shield without any bearing, he took some Towns from the Moors, and among them Infa the Capital of Sobravoe. The Hermits Chappel enlarged, became a Royal Structure, and the Burial place of Kings.

His Son Garci Inigue. Succeeded him, a Prince very Fortunate, for by him Navarre, that hay in dispute betwist the French and Moors was studded, and left in perpetual Posicilion to his Heirs, and he carryed his Victorious Arms, as far as that part of BigGay called Alava. In this King's time, were erected the Earldoms of Aragon and Barcelona. That of Aragon In this King's time, were erected the Earldoms of Aragon and Barcelona. in this King's time, were erected the Earldoms of Aragon and Barcelona. I hat of Aragon thus. Aznar, Son of Eudo the Great, coming to that part of the Country, through which thus. Aznar, Son of Eudo the Great, coming to that part of the Country, through which me the Rivers Aragon, or Aragon, and having gained fome Towns from the Moors, by content of King Gaeia called himself Earl of Aragon, and was then Subject to the Kings of Navare, afterwards independent, as shall appear in its Place. This first Early Son was also called Aznar, his Grandson Gallodo, of whom there is nothing Memorable. After Gawas also Called Aznar, his Grandson Gallodo, of whom there is nothing Memorable. was and cancel Annua, in Grandford Gunnau, or whom the Cost medium control of his Father Charlemagne, lindo succeeded Ximeno Aznar. Ludovicus Pius, during the Life of his Father Charlemagne, took Bercelond, and left one Bernard a Frenchman to govern there, in the Year 801. whence fprang the Earls of Barcelona. In the following year dyed Garci Iniquez. King of Navarre. His Successor was his Son Fortun Garcia, of whose exploits the Historians of Navarre, relate things incredible. It is not doubted, he was in the Famous Battle of Roncefvallet, before fpoken of, in which Ximeno Arnar Earl of Aragon was flain, whose Sitter Tenda was Married to King Fortion. Ximeno Aznar's Successor, was his Unkle Ximeno Garcia, or Garces. King Fortun dyed in the Year 815. Sancho Garcia his Son fucceeded him. By this King the People

ty. All their aim was to tye up the King's hands, and to this effect, they Instituted a Magi- Innigo Arifixate in the nature of the Roman Tribunes, commonly called The Juliac of Arragon, Many of these states of the Arragon, Many of these states of the states o F. ivileges, and others granted by K. Alonfo III. were Repealed by the States-General or Parilla-King of ment, in the Reign of D. Peter, the last of Largon. All things being thus settled, prigoSanchez, Earl On Bufere in Aquitain, for his swiftness Sirnamed, Arista, was chosen King, by the One of Society of the State of Society of Pamplona to maintain the Laws, the Power of Government was put into his Hands. All these, and many other, the Laws, the Power of Government was put into in transact. An intert, and many other, the like Relations, are by many efteemed Fabulous, and they believe that King Arifa faceeded his Father in the Throne. Certain it is, that Dingo Arifa about this time, Reign'd near the Pyreneam Mountains, and was Married to D. Dinga, Daughter to the Earl Gonzalo, of the Blood Royal of Oviedo. He also Married Teuda, the Daughter of Zenon, Lord of Bicay, and had only one Son, (not known by which of the two) called Garci Iniguez, who inherited the Kingdom. The Monastery of S. Salvador de Leite feated among the Pyrenean Mountains, and remarkable for the beauty of its Structure, and greatness of Revenue, is supposed to have been Founded by King Aisla. This Prince extended the Bounds of his Kingdom, adding to what he had before, the Plains of Navarre: whereas the former Kings had contented themselves to live within the Mountains. Pamplona and Alava, fallen again into the hands of the Moors, were by him recovered; whereupon, he ftiled himself King of Pamplona, as appears by Grants of those Kings. At the same time, Earldom Wifredus the Son of the other Wifredus; obtained of the Emperor Charles the Gross, the Earl of Barcelodom of Rarcelona Hereditary, only referving the Right of Appeals to be made to the Emperary, only referving the Right of Appeals to be made to the Emperary; this was in the Year 884. Afterwards, on account of Wifredus's tender Age, by order of the Emperor Lewis II. Solomon, Count of Cerdania, Governed that Principality the finace of 19 Years, Wiftedus, among other Sons, left Myrue Earl of Barcelona, and Seniofredus Earl of Urgel, aftertheir Father's decease. Near the same time dy'd Garcia Aznar, Earl of An agon, and his Son Ximeno Garcia succeeded him. It is not to be found in what Year King Arifia dy'd, the most probable Opinion is, it was about the Year 888. Garci Ximenes, his Son, succeeded him at the age of 17, but was not inferior, either for warlike Exploits, or civil Government to any of his Predecessors. For being come to riper Years, he gained much Reputation by many Victories he obtained, too tedious to be here inserted. His Wife's name was D. Trraça, Sifter to Fortun Ximonez, Earl of Aragon, or as some will have it, his Kinswoman, Grandchild of Galindo, and Daughter of Endregotus, from whom, his then is knii woman, Grandemid of Gumoo, and Daughers of Long words, 1011 whom, his Uncle Ximeno Garcia Ulirped the Earldom of Magon. This King had two Sons, Fortus and Sancho Abarca, and a Daughter called Sandiva, Married to D. Ordoro, King of Leon, when he was Old, and had had two Wives, as has been faid before. He was killed by the Moors, in a Battle he fought with them in the Valley of Ayuar, the Archbishop D. Roderick calls it Larumbe, for he often made Inroads into the Country of the Moors, being desirous to enlarge his Kingdom, and Extirpate all the Race of the Moors in Spain. His Death was in the Year 905. as appears by the Chronicon Alveldehile. His two Sons fucceeded him, first Fortus, and then Sancho, in whole time, as is before related, the Christians lost the great Battle of Juniura The Monastery of S. Salvador de Leite, pretends the Body of King Garci Iniquez lies there, that of S. John de la Peña contradicts it; because there is to be seen there, among the Tombs of the Kings one with the Name of King Garci Iniguez upon it. These Disputes are not to be decided, but I suppose, the reason of them is, that many Tombs were creted to the memory of Kings in several places, by those that had received Favours from them, tho they had not their Bodies, as is used even in our times. Thus, much at present of the Original of the Kingdom of Navarre, and Earldoms of Arragon, and Barcelona may suffice.

turned to Spain, where he had many Friends, and dy'd in the Year 339. After his Death, Ludovicus Pius bestowed that Earldom on Wifridus, for it was not Hereditary, but the free Gitt of the Emperor, during pleasure. Garcia Annar, Son of Ximeno Aznar, was now Earl of Arragon. At the same time, D. Sancho Garcia insested the People of Navarre beyond the Pyreneam Hills, that were finbjed to the French, and never defifted till they fwore to maintain perpetual Amity, with the Kings of Sobrarve. This King is faid to have been flain in the War against that Muza, who, as was faid, Rebelled against the King of Cordova, that is about the Year 853. Next to this King, a certain Author, names Ximeno Garcia, no other History makes mention of him; but here the Royal Line expired, whereupon, there enfued an Interregnum for four Years. During which time, the Hillorians of Navarre say, they Confulted the Pope, the French, and the Lombards, by whose advice, they took the best of the Laws of those Nations, (called The Charter of Sobrarve) towards preserving their Liber-

GHAP.

120

CHAP. II.

Of the Earls of Castile. The Reign of D. Fruela the Second, King of Leon.

Fictions concerning the Kings of Navarre. The Reign of their King D. Sancho Abarca.

M Oft part of that Province, which we call Old Caffile, the Romans named the Vaces, it is divided from Leon by the Rivers Carrion, Pisuerga, Heva and Regamon; on the o-LY 1. Is divided from Lean by the Kivers Larron, Pijuerga, Ireva and Regamon; on the other lide it borders on Aflurias, Bifan and Rioja, on the South, its Bounds are the Mountain of Segonia and Avila, which, about the fame time we are fpeaking of, were the limits of the Dominions of the Moors and Christians. The Country is plentiful of Corn and Wine, but fearce of Oil, and better Watered than other parts of Spain. In this Province, tho at first they did not possess it all, some powerful Men began to defend themselves against the Moors, and enlarge their Territories. They took the Stile of Counts or Earls, by confidence of the Kings of Ovideo, whom they were obliged to a still in their Wars, and to come when of the Kings of Oviedo, whom they were obliged to affift in their Wars, and to come, when called to their General-Assemblies, or Parliaments. In former times, as we have before more particularly related, Counts or Earls were only Governours of Provinces for a time, afterparticularly related, Counts or Earls were only Governous of Florings of a time, alterwards they were made fo for Life, and at laft, the Title hecame Hereditary. Yet even this Day, many Dukes, Marquelles and Earls in Spain, after the Death of their Fathers, do not take upon them the Title till they have obtained the King's leave. It is not known for not take upon them the Title till they have obtained the King's leave. It is not known for what term the first Earls of Casile enjoyed that Honour: but it may be imagined, they had the same beginning as all others in Christendom. The first of these Counts, is D. Roderick, who lived in the time of King Alonso the Chast. Next to him, the best Authors place D. James Porcellos, his Son, as the Chronicon Alveldense has it. This Earl lived in the time of Alonso the Great, King of Ovited. He Married his Daughter Salla Bella, to Nuon Belebides, a German, that came in Pilgrimage to S. James. This Gentleman being thus Allied to D. James, together with him, built the City Burgos, that the People, who before, lived dispersed in Villages, might form one Body of a City, and it took the Name from Burg, the German word for a Town. Besides D. James, there were at the same time other Earls of Casile, for the Province was divided, as were Ferdinand Ansales Almondar, and his Son D. James. But the greatest of them all, was Nuives, Bernandez, who had for his Son-in-law, D. Garcia, Brother to D. Ordoño II. King of Leon, afterwards King hinties! Upon this account, and became he had forced King Alonso the Great to refign the Kingdom, he was grown more insolent than D. Ordoño cared to bear; besides, many underhand, blew the count, and because he had forced King Alonjo the Great to rengin the Kingdom, he was grown more infolent than D. Ordono cared to bear; belides, many underhand, blew the Coals they faw begin to take Fire. The King thus incenfed, fent for the Earls to Court, upon pretence of Confulting with them about most important Affairs. The place appointed for the meeting, was a Town called Regular, upon the mid-way, on the Borders of Cafile and Leon. The Earls came without any Guard, and were Apprehended by the King's Order, and Leon. The Earl's Gauce without any Guard, and were applications by the King Sorder, and fent Prifoners to Leon. Soon after, they were also put to Death, to the great Grief of the People of Cashie, who had been concerned at their Imprifonment. King Ordono was making all necessary Preparations for War, as fearing the Revolt of that Province, when Death took him off. He dy'd at Zamora, in the Year 923, and was buryed at Leon, in the Church of our blessed Lady, which he had caused to be Confecrated. His Funeral was performed with great Solenshity. Naivo Belbides, by his Wife Sulla Bella, had two Sons, Naivo Belbides, by the Wife Sulla Bella, had two S Rasura, and Gustio Gonzalez. Nuno Rasura was Grandsather to the Earl Fernan Gonzalez. was Granulating to the Earl Fernan Containes, was Granulating to the Earl Fernan Containes, whom, our Hiltorians extol, and raife to the Skies for his great Exploits. The Infance or Princes of Lara, were Grandsons to Gustio. Thus the Blood of D. James Porcellos mixed with the Royal Family, is derived to many Noble Houses, in Spain and Abroad, and its Succession has not fail'd even to our Days.

D. Fruela II. Succeeded his Brother D. Ordono in the Throne of Leon, not by Right, but D. Freeta II. Succeeded his brother ID. Oracio in the Intone of Leon, not by Right, but force. Such as the beginning was the end, and his Power lafted not long; for he Reign'd force. Such as the beginning was the end, and his Power lafted not long; for he Reign'd force in the such as the such and D. Ramiro; and out of Wedlock, D. Fruela, Father of D. Pelayus, called the Deacon. To whom was afterwards Marry'd Da. Aldonea, or Alfonfae Grandchild to King Bermudo, Sirnamed the Gouty. D. Fruela was buryed in Leon; his Fame and Memory are Itained, not fo much for his dying of the Leprofic, as for his Cowardize, and the Rebellion that in his time the Earls killed by D. Ordon's Command, this diffusit was heightned by forcing them to come to Leon, to all Law Suits, and the Parliament. They had no fair opportunity of Revolting before, and therefore did it in the time of D. Fruela. For their Governors they chose two Nobles, with only the Title of Judges. The first named, was Nuno Rajura, and Lain Calvo, Men in great Power at that time. Lain was the youngest, and Married to Nund Bella, his Colleague's Daughter. To him for his Valour, was given the charge of Martial

Affairs. Nuño Rasara, being a Person of known Prudence and Experience, was to take care of the Civil Government, and Admistration of Justice, which he commonly performed at Burgor, and sometimes in other parts of the Province. Two Leagues from Medina de Pomar. is a Town called Bijudico, and in it an ancient Judgment Seat, on which, the People there have a Tradition their two Indges used to sit and hear Causes. They were Governed by the ancient Laws of Cafile, which continued till King Alonfo the Wife abrogated them, and Inflituted those called Las Partidas. It is not known how long these two Judges lived, or what Acts they performed. From them descended very notable and brave Men, for Lain Calvo was 5th Grandfather to the famous Cid Ruy Diaz. Gonzalo Nuno, was Son to Nuno Rasura, and held the same Employ with no-less Honour. His Wife was Da. Ximena, Daughter to the Earl Nuño Fernandez, who was put to Death among the other Earls of Cafille, by Kind Ordoño. Of her was born the Earl Fernan Gonzalez, a Person inserior to none of the ancient Heroes, for Virtue, Valour and Constancy; we shall speak of him in its proper place. Let us return to the Kings.

The History of SPAIN.

It is most certain, that the Histories of Navarre, are full of Fables, and Lies, insomuch Of the It is most certain, that the Histories of Navarre, are full of Fables, and Lies; informed of the that they look more like Romances invented to divert idle Persons, than true Relations, and King of Records of Antiquity. This appears plainly throughout all Ages, but particularly in this we Fistions now write of. They say that King Garci Livigutz, being slain in a Battle by the Moors, his concern, wife Da. Orraca, then great with Child, was also killed, that D. Sanebo de Guevara, passing schema by where she lay, saw the Child put out its Arm at one of the Wounds, the Mother had received, and therefore ripping her open, took out the Insant, and bred him privately, till he came to Age. That after an Interregnum of 10 Years, this Child was brought to the Parliament, and being there made known, was Proclaimed Klug. It is needles to show how incongruous and ridiculous the story is, the weakness of the shelion is too obvious. The Records of the Monastery of S. Salvador de Leyte, tell us, that Fortus the clder Brother of D. Saneba. Reigned for some time. and then being weary of the World, took the Religious Hacords of the Monattery of S. Daiveasor de Leyte, tell us, that Fortun the elder Brother of D. Sancho, Reigned for some time, and then being weary of the World, took the Religious Habit in that Convent. This we are affured of, that D. Sancho, by his Wife Tenda, had four Uncersons, Garci Sanchez, Rämiro, Gonzalo, and Ferdinand, and Five Daughters, Orraca, Treffa, taintendary, Sancha, and Binabe. The last of these, some Authors fay, was Marryed to D. Nuno concerning the Control of Biscap, but no Lord of that name can be found to have been about that time. This Prince Control of Biscap, but no Lord of that name (a) he had but for his cancel in the Control of the was Fortunate, not only for the many Children he had, but for his Success in War. By his abridged. Valour, all that had been lost in Sobrarve and Ribagorza, was recovered from the Moors, and not content with that, he added Biscay to his Dominions, and all the Country along the River Duero, till the Fountains thereof, and the Mountain Doca, and as far as Tudela and Huesta. Nay, that he came as far as Zaragora, appears by a Castle seated near that City called of Sancho Abarca. Besides he passed the Pyrenean Mountains, and subdued that of part Navarre lying on the other fide those Hills. Whilst he was busie in this War, the Moors thinking he lying on the other fide those Hills. Whill he was busic in this War, the Moors thinking he could not past the Mounts in Winter, laid Siege to Pamplona. D. Sambo having notice of it, King Sam, furnished all his Army with Buskins, to endure the cold, and this is the true reason he was to Marca called Moarca, signifying a Buskin. It was easie for him that had Conquered Nature, to overwhy so come his Ememies, they were Forced to raise their Siege. Much mention is made in these called. Wars, of one Contuilo, an Officer of great Courage and Conduct. D. Sambo by these actions had gained Immortal Glory, but he cast a blemish upon it, by making War against Cashile, which besides, the difference turned to his loss, as will appear hereafter.

CHAP. III.

The Reigns of Alonfo the Fourth, and Ramiro the Second, Kings of Leon. Sancho Abarca King of Navarre flain by Ferman Goncalez Earl of Castile. Several defeats of the Moors. A great Eclypfe.

Alonfo the Fourth, called the Monk, by the Death of D. Fruela, recovered the Monk the Kingdom, which had been wrongfully taken from him in the Year 924. John Arch King of bishop of Toledo dying, the Moors would not suffer any to be chosen in his place, therefore Leon. the Clergy to prevent all disputes, gave the Supreme Authority to the Curater of St. 1941 and obeyed him as Bishop, which Cultom was observed till Toledo was regained by the Christians. At this same time the frame of Fernan Gonzalez, Earl of Cashile, spread through all Gonzalez Spain. Whether he had the Title of Earl from the King of Leon, ortook it by constant of the Barl of People is not known. The Virtues that made him Famous, were Justice, Meckness, Zeal of Religion, and his great Experience in Warlike Asfairs. By which means, he not only Described his course the results of the King of Leon, to the farther lide fended his own Territories, but reduced those of the Kingdom of Leon, to the farther side of the River Pifuerga. From the Moors he took feveral Towns, and curbed the infolency of the Navarrois killing their King D. Saneho Abarca. The People of Navarre did much harm on the Frontiers of Cashile, and not content with that, assented the Embassadors, sent to demand satisfaction, so the matter came to be decided by Arms. The Earl broke into the Country of Navarre, driving all before him, the Enemies Army met him near a Town called Gollanda. Great was the Slaughter on both fides, before it could be decided who had > na and August. 931. King, Alouis becomes a Monk, and leaves a Crown to his Bro-

122 He over-

Moors

Barcelona.

the better, till in the heat of the Action, the Generals Challenged one another. They met fo Violently with their Lances, that both fell off their Horses, the King mortally Wounded, throws and tall the first that the first through of Newson in with fresh supplies to assist the Navarrois, who thereupon renewed the Fight, but with the fame fuccels; for the two Earls meeting, he of Touloufe was killed, and the Navarrois totally defeated. The Bodies of the King and Earl were carryed home, and honourably buryed. There is a dispute betwirt the Monasteries of S. Salvador de Leyte, and S. John de la Pena, There is a dippute betwire the monatteries of 5. Salvanaor de Leyie, and 5. Join de la fena, both preceding they have the Kings Body. He dyed about the beginning of the Reign of About the Great, in the Year of our Lord 226 and the 26 of his Reign. His Son Garci Sandez faceceded him, and took the Name of King of Pamplona and Najara. He Reigned Forty Years, his Wife's Name was Da. Terefa. Thus much of Navarre. D. Alonfo King of Leon, was more like his Predecessor, D. Fruela, than to his own Father. We have no account of any Vertue he was endued with, of any Action he perform'd, or Victory he gain'd. For this cause he became so odious to his People, that in the Year931, having Reigned fix and a half, he fent for his Brother D. Ramiro, and refigned the Scepter to him, refolving to retire, and become a Monk. . He took the Habit in the Monastery of Sabagun, upon the River Cea, without any regard to his Reputation, or Provision made for his Son D. Ordono, gotupon his Wife Da. Orraca Ximenez, Daughter to D. Sancho Abarca, King of Navarre, whom he left in his Infancy exposed to all Misfortunes. Da. Terefa, Sifter to Queen Cirraca, was Married to the new King D. Ramiro, by her he had D. Bermudo, D. Or-dono, D. Santho and Da. Elvira. D. Ramiro being feated on the Throne, foon apply'd himfelf to renew the War upon the Moors; but the Inconstancy of D. Alonso put a stop to his good Deligns ; for the same Inconstancy that led him to take up that course of Life, made him quit it, and call himself King again. D. Ramiro to prevent the ill Consequences that might follow, immediately repaired to Leon, where his Brother then was, and obliged him, prefiled with Famine; and want of all Necessaries to Surrender, and kept him Prisoner in that Rebillion City. The Sons of D. Fruela were in Arms at that time in Affurias, which obliged D. Rain Alluriu. miro to repair thither. D. Fruela's Sons pretended to be offended because they had not been called toParliament when D. Alonfo religned the Crown; the People revolted because he had done fo, and choic those Sons of D. Fruela to head them. Yet understanding their danger, they for to offer all submission, provided, he would come without an Army, which he looking upon as an insolence that they should prescribe Rules to their Sovereign, entred with a powerful Army, and vanquished his Enemies. The Multitude was pardoned, only the Heads punished. D. Fruela's Sons, as soon as taken, had their Eyes put out, the same was done to D. Alonfo the King's Brother. Not far from the City Leon, is the Monastery of St. Julian. there they were all kept as long asthey liv'd, and bury'd when dead, as was Da. Urraca, the Wife of D. Alonso. These troubles being thus over, the King bent his Force against the Makid and Moors, and entring the Kingdom of Toledo, took the great Town of Madrid, plundred and taken and Moors, and then threw down the Walls. At the fame time, the Moors defirous of Revenge, ruind. breke into the Country of the Christians, and first entred into Castile. The Earl being weakned by the late War of Navarre, fent a submissive Embassy to D. Ramiro, begging his Affiltance, and excusing himself for what was past. It was salie to appease the King in that time of danger, therefore he marched and joyned the Earl. Near Ofma they came to a Battle, many of the Moors were kill'd, the reft put to flight; and the Christian Army returned home loaded with precious Spois. From this time, some are of Opinion, the Earls of Cafile became again Feudataries to the Kings of Leon; for it is thought D. Ramiro would not have pardoned pall injuries upon other terms. D. Ramino ardently defining to extinate the Moors, marched towards Zaragora. Abshaya held that City of Abderbaman, King of Cordova. With the King went the Earl Fernan Gonzalez. The Moor finding himself unable to oppose so great a Power, submitted himself to the King, with a promise of Tribute. No Faith is observed by Moors longer than they are forc'd, so this Insidel, as soon as our Army was departed, joyning with Abderhaman, broke into the Christian Borders, and advanced as far as Simaneas. . The King marched towards the Enemy, and gave them Battle, which was one of the bloodieft of those days, for 30000 Moors were kill'd, others say 60000. Fer-Moor kile and Gonzalez, who had not been in the Fight, falling upon those that fled, made no less less in all laughter, as appears by an ancient Grant in the Monastery of St. Millan de la Cogulla, in the Mountains of Oca, in which all the Neighbourhood are commanded to supply that Monastery with all Necessaries, as the Earl had vowed when he went to this War. All the Army was persuaded that two Angels on white Horses sought at the head of them, and obtained this Victory. The chief Aligani, who is like a Bilinop among the Moort, was taken, and thus the Province was deliver'd from the terror they had conceiv'd, on account of those mighty Preparations. In the Year 934, which was the same in which this Battle was fought, on the 19th of 3th, three hap ned fo great an Eclypte of the Sun, that for the space of an hour the day was turned into perfect darkness. Again on the 15th of Ottober, the light of the Sun became yellow, a great opening appear din the Sky, wonderful Comets were seen towards the South, and all the Fruits of the Earth were blasted; besides other Tokens of God's Wrath. These Prodigies perplexed the Poople, but after the Battle, it was supposed, they threatned the Insidels. About this time dyed Miron, Earl of Barcelona, leaving 3 Sons under Age.

Seniofredus who succeeded him, Oliva Sirnamed Cabreta, who was Lord of Bafalu and Cerdania, and Miron, afterwards Bishop, and Earl of Girona. By reason of the Young Princes infancy, the Government was long in the hands of his Unkle Seniofredus, Earl of Orgel, which was a step for his Heirs to possess themselves of that Principality. Whilst this Seniofredus governed. a Synod of Bishops was held at a Town called Fuentecubierta in the Territory of Narhonne. Senio fredus, Earl of Barcelona, dying without Iffue, tho' Marryed to Mary, the Daughter of King Sancho Abarca, Borello, Earl of Orgel, Son to the other Seniofredut, by Force polifelled himself of the Principality of Barcelona, for he could have no right to exclude Oliva, Brother to the deceased. King Ramino growing Ancient, began to give his Mind to Peace, and apply him- Religious felf to Religious Exercises, therefore with the spoils of the Moors, he Built a Monastery for Works of Nuns at Leon, of the invocation of S. Saviour, where he caused his Daughter Da. Elvira to King Retake the Habit. Besides this, he Built Four other Convents, and when he was busied about mire. these Affairs. Civil broils obliged him again to unsheath the Sword. Fernan Gonçalez, and James Ninex, two Men of Note, Rebelled, and finding themselves too weak, called the Moors, and their General Accipha to their Aid. First they destroyed the Territory of Salamanca, upon the River Tormes, then the Country of Aamya, and part of Asturias were wasted. D. Ramiro drove the Moors out of all the Country, took the Promoters of this Sedition, yet foon after fet them at Liberty, only upon taking the Oath of Allegiance over again, a great Demonstration of the King's Mercy. Fernan Gonzalez, Earl of Castile, by his Wife Da. Orraca, had a Daughter of the same Name, whom he Marryed to D. Ordono, Son to the King of Leon. After this the King, the 'Aged, being an Enemy to Idlenes, made another incursion into the Enemies Country, as far as Talavera in the Kingdom of Toledo, and overthrew fion into the Enemies Country, as far as Talawera in the Kingdom of Toledo, and overthrew an Army of Moors, that came to oppose him, killing 12000, and taking 7000 Prisoners, over This Victory supported his Reputation, which often decays as Kings grow Old. Being regiven the turned home, he diffinished his Army, loaded with the spoils of the Enemy, and went himself Moors. in Pilgrimage to Oviedo, to visit the many Bodies of Saints, that were there, and give Thanks to Almighty God for 80 many Bellings. At Oviedo, which is an unhealthy place, he king Refell Sick, yet returned to Leon, and there resigned up the Crown to his Son. Then having mivorereceived the Sacraments of Penance, and the Holy Eucharift, at the hands of the Bishops, and figns the Abbots there present, he dyed in the Year of our Lord 950, on the 5th Day of January, and Crown was Buried in the Monastery of S. Saviour, which himself had Built. This Year was very and Dies. remarkable, for the many Towns that in it were either Built or Repaired, which were Ofma, Many Ros. Riaga, and Clunia among the Arebaci, now called Coruna. Fernan Gonzalez Earl of Ca. Towns file, much about this time, also Built Sepulveda in a place naturally strong, and by his Valour, built and the Christian cause was not only kept from decaying, but was daily advanced, and increased repaired. in honour.

CHAP. IV.

The Reigns of D. Ordonno the Third, D. Sancho the Gross, Kings of Leon, and of Garci Sanchez, King of Navarre, and actions of Fernan Gonzalez, Earl of Castile.

BY the Death of D. Ramiro, his Son D. Ordono inherited the Crown of Leon. He was a dramo Man of great Courage, expert in Warlike affairs, and had Prudence to govern, but the inherits fhortness of his Reign which last but & Years, and 7 Months, gave him not time to Exercise his the Crown many Virtues. At his first Accession to the Crown, D. Sancho his Brother stirred up D. Garci of Leon. Sanchez, his Unkle King of Navarre, and the Earl Fernam Gomzalez, against him. The Forces of both those Nations, at once entred the Territories of Leon, and the King being unprovided, and not yet secure of the affection of his Subjects, resolved to Fortify himself, and not come to a Battle. His Enemies reaping no benefit by this attempt, returned home to their own Countries. But he to be revenged of the Earl, for joyning with his Brother and Unkle, without any Provocation given him; prefently was divorced from Da. Orrace the Isdivorced Earls Daughter, and Marryed Da. Elvira, inch was the Practice of that Age. By this Wife, and White, and the proposed of time of the group changes cannot be Wife, in the Wife, and he had D. Bermudo, who in process of time, after many changes came to be King of Leon. Marries The tumults raised in Galicia, for the Love that People bore D. Sancho, were soon appealed another. by the King, who to make the greater advantage of this fucces, entrod that part of Lulitania Subject to the Moors, plundering all the Country as far as Liston, whence he returned home. About the same time the Earl of Castile, took from the Moore the Castle of Carrango. Abderhaman King of Cordova, tho' now very Aged, gathered a mighty Army to the number of 80000 Fighting Men, the Command of them he gave to Almanzor Albagib (that is Viceroy) a General of great Note, with orders furiously to over-run the Lands of the Christians. Such extraordinary preparations startled the Earl, he Listed all that were of Age to bear Arms, Callile inand finding his Army yet too finall for fo great a danger, held a Council of War at Mining. Caffile in to confult what was belt to be done, Opinions, as is usual in such Cases varyed, some were for the instructing all to the hazard of Battle, others for gathering up all Provisions into Places of dels. ftrength, absent himself, he came on the day appointed, accompanied with the Nobility. The King went out to meet himb and the Parliament was held in the Year 958. but what their Business was, is not known. Authors relate, that the Earl fold the King a stately Horse and a Hawk.

Chap. IV.

openly, therefore it was agreed to work underhand, and makeufe of the perfidioniness of the Navarrois. Garci Sanchez was ignorant of D. Sancho's deligns, and therefore to revenge paft wrongs, continually infested the Frontiers of Castile. After the Earl had complained by his Embasis fadors, they broke out into open War, and came to a Battle, in which the Earl obtained the Victory. Our Historians write, that Lope Diaz, Lord of Bijcay, affisted the Earl upon this occasion, and say he was son to Inigo Expuerra, great Grandson to Zuria, Formerly Lord of that Country. After this Victory, a Peace being concluded, the Earl in pursuance to the Articles thereof, went to Navarre with a good Retinue unarmed, as to a Wedding; however, he was taken Prisoner by the King, who was at the place appointed, with armed Men, Hence he was delivered by the love of Da. Sancha, for whose sake he fell into that missor-

He went, tho' with a Jealousie, the King came not out to meet him as before, but when he came to kis his Hand, ordered him to be cast into Prison. This was a great Affliction to the Earl's People, Ds. Sanchs, his Wife, a Lady of a Matculine Temper, and ready wit, defigning to refere him, feigned the would go in Pilgrimage to the Church of St. James the tisfaction for the Debt, Cafile for the future, should owe no Subjection to the Crown of chief of that Principality. His Plety and Liberality appears by the Lands he gave to the Monastery of S. Salvindor de Lepie, S. Millan de Ninjara, S. John de la Peña. His Wife was Da. Urraka, by whom, he had D. Garci Sanchéa, called the Trembler, because he used to quake at frength, that to the first fury of the Barbarians slight be quelled before they came to Blows, strength, that is the first sury of the Barbarians stilght be quelled before they came to Blows, Gonzalo Diaz, a Man of Quality, without respect to Blonour, was five buying a Truce of the Mooney. The Earl knew well that many there spoke by the Mouth of Gonzalo Diaz, but homour presented, therefore he Gravely Discourified them upon the subject, excolling the Valour of his vailed, therefore he Gravely Discourified them upon the subject, excolling the Valour of his vailed, therefore he Gravely Discourified them upon the subject, excolling the Valour of his valour, of his value of the subject of the Almighty, and not to Besinis their good Reople, adviling to rely on the Assistance of the Almighty, and not to their Wawsto Name with the Infamy of Cowardice, All agreed to him, and having offer dup their Vowsto Sand Battle, and the Earl the mean while going out a hunting, pursued a Wild Boor, up a feet of a Battle, and the Earl the mean while going out a hunting, pursued a Wild Boor, up a feet of the subject of the sub and gave an Account of what had betallen him. The sometiers took heart, and the Army being drawn up, before they engaged, a Gentleman, by fome call'd Pero Gontzalez de la Puente de Fitero, rode out before the reft, and the Earth opening fwallowed him, to that he was never feen more. This terrify due Army, but the Earl told them it was the fign of Victory, the Hermit had flooken of, and fince the Earth was not able to bear them, much less would be received. ver feen more. This territy of the Army, but the Eart loid them it was strengt or victory, the Hermit had spoken of, and since the Earth was not able to bear them, much less would the Hermit had spoken of, and since the Earth was not able to bear them, much less would the Hermit had spoken of, and since the Earth was not able to bear them, much less would the Hermit had sold the words all revivid, the once was given, and that vast multitude vanthem, and the Earth was not all the Hermit had sold the sold the spoken, and that vast multitude vanthem, and the Souldiers return'd home loaded with spoils of their Enemies. Part of the Booty was given to the holy Main Pelagius, and afterwards the Earl built a Monastery, decidence of the Sorty was given to the holy Main Pelagius, and afterwards the Earl built a Monastery. The his Father. In our days the Cell of Pelagius is shown on a Rock, near that Monastery. The his Father. In our days the Cell of Pelagius is shown on a Rock, near that Monastery. The his Father. In our days the Cell of Pelagius is shown on a Rock, near that Monastery. The his Father. In our days the Cell of Pelagius is shown on a Rock, near that Monastery. The his Father. In our days the Cell of Pelagius is shown on a Rock, near that Monastery. The his Father. In our days the Cell of Pelagius is shown on a Rock, near that Monastery. The his Father. In our days the Cell of Pelagius is shown on a Rock, near that Monastery and on the other side of the Moral again, when the work of the Christians, when they were threatned with the Cell of Pelagius is shown on a Rock, near that Monastery of the Christians, when they were threatned with the care of the Earth of Cash and the Moral that the Moral of the Christians, when they were threatned with the care in the Cash and the Moral that the Moral of the Christians, when they were threatned with the cash of the Cash of the Christians, when they were threatned with the cash of the Cash of the Christians, when they were threatned with the cash of the Cash of the Cas great Pomp and Solemnity in the Monastery of St. Saviour at Leon, where his Father also had Our Historians do not mention where D. Sancho the King's Brother was during his Brothers Use Hittorians do not mention where D. Santone the range Spicials was during in Spicials.

Life, or whether ever they were reconciled; but all agree, that after the Kings Death, he was by the unanimous confent of all Men, Proclaim'd King. He was call'd the Grofs, for his

The History of S.P. A.I.N.

Lite, or whether ever they were reconcile; but all agree, that after the Kings Death, he was by the unanimous confent of all-Men, Proclaim'd King. He was call'd the Groß, for his was by the unanimous confent of all-Men, Proclaim'd King. He was call'd the Groß, for his mighty bulk of Body, unfit to endure fatigue; yet he was good condition'd, show'd much mighty bulk of Body, unfit to endure fatigue; yet he was good condition'd, show'd much mighty bulk of Body, unfit to endure fatigue; yet he was good condition'd, show'd much mighty bulk of Body, unfit to endure fatigue; yet he was good condition'd, show'd much mighty bulk of the Confent of the Search which was of our Lord 956, by reason of a Mutiny in the Army, not being well affur'd of the Month, he left his Kingdom, and fled for refuge to his Uncle, the King of Newarre. D. Ordono, was so be pervertly inclin'd, that he was call'd the Wickel, and giving way to This D. Ordono, was so be revertly inclin'd, that he was call'd the Wickel, and giving way to This bale temper, became odious and contemptibile to the petiple. D. Samebo watch'd all obhis bale temper, became odious and contemptibile to the petiple. D. Samebo watch'd all obhis bale temper, became odious and contemptibile to the petiple. D. Samebo watch'd all obhis and the more of the same in Cordova. At the same time Castile was divided with Civil Broils. D. Vela, Grandson to the other D. Vela, who we said was Lord of Aldva, had great Power there, and in the adjoining part of Castile; and being a hot Youth, took up Artis against the Earl Forma Sonzajoining part of Castile; and being a hot Youth, took up Artis against the Earl Forma Sonzalez. The Earl lost nottine, but put him and his Allies to the rout, pursuing them to close they were, forced to take into the Country of the Moors, which was the occasion of great troubthey were, forced to take into the Country of the Moors, which was the occasion of great troubthey were, forced to take into the Country of the Moors, which was the occasion of great troubthey were forced to take into the Country of the Moors, which was the Outlaws, or to bles and Misfortness. Almahaza Albagin, either at the infligitation of the Hermit, but finding
The Earl marching to meet him, by the way went to vifit Pelagius the Hermit, but finding
The Earl marching to meet him, by the way went to vifit Pelagius the Hermit, but finding the was dead, and being troubled in mind, the staff Pelagius appeared to him in his sleep, asfuring him of the Victory. The two Armies ingaged near Pildrahita, and the dispute was furing him of the Victory. The two Armies ingaged near Pildrahita, and the dispute was hotter than ever it had been before, the multitude of Enemies was great, and the Chrihotter than ever it had been before, the the multitude of Enemies was great, and the Chrihotter than ever it had been before, the multitude of Enemies was great, and the Chrihotter than ever it had been before, the multitude of Enemies was great, and the Chrihotter than ever it had been before of the multitude of Enemies was great, and the Chrionly coaling at Night , upon the last day St. James the Apostle was seen at the head of the A great only casing at Nights; upon the sair way 5. January as a post of the linders was flain than over-fin gray and gained them the Victory. Agreater number of the linders was flain than over-fin any other Battle, our Forces pursuing them two days. After this Victory Embassadors came the Infe from all the Cities of Caffile, and the neighbouring parts, to Congratulate with the Earl. dels. Above all, D. Sancho, King. of Leon, Sent a splendid Embally, enviting the Earl to be prefent at the Corres, or Parliament, hedefigned to hold in Leon. This a little perspect him, fearing fome delign was hid-under that show of Friendship; but having no lawful Excuse to was, Is not known. Authors relate, that the late long the Kning a latent from only a cawn, for a great Sunt, upon condition, if not paid at the time perfixed the price should be doubled every day after. Besides, by the policy of Da. Tressa, the Queen Dowager, who desired to reven general problems of the state of the Da. Urraes, the Earl's first Wife, was dead. It was resolved to lay a snare against the Earl, of Castile. because down right force would not prevail, and K. Sancho was unwilling to break bis word

Hence he was delivered by the love of Da. Sancha, for whose sake he fell into that missfortune, and with herescaped to his own Country. On the Frontiers of Casilie, about Riola, he was met by the Forces of Casilie, that had vow'd, not to return till he were set at liberty.

Great was the Joy on both sides. At Burgot the Nuprials were celebrated. The King of Navarre, decived by his Sister, prepared for War, and the Earl not being backward, they Engaged on the Frontiers of Casilie and Navarre, the King was overthrown, and taken Priso. The King ner, in the Year 959. The same Year dy'd Abderbands, King of Cardova, being of a great of Navarie Age. Not long before his Death, the King of Leon sent him a solemn Embally, defining the advanced to the Martry Pelayas, which was not granted by him, but was soon after, by his Son and taken mody of the Martyr Pelayus, which was not granted by him, but was 100n after, by his 50n by the and Successor Albaea, who Reign'd 17 Years and 2 Months, and being inclinable to Peace, Barl of endeavoured to oblige all the neighbouring Kings. D. Garcia King of Navarre, was set at Castile. liberty, after he had been 13 Months a Prisoner at Burgon, the Tears of Da. Sancha, and 959-the Intreaties of other Princes having appealed the Earl. Queen Tweefa, a Woman of a fierce and restless spirit, being so far disappointed in her design against the Earl, laid other shares for him. She persuaded her Son, the King of Levis, to call him to the Parliament.

Agostie. Her way was thro' the City Leon, the King went out to meet and entertain her of cellic friendly, as became a Person of her Quality, and his Aunt. With much intreaty, the ob-tained leave to visit her Husband, and having stay'd all Night together, he went out in imprison. Morning in her Cloaths, and got fafe to his Country. The King understanding the Fraud, and ewas somewhat concerned, but thinking better of it, sent her home Honourably to her Huf- scapes by band, who over-joy'd at her coming, would not make War upon the King, but demanded the con-what was due to him for the Horse and the Hawk he had fold him. No Payment was made, for the Sum, by reason of the delay, was greater than the King could pay, and the Earl wife. made waste upon the Lands of the Kingdom of Leon. Whereupon, they agreed, that in fa-

Leon. This Agreement, they say, was made in the Year of our Lord 364. The same Year a powerful Army of Moore breaking throe the Kingdom, laid siege to the City Leon, but by the Valour of the Garrilon and Townsmen, were Repulled with great loss. Vast flames of Fire rises Fire rising out of the Sea f pread over the Country, destroying many Towns, even as far as out of the Zamora, which beside the present loss, was looked upon as an Omen of future Ills. D. Gar. Sea, and the Same Willy of Same the Advances Level the action of Name of Same Inc.

zamora, which beliefe the present iors, was looked upon as an Omen of moure list. D. carders of Sanchez, King of Navarre, dy'd the enfuing Year of 966, leaving by his Openet two Sons, lambde and D. Ramino, and three Daughters, Da. Viraca, Da. Ermenefida and Da. Telegrafie His Son D. Sancho intertited the Grown, joyntly with his Brother D. Ramino, and have been religiously of the latest here the refer Reign'd 10 Years, and it is thought, dy'd without filte. D. Sancho who, as appears herits the by his Grants, Rui'd 2-7 Years, Stiled himlest King of Pamplona, Najara and Alava. He increased his Dominions by the addition of the Lording of Bifcay, and Gity of Najara, the chief of the Danabelies. The Direct of the Increase of the Months of the Months of the Ruis Land of the Months o

der the

King of

the beginning of a Battle, for which defect, he made amends by his great Courage and Conthe beginning of a Battle, for which detect, he made amends by his great Courage and Conduct, when heated in fight. Thro' the neglect/of the Hilforians of that Age; nothing elfe of note appears in the Life of D. Sancho. In Galling; there broke out new Commotions, that Country being full of Factions at a very unfeafonable time, when they had enough to detect the country being full of Factions at a very unfeafonable time, when they had enough to degain the Moors. The cause of these Tumules is not known, but it appears, they were soon against the Moors. appeared by the King's good Management. Some of the Mutiniers were Executed, others appealed by the King's good Management. Some of the Mutiniers were Executed, others Banished to that part of Portugal which was under the King, upon the Frontiers of the Moore. That Province was govern'd by as Earl, called Gonzalo, a Man of wicked Principles, who, That Province was govern'd by as Earl, called Gonzalo, a Man of wicked Principles, who, That Province was govern'd by as Earl, called Gonzalo, a Man of wicked Principles, who, That Province of the Banished Persons, they being of his Faction, Rebelled, and broke in as far in defence of those Banished Persons, they being of his Faction, Rebelled, and broke in as far much entreaty, obtain'd pardon. He had formerly been in great Esteem and Favour with much entreaty, obtain'd pardon. He had caren it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf King a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soon as he had eaten it, the violence of the Poilon (Fight it felf king a poiloned Apple, As soo was Poifoned, in the 967, having Reign'd 12 Years. His Body was bury'd in the Church of St. Saviour at Leon.

CHAP. V.

The Reign of Ramito the Third, King of Leon. Death of Earl Pernan Gonzalez. Normans infest the Coasts of Spain. Divisions among the Moors. Rebellion against the King of Leon, and his Death.

T is a thing beyond all dispute, that King Sancho was Marry'd to Da. Terefa, and that D. Ramiro was but 5 Years old when his Father dy'd. He Reign'd 15 Years; but by reason of his tender Age, the Government was in the hands of his Mother, and of Da. Elvira, his of his tender Age, the Government was in the hands of his Mother, and of Da. Elvira, his Aunt, whom others call Geloyra, both Ladies of fingular Prudence, and extraordinary Qualities; yet because the King was little, and they. Women, there happined many Broils, Siftandau, the Successor of Ermenegitalus, Bishop of Composula, and Son to the Earl Machendus, was Deposed and Imprisoned by King Sancho, for that he lived a dislotte Life, and spen was Deposed and Imprisoned by King Sancho, for that he lived a dislotte Life, and spen the Revenue of the Church profusely, and in his stead was chosen Rodesindus, who was first the Revenue of the Church profusely, and in his stead was chosen Rodesindus, who was first the Revenue of the Rodesindus and after a Monk of the Order of S. Benedis, in the Monastery of Celanoma; he was Bishop, and after a Monk of the Order of S. Benedis, in the Monastery of Celanoma; he was Bishop, and after a Monk of the Order of S. Benedis, in the Monastery of Celanoma; he was befides of the Blood Royal, as Son to the Earl Guierre Arias, and his Wife Aldara, Sifnandus uppencies of thebiood Royal, as son to the Earl Busierre Asias, and niswite Aldara, Sifiandus upon the Death of the King, being fet at liberty, took possession of the Bishops ick of Composition, on the Death of the King, being set at liberty, took possession of the Bishops ick of Composition, on the Death of the Control Rodesindus, for fear of Death, to resign, and return to his Monastery, where he spent for the third of the charge. There was Peace between the resist the Kingdoms of Lean and Condenses for Albara Kingdoms of Lean and Lean a the reft of his Life, well pleafed to be rid of that charge. There was Peace betwirk the Kingdoms of Leon and Cordova; for Albaca, King of Cordova, to gain the good will of the new King, fent him the Body of the Marty Pelayu, which was laid in the Monaltery built at Leon by King Sancha, who defired to Eurich it with those Reliques. This Monaltery was formerly called of S. John Baptife, afterwards of St. Pelaguus, or Pelagus, now of St. Ijdorus. The cause of changing the Names, was the Translation of the Bodies of those Saints at several times. The Peace was now disfurbed at the persuation of that D. Pela, who we faid about times. The Peace was now disfurbed at the persuation of that D. Pela, who we faid about the Martin Conference and at this inflication the Martin inclined to make War upon Cashie to we fied to Cordova, and at his infligation, the Moors inclined to make War upon Caffile, to refied to Cordova, and at his infligation, the Moors inclined to make War upon Calfile, to recoge the great loffes they had fultained by means of that Earl, King Albaca tho's himself more addicted to Peace than War; yet overcome by the importunity of his People, he gather-more addicted to Peace than War; yet overcome by the importunity of his People, he gather-more addicted to Peace than Was the John Success, he broke the Peace that was better him, the Infi mancas and Duesias. Encouraged with this Success, he broke the Peace that was between him, and the King of Low, and invading his Dominions, took Zamora, and levelled it with the Ground. The great Grief the Earl Fernan Gonzalez, conceived for thele Losses, was the cause of his Death, which hap ned the enfuing Year 968. He dy'd at Burgos, and was bury'd near the River Manca, in the Monastery of S. Peter, near the High Altar; where are to be feen his and his Wife's Tombs, with inscriptions, declaring whose they are. His Funcral was no less remarkable for the Tears of the People; lamenting the loss of so good a Pelace by whose Valour; the Christian cause had been to long supported. Mis runeral was no lets remarkable for the lears of the reople, lamenting the lofs of good a Prince, by whose Valour, the Christian canse had been so long supported, than for the Grandeur and Magnificence of the Geremony. By two Wives he had these sons D. Gorthalo, D. Garris Fernandez, others add Peter and Baldwin. He had also one Daughter, called Da. Urnea, of whom we have spoken before. Garis Fernandez succeeded his Father where the cashes the other week dead on it slives he was reasoned before the dead of the state of the support of the ter, called Da. Urraca, of whom, we have spoken before. Garci Fernander, succeeded his Father, either because the others were dead, or if alive, he was preferred before them for his good Inclinations, and the early hopes he gave of his future Vertues, which soon increased, and grew to a mighty head. At the same time the Normans Inhabiting that part of France, formerly called Neufria, now Normand, who, some Years before, were Converted to the Christian Faith, by Herveus, Billop of Rheims, being accultomed to Rob upon the Coast of Spain, gathered a numerous Fleet, and wasted all the Coast of Galicia, burnt, Villages, Castles and Towns, took the Men, and carried away all that was in their way. This Plague lasted 2 Years. The Kine by reason of his tender Years could not defend his Peo-Plague lafted 2, Years. The King by reafon of his tender Years, could not defend his Peo-Spain.

Chap. VI. The History of SPAIN.

ple. Sifnandus Bilhop of Compostella, a Man fitter to be a Souldier than a Prelate, gathering a number of the Natives, and charging the Enemy near a Town call'd Fornellas, was kill'd with a Dart, on the 20th of March 979. What was commendable in him is, that he indeavourd to Wall the Town of Composella, that is holy a place might not be exposed to the infolency of the Enemy. The Earl Garci Sanchez, being chosen to Command on that fide behaved himself better, for furprizing the Normans near the Sea, as they marched loaded with plunder, and out of or-der he made a great flaughter of them. This Captain Gunderedus was killed, the Booty and Prisoners recovered, and of their Ships not one escaped being taken or burnt. Thus Spain after long fuffering by those Cruel and Barbarous People, was at length delivered from that Calamity, by so total an overthrow of them, as they had scarce received the like in any other Country. Let us now fee what was doing among the Infidels, whom Ambition often di-fracted to the advantage of the Christians. In the Year 976 dyed Albaca King of the Moors Irracted to the advantage of the Christians. In the Year 976 (yet Albaca King of the Moors at Cordow. The lane Year, the Moor Rass sent his Commentaries, writ in Arabick, of the affairs of the International Microscopies of Africk, by whose order they were composed.

Albaca left Eight Sons, all very Young, and the Moors not agreeing which of them should Divisions forceed, referred it to the Miramannin of Africk, who appointed Hissen, tho not above among ten Years of Age.

He Reigned 34 Years, only in show, for all the Power was in the hands of the Moors. Mahomet Albagib, that is the Viceroy, who took the name of Almanzor for the many. Victories he obtained. Hence for ang civil Wars among those People, as is usual when Kings give themselves up to their case, and so far they went, that Hiffem lost the Crown. Our affairs were in no better Posture, for the King being bred among Women, was esseminate, besides that his Queen Da. Urraca managed him as the pleased, without any regard to the prudent that his Queen Da. Urraca managed him as fhe pleafed, without any regard to the prudent advice of his Mother, or his Aunt. He feldom gave ear to his Subjects, and for the most part returned harsh Answers, which highly offended the Nobility of Galicia, a People naturally fiftere, who finding all the Commonatry distance rebelled. D. Bermudo the lings Cousin, and Son to D. Ordono the third, headed the Rebels, in hopes to recover his Fathers Kingdom, which he proceed was wrongfully kept from him. This danger awaked the King ont of his Letter 1. The War was begun, and lasted two Years, with various success, against the People being divarge betwixt the two parties. At length a Battle was fought, near the King Town called Portal Arenaria, many were killed on both fides, and they parted upon equal of Leon. Terms. After this Fight D. Bermudo, remained Mafter of Galleia, and placed his Court at Composibella. Pelayo, the Son of Earl Roderick, was made Bishop of Composibella, but for his Wicked Life depoied, and Peter Mansorius a Monk, and Abbot of approved Vertue, put in his Place. Earl Roderick to restore his Son prought in the Moors who took the City Composibella, and threw down one side of the Church of S. James. This Sacrilege went not unpunished, for threw down one do that control of 3 plants. This satings were not implement, for the greatest part of that Army perished by the flux. Almangor himself, asking the cause of this distemper, and being told by a Moor, that one of the Disciples, of the Son of Mary was there buryed, resolved to dessist from that enterprize, but dyed in his return home at Medina Cest, upon the Borders of Aragon. On the other side also, the Moors took many Towns, as Guzman Atienca, and Simaneas, where D. Ramiro who came to relieve it was defeated. Nevers was Spain in a more desperated Condition. After the departure of the Moors, by the industry of the King and Archbishop, the Wall of S. James his Church was repaired, and the Church reconciled, for it had been profaned by the Infidels. Pelayo, a wicked Prelate succeeded Peter, and he for his Scandalous Life being depos'd, his Brother Wimara was substituted, who prov'd no better, and was drown'd in the River Mino. In those days the Clergy was very debauch'd, not only in Spain, but most parts of Christendom. In Rome there was a Schlim, Boniface, Benedist and John striving for the Chair. Let us return to D. Ramho, who spent his Life in Ease and Idleness. Thus Death seiz'd him at Leon in the Year 982. His ipent his Lite in Eale and Idlenels. Thus Death ietz'd him at Leon in the Year 982. His Body was Intert'd in the Monaftery of Defivians, built by his Grandfather D. Rabinto, in the Valley Ornersis, by the Invocation of St. Michael. Thence 200 Years after, by Order of King Ferdinand the Second, he was Translated to the Cathedral of Aflorga. Samprus, Bishop of Aflorga, of whom we have made much use hitherto, ended his History in this place. Pelagius Bishop of Oviedo. goes on, he lived in the time of D. Alonso the Emperor. The Credit of both these Authors is great, because they write of things theywere Eye Witnesses to, but Sampyrus is most Effectned, and looked upon as the Gravest Author.

CHAP. VI.

The Reign of Bermudo the Second, called the Gouty, King of Leon. Differd betwist him and the Earl of Castile. Leonand Barcelona, taken by the Insidels. Garcia King of Navarre dies. His Son Garci Sanchez succeeds him.

Pon the Death of D. Ramiro, the Crown fell to D. Bermudo, as well in regard to his Bermudo right, being the King's Coulin-German, as that he posselfied himself of it by Force of the Coulin-Kins. He Reigned 17, Years, was fickly, and Subject to the Gout, for which reason he was King of called the Gouty. By him the Laws of the Goths, were consumed, and the Canons, and Lean.

127

Chap. VI.

128

Gerei SanDecrees of the Popes ordered to be of Force in feedlar Caufes. Before we Treat of this King, obe Earl it is requifite to fpeak of the Eatl Garei Stancker of Caffile. At his first Accellion to the Gerei Caffile. At his first Accellion to the Gerei Caffile. At his first Accellion to the Gerei Caffile. The Caffile of the Caffile of the Caffile of the Caffile of the Caffile. The Earlie Analysis of the River Duero, and killed a great Number of them, putting the rest to Flight. In this Battle there hapfined a wonderful Accident. Fernán Antolinez, was hearing of Mass when the Fight began, and being Joath to leave his Devotions, stayed it out. Then fearing to be Fight began, and being Joath to leave his Devotions, stayed it out. Then fearing to be Fight began, and being Joath to leave this Devotions, stayed it out. Then fearing to be Fight began, and being Joath to leave of the Battle, behaving himself so brave-lim, doubtlets, his good Angel, was feen in the heat of the Battle, behaving himself so brave-lim, doubtlets, his good Angel, was feen in the heat of the Battle, behaving himself so brave-lim, doubtlets, his good Angel, was feen in the heat of the Battle, behaving himself so brave-lim, doubtlets, his good Angel, was feen in the heat of the Battle, behaving himself so brave-lim, doubtlets, his good Angel, was feen in the heat of the Battle, behaving himself so brave-lim, doubtlets, his good Angel, was feen in the heat of the Battle with the Mass hearing of Mass when the rest of Himself so have heat of the Battle with the Mass having of Mass when the rest of Himself so himself so have heat of the Battle with the Mass having of Mass when the rest of Himself so himself so have heat of the Battle here have heat of the Battle here have heat of the Battle here have heat of the Battle here. The rest of the Battle here have heat of the Battle here have heat of the Battle here. The rest of the Battle here have heat of the Battle here have heat of the Battle here have heat of the Battle here. The heat of the Bat ry, that it was believed, through his means the victory was obtained. To confini chis, fresh bruifes and ipots of Blood were seen upon his Horse and Armour, by which his Credit was miraculoully faved. Authors fay, the Earl Garci Fernandez had two Wives, the one was miraculoully faved. Authors fay, the Earl Garci Fernandez, had two Wives; the one-tialled Argentina, a Fronchownain, with whom he fell in Love, as fine went in Pitgirinage to Completia. Six Years after the ran away with a Frinchonain, whillf her Husband and Epick, but popella. Six Years after the ran away with a Frinchonain, whillf her Husband and Epick, but for covering, followed her into France, and being admitted into the House by a mater-in-Law her covering, followed her into France, and the Earl, he killed Argentina and her Gallant in Bed, of her scalled Garcian in hopes to Marry the Earl, he killed Argentina and her Gallant in Bed, and the returning with Sancha into Spain, was Marryed to her, with great Fomp and Solemanity at Burgos. Many look upon this flory as Romantick, and affirm the Earls Wife was nity at Burgos. Many look upon this flory as Romantick, and affirm the Earls Wife was nity at Burgos. nity at Burgos. Many look upon this ftory as Romantick, and affirm the Earls. Wife was called Ora, and that the Monastery of S. Salvador de Ora, Built by him, had the Name of the Others say her Name was Abba, as appears by their Tombs, at Arlaivis and Cardeña. There her Others say her Name was Abba, as appears by their Tombs, at Arlaivis and Cardeña. There is also another relation, which says, that during the Earls absence in France, the Moorst is also another relation, which says, that during the Earls absence in France, the Moorst was also Years before this time, unless the same thing hapfned Mooks, which others say was 100 Years before this time, unless the same thing hapfned twice. At this time the Moorst put to Death many for the Faith; and there wanted not some twice. At this time the Moorst put to Death many for the Faith; and there wanted not some s twice. At this time the Moors, put to Death many for the Faith; and there wanted not form Examples of Divine Juftice on them for their Cruelty, whereof Alcortext King of Sevil was one. He in the time of D. Burmudo, breaking into Galicia, deftroyed the City Composella, but his impiety passed not unpunished, for such a violent Plague raged in his Army, that few of them returned home to carry the News, and be Witnesses of the Divine Vengeance. This of them returned home to carry the News, and be Witnesses of the Divine Vengeance. The danger being over, other new troubles hap ned in Spain, as great wann had been inace danger being over, other new troubles hap ned in Spain, as great with the King of Leon, it began to lift up its Bead. These were caused by the discord between the Publick good Manager of the Christians and the Earl D. Garcia, who ought to have joyned their Power for the Publick good. Maand the Earl D. Garcia, who ought to have joyned their rower for the Publick good. Mahomer governed the Kingdom of the Moors, in the Name of Hillem the Kings, his greatef.
Aim was to deftroy the Chriftians. D. Pela, he that we faid, in the time of the Earl Ferham Gonzalez, field to the Moors, now blew these Coals. The Moors joyning their Forces with all the Constants and the Chriftians that followed D. Pela, entred the Territories of the Chriftians, and Difcord betwixt: a Body of Christians that followed D. Vela, entred the Territories of the Christians, and passing the River Duero, which for many Years had parted the two Nations, incamped on the Banks of the River Assured, or Esola, that runs by Leon. King Bermudo, the inferior to the Enemy, gathering what Forces he could, surprized them and entered their Camp, where they Fought in disorder, all in consuson. Many of the Insidels were killed at the first on-sety force gathering in small Bodies defended themselves, other field, till the Moorish General get-force gathering in small Bodies defended themselves, other field, till the Moorish General get-force gathering in small Bodies defended themselves, other field, till the Moorish General get-force gathering in State and the State and the Christians. *ting together all lie could, drew them up without the Camp, then charged the Christians, who being but few in number, and tired, could not stand that shock in an instant the Fortune of who being out rew in number and tired could not leand that mock in an infrant the rortune of the Day was changed, the Victors were over-come, and being closely purfued, few of the got unburt to Leon, but many wounded. The Town had been taken, but that the Winter got unhurt to Leon, but many wounded. The Town had been taken, but that the Wintercoming on, obliged the Enemy to depart, having gained much honour and plunder, and recoming to return as foon as the Seafon would permit. D. Bermudo, because the City was levely, caused the Bodies of the Saints and Kings, to be translated to Oviedo, and removed weak, caused the Bodies of the Saints and Kings, to be translated to Oviedo, and removed thither himself. The care of fortifying and defending of Leon, was committed to the Earl thither himself. This disafter hap ned in the Year 984, in which Mirror Bishop of Girona, Guilien Gonzalez. This disafter hap ned in the Year 984, in which Mirror Bishop of Girona, on Morror Barl of Barcelona dyed. In that Country a Body of Moors, near the Castle of Morror Barl of Barcelona dyed. The that Country a Body of Moors, near the Castle
of Morror Barl of Barcelona dyed. The that Country a Body of Moors, near the Castle

Son to Miron Earl of Barcelona dyed. In that Country a Body of Moors, near the Caftle Son to Miron Earl of Barcelona dyed. In that Country a Body of Moors, near the Caftle of Moncada, overthrew Borello, Coulin to the Bilhop Miron. Above 500 Christians were. The following Year 984 was remarklain, the rest, with the Earl Borello Aged to Barcelona. The following Year 984 was remarklain, the rest, with the Moors laid Siege to Bercelona, and took it on the 6th day of the same Month, many of the Moors and the City was foon recovered by Citizens were carryed away into Shavery to Cordova, but the City was foon recovered by ring Mustered a good Body at Marela, and other Neighbouring Places, regained the City. Wing Mustered a good Body at Marela, and other Neighbouring Places, regained the City. The Earl Borello dyed eight Years after, leaving by his two Wives, Ledgardi and Amongadad, the Eldest Earl of Barcelona, the other of Amorudi, was head of the Noble Family of the Amengada, or Amengadis in Catalonia, of which in process of time, there were many brave Commanders. In the other part of Spain, Mabonuct, proceds of time, there were many brave Commanders. In the other part of Spain, Mabonuct, proud with his last fuccess, gathering a powerful Army_belieged Leon. The City held out process of time, there were many brave Commanders. In the other part of Spain, Mahomet, proud with his laft fuccess, gathering a powerful Army, belieged Leon. The City held on almost a Year, tho' continually battered with all forts of Engines. Earl Guillen Gonzalez. The Roy-made it appear, of how great Confequence it is to have a brave Commander. Being sick in all the Continual Fatigue of the Inapa Months have a brave Commander. al City of Bed, with the continual Fatigue of fo many Months, he was told the Town was in great danger, by reason of a furious Assault that was then given, he then caused himself to be carryed in a other Places, to Chair, to the place where the greatest danger was, and so effectually encouraged his Soldiers, leading that they made good-their Ground for Three Days. Then seeing the Town was entred, he cast himself into the midst of the Insidels, and dyed with his Sword in his hand. The Barbarians inraged initised for the 1618 they had fultafied, put to the Sword all Sexes, and Ages indifferently, Men, Women, and Children, and after plundering the City, caft down the Walls, and all other Works about it. The Inite diffare theful Allorga, Valentia del Campo, the Monaftery of Sabagun, Gordin, Alva, Lina, and other Towns, and Villages which were taken plundered and burnt to the Ground. Next breaking into Caffile, they took, plundered and burnt Ofmat Berlange, and Animpt, without meeting any Opolition. Nevertheless that was the madnets of the Christians, that not regarding the publick Calamities, they delitroyed one another upon Private Feuds and Animotities. For the Year following, Seven most Noble Broken and Calamite and Calami ribers, called the bifants de Laris, were flain by the Treachery of their Unike Roy Velaghad, and by the Frances of the Unike Roy Velaghad, and by the Frances of the Confanguinity, they being the Sons of his Siften Da. Sancha, and by the Frances flag, defeended from D. James Porcello, Earl of Capital. Thefe? Brothers had been very signous, no less for their Noble Actions than Unfortunate Death. It fell out that before the Confanguing of the Capital C Ruy Vetajquez Lord of Barcelona, Solemnizing his Marriage with Da. Lambra, Cou- Lara. ruy Petalquez, Lord of Barcelona, Solemnizing and maritage with Da. Lamma, Confin to the Earl Garie Fernández, at Burgos. A great concourse of People was at the Wedding, and among the rest the Earl Garei Fernandez, and the seven Brothers with their Father. A dispute arose betwirt Gonzalo the Youngest of the Brothers, and Alvar Sanchez, a Kinsman of Da. Lambra, yet so that no harm was then done, yet Da. Lambra taking it apon herfelf, to wreak her revenge in the Town of Barbadillo, whither the Brothers out of respect went to accompany her, she caused a Slave to throw a wet Cowcomber at Gonçalo, respect went to accompany her, she caused a Slave to throw a west Cowcombet at Constalo, which according to the Caltom of Spain was a hainous affront. The Slave field for fielter to Da. Lambra, but it availed him not, for in her very Arms they killed him. Ruy Velafquez who was then absent, as soon as he canie, in a rage for the affront gives his Wife, studyed how to reveige himself typoin the Sevensirothers. Het hought it best to enshare those he design it to delivor barbarous with the show of Friendship, and therefore contrived that Conzalo Gustin, should be sent to creathery Cordona, upon pretence of receiving some Money of that King, but in reality to have him destroyed, to which effect he had writ a Letter in Arabics to the King, who pitying the Noble Parson Grey, Hair, and controlled. ble Person Grey-Hairs, only caused him to be imprisoned. His confinement was not to close but the King's Sifter could come at him, and on her 'tis faid, he got Mudara Gonzalez, the Founder of the most Noble Family of Manriquez. Ruy Vildquez his rage was not appealed with the harm done to Gonzalo Custio. Near to Almenara, in the Territory of Aranjana, with the harm done to Gonzalo Gustio. Near to Almenara, in the Territory of Arausana, at the Foot of the Mountain Moneayo, he laid the Seven Brothers in Ambush, pretending to make an incurssion, into the Country of the Moors. The Brothers suspected no harm, but Nino Salido their Tutor, endeavoured to dislivade them, as fearing some Treachery, yet his words were in vain. With them were 200 Horse, a small number for the Multitude of Moors, that fell on him. The Treason being discovered, the Brothers sought desperately, not so much for any hopes of Victory, as to revenge their own Deaths. They were all killed, and with them their Tutor Salido, the Heads being sent to Cordova, assorted a pleasant Spectacle to the King, but a sad one to their Father, to whom, tho' wounded and dissignred, they were shown. This missortune moving the King to Compassion, he freely dissinised sourcas Gustio. Mudara begoten on the King's Silter, being 14 Years of Age, was by her sent to his Father, and afterwards tevenged the Death of his Brothers, killing Ruy Velasquez. Da. Lumbra ins Wife, the cause of all these michies, was stoned to Death and burnt. Mudara by revenging his Brothers, gained the Love of his Mother-in-Law, and all the Family, to that degree that he inherited his Fathers Estate. Besides, DA. Saucha adopted him, after this strange, yet remarkable Manner. The same day he was Baptized and Knighted, by the A this strange, yet remarkable Manner. The same day he was Baptized and Knighted, by the A strange and range, yet remarkable manner. In e name day ne was baptized and Kniighted, by the A frange Earl Garci Sanchez, his Mother-in-Law resolving to adopt him, put over him the Sleeve of a way of Adverylarge Sanck, and his Head coming out at the top of it, the Kissed him, and thus he option, was received into the Family, and looked upon as her Son, Ordono was Son of Mudarra, his Grandson was James Ordonez de Lara, he that fought the Sons of Arisa Gonzale, who defended their Country from the infamy of having killed King Sancho, sain by Vellido Dolphos, as hall be related in its place. This James Ordonez was Father to Earl Peter, well known for the long of the sanch of the Country from the long of the long of the Country of the Country for the long of the long of the Country of th for the Love Queen Orraca showed him, and Grandfather to Amalaricus de Lara. Lord of for the Love Queen Orraca showed him, and Grandatter to Amalarius at Lara, Lord of Molina, from whom is defended the family of Apariques, and even that of the Kings of Portugal, by the Mother's side, for Mafalda Daughter of Amalaricus, was Marryed to D. Alonjo the sirth of the name, and first King of Portugal, the solonomic have it, that Mafalda was of the House of Savoy. But, more shall be said of this hereafter. The Tomb of Mudaria is to be seen in the Closter of the Monastery of S. Peter de Arlanza. That Monastery and the other of S. Millan de la Cogulla, are at Variance about which of them has the seven Bro-Spain was now at Peace, after so many Combustions, and there rather wanted the Power, than the will to raise new ones. This quiet lasted till the 7th Year after the Death of the feven Brothers, which was the Year of our Lord 993, when the Moors wasted the of the feven brothers, which was the year of our Lord 993. When the basis wanted the 993. Country of Portugal, and breaking anew into Galicia, again took and burnt the City Coinpo, bliracket fella. Nor had they spared the Apostles Septhels, but that a sudden Light which appeared St. Janes. over it terrifyed them. The Bells, as a Trophy of their Victory, they caused to be carryed on the Backs of Chriftians to Cordova, where for many Years they ferved instead of Lamps in the Mossus. Divine Vengeance pursued them, many deed to the Flux, many of the Plague, and many at the hands of the Christians, the King keeping close in their rearry and doing them great harm. Few returned some. One of them was Maboner the General. This same Year Gard Same great harm. Few returned nome. One of thirds was Jackez called the Trembler, as was faid before, the King dyed D. Garcia King of Navarre, his Son Garci Sanchez called the Trembler, as was faid before, the King fucceeded of Navarre fucceeded him. He Reigned 7 Years, was very Famous for many Victories obtained, Liberal, or rather Prodigal, which drained his Treasures, and obliged him to lay new Taxes. ral, or rather Prodigal, which drained his Treatures, and onliged him to lay new Taxes. In the Monastery of S. Millaw, there are Grants of this King; let every one judge what credit is to be given to thom. In them 'dis specified, that he had a Brother called Gonzalo, and that he with his Mother Urraca, had the 'Kingdom of Aragon; which, if true, either had Dominion lasted not long, or he dying without ssue, it feel again to his Brother. King Bermudo joyful with his success against the Moors, began to consider, that if the Forces of the Christians were united, it were easie to gain upon the Insidels, and keep them under. Hereupon, he sent Embassadors to the King of Navarre, and Earl of Cassile, to invite them, layup side all Animossive to easter inta I segme with him. for the common Good. These ing afide all Animofities, to enter into a League with him, for the common Good. Those ing afide all Animofities, to enter into a League with him, for the common Good. Those Princes readily agreed to such advantageous Proposals, and a powerful Army was formed of Princes readily agreed to such as the three Nations. The King of Navarre came not in Person, being, as is supposed, busine the three Nations. The King of Navarre came not in Person, being, as is supposed, busine the three Nations. The King of Navarre came not in Person, set in Section 1. The Section of Navarre came not in Person, as is supposed, and with the Earl of Casisie, moved towards the Moors, of whom, they were incleared formed, that having raised new Forces, and plunder'd great part of Galisia, they now marched detarther formed, that having raised new Forces, and plunder'd great part of Galisia, they now marched the two Armies met, and came to a Battle, which was obstinately fought till Night parted them, without discerning which side had the better, only, that the Moors marched away in silence by Night, which show'd they had got the worst of it. Besides, it was more like a silence by Night, which show'd they had got the worst of it. Besides, it was more like a silence by Night, which show'd they had got the worst of it. Besides, it was more like a silent of the Moors and ing afide all Animolities, to enter into a League with him, for the common Good. Those Courage, an Enemy to Idiencis, and cutred the 1 erritories of the Carittians 52 leveral times, coming off very often Victorious. The fame day the Battle was fought at Calacanagor, one in the Habit of a Fifterman was feen at Cardava, on the Bank of the River Guadalquion, fing-ing in Arabic and Spanish Metre, At Calacanagor, Almanzor lost the them. It was believed the Devil in Humane Shape proclaimed their Defeat, because the People of Cardova endeavouring to lay hold of him, he vanished like a Shadow. The dead General's Body was carning to Mariagoria. ried to Medinaceli.

The History of S.P.A.I.N.

Chap. VII.

120

CHAP. VII.

The Death of King Bermudo the Gouty, and beginning of the Reign of D. Alonlo the Fifth, King of Leon. Many Troubles among the Moors. The Earl of Castile flain by the Infidels.

Decay of

A Fter the Death of Mabomet, his Son Abdelmelic took upon him the Government of that Kingdom, the same Year his Father dy'd, and continued in that command of Years, and 8 Months. From this time forward, the Kingdom of the Moors, which had been supported by the Valour of Mabomet, began visibly to decline. Civil Discord, the Bane of supported by the Valour of Mabomet, began visibly to decline. Civil Discord, the Bane of the Care and had Congregated. all Empires, and bad Government, were the cause of its decay. Abdeimelia who was more inclinable to Peace than War, took little notice of the first Eruptions of those Tunnits, which ought to have been suppressed in their first rise. True it is, immediately after his Father's Death, he entred the Teritories of the Christians, spreading a great Terror, and threw down to the Ground all that had been built since the City Leon was last destroyed. Yet the beginning of this War was more successful to the Moors than the end, for the Earl of Yet the beginning of this War was more successful to the Moors than the end, for the Earl of Cashile falling upon them, put them to slight, and but a small number returned home. This struck so great a terror into those People, that they never attempted to make War again as struck so great a terror into those People, that they never attempted to make War again as struck so great a terror into those People, and attempted to give a to the whilipers of some scaped by a great Drought. Gudestus, Bishop of Oviedo, had been been they there years fons, caused by a great Drought. Gudestus, Bishop of Oviedo, had been been they can be the subject to give ear to the whilipers of wicked Men. The some people, and among them, some of Note said, the Famine was a judgment of God for the comment of a sill the subject of the subject to give ear to the whilipers of wicked Men. T death.

Or Valbuend, whence 23 Years after, it was translated to the Church of S. 1000 Hapite in Leon. He had two Wives, one called Velajquita, the other Da. Elvira. From the first he His Wives was Divorced, rather thro the Corruption of those times, than for that it was Lawful. By her he had a Daughter, called Christina. By Da. Elvira, he had D. Alosfo, and Da. Terifa. Belides, on two Sifters he had to do with in his Youth, he got D. Ordono, Da. Elvira, and Da. Sancha. Christina, the King's eldeit Daughter, was Married to D. Ordono, called the slind, who who was of the Blood Royal; they had lifue, D. Alonfo, D. Ordono, D. Pelayo, and Da. Aldonza, Marry'd to D. Pelayo, called the Deacon, Grandion to King Fruela, by D. Fruela, his Baftard Son. D. Pelayo, and Da. Aldonza, had Islue, Peter, Ordono, Pelayo, Nuno and Terefa, from whom descended the Earls of Carrion, Men of great Wildom and Valour, as will Ja, from whom descended the Beris of Carrion, Men or great windom and valour, as will appear in its place. Pelayus Orderhin, and D. Lucas de Tuy, attribute to King Bermudo that pallage of Manibbus, Bishop of Compositia, and the wild Bull that was let lose against him, which was spoken of before. In this particular, I give more Credit to the History of Compositia, which relates it as I have done, and it is a sufficient proof of their missing the time, that about this, there is no Bishop of Compositia, called Maniphus, to be

King Bermudo appointed Melendo Gonzalez, Earl of Galicia, and his Wife Da. Mayor, to be Tutora to his Son D. Alonfo, the young King, during his Minority. These, because D. Monfo was but y Years of Age, by the consent of the Cortes, or Assembly of States, and det the in pursuance to the Will of the Deceased, Governed the Kingdom with great Prudence and Tution of Integrity. The King being of Age, as a Reward of their Fidelity, and to make their Au- the Earl of thority the greater, Married their Daughter Da. Elvira, by whom he had D. Bermudo, and Galicia & Da. Sancha. He Reign'd 29 Years. In the second Year of his Reign, which was of our Lord his Wife. Juli 1000. D. Garci Sanchez, the Trembler, King of Navarre, dying, his Son D. Sancho, 1000. whom he had by his Wife Da. Ximena, (not Elvira, or Conflantia, or Estephania, as some Sancho, 1000. will have its fucceeded in the Throne. This Prince in his Youth was under the Care and of Nameron will have its fucceeded in the Throne. This Prince in his Youth was under the Care and of Nameron Tuition of Sancho, Abbot of S. Sakvadar de Leyte, who bred him Vertuoilly, and taught him all that is fit for a Prince to know. He Reigned 34 Years, was so remarkable for his Vertue, that he gained the name of the Greater; and so fortunate, that he got under his Dominion almost all that the Christians possesses are not supported by the Christians of the Greater and the Greater and the Greater and the Christians of the Christians possesses as the Christian Kingdom. As the two Christian Kingdoms about this time enjoy'd Peace; so Cassis Rift, and then the Moors fell to War among themselves, both of them by their Civil Broils half ning their ruin. D. Sanebo War among themicives, both of them by their Cavil Brous nair ning their ruin. D. Santho Garcia Rebelled againft his Father, the Earl D. Garci Fernandez, perhaps, thinking he lived The Barl too long, and being impatient to, whit the figw Years he had to live. Both fides had recourse of castile's to Arms, and the Subjects being divided, the strength of that Principality was weakned. The Moors were not ignorant of these Distractions, and therefore resolved to make their adagainsh his vantage of them. Accordingly they destroyed Avila, that had been Rebuilt not long before, Father. Coruna, and Santistevan de Gormaz, in the Territory of Ofma, suffered the same fate. The Affairs of the Christians were in great danger, and yet the foreign Danger did not appeade their domestick Tumults, only kept them from coming to Blows. Earl Garci Fernandez betheir domelites: I unuits, only kept them from coming to blows. Earl Gare Fernance. Defing much concerned at the harm the Moors did, with what Force he could gather, went out to meet them. The Fight was bloody, but the Earl having but a small number of Men, Barl of was defeated, and himself taken so desperately wounded, that he, dy'd in a sew days. He Cardie kill-Governed Caffile about 38 Years, some say 4, was nothing inferior to his Father, and the led by the the Enemy halt power to take away his Life, the same of his Actions will last for ever. His Moors, Body being Ranson'd for a great Spin of Monoy, was bury'd in the Monaftery of S. Peter de Cardina. This unharmy Bartle was sought in the Year 1006. The Earl left a Daughter: de Cardena. This unhappy Battle was fought in the Year 1006. The Earl left a Daughter, called Da. Orraca, who was a Nun, in the Monaftery of S. Cosmus and Damianus, in the Town of Covarravias. This Monastery was built by the Earl her Father, and endowed with great Revenues, beindes many rich Gifts, upon condition, that if any Maid of his Family would not Marry, the fliquid be maintained with the Revenue of that Monastery. D. San-Sandbolld. abo fucceeded his Father in the Earldom of Califie, much blemished for Rebelling against him, ceeds in and having thereby been the cause of his death. In all other respects he was good and verthe Earldom of Califie and having the Califie and hav and having thereby been the cause of his death. In all other respects he was good and vertuous, and had very commendable parts. About the same time dy dat Condova, the Albagib, dom of or Viceroy Abdelmeite. Abderbaman, a base, and cowardly Fellow, in scorn, called Sancible, of the Commendation of the Comm Tyrant in Battle, near Cordova. In this Battle were slain 35000 Moors, which was the very Elower and Strength of that Kingdom; if that for the future, they decayed the more sensitive of the strength of that Kingdom; if the strength of the strength of the more sensitive of the strength Rarcelona; and Armengol of Orgel, at the persuasion of this Insidel; joyned their Forces to no.

those Mahomet had gather'd in and about Toledo. They all made, up 9000 Christians, and 34000 Moors. Near Accinateablacer the two Armies met, and inglied with fach fury, that both left Wings were Victorious, and both the right put to flight. The Bilhops Armulphe of Vique, Escits of Barcelona, and Otho of Girosac, were here killed; a finame that such Med. hould be feen in Arms for the Moors. Besides the Earl of Urgel was slain. Makemet, by his own Valour, retriev'd the Victory. Zuchhas seeing himself thus vanquind'd, sled first to Acastra and port binising that place for the more facilities of all this was in the Vancos. Acafra, and not thinking that place secure, went farther off. All this was in the Year of our Lord 1010.

CHAP. VIII.

Continues the mighty Revolutions among the Infidels, with the diffumbring of the mighty Kingdom of Cordova, and Eretting of several other little Sovereignties in the Chief Cities of Spain.

Kingdom of Cordova, and Erstling of Several other little Sovereignstes in the Chief Cities of Spain.

Note: O'Cordova, and Erstling of Several other little Sovereignstes in the Chief Cities of Spain.

Note: O'Cordova, and Erstling of Several other little Sovereignstes in the Chief Cities of Several ali, informuch, that after the departure of D. Ramon, he flurder'd his almong the his Viceroy govern'd ali, informuch, that after the departure of D. Ramon, he flurder'd his almong the his Viceroy govern'd ali, informuch, that after the departure of D. Ramon, he flurder'd his almong the his William of the Cordova. Maloner's head was Mafter; and thus Hissen the design of the Cordova. Maloner's head was the design of the Cordova. The Faction of the his gathering what Forces he could, wasted he Nelghbouring Country. The Faction of the his gathering what Forces he could, wasted he Nelghbouring Country. The Faction of the his gathering what Forces he could, wasted he Nelghbouring Country. The Faction of the his gathering what forces he could, wasted he Nelghbouring Country. The Faction of the his gathering what forces he could, wasted he Nelghbouring Country. The Faction of the his gathering what forces he could have a followed him to Calendary followed him to Calendary followed him to Calendary followed him to Sale him to Calendary followed him of a fifth District of the him again. D. Sanebo considering better of it, made a Lagge with Hissen, more to salit him be friends, made himself King of Teledo. Other Authors call him abdalla, and affirm he cook to Wife D' Tereja, the Sifter of D. Alonjo King of Leon, with the consent of the Brocholish of the Condent of him to the Supper was and there was a farther prospect of the Night was spant. After Supper the Lady was conducted to take her reft., and the Alon Night was spant. After Supper the Lady was conducted to take her reft., and the Alon Night was spant. After Supper the Lady was conducted to take her reft., and the Alon Night was forced to the Side him for the First him t his dead Enemy, but he was from undeceived. For the People of Codoris, Casis being gose to Sevil, enthroned Haya his Nephew, Son to his Brother Hali, a meek and bountful May which is very pleasing to the Multitude. This Man going to Malaga, whereof he was Lord before, Cacin again by Force of Arms made himself Master of Cordovia. His re-establishment was not lasting, for the infolency of the Soldiers having caused a mutiny in the City, he was forced to fly to Sovii, at the end of only Seven Months, and three days. Neither could he light long there, his advertary having gained the Affections of the Poole, to was obliged to wanted like a Vagabond, till taken by Hioya, and put in Prison. Most of these King were of the Race of forced to fly to will, at the end of only syen Months, and three days. Neither could he hay long there, his advertary having gained the Affections of the People, to was obliged to wander like a Vagabond, till taken by Hispa, and put in Prifon. Most of these King were of the Race of the Alsoverine, a Faction then in great Power. The other party of the Abendumyas taking Atms, chole for their King Abderbaman, Son of Madomet (I suppose that Madomet Aimabut the Months. His feverity and the mutability of those People caused his vain. One Madomet was by the Aput into his place, and Reigned one Year, four Months, and twenty two Days; and then be was killed by the Citizens. The fame beful Highey, the Son of Hali, who was of the other Then Massachine, and had been before Proclaimed King, he was in the same manner shain at Malagu, whither, how was for the other Then Massachine, and twenty Lays. After this late, brother to Hali, and Unkle to High, was faid, he had retired, when he had Reigned in Cordona, only three Months, and twenty Lays. After this late, brother to Hali, and Unkle to High, was fast for out of Africk, where he was Lord of Custa, to take the Crown. This Man being come into Spain, what on account of his Kindred with the other two, and what by force of Arms, policited himself of the Kingdom of Granada, Sovil, Ameria, and other Neighbouring Cities. The inland continued under Hissen, or after the Death of Hislay, the People of Cordona had Reinthroned him, unless it was another of the same name, those Citizens made Choice, of, for these stairs are very dark. The extravagancies of Ministers, commonly turn to the ruin of their Masters, as hap ned to Hissen, for his Magagibo, Viceroy, being Cruel and Covetons, was killed, and the King expelled his City. In that confusion, a Youth, of the Family of the Hissense, heing allithed by a Company of wild Young Fellows entred the Palace, and defined of the Soldiers to Proclaim him King. They excuted themselves with the disloyatety of the Hissense, heing allithed by a Compa

Chap. IX. The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. IX.

The last Attions of D. Alonfo King of Leon, and his Death. The Reign of D. Bermindo the Third. His Son Sancho Earl of Castile, Poisons his Mother. His Son Garcia Mardered.

Samele Earl of Cafille 1 defiring to revenge the Death of his Father, with the Affill-The Christope ance of the Kingdoms of Navarre, and Leon that were his Allies, entred the King-miansfpoil dom of Toledo, putting all that stood in his way to Fire and Sword. The fame havock was the Terrimade in the Territory of Condova, whither our Forces advanced, incouraged with their fuc-tories of made in the Territory of Cordova, whither our Forces advanced, incouraged with their fuc-tories of tests. In both places a great Bogty of Captives and Cattle was taken. Tho't the harm was the Moorn, great, most was the Terror this firuck into the infidels, who being smbroiled in Cl-vil Wars, could not oppose the Enemy, so that they, who not long before kept the Christians. The Moorn in continual fear, were now forced to buy a Page at a dear, rate. Spallweds a Town on the buy Peace. Frontiers, also Ofme, Samifecton of Corner, and other Towns taken by the Moorn in the last Wars, were now recovered. From this timespone Authors write, the Nobility of Captile, were symmeted from following the Wars, at their own cost, only upon the hopes of Boory, and it was ordained they should receive pay, as was used in all other-Countries. D. Sambo in a great measure Bleinshed the Horison gained in this Expedition by the Death he put his Moother of Captile.

She fell in Love with a Lewel Brawny Moor, and durit nor Marry high, not to much for anises his Moother Driak the Bollon, she had prepared for hist.

Chap. X.

A notice of the control of the first of the state of the control o

134

King of Garcia

any Seruple of Confcience, as for fear of her Son, and therefore refolved to Murder him, by that means to make way to her infamobs Wedding. The Dofe was prepared to Poilon him, but the Earlhaving intelligence of it, forced his Mother, by way of respect, to Drink fift of the Cup she offered him. Hence some think, spring the Custom whet in some parts of of the Cup she offered him. Hence some think, spring the Custom whet in some parts of of the Cup she of the Women Drink before the Men. Other Authors write, that a Lady belonging to the Councests, shaving seen her prepare the Dose, gave Notice to her Husband (whom some call Sancho del Valle de Espinosa) and he to the Earl, and thereby obtained that Privilege, enjoyed to this day, by the Family of Monteros de Espinosa of Guarding the King's Privilege, enjoyed to this day, by the Family of Monteros de Espinosa of Guarding the King's Privilege, enjoyed to this day, by the Family of Monteros de Espinosa. Truth. They add that the Earl to atone for this fault, and allay the hatred the People had conceived against him, built a recorded, and the People of that Town affirm it as a certain Truth. They add, that the Earl to atone for this fault, and allay the hatred the People had conceived against him, built as Monastery for Nuns, and in honour of his Mother gave it the Name of Ona; which Monastery Santho the Greater, King of Newarre, gave to the Monks of Clumi, and in our Days, is the Santho the Greater, King of Newarre, gave to the Monks of Clumi, and in our Days, is the Chief in that Country, D. Santho by his Wife Da, Orraca, had D. Garcia, Da, Nuna, Da, chief in that Country, D. Santho by his Wife Da, Orraca, had D. Garcia, Da, Nuna, Da, the Tersa; and Da, Trigida. The two eldest Daughters were marryed to great. Men, Trigida was Abbes in the Monastery of Ona. About the same time D. Santho, made a New way for was Abbes in the Monastery of Ona. About the same time D. Santho, made a New way for the way of the Country of Barges. Before this time the Christian Dominions being of a smaller extent the Pilerims that came out of France. used to Travel with much difficulty through extent, the Pilgrims that came out of France, uled to Travel with much difficulty through Bifeay, and the Mountains of Afturias, where the ways were uncouth, and there was a general want of all necessaries, King Alonso enjoying a perfect theore, reason of the Civil Warsamong want of all necessaries, King Alonso enjoying a perfect theore, by reason of the Civil Warsamong the Moore, and the League that was between the Christian Princes, gaye his Mind. whosly to the Civil Government, and held an Assembly of the States by Parliament at Ovido, In the Year of our Lord 1920. In this Parliament the Ancient Laws of the Goths were Corrected. Year of our Lord 1020. In this Parliament the Ancient Laws of the Goins were Corrected.

The King at his own coft and charges rebuilt the City Leon, that had been ruined by the Moors, and in it crecked a Church Dedicated to S. John the Baptitl. Thither the Bodies of his Father D. Bermudo, and the other Kings of Leon were translated, which before had been carrying about for fear of the Moors. The Monastery of S. Pelagius was also rebuilt, in which Da. Confança, the King's Sifter who had Confecrated her Virginity to God, lived long. It has been above related how D. Fela studyed, and contrived his revenge upon the Earls of Castile for wrongs, and injuries he pretended to have received from them. D. Sancho the Earl, not only pardoned, but reftored to their Eather's Honours, three Sons of D. Vela, which were Roderick, James, and brigo. Yet they foon fell to their wonted Treachery, and leaving the Earl, went over to D. Alonjo the King of Lora, because there was little hope to be placed in the Moors, by reason of their distractions, and the change of formany Princes as ne piaced in the moors, by reason or their diffractions, and the change of 10 many Princes armong them. D. Alonfo received them Friendly, and gave them a confiderable Effate at the Foot of the Mountains. Thus they feemed to be fettled and quiet, but they only waited an opportunity to make their disloyalty the more Notorious, as appeared foon after, and we shall thortly show. King Alonfo desiring to extend his Dominions broke into Listrania, and kild thortly flow. King Alonjo denting to extend his Lommons broke into Lapitama, and and the king Alons. Siege to Pifeo. It happ'ned, he went out without his Armour, and approaching too near the Seige of Town, they threw a Dart at him from the Wall, and killed him. Upon this misfortune his the Seige of Town, they threw a Dart at him from the Wall, and killed him. Upon this misfortune his County of the Seige of the Seige of the Seige of the Seige of County of Seige of Sei to fix the Tombs of his Forefathers. His Death hap ned in the Year of Grace 1028. He lett one Son called D. Bermudo who fucceeded in the Throne, and a Daughter Named Da. Sancha. In his time flourished in Sanchty of Life, the Bishops Froylamus O. Loon, and Ailanus of Zamora. Froylamus was born at Lago, Ailanus at Tarragona, both Monks of St. Benedist, and taken out of their Monasteries to be preferred to those Bishopricks. A Son of D. Ramon, called D. Bernguel, and Sirnamed Borello from his Grandfathers, was now Earl of Barzesona, called D. Bernguel, and Sirnamed Borello from his Grandfathers, was now Earl of Barzesona, and te known for his Idle Life, than any Virtuous action. Bernard Tallaserse Earl of Belain, made some amends for the neglect of that Prince, by Valiantly opposing the Moor. It is place was supplyed by Wifreday Earl of Cerdagne, who so curbed the insolency of the Moors, that they ceased making any sourther incursions into those parts. D. Berenguel at his Death, left three Sons, D. Ramon Earl of Barcelona, D. Guillen Earl of Manresa, by his Father's Will, and D. Sancho a Monik of the Order of St. Benedist.

D. Bermudo the Third, tho' very young when his father dyed, was Crown'd King in the presence of all the Nobility and Clergy, in the Year 1028. The same Year dy'd D. Sam cho Earl of Caftile; having govern'd that Province 22 Years. In the Monastery of Ona, which as was faid, he built from the ground, are ftill to be feen Three Tombs on the left hand of as was laid, he built from the ground, are ithis to be seen a fixed combs on the left hand of the High Altar, with Inferiptions, one of D. Sancho, another of his Wife, and the third of D. Garcia, his Son; who fucceeded him in that. Earldom. His Virtues made all Man conceive early hopes of him, but all vanished, and was blasted in the Bud; for his was wreatherously killed, in the very first Year of his Government, by those who had least rething to day and in the state of the was recomment. saird, in the very arte year of ms Government, by those who may lear reason to to do, and in the midft of his Marriage Solemnity. D. Garcia had two Sifters, D. Whan, sind Da Terefa, Da Nuña was Matry d to D. Sambo King of Naware "which had by her at this time, D. Garcia. D. Ferdinand, and D. Gongalo. Da Terefa was Wife to D. Rermado King of Lengard of her was born D. Alonjo, who dy'd a Child. D. Garcia Earl of Cafile, tho' but 13 Year, of Age, was Contracted to Da Sancha, Sifter to King Bermudo; by this means to bind their interests the faster together, and unite them skainst the common Enemy. The Gity Leon was the place appointed for Celebrating the Nuprikis. D. Garda went with a mighty train of People of note, as well his own Subjects as those of the King of Navarre. King Sancho himfelf, with his Sons D. Ferdinand, and D. Gardin, for the greater honour bore him. Company; with fuch a Retinue as appeared like a good Army. By the way they took Mongon, and fome other Towns from the Earl Fernan Gutierrez, who despising the new Princes Youth was in Rebellion; yet because he fubmitted without making any considerable opposition he obtain? Pardon. They made but small Journeys, by reason of the great number of People. D. Garcia desiring to see his Bride, left the King of Navarra at Sahagan, and he with a small Retinue agot surpeding, any thing put forward. This seemed a good opportunity, to the Sons of D. not suspecting any thing put forward. This seemed a good opportunity, to the Sons of D. Fela, to regarge the wrongs they pretended had been done them, by the Earl D. Sancho. They were Men of Experience in mischief and subtle, and therefore communicated their delign to other wicked Persons like themselves. Having laid their Plot, they went out to meet their Frince, who little suspected them, kneeling, they Kissed his Hand, as was usual, and showing Tokeps of Repentance, begged pardon of their Crimes. Who could have thought, that after obtaining Forgiveness, they would not have strove by fresh Services, to appear worthy off it? On the contrary they hastned to Murder that Innocent Prince. He went to hear Mass at the Church of S. Sancian and at the very Church door the Transcer estimated. Mais, at the Church of St. Saviour, and at the very Church door, the Traytors affaulted A Cruck him, with their drawn Swords. Roderick the Eldest of the Brothers, notwithstanding he was Mutder. his Godfather, gave him the first wound, then the others seconded it, till he fell down Dead. Da. Sancha, now a Widow, before the was marryed, fainted away at this difinal News, and as foon as she came to herself, ran to the place, where imbracing the dead Body, she wasted herself in Sighs and Tears. The Body was deposited in the Church of S. John, and thence afterwards translated to the Monastery of Ona. In both places his Sepulcher is the King of Navarre, who lay in the Suburbs of Lan, in Tents after the manner of a Camp, king sanherited the Earldom of Calille, to which he gave the Title of a Kingdom, whereby his warehopower began to be terrible to the King of Leon. The Traitors fled, and got into Mongon, rits Calille, hoping perhaps that Fernan Guiserez, offended at the late Earl, and the King of Navarre, hoping perhaps that Fernan Guiserez, offended at the late Earl, and the King of Navarre, for the Towns they had taken from him, would joyn them. But by the induftry of King Sareho, they were taken and burnt. King Bermudo, warned by his Father's Death, was incliqued to Peace, and being made fenible of the inconstancy of human Affairs, by the missforque of the Earl, applyed himself to the care of Religion, and the civil Government. In King Berthe first place, being desirous to reform the depraved manners of those times, he provided much his that justice should be impartially administred to all, and to this effect established new Laws, good Nevr with great Phasities and using the tumos feverity, he freed the Kingdom from Robbers. Government to be feen to this Day. This accident changed the whole Face of affairs in Spain. D. Sancho that justice mould be impartially administred to all, and to this effect established new Laws. good Next with great Penalties, and using the utmost severity, he freed the Kingdom from Robbers, Govern-Thus he gained the affections of his People, and seemed to flourish under a settled Peace. No ment. Prosperity is lasting, D. Sancho King of Navarre, led by Ambition disturbed his quiet. D. Bermudo had no Issue Seared by her means a Forreigner might be brought to Reign over them. Both the King and People, sought some remedy against this danger that Threatned. The King of Navarre being sensible of it, gathered a powerful Army, and enter the Kingdom of D. Bermudo boing great harm. He possess him to the Country beyond the River Cea, and by his success it was likely, he would subdue all the Dominions of the Kingdom of Leon. D. Bermudo warned by these losses, with the consent of the Nobility, who were more inclinable to Peace than War. thought best carree the difference: unon these Condidom of Leon. D. Bermudo warned by these losses, with the consent of the Nobility, who were more inclinable to Peace than War, thought best to agree the difference, upon these Conditions; That Da. Saneba, should be Marryed to D. Ferdinand, the King of Naviarre's second Son, that she should receive in Dower for the present, all that had been taken during the of Peace War, and he declared Heire's of the Kingdom. These were Terms disadvantageous to the between Crown of Leon, but produced a sirm Peace between the war remarkable; that at the Kings they possessed feel into the Hands of one Family. Moreover it was remarkable; that at the of Leon, and consequently into the hands of Strangers, a thing Adjunct to all Poonle has that that had consequently into the hands of Strangers, a thing odious to all People, but that, had feveral times before, hap ned to the Crown of Leon. It is not our task to decide, whether it be fafe or otherwise. Some Nations have never allowed of Women to inherit.

CHAP. X.

The remaining part of the Reign of Sancho the Greater, King of Navarre. Wicked Contrivance of his Sons against their Mother: He settles Religious Affairs, Rebuilds Palencia, and is Murdered.

In Scincho began to be in Years when he got for himself the Sovereignty of Cashile, and made way for his Son Ferdinand to obtain the Crown of Leon. The Renowned Actionship on he performed, did not only purchase him the name of the Greater, but the Stile common Dominion nione in Spain United under one Head.

A 11. 11 11

ly given him, of Emperor of Spain; a Custom of all People to flatter theit Princes with mighty Titles. He tetled his Court at Najawa, as being on the Frontiers of Cassilia and Najaware, and there so managed the Civil Government, as never to neglect carrying on the Walk, ware, and there so managed the Civil Government, as never to neglect carrying on the Walk, Therefore taking the advantage of the Discord that reigned among the Moors, he marched at gainst them, well strontined with old Soldiers, and stores of proviltions, and wasted all their Lands, even as far as Cordova, whither he advanced without meeting any opposition. Bug at the same time that he was striking a Terror into his Enemy, plundering the Country, and at the same time that he was striking a Terror into his Enemy, plundering the Country, and taking Towns and Cassilia, a Disaster, that fell out in his Family, called him home, which was thus. When he went to the War, he particularly recommended to the Queen at Horse was thus. When he went to the War, he particularly recommended to the Queen at Horse was thus. When he went to the War, he particularly recommended to the Queen at Horse was thus. When he went to the War, he particularly recommended to the Queen at the Horse was thus. When he went to the War, he particularly recommended to the Queen at the Horse was thus. Described the was against words of Peter Sesse, had to ompeh force with the Queen, or only moved with the delire of them. The solvent of the properties of the deliberation and cunning, drew his Brother Ferdinand to be of his side. At fift, D. Ferdinand to the of his side.

The History of SPAIN.

The O. of Universities and cunning, drew his Brother Feedinand to be of his fide. At fift, D. Feeding Mature stand thought that too wicked an undertaking, yet afterwards 60 far conferded, as to five at accorded of his would frand Neuter, without inclining to either Party. The King was much furprized, Adultery when he heard of D. Garia's according his Mother, and thereupon returned home. On by her the one fide, the Queen's known Vertue and Integrity pleaded for her; and on the orier, to combon the perfusaded his Son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient party of the could not be perfusaded his Son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient could not be perfusaded his Son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient could not be perfusaded his son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient could not be perfusaded his Son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient could not be perfusaded his son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient could not be perfusaded his son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient could not be perfusaded his son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient could not be perfusaded his son could have taken fuch a matter in hand, without fufficient could not be perfusaded his son could have taken fuch as a son could have taken further and the he could not be persuaded his Son could have taken such a matter in hand, without sufficient Grounds. D. Ferdinand being asked his Opinion, made the Case the more sufficients by his doubtful. Answer. In fine, the Queen was fecured in the Castle of Najara, and it was chought sit to have this Business debated by the Nobility. The Result was, that unless the Queen could find one to Combat in defence of her Honour, she should be burnt. The King had a Bastard Son, called Ramino, by a Noble Woman of Navarie, some call her Urraea, other's, Caya. He taking compassion on the Queen, and having discovered the Falshood of D. Garcia, challenged him, as was then used among the Spaniards, and went out, to Combat indefence of the Queens Honour. Whatever Party should prove Victorious. It was a great indefence of the Queens Honour. D. Carcia, enamenged min, as west then used among the spanning, and went out, to combate in defence of the Queens Honour. Whatever Party flooid prove Victorious, it was a great misfortune to the King. But God in the utmost extremity prevented the mitchief, for a Holy Man, by his Perfuasions, reduced the two Brothers to confess their Crime; and casting Holy Man, by his Perfusions, reduced the two Brothers to confefs their Crime, and calting themfelves at the King's Feet to beg his Pardon. The King having reproached them with the hainoufness of their Guilt, turned them over to receive their doom from the Queen, to whom alone, he gave the power of palling Judgment on 16, hainous a Fact, by the intreaties of the Nobility, and fibminisson of resons, pardoned them, by the intreaties of the Nobility, and fibminisson of resons, pardoned them, on D. Ramiro for his Loyalty and good Service, should have the Kingdom of Magon fectured to him. The defect in his Birth being fufficiently made amends for, by Nasour and the Vertue. D. Garcia, the eldeft Son, was hereby cut off the Inheritance due to him from his Vertue. D. Garcia, the eldeft Son, was hereby cut off the Inheritance due to him from his Vertue. B. Garcia, the eldeft Son, was hereby cut off the Inheritance due to him from his vertue. B. Garcia, the eldeft Son, and say, the Kingdoms were divided by the laft Will of D. Santhe Domir do, whose Example, was afterwards followed by his Son D. Ferdinand, who also divided his nion of Kingdoms among his Children. It is hard to determine who is in the right, but indeed, spain a mong his has tory about the Queen, has the air of a Romance. It is also said of D. Garcia, that mong his visit the Holy Places there.

King Sancho after all these Troubles were over, gave his mind to Religion. At that time, King San- King Sancho after all these Troubles were over, gave in similar to the Rules of S. Benematters of die. Thence he caused Monks to come to instruct the Monasteries of S. Salvador de Leyte, dict. Thence he caused Monks to come to intruct the monatteries of S. Saivanaor at Leye, that of Oird, and of S. John de la Peña, and to reduce them to the tigour of their Foundation. Besides, sinding that Lay-men, had thro' the consusons of the times, possessed the felves of the Revenues of several Churches, he caused them to be all restored. To the Monks of the Monastery of St. Saivanaor de Leye, he gave the Privilege of choosing the Bishop of Pamplona, as appears by his Grant; bearing date in the Year 1032. The continual Incursions of the Moors, had caused the Seat of the Bishopick of Pamplona, to be removed from the Churches Mooraton of the Purchast Churches and Purchast Churches that City to the Monastery of Leyte, as the securer place, being seated on the top of the Pyrenean Mountains. Now Peace being established thro' the Valour of King Sanebo, a Synod was held at Pamplona, at the request of Sancho. Abbot of Layte, and Bishop of that City, in A Synod order to refore the Sec thither. For the present, it was deferred, but agreed to in the at Pamplo. time of his Successor, D. Peter de Roda. In his last days, the King caused the City Palentia time of his Successor, D. Peter de Roda. In his last days, the King caused the Kity Palentia to be Rebuilt. The occasion that moved him it to, as related by some, if ever there was any such, was in this manner. That City, during the Wars was totally ruined, so that nothing remained but some old Walls, and a Church, dedicated to S. Antholin. Thiter, the King being a Hunting, pursued a wild Boor, which took fleter in the very Church by the Altar, and the King lifting his Arm to strike in that Holy Place, found it became on a sinden numbed, and without motion. Whereupon, invoking the Saint, the use of his Limb was again restored, and the King, as an acknowledgement of the relief received, caused the Town and Church to be rebuilt, making it an Episcopal See. Methinks I am writing Fables or Romances, but many of this nature are recounted in the Chronicles of Spain, which I will

I will neither Gondenn, nor approve of; let the Reader judge of them as he shall think most agreeable to reason. Let us conclude with this King, who by his great Actions, both in Peace and War, gain'd to himself immortal. Renown, and large Dominions to his Posterity. His Life was glorious, but his, Death, unfortungte; for on the way to O'uried, whither he was going to visit the Bodies of the Saints that make that place sainous, he was treacherously was going, to vifit the Bodies of the Saints that make that place fainous, he was treacheroully murdered by Affalines that, way-laid him. Who the Gontrivers of that bafe Action were, is King Sanot known, not perhaps, was it then. It is faipected, fome one of the Princes that envy'd the Murhis gleatness, was the cause of taking him off. His Body was Buryed at Ovicade, with Royal Soleminty. Some Years after, his Son D. Ferdinand, King of Caffile, caused him to be translated to Leon, and Interval in the Church of S. Isidorus, where, upon his Sepulcher is this Inferription. Here like Sanchóp, King of the Pryence an Mountains, and of Touloule, a Cabbilic Prince that floodly the Church. He was killed on the 18th of Othober 1035. To his Children, he left great cause of Debates, and much unhappines to his Kingdoms, by dividing them as he did, without any occasion. Commonly the Subjects pay for the Sins and Extravagancies of their Princes. of their Princes.

History of SPAIN.

The Ninth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The Posture of Affairs in Spain. Actions of D. Berenguel, Earl of Barcelona. Kingdoms of the Moors, Wars betwint the Kings of Castile, and Leon. Ferdinand Crowned King of Leon.

(HE mighty Wars that hap ned in Spain, the great Calamities and Defolation there- Poliure of of, and the irreconcilable Enmities betwix near Relations, and even Brothers, affairs in Spain. may be a sufficient warning to Sovereigns not to divide their Dominions, especi-Spain. may be a fufficient warning to Sovereigns not to divide their Dominions, especially when their Limits are but narrow. It is a certain Maxim, that Sovereignty admits of no Fellowship, and Ambition is not curbed by any ties, the never so Sacred. Hence may be inferred how much King's err, who misled by Fatherly Assection, rend their Kingdoms to raise many Monarchies to their Children. D. Sanebo, King of Castile and Newarre, whose Life was related in the last Book, has left us an example of that statel Policy. The Christian Dominions, then well extended in Spain, were for the most part reduced under one head, as if Heaven had purposely contrived it for the Extingation of the Moors, who their own distractions were evidently tending to min. But this King by dividing his Dominions. their own diffractions, were evidently tending to ruin. But this King, by dividing his Dominions, caufed that Opportunity to be loft. We now enter upon more variety of matter, and confequently shall not be so concise as hitherto. Therefore in the first place, it will be and confequently shall not be so concise as hitherto. Therefore in the first place, it will be requisite to lay down the posture the Assairs of Spain werein; after the Death of King Sansho. He divided his Kingdoms among his Sons, in this manner. D. Garcia, the eldest, had Navarie, and the Dominlon of Bisay, with all the Country that lies betwixt the City Naisra, and Mountains Doca. D. Ferdinand, the second Son, during his Father and Mother's Life, was put in possession of Cashie; the Title of Earl thereof, being changed into that of King. To D. Gonzalo, the youngest of the legitimate Sons, was given Sobrarve, and Ribagoria, with the Castles of Lobarris and S. Emetrius. D. Ramiro, the Bastard Son, had the Kingdom of Aragon given him by his Eather; saving some Castles, which were adjudged to his Brother D. Garcia. They all Stilled themselves Kings, and assumed Regal Honours, whence ensued dangerous and bloody Wars. Each looking back upon his Father's Grandeur, whence centued dangerous and bloody Wars. Each looking back upon his Father's Grandeur. aspir'd to equal it, and repined that his Dominions should be confined to such a narrow compais. At the same time D. Bermudo, Brother-in-law to Ferdinand, King of Cafile, Reigned at Leon. Under the Crown of Leon were comprehended the Provinces of Galicia reigned at Leon. Under the Crown of Leon were complemented in Frontiers and Portugal, and part of old Cafile, as far as the River Pijkerga. D. Ramon, called the Ramorbari old Earl of Barcelona dy'd the same Year as D. Sanibo, which was of Grace 1035. D. Beren of Barcelon guel Borello, his Son succeeded him, who, tho' little in Body, was not inferior in Valour to an Dies. any of his Ancestors. He recovered from the Moors, by force of Arms, Mamela, a place called Prados del Rey Galafre, Tarragona, Cerbera, and other neighbouring Towns. Belides, he subdued several Moors who possessed and thereabout, and obliged them to pay littly Tribute. He had two Volves, called Ramadaus and Abstad. The first brought, to mind the Second had only D. Ramada D. Berenguel; the second had only D. Ramada Berenguel, commonly askers, pained Calega & Espona, that is, Flaxen Head, from the colour and softness of his Hair, singdom. This was the possessed and the state of the state of the bove, had as many kindoms as capital Cities. Nevertheless, the Kingdom of Condowns, as the ancientest, was still the most considerable, as to extent of Territory, but weak, throw the ancientest, was still the most considerable, as to extent of the Christians been unfeel of the still the most considerable, as to extent of the Christians been unfeel of the Discord which happened betwixt the Princes, tho near Relations, and Brothers, prevented the Execution of so holy an Undertaking. D. Garda, King of Navarie, at the time of this Father's death, was gone to Robin to with the Christians been as the sum of the State o his Brother, thought good to lay hold of the opportunity his abfence offered for enlarging his Dominions. For the more security to his designs, he entred into League with the Kings of Dominions. For the more recurrity to mis dengins, ne entire time League with the Kings of Zaragora, Huefea, and Tudela, the Moors, and joyn'd his Forces with theirs. With their he broke into Navarie, and laid Siege to Tafalla, a Town of note. It hap'ned D, Garria at the fame time, returned from his Fingrimage, and gathering what Strength he could on a fudden, fell upon his Brother with fuch fury, that he forced him to fly out of Aragon, on a fudden, fell upon his Brother with fuch tury, that he torced him for hy out of Aragon, without ftopping fill he came to Sobrarve. His flight was with fuch precipitation, that he was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. Thefe was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. Thefe was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. Thefe was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. The feel was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. The feel was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. The feel was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. The feel was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. The feel was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. The feel was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. The feel was obliged to leap upon the next Horfe that came to hand, without Saddle or Bridle. The feel was obliged to have the fe opportunity of taking revenge, the Brothers being at variance, and King Ferdinand's Force, but very small. Wherefore D. Berimido gathers an Army, and enters Cashile. D. Ferdinand called upon his Brother D. Garcia for Aid, who came speedily to his relief. Their Forces being joyn'd, they advance towards their Enemy, and Encamp'd in fight of him, on the Banks of the River Carrion, in the Valley of Tamaron, near a Town called Lantada. Both sides were eager to fight, so there was no time lost, but they presently came to a Battle, which proved very bloody, and great numbers were flain. In the heat of the Action D. which proved very bloody, and great numbers were flain. In the heat of the Action D. Bermudo refolutely broke into the midft of the Enemies, designing to single out King Ferdinabla, but was wounded with a Spear, whereof he fell down dead. His Death put an end to the work, for King Ferdinabla, after this Victory, entred the Kingdom of Leon, which then belonged to him of Right, and easily posseled himself of it, notwithshading, some opposition was made only in hatred to the Government of a Stranger. But Courage without Strength; is uteless. The City of Leon at first, that its Gates against the Conqueror, but being wholly unprovided of all Necessiaries to hold out a Siege, som surrendered. The

CHAP. II.

Ferdinand of Castile and Leon, the most powerful King of Spain. Overthrows the Moors, takes several Towns, and ravages the Territories of the Infidels. Ramino, King of Aragon, Wars on his Brother of Navarre.

the most powerful King in Spain.

King of

BY the addition of this new Kingdom, D. Ferdinand became the most powerful King in Spains. His Zeal for Religion, and many Vertues, which were no way inferior to his Power and Warlike Atchievements, caused him to be called the Great, and the Flattery of his Power pole extended to far, as to file him Emperor. Besides, he was sortunate in a numerous liste. His sirst Child, before he came to the Crown, was D. Orraca, next, D. Sancho, who fucceded him; then D. Eloira, who was Married to the Count & Cabra, after her, D. Alonfo, who at laft, became fole Sovereign of all those Dominions, and lastly, D. Garcia, the youngest, all of them by one Wife. This Children were educated with that care as became their Dignity. D. Ferdinand having setled his Government, enjoyed a perfect Peace; but thought nothing could gain him more Reputation among his People, or be more pleasing to God, than to make War upon the Moors. That part of the Country lying betwist, the Rivers Guadiana and Tagus, and along the River Duero, being then the Frontiers of the Moors, was called Efremadura, and fill retains the name. Having raifed a confiderable Army, he marched towards those Borders, as being the itearest, and because the Moors then had made the Most; an Inroad into the Country of the Chriftians, and take a great Booty. The King marched and take with finch speed, that he put them to flight, and recovered all the Prey. Then encouraged several with success, he marched into their Territories, wasting all the Country about Merida and peng whony unprovided or an Necesiaries to note out a stege, toon intrendered. The Citizens conducted the King with great Joy to the Church of S. Mary de Regla, where he was Proclaimed and Crowned. Servandus; Bilhop of Leon, performed the Geremony, in the Year of Grace 1038. D. Perdinand, Reign'd in Leon 28 Years, 6 Months, and 12 Days, and 12 Years more in Cafille, part before, and part after the Death of his Father.

Badajoz, without sparing any thing that came in his way, but driving a vast number of Cat-Radajor, without sparing any thing that came in his way, but driving a valt number of Cattle and Prisoners. Besides, he took two Towns, the one called Sona, and the other, Ganis In Partingal, after a long Siege, and vigorous Resistance made by the Moors, the City Viso surrendered. The taking of this City was most grateful to the King, not only in regard fits great importance, but also because in it he sound the Moor, who, as was said before, killed his Father-in-law D. Moinso, with 'a Dart he threw from the Wall. His death the King now revenged on the inside, putting out his Eyes, cutting off both his Hands, and one of his Feet. At this time also, were taken from the Moors the Cassles of S. Martin and Takes the King that the Work of the Charles of S. Cames the Anolls. To nav his Vasse made range. Hence the King went to the Church of S. James the Apostle, to pay his Vows made, and offer new ones, to obtain that Saint's affiftance for the future, as he had till then. This hap ned the fecond Year after he was possessed of the Crown of Leon. The following Year, which was of our Lord 1040. he commenced the War with greater heat than before, by the which was of our Lord 1040. He commenced the war wing greater near than before, by the tool, Siege of Coimbra, which at length was furrendred to him upon Diferction. Want of all Coimbra Necellaries boliged the Befeged to fubmit after enduring a siege of feven Months, which fome taken from Authors miltake, and would make feven Years. At that time it was one of the most famous Cities the Most. Authors mistake, and would make seven Years. At that time it was one of the most famous Cities to in Portugal, now much more renown'd for Learning, having been made an University by King John III. of Portugal, who assigned great Revenues to it, and it is one of the chiefest in Spain. It is faid, the Monks of a Monastery called Lormanus, (or rather Lorvab) were a great help towards carrying on the Siege, by relieving the King's Army with great five of Provision they had laid up unknown to the Moors. What return the King made, is not known. By the taking of this City, the Territories of the Kingdom of Leon were extended to the River Mondago, which runs thro' it, and is called in Latin, Monda. The King gave the Government of this City, and adjacent Country, to one Sifundadu, a Man well skilled in the maneer of fighting with the Moors, having served Benabet, King of Sevil, in his Wars against the Christians, such was the corruption of that Age. After setting his Conquest, the King again returned to visit she Christon of St. "Ames, and offered vart of the Spoil in acknowledement for returned to vifit the Church of St. James, and offered part of the Spoil in acknowledgment for returned to visit the Church of St. James, and offered part of the Spoil in acknowledgment for his Success past, and to beg a continuance for the future. This done, he took a Progress to King Ferrite principal Cities of Cassis and Leon, in manner of Triumph, administring Justice, and dinards levying Money, in order to carry on the War the next Year against those Moors, who lived Progress, along the Banks of Ebro, in great security, being grown rich in Cattle they had taken from the Christians. That Conquest more properly appertained to the Crowns of Navare and Aragon; but they being at War among themselves, had not leisure to think of any other business. D. Ramiro had encreased his Dominions with the addition of Sobrarve and Ribagor-cass which fell to hip by the death of his Brothet D. Gonz alo. Some Authors will have in ea, which fell to him by the death of his Brother D. Gonzalo. Some Authors will have it that D. Gonzalo dy'd before his Father; other's fay, he was treacheroully killed by one Ramonette, of Gafcogne, who way-laid him, near the Bridge of Montelus, as he returned from Hunting. Certain it is, his Body was buryed in the Church of S. Pillorianus. King Ramon, K. Ramon, Hunting. Certain it is, his Body was buryed in the Church of S. Villorianus. King Ramiro, K. Rimble being thus encreafed in frength, made War upon him of Navarre, who with-held from him of Argan part of his Kingdom of Aragon. He was inferior in frength; but befides, being a very ex. Wars on pert Soldier, he had Succours from France, being Married to Gitberga, or as others call then his Propert Soldier, he had Succours from France, being Married to Gitberga, or as others call then his Propert Soldier, he had Succours from France, being Married to Gitberga, or as others call then his Properties of Harmefenda, the King had D. Ramiro, D. Saneba, D. Garcia, and D. Saneba, Married to the Barl of Touloule, and D. Iterla, Wife to Beltraw, Earl of Provence. Illeginates, he had a Son called D. Saneba, to whom, he gave Ayawa, Xabire, Latres, and Ribafores, all which, he dying without Iffue, returned to the Crown of Aragon. D. Ramiro's Arms were Arwa, a Croft Argens, afterwards changed by his Succellors, as shall be tool in its place. Let us recurs to King Ferdianad, who entring the Country of the Moors, took Santiflevan de Gorman, Vadoregio, Aguilar, and Fraternia, now called Berlanga, then defined throyed the Territory of Tarapona, and wafted the Country as far as Mediana Chi, throwing infidelss flows in the Country of the Country of Tarapona, and wafted the Country as far as Mediana Chi, throwing infidelss flows. nroyen the Territory of Tarafona, and waiten the Country as far as Medana Celi, throwing Indidest down all the Beacons used by the Moors to raise the People against the Christians. The varged he turned back, and passing the Mountains, entred the Kingdom of Toledo, ravaging all about Salamanca, Uzeda, Guadalajara, Alcala, and even as far as Madaria. Alimenon, King of Toledo, moved by these tollers, and searing greater, bought a Peace of King Ferdinand, for a great Sum of Money. The same was done by the Kings of Zaragora, Portugal and Sevil, and they recomined to the Country of Country of the Summer Country of Country of Country of the Country of Country and they promited to pay Tribute yearly, to the great Honour of the Christians, and Shaine of the Moors, who were now subject to those they had not long before Lorded it over. These were special Blessings of God for the good Lives the Christians then led, following the example of their King, whereby, many Moors were Converted; and the Bodies of Saints held even by them in great Veneration.

GHAP:

CHAP. III.

S. Isidorus his Body translated to Leon. Conversion of two Moorish Princesses. Garcia King of Navarre, kill'd by his Brother Ferdinand. Ramiro King of Aragon, recovers his Dominions.

140

S. Habous To Leon, much decay'd, by reason of the Wars, and with Age. D. Sancha the Queen, his Body perswaded her Husband to repair it; and Order'd himself and Posterity to be there intered; translated The more to increase the Peoples Devotion towards this Church. periwaged ner ruspand to repair it; and order a familier and collecting to be there in to to leave to to leave the more to increase the Peoples Devotion towards this Church, the King thought good to to leave the collection of the King thought good to to leave the collection of the King of Sevil, carried it with the Bodies of some Saints; and therefore made War upon the King of Sevil, enrich it with the Bodies of iome Saints; and therefore made War upon the King of Sevii, to obtain that of S. Julia, which that Prince was willing to give to purchase Peace; but the People Mutching as the time as it hould have been carryed away, those that were fent for it, in place of it, took the Body of S. Jidonus, formerly Bilhop of that City. This holy Body was Conducted in great flate to Leon, and there placed in the Church of St. John Babsili, which from thence forward lost that name, and was call'd of St. Jidonus. In the Year 1050. was held a Synod at Coyança, now Falmeia, in the Country of Oviedo, at which were prefent the King. Ouecn. Nobility. and Nine Bilhops. About the fame time run. Daughrade 1050. Was held a Synod at Coyança, now Valencia, in the Country of Oviedo, at which were A Synod at Coyança, Converd. In the King, Queen, Nobility, and Nine Bishops. About the same time two Daughter's of Moorifle Kings were Converted and Baptized; the one was Cafilda, Daughter to Almenon from of two flow was thus. Cafilda was very Compassionate; and us'd to relieve the Captive Christians, which much offended her Father, who met her one day carrying meat to them, and asking which much offended her father, who met net one day can you which much offended her father, who met net one day can you will be wat it was, the faid , They were Roses, and uncovering found the Meat Converted into those those Flowers. This Miracle mov'd her to embrace Christianity, and foon after being fick, those Flowers. This Miracle mov'd her to embrace Christianity, and foon after being fick, those riowers. Ins paracte mov a ner to emprace continuantly, and toon after being lick, the was advis'd to Bath her felf in St. Pincent's Lake, which is in the Territory of Birvieja, where the foon recover'd her Health, was Baptiz'd, and continu'd in the fame place the reft of her days, leading a very holy Life; infomuch, that the is reckoned in the number of Saints. Zaida, either by her Example, or fome other motive, was inclin'd to become a Christian, and St. Ijidarus appear'd to her in a Dream, perfwading her to put in Execution to good a number of the contributed her Extended her for the might be before mystilling to consoling the second of the contributed her Extended her Extende and St. Isidorius appear'd to her in a Dream, perswading her to put in Execution fo good a purpose. She acquainted her Father with it, and he being unwilling to oppose her, yet fearing to displease the People if he consented, agreed with D. Alonso, King Ferdinand's Son, that he should force her away from a place where he would leave her, which was accordingly performed, and the carryed to Leon, there instructed and haptiz'd. Some say she was call'd Elizabeth, others Mary, so many aftirm, the was after Marry'd to D. Alonso, when he was King of Castile; yet Pelagius Bishop of Oviedo, says, she was not his Wife, but Mistress. These contradictions, and many other that occur in this History, are hard to be reconcil'd. In the Year of Grace 1053. D. Garcia, King of Navarre, was kill'd in the Wars, being a Couragious and Wife Prince, no less a Souldier than a General. Those Seeds of Discord that Carrela Couragious and whe trince, no tens a souncier than a General. I note seems of Discort that forme Years before had been fow'd between the Brothers, now grew up to the fuin of D. Garcia.

On Eraimand pretended a right to the Territory of Brivingla, and part of Rioja. On the other fide D. Garcia complained, that wrong had been done him in the division of the Kingdom, and pleaded right of Inheritance against his Father's Will. D. Garcia fell fick at Porter. Najara, D. Ferdinand coming to vifit him, he refolv'd to scure him, but D. Ferdinand having notice of his design sled. D. Garcia to take off the hatred conceiv'd against him for that fallhood, feem'd much concern'd that his Brother should suspect him, and hearing he was fick at Burgos, went thither to vifit him. This fatisfy'd not D. Ferdinand, for he feiz'd his Bro-He makes ther, and fent him, with a Guard, to the Castle of Ceya. He corrupting his Keepers, sted to his clape. Navarre, with a refolution to take revenge. Having gather'd all his own, and the Forces of the Moors his Confederates, he entred Calile, and after palling the Mountains Doca, committed great havock. King Ferdinand was not idle, but mov'd with an Army of Experienc'd Souldiers towards his Brother. They came in fight of each other near a Town call'd Atapuerca, about four Leagues from Burgos; there Incamp'd, Intrench'd first, and then drew out in order of Battle. These two Brothers differ'd much in conditions. D. Ferdinand was affable, courteous, meek, and withal, the best Souldier of his time. D. Garcia was fierce, hatty and talkative, which made him odious to his Souldiers, besides, that he had wrongfully depriv'd many of their Estates, of which before the Battle he was desir'd to make restitution; but he refus'd to give Ear to so reasonable a request. Many fear'd God would punish him for this Unjustice, and chiefly an antient Man, whose name is not known; but that he had been his Tutor; he made some overtures for an accommodation. D. Ferdinand was willing, but D. Garcia, could not be mov'd by any perfusions, or intreaties, his Sins making him Deaf to all wholefome advice. In fine, the Signal being given, both Armies met with great fury. D. Garcia, his Tutor, feeing his Party bore down, rufh'd into the midit of the Enemy, and was there kill'd. The Navarois could not withftand the fury of D. Fardinand's Charge, and throws, & two Souldiers that had feign'd to defert to them, breaking through the Guards, kill'd the kills his King with their Spears, who being down, his Men foon fled. King Ferdinand being no lefs Brother troubled for the Death of his Brother, than he was joyful for the Victory, order'd the Chri-

Garcia of Navarre

flians that remain'd to be spared, which was perform'd, and in the pursuit only, the Moors were put to the Sword, and made Prisoners. The Body of D. Garcia, with the consent of the Victor, was carry'd by his Souldiers to Najara, and there buryed in the Church of S. Many which he had built from the ground. By his Wife D. Stephania, a French-Woman, he K. Garcia's left four Sons, and as many Daughters, which were D. Sameho, who succeeded in the Crown, lifue. D. Ramina, to whom he gave Calaborra, taken from the Moors, D. Ferdinand, and D. Ramon.

The Danghers were B. Vinney D. Frenching D. Many and D. Vingera, this left Moors. The Daughters were, D. Ximena, D. Erriefinda, D. Mayor, and D. Urraca; this last Marry'd to the Earl D. Garcia, of whom we shall have occasion to speak hereafter. The King being thus kill'd, his Dominions were wasted and divided among them by his Brothers. King Ferdinand, without any opposition, took to himself those places the dispute had been about. which were, Briviesea, Montes Doca, and part of Rioja, through which runs the River Oja, that gives its name to the Country. This River has its Springs in the Mountains of Santo Domingo de la Calçada, and falls into Ebro, near the Town of Haro. The other part of Rioja, Nagare; the Dukedom of Bifeay, Najara, Logrono, and other places remaind to D. Sancho the Son of D. Garcia. D. Ramiro laying hold of this Opportunity recovered Aragon, and Ramiro was in hopes to make himself Mafter of Navare, his deceased Brothers Kingdom, for it ap-King of pears by Ancient Records, that at this time he called himself King of Aragon, Sobrarve, Riba. Aragon recovers his gorça, and Pamplona. Belides, he recovered from the Moors, who had entred Ribagorça, a Dom Town called Benavario. At length, after much bickering, D. Sancho, and D. Ramiro concluded on the concluder of the conc ed a Peace, each giving and receiving certain Castles for their security. D. Sancho had Ruesta and Pitilla, D. Ramiro Sanguessa. Lerda and Ondusso. Both Unkle and Nephew were jealous of King Ferdinand, and feared he might make his advantage of their discord, therefore they concluded a League defensive and offensive among themselves.

CHAP. IV.

The manner how Spain became exempted from the Roman Empire. The Famous Roderick Diaz de Bivar, commonly called Cid. His Extraction and first Actions. Three Synods held in Spain.

A T the time that Spain wasted it self with Intestine Wars, Henry the Second who tran-General stated the Empire out of France into Germany, was Emperor. The Church was go-Council verned by Leo IX, and after him by Villor II. This last desiring to reform the Clergy Of Florence. grown very diffolute, called a Council to Florence, in the Year 1055. Thence he for Historian debrand, a Monk of Clumi, who for his Learning and Ability, had been created Cardinal, A Romanto move the Emperor, to reduce the Clergy, to their Primitive Purity of Life, as allo to tick relationships. to move the Emperor, to reduce the elegy, to their Frinkity Party of Life, as and to supported the Herefie of Berngarius, then breaking out at Tours in France. Our Historians Tablibeing add, that at his Councel there were Emballadors, from the fame Emperor, who among or exempted ther things complained to the Pope and Fathers, that Ferdinand King of Castile, had not only from the difowned the Emperors Authority, but proceeded to far in his Arrogancy and Pride, as to Roman Ufurp the Stile and Title of Emperor. Whereupon they exhorted the Council to stand up Empire. for the honour of the Empire, and in return the Empirer would Espoule the cause of the Church, otherwise if they refused, he should be obliged to take up Arms in defence of the Imperial Honour and Authority. The Fathers Answered, they would indeavour to give the Emperor content, and declared themselves for him, afferting the inflice of his demands. Embalfadors were sent to King Ferdinand, to warn him in the Name of the Council, to submit himfelf to the Empire, and not prefume for the future, to stile himself Emperor. They had Orders in case he refused, to Excommunicate him. The King having heard their Embasily, was perplexed, and knew not what Answer to return, and therefore resolved to convene his States or Parliament, that it might be there debated, what was best to be done. Opinions there varyed, the most Consciencious were for obeying the Pope, the bolder were positively against submitting to that heavy Yoke. At that time Roderick de Bivar, afterwards called Cid, was Roderick in the Prime of his Years, being not above 30, in high Esteem for his great Valour, Wisdom and de Bivar, Conduct. Not long before he had fought D. Gomez. Earl of Gormaz, and killed him, whereup. on he Marryed D. Ximena, Daughter and Heire is to the faid Earl, at her request, she having was moved it to the King, that he should either Marry her, or suffer according to Law. By the As many addition of her Estate, to that he had as his own, he became so rich and powerful, that he lables are adventured with his own Forces, to make excursions into the Territories of the Insidels, and in related of Battle overthew Five Moorifs Kings, who having passed the Territories of the Indiess, and in related of Battle overthew Five Moorifs Kings, who having passed the Mountain Doca, inselect the fiss Man, Lands of Rioja. He recovered the Booty, and took them Prisoners, but released them upon were of Condition, they should pay him a Yearly Tribute. At this time King Ferdinand was bulie; King Min rebuilding the City Zamora, which had not been repaired since the Moors destroyed it, the Mountain Conditions of King Ramino. He granted that such as would inhabit there should be governed ac ording to the Ancient Laws of that City, which were those of the Goths. It hap ned whilst the King was there, the Moors came to pay the Tribute; they had agreed upon to Rode. tick Diaz, and called him Cid, which in Arabick fignifies Lord. All this was done in the prefence of the King and his Courtiers, whence many took an occasion to envy and hate him. Yet the King admiring his worth, ordered that for the future he should be called Cid, which was done accordingly, so that his own name was almost forgot, the new. Title being given him, as long as he lived. Our Historians add, that the Kings Ferdinand of Cassis, and Ramiro of Aragon, being at variance about the right to the City Calaborra, they agreed to put the decision of that Controversy, to the slive of a Combat to be fought by two Persons, one the decision of that Controversy to the slive of a Combat to be fought by two Persons, one that the same than the same appointed by each King: He of Aragon choic Martin Gomez, and he of Callile took Foderick Diaz for his Champion, who slew Gomez, supposed by some to be the stock from which is descended, the Noble Family of Luna in Spain. The most learned look upon all this as Fabulous, by reason that D. Garcia King of Navarre, took that City from the Moors, and therefour the King of Argon could pretend no right to it. Roderick Diaz, being newly, Married, was not in the assembly of the States at such time, as the Emperor and Popes demands, touching the Kings submitting himself to the Empire, were heard and debated. The King was more inclithe Kings submitting himlest to the Empire, were heard and debated. The King was more inclinable to Peace, yet feared the ill confequences of condeficending to own a Forcing Superiority. Therefore he would refolve upon nothing, till Roderick was called, and confulted about this affair. He being come, and asked his Opinion, replyed, "I twas no matter of dispute, this affair. He being come, and asked his Opinion, replyed, "I twas no matter of dispute, the being unreasonable that the Liberty of Spairs, ought to be afferted by force of Arms, it being unreasonable that those who had not helped to relieve them, from the Tyranny of the Moors, should that those who had not helped to relieve them, from the Tyranny of the honour of his pretend to any power over them, that he was resolved to stand up for the honour of his "Portend and would look upon all as Cowards and Traviors, that were not of the Gard Country, and would look upon all as Cowards and Traytors, that were not of the same the Empire Country, and would look upon all as Cowards and I raylors, that were not of the same a fearful, and a fearful, and a fearful, and a fearful, and a sholl of the same wholer for the same and who were Subject to the Children. Rouer's Line was appeared to the Children Spain, and marched as far a Touloute, which the greater reputation palled the Pyrenean Mountains, and marched as far as Touloute, which City (I fuppole) was then fubilet to Spain, as appears by the infeription on the Tomb of City (I fuppole) was then fubile to Spain, as appears by the infeription on the Tomb of City (I fuppole) was then fupped to the Pope, defining Samebo the Greater above mentioned. Thence he fent Emballadors to the Pope, defining ing him todepute Commillioners to hearther easons, the Spaniards had to offer in their own defence. The Principal Men fent were Count Roderick, not he that was called Cid, and D. Alvan fence. Timer, Minaya, who prevailed with the Pope to fend Rupertus Cardinalis' Sabinens his Legate, and certain Embaliadors from the Emperor, before whom the case might be argued and decided. Mean while King Ferdinand returned out of France into Spain. The Legate and Embaladors mean white King Feramana returned out of France into Spain. In a Legate and Embaliadors flayed at Touloufe, where the whole matter having been debated, judgment was given in behalf of Spain, and it was declared the Emperors for the future, oughe not to pretend to any right over it. And from that time, it has ever been the Opinion of all Civilians, that Spain owed no school-defaunts to the Emples. over it. And from that time, it has ever been the Opinion of all Civilians, that Spain owed no acknowledgment to the Empire. Popes have also pretended to receive Tribute from Spain, as appears by a Bull of Gregory VII. directed to the King; and Lords, in which he says, such Tribute used to be payed before the Moors possessible themselves of the Country. But this took no effect, and it appears that Spain never since of the Country. But this took no effect, and it appears that Spain never fine the Tributary to any Foreign Prince. Raderick Diaz, was descended from I.Lain Calvo, mous Ro. who as we said above was judge of Cassie, for this judge by his Wife D. Evira Nuña Bella, men show how have the sum of the same shows the think of Tressa Nuña and Father of Raderick Diaz. Commonly the same shows the Hubbard of Tressa Nuña and Father of Raderick Diaz. de Biour called James Laynez, the Husband of Terefa Nuna, and Father of Roderick Diaz, commonly commonly called Cid. He by his Wife D. Xmena, had a Son called James Roderiguez, observed the Biology, killed called Cid. He by his Wife D. Xmena, had a Son called James Roderiguez, be Biology, killed called Cid. He by his Wife D. Xmena, had a Son called James Roderiguez, which were his Origi- whilft the Father was yet living, in the Wars with the Moors, and two Daughters, which were his Origiwantit the rather was yet itving, in the wars with the rather was yet itving, in the wars with the rather. About this time fome Synods were 1076.

142

Synods held a first a Compositely, and that the Canons should war Hair Cloth on the Fasting days, should fay Mass every Day, and that the Canons should war Hair Cloth on the Fasting days, should fay Mass every Day, and that the Canons should war Hair Cloth on the Fasting days, should fay Mass every Day, and that the Canons should war Hair Cloth on the Fasting days, should should have the Composite of the Dominion of the Polymer Synony in the Year 1066. Synod was held at Jaca, of the Dominions of Aragon, in the Year 1060. Two Years after Synod was held at Jaca, of the Dominions of Aragon, in the Year 1060. Two Years after this, another was Celebrared at S. John de la Pena. Neur this fame time, tho' Authors do not agree upon the Year, Cardinal Higo, the Popes Legate in Spain, in an Assembly of Nobility and Clergy, held by consent of Ramon Earl of Barcelona, in that City, Abrogated the Laws of the Golds, till then in use among the Gatalonians, and infiltrated others, which are in Force to this Day. This Cardinal Hugo, I suppose is the same, that had the Sirname of Candidus, and came Legate into Spain, in the Year 1004, at such time as there were two pretenders to the Papacy, and both filled themselves Popes. One called himself Alexander II. the other Honorius II. The Kings of Spain adhered to Alexander, whose Legate this was, and who seemed to have the better Title.

CHAP. V.

The remaining part of the Reign of Ferdinand, King of Castile and Leon. His Dominions divided among his Children. Of D. Ramiro King of Aragon. Perpignan Built.

THE late troubles cauled by the Emperors pretentions, gave the Moors an opportunity of The Moors calling off the heavy Yoke King Ferdinand had laid on them. At the fame time, as it rice against and among the Celtiberi, which is part of Aragon. The King was old, and tired with confunction and are imperfed tinual Wars, besides the revenues were exhausted, and the Subjects wasted with heavy Taxes. Queen Sancho, a Woman of a Masculine Spirit, being desirous to advance Christianity, offered towards the charge of the War, all the Money, Plate, and Jewels that belonged to her. This supply so incouraged the King, that raising a powerful Army, he attacked the Moors about the River Ebro, and made a great slaughter of them. Thence he advanced as far as Catalonia, and Valencia, and returned loaded with Booty. He had the same success against the ma, and ratentia, and returned toaded with Booty. He had the lame fucces against the Kingdom of Toledo, and obliged them all to swear, they would punchally pay the Tibute imposed on them. This done he returned home in Triumph. Some Authors write, that near Valencia, 5. Isdoma, to whom he had always a particular devotion, appeared to him, bidding him to prepare for he should soon die. His sckness, which presently followed, confirmed this Opinion, wherefore having settled all things with the Moors, he returned towards the sound of the Leon, being carryed in a Litter upon Mens Shoulders, the Soldiers and Officers striving who should carry him. On the first of January 1065, he entred the City of Leon, and as he was used, wifeted the Bodies of the Saintes, profitrating himfelf on the ground, begging a happy death, and tho the dileafe increased, stayed at Matins, heard Mass and received. The Day Ferdinand following he returned to the Church of S. Ifdones, and three days after Dyed. This is what Dies. the Archbilhop D. Roderick, and D. Lucai de Tuy write, yet others say, he dyed at Cabbron, the Archbinop D. Roderick, and D. Louds of Professional State of his death. King Ferdinand's Life was so holy, that his Feast is Celebrated at Leon as a Saint. He built many Churches, and repaired others. Queen Sancha was not inferior to her Husband in Vertue, Death of the dyed two Years after him, and was buryed by the King, in the Church of S. Islaours, Death Garibay Jayr, King Ferdinand dyed in the Tear 1067, and quetes many Authors, who Sancha, all vary in the time, as they do in the place of his death, so that these things are very un-King Ferdinand, by his last Will, divided his Kingdoms among his Three Sons, ToD. Sancho Ferdinand the Eldest he left Castile, extending from the River Ebro, till that of Pisuerga, for all that was by Will, the Eldel, he left Capitle, extending from the River Euro, till that of Piperga, for all that was to taken upon the death of D. Garcia was added to Cafile. The Kingdom of Leon, fell to D. each of his Alonjo, with the Territory of Campos, and that part of Afinias, that reaches to the River three Sons Deva, running by Oviedo, as also some Towns in Galicia. D. Garcia the Youngel, had the a King-remaining part of Galicia, and as much of Portugal, as had been recovered from the Moors, dom, and All three called themselves. Kings. Besides, King. Ferdinand left the City Zamora, to his Towns to Daughter. D. Orraca, and that of Town to D. Edwin. These Cities were then called the figure. This capable do, which is as much as the Principality, signifying thereby, the Estate left for support of the Younger Children. Spain being divided, it was impossible it should enjoy Peace, all People was in Schopper. ple were in suspenses, expecting great revolutions upon the King's death. To prevent these missfortunes, many of the Nobility had endeavoured to disliwade him, from this Resolution, and the matter had been handled in Parliament. Arias Gonzalo, an Ancient, Wife, and Expeand the matter naqueen nantied in rathament. Arias contains an Ancient, whe, and Experienced Man, had fittered most in this affair, but Fatherly Love, fuffered not his Frudent advice to take place. D. Sancho, became the Throne, as being a Comely and Graceful Youth, better veried in War than in State affairs, and therefore called the Strong. Pelagius Ovetenfis fays, he was very Beautiful and Expert in Martial affairs. He was naturally Mild and Affable, if not provoked, or incenfed by faile Friends. Upon the death of his Father, he openly complained of the wrong had been done him, by dividing the Kingdom. Yet his Mother whilst she lived, restrained him from falling upon his Brothers, especially for that after the King's death, the Crown of Lon devolved upon her, as being her own Dower. D. Sancho Reigned o Years, 8 Months, and 25 Days. At the beginning of his Reign, he had War with the Moors, and foon after with the King of Aragon. King Ramiro of Aragon, deliring to enlarge his Territories, laboured fucceisfully, to expel the remainder of the Moors out of that Kingdom. He obliged Almagdadi King of Zaragoça, and Almadafar King of Lorida, to become tributary, and overthrew the King of Huejea. Those about Zaragoça, having been subdued by King Ferdinand, were become tributary to him, but now upon the change of Kings, and relying on the affiltance of D. Ramiro, they refolved to fall off. King Saucho having speedily gathered an Army, marched against them. Those of Toledo immediately submitted, but the Aragonians stood out. Hereupon having wasted all the Country, he layed Siege to Zaragora, and presed it so vigorously, it was furrended to him upon Condition, he should be obliged to support the City against all Ememies, as well Christians as Moore.

CHAP.

Book IX

Book IX.

This Capitulation feem'd directly levell'd against the King of Aragon. D. Sancho was offended that the King of Aragon join'd with the Navarrois, who often made Inroads upon the ded that the King of Aragon join'd with the Navarrois, who often made Inroads upon the Dominions of Cafile; and befides, that he receiv'd Tribute from those Aragonians that were his Subjects. The Aragonians had then laid Siege to the Castle of Grados, built by, the Moors, on the Banks of the River Eiras, to curb the Christians. King Sanche, in pursuance of his Capitulation with the Novors, marched to raise that Siege. The Army of Aragon being the Tripit'd, and attack'd in Front and Rear by the Christians and Insidels, was easily routed frome field, others were kill'd, amongst which number was the King himself. This was much about the Year 1067. D. Rabin's of Aragon had Reigin'd 31 Years, his Body was Bury'd in the Church of St. John de la Pena, where many of his Predecellors lay. D. Sancho Ramirez, his Son, succeeded in the Throne at the Age of 18. a Prince not unlike to his Father in Virtue; In this Princes time, and in the Year of Grace 1068. Guinard Earl of Russillon, built the Town In this Princes time, and in the Year of Grace 1068. Guntara Earl of Kujjiuon, built the 1 own of Perpignan, on the Borders of France, not far from the antient City Ruffillon; the name of Perpignan was taken from one Bernard Perpignan, who kept two lnns in that place. This King Sameho is faid to have abrogated the Laws of the Golds; as the Catalonians had done betwee, and established the Imperial Civil Law. He was Married to D. Felicia, Daughter to Armengand Earl of Orgel, by shom he had three Sons, D. Peter, D. Alonfo, and D. Ramiro, was afterwards were all fucceflively Kings of Aragon.

A Baftard Son of his called D. Garcia, was afterwards

The History of SPAIN.

TheKings Death.

At the fame time there Reign'd in Spain three Kings, who were Coulin-Germans, tho' not equal in power, yet all alike in the manner of their Death. D. Sancho King of Cafile was the greateft; he had blemish'd the beginning of his Reign, by killing his Uncle, King Ramiro; and growing ferce with Success, was daily driving at greater mitchiefs; his strength being terrible to the others. D. Sancho, King of Navarre, maintain'd his small Kingdom, by making a League with him of Anagon, to fecure both against Calife. He of Calife understanding their design, thought to be beforehand with them, and broke into Navarre, without stoping, till he came in fight of Viana. There the two Kings met him, and they came to a Battle, in which the Capilians were defeated, and their King having loft many Men, return'd into his own Country. The Victors refolving to make use of their Success, broke into the Territories of Roja, and Briviesa, where they recovered all that King Ferdinand had taken. Thus tories of Rioja, and Brivielea, where they recovered all that King Ferdinand had taken. Thus were those three Princes destroying one another, without restecting upon what they might expect from the Moors. The King of Cashie could not at that time take revenge of his Cousins, being ingaged in a new War against his Brothers. He was ambitious, rash, and hor, and pretended a right to all that had been his Fathers, and did not want other grounds to rasse Quarrel upon. His Brothers, tho weak, could not be perswaded to Unite their Forces against their common Enemy. D. Sancho having gathered a powerful Army, resolved to carry on his designs. On the other side, D. Mooss, whom that storm threatned first, having sent Embassadors to procure assistance from his Brother and Cousins, gathered a number of good Soldiers, and marched toward the Enemy. Both Armies met near a Town called Piantaca. where was fought a Bloody Battle, both fides for a long time resolutely maintaining their Ground, but at length, D. Alonfo was discomfitted, his Army put to the rout, and he forced to fly to the City Leon.

CHAP. VI.

The Progress of the War D. Sancho made upon his two Brothers. He expels Alonso, King of Leon, first, and then Garcia, King of Galicia, lays Siege to the City Zamora, and is there murdered.

King Saw K ing Alonso after the Defeat above-mentioned, having with all possible speed Recruitdeb Wars K ed his Army, met the Enemy again near a Town called Golpelara, (acrotte banks of stepupon his Bishop of Owiedo, the Archbishop De Roderiek, calls it Vulpecularia) on the Banks of the Brothers. River Carrion. Here the fortune of the day was changed, and the Cashilans routed. RodeRoderiek and the Cashilans routed. rick Dyaz, who accompanied King Sancho in all his Wars, gueffing that Success would produce fecurity to the Victors, rally d his featured Soldiers, and by break of day fell upon the Enemy in their Camp, as they lay buried in Sleep and Wine. In this confusion fome fled, others flood to their Arms, all commanded, and none obeyed. Thus in a short time were they overthrown; D. Jongo retired to the Church of Carrion, which he had Carrioned. There he was taken, and fent Prisoner to the Castle of Burgos. The Princess Urraca, Sister to I note ne was taken and tent tributer to the caute of bugge. The tributes who heved to both Kings, who loved D. Alonfo, and the Count D. Peranxulet, who never forfook him, interpoling, King Sancho confented that his Brother flould go to the Monaftery of Sangun, on the Banks of the River Cea, and there renouncing the World, took upon him the Religious Habit. He took the Habit in the Year 1071. But after fome time, at the permation of King Alon- those that brought him thither, fled, and put himself into the hands of Almenon, the Moorin files to in King of Tokedo, who had been a great Friend to his Father. The Moor received him with the Moor. Joy and Affection, gave him a House near the Palace to live in, and affigned him a Pension. On the other part, D. Alonfo fiwere to be true and faithful to that King, and to be ready upon all occasions to serve him. He being of a graceful comelyPerson, modelt discreet, liberal and affable, soon gained the affections of those People. D. Orraca, his Silter, follicited for him; she obtained leave of King Sambo, for Count Peranxules, and his two Brothers; Gonzalo and Perdinand, to go wait upon D. Alonfo. With those three went many others, all whom, the Ferdinand, to go wait upon D. Alonjo. With those three went many otners, all whom, the Mooriffs King received into pay, that they might not want Sublifiance, and might be ferviceable to him in his Wars againft the neighbouring Moors. Thus that banished Prince spent his time, when the Wars ceased, he gave himself to Hunting; and for the greater conveniency, built a Country-house, whither others resorting, and building, it became a noted Place, now called Bribuega, a Town not obscure, in the Kingdom of Tokedo. His ordinary Residence was in Tokedo, where he often conversed with the K. who was very much taken with him. It hap'ned they went out one day to Recreate themselves to a Garden, near the City, num: It hap ned they went out one day to Recreate themselves to a Garden, near the City, now called the King's Garden, where D. Alonfo fell alleep. The King and his Courtiers, who lay hard by, under a Tree, began to discourse of the great firength of Toledo. One among the rest, said there was but one way to take the City, which was by Famine, keeping is blocked up seen years together. D. Alonfo, who was not quite alleep, or else wakened, was pleased to hear this discourse, and charged his memory with it.

Another day he being with the little of the contraction of the contracti was pleaned to heat this uncounter, and enarged his intensity with it. Hing, his Hair flood up an end, and tho' the King froked it down two or three times, still it role again. The Moors, who are very Superstitious, faid that was an Omen he would possess himself of that Kingdom, if they did not prevent it by killing him. But who can prevent the Decrees of the Almighty? The King, who was compassionate, could not be persuaded to break the Laws of Hospitality; but was satisfied with D. Alonso's not be perfuaded to break the Laws of Hospitality; but was satisfied with D. Alonfo's Oath, that he would ever be a true Friend to him. This is what hap hend at Toledo. King Sanebo grown haughty with Success, possified himself of all the Kingdom of Leon, some places submitting, others being taken by force, as was the City Leon, after holding out a long Siege. All being reduced, he advanced into Galicia, against his other Brother, who was in a very K. Sanebo weak condition, his Kingdom being all divided into Factions, and full of Mutinies, by readon expels his of the heavy Taxes he laid upon the People, as also, because he put the Government of Brother himself and his Kingdoms into the hands of a Servant, who was his Favourite. The Garia. Nobility offended at this killed that Servant in his presence and not 65 Griefied took its killed that Servant in his presence and not 65 Griefied took. Nobility offended at this, killed that Servant in his presence, and not so satisfied, took up Arms, and put the whole Kingdom into an uproar. This was the condition of Galicia, who King Sanebo invaded it. D. Garcia finding it impossible, his Subjects being in Rebellion, to withstand his Brother, fled with only 300 Men to the Moors in Portugal, and there endeavoured to fir them up to espouse his Quarrel, and so to revenge their own; but all his perfusions were of no force, and he obtained nothing. Being disappointed in that part; yet he resolved to try his Fortune, with such as resorted to him, some of whom came out of hatred to King Sancho, others in hope of plunder, and were of both forts, as well Moors as Christians. Thus entring his Kingdom, the Towns of Portugal easily submitted to him. King Sancho marched to quench this flame that began to blaze, before it could grow to the He marched as far as Santarem, formerly called Scalabis, there the two Armies met, and came to a Battle, in which, the Castilians were Victorious. Great slaughter were made of the Enemies, many of them were taken, and among the rest D. Garcia himself, who was kept Prifoner in the Castle of Luna, in Galicia, all the remaining part of his Life. He was naturally floathful and negligent, talkative, and unfit to weather fuch great Storms as were

D. Sancho having striped his Brothers, and being now posses'd of all his Father's Domini- K. Sancho ons, grew more haughty, and made no reflection upon the inconflancy of Humans Folicities, Befeges Having defpoiled his Brothers, nothing remained, but his Sifters, whom also he defigured to Zamora. deprive of the Lands their Father had left them. The City Zamora was well tortify 6, had a strong Garrison, and store of Arms and Provisions. The Inhabitants were faithful and refoliute, always ready to oppose any that field affailled them. A find Gongalo, an ancient, experienced, and differet Gentleman, was their Commander, and by his advice, the Princes Orraca was governed. The King feeling there was no hopes that they would fubmit to him by fair means, fate down with his Army before that City, with a refolution not to defift till he was Mafter of it. The Siege was carried on with Vigour, and all forts of Engines then in ule, apply'd against the Works; so that the Citizens being streightned, began to waver, and think of a Surrender. Such was the condition of the Town, when a treacherous Fellow, nnik of a Surrender. Such was the conduction of the 10wn, which a treatherous reliow, called Vellido Delphos, (whether of his own defign, or by advice of others, is not known) refolved to Murder the King, and by that means, put an end to the Siege. He got admittance to the King, upon pretence of difcovering the defigns of the Befeged, and showing him the treather weakeft part of the Wall. Men easily believe what they defire, to the King went out with only Markoverket part of the Wall. Men easily believe what they defire, to the King went out with only Markoverket and the Man to view what he promised to show him; but when he least thought of it, Vel-derd believe what they define the work of the King of the King of Soldiers, who being at fome diffance, could not overtake him, the Guards letting him in at the Gate. This gave occasion to the Besegers to believe, all, or most of the Townsiens had consented to the Murder. The Troops of Leon and Galicia, who were not well affected to the King, immediately quitted the Field, and returned home. Those of Cashie, being the

Chap. VII.

146

ancienter Subjects, divided themfelves, part went to carry his Body to the Monaltery of Oria, where it was Bury'd without any Poimp, the greater humber flayd to carry on the Siege, and revenge his death. They threated to fubvert the City, and juri all the Inhabitants to the Sword, as Traitors. Particularly, Jamies Ordonez, of the Family of Lega, a trants to the Sword, as Traitors. Particularly, Jamies Ordonez, of the Family of Lega, a Youth of great firength and valour, appeared before the City, armed at all points, and a Youth of great firength and valour, appeared before the City, armed at all points, and a Hordonez, threatning Ruin and Defructions. The Citizens between fear and fhame, durth not open their Mouths Only Joint Gonzalo, the he might well have been excurded by his net along of the Mouths of the Mouth of the Honor of his great Age, offered himfelf, and his Sons to fight that Gentleman, for the Honor of his great Age, offered himfelf, and his Sons to fight that Gentleman, for the Honor of his Gonzalo, Peter, James, and Roderick, entered the Lifts one after another, and were all three Gonzalo, Peter, James, and Roderick, entered the Lifts one after another, and were all three Killed by D. James Ordonez. Yet the laft, the mortally wounded, firiking at his Enemy, wounded his Horfe,, and cut his Reins, fo that the Horfe affrighted, carryed D. James of the Lifts, which, according to the Law of Arms, was a token he was beaten. The Judges could not determine the cafe, one fide Infifting upon the Cuffom and Law of Arms, and the ancienter Subjects, divided themselves, part went to carry his Body to the Monastery of could not determine the cafe, one fide Infifting upon the Cultom and Law of Arms, and the other pleading, this was meer accident; and thus ended that much celebrated Diffpute.

CHAP. VII.

King Alonso returns from among the Moors, and recovers his Brother's Kingdoms. The first part of his Reign. Aftions of Roderick de Bivar. King Sancho of Navarre Murdered by his own Brother.

K. Alonso

D'raca being in care for her Brother D. Alonfo, fent away a Mellenger to him to Toledo, acquainting him with the unfortunate death of his Brother, and advling him to come away with all fipeed, and take possellion of the Grown. The Moorifs King wanted not Totado, acquiniting him with the unfortunate death of his Brother, and advining him to come away with all fpeed, and take possession of the Crown. The Moorish King wanted not force away with all fpeed, and take possession of the Crown. The Moorish King wanted not come away with all fpeed, and take possession of the Crown. The Moorish King wanted not freedright the Common of the Crown of the Christian Army. At length, the Melienger from the Intelligence, having Spies in the Christian Army. At length, the Melienger from the Intelligence, having Spies in the Christian Army. At length, the Melienger from the Intelligence, having spies in the Christian Army. At length, the Melienger from the Very Length of the Christian Army. At length, the Melienger from the Very Length of the Christian Army. At length, the Melienger from the Very Length of the Christian Army. At length, the Melienger from the Very Length of the Ver

The beginning of D. Alonfo's Reign was not free from fome troubles, which were foon appea-fed, and ended well. In the fecond Year of his Reign, which was 1074, the Kings of Cordova, and Toledo were at War, about the limits of their Kingdoms. D. Alonjo, as being fo much aids the and 10tto were at war, about the minute of their Ringsonia.

Moorile, obliged to him of Toledo, gathered a good Army to affifth him. King Almeton, at first, fearof Toledo, et his Preparations was against him, but being better informed, both Kings joyn'd their forces, and in that manner entred the Territory of Cordova, where they wasted all the Country, and brought away great numbers of Cattle and Prifoners. No Battle was fought, because the King of Cordova hunned it. About this time dy'd the first Wife of D. Alonfo, her Name was agree. He Married a French Lady, called Confamina, by whom he had one only Baseghter, whose Name was Crease, and who afterwards inherited all her Father's Dominions, as shall be seen in its place. At the instance of this Queen, (as I suppose,) an Embally was fent to Rome, to defire the Pope to fend a Legate into Spain, with full Power to Reform the Clergy, grown very Diffolute, Richard, Cardinal and Abbot of S. Victor of Marfeilles, was the Legate, who, in the Year 1076. called a Council of all the Bishops in Spain, to Burgos. In this Council it was ordained, that the Roman Ministry should be in so ce, which (I believe to be) the forbiding of Priests to Marry. Here allo, as had been done before A Synod in Aragon, the Golbick Breviary and Missa, were abolished, and the Roman ordered to be used. Thus much as to Ecclesiastical Affairs. Roderick Diaz, was now sent into Andaluzia, to oblige the Moorish Kings of Cordova and Sevil, to pay the usual Tribute. The Kings of Granada and Sevil were at War, and the former had the better, by reason some Christians ferved under him. Roderick Diaz, endeavoured to bring them to an Accommodation, but he of Granada refuling, was overthrown, and forced to accept of the Conditions offered at first. In fine, Peace was established betwirt those Moors, and the Christian Army returned loaded with Booty, and carrying home the Tribute they had received. For the many Victories he gained, the Soldiers and People, called Roderick Diaz., Cid Campeador, which is as much as, Lord of the Field. This raised the envy of the Nobility and Gentry, who used all' means to lessen and destroy him. This was the easier to perform, because the King was before offended at him, and a new occasion of resecting on him offered it self. The Moors of An-Roderick orended at nim, and a new occasion of renecting on nim ouered to tell. I de Moors of 2nd Roberted Aduktain had Revolted, and the King went in Perfoi to Subdue them. At the same time, a number of Infidels out of Aragon, broke into Cashile, wasting the Territory of Santislevan de Roberted Diaz, who lived retired upon his Estate, knowing the King was then abortions of sent with the Forces of the Kingdom, gathered what Men he could, and therewith not only expelled the Moors, but pursuing them, entred the Kingdom of Toledo, without stopping till he came in light of that City, destroying all the Country, taking a great Booty, and 7000 Slaves, Men, Women and Children. His Enemies represented this to the King, as a breach of the leace with the King of Toledo, and faid, there was no reason to suffer a Mad-man to commit daily Extravagancies. This Affair being debated among the Nobility, it was resolved he should be Banished, and only o days given him to depart the Kingdom. He not daring to stand this shock, recommended his Wife and Children, to the care of the Abbot of He is Ba S. Peter de Cardena, a Monastery he had a particular Devotion for, and then set out with a 5. Pear de Cardeña. a Monastery he had a particular Devotion for, and then set out with a good Retinue, resolving not to be isled during his Exile, but to do all the harm he could to the Moors. The number of those that went with him, was not great; but they were chosen Men, with them he entred the Kingdom of Toledo, and going along up the River Henares, pierced into that part of Magon; where is Albama, and the River Xalon, that Waters much of the Country, being drawn out in small Chanels. He took from the Moors the strong Cafle of Moors, seated on a Hill, and thence instelled all the neighbouring. Country, having deseated two Captains, sent by the King'of Valencia, to oppose him. The Booty he took, was extraordinary rich, of which, he sent 30 Horses, led by as many Moors, and 30 Scymiters of a Present to King Mools, who received it with great signs of Satisfaction. All the People extolled his goodness and merit, comparing him to the Heroes, Antiquity has so much boasted of. King Mools gave a courteous Answer to the Mestengers that brought the Prought the Trought the Prought the Propagate of the Propagate of the River Moors and so Stringers and the propagate of boasted of. King Alonso gave a courteous Answer to the Messengers that brought the Prelent, but would not recall their Master, lest the Moors should be offended, if he for-gave him so soon; but leave was given to all those who desired it, to follow and serve under him. This was not done only to oblige him, but to rid the Country of many trouble-fome People, who being bred in Arms, knew not how to be idle. The thefe things hap-pened in feveral Years, we have put them together for the case of the Memory. Let us now turn back to the Year 1076.

D. Sancho, King of Navarre, had a Brother, called D. Ramon, thefe, tho' Sons of one Fa- Sancho, K. ther and Mother, differed much in Nature and Inclinations. D. Ramon was Turbulent, with-out regard of Julice, and many like himself followed him, with whose affistance, he aimed at the Crown. The King was very Religious, and had by his Queen D. Placencia, a young Son, called D. Ramiro; some Authors say he had two other Sons. D. Ramon stiled the Son, catted D. Kammo, toline additions are had to other sons in their Infancy, with the help of his Friends, feized on fome Strong-Holds, in order to carry on his wicked Deligns, The King endeavoured to reclaim him, but feeing all fair means were of no force; cauled him to be Impeached, and absent as he was, to be declared a publick Enemy, and Condemnand to be impeated, and abren as he was, to be detained a pushes, and each fought the Death of the other. Wicked Men are generally more cautious, and defigning, whereas the Juft, relying on a good Confeience, are more open. The King being in the Town of Rhoda, the Traytor furprized and murder d him there, D. Ramiro, the eldeft Son of the Deceafed, field for Protection to Roderick Diaz, the two others to D. Alonfo, King of Caffile. The Nobility of the Kingdom meeting, resolved not to submit to the Murdered, but because the Princes were young and absent, offered the Crown to D. Sancho, King of Aragon, Cousin-German to the Deceased. He lost no time, but embracing the offer, secured the greatest part of the Kingdom. That part class about Bribiese and Rioja, submitted to Alonso, King of Cassie, who pretended a better Right to Navarre, in regard that D. Ramiro, Father to the King of Aragon, was a Bastard. Particularly, the City Najara was Surrendred to him, where, in the Church of S. Mary the Royal, were buried the Bodies of the dead King and his Wife.

The King of Aragon, rather than break with him of Castile, agreed to pay a certain acknow-The King of Aragon, rather than oreas with him of apine, agreed to pay a certain acknowledgment yearly for Navarre, as appears by ancient Records of D. Sancho, and D. Peter.

The Murderer feeing how the new King was received, and having loft all hopes of being able to oppose him, sied to Zaragosa, where the Moorifs King gave him a. House, and certain Lands, to support the remainder of his miserable Life.

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. VIII.

The Death of Almenon, King of Toledo, and of D. Ramon, Earl of Barcelona. The Conquests of the Normans in Italy. The Conquest of Toledo refolved upon. Ramon, Earl of Barcelona, Murdered.

Barcelona.

The Year of Grace 1077. dy'd two famous Princes. These were Almenon, King of Toicedo, and D. Ramon, Earl of Barcelona, Sirnam'd the Old, which was the most remarka-Toicdo, and D. Kamon, Earl of Barcelona, Sirnam'd the Und, which was the most remarked by the thing that happened that Year. Hiffem, Son to the late King, fucceded his Father in Hicking of and the Throne of Toicdo, and during the thort time of his Reign, which was but one Year, Kanon, Barl of Reign, which was but one Year, Kanon, Barl of the Throne of Toicdo, and thingelf, as he had been charged by the thing the His Brother Hings Aldabbi, much unlike to his Father. After the death of Hiffem, Reigned his Brother Hings Aldabbi, much unlike to his Father and Brother. He was a Coward, and unfit for Government, Lewd in his Life and his Father and Brother. He was a Coward, and unit tor Government, Lewd in his Life, and spar'd not the Wives and Daughters of his Subjects, whereby he became odious as well to the Moors as Chrittian Inhabitants of Totado. Upon the death of Hijferm, D. Alonfo was different and the Company of the Dath he had taken at Totado, to be Friend to the Father and Son. Both Moors and Christians, weary of the Tyranny of that new Prince, folicited King Alonfo to free them from that Slavery, and policis himself of that City. These were the first inducements to undertake the Conquest of that most Noble City, the Metropolis of all that Kingdom. D. Ramos Earl of Rarceland dvd. in that City and was horved in the Cathedral theraps. Ramon, Earl of Barcelona, dy'd, in that City, and was bury'd in the Cathedral thereof, which he had built from the Ground, with all fuitable Pomp and Grandeur. He divided which he had built from the Ground, with all initable Pomp and Grandeur. He divided his Dominions betwirt his two Sons, D. Berenguel, and D. Ramon, called Cabeça de Espaça or Flaxèn-Head. This last, (decording to Mariana the Tounger, but according to several Testimonies brought in Opposition to bim by Peter Mantuanus, in his Animadoversions on his History, the clair Brother) Marry'd a Vertuous Lady. Daughter to Robert Guisland, a Norman, but then the Robert Guisland, a Comman, but then elder Brother) Marry'd a vertuous Lady, i laugnter to Koperi Guijcara, a Normans, but ther very Powerful in Italy, as Zmita, lib. 1. cap. 1. relates. At this time the Normans were possessed to the extreme parts of Italy and Sicily. This Lady built two Monasteries, one of the Invocation of S. Daniel, in the Valley of S. Mary, in the Territory of Cabrera, the other near Girona, where, after the death of her Husbaid, she spendid: D. Ramon Arnaldo, or most of Sanctity. Both Monasteries were given to the Nuns of S. Beneddi: D. Ramon Arnaldo, or most of the Cabrera and the much sanctive Both monatteries were given the Pulis of the Bady. About the same Berenguel, who succeeded his Father in that Earldom, was Son to this Lady. About the same time Armengaud, Earl of Vegel, made War upon the Moors in those Parts, and William Joutan, Earl of Cerdagne, profecuted the Arian Hereticks, who now began again to appear in those parts, after having been so long suppressed. He Banished them, Confiscated their Goods, made them Infamous, and put the Oblitinate to death. Throi the Valour of Armengaus, many Towns along the River Segre, were taken from the Moors, and particularly, the City Balaguer, the Metropolis of the Earldom of Orgel.

Since we have above mentioned the Normans, it will not be amis to add a few Lines in rela-Actions of tion to them their Conquests in Italy being parts we shall have much occasion to speak of in this Hiftory, It has been already faid, how they being a Northern People, posses d themselves of that enitory, it has been arready iaid now they being anortherize pie, poners a inemieties of that part of France, before called Neufiria, and from them, Normandy. This they did under Rollo, their Chilef, and General. The 7th Duke from him, was William, called the Conqueror; for that having defeated, and flain Havold, hemadehimfelf King of England. Anorther Army of Normans went thro France into Italy, which was then divided into feveral small Principalities, and much washed with intestine Wars. Here, they first ferved in the Wars of Lombardy and Tuscany, then passing into the Kingdom of Naples, where they receiv-Wars of Lombardy and Tuscany, then passing into the Kingdom of Naples, where they received Pay of the Prince of Capua, and soon after, for better Pay, went over to him of Saletrae, who, with their assistance obtained the Victory over his Enemy. This War being ended, throw the persuasions of Maniacus, Governor of Apulia and Calabria, for the Greeian Emperor, they undertook the Conquests of Sicily, then possibly the Moors. Their success was such, that in a short time, they drove the Insidels out of the Island, then salling at variance with the Greeks, expelled them also. Thus they laid the Foundations of a mighty Monarchy in Italy and Sicily, for at the same of their success, many more reforted to them out of Normandy, and Sicily, for at the same of their success, many more reforted to them out of Normandy. All that was taken, was divided among the Conquerors, but the others soon dying, all was devolved upon Robert Guiscan and Moger. Robert, called himself Duked of Apulia and Calabria, Roger was Earl of Sicily. Robert by two Wives, had these Children, Boamundus, Roger, and one devoived upon Robert Guijeard and Moger. Robert, called nimet Lukeof Apulus and Calabria, Roger was Earl of Sicily. Robert by two Wives, had these Children, Boamundus, Roger, and no Daughter, who (if what the Catalonium Iay, betrue) was Married to D. Sapini, Earl of Barcelma, as has been above related. Roger had a Son also called Roger, with Manged the Title of Earl, for that of King, and at last became fole Lord of all that the Romans held both in Italy and Sicily. Besides, Italy and Greece, were Tributary to him. This is taken out of Gaufridus, the Monk, who writ the Actions of the Normans, in Italy, at the request of the Laid Earl Roger: But let us leave lealy, and return to Spain.

The Citizens of Toledo cealed not to Sollicite, the Christians to undertake the Conquest of that City, Exaggerating the Calamittes they endured, begging relief, and proteffing it hey were not fpeedily delivered from the Tyranny of their King, they must have recourse to 6-ther Moors for Assistance. King Assis was perplexed, and knew not what to do, fearing queen on the one hand, what might be said of him, and considering on the other, the great days. losses were tage of gaining that City. Therefore he refolved to put it to the Votes of the Chief Nobility olived up-and Perions of molt Understanding. Opinions, as is usual in such cases, were various. The on-most bold and daring, were for understaing that War, shewing, the great advantage that would Accrew to the King, and to Christianity in General. Others more wary, faid there would Accrew to the King, and to Chriftianity in General. Others more wary, faid there could be no reason to attempt fuch a Conquelt, it being contrary to Conficience and Honour, to break the Peace Established with those Kings, where the King had received such Obligations. The King having heard all their Opinions, at length, yielded to the defire, he had of Conquering that Noble City, and having positively declared his intention to be such, the whole Council easily agreed to it, and it was unanimously decreed to makeWar upon the Moors. This being resolved, the King applyed himself to gather store of Arms, Provisions, Hores, and all other Necessaries. He made new Levies, and offered rewards to such of the Old Saldier who specialistics of the Nigology as would force. All things were furnished. Soldiers who were dispersed about the Kingdom as would serve. All things were furnished with the more speed, because News was brought that the Moors, having called the King of Badajoz to their Affiltance, he was preparing to relieve them. Such was their expedition, that both Armies arrived together in fight of Toledo; but the Moors perceiving King Alonfo that both Armies arrived together in light of 10000; but the 2000 policious amplications had a Gallant Army, returned without attempting any thing. Yet the City could not be taken at that time, for that the King of it was well provided against a siege, and the natural strength of the place deterred all Men. The Christians wasted the Country, burnt the country that the country t Corn, drove the Cattle and many Prisoners, and then returned home. This destruction was about began in the Year 1079, and continued the next, and feyeral Years afters. Canales and Olms, ideasafted two Towins near that City,were taken, well Garrifoned, and thence all the Country continually infelted. Thus by degrees the City began to be fraitned, and infelted much want. Joledo is for the most part furnished with Provisions brought from afar, because the Country about is for the most part furnified with frovinous prought from afar; becaule the Country about it is barren, being Sandy and Stony, there is also much fearcity of Springs, and it rains but feldom, it being very remote from the Sea, and the highest Land in Spain. Only along the Meadows, through which Tagus runs, the Land is Fruitful and Pleasant. At the same time Roderick Diaz continued the War in Ardgon, with Dia debit great success, taking several strong holds from the Moors, and wanted nothing to perfect his win sufficiently in the sufficient of the Moor of Advanced to the Advanced to the Advanced to the Moor of Advanced to the Advanced to the Moor of Advanced to the Adva ry opportunely, that in the Year, 1080. the Moors of Andaluzia fell at variance for that aman of ons ry opportunely, that in the Yea; 1080, the Moors of Amadusza reli at variance, for that adma of mote among them had elized the Caffel of Grados. Adoft the rightful Owner, had recourse to King Adons for Assistance to recover his Castle. The King sinding it advantageous to mimself, granted the Moors request, sent a Body of Troops before, and followed with a greater Force in Person, but the Enemy being subtle-protracted the War; so that the King feared Slipping the Seaton of going to Toledo. This moved him to send for Roderick Diaz, who was then in Aragon, and to whom he gave that Command, having received him with great affection, and the more to oblige him, ordained that for the future, no Gentleman should be obliged to go into Banishment under Thirty days warning, whereas before they had but Nine. The Ring marched to Toledo, and Koderick Dias put an end to the Wat in Andalusia, recovering the Castle of Grador, and taking the Moor that had feized it, whom he feat to the King. the Cattle of Grados, and taking the Moor that had leized It, whom he tent to the King. Thus much in Andaluzia this Year. The next which was 1081. D. Garcia, the King's Brother departed this Life, having caused his Veins to be opened in the Prison, where he was D. Garcia kept, so highly did he resent the loss of his Kingdom and Liberty. His Body was carryed the Kings to the City Leon, and there honourably buryed, in the Church of St. Isladous, his two Sifters, Brother many Bisons, and Nobles attending the Solemnity. He dyed ten Years after he had been a Beath in Prisoner, and fifteen after his first Accession to the Crown. Roderick Diaz having settled don-prison. Prifoner, and fifteen after his first Accession to the Crown. Roderick Diaz. having stetled Anticia, returned to the War in Angon, where in Battle he overthrew the Moorish King of Denia, and D. Sanebo, King of Angon, who assisted him. This Victory was so considerable, An overthat King Assisted Sent for him, did him much honour, and gave to Him, and his Heirs, the Three throw gir Towns of Brivesies, Bertanga, and Areigna. Alfagio, the Moorish King, having recruited wen the his Forces after the defeat entred Cashie, wasting the Country, as far as Consugerd. The Institute of King Assisted Wasten bus before Toledo, he Breedily marched to oppose the Insidel. Both Armies met, a great number of Moors was than, and their King etcaped by slight to a Castelle. The joy of this Victory was much allayed, by the unfortunate Death of James Regionalization of the Country of the Castelle Siver, Son to Roderick Diaz, a Youth of great hopes, who began to follow his Fadistics of Breedings of the Sir of the Castelle Sir of the Cast Tomb is fill to be feet. Allagio the Moor, tho twice defeated, gave not over, but fill dred, his gathering a fresh Army, broke into Cashie, without stopping till he came to Medina de J. Campo, Son Armon defeated to the desired by the Cashie Son Armon des Arvaryancz, Minaya, a brave Man, related to Roderick Diaz, met, and defeated him the Third function.

This hap ned in the Year of our Lord 1082, at which time D. Ramon Earl of Barcelo- him.

na was basely Mundered, near a Town called Percha, betwixt Offairie and Girond. His Brother Berenouel was the contriver of his Death, and was therefore so hated by the People, that he went away to the holy War, and at Jerusalem is said to have lost his Speech, and there. Dyed. His Body was buryed in the Cathedral of Girona. His Son D. Ramon Arnaldo succeeded him, heing not full a Year old, but famous for the time he enjoy'd that. Principality; for the greatness of his Actions, inferior to none of his Predecessors, and for that he enlarged his Dominions, not only by the addition of Besalu and Orgel, which for want of Heirs, devolved to him, as Feifs of the Earldom of Barcelona, but also by Marrying D. Aldonga, whom others call Duies; Daughter and Heiress of Gilbert, Earl of Provence, with whom he had. that large Province in Dower. By her he had two Sons, D. Ramors and D. Berenguel, and three Daughters, one called D. Berenguela, or Berengaria, Marry'd to D. Alonfo, Itiled the Emperor. The Names of the others are not known, but both were Marry'd in France. This Prince was long at variance, and held War against Alonso, Earl of Toulouse, and after much contents in, they agreed among themselves to adopt one another's Families; so that which soever was first Extinct, the other should Inherit. But this hap'ned long after the time we are now writing of. Let us return to the War of Toledo.

Chap. X.

CHAP. IX.

The famous City Toledo closely Besieged, and Surrendred; Many other Places taken. King Alonso Stiles himself Emperor. THE continual waste the Christians made in the Country about Toledo, burning, plundering, and driving all before them, had reduc'd the Moore of that City to great freights. The Christian Inhabitants ceased not to prefs. King Alonjo to sie down before it, promiting, they would foon open the Gates to him. That lafting War had exhaufted the Subjects, yet the King's resolution overcame all difficulties. , Great Levies were made, and all things provided with a full delign never to delift till the City were taken. It is naturally firong, and fo feated, that there was a necessity of dividing the Army into feveral Bodies, and confequently, a greater Force was requifite. It is a matter of great confequence to have the good Will of neighbouring Princes, as appeared in this War, for befides the King's own Subjects of Cafile, Leon, Bifay, Calicia and Afturias. Sancho, King of Aragon and Navarre, brought a good Body of Men to the Siege, Supplies also came from Italy and Germany, and the French, as being nearer, came ingreater numbers. Because the latter served well in this War, and upon other occasions, great Privileges were granted to such of them as would stay in Spain, whence, as I suppose, such as are free from Taxes are among us called Franc. of all the solutions was formed a mighty Army, which marched without delay towards roledo, full of hopes of speedy success. The Moorish King made all the necessary Preparations to endure a siege, but most of all rely do not the natural Strength of the Place, encompassed with high and craggy Rocks, thro' which the River l'agus in a wonderful manner breaks his way, and runs almost round the City, except on the North side, where is a steep and difficult.

Toledo closely Be-

150

The man- ascent, defended by two strong Walls, one above the other. To Besiege this Place, the ner of en- Army was divided into seven Brigades, which took up all the Avenues, so that no Relief could be carried in. The King, with the best of the Army, Encamp'd and Entrench'd himself in the Meadows, at the soot of the Hill on which the Town stands. Some Skirmishes hap'ned near the Wall, but nothing remarkable in them, except that it was observed the Christians were the better Foot, and the Moors the experter Horse. Towers of Wood were made, and all other forts of Engines apply'd to the Wall, which, tho' they beat down part of it, yet it and an other forts of Engines apply a to the Wall, which, and they beat down part of flyer it availed not, because the aftent was difficult, the Streets narrow, the Houdes high and frong, and the Defendants numerous. Thus the Siege was protracted, Provisions were fearce, the Country about being wasted, the heat of the Summer came on; and the Army began to be fickly. All these things cansed the Soldiers to with for some Honourable Accommodation. At this time, Cyprianus, Bilhop of Leon, acquainted the King that S. Islidous had appeared to him, afforming the City would be taken in 15 Days. The Befieged inferred great want, having fpent all their Provisions. Whereupon, gathering in a Body, they repaired to the Palace with clamours, requiring the King to Capitulate. He having endeavoured to appeale them, affirming they should be speedily relieved, and sinding they persisted in their demands, fent out Commillioners to Treat. Some day are ring frent in Expostuating, and debating Articles the Matter, at length the Treaty was conflued upon these Articles. That the Palace, of surren. City Gates, Bridges, and King's-Garden, be delivered up to King Alonsb. That the Moor-

'ish King may go to Valencia, or where he shall think fit. The same liberty to be allowed the 'Moors that will bear him company, and they may carry their Goods and Moveables. Such as will ftay in the City, shall not be molested in their Persons or Goods. The chief Mosque fhall continue in their possession. No other Taxes shall be imposed on them, but such as they paid to their own Kings. They shall be Try'd by Judges of their own Nation, and Toledo fur- no others. These Articles were folemnly Sworn to on both sides, and Hostages given rendered for performance; which done, King Alonfo, with great Joy, in the nature of a Triumply, entred the City on the 25th of May, being the Feast of S. Crban, Pope and Martyr, in the Year of our Lord 1085. Some Authors say 1083. That City was in the hands of the Moors about 369 Years, Julianus says 366. and that the Moors took it in the Year 719, on S. Whan's Day, during which time, the Moors being nothing Curious in building, it lost much of its former Beauty. The Streets were narrow and crooked, the Houses ill contrived, the very Palace was of Mud-walls, and flood where now is a great Hofpital, Founded by D. Peter formalists. de Mendoza, Cardinal of Spain, and Archbishop of Toledo. In the midfl of the City stood the chief Mosque, on a rising Ground, the Building at that time nothing sumptious Soon after, it was Confecrated, and in process of time built from the Ground, very large and beautiful. The fame of this success was foon fpread abroad, and Emballadors came to Congratulate with the King from feveral Princes. The Morifb King, according to the Capitulation, went away with a good Guard to Valencia, which was his own, where he preferv'd lation, went away with a good Guard to Palencia, which was his own, where he prefery'd the Title of King. On the other fide, many Brigades of Christians were dispersed throughout the Kingdom of Toledo, to reduce all that remained in the possession of the Moors, which proved no difficult task, they being terrify'd at the loss of so great a City. Many Towns were taken, the most noted were, Maqueda, Escalona, Illesas, Talavera, Guadalayara, Mo-Many ra, Consiugera, Madrid, Berlanga, Buyirago, Medinacqi, and Coria, many of them ancient Towns ta-Towns, not far distant from Toledo, strong and seated in a pleasant and fruitful Country, ken. Some of the Moors of Toledo accompanied their King, but the most faid behind. Their number being great there was danger they might many the first concentiative Revolt. number being great, there was danger they might upon the first opportunity Revolt. To prevent this evil, the King resolved to settle his Court there, till such time it was better Peopled with Christians, and new Fortifications raised to secure it. Houses and Lands, were by Proclamation offered to all fich as would come and inhabit there, which drew a great number of People. Among the reft, we have an account of one Teter, a Greeian, of the Imperial Family of the Paleologi, of Confaminople, who is faid, to have served during the Siege, pertain ranning of the Faccough, of Conjaminopic, who is said, to have served during thesisege, and therefore the King, the Town being taken, gave him a House, and Lands of Inheritance. From this Gentleman, the great Family of Toledo pretend to be descended. From this time, it is said, the King's Quarter in Toledo, was so called, because the King gave that part of the City to the new Inhabitants that resorted thither. A new Palace was began to be built in City to the new Inhabitants that reforted thither. A new Palace was began to be built in the highest part of the City, all to the intent the better to curb the Moors. After this, we K Monfo find King Alonfo began to still himself Emperor, whether he had reason fo to do, we will filled and dispute. He was purt up with the Conquests of that new Kingdom, and being Sovereign of the greatest part of Spain, and the King of Aragon, and Moorifh Kings being his I'ributaries, he thought no Titles too great. His Joy was somewhat allayd, by the death of his Sister D. Urraca, whom he respected as a Mother, and she deserved it for her singular Vertues. His other sister, D. Elvira, was Married to the Count de Cabra, to whom, he gave her to appease him, having provoked him by some rash words, as is related in the General History of D. Alonfo the Wife.

CHAP. X.

The Election of the new Archbishop of Toledo. The abolishing the old Missal and Breviary. The Original of the Archbishop of Toledo. His Spiritual Jurisdiction over all Spain. King Alphonso's Wives and Children. New Wars break out

To the Vest 1086, the City of Toledo, being well Inhabited with Christians, and the Moors kept under, the King convened a Synod of Bilhops, at which, many of the No. An Archibility were present. The cause of their meeting was to chose an Archibility of Toledo, and bilhops by the unanimous consent of all, Bernard, Abbot of Sabagun, was Elected. He was a Man chosen, of a vertuous Life, a ready Wit, sound judgment, very Learned, and Upright, which good Qualities moved them to prefer him before all others, tho a Stranger, as being a natural born French-man, of the City of Mgen, in, the Province of Aquitain, or Guienne. In his Youth he was a Soldier, at riper Years took the Habit of a Monk, at Aux, and was Bernard sent thence into Spain, by Hugo; the Abbot, at the request of King Alphonso, to reform the first Archibonaftery of Sabagun, which he designed to be the head of all the Benedidines in Spain. Although ter he had been their Abbot some time, he was promoted to the high Dignity of Archibsop of Toledo. That his Honour and Authority might be the greater, the King freely gave to him, and his Successors, Archibsops of that See, many Towns, Lands, Mills, and House, In memory whereof, an Anniversary is Celebrated for King Alphonsop revery Year in that Church in Jame. This done the Synod broke up. Having settled the Affairs of the City, the King went alway to Leon, leaving Queen Confiance, and the Archbishop there with a good Garrison. There was but a small number of Christians, in regard of the Moors; yet all things seemed to be well secured. However, the rathness of the new Prelate, put the City in danger of being lost. Our Ladies Church, which, as carious Persons have observed, is now a Moonastery of Carmeliters, was then the Cathedral, the great Church being in the Hands of the Moors! Monastery of Carmelites, was then the Cathedral, the great Church being in the Hands of the

Chap. I.

152

Moors. It seemed not decent, that in a City taken from the Moors, they should possess the best Church, this might in time have been regulated, but the Archbishops hast, had The great like to have ruined all: He agreed with the Queen to take it forcibly, from them by Night, church and accordingly breaking open the Doors, cast out all that belonged to the Mahometans years for the country in the Service. This Alarm'd the Insidels, so that they could scarce refrain from reveng-the Moors of the Country in the Country in the News of the Country in the Country in the Country in the News of the Country in the C to Articles what had been done was brought to the King, he was greatly inraged, and Posted away to Toledo, with full resolution to punish this breach of Articles, with the utmost severity. All the principal inhabitants of Toledo, knowing his defign, went out in Mourning to meet him, and the Clergy in Procession, and being come to his presence, Prostrate on the ground, begged Pardon. Their intreaties were of no force, for he pertisted inflexible. God Almighty in an unexpected manner, put a stop to the evil that was feared, for the chief of the Moors, their Passion being over, considered, if the King used any severity on their account, it Moors, their Pallionbeing over, conlidered, it the King uied any feverity on their account, it might after his days turn to their Ruin, wentout of the City, and meeting the King, begged The Moors he would forgive the Queen, and Archbifhop, fo they might for the future, be fecured in beg for their Polleilions. This requeft, made by the Infidels, was fo furprizing, that he not only parthe Queen and Archbifhop.

The Allows He Moore of Our Lady of Fannary, should be for ever preferved, making it a Feltival under the Name of Our Lady of Peace.

The Dates:

It was fail above the Fideland About the Moore of Our Lady of Peace.

Archbi-

ved, making it a Festival under the Name of Our Lady of Peace.

The Popes

It was said above that Richard Abbot of Marjeiller, was sent by Pope Gregory VII. as his Legateshis gate into Spain, and that in a Synod held at Burgos, he had Established the Roman Ceremonies, and form of Prayer. This Legate abused his Power, committing many infolencies, without regard to any thing but gain, which scandalized the People to, that they railed not only at him, but at the Pope himself. Bernard the Archbishop, was troubled at these miscarriages, but had not the Power to Redress them. It was then the Custom of Spain, in pursuance of a Decree, of the Eighth General Council, which was the last of Constaminople, that no Metropolitans should be Constant on sexergist their Emploitant ill their Election was confirmed. politans should be Confecrated, or exercise their Function, till their Election was confirmed by the Pope, and he had sent them the Pall. This process of time was extended to Bishops. Upon these two Motives the Archbishop resolved to go to Rome, but before his departure, with the King's Approbation, he gathered a Synod of Bishops, and Conscerated the Cathedral of Toledo, under the Invocation of St. Mary, St. Peter, St. Paul, St. Stephen, and the Holy-Cross. Orban II. being Pope, in the Year 1088. Rernard the Archbishop being at Rome, obtained all he defired, to wit, the realing of the Legate, and the confirming of himself Primate of all Spain, and that part of France called Gallia Gotbica. By this Authority, being returned from Rome, he called aSynod of the neighbouring Bishops to Toulouze, where he prevailed to be received as their cauca asynod of the neignouring binops to I bulback, which is prevained to be received as their Metropolitan. Before the return of the Archbifhops to I oledo, the Legate had attempted to Abrogate the Golbick Millal, and Breviary, and introduce the Roman. This had been often endeavoured, but the People Tenacious of Old Customs still opposed it. Now the Queen, the made Pri-Spain. Primate, and the Legate used fuch means that at length they prevailed, yet so that in the Angement clent Churches, the Ancient form should still be continued. Which is observed to this day; And that Service is still used on certain Festivals in those Churches; Besides, in the Cathedral there is a Chapel, to which belongs a number of Chaplains called Mogarabes, or more properly Mixtiarabes, who still use that Massal and Breviary. This name of Mixtiarabes, corruptly Mogarabes, was given to the Christians, that in the time of the Moors, lived under their Government, and mixed with the Infidels. All the new Churches in Toledo, were ordered to fay Mais according to the Roman Liturgy. This debate being ended, the City began to flourifu, beautiful new Buildings were erected, many of the Moor went away, and their places were filled by Christian inhabitants, to whom were granted Priviledges and Immunities, as appears by the Royal Charters, still preserved among the Records of Toledo. In the Year 1091. Bernard the Primate, who studyed nothing but the publick good, gathered a Synod at Leon, at which was prefent Cardinal Raynerius, the Pope's Legate, who fucceeded Richard the Cardinal. Many Decrees were here made for Reformation of the Clergy, at that time grownive-ry corrupt. It was also ordained, that for the future, in all publick Writings the Goshick Character should be no longer used, but instead of it the French.

How the Archbi-

It will not be amis in this place briefly to flow how the Archbishops of Toledo, came first to be Primates and Metropolitants of all Spain. Some will deduce it from the time of the Apollies, and pretend, that S. Eugenius the Martyr came to Spain, and was the first Archbishop of Tolcdo, but we have only the Authority of Modern Authors for it. By the Ancient biflop of Toledo, but we have only the Authority of Modern Authors for it. By the Ancient cameto be Councils it appears, that their Authority is not folong a finading, fince they fign not to any to be primates of all Spain. The first place. There were formerly in Spain 5 Archbishopricks, viz. Tarragona, all Spain.

Bigga, Merida, Sevil, and Toledo, and none of these acknowledged any Superior but the Pope, and each took place in Councils according to the Seniority of his Confectation. Now the Goits, who at first posselled themselves of the Kingdom of Toledo, having subdued all other Barbarous Nations in Spain, and made themselves Masters of the whole Country, hence this city being the Court of those Kings, began to assume a Superiority over all the rest.

This Authority took its first force in the Seventh Council of Toledo, which ordained, that all the the Neighbouring Bishops, should in their turns, being called by him their Primate, repair to that City, and there attend on the King and Archbishop for the space of a Month. The Aschbishops Superiority being thus far established, was much advanced in the twelfth Council of that City, which decreed that the Election of all the Bishops in Spain, should be confirmed by him of Toledo, as had till then been done by the King, From that time forwards, all the other Bifnoys allowed him precedence, and he figned first to the Acts of Councils. This was all the Priviledge those Prelates then injoy'd above others. When Spain had fallen ma-Ans was an the privilege enter relace that may a above chief, we tell opins had taken under the flavory of the Mort, for a long time that City had no Bihops. At length when it was recovered by the Christians, the Archbishops were not only restored to their former Digity, but made Primates of all Spains. Pope Orban the Second, was the first that gave them this rerogative, and it was afterwards confirmed by Pafqualis Gelasius, Honorius Celestinus, Innocent, Zueiut, Eugenius III. Adrian IV. Alexander III. Urban III. Honorius III. Gregory IX. and many others, whose Bulls are preserved to this day, among the Records of the Cathedral of Toledo. Many Archbishops have had their Cross carryed before them, throughout all parts of Spain, yet at several times have met with some Opposition. At present they exercise no or opin, yet at leveral times have net will ione Opposition. At present they exercise no furfildition, over the other Provinces, but only enjoy the Title, and have Precedence. It was faid above, that King Alonfo had two Wives, Agnes, and Confiance, by the latter, K. Alonfo he had the Princes Uraca. Confiance dy'd, after the taking of Toledo, and at the fame time, his Wives her Sifter in Law D. Elvina, the King's Sifter; the was bury'd at Leon, with her Sifter D. and Islue. her Sister-in-Law D. Elvira, the King's Sister; she was bury'd at Leon, with her Sister D' Urtéa. After the death of Constance, the King Marry'd the Daughter of Benabet the Moorish King of Sevis, she being converted, and changing her name of Zaida for that of Mary, or, as others will have it, Elizabeth. Of her was born D. Sanebo, a Prince of great hopes had he sive. The King after this Marry'd a Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth time, with Berta of Tuscany; Elizabeth of France, and Bestrix, whose Birth is not known. By Elizabeth, he had two Daughters, Saneba Marry'd to Earl Radorick, and Elvira Wife to Roger King of Sicily. King Alonso had besides, by a Mistris Called Xinema, two Daughters, Elvira Marryed to Raymund, Earl of Toulouse, and Trees, Wife of Henry of Lorrain. D. Urraca the King's eldest Daughter was Marry'd to Raymund, Brother to the Earl of Burgundy, they had issue first D. Saneba, and then D. Alonso, who for the many Kingdoms he United, was called the Emperor. Thus much is Collected but of very Grave Authors, yet Pelagius Bishop of Oriced, who lived about that time, and in the very close of his History says, King Alonso had but sive Wives, and that Zaida, the Daughter of the Moorish King, was his Concubine.

THE

History of SPAIN.

The Tenth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The Moorish Family of the Almoravides comes into Spain. King Alonso twice overshrown by them. Several Strangers come out of France; to serve under him, he be-Stows three of his Daughters on them. The holy War in the East.

Mong the Moors the Family of the Amoravides having got the better of the Ala-The Mooravides, who till then held the Empire of Africk, fettled their Kingdom at first in that part of Maintainia, which High thes along the Ocean, and Mediterranean of the Alasca. Thence they pass over into Spain, and Spread themselves through, a grown moravides.

Part of it. The occasion of their coming was thus: King Alamb had Marryd the Daughter Spain. of the Moorifi King of Sevil, and therefore at his request, sent to invite Joseph Tephin King of the Almoravides out of Africk, to assist his Father-in-Law, towards the reducing all that the Moors possessed in Spain under his Dominion. Joseph would not let slip to fair an opportunity of invading Spain, but not being able to go inPerson at that time, tent a good Army under the Command of Hali Abenaxa, a Famous Commander. Hali having join'd the King of Sevil, their Friend Hali Sent Service of the Service of th this was not lating, and their differences increasing, they came to a Battle, in which the King to a fifth was defeated, and killed by one Abdalla. This Victory made Hall Master of all the Dominions the King of the deceased, in the Year 1001. All the other Kings of the Moors were reduced, or of South of the Minester of the Moors were reduced, or of South of the Moors were reduced. called himself Miramamolin of Spain, a name denoting Regal Authority among the Moors, him Now 10

Chap. II.

154

Now the Kings of the Mors, who were Subjects, and paid Tribute to King Monfal thinking this a fit opportunity to recover their Liberty, cast off their Obedience, and refused to service with the many Victories obtained over their own People, turned the course of their Arms, as gainst the Christians. Their first attempt was against the Kingdom of Toledo, where they over-ran the Country, putting all to Fire and Sword, and recovering some Towns given, in Dower with his Daughter, by him of Sevil, which were Cuenca, Viles, and Huste. King Alors for the Command of two Eanls, D, Gravia, Seview who had Married his Silter, and D. Roderick, who coming to a Battle with the Moors, who had Married his Silter, and D. Roderick, who coming to a Bartie with the moofs, overover- over- over number of facts. In the second of the second Abdalla by Night made a Sally, and most of his Men being kill'd, was himfelt taken; and the Day following, in the fight of the Moors, who stood upon the Walls, torn to pieces and burnt, for the Murder of his Sovereign the King of Sevill. Hali, weary of the Seige, acburnt, for the Murder of his Sovereign the King of Sevin. 17411, weary of the Seige, eccepted of fuch conditions as were offer'd him, which were to pay down a great fumm of Money, and a Yearly Tribute. 2ndaluzia being fetled, the Army match'd into Angen, where they Befreg'd Zaragora. The Befreg'd offer'd to pay Tribute, and put themselves under the King's Protection; but he hoping to become absolute Marter of the City, loft both Hofeps the the one and the other. For Joseph having gather'd a mighty Army, pas'd over ont of Africa, goich the the one and the other. For Joseph naving gamer'd a migary withy, pais a over out of wingle, with a delign to punish Hali for revolting, and then to invade the Christians. This being known in the City and Camp, the Belieg'd took heart, and the Beliegers for fear of what might comes out happen, were fore'd to quit their Enterprize and depart. Joseph was 6 successful he parted of Africk. Sevil, where he Beheaded Hali, then Cordova was surrended to him, and soon after, all that the Moors held in Spain was brought under his Dominion, either by force, or their dwn voluntary fübmillion, those that were subject to the Christians revolting from them. King Mono thought not this a sime to be idle, when the Moors of Africk were joyned with those of Spain, and therefore resolved to be before-hand with them. To this purpose, he made all necessary Preparations, gathering Arms, Horses, Provisions and Money. Not only the Lajty, but the 'Clergy were obliged to take up Arms, old and now Soldiers raifed, and Sapplier follicited from abroad. Many Strangers moved by the great danger Spain was in, and defi-Several ring to ferve in that War, came over, especially out of France. Among these, Raymund, Earl of Burgundy, and his Kiniman Henry, who was Born at Befançon, was of the House of Lorrain, and in process of time, the Founder of the Kingdom of Portugal. Besides where ferve athere came Raymund, Earl of Touloufe. With them came a good number of Brave and Experienced French Soldiers. D. Sancho, King of Aragon, was not wanting, he they very ancient, yet had the Vivacity and Courage of Youth, and was an excellent Commander, having gain'd Experience in the continual Wars he had with the Moors. All these Forces made up fo great an Army, that they resolved to invade the Enemies Country. They entred Andaluzia, plundring and wasting all where ever they came. It was no time for the Moors to be ide, both Armies came in light of one another, near a Town called Augusto, but 79/epb finding himself inserior to the Christians, shunn'd sighting. His retreat was more like to a disorderly Flight, for he lost great part of the Baggage. King Alonso thought it better to content himself with the Honour gained, than to tempt Fortune; besides, that his Army, being composed of so many different Nations could not long hold together. Thus he returns the content had the state of the state ed home, his Army loaded with Spoils, and pleafed with their Succeis. After this for some time, the Almoravides attempted nothing farther, for Joseph was forced to repair to Afrik, to settle his new acquired Kingdom. Mean while, King Alonso stept not, expecting the War would soon break out again. Therefore he resolved to strengthen himself with fresh Allies would foon break our again. Therefore he refolved to ftrengthen himself with fresh Allies kingdoss shroad. In the sire he gave three of his Daughters in Marriage to those three Lords so Marry'd D. Elvira, Daughters that came to his affiliance out of France. Rephinud, Earl of Toulouse, Marry'd D. Elvira, Daughters to Strangers. Henry, of Lorrain, D. Tereja, both Illigitingthe, Raymund, of Burgundy, had D. Orrain, got in Wedlock. This Prince is said to have rebuilt Salamanca, by the King's over, Sancha, the King's Daughter, was Marry'd to Earl Roderick. From him, some will have the Noble Family of Giron to be descended. To Henry was given in Dower, all that had been recovered from the Moors, in Portugal, which the Title of Earl yet as Subject of Carlyet as Subject of Garlyet as Subje ginal of the new kingdom of rortigal, which the it a tretwards alumed, and contained in the Line of this Prince above 400 Years. Raymund, of Bargundy, had the Government, of Baileia, with the Title of Earl, then usually given to the Governors of Provinces, yet, the best of his Portion, was the hopes of succeeding in the Throne, if Sancha, the King's Son dy'd. The Earl of Toulouse, received his Portion in Money and Jewels, but no kands in Spain, because he resolved to return to France, where he had large Possession by the Original Spain, because he was write the the Civil of Linbus was seen he with America in the

There are Authors, who write, that the City of Lisbon was taken by King Monfo, in the Year 1093. but this is doubtful, for it was often taken from the Moors, and lost again, till 1093. fome time after this, it was gain'd by the Christians, and has ever fince remained in their hands. Much about this time began the Holy-War in the East, carried on by most of the Christian Princes, for recovery of the Holy-Land. Peter, a Hermit, who Travel'd into Palashine, was the first Promoter of it. for he making his Observations there, discoursed war in the Balt. to Palefine, was the first Promoter of it, for his making his Observations there, discoursed War in Simon, Bishop of Ferigialem, about it, and having received Lettersfrom him, moved the same thing the East. to the Pope. Triban who then sate in S. Peter's-Chair, ordered a Council of Bishops to meet at Clermon, in France, to promote the carrying on of this War, and the mean while, by his Legates, stirred up all the Princes of Confirmations to share in so Glorions an Undertaking. His Endeavours prov'd so fuccessful, that all Countries sounded on nothing but Warlike Preparations, most Princes aimed to signalize themselves, by showing their Zeal in so Pious a War, and Thoussaids of private Persons voluntarily Enrolled themselves to serve upon their awar and Thoussaids of private Persons voluntarily Enrolled themselves to serve upon their own cost. But we must not stray too far into Affairs so Foreign. Let us return to what

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. II.

The great Actions of D. Sancho Ramirez, King of Aragon. He is killed at the Siege of Huesca, his Sons continue the Siege, Rout a great Army of Moors and Christians, that come to raise it, and take the Place.

IN the Year 1094. was Born D. Alonfo, Son to Elenry of Lorrain, and his Wife Terefa, 1094. who by his Valour made the Name of Portugal famous, extended his Dominions, and was Birth of who by his Valour made the Name of Portugal famous, extended his Dominions, and was Birth of the first of those Princes that assume the first of Kings, which he maintained in opposition to Alosso the Kings of Castile. The fame Year was unhappy for the unfortunate death of D. Sancho I. King Kings of Aragon, who merited the esteem of his Subjects, not only for having governed and maintained his Kingdom as well as any of his Ancestors, but for enlarging and extending its Li-King of maintained his first that came down from the high Mountains, where his Predecessors Aragon, maintained themselves by the natural strength of those Places, into the Plains, where he took many. Cities and Towns. He had continual Wars with the Moorish Kings of Balaguer, and Prace and Abliged them to say him Tellum. Then of Balaguer. took many. Cittes and I owns. He had continual Wars with the Moorijh Kings of Balaguer, Letida, Monron, Barbafiyo, and Fraga, and obliged them to pay him Tribute. Then after a long and tedion's slege, took Barbafiyo, a Noble City on the Banks of the River Pro. in a delightful Country. Tho' the strength of the Walls was great, yet the King's constancy Hisadionis and indefatigable Labour of his Men, overcame all Difficulties; so that it was entred by against the Assault, and Plundered. From that time Barbaffro was annexed to the Bishoprick of Rhoda, Moori, At this Siege Armengaud, Earl of Orgel, was flain, and thence called Armengaud of Barbafiro, He being the King's Father in law, and Father to his Queen Feltria, his death was revenged with great flaughter of the Townsmen. Bolea, a Town on the Borders of Navarre, thon the River Cinga, after a long reliftance, was taken from the Moors. So also Mongon, a strong the River Cinga, after a long resistance, was taken from the Moors. So also Monson, a strong Town in that Territory, with many other Towns and Castles, too tedious to rehearle. Estal, then a small Town in Novarare, now a famous City, was built at this time. King Sancho having a design upon Zaragoga, raised a Castle, called Castled, five Leagues beyond that City, on the Banks of the River Esto, to bridle the Moors; and waste the Country about, in which, that Garrison was so successful, that the City was often reduced to such want, as if it had been besieged. In that part of the Country where were formerly the Vascessian, as we will the Town of Luna, remarkable for nothing more than for being the Origin. Town of the Moore and of the Mobile Family of that Name in Station. The Kind who was much given pollute which Luna built. feetani, was built the Town of Luna, remarkable for nothing more than for being the Origi. Town of mal of the Noble Family of that Name, in Aragon. The King who was much given to Piety, obtained Luna built. a Grant of Pope Alexander II. by which, the Monaftery of St. Jobn de 162 Pena, and others in his Kingdom, were exempted from the Juridiction of the Bishops. This was done under colour, that the Bishopsthro Covetosines took to themselves the Revennes. Of the Monasteris Certain it is, in those times the Monks aspired after too much Liberty, which made their Abbots obtain the Privilege of using the Miter and Crosser, to betoken Episcopial Power, by which means they cast off the subjection due to their Ordinaries. The principal Vice the off shipsaking Iring the Miter of the Charles of the Churches. This seemed excusable, on account of the general Poverty, Bishop, and extraordinary Charges of continual Wars. Besides that, he obtained a Bull from Pope and extraordinary Charges of continual Wars. Befides that, he obtained a Bull from Pope Gregory VII. by which, he had full Authority given him absolutely to dispose of the Tenths of Gregory VII. by which, he had the Authority given him abiolively to dispose of the Tenthson all fish Churches as were erected of new, or regained from the Moort. Nevertheles, some Years before his Death, in the Church of St. Vitorian of Robads, he publickly asked Pardon of that offence, promiting amendment. Raymundus Dalmachius, Bilhop of that City, was present, to whom, he caused Restitution to be made of all that had been taken from him. The King never ceated infefting the Most, and was particularly bent against Addressman, King of Husfes. He had already possesses of Husfes, the had already possesses of Husfes and Husfes and Husfes and Husfes and Forsing of risejes. The major areasy pointed number of an the neighboring 1 owns, and for-tify d Montaragon, that it might curb that City. At length he fate down with his Army before it, fecured all the Avenues, and placed his Head-quarters on a Hillock, which ever-fince, is called Popo de Sancho. The City was very strong, and the chief Bulwark of the Moore, X 2 Dominions Dominions on that fide, therefore the Siego was protracted, there being no possibility of forcing it. The Befieged fued to Alonfo, King of Cafile, for Relief. Kings for the most; part have more regard to their particular Interest, than the publick Good. It was scanda-lous, openly to side with the Moors, therefore he thought it a good expedient to Invade lous, openly to lide with the Moors, therefore he thought in a good expedient to invades Navarre, by the way of Bilicay, and so to give a divertion. Count Sancho was fent to putitis in Execution, who being met by the Princes of Magon, D. Peter and D. Monjo, fent by their father to that purpose, was cobliged to turn back without effecting what he came the Every day the siege was streightined, and King Sancho tird with lying there so long, was treated to the source of the sanchous treatment of the sanchous tr every day the stege was areignmed, and King Sancos area with 1911g there as 100g, was viewing the Walls, when finding a place he thought fit to be Attacked, he lifted hip Armito flow it to those that were with him, and an Arrow, flow from the Wall, hit him under that Arm, fo that the Wound proved Mortal. He dy'd on the 4th of June, his Body was carried to Montaragon, and deposited in the Church of Jesus of Nazareth, which he had built. Thence it was translated to S. Jobs de la Peña, where is to be feen the Tomb of his Queen. Felicia, who dy'd some time before. Neverthelets, his Sons, as had been ordained by theiri Father, continued the Siege, resolving not to stir till they had destroy'd the City. D. Peter, whith his Father was yet living, called himself King of Ribagorga and Sobrarae, and had by the Wife Rotta of Sons shows the sons Name. Peter lucceeds him. his Wife Berta, or Agnes, a Son of his own Name, or as others will have it, called Sandon.

This Peter inherited all his Father's Dominions. D. Alonfo had some Lands assigned him, and the youngeft Brother, called D. Ramiro, was a Monk. The Siege of Huefea lafted no. lefs than 6 Months, others fay above two Years. At length, the Belieged tired with want, called to their aid Almoqaben, King of Zaragofa, D. Garcia, Earl of Cabra, and another great Man, whole Name was D. Gonzalo, for in these consuled times, it was held no same for Christians of and Infides again Christians.

And they marched together from Zaragoza. Things being in this posture, D. Ganzalo went not himlest, but a Body of and Infides again the Christians.

Men sent by him and D. Garzia, joynd the Moorife King, who had raised a great Powers and they marched together from Zaragoza. Things being in this posture, D. Garzia, whehe the sieges the out of good will, or deceitfully, is not known, advised the new King Para. Siege, and half home. Honour, and the Promife made to their Father at the hour of his Death, prevailed with the Brothers. Near the City is a large Plain, called Aleraz, famous for this Battle, where the Christians resolved to meet their Enemies. The Night before the Fight, the King in a Villon, faw a more than Humane Person that assured him of the Victo-Fight, the King in a Vision, saw a more than Humane Person that assured him of the Vistosity. Prince Alonso led the Van, the King brought up the Rear, the main Body was under the Conduct of two same parties. Lifana, and Bacalla, Men of known Valour and Worth: The Hofte were placed in the Front, and began the Battle, then the Foot fell in the numbers of lifieds filled all the neighbouring Fields. Both Bodies being come to close, the right was desperately maintained. Nothing could be heard but dying groans, acclamation with the fell was desperately maintained. Nothing could be heard but dying groans, acclamation of the fell was desperately maintained. Nothing could be heard but dying groans, acclamation with the fell was desperately maintained. Nothing tool he heard but dying groans, acclamation with the fell was of the Battle, without the Moore that fought, and the nolic of Arms. Night put an end to the Battle, without the Moore that fought, and the nolic of Arms. Night put an end to the Battle, without the Moore that fought, and the nolic of Arms. Night put an end to the Battle, without the Moore that fought, and the nolic of Arms. Night put an end to the Battle, without the Moore that fought, and the nolic of Arms. Night put an end to the Battle, without the Moore that fought, and the nolic of Arms. Night put an end to the Battle, without the Moore that four the Moore that four the Moore that four the Moore that four the Moore that the Moore that four the Moore that the Moore that four the Moore that D. Garcia was taken, the Booty was great, and all the Fields were covered with Weapons, Blood, and Dead Bodies. Some fay, 5, George was feen fighting, and by his help, the Victory was obtained. Others affirm, that a Gentleman of the Family of Mon that time was in the Holy Land, appeared a Horfe-back in this Fight. It is of crease the fame of a Victory to feigh Miracles. Authors agree, That from the Arms of the Kings of Aragon, were Argent a Croft, the colour is not named, y the a Quarters of the Efeuteben, being the Heads of as many Kings, or Geney Battle, which was fought on the 18th of November, and the 9th day after, Battle, which was fought on the 18th of November, and the 9th day after, Battle, which was fought on the 18th of November and the 9th day after, Battle, which was Confectated. In the Field of Battle the King built a Church of the 18th of November and cation of St. George. At the fame time, the Cathedral of Pampiona was Founded, fome roughly was control of the Canons flould observe the Rule of S. Augustin.

CHAP. III.

Great Preparations thro' Christendom for the Holy War. Valencia taken by Roderick de Bivar, Other Actions of his, suspected to be Fabulous. His Death, and that of Joseph, the Moorish Monarch.

Hillt thefe things hap ned in Spain, all the rest of Christendom sounded of nothing but Preparations for the Holy War. Pope Orban, at the General Council his held parations

V V but Preparations for the Holy War. Pope Wroan, at the General Council me and for the Holy War. Pope Wroan, at the General Council me and for the Holy War. If France, and by his Legates at the Courts of all Christian Princes, Stirred them up to undertake this Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; Issue Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; Issue Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and Montof Note; India Christian Religious Work. Many Bilhops, Princes, and M Great Preand Conflituted 30 Canons, and as many Half-Canons, taking up the Crois, departed to British, wards the Holy Land. No fooner was he gone, but the Canons he had appointed, met, and Archbichofe another Archbithop, Expelling those that opposed this unlawful Proceeding. D. Ber-Tard understanding what had been done, returned to Toledo, and Expelling all that had a outforthe hand in that Dispracy, put Monks of the Monastery of Sabagam, in their places. This done, Holy-land his fets forward again, and being come to Rome, was obliged by the Pope to return home against as their viring his Presence was necessary at Toledo, being a place but lately recovered, and Mostlad. He shedyed him of the Vow he had made to go to the Holy-Land, upon and unfetted. He abfoled him of the Vow he had made, to go to the Holy-Land, upon condition he should lay out the Money he had designed for that Expedition, in Rebuilding of Contation he modis, asyon to the money ne had deligned for that expedition, in Reduilding of Tarragona, a Gisty then newly taken from the Moors, by the Earl of Barcelona. In the time is fine of the Romani, it was a Noble City, and the Seat of their Empire in Spain, fince, reduced to backby the affinall, number of poor Houles. D. Bernard, Repaired it, and Translated Berngarius, Bithop of Vigue, thinker, with the Dignity of Archbishop. Yet the new Archbishop forgeting this Favour, afterwards contended with Bernard about the Right of the Primacy. Pope Types put an end to the strife, assigning the Supremacy of all Spain, to Bernard, and his Successors.

Bernard, the Archbishop, in his way thro France, brought along with him many Learned and Pious Men into Spain, who were afterwards promoted to great Dignities. Among them also came Burdinus, not worthy to be named among them, for he afterwards made himself Anti-pope, and caused a Schism in the Church, as shall be hinted in its

Roderick Diazy Sirnamed Cid, or the Lord, was not idle all this while, but having obtain'd leave of the King, who was butte in Andaluzia, with a choice Band of his own Forces, fell upon the Moors that dwelt upon the Borders of Aragon and Caffile. All the Moorifs Princes apon the moor that were upon the bottless of Jungua and Samue and Albarraxin. Then he went to wift the King of Larageea, who received him with great figns of Affection, hoping with his affiltance to make himlest Master of Valencia. This City is seated where Valencia, noping with his auttance to make himieit Mairer of Valencia. Ins City is leasted where Valencia, formerly were the Editain, near the Sea, in a very pleafant Country, and has always been a where place of great Trade, and very Rich. Hiaya, he that had been King of Toleda, was then in feated, bepolicifion of it, having inherited it of his Father America, to whom it belonged. The Lord field and of Draia, Xaliva, and Totola, laid clote Siege to it. The King of Zaragoza thought to relieved. raile himielf upon the Ruins of others, for the Besieged having sent to him for Relief, he hoped under that colour to subdue both them, and the Besiegers. He agreed with Roderick Agged under that colour to though both them, and the Benegers. He agreed with Koderick Diac, and hoth marched thither. The Lord of Denja knowing himself inferior to them, made Peace with Valencia, and raifed the Siege. Neverthelefs, the King of Zaragoga, would have posselled himself of Valencia, had not Roderick Diac opposed him, for that it was under the Protection, of the King his Mafter. Hereupon, that King returned home. Roderick Diac, ander colour of assisting the King of Valencia, made his own advantage, obliging all the Moors thereabouts to pay him Tribute; with which, and the Booty, he maintained the charge of the Was. thereabouts to pay him Tribute; with which, and the Booty, he maintained the charge of the War. King Hisya, before grown odious to his subjects, encreafed their hatred, by being a Friend to the Chriftians, 40 that they called in the Aboravades, then grown Powerful, who killed Hisya, and gave the Sovereignty of the City to Aborava, the Contriver of that Revolution. Roderick Diaz desiring to punish their Treachery, and reloying that an opportunity was offered him of taking that Noble City, resolved to lay Siege to it. Valencia was well stored with Provisions, Warlike Ammunition, a good Garison, and a great number of resolute Citizens; yet his Constancy overcame all those Difficulties. He laid close Siege to which lasted a long time, till the Besength wasting Provisions, and the configure to home of the which lasted a long time, till the Besength wasting Provisions and fenging to home of the which lasted a long time, till the Besength wasting Provisions and fenging to home of the second wasting Provisions and fenging to home of the second wasting Provisions and fenging to home of the second wasting Provisions and fenging to home of the second wasting Provisions. resource cutizens; yet his Contrancy overcame an unite limitations. He taut cute biege to it, which lafted a long time, fill the Bessege wanting Provisions, and seeing no hopes of re-Rodrick de lief, Surrendred. Not so fatisfied, tho' it seemed a talkings, he resolved to main. Biortakes that that City, and in order to it, made one Hierome, a Companion of the Archisshop Valentia, of Toledo, Bilhop of it. Moreover, he brought thither his Wife and Daughters, whom, as was said above, he had left in the Custody of the Abbot of S. Peter of Cardena. To the King, for that he had favoured his deligns, he fent a Present of 200 choice Horses, with as many Scymiters hanging at the Saddles. Such was the posture of Roderick Diaz's Affairs, when two young Lords, called Earls of Carrion, their Names, James and Ferdinaud, Men Marries of great Birth, but mean degenerate Souls, having obtained the King's Recommendation, his Daughters at Valencia. It hap ned foon after, that a Lion breaking lofe, tersto the they both hid themselves in an undecent place; and at another time, in a Skirmish with the Earls of Moors they fled. These things made them grow contemptible to their Father-in-law, who Carrion. Reproached them, and they fludy'd Revenge. Suero, their Uncle, who ought to have given them better advice, heightned their malice. Having refolved upon the Villany they were to act, they prepared to return home. Their Father-in-law having accompanied them part of the Way; returned to Valencia, and they profecuted their Journey, till they came to a Wood, in the state of the way. on the Frontiers of Castile, after they had passed the River Duero. There sending away most of their Retione, they took the two Ladies into the Wood, and having frip'd them naked, whipped them till they lay for dead, wallowing in their blood. In this manner they were cruel found by O'Monius, tent after them, by their Father, who suffected fome ill defign. He Adion of capried them to the next Village, where they were dressed, and taken care of. This Villain those larks ous Act brought upon the Plushands the hatred of all Men. Roderick Diaz. feeking revenge, had recourse to the King at such time as a general Assembly of the States, or Parliament, was held at Toledo. Judges were appointed to determine what was to be done, the chief wherenett at 10th 2007. Unges were appointed to determine was as to cone, the timet where of, was Raymund of Burgundy, the King's Son-in-law. After a full bearing, it was decreed that thee two Lords flould reftore all that they had received with their Wives, and that they and their Uncle Surro, should Combat with three others, appointed on his part by Roderick Didz. Three Men of note, whose Names were Bermudo. Antolin, and Gustio, undertook his Quarrel. The young Lords endeavoured to evade the Combat, by gaining time, so Roderick Diaz went away to Valencia, and they to their Estate. But the King not satisfied Roberton Diax went away to valenta, and they to their Estate. But the King not latersed, obliged them to fight at Carrion, where they were all three overcome. Roderick Diaz's two-Daughters were Marry'd again, D. Elvira to D. Ramiro, Son to D. Sancho Garcia, King of Navarre, who was killed by his Brother Raymund, as 'was fald above, D. Sal, to D. Peter, Son to the King of Aragon, of the same Name; both which, sent to demand them in Marriage, D. Ramiro had by D. Elvira, Garci Ramirez, who was afterwards King of Navarre. D. Peter dy'd before his Father, and left no liliue. Two saveral times King Buear, who came out of Africk, was overthrown in fight of Valencia, by Roderick Diaz and his Forces, who kept that Africk, was overthrown in light of Valencia, by Roderick Diaz, and his Forces, who kept that City as long as he lived, which was five Years after the taking of it. He was near his Death when the same Bucar came again before the City, and perceiving it could not be maintained after, his Death, ordered in his Will, that they should all in a Body quit the place, and return to Cashie. The Moors believing it was a powerful Army, that designed to give them Battle's bandoned drew off. Those Christians marched without ceasing till they came to Cashie, and Valencia by the being left without any Garison, fell again into the hands of the Moors. They that came from Valencia, brought with them the Body of Roderick Diaz, which was Bury'd with great Magnificance, in the Monastery of S. Peter of Cardena, near Burgos, K. Alonjo, and Roderick Diaz's two Sons-in-law being present. Many look upon most of this Relation as Fabulous; and I write more than I believe because I would not whally only what others affer a lack Churich.

CholocalV.

Monarch.

Chapter.

write more than I believe, because I would not wholly omit what others affirm. In the Church of S. Peter of Cardena, are to be feen five Tombs, that of Roderick Diaz, that of his Wife.

and those of his Son and Daughters. Perhaps, they are only empty Monuments, such as are called Cemotaphia, erected in Honour of such People.

The Death of Roderick Diaz. de Bivar, was a great loss to the Christians for his extraordinary Valour, Conduct and Prosperity. Authors do not agree about the Year in which it hap ned, the most likely Opinion is, that it was in the Year of our Lord 1093. About this time, Pope Croban translated the Bishoprick of Iria, to Compositella, at the request of Dalmachina, who was the sirts Bishop of that City, and made it independant of the Sec of Bragal. King Alongo, the very ancient never neglected the Affairs of War, but made feveral Incurfi-ons into Analqueia, which was the more easie to be done, for that Joseph, the Moor, was re-turned into Africk This gave the Christians some time of breathing, which the King made use of K. Alongo's to encrease the Religious Worship. He built a Monastery of Benedictines at Totelo, of the In-Works of vocation of S. Servachata and S. German, others say, he only repaired it. Besides, he erected Piety.

At Burgot, without the Walls, he Founded another Convent, now called S. John of Burgot. The Year following, which was 1099, was remarkable for the Death of Pope Triban, and the taking of Jerujalem by the Christians. Cardinal Raynerius, who had been Legate in Spain, a Person of great Worth and Experience, sinceeded Triban, by the Name of Pasqualis II. He in the time of his Papacy, granted a Privilege to the Church of S. James the Apostle, that after the manner of the Church of Rome, it might have seven Canons Cardinals, and that the Bishops of that See might use the Pall, an Ornament betokening greater Authority, than that of common Bishops. The next ensuing Year, which was 1100. proved no left pleasing to the Christians, by reason of the Death of Toleph, who was Sovereign of all the Moorie in Aprile, about 32, than it was at last unfortunation of the University of the Space of 12 Years, and of those in Aprile, about 32, than it was at last unfortunation of the University of the Space of 12 Years, and of those in Aprile, about 32, than it was at last unfortunation.

CHAP. IV.

The Death of Sancho Prince of Castile, and of the two Kings, Peter the first of Aragon, and Alonso VI. of Castile. The Moorish King of Zaragoza. Of Saniso, Prince of Califa, was Tutor to D. Sanciso, King Alamfo's Son, and the Heir Apprince of Califa, parent of the Crown, but Death finatched him away, and with him, the great hopes called by the form emmyrable Action, passed over into Spain with a powerful Army, and having enter the Moor.

Crassed it there, entred the Kingdom of Toledo, wasting all the Califa. In fight of the City. King Alonfo, by reason of his great Age and Sicknets, could not go out in Perfon to oppose him. He gave the command of his Army to the Earl D. Garcia, and for the greater Honour, Sent his Son D. Sambo, tho very young, with him. Near Velez, the two Armies met and engaged. In the heat of the Fight, the Prince was struck down, D. Garbei goward him with his Shield, and with his Sword kept off the Moors that affailed him on outh fides Long he kept them at a diffance, till being weakned, by many wounds, he fell downsteed upon him he defended. This disafter made the Infidels Victorious, alt is need. The Infi-Jeda Correlate how grievous this lofs was so the King; he asked what might be the reason, of dels with being so often overthrown by the Moors; and a wise Man answered. That the Soldiers were rious. debauched with Ease and Luxury, which made them unfit for Service. Herebyon, the King condered all incentives of Luxury to betaken away, and among the reft, caufed the Baths, shen much need in Spain, after the manner of the Moors, to be deftroy'd) Some hope remained in D. Alonfo, the King's Grandchild, by D. Urraca, his Daughter, but he was very Young, and a Womans Government seem'd not seasonable,

The continual good Fortune of the King of Aragon, diminished the Joy of the Moore for their success in Castile. Of late, the Insidels went down the wind in Aragon, for the Chrimadre, and the City Barbastro, whither the Bishoprick of Rhoda was Translated. Now the nadre, and the City Baroajro, whither the Binoprick Of Kooaa was Frantaced. Now the Adagonians bent all their Strength against the City Zaragoga, which the Amoravides had poffessed themselves of, having expelled the ancient Kings. These that follow, were the Kings that had Reigned in that City. The first was Madir, then High, next Amudasar, Moorijo after him began another Race in Zuiema, to whom sinceeded Hamas, then Joseph, then Al-King's of mataxim, then Abdelmeliob, and then Hamas, Sirnamed Amusacayto, whom the Amoravides Zaragoz. deprived of the Kingdom. At this time, in France, Atho, who after the Death of Raymund, Earl of Barcelona, Father of Arnaldus, had Ultirped the Sovereigney of the City Carcassonie. where he had been Governour, was expelled the place by the inhabitants, and it reftored to its Lawful Prince, in the Year 1102. This same Year, Amengand, Earl of Orgel, was flain by the Moor in the Island of Majorca, whither he went to show his Valour, and was thereby the ration in the manufacturing was marry'd to a Daughter of Perangules, a great Man in Capile, and Lord of Valladoid. By her he left a young Son, during whole Mhority, the Grandfather governed, and afterwards Marry'd him to a Lady, called Affenda. The Year of Crantitating governous and answers wants from 17 to 18 King of Aragon, and his Siften Elizabeth dy'd upon the fame day, and the King himfelf, whither for Grief, or thro's some other Diffenper, is not known, departed this Life the Month of Aragon, following. He was flury'd at 8,5 John de la Persa. Pape Urkan, at the begianing of the War his son a dinthe Hely-Land, granted to this King the Tentis of all Churches that floud be new built, all die. District from the Adors, excepting only Cashedrals. Alongo, Brother to the late King. Along the Adors, excepting only Cashedrals. Alongo, Brother to the late King. Along the Lands the Lands of Lands and the Lands of Lands of Cashedrals. In the fecond Year of his Reign, he Marthe Cown and Dansher to King. Month of Cashie. This March was made by the King. Of August. read 5. Correct, Danjanton of the Mobility, who would have had be the King; contrary to the deares of all the Nobility, who would have had her Marryd to D. Goise, Earl of Capacipina. None of them durft open this to the King; therefore they charged, a Larrior Consequence. Note the cutton often time to unreading a moreover they charged a from who was the King's Doctor, upon the first opportunity to acquaint him with their Thoughts. (This lews, as the King was one day diverting infield, broke the business to him. It highly offended the King that the Nobles should presume to dispose of his Daughter; therefore he for ever forbid the Phylician coming into his prefence; and then halfned the Marriage of his Caughter, which was performed with great State at Toledo in the Year 1106. Marriage of any Lyanghter, which was performed with great state at loseds in the Year 1106. King Alonfo formewhat cafed with the fatisfaction of this Match, and defining to revenge the death of his Son, tho' yery ancient, took the Field again, and entring chicaluria, deftroyed all the Province with Fire and Sword, sparing neither Man nor Beath. This done, he spring the text of the Government as much as could be. Yet he took care that Salamance, and the state of the Government as much as could be. Yet he took care that Salamance, and the state of the Government as much as could be. Segroia, which had been ruined by the Wars, should be repaired, fortified and embelished. Peranzules, a Man at that time in great vogue, who had been Tutor to the Princess Cirraca in her Minority, and was now the King's Favourite, had the whole management of publick in het Minority, and was now the King's Favourite, had the whole management of publick Affairs, and by his Prudence and Vertue, icen'd to support the Government. The King now quite speint with age, for he lived 79 Years, grew sickly, and was languishing a Year, and seven Monthsu, yet by the advice of the Physicians, he rode out daily; but the natural warmth of Goriedo, who lived at that time teffices, like legical 4.9 Years, was modelt in Prosperity, and Thoughout, who lived at that time teffices, like legical 4.9 Years, was modelt in Prosperity, and Consternation, were about abandoning the City. The King's Body was kept there 20 days, King of sill this Paonick Feat was over, then it was carry'd to the Monastery of Sabagous, and there Bury'd with great Pomp 3 the greatest, that of the Tears of his Subjects, who lamented so Bury'd with great Pomp; the greatest, that of the Tears of his Subjects, who lamented fo Bury a wrong reat compy the greatest since Mean of the Suppless, when same the in Breat along, as they had in him. Their Tears seemed to forhold the those Calamities that off seed, and the very Stones at Leon, prefiged this Ceneral Lamentation. At the foot of the Astar, where the Priest uses to stand at Mass, in, the Church of S. Hadorn, in Leon, the Product Astar; where are green uses to mand at mans, in, the court of S. Undorne, in Leon, the Strange, strongs, shed water, not where they joyrid, but in the very middle, for the space of three Prodigy, days continually, which were Thurlday, bridge and Saurday, according to Prace, who then loved. This happened 8 days before the King's death, and betakened the Tears of all Spain: This Bishops and Clergy, hereupen, made Processions; to, appears, God's. Wrath. In this King's steigts one Losmes, a French man, lived in great opinion of Sanctity, at Burgor, his chief bufinels was entertaining of Pilgrims. His Memory is, Itill Celebrated in that City, and his Feast Yearly kept in the Church of his Name. Four Leagues from Najara lived sinhis Feaft. Yearly kept in the Church of his Name: Four, Leagues. From Najara ; flyed show the Holy Man, a Spaniard, or as others say, an Italian, who used the same the Church of S. James the Aposter.

Chap V.

160

Men. Repaired the Ways thro which the Pilgrims went to visit the Church of S. James the Aposter.

I suppose King Josip made use of him, in building the Bridges that are between Logroise and Santiago. About the end of the Reign of King. Alonio, one Mojes; a learned Jew, and a great Linguist, was Converted, and writ against the Jews and Moore so effectually, that many of both Nations were Converted.

· CHAP. V.

The Reign of Queen Urraca. Her Lewdness. She is Divorced from her Hulband, Deposed from the Government, her Son Alonso Proclaimed King

A T the time when King Alonfo dy'd, his Daughter D. Urraca, Heirefs of the Kingdom was ablent with her Husband. He had no great confidence in the Nobility of Cafiin, who had opposed his Marriage, and therefore would not venture among them without a good Body of his own Subjects. This kept him back from taking possession of that large Kingdom. The Queens Lewdness, which was great for a Person of her Rank, was concealwoman. The Queens Lewdnefs, which was great for a Perfon of her Rank, was contealed and hid. Garrifons of Argonians were put into many Cities and Cafiles, to keep the Cafillians in shipefrion. Persacules having great Alliances in both Kingdoms, was entrusted with the Government, and kept all things in good order. His Power lasted not long, for the Queen, a turbulent Woman, being sent before by her Husband, instead of Honouring him, as became his great Merit, treated him ill, not only removing him from the Government, but seizing upon his Estate. All the pretence she had for this rash action, was became in his Letters, he fittled her Husband King of Cafile. This is what was given out, but in reality, she was forry she was Marry'd, because her Husband curb'd her Lewdnefs, and as I am apt to believe, that discrete Maniverproved her scandous Life. The King was concerned for great a Man Biosid be so ill treated, and restored all his Estate. He fearing the Queen's difficulties withdrew to the Earldom of Orgel, whereof, as was fluid above, he had the charged Radit her women of the state of the contrast of the Cafile of Cages the Acea, and delfoyd's the Monastery of S. Servandas, whill all the Country about was in a collary state.

Not content with this, he laid Siege to the City, and for the space of 3 days batter-date.

The King Man of the Monastery of S. Servandas, whill all the Country about was in a collary state.

How I have Faire, a great Man in those days by his Valour state. the City by King Alonfo, faved it. Along Fanez, a great Man in those days, by his Valour contributed much to the fafety of the City. All hopes of prevailing being lost, the Moore raised the Siege, and in their way home plundered Madrid and Talavera, threw down their raised the Siege, and in their way nome plundered magnata and tamoura, threw down their Walls, and departed with a mighty Booty. In Angon, the King was incrediful against the Moors, and took Exea, a Town of note in Navarre, in the Year 1110. Near Valterra, he overthrew Abubafalem, King of Zaragopa in Battle. After this, he allimed the Title of Emperor of Spain, as his father-in-law had done before him. Having at length felted the Affairs of Aragon, he came to Cafile in the Year 1111. His principal Study was to gain the King dow Affections of the People, and to that end, he Honorned the Nobility, Relieved the Diffres'd, foot are Protected the Weak, and was Affable to all People; infomuch, that he got the good will of good below all Men. Only the Queen's hard Heart was inflexible. He ordered Villorado, Berlanga, Sociofall and discrete Tenance uning but the West and People and P aria, and Aimapan, Towns ruined by the Wars, to be Peopled, and then returned to Aragon, refolving to carry on the War against the Moors. King Alonjo, was third Coulen to the Queen, his Wite, for D. Sambos the Greater, was Great-Grandfather to them both. It was not then usual for the Pope to dispence in those Cases, and therefore many Princes had been Divorced. For this reason, I suppose, King Alonfo is not reckoned among the Kings of Capille.

Besides, the Queen for her distolute Life was imprisoned in the Castle called Castlera. whence he made her etape into Capiellar, when capiellar Reception he expected, for the Nobility fonther back to her Husband, who again put her in Prilon. Mean while, the Nobility fonther back to her Husband, who again put her in Prilon. Mean while, the Nobiles of Galicia, where D. Alonfo, and D. Crraca's Son was bred, held Confultation in the Defigns of the Argonians. They were glad they had found a flaw in that Matto, which they had fo much opposed, and therefore gave out, that the People were not obliged to own him that was not their lawful King. Hereupon, they fent an Embally to Pope Pagualis II. who committed the Examination of that Affair to James Gelsmith; liking of Satisface. White the determined is not known, but it is certain, where the their consents.

quais 11. who committed the examination of that Arian to James Genmer, issued or Sames Sago. What he determined, is not known, but it is certain, that from that time forwards King Alongo began to bear the Bishops ill will. Those of Burgos and Leon, were Expelled their Diocesses, he of Palencia imprisoned, the Abbot of Sabagus was deposed, and D. Ramino, the King's Brother, put in his place. Bernard, the Archishop of Toleco, was two Years Banished his Diocess, notwithstanding his Legantine Power, and his being Primate of all

Spain. During this time he held a Synod at Palencia, the Acts whereof are extant to this Two Syday, Another Synod he held at Leon, at which befides, many Bishops and Nobles, James nods. Gelmirer of Santiaga was prefent. Their chief care was to establish Peace, for the Forces of Aragon and Naparre, marched against Galicias, and had taken the Castle of Monterlio by Storm: Yet the King of Magon, at the instance of some Holy Men who interposed, desisted. All things were done disorderly, without regard to Justice, and both Parties longht to strengthen themselves, for carrying on of their designs. It seemed hard to the Castlistans, and Galicians, to be governed by the Aragonians, the King of Aragon, right or wrong would keep the Kingdom he was posseled of. Such as opposed him were displaced, and their states taken from them. The Galicians, being delivered of their first feat, made a League with Heirly Earl of Portugal. This gave them Courage to Proclaim Prince Monso King, tho See, a Caremony not used till then in Spain, but brought up to Authorize that Act the more of Kings Pater Barl of Trava, Tutor to the Prince, was the chief contriver of all these proceedings, first used This Action offended the King of Aragon, he was divorced from the Queen, and set her at 1891. Liberty, she having been Prisoner in the Castle of Soria. Nevertheles he would not quit the Kingdom, that was her Dower. The Governours of places, tho not absolved from the Quath they had taken to him, revolted to the Queen, and Swore Allegiance to her. Peran-Aragon and Navarre, marched against Galicia, and had taken the Castle of Montereso by Oath they had taken to him, revolted to the Queen, and Swore Allegiance to her. Reran-Oath they not taken to nim, revolted to the Queen, and Swore Allegiance to her. Perantules, a Man of unblemissed reputation, did the same, yet having a scruple for that he had Sworn fidelity to the King of Aragon, he surrendered himself up to him, with a Halter about his Neck, that he might punish his breach of Faith. At first the King was surprized, but being perswaded that the Gentleman, had in all things Acked honourably, and that his Loyalty ought not to be hurtful to him he forgave and Treated him very Courteoully. All the Nobility of Cashie, joyned to preserve the Liberty of their Country, resolving to undergo all hazards, of castile, joyned to preserve the Liberty of their Country, resolving to undergo all hazards, rather than submit to the Government of the Angonians. D. Gomez. Earl of Candelpina, who before had simed at Marrying the Queen, and being then in the slower of his Youth, was greater-with her, than became the Regal Dignity, and the Modesty of a Woman, seem'd the most zealous in defence of the Gountry, and for making War upon the Angonian. D. Teter Earl of Ling, and his Rival, with the Queen, held the next place, in Power and Authority. Commanders being divided among themselves, neither could Peace be setted, nor the War carryed on as it should be. D. Alonfo King of Angon, with a Powerful Army entred Castile, by the way of Saids, and Omas. The Nobles, with the Army of Castile, marched to oppose him, aboth Armies encamped near Septimeds, and there formed their Battles. Peter Earl of Lara, led the Van of the Castilians. Earl Gomez, the rear, the main Body was Commanded by other Nobles. The King of Angon, drew up all his Army into one square Body. The Signal being given, they, fell on, in the Field called de la Espina, this was one of the most Famous Battles of that Age. Peter Earl of Lara, not able to stand the first charge side to Burgos, where the Queen was in care for the event of that Action. D. Gomez. Stood his Ground better, till his Forces being vanquished; he dy'd honourably, without turning his of Castile Standard, and both his hands cut off, he fell down dead, embracing the Standard the Arms, and often repeating Olea. Henry Earl of Portugal, made the Victory caster to the Argonians, by going over to them rather in hatred, to the lewdeels of the Queen, than any kindness he had for King Alonfo. This success for encouraged the Aragonians, that passing rather than submit to the Government of the Aragonians. D. Gomez Earl of Candelpina, who the Angonians, by going over to them rather in hatred, to the lewdness of the Queen, than any kindness he had for King Monfo. This success so encouraged the Angonians, that passing the River Duero, they advanced as far as the City Leon, walting all the Country. The Nobility of Galicia, having recruited their Army, try'd their Fortune again, and had the same fuccess, being defeated by the Angonians, between Leon and Anjorga. In this Battle was defeat of the Angonians of the Conformation of the Conforma Aplora, having received intenigence that the Queen reloved to make net last effort on that fide. Marin Majo, coming to the King of Angon with 300 Horfe, fell into an Ambulh, where most of his Men being killed, and the rest put to flight, he was himself taken. King Monso finding himself weakned by this lost, the many Men that had dy'd, and the Garrisons he had placed, retired to Carrison, confiding in the strength of that place. There he was befieged by the Enemy for some time, till the Abbot Clusmis, sent by the Pope to compose those differences, came and obtained of the Queen a Truce for some time, and soon after prevailed to have the Siege raised. The Soldiers of Castie being raw and undisciplined, could not be to have the siege, raised. In e soldiers of Captile being raw and undisciplined, could not be long kept together. After this the Aragonians, bent their Forces against the Lands belonging to the House of Lara. On the other side, the Queen, after a long Siege, recovered the Callte olighungor. Peter Earl of Lara, thinking to Marry the Queen, carryed himself like a King, a time when the Marry the Recent of the Captile of the C who charged the City Zamora with Treason, and upon that account fought the three Sons of AlonfoVII. Arias Gonzalo. After this Prince, Alonfo was Proclaimed King of Castile. His Mother D. Alongovia. Arias Conzaio. After this frince, Alongo was rroctained King of Capille. His Mother D. Proclaim. Cytoraca, fortified herfelf in the Caffle of Leon, but he befiging it, they agreed, that fine a King of fhould refign the Crown to him, and have revenues affigned her for her maintenance. It is impossible exactly to reconcile the times, when all these things hap ned; a uthors varying so much, even in this, that is no considerable Antiquity. It is now known in what Year Queen.

Chip. VII.

162

Traca dy'd, the most fay, the lived about 17 Years after her Father. Certain it is she was very Lewd. Some fay the dy'd in Child-Bed, at the Castle of Saldana, others, that the burst at the Church Door of Leon, having taken away the Treasure of St. Jidown. Grave Authors affirm, that the Earl of Candelpina, had a Son byther, called Fernan Hartade, which fignifies stollen, because he was a Bastard, and that the Noble Family of that Name in Spain defeends from him. They also say, that Peter Earl of Lara, had to do with her.

CHAP. VI.

The Wars of Majorca, and Zaragoca. The Schism of Burdinus. Peace Concluded betwixt the Crowns of Castile, and Aragon. The Original of the Kingdom of Portugal.

The Wars Hills what was faid in the last Chapter hap ned in Cassis, the Moors of Majorca, and Zabi Majorca and Jeri Earl of Provence, and Aimillan in France dying, his Dominions fell to his only Daugh-Zarageet. ter, called Dulcis. Raymund Berengarius Earl of Provence, and Limits on the Cassis of ter, called Dulcit. Raymund Berengarius Earl. of. Barclona, Husband to the faid. Dulcit, a Prince Powerful, as well in his own Dominions, as the great Addition of his Wife's, refolv'd with the United Forces of his Subjects, to possess himself of the slands of Majorca and Minorca, from whence the Moors infested the Coast of Spain and France. It was requisite to gather a great Fleet. He got together all he could of his own, which was the beginning of the great Power the Catalonians had afterwards by Sea. But his Fleet not being sufficient for this undertaking, he went himself to Genoa and Pija, Cities at that time Fowerful: by Sea, and prevailed with those People to joyn with him in the Expedition. At the time appointed the Catalonians and Gettoefts joyned, and passed over to the Islands. The War proved tedious and difficult, for the Moors misloubting their own strength, would not hazard a Battle, but taking up all the Provisions in the Country, kept the passes of the Mountains, and Fortisted themselves in the Towns and Castles. The resolution of the Christians overcame all difficulties and the chief city of Majora, was taken by A Sault, in the Vernica of our Lord version. ties, and the chief City of Majorca, was taken by Assault, in the Year of our Lord 1114. ties, and the chief city of Majorca, was taken by Aliault, in the Year of our Lord 1114, there day Raimund Bilhop of Baroelma, to whom fucceeded Oldegarius, who foon after was Translated to the Archbishoprick of Tarragona. After the taking of the City, the rest feemed casic, when on a suddensews was brought that the Moors, Lianding on the Coast of Barcestona, had struck a general Perror into all the Country, and besieged the City. The Earl was forced to go over to the Continent, leaving the Georgies charge to secure the Islands. At his first approach the Insides raised the Siege, he pursued, and overthrew them near Mortorel. This Action was Tumultuary, and disorderly, the Battles not being formed. Two Accidents concurred to lessen the loy of this Victory. One was that the Georgies British by the Moors went waws and quitted the illands as the Witters of Catalogies of Struck for in the Uli

Moors went away, and quitted the lifands, as the Writers of Catalonia affirm, for in the Histories of Genoa, there is no mention of this Expedition. The other was the loss of the City Carassone in France. Albo, as was faid before, possess himself of that City, and ruling loss, and Tyrannically, was expelled by the Citizens, who returned to their Lawful Sovereign, the recovered Earl of Barcelona. With the affishance of William Earl of Poisiers, Albo recovered the City, by the

Roger Atho's Eldest Son, caused all the Townsmen to deliver their Arms, and that done, ordered them to be put to the Sword. Many that escaped, fled to Barcelona. At their instance, the Earl Raimund Arnaud Berengarius entred France with an Army. Some Religious Persons interposing, the matter was adjusted in this manner. That Astro should possess the City, but to hold it, of the Earl of Barcelona, whereas he had promifed, to hold of the Earl of

Earl of tonted by him of

but to hold it, of the Earl of Barcelona, whereas he had promifed, to hold of the Earl of Politers. This William of Politers, was a Man that only studyed to enlarge his Dominions, tho' never so wrongfully. So when Raimund Earl of Toulousee, was gone to the 'Holy-Land, he sized upon all the Possessing of that Prince. Bestran the Son of Raymund, returning from the Holy-Land, where his Father was killed, and he had got the Lordship of Tripoli, found no hopes of doing any good, upon the Earl of Politers. He began to Treat with the Neighbouring Princes about recovering his Patrimony, but to no effect, and therefore had recourse to D. Alongo, King of Angon, who received him with Marks or Affection as Barbafro. Here it was agreed that the Earl of Toulouse, should do Homage to the King of Angon, so his Dominions in Prance; in case he was restored to them by his means. This was done in the Year 1116, but it came to nothing for the Earl was not restored. He of Politiers be-Year 1116, but it came to nothing, for the Earl was not restored, he of Postiers being very powerfal, and the Forces of Andron, at that time divided against Casile, and the Moors. Yet some Years after D. Allon's Jordan, Brother to Bertrand, was taken out of the Castle of Toulouse, where he had been kept Prisoner, and the possession of that City, restored to him by the Citizens, when they had expelled William Morelle, who held it for the Earl of Poitiers, D. Alonfo his Heirs, kept that City till the Fourth Generation, and were all called Raimonds, the last of which left but one Daughter, Marry'd to the Earl of Poitiers, who had no Islue by her, whence at followed that the Earldoms of Poitiers and Toulauze, were annexed to the Crown of France, the Holy King S. Luis, Brother to that Earl, being the rightful The Territory of Zaragoga, a strong, rich, and populous City, extended to the Borders of the King of Aragon's Dominions. From thence the inhabitants used to make frequent incur-Zaragos. fions into the Lands of the Christians, doing all the harm that can be imagined from such a belieged Barbarous People. King Alonfo, notwithstanding the War with Cassile, was not ended, re- by the follved to overcome all difficulties, and ay siege to that City. Tabule, a Town of note, on Christians the Banks of Etro, was now taken by the Valour and Conduct of Bulea, a Town of note, on Christians the Banks of Etro, was now taken by the Valour and Conduct of Buleaula, a great Man, Borgi, other and the Rividers of Mandand and other Towns and College and the little and the College and the Col on the Birders of Naviarre, Magalora, and other Towns, and Castles, were also taken. The place Miningaraves (so they called the Choice old Soldiers) were put into Castellar, a strong hold, ken. on the Entinence above Zaragoga, as was faid before. They were furnished with Provisions and all manner of stores, either to infest the Country, or endure a long Siege. These were preludes to the Conquelt of Zaragora, the same whereof prought thither many Persons of note, among the rest the Earls Gasson of Bearne, Rosson of Perche, and Gentulle of Bigarre. Thus having gathered a mighty Army, they fate before the City, in the Year 1118. On the eighth day they gained the Suburb, that lies beyond the Riven. Rotton, Earl of Perche, whill the Siege went on, with a Body of 600 Horfe, took Tudela, a confiderable Town in Navarre, the Siege went on, with a Body of 600 Horfe, took Tudela, a confiderable Town in Navarre, and kept it as a reward of his Valour: The Moors knowing of what Confequence Zaragora was, gathered in great numbers to refleve the Befieg'd. Befides, Temin, a Famons Commander had joyned them, with a good number of Barbary Moors, he brought out of Africk. All these Encamped on an Advantagious Ground, on the Janks of the River Guerba, above Zaragora, hear the Castle of Mary, then held by the Moors, but perceiving the Christians exceeded them in number and experience, they drew back. In the City, there began to be want of Provisions, and what was worth, no hope of relief. Delay was troublefome to the Beforers. Things being in this Politure advice was brought to the King that of the North Castle. of revenions, and what was worth in more was brought to the King, that a Nephew of Temin, others by he was Son to the King of Cordova, was Marching with a Relolution, to force his Pallage into the Town. Ring Monjo knowing if the Moors succeeded, he must be obliged to faile the Stege, marched out, and met him at Cutanda, near Davoca. A great number of the Moor was killed, the reft put to flight, and their General taken. The Benumber of the Moori was killed, the rest put to slight, and their General taken. The Besleged had lift notice hereoff, and depairing of any relief, surrendred upon Articles, on the slid of Session of the slight of the slight of the work of assistance of success, that they had beforehand Confectated Peter Eibrana Bishop of that City, and he Confectated the Church. To the Earls Cashon of Beanne, and Rotton of Petebe, the King gave for their good Service two quarters in that City for them, and their Heirs. On the Banks of Ebro, Nine Leagues from Zarigoga, was formerly a Colony of the Romans, called Julia Casia, now a defert place; the about a League from it, is a Town at present called Xesia, the only remaining Monument of that piece of Antiquity. Thither the King marched, as soon as the Season would permit; wasting all the Country of the Moors about. Thence he advanced into the Froothice formerly called Cestificia, where all things succeeded according to his defires, all places submitting to him. This season he took Taracona. Alabona. Ebila: Calatayud. Aiza, and Froythee fringirly dilledelineria, where all things succeeded according to his desires, all places submitting to him. This season he took Taragona, Alabona, Epila; Calatayud, Aixa, and Barota. Beyond this last place, the King built a Town, to which he gave Name of Monreal, in a Convenient place; too check the Parties of Valencia, that used to ravage that Country. At this time the Carthogians and Cisterian Monks, newly instituted, grew Famous for Sanctity Carthogian of Life! "At 'Fringalem, the Knights Templers, and Hoffbalers, gained same by their and cisterian Actions, against the Instella; "The Templers wore a Red Cross on a White Garment. Actions, against the Instellation of the Construction of Black Cloak. S. Bernard Monks, who lived at this time, was Bounder of the Cisterians, and came into Spain, where he perfeaded the King to give the new Town of Monreal, to the Knights Templers, which was done Templers and Construction of the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfeaded the King to give the new Town of Monreal, to the Knights Templers, which was done Templers, and Construction of the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfeaded the King to give the new Town of Monreal, to the Knights Templers, which was done Templers, and Construction of the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfeaded the Knights Templers, which was done Templers where the Construction of the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfeaded the Knights Templers are the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfectly the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfectly the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfectly the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfectly the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfectly the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfectly the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfectly the Cisterian and Came into Spain, where he perfectly the Cisterian and Came into Spain and Came into Spain and Cisterian and Came into Spain and Cisterian and Came into Spain and Cisteri Booties were given them, for their maintenance, that they might infelt the Moors on that talers, idd. This was the first entrance of the Knights Templers into Spain, and this the Original of the vast revenues they afterwards possessed, which doubtless in the end proved their ruin.

👫 ជា, បំណាក់ 🖯 IV. RAHD and Branches evo Towns. I ME

A Schiffm in elle Charel, on account of an Antipope. Peace between Caffile and Aragonil War with the Moors: Original of the Kingdom of Portugal.

N the Year 1719 Guido, a Burgundian, Unkle to Alonfo King of Caftile, was Chosen Pope, and took the Name of Calistus II. Henry IV. then Emperor, being Excommunicated, Aschim and Dignity which produced a Schim in the Church, that, lafted three Years. At the end of which the Lawful Pope prevailing, Burdinus was taken, and faut my in the Monastery of the Trihity of Cava, where he dy'd.

Chap. VIII.

file and

The Promotion of Calistus to the Papacy, was very pleasing to his Nephew, the King of Cabile, and very advantagious to all Spain in general. At that time, the chief Cities and Cafiles of that Kingdom, were held by Garrisons of Angoniams, without any other right than that of Arms. The Capiliams, either that they were Habituated to obey, or, for kindnesses received of the Angoniam, were not concerned at the loss of their Liberty. The Young the Ring of Capile had a great Spirit; and could, not put up the wrongs done him, by his father-in-law. Emballadors passed betwist them, he of Angon neither flatly refused, nor yet performed what was required, but fill delay'd and framed excuses. At length, it came to the point that Heraulds, were fent to demand Restitution of the Places with-held, or if refused, to declare War. These threats made no impression upon the King of Angon. Great Armies were raised on both sides, but the Angonian being best furnished, took the field first. Preaking into the Territory of Roia. on the side of Navarre. Great of the Trihity of Cave, where he dy'd. twixt C4-Places with-neid, or it retuied to declare War. There threats made no impression upon the King of Magon. Great Armies were raised on both dise, but the Angonian being beft furnished, took the Field first, breaking into the Territory of Rioja, on the fide of Navarre. Great Michiefs were like to enfue, whoever had the better; therefore feveral Godly Prelates of both Kingsomis interpoled, labouring for an Accommodation. Their Success was better consistent than had been hoped at first, for both Kings fuffered themselves to be persuaded, and each one of the fide of the state of the freeze. That all the country-betwist vielding something, they agreed upon these Conditions. That all the country-betwist to it as a Dependance of the Kingdom of Navarre. That in Bisay, the King of Angon should possess, and Castles belonging to Castlie, and particularly, from Totedo. I know not which of these Princes deserves the greatest Commendation; both of them gave a great example of Moderation. He of Angon, in parting with what he had in possess, and he of Callie, and an Angon, in parting with what he had in possess, and he of Callie, and continued in real Amity, as if they had been Brothers, or Father, and Son. All things where the Town of Ascons, which had been taken by the Moors, was Recovered. Thence he Moors.

Success of advanced into the Kingdom of Valencia, and passing the Moors, was Recovered. Thence he Moors. Market, where he attempted the City Alcarac, but was repuled. Rising france, he turnsian.

the King-

Saccos of advanced into the Kingdom of Falencia, and passing the River Jucar, entred the Territory of the Anga. Matrid, where he attempted the City Alexan. but was repulled. Rising thence, he turned into Andalucia, where all places submitted to pay Tribute, provided, the Country might not be wasted. Near a Town called Annxom, he came to a Battle with the King of Ordopay.

11323. and ten other great Men of the Moors, and overtherw-them, in the Year of our Lord 1123. The following Year, he took Medina Ceit, a Town seated on a Hill, betwitt the Consines of the Ceither's and Carpetani. In this manner succeeded the Assists of Angas, On the other of the Ecitive Coria, which had been lost after the death of King Alonso, Grandstather of him, then Reigning. Thence the Army over-ran all the Country that lies between the Rivers Guadiana and Tagus, carrying away great numbers of Men and Cattle, and then they returned home, loaden with Booty. These beginnings gained the King much Reputation, and gave proof of his Vertues. He bore great Assisting to Shennard, then Abbot of Characalle, by whose, Advice, he erected many Monasteries of Ciferians, most of which, still flourish in that part of Spain, and enjoy great Revenues as Assisting the Contempt of the World, were satisfied with little. Soon after, many bountifully heaping Charity upon them, they grew Rich. Besides these Foundations, the King yery liberally encreased the Revenues of several Churches and Monasteries. He chain'd of his Lincle, the Pope, the erecking of the City Zamora into a Bishoprick. At the same time, and at the King's instance, the singless of Churchof S. James the Apostle was made an Archiepistopal See, the Privileges of the City Spain can denience of this new Metropolitan, which were Salamanca, Aviia, Zamora, Cuidad Rodrigo, Coria, Badajox, Lugo, Miorga, Ornes, Monastado, Tsy, and Placenthoprick tia, some time after. This was about the Year of our Lord 1124. That same Year dy'd lour, and the Earl of Bercelona, made War upon each other, in France, the for Pope Calistins, and Honorious II. succeeded him. The following Year, Amolo, Earl of Tousburg, and the Earl of Baccelona, made War upon teach other, in Frame; the former pretending a Title to the Earldom of Provence, policified by the latter, in Right of his Wife. After. Much firle, it was agreed between them, that Argenes and Belicadre, two Towns, about which, the chief dispute lay, with that part of Favenes which lies between the Rivers Disease and Lifere, should remain to the Earl of Toulouse, all the other part, and Anipron, a City on the River Rhopis, was adjudged to the Earl of Batelonat. Moreover, they reciprocally Adopted one another, that if either dy'd without lifue, the other might, be his Heir.

A new Kingdom began at this time to be creeked in that part of Spains, way called Portigal, small in extent, at to time, the last that took that Title in Spains way. Called Portigal, small in extent, at to time, the last that took that Title in Spains way. The ploits fortunate, and renowned for Valour; since they not only drove the Moore out of all that Country a but in rocces of time, with extraordinary travery. diffeovered ways to the that Country 4 but in process of time, with extraordinary bravery, discovered ways to the taknown parts of the World, and conquered many Kingdoms and Provinces in Asia and Africk. This Province of Partigal lies along the Western Ocean from North to South, between the Rivers Guadiana and Mino, above 100 Leagues in length, the breadth where most is, about 30 Leagues, the least 20. It is divided into three parts, on this side, and beyond Tagus, or Cifagana, and Traifagana, and that between the Rivers Duero and Ming, or Interairments, which is the most Fruitful, and where stands the City, Briggs. On the one side of reamonts, which is the most Fruitful, and where stands the City, Briga. On the one side of fagur is Lisbon, and on the other Ebora, all three Archiepsicopal Rees. For the most part, the Country is dry and barren, the People ambitions of Honour, and Brave. A small part, of this Province, which the Kings of Cashie had taken from the Moors, was given to Henry of Larain, in Dower with his Wife Terela, Bastard Daughter to Monso VI. By her, he had Lordon, D. Elwira, and D. Sancha. Henry, after he had these Children, went to the Holly-Land, to assist the Most of Shasan. King of Shasan, a choring, the treated with Bernard, Archbishop of Toledo, and Primate of all Spain, a shority, and placing Bishops in them. Henry dyd at Associated of Gaskies, whither he steamy stands in a small Chappel; for the Grandeur, or rather Madness of erecting costly Tombs, now in dien as mall Chappel; for the Grandeur, or rather Madness of erecting costly Tombs, now in the was not then brought up. After his Death D. Terela, his Wrife, had no more regard contest on the Reputation than her Sifter D. Urrata. She Marry'd Fernan Pace. Earl of Trassar, Consess a Match much below her, if not altogether Unlawful, as being Clandelline. She is said be-governs. to her Reputation than her Sifter D. Orraka. She Marry'd Fernan Pace., Earl of Trajtamara, Dowager & Match much below her, if not altogether Unlawful, as being Clandelline. She is faid begoverns, if the share field too much Familiarity with D. Bermudo, Brother to the Earl, and that neverstheles, the Marry'd him to her Daughter D. Elwira. Her other Daughter D. Sameba, was Wife to Ferdinand de Manafer. Perhaps, some of these things might be malicioully imputed to this Princess. Yet certain it sixther Ferdinand Pace, was very intimate with the Countries, and constraint it is the Princess of the Country and Rubel in time. governed all things abfolutly, according to his own will. He made War, and Ruled in time of Peace, without taking any notice of his Son-in-law. In his tender Years D. Alonso was forced to bear with this Affront, and wink at the difference of his Family; but afterwards, many in horself of his Markable vicious Like adhering to him, he refused to take in of Peace, without taking any notice of his Son-in-law. In his tender Years D. Alonfo was forced to bear with this Affront, and wish at the difference of his Family; but afterwards, many in hatred of his Mother's vicious Lite, addreing to him, he refolved to take up Arms. His Father-in-law was not backward. Both levied Forces, and their Armies meeting, a Battle was fought in the Plains of Santivañea, hat Guimardens, a Town feated at the Conflux of the Rivers Avo and Vifelia. D. Alonfo got the Day, and by that means his Mother, and Fernan Pace, fell into his Hands. His Father-in-law he releafed, upon promitie he would depart Peringal, his Mother he kept clofe Prifones. She in a rage for this usage, fent to begin the King of Capile's Affiltance against her Son; promiting to resign to him the Earldom of Gented to the Intreaties of his Aunt, either for this he commissioned her condition; or that he condition which has a constant the promition of the defired to possess that Earldom. Having gathered an Army, he entred Peringal. His Cousin met him, and they cante to a Battle in the Plain of Valdover, betwitx Mongon and Ported to fly to Leon. This Victory so pushed up the Peringsles, that without considering their own weakness, or the variety of Fortune, they vanued they were no longer subject to Capille King Alonfo studying Revenge, gathered a greater Power than before, and returned into Power than the Capilladis Belieged them, with a resolution not to fit till they had revenged to constant when the capilladis Belieged them, with a resolution not to fit till they had revenged to constant when the Articles concluded by his Tutor, the faid Fas Ninez, went to Tokeo, and furrendered lous Story in the Capilladis being one Years after, D. Alonfo of Portigal, refusing to perform This fabruches of the King of Capille, with a Hautér about his Neck, to be punished for the breach of those Articles he had made. King Alonfo forgave, but would not employ him, leaft there might be some defigulte hid under that specious prefered.

CHAP. VIII.

The War betwist the King of Castille and the Moors. The Death of King Alonso of Aragon, and Revolutions of that Kingdom, and Navarre. The former chosen Ramiro, a Monk, the latter, Garcia, for their King.

In the Year 1126, and much about the same time dy'd Queen Urraca, and Bernard, Archinop of Toledo. The Queen, as has been said, departed either in the Castle of Saldara, Death of or barti at the Church of Leon. Her Body was Honourably Interred at Leon. Bernard, the Queentraction of the Cattle of Great Age, and samous for many memorable Actions. He race, and was buried in the Cathedral of that City, with an inscription of his Tomb, that begins with Archinof the words. Bernard was the first Venerable Primate here. True it is, the Archdeacon of shopoitality of Year Archbishop. Twelve Years before his Death (the Annals of Sevil say but eight) with Forces maintained at his own Expence, he took from the Moors the Town of Alcala.

Chap. IX.

1,99

feared at that time on a freep Hillock beyond the River Henaret. The Archbifhop incamped ton another Hill that Commands it; now called Vera Cruz, and thence fo awed the Moors, that they were forced to abandon the Town, tho' very firong. For this reason, from that time the Archbifhop had the Temporal as well as Splittual Juridiction thereof. After Bernard, Raymund, from the Bifhoprick of Ofina, was translated to Toledo. In his time, and in the Raymund, from the Bifhoprick of Ofina, was translated to Toledo. In his time, and in the Raymund, from the Bifhoprick of Ofina, was translated to Toledo. In his time, and in the Raymund, from the Bifhoprick of Ofina, was translated to Toledo. In his time, and in the Raymund, from the Bifhops at Palencia; in which James Gelshiret. Archbifhop of Compofeta, presided as Apoldoick Legate. The King, Queen; and many of the Nobility, were present at it. Among others two temarkable Afts palled in this Synod. One that Lay-Men should not: enjoy Benefices upon any pretence whatsover. Soon after Cardinal Humbertus, who came into Spain with the Legantine Power, assembled another Synod of Bilhops at Lon, to consider of the Kings Marriage, which some pretended was null, King, Alonfo, a Year after his Mothers death, had Marry'd Berengaria, the Daughter of Raimund Berengariu, Earl of Barcelona. The Nuptials were Celebraced at Saldana in November, and he had afterwards by her four Children, Sancbo, Fredinand, Elizabeth, and Sancba. It was well known, that the Queen Berengaria was related to her Husband, but the point being discussed to her Husband, but the Amoria, and Berengaria, third Grandchild to his Brother Ramino, King of Agon. After this the King, to the Archbishop of Toledo. At this time the Fame of the Knights, the World, for which reason the Archbishop gave the Town to them. So say our Authors, yet some are of Opinion, that those Knights were not feated at that time on a fleep Hillock beyond the River Hennes. The Archbifhod incambed Monntain Sierra, Morana. What remained thereabouts might early have been brought under finch was the Confernation the Infidels were in, but the feation of the Year would not permit any further Action. Winter being 'paffed, the King iled his Armythrough the deserts of Cazlona, a part of Sierra Morena, into 'madauzia, burning and plundering all he same near. Jam was close Befieged all the Winter, yet flich was the firength of the Walls, and Valour of the Inhabitants, it could not be carried. Mebbait the Son of Padi, and Grand-Aon of 1909ph, was Sovereign of the Almoratydes, in Africk and Spain, his power, inferior, to his Predecelfors; by reason of the Civil Wars' amoning the Morir. This was therefore a fit opportunity to make War upon him. King Morie's Father the Law, the Earl of Bavelona 4y'dlin the Year 11311 Heloft Brevelona in Spain, and Carcalfonne, and Redei in France, on the called Son Rainmaid. To Bernagains its fecond Son, he gave the Earldonip of Play were and Amilian. His Daughter Cevily, was Marry'd to Bernard Earl, of Faux, and they work there have there have a superior with the fall of the Brother were left to the care of the Brother Breingains, and Marry'd to the great Men in France. In the following Year there hap need nothing remarkable, fave that King Monjo raifed the Siege of Jam, and returned home, where he Knighted D. Sanob his Son, Arming him, at all points, and Girting on his Sword with great Ceremony, as was situal in those Days. By this was fingilifed, that they for Knighted Weet at Age, and it was a means to four them of to imitate the latter that the state of State of the State of State of the State of State of State of the State of S the Virtues of their Forefathers.

1133.

Success of In this manner proceeded the affairs of Calille and Portugal, whillt in Aragon, all things the Arago funceeded with the Christians. All that part, formerly called Celiberia, was project under a gainft the was added, the Suburb of S. Saturnina, which the Prents Pebpled, and had all the Privileon. ledges of free Citizens granted them, and the immunities of Jaca, according to which they were confibured, a particular Government among themselves. The Moors possessed the Sea Coasts, about the Mouth of the River Ebbo, and from thence did much harm in the Neighborn Sea Coasts, about the Mouth of the River Ebro, and from thence did much harm in the Neighbouring Country. There was need of a Fleet to curb them, therefore the King caused a great number of Vessels to be built at Zaragoga, and we read, that in the time who i Vessels at the state of a Fleet to curb them, therefore the King caused a great number of Vessels and the Sea. Maquinental, improved to be the same Casar calls Ologesa, a strong Town, seated, when ribe River Cinga and Segre met, was now taken by the King of Adgon. All this joys in success was turned into forrow, in this manner. Fraga, a Townamong the slargests (by Prosoney, called Gallica Flavora) better known, by the disaster that now hap ned, than any thing remarkable in it, is seated on a rising ground, which being washed away by the River Cinga, is dissinct of access, and may be easily defended by a few against a greater number. On, the plack of the Town are Hillocks all filled, which lie to close to, the place, that no gingings can be brought to batter it. After taking Mequinencia, the King resolving to carry on his Conguetts, entered the Country that less up the River Segre, which was very well tortified, before and great numbers of Moork and fight little for security. This consolving made the Kings of Magon, invested Fraga in the Year 1133, this Preparations were greater than the fuccess, for Winter coming on, and the rains falling, this he was obliged to put his Army into Quarters, refolving to return early in the Spring About February, the Siege began, and lasted all March and April, without any effect, the Beseged being Friga 2. furnished with all things necessary to hold out a long time, and encouraged with the hopes of galakerelief Abengamia King of Lerida, came to raife the Siege with a good Army. The Battle was fought near Fraga, the Christians were but few in number, and those tired, many of them were fought near erage, inclumination were our few in number, and those they many of them were killed. Neverthelefs this lofs did not oblige them to quit the Siege, because the lofs this land by the Moors was not inferor to theirs. However the King fearing what might follow, went away towards the Frontiers of Cassie, to gather more Forces in the Territory of Soria. went away towards the Frontiers of Capine, to gather more Forces in the Territory of Soria. By the way he wasted the Enemies Country, as far as Asonyon. The King with 300 Horse following the main Body, was on a fidden befer, by a great number of the Enemy. Seeing the danger, with few words, he encouraged his Men, who fell on, and fought as could be expected in such a desprease exigency. Above all the King signalized himself, being well known. The King of the country of the state of the country of the country of the state of the country of pected in fuch a desperate exigency. Above an the King inguistized minner, being well known oby his Garment, and bright Armourt, fo that all the Moore bending their fury againft him, of the was at length kill'd. Having loft their King, fome of his Men dy'd bravely, others co-fcaped by flight. This is the truth of that King's unhappy end, tho' feveral other falle rumours have been spread among the ignorant People. Some would have it, that after this demours have been spread among the ignorant People. Some would have it, that after this defeat, he went to ferufalem, and dy'd there. Others write, that his Body was bought of the Moors, and bury'd at Montaragon. My. Opinion is, that his Body was not found, which gave occasionate invent many Fables about him. Certain it is, that mistortune hap ned near the Town of Savienna, on the 7th of September, in the Year 1134. This Prince was a Perfon of singular Malour and Conduct. An Ancient Author affirms, he fought 29, Battles, and was in most of them Victorious. He Reigned 30 Years. His Will was made three and was in most of them Victorious. He Reigned 30 Years. His Will was made three Years before his Death, when he Besieg's Bayonne, which our Histories say he took, and that at that Siege Peter Earl of Lara, sought with Month Earl of Toulouze, and was by him slain. This Will was very remarkable, and cansed great troubles and confusion. By it he The King left many Towns and Castles, to several Churches in Spain, and because he had no Children, leave his he made the Knights Templers, the Hospitalers, and those that kept the Sepulciaer of Yoru-Jalem, Heirs of all his Dominions. It concludes with many heavy Curses, upon such as shall Templers to instring any part of it. Yet the Aravonians and Nanatrois assembled at Borrand Control of the Sepulciae of the Sepulciaer of Sepulciaer o yaem, Figure of an instruction of the Aragonians, and Navarrois aliembled at Bornard other gire, a place on the Frontiers of Navarre, in order to choose a King. Peter Asares, a Noble Knights. Man, as some imagine, rather than prove of the Blood Royal, held that Town by Gift of Man, as some imagine, ranger than prove of the blood Royan, need that Town by Ont of the deceased King. He was a Person of great merit, and had doubtless been declar'd King, had not his extraordinary Pride prevented it. Thus the assembly broke up, without coming had not his extraordinary Pride prevented it. Thus the allembly broke up, without coming to any Refolution. The Navafrois, hated the Government of the Aragonians, and thought it was layful at all times when occasion offer'd, to cast off the Yoke that had been violently. The National Price of the Market and the persuation of Santon Roja wares Bishop of Pampiona, Proclaimed D. Garcia King. He was descended of their Ancient Royal choose Family, for he was Son to D. Ramiro, and Grandson to D. Santon, who as was said, was Garcia killed by his Brother Raimund. On the other side, the Aragonians assembling at Market for their Royal choose the Royal Control of the Co killed by his Brother Raimund. On the other side, the Aragonians assembling at Monteon Recolaimed D. Ramino, Brother to the late King, notwithstanding he was a Monk, Abbot of Real and elect Bishop of Burgois first, then of Pamplona, and lastly of Roda and Barbashro, genchoose There is yet extant an Original Instrument, dated at Barbashro in Odbber, in which he files Ramino a himself King and Priest. Nor was this all, for the he had been above 40. Years a Monk, they obliged him to Marry, having to that purpose, obtained a dispensation of Pope Innocent II. so that he was at once a Monk, a Priest, a Bishop, a Marry'd Man, and a King. He Santiago in Galicia, whither he went in Pilgrimage. His eldest Daughter Elmor, was Marryed to Luis the Young King of France, from whom, after having two Daughters, he was Santiago in Gaissia, writher ne went in riigrimage. His cideit Daughter Euenor, was Mar-yeed to Luis the Young King of France, from whom, after having two Daughters, she was Divorced by Gommand of Pope Eugenius III. on account of Confanguinity. After that Di-vorce, ethe King of France Marry'd Elizabeth, the Daughter of Alonfo VII. King of Cafile, Ellenor was Marry'd to Henry Duke of Normandy and Anjau, afterwards King of England, by this

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. IX.

Match Poitiers, and Guienne, or Aquitain, were annex'd to the Crown of England, whence enfu'd Bloody Wars betwixt those two Nations.

The King of Castile aspires to the Crowns of Aragon and Navarre. Stiles himfelf Emperor. Ramiro King of Aragon resigns, and his Son-in-Law, Raimund Earl of Barcelona, affumes the Crown.

Hefe Elections brought great troubles upon the Kingdoms of Aragon and Navarre, and The King the more for that D. Gatcia was weak, and D. Ramino old. The King of Caffle, pre-of Caffle, tended to have a better right than either of them, as being descended from D. Sambo the to the Greater of Naviarre, and he had the greatest Power on which King's ground their chiefest Cowns. As for the Military Orders, appointed by the late-King to inherit, no Body took of Aragon around the might not seem careless in seeking his advantage, the King of and Naviarre.

Chap. X.

Caffile entred the Territory of Rioja, and recover'd all that his Father-in-law, King Alonfo Caffile entred the Territory of Rioja, and recover'd all that his Father-in-law, King Alonfo of Aragon, had taken from him by force at firft, and afterwards upon Capitulation. Then he laid Siege to Viloria in Bifess, but could not carry it, the' he had all the Towns about. He had siege to Viloria in Bifess, but could not carry it, the' he had all the Towns about. Thus the River Ebro came to part the Dominions of Cafilia and Navarre. Many great Men, as well as of the Clergy, as Laity, follow'd and, affilted the King, who had no fooner as well as of the Clergy, as Laity, follow'd and, affilted the King, who had no fooner negatif Rioja and Bifesy, but he bent his Force againf. Aragon, 6 effectually, that by the regain of Rome Domenter, he was poffers'd of all that part of the Kingdom which lies on this fide Ebro. King Romino being wholly unprovided, and not well affured to the Affections of his People, retir'd to Sobrave, hoping the natural firength of that Country might protect him till Fortune chang'd, or fome Composition could be made Oldegarius, Archbishop of Taragona, went betwixt both Partiess' labouring to bring them to an Accommodation, but his endavours feemed Fruitlefs, neither Competitor contenting himfelf with part, as affiring to the whole. Garcia King of Navarre, being reloved to condeferent to fome Agreement upon fafe Conduct given him, came to Cafilie, wherein a General Affechat of one Agreement upon fafe Conduct given him, came to Cafilie, wherein a General Affechat the King of Cafilie hould take the Title of Emperor. Accordingly, on Whitten and Cafilie hould take the Title of Emperor. Accordingly, on White Televier and Garcia, King of Navarre, befides a great number of Nobles; it was senday in the Year 1135. (agin Author then living wites, and it appears by the Acts of that Sinch to the Emperor of the Roman. After this, the new Emperor was again the King of Navarre thanding on his right Hand, and the Bishop of Leon on his Left. Our the King of Navarre thanding on his right Hand, and the Bishop of of Aragen, had taken from him by force at first, and afterwards upon Capitulation. Then Crowned at Toledo. These two Coronations gave occasion to the dispute there is about the place where that Ceremony was performed. An Author then living says, he was Crown'd threetimes; in initiation of the German Emperors, first at Toledo, then at Leon, and lastly, at Compession, with a Crown of Gold. The other Kings of Spain before this, assumed that the Title, only this preserved it, and is call'd Alonso the Emperor. Besides, it is manifest, that from his time, the City Toledo began to use the Arms it fill retains, which are, An Emperor in his Robes on a Throne, the Giobe in his less thank, and a naked Sword in his Right. The Arms of that City before, were first two Stars, and after that, a Lion rampann. Hence also it took the filled for the Imperial City. As soon as the new Emperor had taken upon him that Title. the fille of the Imperial City. As foon as the new Emperor had taken upon him that Title, he nam'd his two Sons Kings, Sancho, the eldett, of Cafile, and Ferdinand, the youngest, of Leon. The Nobility and Clergy labour'd to compose the differences above-mention'd. No good could be wrought upon Aragon; therefore the two Kings of Caftile and Navarre, had good could be wrought upon Aragon; therefore the two Kings of Cashie and Navarre, had good could be wrought upon Aragon; therefore the two Kings of Cashie and Navarre, had another, Conference at Paradilla, on the River Ebro. Here it was agreed, that D. Garcia another, Conference at Paradilla, on the River Ebro. Here it was agreed, that D. Garcia fibould possess of the Crown of Cashie for the same; and allo, that both Kings should Featry and Homage to the Crown of Cashie for the same; and allo, that both Kings should firewar, till some Bishops interpoling, they appointed three Arbitrators on each side, by whom it was decreed. That the Bounds of Navarre and Aragon, should be the same they had been in the time of D. Samebo the Greater; but that the King of Navarre should hold his Doben in the time of D. Samebo the Greater; but that the King of Navarre should hold his Doben in the time of D. Samebo the Greater; but that the King of Navarre should hold his Doben in the time of D. Samebo the Greater; but that the King of Maragon that they regard Promises. To ratific this Contract, the two Kings met at Pamplona, but he of Aragon being inform'd the Navarrois design'd to kill him, fled, and thus the Breach was made wider than at first. D. Ramiro, for his great Age and Weakness, being grown contemptible to the Commonalty, as well as the Nobility, in revenge, call'd together all contemptible to the Commonalty, as well as the Nobility, in revenge, call'd together all the great Men to Huesea, upon pretence of Consulting with them shout weighty Affairs, and of Aragon to there put to Death 15 of the chief of them, in the Year 1136. Many things are reported of bis Instificiency scarce credible; but there is no doubt, he was not fit for such a trouble death 15 for medical the having now a Daughter; call'd Petronilla, declar'd his intention at that meeting at Huesea, and admonshift all there present, that their thief study ought to be that the chief at heigh, and admonshift all there present, that their thief study ought to be to eale nimiest of them, naving now a Daughter, call'd Fetroniua, declar'd his intention at that meeting at Huesea, and admonished all there present, that their thies study ought to be to establish Friendship with D. Alonso the Emperor, without thinking of any revenge against the Navarrois. Raymund, Earl of Barcelona, was the chief Instrument in concerting matters betwirk Cashie and Aragon, as being Ally'd to both those Princes, and having some intimation that he should Marry the Princes Petronisha, and be declar'd King of Aragon. At Alastic Cashie and Aragon, as the chief services of the control of gon, a Town three Leagues above Zaragoça, on the River Ebro, the two Kings met, and agreed that Zaragoga should be restored to the Crown of Aragon; Calatayud, Alagon, and the rest on this side Ebro, should remain to Castile. King Ramiro's Daughter was given as an Hostage, for performance of Articles, but they could not agree about her Marrying D. San-Holtage, for performance of Articles; but they could not agree about her Marrying D. Sancho, the Emperor's eldeft Son, for that the was promified to the Earl of Barcelona. So far were both Parties from haying any regard to their Alliances made with Navarre, that they Articl'd to joyn their Forces againft that King. He flaving notice of it, and being a Man of great Spirit, provided to meet that Storm, and durft not only make good his own, but endeavour'd to enlarge the narrow bounds of his Dominions. He Marry'd Margaret, Daughter of Rowon, Earl of Perche, and had the City Tudeld with her in Dower. The Records of those times mention that he Reign'd over Pannibma Natura Alaria Riskay and Guindl. Peace befile and of those times mention, that he Reign'd over Pamplona, Najara, Alava, Biscay, and Guippi-of. He was supported by the French, Luis their King, looking upon it as a thing Honour-

The History of SPAIN.

Die to protect this new Prince. The Armies of Cafile and Navarragene my one of Towns of Galas and Cortes, but came not to a Battle, both fides being finwilling to hazard all; for this is more likely than that they forbore in relpect to the Feaft of Eafter. The Marriage betwirt the Earl of Baselona, and the Princels Petronilla, was agreed upon on the its of many that fame Year 1137. This done, D. Ramivo laying afide the care of the Government, withdraw to the Church of St. Feter av Insigna, fill retaining the Title of King The King and Ower of retenning that Alithority when he should think fit. All Officers were order d to of magon and bower of retenning that Alithority when he should think fit. All Officers were order d to of magon and board of the first of the Canada of the

CHAP.X.

D. Alonfo of Portugal sakes the Military Kinga, His Wars, with the Moors.

War berging Christian Princes and Pears concluded: Backs and Alincia taken by the King of Catille, and Libbin by him of Portugalis by the King of Caffile, and Libbin by bins of Perceptair.

There confinions we have fooken of gave the Perceptair.

There confinions we have fooken of gave the Perceptair.

There confinions, and engaing their Numeriamous. Do. Ashold. Frings for as iong Pornagal call him, Duke of Pornagal, belly a Man no left repowered in Peace than War, Cested nor end Athons. Barging and bentifying his Boffilinoss. It Combris he build the Mointley of Santarea, a fracty Structure, which is cited for his place of Burial. Andready of the Wife Town of Loya. Then taken from the Adwar. This was but an Introduction to graties Explosis, for in the Year 1 39, he hoped into the Territories of (the Introduction to graties Explosis, for in the Year 1 39, he hoped into the Territories of (the Introduction to graties Explosis, for in the Year 1 39, he hoped into the Territories of (the Introduction to graties Explosis, for in the Year 1 39, he hoped into the Territories of (the Introduction to graties and the Introduction of Garage and Santarea, and passing of the Introduction of Introduction of Introduction of Introduction of Introduction

Chap. X.

queles applyed the melves again to the War. Santarin, a Town of note, feated on the Banks inter applied theffer rea again to the War. Shairaris, a Town of note, feated on the Banks of Tayes, was firely read and the Moor's expell. With the Booty Laken in this Action, the King tounded the Monifery of Adversary of the Green of St. Behmad, as he had owey to do, with the Booty Laken in this Action, the King in good to the Common of the Moors. In the Look that, Town. There was great first betwirt Albaha, head of the Family of the Long and the English of the Moors in Common of the Moors. In the Look that, Town, and the English of the Moors in Common of the Moors in Common of the Moors. In the Long the Look that the Look Traca. The Nuptials were Celebrated at Leon, with great Pomp, in the Year 1144 D. Traca's Mother was called Gontroda, a Woman of a Noble Family in Afurias, her Tolkis to be feen in a Monastery of Nuns, called of Vegua at Oviedo, which she built, and where the ended her days, King Garcia by D. Urraca, had D. Sancha, who was twice Marryld, first to Gaston Viscount of Bearne, and the dying without silve, to Peter Earl of Molina, who had by her Aymerick, afterward Lord of Narbonne. Africk was now embroiled in Civil. wars. In Spain, the Moork were divided into three Factions. Zedofala Lord of Rota, a Factions. Town at the Mouth of Guadalquivir, tho' of the Ancient Blood Royal of the Moors, for his among the private interest, favour'd the Christians, who with his affistance made an inroad, till they Moors, came in fight of Sevil. Azuel, Governour of Cordova, and Abengamia of Valencia, were at variance, but Abengamia being more powerful, expel'd Azuel out of that City. Among the Christians only the Kings of Navarre and Aragon were at odds. At the instance of the Emperor Alonjo, all these three Princes met at Santistevan de Gormaz, in the Year 1146, where the Emperor Alonjo, all their threetrinces met attantifican actormat, in the Year 1146, where the they could not fettle a Peace, yet a Truce was concluded on, between those two Kings. It A Truce was also agreed, that the Emperor deligning to carry on the War against the Moors, the betwixt King of Navarre should assist him by Land, and the Earl with a good Fleet of his own, and Navare the Genegles, by Sea. In the Spring, the three Kings began the War in Andulazia, burning and plundering all the Country, as far as Cordova, a Noble City, seated in a Plain, on the Banks of Guadalquivir. Abengamia Govern'd that place for "Me King of Morrocco, he not calcan by the Cordova of the Cor daring to withstand so great a power, delivered up the City, offering Provisions and Money, the Chris Raymund Archbishop of Toledo, Confecrated the great Mosque, which was the most Beautiful stians, and Raymund Archbishop of Toledo, Confectated the great monque, which was the most Beautiful mans, an structure insall Spain, but they were too forward in this Action, for they departed without revolts. It was large, and required a great number of Men, and the King durft not divide his Forces. He contented himself with making Abengamia Swear, he would hold that City for him, and behave himself as a true Subject. Scarce was the Army gone, when the Moor broke his Oath. The Christians marched to Baerga, whether the my gone, when the Moor broke his Oath. In e Chrittians marched to Baera, whether the Baera Moors had alfembled all their Forces. By break of day, the Armies ingaged, the Moors were taken. Vanquilhed, the City furrendred, and a Garrison was put into it, least like Cordova it should revolt. Roderick de Argara, Lord of Efella in Navarre, signalized himself at the taking of this City, he was father to Peter de Argara, the first Lord of Albardzin of that Family. S. Islamus is faid, to have appeared to King Alonso before the fight, and assured in of success. Almeria, Anciently called Abadera, a City seated on the Coast of the Mediterranean, between the Play Attentity cancer Acousting, a construction of Coale of the Internetting and a receptable of Pyrats. Thither the Christian Army marched, and encamped before it, at such time, as the Fleets of Barcelona and Genoa, according to what had been agreed, having Coasted along, lay Almeria in fight of the Port. The City was attacked by Sea and Land, and having made a Breach taken.

in light of the Port. The City was attacked by Sea and Land, and having made a Breach; and polifield themselves of certain Towers, it was at last taken by storm, on the 17th of Odober, in the Year 1147. 20000 Moors, who had retired into the Cassle, were forced to buy their Lives for a sum of Money. Thus was that Nest of Pyrats, that infested the Coass of Spain, France, and Italy, taken away. The plunder was given to the Soldiers. To the Genees, was given a dish, made of an Emraud, which they valued above all the Booty, and preserve to this day, in their Treasury. Others say, that Jewel was sound at the taking of the Army saymed home, loaded with Picked Coass. Cefarea in Siria. Winter drawing on, the Army returned home, loaded with Riches. Raymund Earl of Barcelona, not to let flip this opportunity of the Genoese Fleet, agreed with them to affift him in the expelling the Moors, from part of Aragon, and the Islands of Majoren and Minorca. In return they were to have the third part of all that was taken in that War. In all Towns recovered from the Moors, they should have a Church, and a Tribunal of of their own, and that all their Merchants should be free from Customs and Taxes. These conditions being accepted of, they flood along the Coast of Catalonia, and with their united Tortofa ta-Forces took the City Tortofa, feated at the Mouth of Ebro, and therefore a proper place for Lerida and Traffick. This was done in the Year 11.48. The following Year Lerida and Fraga, two Prages. Towns of note were taken by the Chriftians. Lerida, was given to the Earl of Orgel, in reward of his great Services during that War. William Perox Bilhop of Roda, was appointed to the See of Lerida, still retaining the Cities of Roda and Barbastro, to be included in that Diocess, and some Bishops of Lerida, long after this time, continued to stile themselves Bishops of Roda and Barbastro. The affairs of the Moors in Spain, went very much down the wind, and the Christians Lisbon Begrew daily stronger. Many Castles, Towns, and Cities, were taken from the Insidels. Al. sieged and most in the middle of Portugal, on the Coast of the Ocean, the River Tagus forms a Capacia taken by ous Harbour, the entrance or bar is fomewhat dangerous, but the Port within large and fet the new cure. On the Northern flore of this Port, is feated the City Libbar, the nobleft and richeft in king Portugal. At the back of it are certain Hills of selections and the Toront them. Portugal. At the back of it are certain Hills of easie ascent, and the Tops of them covered with buildings. The breadth of the City is not fo much as the length, the Ancient Circumference of the Walls is not very great, but the Suburbs are large, and fill increase. Molt of the Streets are narrow, and crooked, and in some places very steep, but what is new built, much surpasses the old in Beauty. About it are many villages, and good Country Houses, and a soil beautisfied with Vineyards and Orchard, of Orange and Lemmon Trees. D. Alon-so, ardently desired to make himself Master of this important place, which served as a

Chap. I.

172 Foreigners and K.

Portugal.

ak to all that the Moors held in those parts. His own Force was not sufficient for such an under sking, and the Kings of Spain had their hands full in other places; for which treaton, as foon as he had taken Sinjra, he made advantagious Proposals to the English, Flemings, and French, to induce them to affilt him with their Fleets. These fleets kept the Mouth of the Harbour, that no Relief might come to the City by Sea. The Forces of the Natives encamped where now is the Mongalery of S. Pincent, the Foreigners in the place where that of S. Francis was fince built; both places are now within the City. They battered the Walls for many days, and on the day of S. Pripin and Crifpinian, gave a general Affault, the King himfelf straining by, and encouraging his Men. Here the Service was deliperate, the Christians striving to gain the Breaches, and the Moors powring showers of Weapons and Stones upon them in gain the Breaches, and the Johnston Permit and the Manner, that fearce any fell-without doing executions our Men thronging upon one another. At length, having broke open the Gate call'd of Alfama, the City was entred, much Blood spill; and all that submitted made Slaves. All the Plunder was given to the Soldiers, and prov'd greater than had been imagin'd. Gilbert, a Person of great Learning and Vertue, and prov'd greater than had been imagin'd. Gilbert, a Person of great Learning and Vertue, was chosen Bishop, tho' a Stranger, and Conscrated the principal Mosque. In the very place where the King had encamp'd, he built a Monastery of the Invocation of S. Fincent, and plac'd therein Canons Regulars. Many of the Foreigners being taken with the pleasant-ness of the Country, 'resolv'dgo, stay, and inhabit there, and are said to have built Almada, fool Parting of Parting o that part of the Country. All things submitting to his great Valour and Conduct. True it is, the greatest part of these Actions fell some Years later. Let us return to the Course of our 1140.

At this time Eugenius III. govern'd the Church of Rome. The Affairs of the Christians in the Holy-Land went to decay. To remedy this misfortune, the Pope went into France, thence to excite all Christian Princes to the Relief of those Holy-Places, and to this purpose, he held a General Council at Rheimes, in the Year of our Lord 1148, Raymund, Archbishop of A General Joseph and General Jos garia's Death, which hap ned near about the same time. The Queen dy'd in the Year 1149, and was bury'd in the Church of S. James the Apostle. This Year was very remarkable, for Bloody Rain.

1150. dy'd Raymund the Archbilhop. John, Bilhop of Segovia, a Man of fingular Petry, fuceceded him. This in Cafille. On the other part, Pope Eugenius confirm'd the The Title of King of Portugal to D. Alonfo, afterwards Alexander III. did the fame. For this Grace, they order'd him to pay a Yearly Acknowledgment to the Popes. Eugenius appointed four Pounds of Gold, Alexander two Marks. Whether the Kings of Portugal then paid it, is not known; of late Ages that Crown has deem'd it felf free from any fuch Imposi-

THE

History of SPAIN.

The Eleventh BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The coming into Spain of the Moors called Almohades. The Death of D. Garcia, King of Navarre, by a fall from his Horse, his Son Sancho succeeds him. King Alonso, and his Daughter, both Marry'd. Many Places taken from the Moors.

Another Invalion of Spain, by the Moors cal-

E T us begin this Book with another Invalion of Spain, made by the cruel and barbarous Family of the Almohades, who about this time erected to themselves a new Kingdom in Africk and Spain. Great Revolutions enfu'd, and great Calamities threatn'd the Christians, till the Forces of the Moors were at last crush'd by one of the most famous Victories that has been heard of, obtain'd over them. Albohali, of the Family of the Almoravides, was Emperor of the Moors, in Africk and Spam, at has been faid before, in his time, a learned Man, and great Afrologer, call'd Tumerto, feeing a fufly, proper Youth, whose Name was Addelmon, the Son of a Potter, he Prognoficated to him, that he should be King of his Nation. At the same time, one Almobades, a Mahometan A Potter's Preacher, held by the Multitude for a Saint, diltracted the Multitude, ready to run a mad-sing after every extravagant Novelty, with a new Interpretation of their Law. To him Tu-the Moore merto discloses what he had sound by his Science, and he either believings or seeming to be-lieve it, they both consulted flow to over-turn the Government of the Kingdom. There is nothing so pernicious, as the pretence of Religion, when us d to cover Rebellion. des making use of the Reputation he had gain'd, persuaded his Followers to take up Arms under Abdelmon, and destroy the Race of the Amotavides, as Ulippers, that had wrongfuly possessed the Grown, by Extirpating the Alavecines, a Family descended from Fatima, Mahoway for those new Opinions in Religion, which they had embrac'd. He upon, the built-tude took up Arms, but being unskill'd in the use of them, were easily overcome by Albobab. Yet affembling in greater numbers, they never ceased till they had overthrown the Almoravides, and kill'd Albobali, the King. Abdelmon fur eded in the Throne, and then the Folnowers of Amobiles, who from him were also call'd Amobiles, being posits a or the Govern-ment, chang'd the ancient Laws and Cultoms. Having settled Africk, they began to look to-wards Spain. Tumerto was left to keep Africk under, whilst Abdelmon and Almobades, with a great Force pass'd over into Spain. At first they did no harm, hoping to attract the People by kindness, and they succeeded therein; for all the Moors in Spain, easily embrac'd their new Opinions, and their former Superstition became no less odious to them than Christianity. Being possess'd of all, they fell to Persecuting of the small remains of the Christians that Persecuting liv'd mix'd with the Moors, putting 'em to all manner of Torments. Many fled to the Christi-tion unans Dominions, others were overcome, and yielded to the Infidels; so that from thence for dien under ward, few Christians were left among the Moors. The Almohades contenting themselves Moors. with the Sovereignty of Africk, and to much of Spain as was under the Moors, thought not fit at that time to make War upon the Christians, who were Powerful both by Sea and Land, but return'd into Africk. Soon after, their Prophet Almobades dy'd, and the King caused a Magnificent Sepulchre to be erected for him, near Morocco, the Metropolis of that canted a magnificent sepurent to be elected to fining, and described to the fining of the fining of delimen returned into Africk. D. Garcia, King of Navarre, was kill'd by a fall off his Horfe of Navarre on a Rock, as he was Hunting, near Lorca, a Town in his Dominions. His Death'was on signified the 21st of November. He was going from Estella to Pamplona, to punish that City for their fall from Disobedience, but this missortune prevented his designs. He Reign'd 16 Years, and left these his clore. Children, D. Sancho, who fucceeded him, and was Crown'd in the Cathedral of Partylora, Sancho where he bury'd his Father, Blanch, Marry'd to the Emperor Alongo's Son, and Marguerite, to Kring of William, King of Sicily, call'd the Wicked. Besides. these, he had Alonso Ramirez. Lord of Nature. Castro Viejo, and Sancha Marry'd first to Gaston, Viscount of Bearn, and afterwards to Gonzalo, Earl of Molina. The Death of the King of Nature produced new Troubles; for Alongo the Property and Regulated Sanchage had an Interview Rose, this organization of Castro Property and Regulated Sanchage had an Interview Rose, this organization of Castro Property and Regulated Sanchage had an Interview Rose, this organization and Castro Research and Castro zalo, Earl of Molina. Ine Death of the King of Navarre produc a new I roudies; no Palie and fo, the Emperor, and Raymund, Earl of Barcelona, had an Interview open this occasion, at Angon Tudelin, a Town of Navarre, near the Baths, at which Sancho, now declar'd King of Ca-joynin file, by the Emperor his Father, was prefent. Here they Articled, that all that part of the League Dominions of Navarre, which had belong'd to Cafile, should be reftor'd to the Emperor, against and what had appertain'd to Aragon, to the Earl, That the ancient Kingdom of Navarre flound be equally, divided betwixt them; the Earl to hold his part of the Crown of Cafile. In regard of the Moors, they greed, that when Valencia, and all that lies between Torsofa, and the River Xucar, as also Murcia sere taken, they should be deliver'd to the Aragonians, so as they should do Homage for them to the Crown of Castile. Hereupon they shook hands, a Ceremony then used to confirm Promises, and resolv'd to commence the War against Navarre, when the Month of September was over. All this League fell to nothing, for the new King strengthen'd him self with Supplies from abroad, and gain'd the Love of his Subjects, which his Father never had done. Other Cares diverted the Emperor and Earl, fo that nothing was done, only some Inroads on both sides, which were not of moment. The Earl went into France, against Trencavelle, Viscount of Carcassome, with whom, he at last agreed, that he should do him Homage for the Towns of Carcassome and Rhodes. Alonso the Emperor, was taken up in concerting of Martiages; for Leuis, King of France, being Di-Alonfo of vorc'd from Ellenor, Countefs of Pointers, after he had two Children by her, Marry'd the Califficant his Danish and the Califficant had been supported from Ellenor, Counters of Pointers, after he had two Children by her, Marry'd the Califficant his Danish and the Califficant had been supported by the califficant ha Emperor's Daughter, fome call her Elizabeth, others Canflance. At the fametime, the first hand function of Arms could not take place. Befides, Navarre was in League with France, which might, perhaps, appeafe the Emperor. Befides, Sancho, the King was generally belov'd, and the Emperor himself was a Lover of Justice, all which motives induced him to forbear from War. Of his Justice he gave a most pregnant Testimony in the An Act of following Action. A Man of Birth that had serv'd in the Wars, such as Spain call'd Infan Justice.

Chap. II.

zones, living in Galkeia, took away by force all that a Farmer had. Being, warn'd by the King and Governour; to make refittution, he did not obey. Hereupon the King in difguife, for the greater fecrecy Travelled from Toledo, to the farthest part of Galkeia, and Egring that Soldier, caused him to be hang d before his own door. This action gained him great reputation. In the Year 11:22, he lay'd Siege to Jam, and the following to Guadix in Andaluzia, but took neither. D. Petronila Queen of Aragon, war delivered or a Son, who during his Father's Life, was called Raymand, and after his death Alons. We is remarkable, that before her Labour, this Lady made her Will, by which, in case the were delivered of a Son, the left the Crown of Aragon to him, but if it proved a Daughter, the bequeath did it to her Husband. All that the Moors policifed along the Rivers Segre and Cinga. was now taken from them become Many places ta ally firong, and almost inacceffible, were recovered, also the Town of Miravete, on the holds of the Most policiled almost at many Castles between Tarragona and Tortofa, in places naturally strong, and almost inacceffible, were recovered, also the Town of Miravete, on the Banks of the River Ebro, which was given to the Knights Templers. The King bought the third part of Tortofa, which according to contract at the taking of it, belonged to the Genotian mode the name of the Emily Survey of the Constitution o third from third part of Tortofa, which according to contract at the taking of it, belonged to the Genothe Moors, efet, for a fum of ready Money. These actions made the name of the Earl' Raymund Famous, not only in Spain but in Foreign Countries, yet fuch was his Modelfy, the' he' he would never take the Title of King, the' he had a Crown in the right of his Wife, but filled himself Prince Arms of Aragon, were changed for those of Catalonia, which are Barry of eight Pieces, Or and Gules. Santho, who afterwards succeeded his Hater Alonso are Barry of eight Pieces, Or and Gules. Santho, who afterwards succeeded his Hater Alonso Birth of this Prince, and coming of Lewis King of France into Spain; were the most remarkable things happ'ned this Year.

C H A P. 11.

King Luis the Younger of France comes into Spain. Alonfo of Castile and Leon call'd the Emperor Dies. His Sons Sancho and Ferdinand, inheris the Crowns of Castile and Leon. Original of the Knights of Calatrava.

Uis King of France, call dishe Younger, being suspicious, that the Empress his Wife, was not lawfully begotten, resolv'd to come into Spain, to be better inform'd, but that the denot awainly degoted, reflect to come into spain, to be better informed, but that the defended of the coming might not be known, pretended to go on Pilgrimage to the Church of S. James the Apolle in Galicia. His Father-in-Law, the Emperor Alonfo, with his two Sons, and the comes in: King of Navarre, went as far as Burges to meet him, and thither reforted all the Nobility, in their greatest Spiendor; to flew the riches of Spain to the French. In this manner they Travelled to Compostela, and having performed their devotions, returned to Toledo, where a General Affembly of the States, or Parliament, as well of the Moors Subject to the Emperor, as the Christians, was by him called the more to manifest his Power and Grandeur. Among the reft, came Raymund Earl of Barcelona, with a very Splendid Retinue. King Luis confidering the Grandeur of this Assembly, confessed he had not seen any to compare to it, and Praised God that he had to Wife, the Daughter of Alonso the Emperor, and Neice to the Prince of Angon. All forts of Sports were exhibited with great Magnificence, and rich prefents of His Enter-fered to the Stranger, but he would accept of nothing, fave only a rich Carbuncle, and thus tainment.

He returned home well pleafed. Raymund of Angon, bore him Company as far as Jaca, where they were received with much Grandeur. On the 28th of Angon dy'd the Earl of Orgel, Grandfon to Perancules, for diffinction sake, he was call'd Armengand of Cashie, Upon Friday the 11th of November 1155, Blanch, Wife to Sancho, King of Cashie, was deliver'd of a Son, called Alondo, who came to inherit his Father and Grandstater's Dominions. It had been proposed in the Treaty of Tudelin, to have this Lidy divorced as being under Age, but Justice, the Love her Husband bore her, and her own innocence, prevailed. Hugh Bauce, and his Brothers the Sons of Raymund, and Grandsons of Gilbert, grounding their right on a Priviledge of the Emperors granted to them, strove to possess themselves of all Provence, but the Earl of Barcelona, marching with a powerful Army to protect his Nephew, they were soon Earlor Barcelona, marching with a powerful Army to protect his Nephew, they were som reduced. At the same time Jacintus, the Popes Legate, fettled the affairs of the Church in Spain, Toledo degiving judgment for the Archbishop of Toledo, against those of Santiago, and Braga, who constropolis of tended for the Primacy. Lais King of France, at the instance of his Father-in-Law, now all Spain.

Gent an Arm of S. Eugenius the Martyr, spoken of before, which was received without the City, by the Emperor, his Sons, and all the Clergy, and carry'd on their shoulders, in Procession to the Cathedral, in the Year 1156. The rest of the Body was brought to Spain, in the time of Philip 11. and placed in the same Church.

Raymund Prince of Aragon, could not brook the cutting off the Kingdom of Navarre from that of Aragon. Hereupon he Solicited Alonso, the Emperor, to put in execution the League League Callile and concluded at Tudelin, and with joint Forces, to invade Navarre, and the more to strengthen Aragon re- this agreement, a Match was proposed betwixt Sancha, the Emperors Daughter, by his Wife Rica, and the Son of Raymund, but both being Infants, nothing more was done, but figning the Treaty. Sansho and Ferdinand, the Emperor's Sons, were included in this Alliance. Nevertheless the Emperor would rather have been Mediator for Peace, with the King of Navertheles the Emperor would rather have been Mediator for Peare, with the King of Natural Programs, and the pear of the American Control of the Contro refused to accept of.

Calatrava a Town seated on the Bahks of Guadiana, not far from Aimagro, when taken calatrava from the Moors, was given to the Knights Templers, but they understanding the Insides made defended greap preparations to Besiege it, and despairing of holding out, restored it to the Knig. No bytwo body would undertake to defend it, only two Cisteriam Monks, who came to Court upon Monks, a business, offered themselves. These were Raymund Abbot of Fisconear the River Psigarga, and their orhis Companion James Velazques, who having been a Soldier, was become a Religious, but der.

This offer was very grateful to the King, and to John Archbisshop of Toledo, who were before much concerned for the danger which threatned that place. The Archbifton, because Calastrava belonged to his Diocess, advanced a jum of Money, and in his Sermons, stirred up the People, to contribute towards the defence of that Town, either by adventuring their Persons, or laying out their Medery lines they were all concerned in the preservation of it; as being the Bulwards of the Christian Briefers, which once lost ruin and defolation, would some consequence of the preservation of the Concerned in the preservation of it.

Chap. III.

The Kingstreidy gave the Town of Calastrava, to the Order of the Cifections for ever. Fame, which the contribute of the Might with the Concerned in the Moral of the Concerned in the Concerned in the Concerned of the Concerned of the Concerned of the Might the Concerned of the Concerned of the Concerned of the Concerned of the Might be concerned on the Concerned of the Might be concerned on the Concerned of the Concerned good institutions are perverted.

CHAP III.

The Death of Sancho, Gine of Castile, The great Commotions that ensued.
The Death of Rayming, Prince of Aragon, his Issue. Alonso, his eldest Son succession Distriction.

League bewiss. A fine of Majon, Believing the Capitulation, in vertue of which, he held bewiss that the first part of Majon, Believing the Capitulation, in vertue of which, he held bewiss that the Conference with King and believing the Capitulation, was void by the Death of the Emderson of the Conference with King and the Salamin American of that the King of Capital floodid not be possessed and not be allowed, yet they agreed that the King of Capital floodid not be possessed of any Towns, or Cattles in that Country, but that the Rings of Aragon should do Homage to them for the Iame, and be obliged to come to the Country of Parliament of Capital when call'd. Moreover, the League again Navarre, was again renewed, but to as little effect as at other times. After this Interview, the Argoniam commenced the Was signiff Navarre; but the Forces of Capital could not do their particles.

Sando, K. Gordine of Parliament of Capital when call'd. Moreover, the League again Navarre, was again renewed, but to as little effect as at other times. After this Interview, the Argoniam Commenced the Was signiff Navarre; but the Forces of Capital could not do their particles.

Sando, K. Gordine of the Was signiff Navarre; but the Forces of Capital could not do their particles.

1158. preparing for the Was against the Moors, departed this Life at Tolado, and was Intered in the Cattledia, nearly his father. He Reign'd only I Vear, and I'l Days; and had he lived longer, mighthave equalized the Clory of any of his Ancestors. Notwithstanding the King's Death, his Army, in which very Man wore the Cross, entred Andaluxia, and in Battle overthrew Island Majoniam of the Was marching towards Scoil. A great slaughter was made of the Moors'; yet Jaido, their King', having recruited his Army, fell upon such a Moorsis (this Cantel one, two Sons of Abaguia, King of Marida, whom he subdu'd, After this, Faddala and Omer, two Sons of Abaguia, joyning theirs with some of Jacob's, entred the Christian Territories as far at Placencia and Avoila, and bendi the Christian 1 erritories as an as reaccuse and zona, and began in the course course a lawra were on their return to Meria's with a great Boogy, ells the People of zona, under the command of their Captains, Sancho and Gomez, overtaking them near Sieteviados, totally routed them, and recover d all the Prey. Four Years after this, the fame Commanders breaking in Effectations, defect the More that can to oppose them, and brought away arich Booty of Captle. From their Centiemen, are descended the Lords of Villario, and Mariant Captain and Captain questes of Pelada. At the time of his Death, King Sancho, recommended his Son Alonfo, then but four years of age, to the care of Guivere Fernandez de Gastro, who had been his Tutor. He order a the reft of the Nobles should still keep in their Hands those places they were in pollellion of, till the King was 15 years of Age, which prov'd very fatal, and gave ill Men an opportunity of disturbing the Peace of the Kingdom; the Nobility taking it ill, that the King and his Authority, should be put into the hands of one single Person.

Among the Nobility of Caftile, the two most powerful Families at this time, were those of Fastion of Cafro and Lara. Thefr for a confiderable time, had the first Vote in the Cortes, or Parlia the two ment. D. Guitere, who had the charge of breeding the young King, for his great Age great Experience, was highly efteemed among the Cafro's. He had no Children. His younger Cafro and Brother Roderick, had four, viz. Ferdinand, Alvaro, Peter and Gutierre, and a Daughter, cal- Lara. Brothers, Marry'd to Awaro de Gussan, 10 that her power was as great as her Brothers. The Family of Lara, consisted of three Brothers, Henry, Alvaro and Ivano, who had great Possessing the River Duero, and were Sons of Earl Peter of Lara, kill'd at Bayonne, as has been faid. Their Mother was a Lady, call'd Aba, who had been first Marry'd to D. Garcia, Earl of Cabra, by whom she had D. Garcia Acia, the Heir of that Estate, which added much to the power of the three Brothers. They refented that the House of Cafro should be preferr'd before them, and carry'd it so high in their Discourses, it appear'd they would come to blows rather than quit their pretensions. D. Gutierre, to secure the publick Peace, was easily persuaded to put the King into the hands of D. Garcia Asia, a modelf Man, but of too much sincerity for those times. In so much, that upon pretence of the Expence he was at with the King, the Revenues of the Crown being intangl'd, he deliver'd him up to D. Manrique de Lara, his Brother by the Mother's side, which was all he had strugled for. D. Gutierre complained this was a breach of Faith, and would again have recovered the charge of Educating the King, but his Adversaries mock'd at him, and thus all things seemcharge of Educating the Extrago put has carrectable most repending most right to the ed to tend to Confusion and War. Ferdinand, King of Leon, pretending most right to the Ferdinand ed to tend to Continuon and war. Eccamana, King of Loon, Preceding first light of Lara, Ferdinand breeding his Nephew, entred Cafile with an Army, waiting the Lands of the Family of Lara, Ferdinand breeding his Nephew, entred Cafile with an Army, waiting the Lands of the Family of Lara, of Leon, who remov'd the King to Soria, from the danger of the War. At this time dy'd D. Guenners tierre de Castro, and was buy'd in the Monastery of S. Christopher, at Encas. D. Manrique de Cassie, Lara grown more Insolent, requir'd the Heirs of the Deceased, to resign such Towns and Forts as were in their hands. They excus'd themselves, pleading the late King's Will, by which, they were not to relign them till the young King were at Age. Hereupon D. Manwhich, they were not to rengh them thit the young Anig were at Age. Hercupon D. Manrique cauled the Body of D. Gutierre to be taken up, as if he had been guilty of Treafon. The case being put to Tryal, Judgment was given for D. Gutierre, and his Body order'd to be bury'd. Mean while, King Ferdinand rang'd all the Country, there being no Army to make head against him. D. Manrique dispairing he should be able to resist, was forced to engage himself to King Ferdinand, that he would deliver up the King and Government to him. gage himself to King Ferdinand, that he would deliver up the King and Government to min, to hold for 12 years. To this purpose, the Cortes, or Parliament was summoned to Soria, where the young King was. Here, one Nuno Almexar, seeing the King carried away to be Alongo the deliver'd to his Uncle, shatch thin from those that led him, and carried him away to San- Young K. is the was carried to Alienza, of Capita, the san are to Alienza, of Capita, secured by Capital Ca and after many removals to Avila. There the Townsinen Loyally Desended him till the some No-11th Year of his Age, and were therefore commonly call'd the Faithful. King Ferdinand in a bles. rear for being disappointed, accused Nuño and Maurique de Lara with breach of Faith, and thereupon, sent to challenge them; but they only answer'd, That whatsoever others thought, thereupon, ent to challenge them; but they only aniwer'd, That whatfoever others thought, their Confeiences were fatisfy'd they had done their Duty to their King. All the Kingdom rejoiced the King was deliver'd from his Uncle, but their Joy was not lafting, for he wasted all the Country, most of the Cities submitted to him, or were taken by force, and Toledo it self did not escape; for it appears, that City submitted to King Ferdinand, so that a very small part remain'd to the young King. On the other side, the King of Navarre, thinking this a good opportunity to recover his losses, having first made Peace with Aragon, broke into the Dominions of Cashie, and possess of the Country was filled with confission.

Thus all the Country was filled with confission. ther Towns. Thus all the Country was filled with confusion.

Whillt Cafile was thus rent with intestine Divisions, the Moors of Andaluzia enjoy'd per-Reymund, fect Peace. Only the Forces of Portugal and Aragon kept them in aw. Raymund, Prince of Prince of rect reace. Only the forces of rortuga and Aragon kept them in aw. Kaymuna, Prince of Prince of Aragon, was in great renown for his perpetual good Portune, which was such, that Lope, the Aragon function of Muorif King of Muoria, was subject to him, and in France, he had taken-above 30 Strong-cessular Holds, and the Town of Treneataye, which he destroy'd, from the Family of Beauce, who inspatially the Aragon for the Emperor Frederick, who had favoured his Enemies, sought his Friend.

Moori. vaded Provence. In emperor Frederice, who had ravoured his enemies, lought his richarding, and a League was concluded betwirt them. Raymand had brought out of Cafille, Riegi, the Widow of the Emperor Alonfo, and his Daughter Saucha, contracted to his own Son. At the infrance of the Emperor Frederick, it was agreed, that Rica, who was his Kiniwoman, foolid Marry Raymand Berengarius, Earl of Provence, who thereupon fhould polific all the faid Earldom of Provence, and the City Arles, with its Territory. To ratific this Agreement, it was refold doth Raymunds should meet the Emperor at Turin, on the first of Auguf, in the Year 1162. On the way thither, at S. Dalmacius, a Town at the foot of the withstanding this of Magon, fell sick and dy'd the 6th day of the same Month. Not. HisDeath withstanding his Death, Raymund, Earl of Provence, obtained of the Emperor all he defred. Prince Raymund's Hody was brought to his Country, and buried in the Monastery of Ripoli, as he had ordered. Cortes, or a Parliament, being held at Huesca, Raymund's last Will, left by word of Mouth, was repeated, whereby he declared his Son Raymund, his Successor, who Alonfo fuc- took polleffion of his Father's Principality, by the name of Alonfo. To Peter, his fecond Son. ceeds Ray he left Cerdagne, Carcassonne and Narbonne, Sancho, the youngest, was to succeed Peter, in muna ms father, in case he died without Heirs. He made no mention of his Daughter Dulcis, who was after the Domi- Queen of Portugal, nor of his Baltard Son Berengarius, who was Bishop of Taracona and Lerida, and Abbot of Montaragon. The King's Minority (he being but it years old) gave an opportunity to turbulent Spirits to raife Commotions. An Impostor now openly affirmed he was King Alonfo, who as has been faid, was killed 28 years before, at the Battle of Figs. He faid he had been till then in Afia, ferving against the Insidels in the Holy-Land. His Age and Features, but most of all, the Love the Multitude has for Novelties, gained him some Reputation. Great mischies might have ensued, had not the Impostor been taken at Zaragoga, and put to Death in the very beginning of the Tumult. In the Year 1163, the Affembly of States, or Parliament of Aragon, was held at Barcelona. The Queen Petronilla, by the advice of the Nobility, refiged over the Crown of Aragon, to her. Son, then 13 years of Age. Raymund, Earl of Provence, who had some time governed Catalonia for his Coufin, returned home; and died in the Year 1166. King Alonfo receiving the News at Girona. by advice of the Nobility, called himself Marques of Provence; for they pretended by the Emperor's Grant, that Country was not only given to the late Earl of Provence, but to Rays mund, Prince of Aragon, and his Heirs, which occasioned Wars in France;

CHAP. IV.

Alonso, the joung King of Castile takes upon him the Government, recovers most of his Dominions; joins in League with the Aragonian, and Marries Ellenor, Daughter to Henry II. King of England. Some Actions of Ferdinand, King of Leon.

Toledo de-

IN Caliile, the People growing weary of the King of Leon, invited their young King Alloufo, to take upon him the Government, promling, all would declare for him. Their invitations, and the perfusions of the Nobility, prevailed, and he refolved to depart from Aviia, and vifit the principal places of the Kingdom. This was in the Year 1168, as fome write, I rather believe two years somer, by the computation of time; for when his Father died, he was 4 years of age, and at this time 11. He was not deceived, for many Cities received him with Joy, and furnished all Necessaries for him, and his Retinue, which at first, confifted of only a few Nobles, and a Guard of 150 Horse, furnished by the City Avila, This was a small Force to recover so many Places as the King of Leon held with strong Garifons. The King encouraged by Success, refolved to try Toledo, but feared Ferdinand Ruiz de Caftro, who held it, would not be prevailed upon to deliver that City. Stephen Illan, a Citizen of note, had built the Church of S. Romanus, in the highest part of the City, and adjoyning to it a Tower, which served as well for Strength as an Ornament. He was an Enemy to Ferdinand de Cafro, and therefore getting privately out of the City, he conveyed the King, difguised, into the Tower. Then setting up the Royal Standard, he gave notice the King was there, whereupon the Citizens running to Arms, Ferdinand de Castro, fled to Huete, a Town then very strong, as lying upon the Frontiers, exposed to the Moore, The People of Toledo, as well those who had been against admitting the King, so the most Loyal, expressed great Joy, and nothing resounded but, God fave the King. Stephen Illan, for his good Service was much horioured, and made Governour of the City. After his death, the Citizens caused his Picture on Horse-back to be drawn on the Roof of the Cathedral, bei the Citizens caused his Picture on Horse-back to be drawn on the Root of the Cathedral, beind the High Altar, where ties fill to be seen. The King entred Toledo, upon Friday the 26th of August. On Michaelmass-day following, died John, Archbishop of Toledo, when he had governed that Church with much applause 16 years. Cerebrums, or Cenebrums, fisc-ceeded him, a Man grateful to King Alonso, having taught him the first Rudiments of Learning. He had been Arch-deacon of Toledo, and Bishop of Siguença, and it is thought, was a Franchman. The King, after securing Toledo, at the instigation of Manrique, Earl of Laraphis General, marched against Ferdimand de Castro, who refused not one thim, being supported by the People of Huete, that stood sirm to him. Two Leagues from that Town, at a place called Carinabarro, they came to a Battle. Ferdimand de Castro, sought in a disguise. Manrique with all his might charged a Gentleman that was armed like a General, and D. Manrique with all his might charged a Gentleman that was armed like a General, and killed him, believing it had been Ferdinand, but was himself foon after slain by one of the said Ferdinand's Followers. The General being killed, the King's Forces were put to flight! by the Re. Nano, Brother to Manrique, undefitanding the deceit used by Ferdinand, de Castro, laid Treachery to his charge, and challenged him, as was then usual; but some Persons of Piers interpoling, the buliness was mitigated; yet the hatred betwixt those two Families, could not be rooted out. Many Towns and Places of strength, adhered to Ferinapad de Cafring therefore the King forbore for the present contending with him, and bending his Force and ther way, recovered many places that were not Garrisoned. It was thought convenient to try the Castle of Zufita, seated on a Hill; at the foot whereof, runs the River, Tagut, Lope

Arenas held it as Lieutenant to Ferdinand de Castro. Being summoned, he excused himself, faying, The King was not yet at the age appointed by his Father's Will, and that he was but Lieutenant, and could not furrender without leave of his Lord. No hopes remaining of a furrender, it was resolved to use force. D. Lope de Haro came from the farthest part of Biscay, to serve at that Siege. Provisions growing scarce, the Besieged resolved to use Fraud; and therefore, upon pretence of Capitulating, getting D. Nuño, and Suero de Lara, into the Castle, kept them Prisoners, believing, the King to save them, would raise the Siege. There was one Dominick in the Camp, who had deferted from the Castle, this Man offer'd for a Reward, to make them Masters of the Fort. Upon promise of what he demanded, he wounded one Peter Ruiz, who was consenting to it, and slying, was admitted into the Castle, and to the Favour of the Lieutenant, whose Servant he had been. He watched his opportunity, and kill'd the Lieutenant, whereupon, the Caftle was immediately Surrendred. The King caused Dominick's Juft Re-Expest to be put out; as an example of Treachery, yet allowed him a Maintenance, which ward of was afterwards taken away, and he put to Death, for that he boafted of his wickedness, chery. The Army was dismissed, and D. Lope de Haro much commended, return'd home, having refused Presents that were offer'd him, because the King's Treasury was exhausted. This Gentleman is faid to have built the Town of Haro, not far from the River Ebro. The King went to Toledo, whither he had fummond the General Assembly, call'd Cortes, or Parliament, and there it was confulted how to fettle the Kingdom, and recover those places that would not fubmit. This Year was remarkable for great Rains and Floods, particularly, at Earth-Toledo, the River Tagus swelled till it came to the Church of S. Isidorus. The following Year, quake and on the 8th of February, there was an Earthquake in that City, a thing not usual, and there. Floods.

The History of SPAIN.

fore thought to prelage more Troubles. Ferdinand, King of Leon, had Marry'd Urraca, the Daughter of Alonso, King of Portugal, by whom he had Alonfo, who fucceded him, notwithstanding he was Divored from the Queen, on account of Consanguinity. This Divorce produced enmity betwite the Kings and much harm was done on both sides. King Ferdinand was buse, repairing the Towns united by the Wars, and building others. By the advice of abanish'd Portugue, he built Cuidad Radrigo, on the Borders of Portugal, to be a check to those People. Hence arose Digusts, which ended drigo built. Sing Ferdinand, the Affable and Courteous, was Brave and Resolute, and feared not at once to engage both the Kings of Cashie and Portugal. King Alonso of Cashie, which ended the Cashie and Portugal. in the beginning of the Year 1170, held the Cortes, or Parliament, at Burgos, where it was Enacted, That fince he was at the age of 15, appointed by his Father's Will for delivering K. Alono all Cities, Towns and Caftles into his Hands, there should be War declared against all thinh assembles as withheld any from him, not excepting King Ferdinand, who still was possess d of a consider- the Cores, able part of the Kingdom. That War, many difficulties intervening, was deferr'd for fome or Parlia-time. The great Men, left they should be reputed Traitors, now no excuse was left, poly-ment. cline. The great even, returney mound be reputed I tailors, now no excuse was tert, obeyed. Among the firft, was Perdinand de Cashro, who fearing his Enemies, and the King's Dirpleasure, renouncing his Country, as the Custom was then, went over to the Moors, whence he ceased not to do harm upon the Lands of the Christians. It was also proposed in the Cortes, or Parliament, to fet on foot a Treaty of Marriage between the King, and the Lady Edition, Organization, to recommon a freaty of mannage detween the Ming, and the Lady Allehow, Dayther to Henry II. King of England, and Duke of Normandy, and Aquitain. After this, Alonfo, King of Aragon, had an interview with his Coufin, the King of Caffile, at Sabagun, where a League was concluded between them. Thence the two Kings, about the beginning of July, went to Zaragoça. From thence an Embassy was sent to treat about the Meets the againing of July, went to Aragopa, From theure an emograph of the Embally, with King's Marriage. Cerebrums, Archbishop of Toledo, was Principal of the Embally, with King in him went Raymund, Bishop of Palencia, and other Prelates, and Noblemen. At Bourdeaux Aragon. the Treaty was concluded, whence the Lady came into Spain, attended not only by those that went for her, but by Bernard, Bishop of that City, and many other Persons of Note. that went for ner, out by sermara, Binop of that Lity, and many other Perions of Note. Mean while, the Kings of Cafile and Aragon, had Made a League Offensive and Defensive against all Princes, except the King of England, in respect to the Marriage in hand. For Concludes the more fecurity, Cautionary Towns were given on both sides; the King of Aragon, had League With him. Najava and Bignerra, he of Cassile, Asiava and Daroca. The Bride being come to Taragona, harries there the Nuptials were Celebrated with great Pomp, in the Month of September. The King Eleany, the Cassile Russel Cass of Aragon gave her. Her Joynter, was a great part of Caffile, Burgot, Medina del Campo, Daughter and many other. Towns, and half of all that should be taken from the Moort. For the King of Penyll. ravished with the beauty of his Bride, endeavour'd to exceed all his Predecessors in Liberalia. Regarded with the Beauty of his Bride, endeavour'd to exceed all his Predecessors in Liberalia. ty. Lope, the Moorish King of Murcia, was doubtless, in League with the King of Castile, upon him, on account that he refused to pay the Tribute he paid to his Father; but that he gareed, and he consented to pay, upon Condition, King Monso should not uphold the Ma-gemutes, his Enemies. All the Solemnities being perform'd at Taragona, the two Christian genuies, in Expenses. An the solumines using perior in at taragona, the two Continuan Kings parted, and public Rejoicings were again Celebrated at Burgo. After that, the Troop of Avila, which till then, had attended the King, was diffulfed. Great Privileges were granted to the City Avila, for its Fidelity to the King in the worlf of times. Then, the King and, Queen, if et out for Toledo. At the fame time, the King of Aragon, with the content of the Bifnop of Rhoda, had the Head of Valerius, Bifnop of Zaragora, translated to that City, from Rhoda, where it had been till then. Garfendis, Princels of Bearn, by the

Chap. IV

Chap, V.

the Death of her Father and Brother, did Homage to the King of Aragon, and confirmed the contract made, that the should not Marry without his leave. Some are of Opinion, the was Marry d to William of Moncada, a Nobleman, and Senefebal of Catalonia, of which there is no proof, and therefore I thought better to leave it dublous, than attempt to decide it on elements.

CHAP. V.

The League made against Peter Ruiz de Azagra. The Original of the Knights of Santiago. The taking of Cuenca by the Christians. Increase of the Knights of Santiago, or St. James the Apostie. Several places in Navarre taken by the Castilians.

designians THE Moors were so pressed by the Aragonians, that they had no place of safety. Along success a the River Alga, the Towns of Favara, Maella, Fresheda, and others, were taken from them. On the River Ebro the strong Town of Caspe. A great number of them had retired them. On the River Ebro the strong Town of Caspe. A great number of them had retired to the Mountain Idubeda, thinking the natural strength of the place would secure them, but thence also they were driven by the Valour of the Christians. So that from this time, the Domittee of the Christians of the Safety Sa nion of the Moors extended no farther than the Borders of the Kingdom of Valpicia. At the fame time Peter de Aragra, Son to Roderick de Aragra, before spoken of and Lord of Efelis for fome fignal Service done to Lope King of Musica, had the strong Town of Albaraira, seated on an uncoth Mountain, near the Springs of Tagus, given him. This place was soon after made a Bishoprick, and annexed to the Province of Toledo. Both the Kings of Cashie and Aragon, were offended at Peter de Aragra, the latter pretending that Give within the plained he had taken some Casses belonging to him, and therefore both agreed with their point Forces to destroy Abarain. For the more strengthening of this League, cautionary Towns were given on both sides, the King of Aragon had Agreeda, Cervera, and Aguilar, he of Cassile, Aranda, Borgia, and Aguida. It was also concluded that Harica, and its Casses, should be delivered to the King of Cassile, in pursuance of the former Capitulation. But because Nasio Samehez delivered it without a Special Order, the two Kings sell at Varlance nion of the Moors extended no farther than the Borders of the Kingdom of Valencia. At the fhould be delivered to the king of Caffile, in purfuance of the former Capitulation. But because Noise Sanchez delivered it without a Special Order, the two Kinge fell at Variance, which yet went no further than Words. This discord gave Peter de Aggra time to threngthen himfelf, for neither of the Kings attack'd him. He of Angon despiting the March that had been madeby his Father, with the Daughter of Caffile, sent Embaliadors to March Emmund Commenus, Emperor of Conflaminople, to delive his Daughter in Mariage. Some bishops Murderd. He was to the time in Angon, on occasion that William Aguillon Lord of Turnyona, Murderd. He was the control of the time in Angon, on occasion that William Aguillon Lord of Turnyona, had killed Hugo Billop of that City, for maintaining the Privileges of his Church. The fame foore, afterwards Canonized by Pope Alexander III, and soon knowered as a Salne in 1712. Spain. Lope King of Muscia dy'd in the Year 11712. The King of Adecide as a Salne in opportunity to make his advantage of and entring the Kingdom of Valencia, obliged that King to buy a Peace, and promise for the future to pay double the Tribute he had payed bewarbs from the Privilege of the was forced to offit, when it was inport the point of furrendring, being called way to defend his own Country against the Navarrots, who made War upon him. Here-

*Xativa, which he was forced to quit, when it was upon the point of furrendring, being called away to defend his own Country against the Navarrois, who made War upon him. Hereupon a Truce was concluded with the King of Maucia, upon Condition he should pay the same provided with the King of Maucia, upon Condition he should pay the same provided to the Country on the side of Tudela; and took the Town of Argueda. This happed towards the end of the Year. In the beginning of the next, being 1173, the War was continued, and the Aragonians utterly destroy'd the Town of Milagro, betwirt Calaborra and Alfaro, from whence much harm had been done in the Lands of Aragon. Petroniala, Mother to the King of Aragon, dy'd on the Third of Odober the same Year at Barcelona. On the 18th of January 1774, the Marriage was at last consummated at Zaragoga, the twirk the King of Aragon and Sawoha, Sifter to him of Capille, as had been agreed long before by their Parents, the King of Aragon, now upon second Thoughts, preferring the Alliance of Capille before that of a Foreign and remote Emperor. At the same time the Greeian Emperor's Daughter, arrived at Montpellier in France, where understanding how the Grecian Emperor's Daughter, arrived at Montpellier in France, where understanding how she was disappointed, she Marry'd the Lord of that City.

About this time the Order of the Knights of Sautiago, or St. James the Apostle, began first to be taken notice of, and by degrees, from a small beginning, are now risen to a Regal Grandeur. When the Sepulcher of St. James the Apostle was first discovered, the devotion of the place drew many Pilgrims, and many were deterred by the badnels of the ways, and danger of the Moors. For taking away thele Oblacles, the Cannons of St. Eloy built many Holpitals on the road, and one to be the Chief of the refrat bean. This at first mov'd many good People to bestow great Riches upon them. Afterwards fome that had served in the

Wars joined their stocks, and lived under certain Rules, like Religious Men. These by the industry of Cardinal Jacintus, the Popes Legate, joyned with the Canons of St. Eloy, who had a Convent without the Town of Compostella, and sent Commissioners to Rome, to Pore Alexander. for the obtaining his approbation of their new inflitution, which was to be regulated, accordfor the obtaining his approbation of their new infitution, which was to be regulated, according to the rule of St. Augustin, observed by those Canons. Pero Fernandez, de Puente Encalada, was the chief of these Commissioners, who obtained the Pope's Bull, approving their design, and salligaing them Rules to observe. The Bull bears date July the 5th 1175, Pero Fernandez, him-left was Constituted the first great Master of the Order. The Badge of the Knights is a White Cloak, with a red Cross, made in the manner of a Sword. The Hospital of St. Mark at Leon was assigned them for their Monastery. Their Possession in Cashie were very large, among others, they had the Towns of Teles, Mora, Estrana, Almodovar, Lavunda, and Santa Cross and Cashie was also considered the Course of Celes, Mora, Estrana, Almodovar, Lavunda, and Santa Cruz de la Zarça, near Ocena. in the Year 1176. King Alonfo of Caffile being of Age, and Cruc de la Zarga, near Oceria. In the Year 1176. King Aionjo of Caprile being of Age, and 1176. refolving to be revenged on the Kings of Leon, and Navarre, for the wrongs they had done Alonjo of him in his Minority, before he took the Field, made his Vows to God in Toledo, and gave the Capille in Towns of Illefass and Hazania to that Church. This done he entred the Territory of Kioja, valentees, as far as Ebro, and having walked the Borders of Navarre, turn'd back, and bent his Force a gainft the Kingdom of Leon, where he burnt and plundered all the Country, the King his gainst the Kingdom of Leon, where he burnt and pundered an the Country, the King his Unkle being too weak to withstand him. The King of Leon vented his Anger upon the new Knights of St. James, supposing they favoured their old Master the King of Cashile, and therefore drove them out of his Dominions, and obliged them to fly to Cafile for protection. Soon after King Ferdinand repented, but it was too late, however by the Mediation of Pre-Jates, a Truce was concluded betwixt those two Crowns. Thus much concerning the Original of this Order of Knighthood. I know some will have King Alonso, the Chast, and others King Ramiro, to be the Founders of it, long belong this time, but they have no grounds for it. In France, after much trouble, Peace was concluded, betwixt the King of Aragon and Earl of Toulouze, who was diffatisfied, for that the King obstructed the Marriage of his Son, with the Daughter of the late Earl of Provence. The King gave him 3000 Marks of Silver, to quit his pretentions, and his Son Married the Silver of Trencavelle Viscount of Carcassonne, her name was Beatrix. Hugo, Great Master of the Templers, was very instrumental, in making is Accommodation.

The History of SPAIN.

Cafiile, after a long Oppression, began now, through the Valour of its King D. Alamb, to lift The Conup its head. At the fame time the power of the Moors declined. The Almohades wholly quest or saken, up with the affairs of Africk, had not leafure to mind Spain. Besides, Aten Jacob Suc- Cuenca recellor to Abdelmon, tho' of fufficient Valour, yet equalled not his Father in good Fortune, folv'dup-TheKing of Castile being now at Age, resolved not to let slip so good an opportunity of inlarge-on. ing his Territories. Having therefore taken his revenge on Navarre and Leon, he confulted with the King of Aragon, about carrying on the War against the Moors, and it was determined to begin by the Conquest of Cuenca. This City was built by the Moors, on a high and mined to begin by the Conquert of Chenca. In its City was built by the Moors, on a high and Craggy Hill, hiptup, on two fides, by the Rivers Xucar and Huecar, so that it is naturally impregnable. The aftent is difficult, the Streets narrow, so steep that Horses cannot go in anany of them. In those days it had no Spring, nor Wells at present, Water has been brought to it from other Hills, so that it was easie to keep the Town from Water, but not practicable to assault in the street of the Ground. Great preparations were made in both Kingdoms, and many Captains of note and Prelates attended the Kings in this Expedition. A roome them Pater de Accard being now reconciled to the King. was the first that took his Aingaoins, and many captains of note and resides attended the Kings, was the first that took his Post before the City. The Siege was begun with the Year, and there being no Possibility of The Siege Battering or Assaulting the Town, lasted long, the Moors defending themselves in hopes of relief. Provisions grew as scarce in the Camp, as in the Town, and they lived only upon Her. Provinions grew as tarte in the camp, as in the lown, and they lived only upon plunder. Befides, there was no Money to pay the Soldiers, and invite Vivandiers. Thefe difficulties moved the King of Cafilia to go to Burgs to raife Money. The Cortes, or Parliament being Alfembled, it was proposed, that not only the Commonalty, but Nobility and Centry, who used to be free from Taxes, should pay to the King five Maravedies of Gold allead, for that the populace was before wasted with Taxes. This advice was given by D. James de Haro, Lord of Bijesy, whose Sister was Marryed to the King of Leon, and brought him two Sons, Sancho and Garcia. Peter Earl of Lara opposed it, and a great number of Nobility joyning him, left the Assembly, resolving to maintain their Priviledges by force of Arms. The King moved by this danger gave over that Tax. It was agreed among the Nobles to make an Annual Feaft to Peter of Lara, and his Successors, in Memory of this Mutinous exploit. Whilst these The Town debates were at Burgos, the Siege having lasted Nine Months, Cuenca was at last taken, in the Month of September 1177. This same Year was Fortunate to Navarre, in the Birth of Ferdinand of whom the Fruitful Queen Beatrix was delivered, after the had brought Sancho, Ray-mund, Berengaria, Tereja, and Blanch. For the greater honour of the City Cuenca, it was by consent of the Pope made a Bishoprick, the Priviledges of Valera an Episcopal See in the time of the Goths, being translated thither. To the Citizens was granted the Priviledge of fending Representatives to the Cortes, or Parliament. In reward of their good Service, the Aragoni-Ans were freed from the Homage they ow'd to Castile. A League was concluded betwixt the two Kings, against all Princes; except him of Leon, who was exempted in respect to his Kindred.

After Cuenca, the War continuing, Alarcon, a place of no less strength, was taken. Also the

The Or Fames the

180

Chap. VII.

Town of Inispia, better known for its Salt-Pits, the Salt whereof is like Transparent Stone, than for the goodness of the foil. The Knights of St. James, that they might be nearer the Moors, were Ordered to settle their Monastery at Veles, whence King Ferdinand of Leon reof the moors, were ordered to lettle their monantely at ones, whence A ing Feranana of Leon re-Knights penting what he had done, would have had them return to their fire Habitation. After of saming much debate, it was agreed that Four Priefts of that Order, should be fent to Leon, who much denate, it was agreed that roun riters of that Just, mound be left to Lton, with should fill be subject to the Monastery of Weles, which they afterwards refused, and Pope Wrham I. Ordered the Monasteries should be independent of one another, only subject to the great Master of the Order. Not long after these Knights were admitted to Portugal, and had large Possessions given them. They for many Years obey'd the Great Master of the Orhad large Possessions given them. They for many Years oney a the Grate Matter of the Ornder, till King Denis assigning them a Head of their own, withdrew them from any dependence on Cassis. The' these things sell out in several Years, they are put together to ease the Memory. Let us return to the series of the History. The King of Cassis now built he City Plasencia, on the Borders of his Kingdom, and made it a Bishoprick. The Walls of Toledo were repaired, and the Town of Marcos rebuilt. All this hap ned in the Year of of Ioledo were repaired, and the 10Wh of Markot Levolt. All this hapined in the Year of our Lord 1178. At the fametime, Alonfo King of Aragon, upon the death of Giraldus Earl of Russillon, who dy'd without life, feized upon that Earldom, and from thence forward filled himself, King of Aragon, Earl of Barcelona, and Russillon, and Marquels of Provence. On the 20th of March 1179, he fet out from Perpignan towards Carola, where he vence. On the 20th of March 1179. He let out from represent towards Cazona, where he was to have an interview with the King of Cashile. Here it was agreed, that Valencia, Xativa, Denia, and their Dependancies, hould belong to the Conquest of Aragon. All the other Towns in the Kingdom of Murcia were assigned to Cashile. They also made a League against Santho King of Navarre, to his great loss, for the Cashillians took from him the Towns of break with Castile, therefore he sent to demand Restitution of Hariza, and its Castle, and in case of refusal, to declare War. Great were the Apprehensions of a Bloody War, yet the King of Cashie's modelty prevented it, for he restored Hariza, and forbore carrying on the

CHAP. VI.

War against Leon, thinking the wrongs done him had been sufficiently reveng'd.

Rebellion in the Kingdom of Leon suppress'd. Alonso King of Portugal, taken by Ferdinand of Leon, and fet at Liberty. Being Besseg'd in Santarem by the Moors, is relieved by him. He vanquishes the Institute. Actions of his Son Sancho.

TheKing, "THE People of Leon bore Ferdinand their King no Affection, some pretending heavy Taxes, others that he was Austere, and the City Salamanca complained that he had taken part of their Territory to add it to Ledefma, which he rebuilt. Hereupon they rebelled under one Mino Rabia, whom D. Lucas de Tuy fays, they called King. The Town of Avila fent them supplies, but King Ferdinand coming upon them overthrew the Rebels, took their Captain, and caused him to be executed.

Salamanca was easily reduced, and Zamora, before Mutinous, by this example, was pacified. These troubles being over, the King was perplexed how to relieve Cuidad Radrigo, belieged by Ferdinand de Cafro, with a great number of Moors. S. Ifidorus Patron of Leon, is faid to have affifted him in vanquifhing them, as he did, and grown proud with this success, entred Portugal, and plundered the Frontiers. D. Ferdinand & Caffron, was prevailed upon by the King, to quit the Service of the Moors, and ingage under him against Cassile, whose Territories he immediately entred with the Forces of Leon. Near Lu-Initial in the Country of Campor, the overthrew a Body of the Enemy that came to oppose him took many Prifoners of note, and among them D. Nuro de Lara his Mortal Enemy. He Treated them all conteoully, and gave them their Liberty, only exacting an Oath of them, that they would be his true Friends. Then putting away his first Wife, he Marryed D. Elephania; King Ferdinand's Sifter, by whom he had Peter de Castro, of whom we shall speak hereaster. Anny excamanas suter, by whom he had reter at Capro, or whom we that the pear ferefater) Alonfo King of Portugal, the of a great Age, had Warlike Thoughts, and referred that to Alonfo King of Portugal, the of a great Age, had Warlike Thoughts, and the to More of Age and Warlike Thoughts, because the Caproparation of Army, he gave the Command of it to his Son Sancho, ordering him to Beliege that City, Forned, being perfuded, the King of Leon, now ingaged in War with Capille, could not have leiture that City to relieve it. King Ferdinand, with part of his Forces, met the Portuguels, and near the More of the Capille of the Caproparation of the Caproparati Town of Arraganal, overthrew them, taking many Prisoners, whom he presently set at ligo, deberty. King Alonso, after this loss, recruiting his Army, entred Galicia, where he took Limia, Turonia, and some other Towns. Then having encreased his Army, he attack'd Badojoz, which, tho it belong'd to the Moors, was under the protection of King Ferdinand, who immediately came to its relief. The Portugues had already taken part of the City, but

King of Portugal taken by King Ferdinand of Leon, and fet at Liberty

daring to give Battle, was yanquilled, and forc'd to retire into the very Town. That was no place of fafety, for the Moors press d him on the one fide, and the Christians on the other. Attempting to escape, he was struck down by the Bolt of the Gate, and so taken. King Arteniphing to chape, he was fitted down by the hoteloid the case, and to taken. King Ferdianah having entertain'd him with all manner of Civility, and caufed his wound to be dreffed, gave him his Liberty. This Courtesse so oblig'd the Portugue, that he offer'd to drelied, gave him his Liberty. I his Courteile to oblig'd the Portugues, that he offer'd to fibmit himself and Kingdom to King Ferdinand, which was refused, and nothing demanded of the restitution of the Towns he had taken in Galicia. The following Year being 1180. on the first of Ostober, dy'd Luis VII. King of France, and Philip Angustus succeeded him. About the same time Sancho King of Navarre, built the City Vistoria, in that part of Biscay called Alava, it is the head of that Province, and stands where formerly was Villoria part of Bijeay called Mava, It is the need of that Province, and stands where formerly was Village called Gaseiso. At Tarragona a Synod was held, where among other things it was Chybrid etcreed, that for the future the Catalonians, in the publick writings, should forbear naming Tarragona, the Kings of France, and the Year of their Reigns, as had been used till then. In the Year 1181. dy'd Cerebrums Archbishop of Toledo. Gonzalo the first of this Name, a Man of great 1181. Piety and Learning succeeded him. Some name Peter de Cardona, before D. Gonçalo, some after him, perhaps he was Elect, and not Confecrated, most Authors make no mention of King Ferdinand of Leon, now made himself Master of Badajoz. That City was altogether Alonso of inhabited by Moors, and he could neither People it with Christians, nor leave a sufficient Portugal Garrison. Therefore he gave the Government of it to Abenabel, a Moor, who soon rebell'd, Besieged Garriion. I herefore he gave the Government of he of the Almobades to his affiltance. Not content with this, he gathered an Army, by the and called the Almobades to his affiltance. Not content with this, he gathered an Army, by the Almobades to his affiltance. Not content with this, he gathered an Army, by the and called the Almobades to his afliftance. Not content with this, he gathered an Army, Moors, and the marching into Poetugal, Befieg'd King Alonfo in San Alediverde in-Law, but the Moors not daring to frand the Power of both Kings, fled. At fift the King of Portugal was jealous of King Ferdinand's defigns, being as much afraid of him, as of the Moors, but being better affired, took Courage. King Ferdinand's tetrurned home, with great honour and a rich Booty. This same Year 1181 Pope Lucius III. entred upon the Papacy. He fent a Legate into Spain, to fettle Peace betwix the Christian Princes, for the last a reference of the War against the Moors. The King of Aranoth being resolved to go a second to the property of the Papacy. Papacy. He tent a Legate mus opam, to tettle react occurrent the Children Finites, for the better profecuting the War againft the Moors. The King of Aragot, being refolved to go A Legate in Pilgrimage to the firm of St. James, bore the Legate Company into Cafile. By their making Mediation Peace was Established, the Bounds of each Kingdom assigned, and how much of Peace what the Moors possessed, should belong to the Conquest of each appointed, wherein the mong state of the Moors possessed to the Conquest of the Moors possessed to the Moors King of Aragon, gain'd great reputation for his modefly, having no further affign'd him Christians than to Valencia, but afterwards his Son Peter being diffaitsfy'd, had it extended to Alicant. Only the King of Navarre, could not be perswaded, to admit of this pacification, being highly offended at the King of Caffile, for the great harm he had done him. However for fome time Peace continued among the Christans, or at least no considerable Hostilities were committed. The War was carryed on against the Moors, chiefly by the King of Portugal, who in the Year 1183. caused the Bones of S. Vincent, to be brought from the Cape of his Name, to the Cathedral of Lisbon. He sent his Son Sancho, to the other side of Tagus, to Name, to the contest and obleve the Moors. Sancho being Young, and Ambitious of Honour, with a good force entred Andalucia, and rayag'd all the Country as far as Sevil. Those People daring to come out, and give him Battle, he overthrew them, and laid siege to lipa, now called Niebla, but could not take it, being forc'd to raise the Siege, upon News brought him, that the Moors had attacked Beja, on the Frontiers of Portugal. Them also he put to flight, and entred Santarem in Triumph. At the same time intelligence was allo ne put to night, and entred santarem in riumph. At the lame time intelligence was brought that the Almohades, with their King Abenjacob, gather'd nightly Forces against Fortugal, but they were so quick, that before it was expected they sate down before Santarem. King Alonso, tho very Aged, and Lame, since his hurt at Badajox, in so much that he could house not ride, having assembled all the Force of his Kingdom, marched to Santarem. He Kingdom, charged the Moors in the Front, and his Son Sallying out of Town upon the rear, they rangell were easily put to flight; Great Slaughter was made. The Mooris King Mortally wounded, eithe addressions of the River Tanas. which is there deen and rapid was drowned. This Mooris endeavouring to pais the River Tagus, which is there deep and rapid, was drown'd. This Moors, Victory was obtained in the Year 1184. Abenjozeph, Brother to Abenjacob, fucceeded him 1184 in the Empire of Africk and Spain,

CHAP. VII.

The Death of the Kings of Leon and Portugal. Alliances betwixt the Kings of Spain.

The defeat of the Christians at Alarcos. Sancho, the Wife, King of Navarre dies. Sancho the first King of Portugal. Alonso the Ninth of Leon.

H E Death of Armengaud Earl of Urgelt formewhat abated the joy all Spain conceived Armengaud for the Victory of the Portugueses over the Moors. He was Son of Armengaud of Castile, Earl of Ur-Earl of Barcelona, Marryed to a Sifter of the King of Aragon, and had not only great Dominions gel flain in Catalonia, and Aragon, but was also Lord of Valladolid in Castile, as being great Grandson to Peranzules, before spoken off. This Prince to advance the Christian Cause, with his own Forces broke into the Territory of Valencia, and after some successful Exploits, was killed in an Ambush laid by the Moors, near the Town of Requena. Others will have it, that he was slain by the Casilians, but that is not so probable. He left a Son of his own Name, who inflain by the Castilians, but that is not so probable. He left a Son of his own Name, who indicate the control of the other fide, the King of Navarete entred Castile, plundering breaking the Control of Roderick Digz. Sirnam'd Cid, begging, he would refore the Booty. The Castilian Castil thence remov'd by King Emanuel, to a flately Sepulchre of Marble. He was a Man accomplished in all manner of Virtue, the Founder, and Conqueror of the Kingdom of Portugal, His Zeal for Religion, appears by the many Churches and Monasteries he Founded, in Lisbon, His Zeal for Religion, appears by the many Conference and Monateries he Founded, in Lisson, Ebora, and other places. His Queen Malfada, was not inferior to him in Piety, and perform'd many like Acts of Christian Generosity. Spain enjoy'd Peace after the late Agreement among the Christian Princes, and Death of Abenjacob, the Moorish King. Peter Ruiz, de Agayra, Lord of Abbarazin, was willing to assist the Christian Kings in their Wars, but would not be Subject to any of them; and therefore, stiled himself the Vassa of Smary. The ftrength of his City, and the Emulation of the Kings, each striving to draw him to himself, fecured his Possessian. In the Year 1186, in January, the Kings of Castile and Aragon, meeting at Agreda, by mutual confent, Banish'd out of their Dominions all the Kindred of the said Peter de Agagra, that were of his party. No more was done at that time. At the beginning of the Year following, Gaston, Viscount of Bearn, did Homage to the King of Aragon, ning of the Year following, Galton, Viscount of ocarn, and tomage of the taking of Jerugrulatern at Huelea, as his Predecellors had done. This Year was unfortunate for the taking of Jeruat rinejea, as instructions and done. In standard was undertained to the taking of John Jalem, Baldwin, King of that City, and the Great Malter of the Templers, by Saldain. In Caffile, King Alonfo regulated the Order of Calatrava. In the Year 1188. dy'd Frederick, King of Leon, at Benavente, having Reign'd 31 Vers, and was bury'd in the Royal Chaptel at Santiago. He was judg'd more fit for War than Peace, immoderate in the defire of Ruling, but brave and generous. Martin, a Priest of Leon, at that time writ many Books, and is faid to have attain'd all his Learning in a Vision, in which S. Isidorus appear'd to him, and gave him a Book to eat; whereas before he was very Ignorant.

Chap. VII.

184

gaye nim a book to eat; whereas between was very ignorance.

Samtho fucceeded King Alonfo, of Portugal, and Alonfo IX. his Father Ferdinand, in the Kingdom of Leon. Upon the Death of his Father, Alonfo turned back, being then on his way to Portugal, whither he was going only to flum his Mother-in-law, who accounted him a the Crown Bastard, and could not endure that he should take place of her Childgen. Hence arose conti-of Paragal nual Disgusts, and the' the new King allowed her the Joynter setled by his Father; yet at last nual Diliguks, and tho' the new King allowed her the Joynter fettled by his Father; yet at late he was oblig'd to retire to Najara, where the fepent the remainder of her Days. In the Monatery of S. Mary Royal, in that City, are the Tombs of that Lady, and her Brothers, D. Lope, Bithop of Segovia, and D. Martin de Haro. Monlo, King of Leon, was twice Marry'd, Santha, Ferdinand, who dy'd young, and Duleis; then being 'Divorc'd, by reason of Confangunity, he Marry'd Berngaria, Daughter to Alonfo, King of Cafille, his Cousin-german. Santho the first of the Name, King of Portugal, call'd the Peopler, and the Fat, was Marry'd to Aldonga Duleis, Sifter to the King of Aragon. By her he had many Children, which were Alonfo, the eldest, Ferdinand, Peter, and Henry, who dy'd young, and 5 Daughters, Tersfa, Malidada, Santha Blanch and Berengaria. After the Death of the Oueen, he had many Malfada, Sancha, Blanch and Berengaria. After the Death of the Queen, he had many Majidala, Sancha, Blanch and Berengaria. After the Death of the Queen, he had mrny Children by two Miftrelies; by the first, call'd Johanna, he had Urraca and Martin; by the other, whose Name was Mary, Terefa, Egidiun, Confamee and Roderick. Terefa was Marry'd to Alonfo Tello, who Founded the Town of Albuquerque. Alonfo, King of Caffile, by one Wife, had eleven Children, whereof Blanch was the happiell; for that being Marry'd to Luis VIII. King of France, he was Mother to S. Luis. After Blanch, follow'd Berengaria, Sancho, Drraca, and Fedinand, born in the Year 1189, then Majidala and Conflance, then two or three Sifters, whose Names are not known, and lastly, Ellenor and Henry, the youngest, who came to succeed his Father, as shall be shown in its place. The King of Castile was

A League the greatest Potentate in Spain, and consequently, terrible to the others, which mov'd them against to joyn in a League Offensive and Desensive. They endeavour'd to draw the King of Least Into this Confederacy, but he was more inclinable to his Cousin, the King of Castile; and therefore as foon as fetted in the politilion of his Kingdom, he went of his own accord to Carrion, where the Cortes, or Parliament of Cafile was held, in the Year 188. There he was Knighted by the King, and killed his Hand; a Submillion misbecoming the Regal Authority was Knighted by the Knighted and the same of the same cording to the Custom of Spain. A Match was also agreed upon, betwixt Conrade and Beretgaria, the King's Daughter; but at last it took no effect. The Kings of Aragon and Navarre, in the Month of September 1190, had a Conference at Borgia, and there concluded a League against Castile. Afterwards Leon and Portugal, were drawn into the Confederacy at Huelca, where the Emballadors of those two Crowns met the King of Aragon. There to the former Articles, it was added, that none of those Princes should make Peace, or Truce, or declare War, without the confent of the others. The Treaty was fined in May 1191. This fame Year-Pope Clement III. departed this Life at Rome, and Celefin III. ficceeded him, Gonzalo Archbishop of Toledo, dy'd in August the same Year. In his time, King Alonso gave the Towns of Talamanca and Esquivias to that Church. Martin Lopez, for his extraordinary Actions, and Generofity, call'd the Great, succeeded him. This same Year the River Tagus was Frozen at Toledo, a thing very rare in that Temperate Climate. James Lopez de Haro Lord of Biscay, the greatest among the Nobility of Castile, and Go-

The History of SPAIN.

vernour of Beiviesea, Najara, and Soria, perswaded the King to assemble the Cortes, or Parliament at Carrion, in the Year 1192, for carrying on the War against the Moors. Least the Kings of Leon and Navarre, with whom Castile was at Variance, should take any advan- Castile tage, while the King was employ'd against the Infides, a Peace was concluded with those Ornerose. Then Martin Archbishop of Toledo, was Ordered to Commence the War, as a war with Princes. In the Marine Archimop of voiceo, was offered to Commence the war, as a War with been out of the Kingdom, upon account of the Earl of Orgel, who fince his Father's death, had the Moort, been out of the Kingdom, upon account of the Emmity betwitt him, and Ponce de Cabrera, a Powerful Man, now at length came, and submitted himself to the King. Gaston Earl of Bearing, Marry'd a Daughter of Bernard Earl of Cominges, and with her had in Dower, the Lordship of Bigorre in Feof of the King of Aragon. Berengarius Bishop of Tarragona, was kill'd on the 16th Bigore, in Feor of the King of Laugen. Detengation Distribution of February 1194, by Michael de Moncada, as is reported, but the cause of their Emnity is not known. On the 17th of June following dy'd at Pamplona, Sancho King of Navarre, for his Sancho the more than Ordinary Learning, Sirnamed the Wife. His Body was bury'd with great Point in wife King The Cathedral of that City. He Reigh'd 43 Years, 7 Months, and 6 Days. By his Wife of Navarre Saneba, Aunt to the King of Cafile, he left Fredinand, Ramiro, Betengaria, Terefa, Blanch dies. and the eldest of them all that succeeded him, was Sancho VIII. King of Navarre, who for and the elder of them an that nucceeded nim, was Samedo VIII. King of Naturre, who for the greatness of his Spirit, and Warlike actions, obtained the Title of the Strong. He was also called The Confin'd, for that towards his end he was long flut up in the Calle of Tudela, by reason of a Cancer he had, and would fuffer no Body to see him. There remain many Footleps of his Magnificence, and particularly, he turned the Channel of the River Ebro, to bring it to Tudela, and built a Bridge over it. He founded two Monasteries of Cificrians, called Fitero and Oliva, and a Church of the invocation of St. Mary at Roncesvalles, for himfelf and his Succeffors to be Bury'd. His Wife was Clemencia, Daughter to Raymund IV. Earl of Toulouze, by her he had Ferdinand, who dy'd before his Father, of a fall he had from his Horfe in hunting, and was bury'd in the Church of S. Mary at Tudela. At the time of D. Sancho's Accession to the Crown, all Spain was under the apprehension of a Bloody War. Martin Archbishop of Toledo, had broke into Andaluzia, and made great havock, putting Mattin Archolinop of 101620, 1831 Droke into Amaginita, and inaue great havors, putting all the Country to fire and Sword, and no Body attempting to oppode him, returned with a rich Booty. The Moors incenfed at this lofs, gathered all their Forces, and Abenjofeph Avait Mateinute Miramamolin of Africk, 'came into Spain with a valt Multitude of Men, for not Multitude only the Ambodates, but the Arabs and Ethiopians follow'd him. This Inundation paids over of Infedits Sierra Morena, and incamped near Alarcos, a Town built not long before by the Christians, come into King Alonfo was no ways daunted, but having fent to the Kings of Leon and Navarre for aid, advanced to Alarcos, and pitch'd his Camp near the Enemy, whose Multitude fill'd all those to over-Hills and Plains. Some advised to wait the coming of the two Kings, others more hot, would thrown by not give them any share in the honour of that Action. The worst advice took place, both the In-Armies drew out, and a Battle was fought near Alares, upon Wednefday the 10th of June fidels.

1195. Great Bravery was flown on both fides, but the Multitude of the Enemy prevailed, our Army was put to flight, great Numbers slain, and among them Martin Martine. Great Master of Calatrava. Some say, Marin Archbishop of Toledo was in this fight. James de Haro, the Principal Promoter of this War, behav'd himself ill, and withdrew at the beginning of the Battle to Alarco, either despairing of success, or as some will have it, being disconsided with the Visa Companying the Cartine of Anthonis or Nobellitz of California. gusted with the King, for comparing the Gentry of Andaluzia to the Nobility of Castile in Bravery. The Moors after the Victory, not only took Alarcos, but entred the Kingdom of Toledo, as far as Teveners, which is Six Leagues from that City, and then turned back. In our days there remain only some ruins of Alarcos, and a Church of Our Lady held in great Veneration, it is supposed the Infidels destroyed that place. This misfortune was deem'd a judgment of God on the King, for that Neglecting his Wife, he was fallen in Love with a Jewish Woman, whom the Nobility in scorn caused to be killed. The King being in a rage for the 16s of her as Angel appeared to him in the Souse form to the Residue of the second of the second to the se for the loss of her, an Angel appeared to him in the same form, he had one painted, and with threats oblig'd him to give over that fondnels. In the Church of Illeseas, on the right hand of the High-Altar, is a Chapel called the Angel, with an Inscription fignitying that to be the place, where the Angel appear to King Alonfo the Good, so he is stiled. The Kings of Leon and Navarre, hearing of the difaster befallen at Alarcos, drew back their Forces. He of Leon, vilited King Alonso, but he of Navarre, returned without so much as Saluting him, which affront the King of Castile highly resented, and resolved to take revenge, not only of the Meors, but of the Navarrois,

Chap. IX.

186

CHAP. VIII.

King Alonso of Aragon dies, and his Son Peter succeeds him. The King of Leon divorc'd. Castilians and Aragonians over-run Navarre. Alonso King of Castile's two Daughters Marry'd to the Kings of England and Leon. Plague and Famine in Spain.

THE following Year being, 1196 dyed King Alonso of Aragon, the second of the Spanish Kings in Power, in Valour inserior to none. He breath d his last at Perpignan, at a time his Kingdom enjoy'd Plenty and Peace. His Son Peter succeeded him, and was the second of the Name. To Alonfo he left Provence and its Dependencies, to Ferdinand the Monaftery of Poblete of Cistercians, sounded by his Father, and finished by himself, betwirk Tarragona and Lerida. His three Daughters Constance, Ellenor, and Dulcis, were appointed to succeed in the Throne, in case their Brothers dy'd without Heirs. This Year was also unfortunate for Plague and Famine, which raged most in Catalonia. The Moorish King also made an incursion, took Caceres and Plasencia, destroyed the Country of Talavera, but could not enter the Town, and demolished Santolalla and Escalona. Toledo was ten Days Besseged. In the Year ensuing which was 1197, there were great revolutions in Catalonia, the People the rear enuing which was 1197. Incre were great revolutions in Catalogia, the People being divided in Factions, some followed Armeng and Earl of Tigel, other Roger Earl of Faux, who prevailed and subdued the other Party. Abenjoseph the Moor slushed with succeeds marched again to Toledo, but despairing of taking that City, rayaged all the Country about Madrid and Meala, then turning off to the lest, did the same about Ocana, Toles, Huete, and Cuenca. King Monso not able of himself to withstand so great a Power, thought of Foreign aids, there was no hopes in Leon and Navarre, who at the same time wasted his Dominions, the one entred at Soria, the other the Country of Campos. No hopes remained, except Peter called the Catholick King of Aragon, who readily condescended and they joyn'd their cept reser caned to examines king of Aragon, who reachly condeteened and they joyn'd their Forces, It was refolved first to take revenge on the King of Leon, from whom were easily taken the Towns of Bolanos, Castroverde, Valencia and Carpio. Navarre was designed to suffer next, but it was not effected, for that Abesioseps prepared again to invade Castile, however the Christians again, in the Year 1 jost turned their fury against Leon, ravaged all the Territory of Salamanca, and took Alva and Monterey, with other lesser places. Such was the A Truce with the blind Passion of the two Kings, that to be at leasure to invade Navarre, they concluded a Truce for ten Years, with the Moor Abenjojepb. At this time Sancho King of Portugal, was buffe repairing many Towns as Valencia de Mino, Montemor O Novo, Vallelas, Penamacor, Sorrella, Penella, and others, which he gave some to the Knights of Santiago, some to those of Avis, who then first began to be known. With the assistance of a Fleet of English, French and Flemmings, he took the City Silves, near Cape S. Vincent. His Brother-in-Law Philip Earl of Flanders, sent 27 Ships, and a good Body of choice Soldiers. Authors do not agree about the time of this Action, some say it was the Year 1199, others 10 Years before. Many Prodigies seen about this time, Terrsted all Men, especially the Vulgar, who are more Supersti-Plague & tious. In Portugal there was a raging Plague and Famine at once, which the Commonalty Famine in attributed to Gods Vengeance, for that Alonfo King of Leon, and Terefa Princes of Portugal, were not divorc'd, as the Pope had expresly Commanded, by reason of their Consanguinity, so Portugal.

1196. King Alonfo of Arahis Son Peter II. fucceeds Camine 8 Plague.

King of

that Portugal was under an interdict, and all Persons who opposed that Separation Excommunicated. To add to these missortunes, the City Silves was recover'd by Abenjoseph the At length in the Year 1200. the King, of Leon was divorced, and immediately began to treat of Marrying Berengaria, Daughter to King Alonso of Castile, with whom he had as near Kindred as with the former; but state Policy bears down Conscience and Religion. It appears by an Epistle, of Pope Innocent III. to the Archbishop of Compostella, that he refus'd to give a Dispensation for this Marriage. Alonso King of Castile, ardently defired to be revene'd of Navarre, but the King of Aragon could not join him prefently, as had been agreed, being then at variance with his Mother Queen Sancha, of whom he was suspicious, and therefore feiz'd upon her jointer Lands. The two Kings met at Hariza, and there matters were adjusted betwixt the Aragonian and his Mother. Peter Ruiz de Acagra, Lord of Albarazin, being reconcil'd to both Kings, was at this Congress; and heir was concluded a stricter Alliance on the 30th of November. This same Year, according to our Historians. Richard King of England Married Berengaria the Daughter of Saucho King of Navarre. English Authors say it was a Year stooner, and that he dy'd this same Year. King Monjo of Castile, by the benefit of the Truce with the Moors, repair'd all the places they had demolified; and at the fame time ceas'd not to press the King of Aragon to join his Forces against Navarre, as had been agreed. At last both Armies entred Navarre. Saucho King of Navarre, despairing of any Succour from Christian Princes, and finding himself too weak to withstand so great a Power, went over into Africk, not doubting of affiftance from Abenjoseph Miramamolin. He being gone, the Kings of Castile and Aragon rang d that Country, without any opposition. Awar, and the Country of Valderroncal, were given to the King of Aragon; he of Castile had Miranda and Infula, and lay'd Siege to Vitoria, head of the Province Alaba. The Siege growing tedious, the King left James de Haro to Command there, and went himself to the Province of Guipuscos in Biscay, which submitted to him.; the People being offended at the Government of the Navarrois. Vitoria was also Surrendred, and after it all the Fortresses in Navarre Adaba. Yet they Capitulated, that the King should impose no new Laws or Governours on over-run them, except in Vitoria and Treviño, where he might place whom he pleas'd. Nothing could withfrand the two Kings, the Country being altogether forfaken. A report was also spread, that King Saucho had an Incurable Cancer in one of his Legs, which proceeded from Melancholy for his Misfortunes. The Sea-Coasts of Biskay were now fortify'd, some Towns repair'd, as S. Schastian, Fuenterrabia, Guetaria, and Motrico; and other new ones built, which part d. as 3. Steaphan, caemer raona, One and, and ventro; and other new ones ount, which were Laredo, Santander, and St. Vincent. Mean while King Sancho having met with no fuccess, return'd home with shame, and found his Kingdom diminish'd on all sides. He sent subpart with what he had gained by the Sword, besides they had other pretentions of right to paniate then Animonon.

Whilft these things hap'ned in Spain, John King of England, being hard pressed by Philip Alonso K.

Augustus King of France, concluded a dishonourable Peace, by which he restored many Towns of Casille's to the French, and the better to Colour this condescention gave them in the Nature of Dower, two obliging the King of France, to Marry one of the Daughters of Alonfo King of Castile, and Daughters Delices to John. King Alonso had Four Daughters, three of them marriageable, which were to the Berengaria, Orraca, and Blanch. Berengaria, about the same time was Marryed to the King of Kingsof Berengaria, Orrata, and Blanch. Berengaria, about the lame time was Marryed to the King of Kingsof Leon, the French had their choice of the other two, and pitched upon Blanch. She was Con-France and tracked at Burgot, and thence convey'd to Guienne, then in the hands of the English, from Leon. Whence the Nobility of France conducted her in great State, to her Husband. Their things were done in the Year 1201. Much about the fame time Berengaria, the King of Cashile's other Daughter was Marry'd to Monso King of Leon, at Valladoid, where the two Kings of the Daughter was Marry'd to Monso king of Leon, at Valladoid, where the two Kings of Leon, at Valladoid, where the two Kings of Leon, and William Farl of Englance and William Farl of Husband. Alonfo Earl of Provence, and William Earl of Focalquer, being at variance, the King of Aragon took a journey into France, and composed their differences. Thence he went by Sea to Rome, defigning to make use of the interest of Pope Innocent III. for obtaining the affiltance of the Fleets of Genoa and Pifa, towards the Conquest of Majorca. The Pope received him with great Magnificence, caused him to be anointed, and himself put on his Crown, ordaining, that for the future, the Kings of Aragon should be Crown'd by the Arch-

CHAP. IX.

to the Pope, which was highly refented by his Subjects.

The Marriage of the King of Aragon, and Death of Some Persons of Note.

Peace concluded, and Alliance between all the Christian Kings of Spain. The begin. ning of the War with the Moors. A vast Multitude of Foreigners comes to the assistance of the Christian Kings of Spain.

bishop of Tarragona, as the Popes Vicar. In return, the King made his Kingdom Tributary

KING Peter of Aragon, being returned home from Rome, incensed the Minds of his Marriages Subjects, by imposing a Tax called Monetal, from which even the Nobility were not exempted. Pope Innocent indeavoured to make a match betwirt the King, and the Lady Ma-77, Daughter to Elizabeth Queen of Jerujalem, by that means to ingage him in the Holy War. Conveniency prevailed, and he Marryed the Lady Mary, Daughter and Heirels to William Lord Conveniency prevaieu, and he marryed the Lady Mary, Daughter, and Heires to William Lord of Montpellier, Traged, the King of Cashile's Youngest Daughter, was Marry'd to Alonso, the King of Portugal's eldest Son in the Year 1206. This Year there was so great an Eclipse of the Sun, that the Darkness lasted Six hours, as if it had been the Dead of Night. A great The Floods were so great, that the River Tagus swell'd the height of a Man above the the Sun, Cate of Almosala at Toledo, as the Annals of that City inform us. It is likely this Gate & Floods. for Almofala was the fame, is now call'd of St. Ifdorus. King Alonfo made Marin Archbifhop of Toledo, High Chancellor of Cafile. No hopes being left, the King of Navarre of recovering his loffes, he had a Conference with him of Cafile at Guadalaxara, where a Truce was concluded for five Years, and Cautionary Towns given on both fides, for fecurity of performance. In the Year 1208. dy'd Martin Archbishop of Toledo, Roderick Ximenes, a performance. In the rear 1208, dy'd Mattin Archdinop of Toleao, Koderick Aiments, a Navagriios fucceeded him. In November departed his Life, Saucha Mother to the King of Aragon. On the same day as the Archbishop, dy'd also Stephen Illan Governour of Toledo, who, as was said, recovered that City for the King. Also the Earl of Urgel, leaving one only Daughter, who being oppress d by Gerard de Cabrera, Son to Ponce, before mentioned, the said of the furrendred her Earldom to the King of Aragon, and put herfelf under his protection. Here ended the Dominion of the Heirs of the great Borello, formerly Earls of Barcelona and Urgel over that City, tho'her Father, by Will, left the half of his City of Valladolid, to Pope ever the Pope had possession of this Legacy. The Truce with the Moors was near expiring, and great danger threatned, unless the Christian Princes would unite their Forces for the publick good. Alonzo, King of Leon, diffurbed the Peace, by seizing upon his Mother-in-law's Joynter-Lands. James de Haro, her Brother, opposing the King, drew upon himself the Forces of Leon and Cashile, and not able to ther, opposing the King, drew upon himself the Forces of Leon and Castile, and not able to defend his own, was forc'd to fly to Navarre. Thence, he infested the Frontiers of Castile, but being defeated by the two Kings, retired to Estella, a strong Town. The four Kings of Spain meet James de Haro, Aragon, and Navarre, met at Assar, and concluded a Peace. Hereupon Kings of Spain meet James de Haro, forsaken by all, sled to Valencia to the Moors. Soon aster, the King of Aragon entring the Kingdom of Valencia, had his Horse kill'd under him in sight; and must certailly have been taken, but that James de Haro mounted him. This made, him so odious the Insidels, that he was oblig'd to go over to Africk to clear himself before the Miramanno Lin. Asterwards, having made his Peace with the Christian Kings, he return'd to Castile, in the Year 1200. The two Kings of Aragon and Navarre. had another meeting in a Plain. In the Year 120, the two Kings of Aragon and Navarre, had another meeting, in a Plain, near a Town call'd Mallen. Here all Differences were adjusted, and the King of Navarre lent him of Aragon 2000 Duccats, for which, he was to deliver four Towns in pawn to D. Xineso de Rada, who, if the Money was not repaid on the day appointed, was to fur-render them up to the King of Navarre. King Alonfo of Cafile, hop'd to draw Succours out of France, but the Wars betwixt the French and English, hindred. Whereupon, he en-tred Guienne, resolving to fall upon either of the two that should refuse to hearken to Peace. tred Guienne, refolving to fall upon either of the two that should refuse to hearken to Peace, His labour was lost, for the enmity was irreconcileable, and the Preparations made by the Moors, oblighd him to return into Spain. Whilst the Truce with the Moors lasted, an University was Founded at Palencia, at the King's charge, and by the persuasion of Roderick, Archbishop of Toledo, and Professors of all Sciences brought out of France, upon promise of great Salaries. At Huelgas, near Burgo, the King also built a great Monastery for the burying of Kings, and an Hospital adjoyning to it. Constance, Sister to the King of Aragon, and Dowager of Hungary, by shown she had a Son call'd Ladissus, by persuasion of Pope Innocent III. Marry'd Frederick, King of Sicily.

Impocent, that he might protect his Daughter in the remaining part, but I do not find that

The Alliances established betwict the Christian Princes fill'd all People with hopes and joy. Yet at this time the King of Leon. by command of Pone Innocent. was Divored from Several Exploits who had fucceeded his Brother Absulofeb, in the Empire of the Moore, the Brother Lowing of the Empire of the Moore, made great Preparations to invade the Dominions of the Christians, who on their part, were not idle. Peter, Moore, the M King of Aragon, took Adamuz, and other Towns in the Kingdom of Valencia. To the Knights Templers, he gave the Town of Tortofa for their good fervice perform'd in the late Wars. Ferdinand, Son to the Knig of Cafile, entred Andaluzia, and plundred all the Country about Baeza, Anduxar and Jaen. About the fame time, Mahomet, King of the Moors, call'd the Green, from the colour of his Turbant, took Salvatierra, part of the Inhabitants were put to the Sword, tho reft made Slaves. It was Befieg'd in June 1210, and taken in September. King Month was marching to relieve it, but at Talavera his Son Ferdinand met, and all the these was need of several all the Engage. September. King Alonjo was marching to relieve it, but at Talawera his Son Ferdinand met, of Cafile, and affurd him there was need of a greater Army to engage the Enemy. Prince Ferdinand, dying in Odiobor, the following Year, but a ftop to the King's further Proceedings for the prefent. His Body was carried from Madrid, where he dy'd, to Huelgas, and there bury'd. However, the Cortes, or Parliament, was held to furnish Supplies for the War. Embassis were fent to obtain Succours of other Princes, and the Archbishop of Toledo, to Roma, to obtain the Croisade for all that should serve in that War. On the other side, the Moors diligently fortified their Frontiers, and sent for Recruits out of Africk. Alonso, King of Cassis, the more to terrishe the Enemy. broke into their Territories. and took some Towns along. the more to terrific the Enemy, broke into their Territories, and took some Towns along the River Xuear. Then returning to Cuenca, met the King of Argan there, and had alfurance of Affiliance from the King of Navarre, by his Embassadors. The Archbishop of Toledo, A van Al-firrd up all forts of People in France and Italy, to take upon them the Crossade, and successful and the Archbishop of Toledo, my of Fo ceeded fo well, that Authors affirm, there were got together 10000 Horfe, and 100000 reigners. Foot of Foreigners. A great number, and facree credible. However, by others, I find they comes into root or roreigners. A great number, and tarte creation. Flowers, by others, in that they amounted to 1200 blothe, and 5000 foot. These Strangers were ordered to encamp in the King's Orchards, near Toledo. They began to repair thither in the Month of February, 1212. A Mutiny was railed in the City by the Soldiers and Rabble, against the Jews, and much michief might have been done, had not the Nobility protected those unhappy People. Peter, King of Aragon, came to Toledo, and was received with great Joy; he brought with restry, anglot Aragon, came to tosco, and was received with great Joy; ne brought with magnoto Foot, and 3500 Horfe. Sankob, King of Postigad, was prevented from coming of Postigad, was prevented from coming dies, his remov'd to a better, by King Emanuel. His Son Alonfo II. of the Name, fucceeded him, and Son Alonfo, by his Wife Ornaca. Ferdinand, Uncle to II. Success the new King, and Brother to the Deceafed, had the Year before Marry'd Joanna, Counters of Conductive Counters of Flanders, Daughter and Heirels to Baldwin, Emperor of Constantinople. Nevertheless, a good Body of Men came from Portugal. King Alonso assign'd pay to all that Multitude of Souldiers, and made Presents to the great Men according to their Quality. All Necessaries were provided for so great an Army, infomuch, that there were 60000 Carts only to carry the Baggage, as Roderick the Archbishop testifies, who was an Eye-Witness, and writ all the par-Baggage, as Roderick the Archbihop teithies, who was an Eye-Witneis, and writ all the particulars of this Expedition. Yet others say, there was that number of Beafts for carriage. They marched from Toledo, on the 21th of June. James de Haro-led the Van, which confided of the Strangers. In the Center was the King of Aragon, and he of Cassile brought up the Rear. The Horfe amounted to 1,4000, the Foot not to be number? 4, for all that were A mighty of Age in Cassile, were obliged to carry Arms. On the 3d day they came to Malagon, a Army of Town belonging to the Moors, 14 Leagues from Toledo. The Inhabitants quitted the place, Christians and settined to the Cassile, which was taken by the Strangers, and all the Insidels must to the in Cassile. and retired to the Caffle, which was taken by the Strangers, and all the Infidels put to the Sword. Calairava on the 1st of July furrendred, and was restord to the Knights of that Sword. Canariava on the tito of the state of the state of the state of the Agentant and Foreigners, many of whom ho table to endure the great Heat, and want of all Necessaries were forced to return home. Then the Army advanced to Alarcos, which Town having the foregoing Years been ruin'd by the Moors, the few Inhabitants that were left, abandon'd to the Christians. Here D. Sancho, King of Navarre, with a good Body of Men joyn'd the Army, and made amends for the Strangers that were gone. Some Castles were taken by form. Near Salvatierra, they made a general Muster, and then mov'd to the Foot of Sierra Morena. The Moorish King being informed hereof, marched to Baeza, resolving by carrying away all Provisions, to secure the passage of those Mountains, and chiefly, to make good Ing away an error from the part of Lofa, which was the only way our Army could go. If our Army advanced, the Moor doubted not of the Victory; if they field, they must perish for want; if they turn'd back it was a great loss of Reputation. A Council of War being held, many were of Opiniback it was a great tots of reputation. A council of war being held, many were of Opinion to turn back, and taking a greater compais, enter Andalusia, a plainer way. But the King of Cafèie would not hearken to it, believing it would make the Enemy bolder, and discourage his own Men. Therefore it was refolved to advance. D. Lope, Son to James de Haro, sent before by his Father with a strong Party, possible of the Fash, on the top of the Mountains, and made the Moors give back. Yet he durst not attempt the Pass of Lofa, thinking it a rashness at once to encounter the Enemy in such a difficult place.

CHAP. X.

The further progress of the Christian Army, which obtains a most signal Victory over the Infidels, of whom 200000 are flain, and this called the Battle of Navas de Tolosa. Many Towns taken after this Success.

A L L Multitudes are fubject to violent Motions, and fudden Apprehensions, as it hapned The Chrinow, for the Soldiers were all ready to disperse, and shift for themselves, believing the stian Ardanger equal either in advancing or retiring. God provided a Remedy in this Extremity. A Shepheard, who had long used those Mountains, and knew them throughly, (some say it was an Angel, for that after he had shown the way, he was never seen more) promised the insides. Kings, if they would rely upon him, he would lead the whole Army thro' By-ways he well knew, to recover the tops of all those Mountains. It was not safe, wholly to trust to a Persent when a proper well and the strength of the profession in such as the same and the same fon unknown, nor prudent to flight that proffer, in such an Exigency. James de Haro, and Garci Romero, were sent to view what the Shepheard said. The way seem'd to lead quite from the Enemy, fo that the Moors thought they retir'd for want of Provisions. All the Affrom the Enemy, so that the Moors thought they retir'd for want of Provisions. All the Arcent was difficult and craggy, yet the Men refused no labour, being affur'd of the Victory, if once they gain'd the top of the Mountain. Their chief care was to lose no time, lest the Enemy frould be before-hand with them. Having surmounted all difficulties, the Kings fortified their Camp. The Enemy prepar'd for fight, and drew up their Forces in four Bodies. But the Christians tir'd with their March, would not give Battle that day, nor the next, which so pushed up the Moors, that their King sent Advice to several parts, that within three behand have the three Christian Kings Prisoners, having already got them in a toil, by the On Munday, the 16th of 5uly, all the Army having confessed and received, drew out in or-Christian, der of Battle. James de Haro led the Van. Gonzalo Nuize, with Some Templers, and der of Battle. James de Haro led the Van. Gonzalo Nunez with some Templers, and Knights of other Orders, commanded the middle Battle. In the Rear was King Alonfo, the Archifthop of Toledo, and other Prelates. The Kings of Aragon and Navarre upon the Wings, he of Navarre, on the Right, and he of Aragon, on the Left. On the other side, the Moors drew up in the same manner they had done before. That part of their Camp where Nobleft Moors. The number of the others was fo great, that they cover'd all the Hills and Plains. On both fides, the Generals encourag'd their Men, and our Bishops went thro' the Plains. On both ides, the Generals encourage their Men, and our Bilhops went thro the Batallions, firring up the Soldiers to gain the Indulgence granted by the Pope. This done, both Parties charged with great Refolution. No figns of Victory appear'd on either fide for a long time, every Man fought with fuch Refolution, as if he had contended for Empire. Our main Battle engaged first, then the Navarrois and Aragonians, without gaining a foot of Ground, but rather after three Charges feem'd to give way. Then King Monjo would have cast himself into the heat of the Fight, but that Roderick the Archbishop stopp'd him.

Gid to be kill'd in

The rear or referve advancing the Fight was renewed, and those that seemed to waver before fell on with greater fury. At length the Moore tired with fulfalning the brunt all day, and not able to withfland our referve which Power'd in fresh upon them, sled, and a mighty flaughter of them was made. 200000 are said to have been slain, half of them Horse, others write but half the number in all. It is more wonderful that of the Christians, only 25 were write but half the number in all. It is more wonderful that of the Christians, only 25 were kill'd, as Roderick the Archbishop then present testlises. Others assimally a dy'd, both small Numbers for so great an Action. The Archbishop also asserts, that the's so great a number of Moors was slain, there was not one drop of Blood to be seen in the Field. By the advice of Zois his Brother, the Moorifh King sted without Lopping, only to change Horse, till see came the same Night to Jaen. About Sun-set their Camp was entred, and plundered by the Aragonians, for the others followed the chace. All the Moorifh Kings Equipage which only was preserved, James de Haro, equally divided betwit the Kings of Aragon and Navarre, particularly his Tern which was offed and Crimson. Silk was by King Aquis's Social Comment. particularly his Tent, which was of Red and Crimfon-Silk, was by King Alonfo's Special Command. particularly his Tent, which was offeed and crimfon-filk, was by King Alonjo's Special Command, given to the Aragonian-ForKing Alonjo coverting nothing but honour, freely refigned all the Booiry to his Companions. It was not thought fit to have the other prey equally divided, for fear of a mutiny, but every Man was allowed to keep what he had got. Some fay, that a Crofs feen in the Air, contributed much towards the gaining of this Victory, but neither the Archibithop who was prefent in his Hiltory, nor the King in his Letter to the Pope, mention any fuch thing. Yet all agree, that Pajeualis, then a Cannot Toledo, and who carry'd the Archibithops Crofs before him, broke twice through the Enemies Battle with it unhurt, tho' they all aim'd at him, and many darts thrown at him, fluck on the faff of the Crofs. So great a number of Lances and Darts was found, that tho' the Christians during two days they flay'd there, used no other Fewel, they could not consume them all. Fame first, and then Messengers sent on purpose, soon spread the News of this Victory through all Parts. Great was the grief it brought to the Moors, and no less the joy, it spread through all Christendom.

Arms of In Memory of the Action, this King of Navarre, to the Arms of his Ancestors, which were Navarre.

Navarre.

Navarre.

Navarre.

Navarre to the Arms of his Ancestors, which were will have lit, that King Alons of Cashie, now took the Cashe for his Arms, but it appears to have been in the load before. From this time, their are those who write, the Savarre the a number of Lances and Darts was found, that the' the Christians during two days they stay'd have been in use long before. From this time, there are those who write, the Spaniards took the Custom of abstaining from Flesh upon Saturdays, the contrary Custom having been introduced by the Goth, who doubtlefs Learn'd it in Greece, when they were converted. This great Victory was doubtlefs obtained by the Prayers of the Christians, who in all parts, and particularly in Rome, the Pope himself promoting it, made Frocessions, and offered up their Vows to Heaven for this purpose.

Many Biftops, and a great number of Nobles, whose Names it is tedious and needless to repeat, were present at this Battle. But in fine, the Third day after the Fight, the Christian ans moved their Camp. They recovered Ferral, and took Bilche, Bairos and Tolofa, from the Chris Hich at this Action was nam'd. The Battle of Navias de Tolofa. Baeça was abantan army.

This call. The Camp of the Christian army of Infidels, who thought to defend themselves in the great Mosque. Ubeda, the eighth Day of Infidels, who thought to detend themselves in the great wounds.

after the Victory, was taken by assault, most of the Inhabitans put to the Sword, the rest made led the Battle of Slaves, which strook a Terror into the Moors, and the plunder being given to the Army, Natura de concuraged the Soldiers, almost spent with Labour. Sickness, and the Seates of the Seat why.

Catratrava, they were met by the Duke of Austria, accompany'd him back to the Borders of the Austria, and in the Managam being his Kinsian, accompany'd him back to the Borders of Spain. In recompense for his assistance, the King of Casile, restored to him of Navarre, Jam. In recompene for in santance, the King of Cajine, reloved to find or Nawarre, 14 Towns he had before taken from him, and then having taken his leave of both Kings, entred Toledo in Triumph. First he gave Thanks to God for this so signal Providence, and Order'd the 16th of July to be kept for ever as a Holy-Day in Memory of it, by the Name of the Triumph of the Holy-Cross. At the beginning of the following Year, the King pursuing his success, took from the Moors the Town of Dueras, which he gave to the Knights fuing his fuccefs, took from the Moors the Town of Duenas, which he gave to the Knights of Calatrava, and the Caltle of Exanazion, to thole of Santiago. Alearaz, a little Town in the Mountains Mariani, feated on a riling Craggy Hill, having endured a Siege of two Months, was taken on the 22th of May, to feveral other places of lefs Note. This done, King Alonfo, loaded with honour, returned to Toledo, where he was received with great joy, by Ellenov his Queen, Berngaria his Daughter, his Son Henry, and all the Inhabitants. This was a very scarce Year of Provisions, for Authors affirm, it rain'd not in the Kingdom of Toledo, for the space of Nine Months, so that the Country People were forced to abandon their lands, and go to other places for Sustenance.

The End of Book XI.

History of SPAIN.

The Twelfth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The Original and growth of the Herefie of the Albigenses, which spread all over France, and some part of Spain. Preaching, against them being unsuccessful, War is resolved upon.

Fter so notable a Victory gain'd over the Moore, the affairs of Spain were in a Prosperous Condition, for the Almobades, oppress'd by so great a loss, thir'd not, and the Chriftians were encouraged to Conquer, all the Insides were fill possessed off. But at this same time the Kingdoms of France and Aragon, fell into great Confusions, the War of France, and not far from the Borders of Spain. The occasion of them was certain new O. France, and not far from the Borders of Spain. The occasion of them was certain new O. France & gonians, and cost them much Blood. In former times all Nations agreed in point of faith, and all follow'd, and profes'd the same Doctrine. There was no difference betwix the German and the Francis and the Isalian, the Englishman and the Sicilian, as to their belief touching God, the Immortality, and other Misteries, all of them had as it were one head, and spoke as with one Tongue. The Waidenster, a Wicked and Abominable People, began some Yearsbefore this, to disturb the Peace of the Church, teaching new and extravagent Opinions, and now the Albigenster or Albienster, a Sect no less Odious, and a Name spain of the Ancients, follow'd their Footsteps, to the great desturbance of the Christian Original. That the True Body of Jesus Church, teaching new and a Name spain of the Spain of the Ancients, follow'd their Footsteps, to the Great desturbance of the Christian Original. That the Water of Baptism, has no Vertue to cleanse the Soul from Sin. That the Prayers used for the Dead do not avail them. All new and false Opinions, never Altar. That the Water of Baptiin, has no vertue to cleane the sout from Sin. That the Prayers used for the Deade do not avail them. All new and falle Opinions, never heard of by the Ancients. They also utter'd Blasphemies, and reproaches against the Blessed Virgin, which are not set down, for sear of offending the Christian Reader. William Nangiagus, a Frenchman, who lived not long after, has left them all in writings. Their madness extended even to reflect upon the Familiarity, that was besident of the Sanitan and the Mandalus. ing. Their madness extended even to reflect upon the raminarity, that was netwist. Our Saviour and St. Mary Magdalen. So says Peter, a Cifteriam Monk, in the History he writ of the Albigense, dedicated to Pope Innocent the Third, where he speaks as an Eye-Witness of things that pass'd in his presence. It would be tedious to particularize all the ravings of this Sect and Heresy; for so it is, that falshood is manyfold, truth one and simple. In that part of France where is the famous City Description of the second section of the second section of the second section. Tainsood is manyioid, truth one and impie. In that part of Prance where is the famous City Descriptions another called Albis, once known by the name of Alba Augusta, and it is supposed on of the that Cesar in his Commentaries, called the Inhabitants of that Province Helvii. The River City Albis, Wine, Wood and Safforn; whereby the Bilhop of that City has one of the beft Revenues of Prance. The Cathedral which is large and beautiful, is adjoining to the Wall of the City, and Cathedral Which is large and beautiful, is adjoining to the Wall of the City, and dedicated to St. Cecilia. The Inhabitants of the City and Country, are open-hearted, peaceable and quiet; Virtues that may prove dangerous, without the necessary circumsted, peaceable and quiet; Virtues that may prove dangerous, without the necessary circumstedion; in avoiding being corrupted and perverted by wicked People. They generally live upon their own product. The Trade is but little, as lying in the Inland of France, and far from the Sea. From this City, where this new Sect and Madnets were first broached, it took the name Sea. From this city, where this new Sect and Madnels were first broach'd, it took the name of Albigmfis, and from thence spread it self through all France, and part of Spain. But this Flame blaz'd more in Toulouxe than in any other place; and thence it was that some deduc'd the original of this Sect and Error from that City. Others say, it had its first rise in Provence, which is a part of Gallia Narbonensis. D. Lucas de Tuy, who for his devotion, and to improve himself in Learning, went to Rome, and thence to Constanting and Hierafalem, returning to his Country; among other his no less Learned than Pious Writings, publish'd a large Disputation against all these Errors; wherein he fets down, as an Eye-Witness, what happen'd in the City of Lean. So well known in Spain, and Capital of the Kingdom of the supe name. It the City of Leon, so well known in Spain, and Capital of the Kingdom of the same name. It will not be amis, for the better understanding of it, to fet down his own words, also the better to demonstrate the nature, contrivances, and inventions of Hereticks. "After

kill'd in

The rear, or referve, advancing the Fight, was renewed, and those that seemed to waver before fell on with greater fury. At length the Moors tired with fultaining the brunt all day, and not able to withiftand our referve which Power'd in fresh upon them, fled, and a mighty slaughter of them was made. 200000 are said to have been llain, half of them Horfe, others write but half the number in all. It is more wonderful that of the Christians, only 25 were kill'd, as Roderick the Archbishop then present testlises. Others assimation and year were her of Moors was slain, there was not one drop of Blood to be seen in the Field. By the advice of Zeit his Bother, the Moors's King fled without stopping, only to change Horfe, till see came the same Night to Jaen. About Sun-set their Camp was entred, and plundered by the Aragonians, for the others followed the chace. All the Moorish Kings Equipage which only was preserved, Jamesed Haro, equally divided betwitt the Kings of Aragon and Navarra, particularly his Tent, which was of Red and Crimson-Silk, was by King Alons's Special Command, given to the Aragonians. For King Jons's covering nothing but honour, freely resigned all the Booty to his Companions. It was not thought sit to have the other prey equally divided, for sea fell on with greater fury. At length the Moors tired with fultaining the brunt all day, and of a mutiny, but every Man was allowed to keep what he had got. Some fay, that a Cross or a mutnly, but every want was answed to keep what he had got. Some lay, that a Grois feen in the Air, contributed much towards the gaining of this Victory, but neither the Archibifhop who was prefent in his Hiltory, nor the King in his Letter to the Pope, mention any fuch thing. Yet all agree, that Pajcualis, then a Canon of Toledo, and who carry'd the Archibifhops Crofs before him, broke twice through the Enemies Battle with it unhurt, tho' they all aim'd at him, and many darts thrown at him, fluck on the flaff of the Crofs. So great any public of larges and Durts was found that they she Chrifting during two days the darks. a number of Lances and Darts was found, that the Christians during two days they stay'd there, used no other Fewel, they could not consume them all. Fame first, and then Meffengers sent on purpose, soon spread the News of this Victory through all Parts. Great was the grief it brought to the Moors, and no lefs the joy, it fpread through all Christendom. In Memory of the Action, this King of Navarre, to the Arms of his Ancetors, which were only a red Shield, added Chains and an Emraud in the middle, as is used to the ken that he was the first who broke the Chains that defended the Enemie will have it, that King Alonfo of Castile, now took the Castle for his Arms. have been in use long before. From this time, there are those who write the Custom of abstaining from Flesh upon Saturdays, the contrary Custor duced by the Gaths, who doubtless Learn'd it in Greece, when they were clyichory was doubtless obtained by the Prayers of the Christians, who in larly in Rome, the Pope himfelf promoting it, made Frocessions, and of to Heaven for this purpose. Many Bishops, and a great number of Nobles, whose Names it is tedi-repeat, were present at this Battle. But in fine, the Third day after the ans moved their Camp. They recovered Ferral, and took Bilche, Bañor. aditions of the Chrithic Chridish are the Chrimy.

This called the led the
led the Slaves, which frook a Terror into the Moors, and the plante or the Chrislaves, which frook a Terror into the Moors, and the planted reigning given to the Army, encouraged the Soldiers, almost spent with Labour. Sickness, and the badness of the Stawhy.

Catratrava, they were met by the Duke of Austria, who brought 200 Horse to the Borders of the August 1.

Catratrava, they were met by the Duke of Austria, who brought 200 Horse to serve in that War. The King of August 1.

Spain. In recompense for his assistance, the King of Casile, restored to him of Navarre, 14 Towns he had before taken from him, and then having taken his leave of both Kings, entred Toledo in Triumph. First he gave Thanks to God for this so signal Providence, and Order'd the 16th of July to be kept for ever as a Holy-Day in Memory of it, by the Name of the Triumph of the Holy-Cross. At the beginning of the following Year, the King pursuing his success, took from the Moors the Town of Dueñas, which he gave to the Knights of Calairava, and the Castle of Exnavejor, to those of Saniago. Alearax, a little Town in the Mountains Mariani, seated on a rising Craggy Hill, having endured a Siege of two Months, was taken on the 22th of May, so several other places of less Note. This done, King Alonfo, loaded with honour, returned to Toledo, where he was received with greating, by Elleror his Queen, Berengaria his Daughter, his Son Henry, and all the Inhabitants. This was a very scarce Year of Provisions, for Authors affirm, it rain'd not in the Kingdom of Toledo, for the space of Nine Months, so that the Country People were forced to abandon their lands, and go to other places for Sustenance.

The End of Book XI.

THE

History of SPAIN.

The Twelfth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The Original and growth of the Herefie of the Albigenses, which spread all over France, and some part of Spain. Preaching, against them being unsuccessful. War es resolv'd upon.

Fter so notable a Victory gain'd over the Moors, the affairs of Spain were in a Prospe-

Feer so notable a Victory gain'd over the Moors, the affairs of Spain were in a Prosperous Condition, for the Annohader, oppress d by so great a loss, stir'd not, and the Christians were encouraged to Conquer, all the Insides were fill in possess of the state of th follow'd, and profets at the tame Doctrine. There was no difference betwirt the German and the Spainard, the Frenchman and the Italian, the Englishman and the Sicilian, as to their belief touching God, the Immortality, and other Misteries, all of them had as it were one head, and spoke as with one Tongue. The Waldenser, a Wicked and Abominable People, began some Yearsbefore this, to disturb the Peace of the Church, teaching new and extravagent Opinions, and now the Abigenser of Abienser, a Sect no less Odious, and a Name gener its great destrubance of the Chiffing against the Abiguard that Evaluation is the Great destrubance of the Chiffing Region its vagent Opinions, and now the American of American, a sect no less Ocious, and a Name gener its hatful to the Ancients, follow'd their Footheps, to the great deffurbance of the Christian Original. World. They taught that the Priefs, Gods and the Churches Ministers, had no Power to forgive Sins, That the True Body of Jesus Christ, is not in the most Holy Sacrament of the Altar. That the Water of Baptism, has no Vertue to cleanse the Soul from Sin. That the Aftar. That the Water of Baptiin, has no vertue to cleanie the Soul from Sin. That the Prayers ince for the Dead do not avail them. All new and false Opinions, never heard of by the Ancients. They also utter'd Blasphemies, and reproaches against the Blessed Virgin, which are not set down, for sear of offending the Christian Reader. William Nangiagus, a Frenchman, who liv'd not long after, has left them all in writings. Their madness extended even to reflect upon the Familiarity, that was because the search of the s ing. Their madness extended even to reflect upon the raminarity, that was betwitt Our Saviour and St. Mary Magdalen. So says Peter, a Cifercian Monk, in the History he writ of the Abigenges, desicated to Pope Innocent the Third, where he speaks as an Eye-Witness of things that pass'd in his presence. It would be tedious to particularize all the ravings of this Sect and Heres; for so it is, that falshood is manyfold, truth one and simple. In that part of France where is the famous City Description of the section Cabors, is another call'd Albis, once known by the name of Alba Augusta, and it is supposed on of the that Cafar in his Commentaries, call'd the Inhabitants of that Province Helvii. The River City Albin. * Tarris waters the Country, which is one of the fruitfullest in France, producing much Corn, Winc, Wood and Safforn; whereby the Bilhop of that City has one of the belt Revenues of France. The Cathedral which is large and beautiful, is adjoining to the Wall of the City, and dedicated to St. Cecilia. The Inhabitants of the City and Country, are open-hearted, peaceable and quiet; Virtues that may prove dangerous, without the necessary circumspection; in avoiding being corrupted and perverted by wicked People. They generally live upon their own product. The Trade is but little, as lying in the Inland of France, and far from the Sea. From this City, where this new Sect and Madneis were first broach'd, it took the name of Albigensis, and from thence spread it felf through all France, and part of Spain. But this Flame blaz'd more in Toulouse than in any other place; and thence it was that some deduc'd the cast of the Sea and Error from these City. Others two its bad is first list in Progress.

the original of this Sect and Error from that City. Others fay, it had its first rise in Provence, which is a part of Gallia Narbonenjis. D. Lucas de Tuy, who for his devotion, and to improve himself in Learning, went to Rome, and thence to Constantinople and Hieraslaten, returning to his Country; among other his no less Learned than Pious Writings, published a large Disputation against all these Errors; wherein he sets down, as an Eye-Witness, what happened in the City of Leon, fo well known in Spain, and Capital of the Kingdom of the same name. It will not be amis, for the better understanding of it, to set down his own words; also the better to demonstrate the nature, contrivances, and inventions of Hereticks.

Chap. II.

192

Diforders " the Death of the Reverend D. Roderick, Bishop of Leon, the Clergy could not agree about raifed by "chufing his Succellor. Which opportunity; the Hereticks, who are Enemies to the truth, the Here: and delight in fuch discord, laid hold of, to get into that City, then without a Pastor, and tids in and dengin in men discord, is an indirect to get into that carry, and to adail the Flock of Christ. That their defigns might fuceed, they arm'd themelives as they us'd todo with inventions. They gave out that Miracles were wrought in a certain filthy place, that ferv'd as a Dunghil. In it were bury'd two Criminals, one of them a Heretick, another, who for Murdering his Uncle, was Sentenc'd to be bury'd alive. In that same place there was a Spring, which the Hereticks discolour'd with Blood; that the People might look upon it as Miracle. The Fame hereof, as is usual upon light occasions, was fired abroad. They underhand had corrupted some Persons to counterfeit themselves "Blind, Lame, posses'd and afflicted with several Diseases; and that having drank that Wa-"ter, they were healed. From these beginnings the cheat was carry'd on, till they dug bp the Bones of the Heretick, whose name was Arnaldus; and he had been 16 Years bury'd in that place. They gave out those were the Bones of a most holy Martyr. Many of the ig-"norant Clergy, under the Cloak of Devotion, forwarded the Laity herein. The Fraud reproceeded to far, as to raife over the Spring a ftrong House, and it was intended to place the Bones of the Infamous Murderer on a high place, that the People might worship them it being given out that he had been a very holy Abbot. In short, when the Hereticks had "brought things to this pass, they own'd the deceit among themselves, and so made a scoff "at the Church, as if the other Miracles perform'd by holy Bodies were of the fame stamp, "and there were some that gave credit to them, and forsook the true belief. At length Fryars "the Fraud came to the knowledge of the Fryars Preachers (that is, the Dominicans) who in Preachers "their Sermons labour'd to undeceive the People. The Franciscans, and such of the Clergy & others as had not been drawn into that foul worship, join'd with them. But fill the more the oppose the Here. "minds of the multitude were bent upon that diabolical superstition. Informath, that they "minds of the multitude were bent upon that diabolical fuperfition. Infomuch, that they "call'd the Fryars Hereticks for oppoing and contradicting them. The Enemies of truth rejoyed and triumph'd, they declar'd publickly, that the Miracles wrought in that Dunghill, were more certain than all the reft, perform'd in the Church by the Bodies of Saints, "held in Veneration by Chrittians. The Neighbouring Bilhop declared all those excommunicate, who frequented that curfed Worship, but their care was of no use, for that the Devil had full policifion of many, and had secur'd to himself, the disobedient Children' A Deacon who bihorr'd the Heresche heard at Rome, what happined at Leon, at which he "was much concern'd, and resolv'd to return speedily to his Country, to oppose that mighty." Evil. Being course to see the engineed survive into the business. was much concern'd, and relov'd to return ipeculy to his Country, to oppose that mighty.

Zealous both in publick and private, to Condemn foill a thing, reproving his Townsien, and in this at accusing them as favourers of Hereticks. Tho' his Friends adviked him to to be more fair.

Moderate, he could not restrain himself, as believing the City was departing from the Law.

"of God. He went to the Common-Council, and told them, That accident was an affront."

"to all Spain, that where formerly, just Laws and Constitutions were enacted, as being the "Head of a Kingdom, there at present unheard of Villanies and Heresies were invented. He "added, God would not give them rain to Bless the Fruits of the Earth, till they had added, God would not give them rain to bies the fruits of the Earth, till filely had call down that Church, and thrown away those Bones they Worship'd. For so it was, that ever fince that superfittion began, which was now ten Months, it never rain'd, and there was a Dearth in the Country. The Judge, in the prefence of all the Asiembly, said to the Deacon. Do you assure us, that the Church being cast down, God will give us Rain, and Water the Country. The Deacon, full of Faith, answer'd. Give me leave to demolish that House, and I promise in the Name of Our Lord Jesus Christ, upon forfeiture of Life and Code, that within eight Day. Our Lord will send the necessary was in a shundance. "and Goods, that within eight Days, Our Lord will fend the necellary Rain in abundance.
"The Company gave Credit to his Words. He repair'd to the place with Labourers apin the Company gave Credit to his Words. He repaired to the place with Labourers appointed, and many of the Citizens, levelled the Church, and feather'd the Bones about the Dung-Hills. It hap'ned, to the great aftonihment of them all, that as the Church was pulling down, among the Timber was heard a Noife, as it were of a Trumpet, to fhow the Devil forfook that place. The next Day, a great part of the City was burnt down, for the Wind being very high, the Fire could not foon be floy'd from spreading far. The "Multitude mutiny'd, and ran to find out the Deacon, with a design to Murder him, saying." "That instead of Rain, he had been the cause of that great Fire. The Hereticks appear'd, "fcoffing at the Clergy, and faid. The Deacon deserv'd Death, and that what he had pro-" mifed, would not come to pass. But the Almighty had Mercy on his People, for at "the end of the Eight Days appointed, he fent abundant Rain; fo that the Fruits of the Earth re-"cover'd, and there was a plentiful Harveft that Year. The Deacon encourag'd by this Hereticks "fucces, went on profecuting the Hereticks, till he obliged them, to quit the City. Thus expell'd. far are the Words of this Anthor. By which it appears, that his Pestilential Heresie spread in Spain, but its greatest fury fell upon Toulouze, whence ensu'd great mischiefs, and the unhappy Death of the King of Aragon, who would uphold it, as shall appear in the The Sect of the Albigenses grew formidable, and daily gathered strength, not only by the number of the Commonalty that adhered to it, but also by Means of the Princes and Persons of note that supported it, without regarding the Pope's Authority, or their own reputation.

These were the Earls of Toulouze, Faux, Besiers and Cominges. In like manner, the King of Magon imported them, because these Cities were seofs depending on him, as has been said Favourers Magon imported them, because there takes were reus superioring on min, as has been rate of the Absolute. Beides he was nearly Ally'd to the Earl of Toulouse, whose third Wife was the King of the Absolute the Manager of the Absolute the Manager of the Absolute the Manager of the Manager of the Absolute the Manager of the of Aragon's Sifter. And the Earl's Son and Heir, whose Name as well as his Father's, was Raymund, had taken to Wife another of the same King's Sisters, called Sancha. This was the true cause of his declaring for the Albigonies, and taking up Arms for them. Otherwise, he was a truely Catholick Prince, as may be inferred, by his delivering his Son D. Jaime, or ticks, easily for fook the Faith of their Ancestors, and embraced those extravagent Opinions, Some Remedy was fought to put a ftop to this growing Evil. Mildness was thought at first most expedient, to try whether by the care of good Teachers those that had stray'd might be brought back. D. James, Bishop of Osma, in his way to Rome, whither he was sent by the King of Capile, went thro' that part of France, and feeing the condition of Affairs, and danger those Towns were in, unless some speedy remedy were apply'd, gavea full account to the Pope of the whole mischief, and where the greatest danger appeared. With him went the Glorious Father S. Dominick, then a CanonRegular of the Order of S. Augustin, and afterwards on this acrather, 5. Dominics, there a continue guaranteer of the Order of Practice of S. Dominical and ancerwatus on this account Founder of the Order of Practicers. He was Born at Calervega, in the Territory of Ofma, of a Noble Family. The Pope understanding how the matter stood, resolved to give S. Dominical Companion, with full displayed to that spreading Evil. He dispatch'd the Bishop and his Companion, with full displayed to the Companion of the Co Commillion to quench that flame. Healio appointed one of the Cardinals, his Legate, with giainflame ample power. Being come into France, they chose 12 Abbots of the Order of S. Bernard, to Hereticks. be their Associates, that being Natives, they might by their Preaching and Example, bring back those that had gone astray. But whatever was gained by this means, many being converted from their Errors; chiefly by the Preaching of S. Dominick, and Miracles he wrought in several parts, no less was the number of those perverted by the Hereticks. For who can reduce an incens'd Rabble to reason? Who can restore to their Wits, Men lost and hardned in Error? A Limb that cannot be healed, must be cut off, and the lafest method is, in such cases, to use Rigour in time. This moved the Pope and Catholick Princes to alter their methods, and fince no peaceable means were of force, to refolve upon War, and open Force, as we shall show in the following Chapter.

CHAP. II.

The Death of Peter, King of Aragon, and of Alonfo, King of Castile. Simon, Earl of Monsort, General of the Catholicks, Overthrows the Hereticks, and takes the Towns they had possess d themselves of.

T being now refolved to decide these matters of Religion by Arms, a great number of Sol-Proceed-Theng now, refolved to decide their matters of Religion by Arms, a great number of Sol-Proceed-diers were affembled our oftaly, Germany and France, hoping to gain the Indulgence granted ings of the by the Pope, to such as took up the Crofs on such occasions. These first possess of the Memblers Catholicks of the City Besser, and in it put to the Sword 7000 of the Mutiniers. This, struck such a against the terror into the People of Carcasson, that, they surrendred the City to the Catholicks, and Absense; the Ringleaders were punished. These prosperous beginnings encouraged the Catholicks, and Memblers, and General, made choice of Simon, Earl of Montfort, a Town of note in the Territo-Barl of ry, of Chartrer, as being an experienced Soldier, and of known Zeal for the Catholick Religis. Montfort, and the Advisor taken upon him that charge and earlier of the Europe acids from the Heisen General of on. He having taken upon him that charge, and gather'd his Forces, gain'd from the Here General of ticks the Cattle of Minerva, the City Albis, a Town call'd Vaure, near Toulouse, and many other places. This done, he laid Siege to Toulouse, but could not enter it, by reason the Therefore railing the Siege, he hent his Force against the Earldon of Faux. The King of Aragon was in care for those his Friends and Allies, and fear'd, lest Simon of Montfort, under the specious pretence of Religion, hould endeayour to enlarge his own Dominions. Thereger the specious pretence of Religion, thould endeayour to enlarge his own Dominions. Therefore immediately after the famous Bartle of Nassa de Toloja, he imployed his thoughts on the Affairs of Reancawith to much application, that it appears, he was at Tolosuse in the Month of January, in the Year 12(3). In May following, he raifed Men at Lerida, and other places, Ngarry on, this, War. Being refunced to Prayer, all those Princes joyrd him with their Forces, which together, are hid to have composed an Army of 100000 Men, a number fearing cyfulble. In 1990 of Monifors, provided to oppose, to powerful an Enemy, and in order to it, together, and Monifors, with a simal number; but chosen Men, to defend it.
With him were leven Hillions. S. Dominion and there Abous. These accessors and the were feven hispops, S. Dominick, and three Abbots. These endeavour'd to disswade the king from supporting the Hereticks, but he was dear to their advice. The Catholicks were not not above 800 Horfe, and 1000 Foot; a finall number to the multitude of the Enemies. However relying on the Jultice of their Cause, they engaged; and it was resoluted fought Awonder-of the the Enemy was put to slight, the Earls estaped, but the Aring was kill dupon the place, with the Enemy was put to dispit, the Earls estaped, but the Aring was kill dupon the place, with the Enemy was put to dispit, the Earls estaped, but the Aring was kill dupon the place, with the Enemy was put to dispit of the Every Body said the King of the Every Every Body said the King and Aring of Hereticks, tho in other respects, he was for true a Son of the Church, that he got the name of Peter the Catholick), and also for his Lewiness which transported him so far as to put away his Queen, a Woman of singular Virtue, upon pretence of Consanguinity, and that she had been Marry'd to the Earl of Cominges, tho that Marriage had been declared invalid. This Lady was now at Rome, and daily expected Judgment should be given for her, when the news of the King's Death was brought. His Body was buried by the Knights of S. John, in the Monastery of Ximena, where Queen San-

Chap. HI.

194

He left only one Son, called Jayme, or James, but four Years of Age. There were yet layme, or He lett only one son, a caused yayme, or James, the lower than the lighting, Ferdinand, Brother to the Deceased, and Abbot of Mostaragon, and confequently, excess to a professed Monk, and Sancho, Earl of Roussillon, his Uncle, of a great age, assisting Uncleithe Crown to the late King.

These two, notwithstanding the Profession of the one, and the Age of of Aragon, the other, had thoughts of Usurping the Crown. To this purpole, they endeavoured to gain the Nobility and People, giving out that D. Jayme was a Bastard, and they consequently next Heirs. This defign was no way pleafing to the Prelates and Nobles. Especially Pe-1) med 11415.

In seeigh was how my pleaning to an of related and 140hres. Superchiffy Perer Fernandez, de Agagra, Lord of Albarazin, was concerned there should be any talk of Excluding the Child, and that he should be then as a Prisoner in the hands of Simon of Montfort. Having therefore confulted the other Nobles, they fent an Embassador to Pope Innocent, de-Firing he would command Montfort to deliver up the Child, whom all acknowledged. as their king. The Popertadily condefeeded, and fent Orders to his Legate, the Cardinal of Bengwinte, then in the War against the Hereticks, to give all satisfaction to the Argonian, if what they demanded, were just. Mean while, Montfort had taken Toulouze, the Neft, and chief Receptice of the Hereticks. The Legate gathered a Synod at Montpolier, where it was unanimously agreed to give all that had been taken in War, to Simon of Montfort, as a Reward for his good fervice. The Bishop of Embras, was fent to the Pope, to obtain to Confirmation of this their Decree. This was the posture of Affairs in France. In Spain, a vio-Confirmation of this their Decree. This was the posture of Affairs in France. In Spain, a violent Famine raged, by reason of the Drought! After the Famine, as is usual; follow the Plague, caused by the unisual things eaten for want. Many Towns were quite illippeopled, especially in the Kingdom of Ioledo, where this Calamity was most destructive, as being the highest part of all Spain. Roderick, Archbishop of Toledo, was a great help to the Poor, giving extraordinary Alms, and stirring up others to do the like. Whereupon King Alonso, afterwards at Burgos, gave him 20 villages, and, the Chancellorship of Cassie, the highest Dignity next the King, to him, and his Successions, the Archbishops for ever. This Office, the Archbishops exercised by themselves, or their Deputies, till the time of the Archbishops Giles de Albornoz, when by reason of his abserve, and the confusion of the times, it was given to others; and now those Prelates retain nothing but the bare Title. King Alonso being at Burgos, desired to be reconciled to the King of Leons, with whom he had been offended ever since he put away his Daughter Burgosia. Both Kings met at Valladajid, where all differences were composed; and particularly, they agreed, that Carpso showments of the content of the content of the King of Leons. This content is the Country, taking along with him, by the content of the King of Leons. James

Archbi-Chancel-

Plague.

returned to its Country, taking along with him, by the conficitle frill Ring of Capine, games Lapez de Haro, to employ him his Wars against the Moore of the Haro, was the Haro, was the him of great Repute, so before him his Wars against the Moore of the him, desiring to fried him? War with dee for experienced a General. The King of Capine, tho old, would not sin the opportantly the Moore, types making his advantage of the Moore, under a construction for their later bolles. The King of Leon began the War in that part of old Lustania, now called Estremadural where Original having plundred and wasted all the Country, he took from the Moors, a Town of Mechande of the leated on the Banks of Tagus, which he gave to the Knights of Calabravat. This was the Original of the Knights of Meanhand; a third fully left to the Original of the Knights of Meanhand; a third fully left to the Original of them, having obtained a Bull from Pope Julius II. to that effect. The Habit of Calabravat. dant of them, having obtained a Bill from Pôpe Julius II. tô that effect. The Habit of Caldurand formerly was a Scapular, with a Hood over their Cloths, like the Fyers, filth Pope Benddie XIII. changed it, and inflead of the Hood, they were a red Crofs Fleiry. Those of "Mannad wear the fame form of Crofs bit green on a white Cloth." Both observe the Rule of S. Bernad, and after fibble to the Eyfer's of Ciferenias. "Monfo, King of Cafile," advanced with his Forces as far as Baera, which the Moors had lagain recovered, and laid siege to that City, after ravaging all the oben Condetify." Jame Dobe, at Haro, the Waf of Effende dara being ended, came thirther. The they made their utnioff Efforts, yet could they not take that City, for want of Provisions, A: Truce was thefefore concluded with the Moors and the Army drew off to furnish themselves with Necefaritis But for the Facterity which was that Yeal; it had been a good opportunity of fibiding the Moors, they being themselved among themselves and diltracted with intelline Wars; Mahoms, Strained the Greek, King of the Moors, after the loss of the memorable Battle of Nabas de Tolofa, when over into Africk to recruit his forces, in his absence, his Brother Zeit. Abstracts; possessing himself of Valencia and Monoriality, with all their 101. Dependencies

Dependencies. Mahomet Zeit, his Cousin, did the same with the Cities of Cordova and Bae-Dependences: Assume Sets, in County, and the rame with the cities of Coraova and Bacga. Abbali, another Moor, following their example, secured to himself, Sevil, Ecija and Xeres. Thus the Force of the Moors was divided, and consequently weakned. A stoppor-Acres. I must ne force of the 2000rs was anvinced, and consequently weakned. A ht opportunity of fishduling them was offer'd, but King Alonfo, the most powerful Prince in Spain, could not make use of it, by reason of the scarcity of Provisions, as also, because he was about to relieve the English, then too hard set in France. At the same time, Alonfo it, King of Portugal, Sirnamed the Fat, was busie, taking away by force of Arms from his Sisters, the King of Portugal. Towns left them by his Father. Princes never want pretences to put in execution their De-Portugal, Gans. Those Ladies had resource for Pentadion to the King of Lean their Kingman, by at War, figns. Those Ladies had resource for Protection, to the King of Leon, their Kindman, who at War, with his went not in Person, but sent his Son Ferdinand, by whom many Towns were taken from the sisters. Portugueja, but afterwards reflored, at the requel of Pope Innocent, who interpoled to adjust those Differences. The King of Castile desired to Commune with his Son-in-law (King of Portugal; and to that purpose, sent Embassadors to invite him to Plasencia; but under-King of Portugat; and to that purpote, tent tempolaladors to invite nim to Piajencia; but underflanding his coming would not be so soon, went to Burgot, thence to send Supplies to the English. Death prevented all these Designs. In his return from Burgot, earnestly desiring to meet the King of Portugat, he sell sick at Garcimunot, where he was given over by the Physicians. Roderick, Archbishop of Toledo, Administred the Sacraments to him, and caused him o'Cassille.

The History of SPAIN.

195

to make a Will. That done, he expir'd upon Mynday the 6th of Odbber, in the Year 1214. dies. This was the end of King Alonfo, the most Renowned Prince of that Age, without the

This was the end of King Alonfo, the most Renowned Prince of that Age, who did many great things by himself, yet the other Kings of Spain did nothing considerable without him. He lived 57 years, and 22 days, and thereof reign'd 55. I should think but 33, since at the beginning of his Reign, our Author says, he was 4 years old when his Father died. His Body was bury'd at Huelgas, near Burgos. This same Year died Ellenor, Queen Dowager of Castile, Erchianad, eldest Son to the King of Leon, by his sirst Wife; allo James Lopes de Harno, and Reter de Castro, Son to Ferdinand de Castro, all Persons of great Note. The Queen nor his departed this life on the last day of Olsober, of Grief for the loss of her Husband, and was Queen & him. Ferdinand of Leon, was a very hopeful Youth, had he not been untimely cut off by Death, he was Interr'd at Santiago, in Galicia. A Brother of his of the same Name survived, being born of Berengaria, his Father's second Wife, and inherited both the Crowns of Castile and Leon, as shall be shown in its place. Peter de Castro, ended his days at Morocco, the cause of his going thither, is not known.

CHAP. III.

days at Morocco, the cause of his going thither, is not known.

Disorders in Castile and Aragon, under the two Infant Kings. Sancho, King of Navarre, altogether decrepid. The Lateran General-Council. Honours done there to the Archbiftop of Toledo,

A Free the Death of Peter, King of Aragon, and Alonso of Castile, there ensued great Trou-Troubles bles inboth Kingdoms, by reason of the tender Age of the two Kings, Jaime and Henry, in Castile when they ascended those Thrones. All the Nobility was more intent upon their private, than the publick Interest. In Castile, many strove to possess themselves of the Government the Accession in the King's Name. Some in Aragon not so content, endeavoured to Usurp the Crown, these on of two were Sancho and Ferdinand, before-mentioned. Both pleaded that the young King Jaime Children was not got in lawful Wedlock. Sancho urged against his Competitor, that he was a profess determined from the competition of the sancho and the sancho are sancho and sancho and sancho and sancho and sancho are sancho and san was not got in awin vectors. Sameso treget against his competitor, that he was a profess of Monk, and therefore incapable of Reigning. Ferdinand brought Rampiro for a Precedent, who, Jamesto tho' ancient, and a Monk, had inherited the Crown, and therefore that Impediment being those removed, pretended most Right, as the next of the Collateral Line. Thus was the King-Crowns. dom divided into Factions. The leaft number, but most considerable for Power, stack to Two Lines. The Malbitude are the factor Buildon. Buildon: The Land Malor than German Considerable for Same Considerable for Power, stack to Two Lines. the true King. The Multitude was for the fairest Bidder. Embassadors being sent, as was cless thrive said above to Pone Innocent, they were remitted to Exercise Orders above the Roll of the State of the Control of th faid above, to Pope Innocent, they were remitted to France, with Orders, that what had been the Crown taken from the Hereticks, should be delivered to Simon of Monifort, upon condition he should of Argon.

restore the young King of Argon to his Subjects. These Commands were punctually obeyd, #syme the and the young King conveyed to Narbonne, together with Raymund, Earl of Provence, his young K. Coulin-German, and a Child of the fame age, to be bred in Argon, while the Wars lafted comes in France. At Narbonne many of the Nobility of Aragon received their King with much Joy, and the People wherever he palfed, offered up their Vows for his fafety. The Child had a Graceful Prefence, and was somewhat bigger than is usual at that Age. Montfort returned to profecute the War. By the Legates procurement, the Cortes, or Parliament was assembled at Lerida, where all that were present, took the Oath of Allegiance to the new King, a thing not before used in Angon, but continued ever since to this day. William Monredon, Superior of the Templars in that Kingdom, was appointed the King's Tutor, and the chief the Emplandors that had been sent to the Pope, joyned in Commission with him. Monredon was alligned for the King to keep his Court at, till the Troubles were over; and the King came to Age. At this time Commerce was reftored betwixt Zaragoga and Navarre, which had been long interrupted, by reason of the Wars. Sancho, King of Navarre, lay in the Ca-

Santo K. sile of Tudela, without attending to the Government, by reason of his great Age and Sickobserved A. Itte of Iudeig, without attending to the Government, by reason of insyreal Age and Sickof Neutre nefs. This same Year was fought the famous Battle of Booines, near Tourney, in Flanders, decrepidbetwitt Otbo, the Emperor, and Philip, King of France. Ferdinand, Prince of Portugal, who had Matried the Countes of Flanders, took the Emperor's part, and the Imperialities being the defeated, was taken, and continued a long time Prisoner in France. In the Year 1215, the defeated, was taken, and continued a long time Priloner in France. In the Year 1213, the Aragonians endeavouring to fettle the Kingdom, and fathic Sawbo, Earl of Ruffillon, committed to him the care of the Government; but the being ambitious of the Crown, made use of his power to raise greater Commotions, as shall be told hereafter. Cashie was in no beto the condition. Henry the new King, was but 11 years of age, when he inherited that Crown, the condition. Henry the new King, was but 11 years of age, when he inherited that Crown. His Mother took upon her the Administration of Affairs, but that lasted not long, by reason of her Death. In her Will see appointed her Daughter Berengaria, Queen of Leon, tho' Divorc'd from her Husband, to succeed in the Government, as being a Woman of a Manly Spirit, and in great power, for that when she returned to Cassie, her Father gave her the Towns of Valladolid, Munon, Curiel and Santissevaria Gorman. This Lady not only bore this great Burden, but out of her own Revenue supply'd the wants of the Crown. Her Vertues can never be too much extoll'd, her Prudence, Devotion, Justice, and Care of the Government, were not to be parallell'd. Yet multitude of Bussies, and the love of Retirement, made her uncasse. Some who make their own ends by diving into the Affections of Princes. King of Ca made her uneasie. Some who make their own ends by diving into the Affections of Princes. made her uneasse. Some who make their own ends by diving into the Affections of Princes, TheHouse foon discovered this failing. Particularly, the three Brothers of the Family of Lara, Alvanof Laracon-ro, Fredinand and Gonzalo, Sons to D. Nuño, Earl of Lara, who being used to Rule, would of Laracon-ro, Fredinand and Gonzalo, Sons to D. Nuño, Earl of Lara, who being used to Rule, would piptesanot let slip this opportunity of seizing upon the Government. They valued not the King, as gainst the being an Infant, nor his Silter, because she was a Woman. Their resolution was to comyoung K. pas their ends, tho' the means were never so foul. Two things concurred towards forwardof Castilia.

The being a subtle fellow, they promis's let being a subtle fellow, they promis's him the Town of Tablada, which he much coveted, as a Reward of his good Service, in case he forwarded their Project. The other, was the absence of Roderick, Archbishop of Toledo, who only by his Prudence and Authority. was able to disappoint all these Contrivances. He he forwarded their Project. The other, was the ablence of Roderick, Archbishop of Toleda, who only by his Prudence and Authority, was able to disappoint all these Contrivances. He was gone to Rome, to be present at the Lateram Council assembled by Pope Ismocent. Thither resorted 4.12 Prelates, 71 of which were Archbishops, besides the Patriarchs of Familians and Confiantinople. Those of Antioch and Alexandria, came not themselves, but feat their Deputes. The number of other Priests, is not to be reckon'd. Many matters of great moment were handled in this Council; but the chief were the renewing the War in the Holy-Land, and quieting France, then embroil'd by the Hereticks. This Council was opend in the Month of November, and in the Church of S. John Lateram. Among all the Prelates, Roderick, Archbishop of Toledo, signalized himself, making a Latin Speech, so set to five the variety of other Languages, that the Fathers in admiration, said, The like bad not been bland since the time of the Apolites. Here the Jurisdiction of the Church of Toledo was debated, for that the Archbishops of Tatagonas, Breage. Santiago and Narbonne, would not acknowledge its Subreme Andreas. hops of Taragona, Braga, Santiago and Narbonne, would not acknowledge its Supreme Artificial theority. On the behalf of Toledo were produced Bulls of former Popes, their Determinations, Decrees of Councils, and many Arguments deduc'd from Antiquity. Much allo was faid by the other Party, but the cafe was left undetermin'd, because some of the Parties concern'd, were absent, and it was fit they should be heard. Yet the Pope granted to Roderich the Archbishop, the Légantine Power for ten years; and also, that in case the Gity Sevil Street taken from the Mark, so was hord he broad and the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the Mark, so was hord he broad and the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the Mark, so was hord he was found to the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the Mark, so was hord he was the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the Mark, so was hord by the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the Mark so was hord to the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the Mark so was hord to the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the Mark so was hord to the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the Municipal Street taken from the finell Bourse of the finell Bourse were taken from the Moors, as was hoped, by reason of the simal Power of the Ambadas, it should be subject to the Archbishop of Toledo, as its Primate, and no Appeal to lye from this Decree. Besides, he gave him power to Legitimate 300 Bafards, and to place Bishops in all such Towns as should be taken from the Moors. The Archbishop gain'd great Reputation, in that Council, not only for his knowledge in many Languages, but for his extraordinary Learning, not usual in that Age. He writ the Hiltory of Spain, another of the Moore, and a Treatife of the Jurisdiction of his Church of Toledo. Touching the Holy-War, it was decreed, that all Church-men should contribute towards it, part of their Revenues. With this Subsidy, Recruits were sent over, and the Town of Damiata, in Egypt taken. As to the Affairs of France, the two Raymund's, Father and Son, Earl's of Toulouze, appear'd in the Council against Simon of Montfort, who had despoil'd them of their Dominions. The Result council against simm or Montjort, who had delpoil a them of their Dominions. The Reinsteam, that they were Condemned as Hereticks, and Toulouze, with all other places he had taken, adjudged to Simon of Montfort. Whereupon, Montfort did Homage to the King of France for those places, and settled an Alliance with him. Yet not relying on the Fidelity of those People, he caused Toulouze, Carcassons and Narbonne, to be dismantled, which, together with the heavy Taxes he laid on the Subjects, rendred him so odious, that many Towns ther with the heavy Taxes he laid on the Subjects, rendred him to odtous, that many I owns along the River Robine, revolted from him to Raymund the younger, and not long after, he loft the City of Toulouze. Notwithstanding the Decree of the Council, many Nobles of France stiffled the abandon'd Princes; yet Simon of Montfort had regain'd Toulouze, but that he was unfortunately kill'd before it, by a Stone flot from an Engine. A Man worthy of a longer life for his Valour, and Zeal for Religion. He left two Sons, Americk and Simon. Americk upon the Death of his Father, saifed the Siege, and dispairing of being able to withstand all those Princes that joyn'd against him, resign'd his Right to all those Towns, to the Ring of France, who in return, made him Lord High-Constable. These things fell out three worse leter than this time. Let us return to the place whence we digressed. CHAP.

years later than this time. Let us return to the place whence we digress'd.

CHAP. IV.

The Family of Lava, take the Government of Castille into their Hands, they commit many insolencies and oppress the Nobility. Young King Henry Marry'd and divore'd. The King of Aragon escapes from his Keepers.

THE Family of Lara, ceased not to Solicite Garci Lorenço, as was faid before, and he tempted with their promises, undertook to bring about their defires. He only waited The Family of Lara of any fuch contrivance, he told her. The burden of the Government was too weighty for Governno woman's shoulders and withal exaggerated, the difficulties of pleafing where Interests were mentof fo different, and affections so various. The Queen who covered nothing more than her east, cashe in-Ring. Then he reply'd, none in the Kingdom fo fit as the Family of Lara, being the most powerful, and therefore best able to awe such as should aim at any commotions. This adpowerrui, and therefore pet apie to awe tuen as mound aim at any commotions. I his advice was approved by the Queen, who thereupon affembling the Prelates and Nobles, ask'd their advice, and they either not understanding the drift, or being before fecur'd, or elle hating the Government of a Woman, agreed that the Queen should relign the Government to the Three Brothers of the Family of Lava. Roderick the Archbishop, returning at this time from Rome, lik'd not these proceedings, but the thing was too far gone to be recalled. All he could do, was to oblige those Brothers, to take an Oath, that they would recalled. An ne could do, was to come thouse prothers, to take an Oath, that they would in all things fludy the interest of the People and Crown, that they would give no Commands Oath the without the Queen's Approbation, that they would not make War, nor impose new Taxes, Archiophop on the Crown of the without the Queen's Approparion, that they would not make war, not impose new lakes, shop ob-and in fine, that they would bear the respect due to the Queen, as the Daughter, Sifter, and liges'em Wife of Ring's. This seemed some security, for their Impartial Administration of the Go-to take. vernment, but no Bonds can contain Ambitious Spirits. As foon as they were put into Povernment, but no Bonds can contain Amoutious Spirits. As 100n as they were put into ro-wer, Di Morro the eldeft of the three Brothers, departed from Burgos, where this Act of Renunciation was perform'd. The first thing he did, was to Banish certain Noblemen, then he felzed upon all publick Revenues, and spar'd not those of the Church, From lay Patrons, who had the right of presenting to Benefices, he took that Priviledge, upon pretence of restoring the immunities of the Church. He did all things by open force, without any regard to the Laws, or good of the Publick. His Extravagancies were fuch, as obliged Roderick Dean of Toledo, and the Archbishop's Vicar to Excommunicate him. This check drew him back a little, Alturo the Totado, and the Archbinop's vicar to excommunicate him. I his check drew him back a little, elder Broand he made some reparation of damages, yet his Mind was not alter'd. He summoned the therexeroites, or Parliament to Valladoid, whether resorted for the most part, such as were of his communication, who in the name of the whole Kingdom, only study'd to secure him the Government cated. Many of the Nobility were offended, that D. Alvaro should thus Usurp all the Power, Particularly Lope de Haro, Son, to James de Haro, and D. Gonzalo Ruiz Giron, the Lord Highcularly Lope de Havo, Son, to James de Havo, and D. Gonzalo Ruiz Giron, the Lord High-Steward, refented this diforderly proceeding, and having confulted together, had recourse to Queen Berengaria, complaining against her for resigning the Government, and advising to reassume it, before all things were brought to destruction. Their words mov'd the Queen, yet being a Woman, she durst not oppose so great a Power, as theirs was, who had the Command of all the Forces in the Kingdom. Therefore fearing least Violent Councils might produce greater mischiefs, she thought it the best expedient, to put the Three Brothers of Lara, in Mind of the Oath they had taken, when they entred upon the Government, which they had much infringed. This Admonstron only served the maps to propule D. Morres whe Lara, in bining of the Oath they had taken, when they entred upon the Government, which they had much infringed. This Admonition, only ferved the more to provoke D. Alvaro, who thereupon not only feiz'd upon the Queen's Lands, but Commanded her to depart the Kingdom. The Queen to prevent further michief, with her Silter Ellenor, retired to the strong Castle Hessizes of Otella near Palencia. Many of the Nobility declar'd for her, and continued firm, till the upon the Death of the King her Brother. All this tended to an open breach, and to increase the Di-Oucens vision, the Office of High-Steward was taken from D. Gonçalo Giron, and given to Ferdi. Lands, and Banilbes. nand de Lara, D. Alvaro's Brother. The King, tho' young, lik'd not these proceedings, and studied her. how to make his escape to his Sister, but it was in vain, for D. Alvaro kept strict watch upon him. Besides, the more to gain his Favour, he allured him with pleasures, and talk'd of num. Bendes, the more to gain ins rayour, ne anured num with pleasures, and talk a or Marrying him. To this purpose, Embassadors were sent to conclude a Match for him, with Massadors, Sister to King Alonso of Portugal. The Nuptials were Celebrated at Palencia, Queen Berengaria, was much concern'd at it, because the King was so Young. Therefore Young Kenwrit to the Pope, informing him, how near of Kin the Marry'd Couple were. The Pope Gengy upon this information, appointed Tello Bishop of Palencia, and Maswite of Burgor, Commil. Married. sioners to examine that affair, and in case they sound it, as the Queen said, to disannul the noners to examine that arrair, and in case they found it, as the Queen laid, to dissipate the Marriage. As foon as the Bifhops received the Pope's Bull, they examined the affair, and Is parted finding the Kindred to be as had been faid, order'd them to be divored. Thus the Bride, from his content of the best better that the Bride from the Bride for t fill a Virgin, as is believed, return'd to Portugal, where in the Monastery of Rucha, built by account of herself, the spent the rest of her Life, much afflicked, not only for that difgrace, but because Constant D. Alvaro, had presumed to offer to Marry her himself. This in Castile, in the Year of Grace guinton. 1216. in which dy'd Pope Innocent III. inferior to few of his Predecessors, for Piety and Learning. Honorius III. a Native of Rome succeeded him, in whose time dy'd in that Ci-Cc 3

Chap. V.

ty Mary Queen of Aragon, Mother to King Jaime. Her Body was bury'd in the Vatican, near the Tomb of St. Petronila. In her Will, the recommended her Son and Kingdom to the Pope as Universal Father. That Kingdom being divided into Factions, and the King being so Young stood in need of such Protection, which that Pope afforded it as long as he liv'd. At this time, Raymund Earl of Provence, being invited by his Subjects, made his effect from the Cafite of Mongoi, where he was kept as a Prifoner, with the King of Aragon, and getting fafe into his Country, appealed many differences that were among the Nobility for want of a Head, every one firtiving to have a hand in the Government. Thomac, Earl of Mauriems, of the House of Savoy, had a Daughter called Beatrix, who was Marry'd to this Raymund Earl of Provence. By her he had Four Daughters; three of them Marry'd to Kings, and the fourth to an Emperor. Raymund's Escape was the cause the King of Aragon was set at Liberty. William Monredon, Master of the Templers, fear'd the King might in like manner betaken from him, and then others would reap the benefit of fetting him at Liberty, whilft he should undergo the blame of having kept him confin'd. He therefore consulted with Peter de Agagra Lord of Albaracin, and with Peter Abones, both Men,in great Power, who Dyn'd with themselves Aspagus Archbishop of Taragona, and Williamo Taragona. These in the Month of September, resolved to set the King at Liberty, and commit the Government of the Kingdom to him, notwithstanding he was but Nine Year of Age, and took an Oath to bind themselves to the performance hereof. This was not done so privately, but that Samebo the King's Unike, who then governed the Kingdom, had notice of it, and in-a rago, The King the King was to go with Blood. With this resolution, he march'd of Argon with a good Body of Men to Selga, a Town on the road, the King was to take. This being steapes from his known affrighted the King, so that the's in that tender Age, he put on a Coat of Mail, to fight for the Coath of the Coath he should undergo the blame of having kept him confin'd. He therefore consulted with Peand notwithstanding King Peter had levy'd it three times, yet it was now granted to his Son Jaime, in the Year of Grace 1217. By these Means a sufficient Fund of Money was Furnished to supply the King's Wants, and raise Forces to quell any Insurrection.

CHAP. V.

Great disorders in Castile raised by the Family of Lara. Young King Henry killed by the fall of a Tile. Ferdinand Prince of Leon Juceedas his Mother Berengaria renouncing her right. Orders of S. Dominick, S. Francis, and La Merced instituted.

THE Enmity betwixt D. Alvaro de Lara, and Queen Berengaria, put the Kingdom into Confusion, and was the cause that many Murders, Robberies, and other Villanies were, committed. D Alvaro added one fraud to the perfecting of all his Projects. The King being at Maqueda, a Town not far from Toledo, Queen Berengaria, fent a Man privately to advertise him how assairs stood. D. Alvaro having notice of it, seized the Messenger, and Counterfeiting the Queen's Hand and Seal, produced Letters as from her directing the King to be Poisoned, and the more to credit his invention, caused the Messenger to be strangl'd. This impossure being known, incensed all Menagainst D. Alvaro, and the Inhabitants of Managainst D. queda had flain him, but that he withdrew with the King to Huete. Thither the Queen again fent one Roderick Gonzales de Valverde, to consult with the King, how he might make his escape to her. This Man also was taken, and sent Prisoner to Alarcon, but was not put to Death, for fear of the People. All the ftorm fell upon fuch Nobles as adhered to the Queen. The King kept his Lent at Valladolid, thence D. Alvaro, fent Forces to Besiege Montalegre, where was D. Suero Tellez. Giron, a Man of Note, well provided to defend himself. He had two Brothers Ferdiand Ruyz, and Alonfo Tellez, that might have relieved him, but would not out of respect to the King. D. Suero, being summon'd in the King's name, tho' he could long have held out, furrendred the Fort. After this the Country was wasted, and the break out King in Person sate down before Carrion. Thence he moved to Villalva. D. Alonso de War.

Sword, not without danger, being himfelf wounded, and many of his Servants kill'd. Neverthelefs he held out fo long, that the King was glad to quit that enterprize, and return to Palencia. At the same time the War was carry'd on against Roderick and Alvaro Cameros, who held the City Calaborra. The King going thither, foon made himself Master of that City; Garci Zapata the Governour, delivering up the Castle to him. After the taking of that City, they Marched against D. Lope de Haro, Lord of Biscay. That Country is Mountainous, and the People very true to their Lords, for which reason, the War was protracted, and the King return'd home. As foon as the King was gone, D. Lope entred his Terried, and the King return'd home. As ioon as the King was gone, D. Lope entred his Territories as far as Marcanda de Ebro, where Gonzalo, Brother to D. Alvaro, the Governour met him. They came not to a Battle, because Religious Persons interposed. Thus D. Gonzalo went away to the King, and D. Lope to Otella, where the Queen, was not without Apprehensial Belgaco has They are those who write that a Marines was went away to the rang, and D. Lope to Ostena, where the Queen, was not without Apprenen-fions that the King would Beffege her. There are those who, write, that a Maringe was treated of betwixt.the King of Cashile, and Saneba, the King of Lear's Daughter, by his first Wife, upon condition the should inherit the Crown, excluding Ferdinand, the Son of Queen Berengaria. But it is hard to find out the truth of these Affairs; for the History of those times is no less confused than were the times. In this, Historians agree, that the King being at play with others of his Age, in the Court of the Bishop's Palace, where he then lay, a Tile falling from the top of the House, broke his Head in such manner, that he dy'd 11 days The fairing from the top of the fronte, nowe his resum near manner, that he dy a 11 days after, on the 6th of June, in the Vear 1217. His Body was afterwards bury'd near his Brother Ferdinand, at Hislogas, by Burgos. He liv'd nor full it, years, Reign'd 2, and 9 months, they only the Portugue set took from the Moors a confiderable Town, call'd Mozzar de king of the Portugue set took from the Moors a confiderable Town, call'd Mozzar de king of the Moors and the Anispanie Tour the Formaguese book from the amount a communitative form, the factor are King of Sal. Matthew, Bishop of Lisbon, was the chief Contriver of this Enterprize, for he raised Cossile's considerable Forces, and permaded the Knights Templers to be affishing to him. But the Death. to the force confilted in 100 Sail of English, French and Flemings, who on their way to the Holy-Land touch'd at Lisbon, and were persuaded by that Bishop to put their hand to the Holy-Land toughed at Liston, and were permaded by that Billion to put their hand to the reducing of that Town. A Multitude of Moors from Sevil, Cordova, and other parts, coming to the Relief of that place, was overthrown, and 60000 of them were killed. The Battlew Strong in the 25th of September, and the place taken on the 18th of Odlober.

Henry, the late King, had two Silters, both elder than he. These were Blanch, Marry'd killed, to Luis, eldest Son of Philip Augustus, King of France, and Berengaria, who before he was Blanch and Santad Freigh had black before the was Blanch and Santad Freigh had black before the Moor Berengaria.

preimption to ask to be 1 utor to the new King. King Feramana was at that time 18 years of age, tho' some say but 18. Thus the posture of Affairs seem'd to threaten a War. The King and Queen went to Palladoid, a great and plentiful Town in Cassile, where the Corter, or Parliament met, and determin'd that Berengaria was the rightful Heires of the Crown, as had been twice declared whilst her Father lived. So Roderick the Archbishop, who says, she was the eldest Daughter, but other Authors are of another Opinion. The Queen here asuling themselves, and promising for the future a constant Fidelity, which they perform'd.

NowD. Alvaro consented that the dead King's Body, which till then, he kept at Tarriego, should be bury'd. The Queen and some Bishops accompanied it to Huelgas, where it was interr'd, as was said before. King Ferdinand, at the same time, besseg'd and took Munon, a strong Town, and then went with his Mother to Burgos, to hold the Cortes, or Parliament they had fummon-parted from hef Husband, Alonjo, King of Leon, brought him four Children, to wit, Ferdinand, Alonjo, Conflance and Berengaria. Blanch was the eldelt Sifter, and by Right, ought K. Henry to inherit, had not force, and the hatred of a Stranger taken place of Justice. Many of the of calific.

to inherit, had not force, and the hatred of a Stranger taken place of Justice. Many of the of Calillie. Nobility meeting where Queen Eerongaria then was, declared, the Crown to apperain to her. It was convenient that all things should be setted, before the King of Calillie. The convenient of the Ears of the King of Leon, lest he should pretend to that Crown, in Right of his Wife, tho' parted from her. Accordingly, Embassadors were sent to him, to request he would send his Son Ferdinand, to protech his Mother, which they obtain'd before ever that King had notice of the Death of King Henry. This was the casser to do, for that D. the Crown and distancing his his Name. Prince Ferdinand being come to Otella, where his Mother than the was, the made over her Right to the Crown to him. At Najara, under an Elim-tere, Right to the Crown to him. At Najara, under an Elm-tere, Right to the Crown to king his proposition of the Bishop, received him with great Joy and Magnificence.

City, at the perfusion of the Bitlop, received him with great Joy and Magnificence. That City, at the perfusion of the Bitlop, received him with great Joy and Magnificence. Then the went to Duenas, which that the Gates against him, but the Town being finall, and not King of strong, was entered by force. Here the Nobility began to treat of an Accommodation with Capitle.

The Family of Lara. D. Aloxov was not averse to it; but being used to Rule, he had the presumption to ask to be Tutor to the new King. King Ferdinand was at that time 18 years was the clear Daugnter, but other Authors are of another Opinion. The Queen here again refign dy her Right to the Crown, and her Son was the fecond time Proclaim'd King, in a great open place, in the Suburbs of that Town. Thence he was carry'd to the Cathedral to take the usual Oath of maintaining the Frivileges of the Subjects, and receive Homage of the Nobility. The King of Leon, his Father, offended that he had been so imposed upon, ient before his Brother Sancho, to invade Cashie, and followed himself soon after, doing much harm in of Leon the Territory of Campor. Queen Berengaria sent two Bishops to appear him, but to no purmasks war posses. D. Almara de Lazo seem'd to side with him, wheremon, the King areasa'd the Company upon his pole. D. Alvaro de Laro, feem'd to fide with him; whereupon, the King ravagd the County upon his try, and was in hopes to have taken Burgos, yet D. Lope de Haro, and others, made him son the draw back with more speed than he came. Segovia and Avila being before secured by D. Al. of Castile. ware, had not submitted to the new King; but now they sent Embassadors to the Queen, exed thither. After this, they took Lerma and Lara, all things submitting to the new King, D. Alvero except the Family of Lara and their Party, who had the boldness to take up at Herreruela, a de Laratae Town in the King's way as he was going to Palencia. Most of his Men quartered in the ken by the Town, and he in a Farm hard by. The King's Forces having Intilligence hereof, unexpected-King, and ly fell upon him, and tho' he endeavoured to defend himfelf, took him Prisoner. Here an fet at li-end might have been put to all the Troubles, but the King thought himself too secure. Thus D. Alvaro having delivered up to the King all the Towns that belong'd to the Crown, was not only fet at Liberty, but received into Favour. His Brother Ferdinand refuling to deliver Cafrostriz and Orejon, was permitted to hold them as the King's Lieutenant. This Peace was not lafting, for those Men being used to Rule, could not be content with a private Life, was neverating, for those men being used to Rule, count not be content. With a private Life, but gathering Forces, foolled the Country of Campos. King Ferdinand foon drove them out of his Dominions, and they fled to Leon, where they firred up that King, who was prepared. ring for it, to Invade Castile. Some Gentlemen of Castile broke into Leon, and that King coming down, Befieged them in Casselon, betwixt Salamanca and Medina del Campo. Men flocking on the one side to relieve, and, on the other, to press the Beseged, at last a Treaty D. Mouro, was set on foot, and a Truce concluded betwixt the Father and Son. D. Mouro de Lara. D. Ferdibeing at that time fick, caused himself to be carry'd on Mens Shoulders to the City Toro, and there dy'd, having at the time of his Death taken the Habit of Santiago, as was then used, to obtain the indulgencies granted to that Order. He was bury'd at Voles, the head Monastery of that Order. His Brother Ferdinand, who had fled to Africk, liv'd in a Town called Elbora, near Morocco, where he also ended his days, having taken the Habit of S. John. The Death of these turbulent Men raised the hopes of all Men, that a lasting Peace might now be concluded with Leon. Thus all were bent upon carrying on the Wars against the Moors; the Pope granted Indulgencies, great numbers of Men were raifed, rather in hopes of Plunder, than to get any Fardon of their Sins. They ransack'd all Estremadura, and laid Siege to Cageres, but were forc'd to quit it, by reason of the great Rains, which oblig'd them to break

Chap. VI.

der of S. Stituted.

up, and go into quarters, in the Year of our Lord 1218.

Whilf these Confusions reigned in Spain, the neighbouring Countries were no less consumded with intestine Brois. War is the Nursery of all fort of Vices, which now, consequently were at their full growth. In the midst of this darkness, God enlightned the World with and laMar- the example of many virtuous Men, who taught the way to Salvation. Neither wanted there and dama-ceed, for Re-many that followed them. Among them all, one of the chiefest, was the Holy Father S. Do-demption minick, born at Caleruela, betwirt Ofma and Aranda. He was first a Canon Regular, then laboured much to root out the Herefie of the Albigenses, as was said before, and Instituted the Holy Order of Preaching, confirmed by Pope Honorius. He Founded feveral Monasteries in Spain, and returning into Italy, dy'd at Bolonia. The same Year another Order was Instituted in Spain, called de la Merced. It was first thought of by Jaime, King of Aragon, and perfected by Peter Nolaicus, a Frenchman. This Order was Infittuted for the Redemption of Captives. Their Habit is white, as also their Hood; on the former, the Arms of Aragon. and a Cross in a red Field. Next was S. Francis, born at Assis in Italy, Founder of the Order of his Name, and S. Anthony of Padua, of the same Order. In Castile, the War was renewed against the Moors, at the instance of Roderick, Archbishop of Toledo. 20000 Men were gathered in the Year 1219. They plundred the Country, took some Places of no note, and laid Siege to Requena, but were forc'd to quit it. In fine, the Success was not answerable to the Preparations, for only a rich Booty was taken, and the Army diffmis'd.

CHAP. VI.

The Marriages of two Kings, Ferdinand of Castile, and Jayme of Aragons King Ferdinand quells many Commotions. Death of the Kings of France and Portugal.

Broils in

HIS Year of our Lord 1219. there hap'ned a great Famine and Mortality in Spain. At the same time Jayme, King of Aragon, was about removing his Uncle Sancho from the Government, but upon his promise of acting better for the suture, forgave him. The King, tho' but 11 Years of Age, began to give tokens of Valour, and take delight in Arms, and Martial Affairs. One Roderick de Lizana, a Man in great Power, was at variance with a Kinfman of his own, called Lope Albero, and of great Friends, they were become mortal Enemies. Roderick watching his opportunity, seizes his Adversary, and carries him Prisoner to his Castle of Lizana. The King commanded him to use no further Violence, but be content with what he had done, but he refused to obey. This so offended the King, that gathering a Body of Men at Huefa, he marched to Albero, a Town Lizana had possess himself of and in two days recover dit. Thence he came before the Castle of Lizana, the Patrimony of that rebellious Gentleman; and because the Garison refused to surrender caused a famous Engine to be brought from Huefea, which would caft 1 500 Stones in 24 Hours. With this the Wall was shaken, many Men killed, and the Garison obliged to surrender. Alboro was retored to his liberty, and his Adversary having lost the Castle, sled to Albarasin, where Peter Fernandez, de Asagra was his great Friend. Thence having according to the Custom of those times, in Writing, Renounced his Country and Allegiance, he intested the Borders of Aragon. The King flush'd with his former Success, marched to Albarazin, a small, but very strong Place, being encompassed with Rocks, and almost surrounded by the River Turia, commonly called Guadalaviar. Two Months in the heat of Summer, the King lay before it, and was forced at last to raise the Siege. Nevertheless, Peter Fernandez de Agagra, was soon after restored to the Kings savour. All the Nobility interceded for him, his own Services atter reitored 20, the Aings rayour. All the Nounity anterceases for him, his own Services were a great recommendation, and the King was willing to gain fo confiderable a Man. Their shings were done in Angen, in the Year 1220. In Califie the same Year, on S. Andrew's Day, the Marriage of King Ferdinand, with Beatries, Daughter to the late Emperor, Andrew's Day, the Califie and Service an peror, eveneue. Il. aiter four trounds detay it was concluded. In France the Bride was enbearie tertained by King Philip with great Liberality. Queen Berengaria, went as far as the BorDaughter dets of Bifcay, to receive her, and at the end of a whole Year fpent in this Negoriation, to the Emthey all arrived at Burgos, the place appointed for this Solemnity. Maurice Biftop of that City performed the Ceremony, and the day before had faid Mafs in his Pontificalibus, difficulty which the King Knighted himself, there being none worthy to perform that Act, as was the Custom of those times. This match prov'd fortunate in a numerous Issue, for they had Se-Collom of those times. This match prove a fortunate in a numerous flue, for they had seven Children, visc. Alonfo, Ferderick, Polity, Sancho, Emanuel, Ellenor who dy'd Young, His Mue, and Berengaria who was a Nun, in the Monastery of Huelgas near Burgos. At the same time and Berengaria who was a Nun, in the Monastery of Huelgas near Burgos. At the same time the Aragonians, desiring to secure the Succession of the Crown, sent Embassions to Queen Berengaria, to Treat of a match betwirt their King, and her Sister Ellenor. This Proposal being very advantagious to her, was easily accepted, and the Town of Agreda, on the Bordors of Cassis and Aragon, appointed to Celebrate the Nuptials. Queen Berengaria came first with her Sister, and soon after King Jaime, with a Noble retinue. The Marriage was Jaime K. Gelebrated in the Year 1221, yet the Bride, the King being yet very young, continued a Marries and Austria year and half after, as he himself relates in the Hiltory, he writ of his own Life. On Ellipor of the 20th of Single Backerich Archbishop of Taledo conservated the Church of S. Pomenty, in Cassis. Maid a year and hair atter, as he himiest relates in the History, he writ of his own Life. On Ellinov the 20th of June, Roderick Archbiflop of Toledo, confectated the Church of S. Romanus, in Calling the highest part of that City. Upon the 23d of November, was born King Ferdinand's Eldest 1222 Son, called Alonso. About the beginnig of December, a great Earthquake shook many Buildings, sand mighty Floods, and Winds following upon it, part of the Walls, and many House fell down. These things were the more terrible, because the City being high, and built Floods Romanus Roder Romanus Charlest Geographic Stock 416-4169. upon Rocks, feem'd the fafer against such disasters. upon Rocks, seem'd the sater against such disasters.

Navarre, Portugal, and Leon, now enjoy'd Peace. The Moors wasted themselves with Givil Wars. In Cassile and Aragon, there were some Commotions, but not considerable. Commo-Roderick Lord of Casteros, a Man. in great Power, confiding in his strength, presumed two tools in pillage the Country about him. Being summord by the King, to Answer for himself, he Cassile. Answer'd, be had taken the Cross, in Order to go to the War in the Holy-Land. This was a common excuse in those times, the Pope's among other priviledges, having granted, that such as wore the Cross, should not be Try'd before the Civil Magistrate, but in the Spirutual Courts. But that shift availed him nothing, for he was constrained to appear at Valladoid, whither the Courtwas remov'd from Burgas, and heing secured of many Crime the deal. Courts. But that inite availed nim nothing, for ne was contrained to appear at Palladolid, whither the Court was remov'd from Burgos, and being accused of many Crimes, he fied. He was attained, and his Estate Conficated. Yet being a refolute Man, he fortised himfelf, as the strong holds he had, wherefore to prevent a War, he was not only Pardon'd, but 14000 Duccats given him, to quit those Towns he held for the King. After this follow'd Two several party and the revolt. D. Gonzalo Nunc. de Lara, who only remained of the Three Brothers, ral Rebelparty added D. Gonzalo Perez. Lord of Molina, to invade the Neighbouring Country about lons que'd time, hoping by these troubles to be restord to his Country, for he was in Barbary, ever since the Death of his Brother Ferdinand, having gone thither with him. Some action there was, but not considerable, for the Lord of Molina, perceiving the danger he was in, begg'd pardon, and obtain'd it, through the intercession of Queen Berengaria. Thus D. Gonzalo de

Lara despairing of succees, went into Andaluzia, where among the Moors, at Baega he ended his Days, neither Godly nor Honourably. Such was the end of those Three Brothers, from whom is descended the Family of Manriquez, well known in Spain. It was now the Year from whom is descended the Family of Manriquez, well known in Spain. It was now the Year 1,222, when the King of Leon, gathering a great Army, as well of Soldiers in pay, as those the taking the Crofs, ferved upon their own expence, entred Estremadura, and laid siege to Gaerers. The Moors to raise the Siege, promised a great sum of Money, they expected out of Africk, but having obtained their ends, performed not, and we were not in a Condition then to force them. About this time Maurice an Englishman, and Bishop of Burgos, Cathedral faid the Foundation of the Cathedral of that City, and finish'd it. Many other Churches, of Burgos and Stately Buildings were erecked in several parts of Spain. Eleven Years before this, we built by now write of Roderick Archbishop of Toledo, built the great Church of Talavera. D. John an Englishman and En that and appropriate and experience of the Church. The King and the Queen his Mother, Liberally adorned those Churches, and by their example streed up the Prelates, to lay out the profits of their Benefies in the Service of the Church. Let us return to the Course of the History. In July dy'd

Roger Earl of Faux, his Son Roger Bernard succeeded him. In August following, Raymund

Earl of Toulouze, departed this Life, both favourers of the Herefie of the Albigenfes, and therefore excommunicated, for which reason the Son and Heir to the Earl of Toulouze, could never ob-lowing, at Montpelier.

Chap. VII.

Affairs of tain leave to bury his Father's Body in hollow'd ground. In Aragon, the Ring on the 21th Aragon of December, pardoned Gerard Viftount Cabrera, who during the troubles, had possessed himself by force of the Earldom of Orgal, spoiling Autombiasse of the Patrimony left him, by his Father Armengand. This was done upon Condition, he should stand to the Judgment, that should be given betwikt that Lady and him. Sancho Farl of Russilion, the King's Unkle, was shill Living. His Son Nuno governed that Country, with whom William of Moneada, Lord of Living. His Son Numo governed that Country, with whom without of Montada, Lord of Beam, tho' they were before great Friends, being offended, he entred the Lands of Rafflion, doing great harm. Numo not able to oppose him, had recourse to the King of Aragon, offering to stand to Arbitration, and make reparation of any damage should be laid to his charge. The King warrd Manuada to forbear violence, and stand to judgment, and he refuling, invaded his Lands so suriously, that he took from him 130 Towers and Castles. and the Town of Cervellon near Barcelona. The Castle of Moncada being strongly fortified and William himself in it, could not be so easily carry'd. This much in the Year 1223, in which on the 1 yth of July dy'd Philip King of France at Medun. His Son Luis VIII. Husthe Kings band to Blanch of Cafile, and Father to S. Luis succeeded him. The Year following, Alonfo of France and Form. II. Sirnamed, the Fat King of Portugal, deceased at Coimbra, and was buryed in the Monay and Form. He left Three Sons, Sancho, Sirnamed Capelo, his Successor, Alonfo who Marry'd Maud County. tels of Bologue in France, and Ferdinand Lord of Serpa, who Marry'd Saneba, the Daughter of Ferdinand de Lara. He also left one Daughter called Ellenor, Marryed to the King of Dacia, as the Histories of Portugal fay, I will not dispute the truth of it.

CHAP. VII.

King Ferdinand of Castile, his great success against the Moors. King Jaime of Aragon seized, by some Rebellious Nobles, makes his escape, and Commences War. against the Rebels.

Ferdinand THE Tumults in Castile being over, King Ferdinand granted a general Pardon. He of Castile War up-chose the Wisest and most Virtuous Persons, to commit the Government of the Cities to, and was a mortal Enemy to Hereticks, for some of the Albigenser, had crept into Spains.

These good qualities had gained him the Love of his Subjects, and he to improve it, resolved to make War upon the Moors. The People of Cuenca, Huete, Moya, and Alarcon underto make War upon the Moors. The People of Cuenca, Finere, 1904, and Anton Under-franding his design, Assembl'd together, and entring the Kingdom of Valencia, brought thence a rich Booty. On the other side, the King marched towards. Andaluzia, and when he had passed Sierra Morena Embassadors met him, from Mabbines King of Baeça, offering to surrender the City, and surring Provisions, and Money. Having signed Articles, the Army moved to Quejada, a Town of note, now in the Government of Casoria. At first the Inhabitants, relying on the strength of their Walls, defended themselves, but the place was taken by Assault, all that could bear Arms put to the Sword, and the rest to the number.

A Prospec of 7000 made Slaves. This slaughter was a Terror to others. It were tedious to relate troubles arising in Aragon, they could not then push on that undertaking. William of Moncada, Peter Abones, and Ferdinand, the Kings Unkle, had a consultation at Tabuste, where gant Moneada, Feer Momes, and Feranana, the Kings think, had a committed at "adole, where faire k. it was refolved to feize the King's Perfon, on pretence of removing evil Courielors, but in of Augent reality to make their own advantage of him. Moneada was offended for the Lands he had loft, Ferdinand, the a Monik, fill afpired to the Crown, and Abone tould not bear to be removed from the Government. To frengthen their party, they refolved to gain Name, Son to Prince Sancho Earl of Russillon. All things being this Order'd, they went to Augon, where the King was, and coming together upon him, advised him to go to Zaragosa, there to fettle the important affairs of the Kingdom. The King, the faw into their drift, was obtained by the fettle the important affairs of the Kingdom. The King, the faw into their drift, was obtained by the fettle the important affairs of the Kingdom. The King, the faw into their drift, was obtained by the Kingdom, and place at Zaragosa, and place do used upon him, that he might converse with, nor write to no Body. William Boy, and Peter Sancher.

Martel, were Captains of this Guard, and for the greater feculty, lay at Night by the Kingdom. Boy, and Peter Sancher.

Martel, were Captains of this Guard, and for the greater feculty, lay at Night by the Kingdom. The Kingdom is the fact of the fact of the Kingdom.

Particularly, he caused all that had been taken from William de Moncada, to he restored, and promised to pay him 20000 Ducats for Damages. Prince Fordinand Still kept the Government in his hands, and the King had no hopes of Relief, but in God. In Cassie all things ment, in his hands,; and the King bad no hopes of Relief, but in God. In Cassis all things increased prosperously. In the Year 12.25, as soon as Summer came on King Fordinanding-ing recruited his Army, entred Andalasia. The King of Bases relieved them with Provisions, and received them into the City. Andujar and Marior were taken, the last was given to the Kingston of Cassis of Cassis and Relief and Marior were taken, the last was given to the Kingston of the Compared by the Kingston of the Cassis of Cassis and the King departed from Zaragosa towards Tortosa, a City at the Mouth of Eso. He resolved to rid himself and the Kingdon of that Oppression; and The Kingdon of the Compared to the Cassis of the Cassis Thence he sent Circular Letters to funmon the Nobility to the City Teruel; in order to Indian vade Valencia. They look'd upon this as a Childish heat; yet some few Adgonians, and more vades vate Catalonians, came at the day appointed. With this small Body he broke in on that side lenia. where were before the liergones, and fate down before Penifeola, a strong place on a Rock. opposee to Majorca; Zeit, the King, was so terrified, that he sent to beg Peace, and agreed to pay the fifth part of the Revenues of Vulencia and Murcia. This done, the Aragonians reto pay the interpart of the revenues of ratesons and remota. This done, the rateonium ter-turn of to Terois, and thence to Rangoga. By the way, and village called Calamocha, they neet D. Peter de Alones, and his i Brother the Biftop, leading a Party, raifed at their own coff, to make an Incurion into Kalencia. The King would not have him proceed, because Kills the of the Peace he had made with the Moors; but Abours excused himself with the charge he had Relei Pebel Pebel Per at in raising those Men. Whereupon, the King endeavouring to have him apprehend. The Moors of the Was killed by the Soldiers. His death was for giverously referred, that except Calathe day of the south of the state was to get trouny referred, that except canaday, which continued Loyal to the King, all the other Cities declared for his Uncle Ferdinand. Fair means failing, the War broke out, and was continued in the Year 1226. This fame Year Luis, King of Erance, made War upon the Albigenses, and having taken Avignom them, dismantled it, that they might have no shelter there. He dy'd in November sol-

100 ting, at assumption.

The Domainon of the Moore in Spain was now going to decay, and King Ferdinand being Townstafentible of its, resolved to pulk on its ruin. Therefore he invaded their Teritories, took forme ken by the small places, and Besieged Rem, but could not take it, because, besides a strong Garison of Costilians. Lighteles. Assume Remer de Castro; thaving renounced his Country and Allegiance, was within with 160 perfidious Christians that followed him, This Alvaro, was Son to Ferdinand de Caliro, who dy'd at Morocca. Thence the King temoved to Priego, a Town for ftrong, that the Maors had carried all their Goods thinher for fecurity . Yet it was taken by Affault, and the region than the records the new processing the received states of Analut, and all, within put to the Sword, lexcept a few, who retired to the Caftle, and Capitulated to march away. Next, he fate down before Loxa, which was also taken by Storm, as was the Calle, all the Inhabitants flain; and the Walls demolified for a terror to other places. This had, fo good effect, that the People of Albambra; a ftrong place; not far from Grandad, abandoned, and fled to that City, leaving much Brovilion, and part of their Goods behind from These Reople were alligned the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from them it was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from them it was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the was called the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and from the upper part of the City to inhabit, and inhabit, and inhabit the upper part of the City to inhabit, and inhabit the upper part of the City to inhabit, and inhabit the upper part of the City to inhabit, and inhabit the upper part of the City to inhabit, and inhabit the upper part of the City to inhabit. 1891 Jennya, an amone mus nave it, from the red Earth 40 named in Analists... Our Forces purplied them to the City, definoing all the Gardens and Orchards about it. ... This boldness (a gerifick the Town) statchey fent to the for Peace, which was granted them, they, fetting a liberty 1900 Civilian Captines... D. Away de Cafro, who was one of their Emballadors) was here recorded to the Kingo I This done, the King took and raz'd Mantejo, as into Tell analysis, being too senote. and allocations of the Captines and the Captines of the Capti but it floor, after fell again into the hands of the Moors. Summer being frent, the King rethened to Toledon deaving the guard of the Frontiers, to the Mafter of Calatrava, and Almand Faren de Cafino, of Those Soldiers that remain'd in the Garifons of Andalucia, plundred and bijnst all the Gonety even to the Walls of Sevil. Abili; King of that Gity, amarched but Defeat of with a great Force to oppose them; but was routed, and 20000 of his Menkilled. Neverthe, the Moor. icis, the Meers 190k the Calife of Gares. My Meer King Fordinand, after tabel Winter was over, marched again into Andaltais; the King of Bases, met him with 1906 Hories, and a great Body of Foot, offering his Service; He granted that Christian Garisons should be put giant wony, or poor, our ring ins service; in he granted that Christian. Gathons mould be put into Sakutiera, Capilla and Burgalbinar, and delivered up the Caftle of Basea, to be field by, the Maftern faddriana. Capilla being a froing Town, the Inhabitants would not receive the Garifony and therefore King Ferdinand laid, Siege to it like had but a final LArmy, and therefore, leaving it there, word similed to raile more forces. Being in doubt whether towards on the Warrin Andaluzia, ich march into France to the Relief of his Aunt, Quben Blanch, who was flighted by the Nobility; because the King, her Sony was very young o two things happond: that made him lay and earlitheoughts of moving towards France. One, That his Amy had taken Gapika, and it was requifite to fedure it. The other, That his cover leads the list of the King of Backa, because he was so great a Friend to the Draftians, and attacher by the Gard-Ignin that Caftle was in danger ba All thefe things were afting in the Year at 227. in which the Foundation of the Cathedral of Toledo was alforlaid of Other Churches may exceed this in Giandenb of Building, but none in Ohriftendom can equal it in colly Ornaments, and great-ness of Revenue v On the 18th of July dy'd Pope Hohorius He. Gregory & increeded him.

TA THE GO STONALDER OF THE

Chap. VIII.

D. Lucas. At this time flourished D. Lucas. Bishop of Tay, famous for Virtue and Learning. He with Bishop of Bishop

CHAP. VIII.

The War with the Moors renewed. The Island of Majorca Conquered by the Aragonians. The Pope's Legate difanuls the Marriage of King Jayme, on account of Con-Sanguinity. Raymund, Earl of Toulouze, a Heretick reduc'd.

War re HE Citizens of Baeça Bessed the Castle, which, as has been aid, was in the heads newd with of the Christians. They, the tew in number, being surhished with Provisions, held the Moors out till King Ferdinand coming with a great Army; the Moors not only rassed the Siege, but by King Ferdinand abandoning the City, retired further into Andaluzia. D. Lope de Haro for his good Service, was appointed Governour of that City. Martor was given in charge to Mouro Perez de Cafire, and Tello de Menefes. Nothing more of note was done this Campaigns After the King's return to Toledo, D. Tello with the Fortes under his Commandy infade an Incursion as far as Sevil. To divert him, and at the Sollieitation of the Moors that abandoned Bases, the King oil. To divert him, and at the Sollieitation of the Moors: that abandoned Bayera, the King of Sevil advanced as far as that Citry, but finding the had not a Force to make head againft the Christians, he concluded a Peace, promising to pay 300000 Maraveds yearly. The Moors of Maraveds proclaimed one Abenbut, of the Blood Royal of Zaragora, and an utter Enemy to the Almohades, their King. A radio number of People reforted to him, he palliating his Ambition with Religion, and giving out, that all the loss affained, were a punishment for the new Opinions introduc'd by the Almohades. This was the posture of Affairs in Spains, in the Year 1228. In France, this same Year, Raymund, Earl of Evaloute, being Earlo four that any do with a punishment of the was reconciled to the Church, and obtained Peace uponished excellences. loure, He. hard pressed by King Luis, was reconciled to the Church, and obtained Peace upon those conditions, That he should labour to extirpate the Herefie of the Albigenses. That his Daughter should Marry one of the King's Brothers That if he dy'd without Issue, the Earldom of Let mound marry one of the sings products and had in early awarone line, the Earldom'of Toulouze flould be annex'd to the Crown of France. That's her flould maintain at his coff is College for infirmction of his Péople, and that he flould fervé five years in the Holy-Land. For fecurity of performance, he deliver'd up to the King five Caftles, and his Daughter's Now dy'd in Spain among other Perfons of note, D. Rampo, Rifliop of Painpland, of the Blod Royal of Navagre. Peter Ramirez, ficceeded him; in owhole time Pope Gregory IX. took that Church and its Prolates under his Protection, which was the fame as exempting em took that church and its Froites under mis froitetion, which weathers allowed exempting for froit the lyrifikition of the spaniffs Metropolitans.—In Angon, the King by Holicy reduced the fatious Nobility.—His UnderBerdinand, the ragain took into favour, upon condition file the fatious hould promife that the Configurators would quit the Engagements they had made to one shot there? D. Santo, Billoo of Baragoga, presist to have those? Towns that belongs to this Brown there Petro de Abouts, and had been feized by the King when the was that the Holica's the hold as the Refult was, "that their places is the held as the King the places in the held as th Pacifica-King's Lieutenant, mould remain to the King sobet what was his own by tihertance floud peanges Lecutenamy mount remain to the Aing 4 out what was my own by innersance mould be ireflored to the Bilhop. This scall Animothics feelf of posities but that the Failing of Cabiers was not yet whell d. Airembiaffe, the Daughter of Schibing and Ray of Airembiaffe, the Daughter of Schibing and Ray of Airembiaffe, and manded to be reflored to her. Father's Dominions according on flenteneds of the World and Cantlemen beings in poffelfion; made no account of that Lady apparitme. King who protected her, by force of Arms recovered many Towns, and among them Badaguer; the dried of that Ray apparent the straight of the Ray of the Cantlemen of the Ray of th Earldom. This done, he Married that Lady to Prince Peter of Fortugal, his Father's Confine German, who at that time was in Aragon, having fled from his own Country or Gerard Cabreray who loft the Earldom, took the Habit of the Templers. Some years after, this sook Public relicovered the Earldom of Urgel, the Lady Autembiasse dying without live a same bedomen, not Courteques and Aragon, at one time made War upon the Moors. The Aragoniams of walls ed their Affairs fluch, but the iCaffilians at prefent, made no great progress. Ashebits, the new King of the Moors, being possess of the Noble City of Granada, was tan Eye-foreits King Ferdinand, who marched with his Armyapiro the Walls of that City, and events as Alimeria. Yet nothing of moment was done, for the Moore would not hazard a Battle. "Thus The Con- this, and the following Year 1.22 of wore spent: Was this time the Knights of the Thursnick Ord der, who had ferved well in the Holy-Land, having Jolt Protemais, letturn'd into Germany Majorea re and fettled in Fuffing, where they grew to ftrong, as to Conquer Livonia, where they mainon by the tain'd themselves many years. Act us return to Aragon, where the King having appealed all times the subject of the Insidels with hap ned noments, now bearings thought about 100kd upon one Peter Martelle invited the King, to Dinnertin The Windows of his House look d upon one Peter Martelle invited the King, to Dinnertin fight. This gave occasion to diffourfe of the Sta, and thence, the island of Majoras was in fight.

that and the adjacent illands and PeterMartelle much commended their Fruitfulness, and magnizfied the damage done from thence on the Coafts of Catalonia. (Butta few days before, those

Moors had taken some Vessels of the Catalonians and Retabobikes, the Moor that took them,

Aragon.

when Restitution was demanded in the Name of Jayme, King of Aragon, proudly answer'd, What King is that you speak of? The Embassador reply'd, He is Son to that King of Aragon, Insolence of a Mor. What King is that you speak of: Ine Embaliador reply'd, see it is son to that King of Aragon who at Nabas de Toloia, overthew a mighty Army of your Nation. These Words so incensed the Moor, that he searce forbore offering Violence to the Embaliador; yet caused him immediately to depart the Island. This mov'd the King to undertake that War, and in order to it, held the Cortes, or Parliament, at Barcelona, where his design met with such Approbation, that they again gave him the Tax called Boyaticum, which used to be given but once in a Reign. He fent out his Orders for all the Forces to Rendezvous by the middle of May, at Salu, near Tarragona, where the Fleet was fitting, and all Provision making to pass over to Sain, near larragona, where the Fleet was fitting, and all Provition making to pais over to Majorca. At this time, John, Cardinalof, S. Sabina, came as the Pope's Legate to Aragon; the King went to meet him at Calastayad. Thither reforted Zeit, King of Valencia, expelled his Kingdom by a Moor, called Zaen. His love to the Christians, and a report that he delign'd to be Converted, brought this disafter upon him, for which reasons the King resolv'd Aragon. to protect and restore him, which he afterwards perform'd. The Legate's Business was to examine whether the Marriage of the Vice were well at the had there of the Notice of the Vice were well. examine whether the Marriage of the King were valid; tho' he had then a Son by the Queen, the way declared null, by reason of Consanguinity, ye so, that the Son should inherit the Crown. The Queen went away to her Sifter Berengaria, yet her Jointure was not taken away, and she carry'd with her many Jewels and other Riches.

After this, the King went to Tarragona, where he spent the Summer, preparing all things for the Enterprize in hand. All Necessaries being in a readiness, he set Sail in September. His Fleet consisted of 135 Vessels, whereof 25 great Ships, 12 Galleys, the rest Brigantines and small Vessels, to carry Horses. The Land Forces were 1,5000 Foot, and 1,500 Horse. In fight of Majorca, a sudden Storm The Lapar Porces were 15000 Foot, and 1500 Fiorne. In fight of majorca, a judgen Storm put the whole Fleet in great danger, but that ceafing, they arrived all in fafety. Majorca is Majorca figure, the four Angles pointing to the four parts of the World. In the Weft fide, is the defiribed. pactic whole rect in great usings, our that craining, they arrived an interty. Imagerica is inappressionable for the four Angles pointing to the four parts of the World. In the Weff is the described. Port Palumbaria, and opposite to it, the Island Dragonera. Cape Salima looks towards the South, and in the mid-way betwixt it and the Port, is seated the principal City, called as well as the Island, Majorca. The Capes Piedra and S. Pincent, point to the East and North. Near Cape Piedra, is a small Town, but fase Harbour, called Palencia, formerly a Roman Colony. The King would have entred this Port, but the contrary Winds forc'd him to Palumbaria, 30 Miles distant from that City. The Admiral Galley, in which the King was, entred the Port first, and after it, all the Fleet, not one Vessel being lost. A Multitude of Moors opposed their landing, which obligd them to pass on to the Port S. Poncia, where, notwithstanding all resistance, they gain'd the Shore. Some Skirmishes hap'ned, in which, king being once taken, the rest of the Island would soon be reduc'd. The Mooris King encamp'd Jayane on Mount Portopi, in sight of the City, with a great Body of Men, and laid an Ambush among the Rocks and Woods. His design took effect, the Christians marching as if no Enemy had been near, and the Moors seeing them in disorder, charg'd furiously. Among many others, William de Moorada, Viscount of Bearn, and Raymund de Moors cane down from the Hill to second their Companions, and the Christians were in great danger, but the King's Valour fecond their Companions, and the Christians were in great danger, but the King's Valour and Fortune, overcame all difficulties. His Men encouraged by his example, put the Infidels and rottene, overteame an uniformies. This men encouraged by his example, put the inmension of fifth, and forc'd their Camp, yet purfu'd no farther, because the City was near. They The distance of the dista Encamp'd in ight of it, and immediately fell to work, nxing their Engines, and making their gonians approaches. The Ditch, tho' very deep and wide, was foon fill'd. Many Sallies were made rout the by the Moors, but for the moft part, they return'd with loss. At length the Christians Majorean, lodg'd themselves under the Wall, and undermin'd four Towers, which they propped with Timber, then setting Fire to it, all those Towers fell, and left a wide Breach. This mov'd the Inhabitants to treat of a Surrender, upon condition, to be transported into Africk with their Goods. Some were for admitting this offer, others cry'd out for Revenge of so many Gentlemen as had been loss. Dispair made the Infidels surious, informed, that many on our Gentlemen as had been lost. Dispair made the Insidels surious, insomuch, that many on our Gentlemen as nad occurrent. Delipan made the innotes in low, another, the many addiderepented they had opposed their surrender. An Affault must be given, and many advised to do it by Night; but the King to avoid the confusion that is common in the dark, drew out by break of day, in order to storm, causing all the Avenues to be guarded, that none of the Enemy might cscape. Three times the Sign was given to fall on, and the Soldires stirred not, till the King calling upon them, as it were wak'd them out of a heavy sleep.

Then with a terrible shout they gave the Assault. The Moors with great Courage ran to meet I net with a terrine mout they gave the Anault. I ne Moors with great Courage ran to meet the Danger, but being over-power'd and born down, the City was entred, and plundred, and the People put to the Sword. The Moorifh King was drawn out from a private place, where storm, he lay hid, and King Jayme took him by the Beard, having fworth fo to do, yet comforted him with good words and promifes. After taking the City, the Caftle foon furrendred, he was the course of the course where was found a Son of the King's 13 years of age, who was afterwards Baptiz'd by the Name of D. Jayme, and had an Estate given him, which was the Town of Gotor, in the Kingdom of Valencia, whence his Successors, Gentlemen of Note in that Country, take their Name: Majorca was taken on the last day of December preceeding the Year 1230. This City was made an Episcopal See, notwithstanding the Canons of Barcelona pretended a Right to it, but could make no good proof. All the rest of the sland was easily brought under, which done, most of the Soldiers return'd home, and the King to Catalonia. This Year the Order of Mercela, Inflituted some time before, was Consirm'd by Pope Gregory 1X. as appears by his Bull dated at Peroza, in Tuscany, the 17th of January.

The History of SPAIN.

Book XIII.

Chap. IX.

CHAP. IX.

Alonso, King of Leon, Defeats the Moors, takes Merida and Badajoz, and dies. Crowns of Castile and Leon united under Ferdinand. Sancho, King of Navarre, dies, Theobald succeeds him. Interviews of several Kings.

King of Leon,overthrows the Moors. and takes

Hilst the Forces of Aragon Conquer'd Majorca, Alonso King of Leon again entred the Territories of the Moors, and took the Town of Caseres, in Estremadura, where he had before been repulsed. This Success encouraged him to Befiege Merida, a great City, once the chiefest in those parts. Abenbut, the Moorish King, thinking to establish a Reputation, marched to relieve that place. King Alonso was much inferiour to him in number, and therefore being dubious what was best to be done, he held a Council of War, in which, most were for drawing off. Yet Honour prevailing, the King refolved to give Battle, and accordingly drew up his Army. The Mors were not backward, and the Signal being given, both Parties charged with great refolution. Long the Fight continued very bloody, but at length, the Valour of the Christians overcame the number of Infidels. This Victory and Slaughter, were fo great, that many of the neighbouring Towns were abandon'd by the Inhabitants. It was reported, that the Apostle S. James, and other Saints, were feen in this Fight encouraging the Christians; as also that at Zamora, S. Jidorus; and others, had appeared, as preparing togo aid the Faithful. But who can affert the truth of this? Great victories often cause any fort of Miracles to be believed. After this Descat, of this? Great victories often cause any lort of Miracles to be benered. After this Defeat, no other hopes of relief remaining, Merida was furrendred. Badajoz, a City on the Borders of Portugal, Estremadura and Andaluzia, also submitted. King Alonso, who was the nint. The death of that Name, the Season being unfit for Action, dismissed his Army, resolving as soon as of Monsol, the Weather would permit, to carry on the War with greater Forces. Death prevented his King of Designs, which cut him off at Sarria, about the end of this Year, as he was going to pay his Vows at Santiago. His Body was bury'd in that Church. By D. Terefa, his first Wife; he had two Daughters, Sancha and Dulcis; by Queen Berengaria, he left Ferdinand, already King of Cafile, and Alonfo, Lord of Molina, and Berengaria, Marry'd to John, King of Jerujalem. He had besides, a Bastard, Son, call'd Roderick de Leon. He Reign'd 42 years, was Valiant in War, and a great Lover of Justice; wherefore he assigned Salaries to the Judges,

Son Ferdinand was fuch, that in his Will he appointed his two Daughters to fucced him. King Ferdinand had Befieged Jaon, and not being able to carry it, was remov'd to Daralberga, where the News of his Fathers's Death was brought to him. He was very intent upon the War of Andaluzia; but the necessity of securing the Crown of Leon, drew him away. At Orgaz, five League from Toledo, his Mother met him, and they resolv'd with all speed to move towards Leon. All things there prov'd easier than had been imagined. Most places Union of received him with great Joy and Tokens of Love. He was Crown'd at Toro, which had first the Crowns of by Letters fent to invite him. Some great Men fided with the Princesses, which might have Castlie and proved of dangerous Confequence, find not the Prelates interposed, and reduc'd them to submit to him, who had the most right. Terefa, Mother to the Princesses, came out of Portugal to their aid, but considering it was best to compound with her Son-in-law, she met Queen gai to their aid, but configering it was beit to compound with her son-in-iaw, he met Queen Berengaria at Valencia, in Galicia, where it was agreed the Princefles should quit their claim to the Crown, and in lieu thereof, the King should allow them 30000 Ducats a year for Life. This done, the King set forwards towards Valencia, by the way at Bonavente, the Princesse met him. To the Archbishop of Toledo, for his indefatigable Services the King gave met nim. 10 the Archbinop of 101600, for his indetatigate services the King gave the Town of Cascata in that Country. Thus the Kingdom of Leon was again united to Casta file, after it had been separated from it 6.3 Years, and this Union has continu'd to our days.

Rebellion D. Sancho, King of Navarre, who in his Youth, was call'd the Strong, liv'd now retir'd inNavarre in the Castle of Tudela, without attending to the Government. This his retirement, gave that they might take no Bribes, and punished them severely, if faulty. His hatred to his

his Subjects opportunity to mutiny, which Pamplona in particular, did feveral times. Besides, Lope Diaz de Haro, Lord of Biscay, entred the Territories of Navarre, and took some Towns and Castles. King Ferdinand was supposed to have some hand in this Affair. Yet the work was, that Theobald, Earl of Champagne, the King's Nephew and Heir, impatient of delay, contrived with the Nobility to Depose him. King Sancho no way able to oppose so many Encountrived with the Nobility to Depose him. King Sancho no way able to oppose so many Encountrived with the Nobility to Depose him. mies, fent to invite Jayne, King of Aragon, newly return'd from the Conquet of Majora, to the Castle of Tudela, there to consult about Assairs of the highest nature. King Jayne be-Interview ing then at Zaragoca, fet out immediately, as was defired, without asking any further fecu-of the rity for his Perion. Both the Kings expressed much affection at their meeting, and the Ce-kings of remonies being over, he of Navarre complain'd of the evil Practices of his Nephew Theobald, Kings of of the ambition of King Ferdinand. At the same time, he declar'd he had resolved to make use of the King of Aragon for regaining what he had lost about Bistay, and in return, would immediately adopt him his Son and Succeffor King Jayme accepted of the Adoption, which was there instantly perform'd, and for the better colour, it was reciprocal, so that whoever dy'd first, the other was his Heir. On the 4th of April this Contract was light, fich of the Nohill, the other was his field. On the Act of April this contract was highest field of the No-bility of both Kingdoms as were prefent, Confirming it. Befides, the Navarrois lent the A-ragonian a great Sum of Money towards the charge of the War, and had fome Towns given him in pawn for the same. News being brought that the King of Tunez was equipping a great Flect to recover Majorca, King Jayme was forced to make short, and return to Zarage, At this time dy'd the Lady Autembiasse, and appointed her Husband her Heir, whence ensu'd new Troubles, for D. Posse de Catrera would not quit the old Pretensions of his Faeniud new Irondies, for D. Ponce de Caurra would not quit the old Pretenhous of his Family. The King prevented the mifchiefs that might have follow'd, giving the Earldom to the new Pretender, except the City Balaguer, which he kept himself; and to the Prince he gave the Command of the Island Majorca, for Life. This done, he fail'd over to Majorca, and understanding the King of Tunez, could not come that Year, return'd home. King Ferming and Index Change of the and understanding the King of Yunez could not come that Year, return a nome. King eerdinand being taken up in setling his new Kingdom, gave the Charge of carrying on the War against the Moors, to Roderick, Archbishop of Toledo, and for his encouragement, assign'd him the Town of Questad, if he could retake it from the Infields, who of late had possessed them.

The Archbishop having troubled all the Country the Archbishop having troubled all the Country the 10wn of Quajaaa, it necould retake it from one innocts, who or late had policiled themetic felves of it. As foon as Summer came on, the Archifthop having fpoiled all the Country, but allo Chenica, Chevado the Archifthop, in Mis Niebla, and other Towns of lefs Note thereabouts. This was the Original of the Go-Moort, vernment of Casorla, which for many Years was in the hands of the Archifthops of Toledo, vernment of Cacolla, which for many Years was in the hands of the Archolinops of Ioledo, who appointed a Lieutenant to act there in their Name. Questade being again taken by the Moors, and recovered by King Ferdmand, remain'd in Propriety to the Kings of Cashie. About this time, John, King of Jerusalem, having lost most of his Kingdom, went into Italy. He was by birth, a Frenchman, and now folicited the Christian Princes to afflish him in reco-vering his Dominions. In the mean time he Marry'd his only Daughter Violante, to the Emberon Cashield of Cashi peror Frederick II. who for that reason, took the Title of King of Jerusalem, from him his into Spatie.

Successors, the Kings of Sicily had it, and so it was continued in the Kings of Aragon, and of Succellors, the Kings of Sicily had it, and so it was continued in the Kings of Aragon, and of Spain fuccessively. After this Marriage, King John came into Spain, and landed at Barcelona, in the Year 1232. was nobly entertained by the King of Aragon, the same by King Ferdinand, in his way to Santiago, whither he was going to pay his Vows. At his return, he Marded Berengaria, the Daughter of the King of Cafilie, then went back into Italy, hoping with the Succours of Christendom to conquer the Holy-Land, but the Success answered not his expectation. The Annals of Toledo say, his coming into Spain was eight Years before this time. Having lost all hopes of regaining his Kingdom, by the Pope's Command, he took upon him the charge of the Empire of Confuntinople, during the Minority of the Emperor Baldwin, who in Recompence for his good Services, afterwards Marry'd Mary, his Daughter, by the Lady Berengaria: In Cafilie, the Soldiers of the Military Orders joyning with the Bishop of The Lady Berengaria: In Cafilie, the Soldiers of the Military Orders joyning with the Bishop of The Y. King Jayne went over the third time to Majorca, and Conquer'd the Island Minorca nova and Friica, one of the Pituiss, was subdu'd the following Year 1324. by and at the Charge of Tuiss con William, Bishop of Taragona, and therefore that Island was added to his Bishoprick. This guered. William, Bishop of Tartagona, and therefore that Island was added to his Bishoprick. This quered. William, Blinop of Taragona, and therefore that Illand was added to his Bishoprick. This querca, Year, on the 7th of Jayil, dy'd at Tudela, King Sando of Navarre, 4 His Body was bury'd stando year and Crown'd him in May, at Pamplona. An Author writes, that the King of Aragon wink-distance and Crown'd him in May, at Pamplona. An Author writes, that the King of Aragon wink-dist, perhaps out of scruple of Conscience, as having no Right; but the War he made Technical afterwards, shows; it was rather the necessity of the times that made him lie fill for the pre-Navare. fent, till he was in a better condition to pursue his Pretensions, tho there feem'd to be little hopes, because the people bore him no Affection. He was besides, taken up with the thoughts of Martying Violante, Daughter to the King of Hungary, which King Berdinand labourd to hinder, hoping to reconcile him to his Aunt Ellenor, from whom he was Divorc'd some Years before. Embassadors had passed betwirt them upon this subject; but nothing being concluded, the two Kings had a meeting at Huerta, on the Borders of both Kingdoms, upon the Castile and right day of Spetember. Nothing was done as to the main Business, for strong reasons the Arta-Cannea gonian urged. But besides the Towns she had before, he gave to Queen Ellenor, Herizat to meet, live in, and condescended that for her satisfaction, her son might stay with her till he grew. bigger. This Lady spent her Time and Revenue in Pious Works. Particularly, near Almaonget. This Lawy point that I me and recommend to the second in Flow words. I alternately, near commendant own coff, the founded a Monaftery of Premofrateries, an Order not long before inflituted by Humbertus, a Native of Lorrain. The Name of Premofrateries, these Religious took from the first Monastery they had, which was built in the Wood of Premofre.

ÇHAP.

CHAP. X.

The beginning, progress, and end of the War against Cordova, with the Conquest of that noble City.

A Fter the interview between the two Kings of Capille and Aragon, they both return'd to the War against the Moors. The Aragonians incouraged by their Success in Majora, private Perfon flould commence that War before him; therefore he took that Town from D. Blafeo, and in lieu of it gave him the Town of Saftago. This is the original of the Earls of Saftago, a Noble Family in that Kingdom. After the taking of Morella, another Town called Burriana, having held out a Siege of two Months, furrendred to the King, upon promife of Life and Liberty; 7000. Men and Women march'd out of the place. This loss was fo much the more considerable to the Moors, for that the Territory of those two Towns maintained many other Caffles which were now necessitated to Surrender. Among these were Penisola, Cassellon, and Bunol. D. Ximeno de Urrea took Alcalaten, which was

and the Annual Community of Palencia, had entred the Territories make War of Angen, burning and defroying many Towns and Villages, as far as Amoplia and Tortofa, upon the were refolved to invade Valencia. The Caffitians advance a full in Andaluzia. The diffractions that were among the Infidels promised faccess to the Christians; for they were at that ons that were among the inides promisd funces to the Cirilians, for they were at that time divided into the Factions of Aimodules, Aimonavides, Beamarines, and Benadalodes, Such Confiuson was among them, that the no Body had lent a hand to pull it down, their Kingdom must have fallen of it felf. In Catalonia the Tax called Bovaticum was again rais'd. Many Incursions were made into the Territories of the Moors, particularly D. Blajco de Alagon, took from them the strong Town of Morella. It somewhat offended the King that any thele were Penjeola, Cajtellon, and Busol. D. Almino as Orrea took Almanaen, with was places tatherefore given to him and his Heirs, the most noble Family of the Crreas, and continues to ken bythe Christians Masora, the Moors stying without offering to resist. King Ferdinand having, settled Masora, the Moors stying without offering to resist. King Ferdinand having, settled the Kingdom of Leon, left the Queen there to gain the affections of those Feople; and gather'd a powerful Army in Castile to prosecute the War in Indulusia; which had been of late inter-powerful Army in Cashie to protecute the War in Andaluzia; which had been of late interrupted. He laid Siege to Obeda, which being a great-City, and but a League distant from Baeza, was very strong, well Garrison'd, and stor'd with Provisions; yet the Kings refolution made all easy, and it was surrendred to him, the Inhabitants Articling only for Life, On the other side the Military Orders took Medelim, Assages and Santacraz, This Joy had fome allay of trouble for the Death of the Queen, who departed this Life at Toro, and was bury'd at Huelgar. Her Body was afterwards translated to Sevill, where she lies by her Husband, with whom she had lived lovingly. Obeda being taken, the King return'd to Toledo, resolving again for Leon, to secure the affections of those people. The Garrison of Obeda making an lacuston into the Traitive of Obedaa took some of those all Souldiers.

resolving again for Leon, to secure the ancertons of those people. The Cartinol of Tobeda making an Incursion into the Tertitory of Cordova, took fome of those old Souldiers, that are appointed to keep Garrisons, whom the Moors call Almogaraves. These gave Intelligence, Part of the that then was a six opportunity to take Cardova. That part of the Shburb called Asarquia, CityCords-joins to the Wall, and those fort of Souldiers had the guard of it, who suffer d the Christians we taken to Scale the Wall, and enter the city, on the 23d of December, in the Year 1235. It was but by a hands of Garll numbers that undertable the resolution for the control of the cont to Scale the Wall, and enter the City, on the 23d of December, in the Year 1235. It was but a finall number that undertook this great action, therefore they only polles'd them Cives of a few Towers, and fecur'd the Gate of Mattos, hoping they should soon be relieved; and therefore sent Messengers to all parts, to carry the News of what they had done, and the danger they were in, if not speedily succoured. As soon as it was day the Moors prepared to expel those new Guests. D. Advaro Perez de Castro, whose Loyalty was very remarkable, since his reduction was the first that brought relief to Cordova from Mattos, where he was at that time. Scarce had the King received the News, when he set forwards from Leon, and the distance was great, and the season unsit for action, he march'd with what Men he could gather, leaving Orders every where for the Gentry to follow him. By the way he summon'd the Castle of Bienauerenias the Commander whereof cave the King Provisions, and promis'd the Castle of Bienquerencia; the Commander whereof gave the King Provisions, and promis'd dinand the Carrender, if Cordova were taken. Therefore leaving that place the King advancd, and fecure the found many Soldiers reforted to him, from all parts, yet not enough to compole a fufficient Conquete Army. King Alenbut was then ready at Ecija, with a great power. D. Lorenzo Suarce, besoftcordeva: ing Banished, followed that King. The Moor knew not whether to relieve Cordova, or Vathereia first, both places being in equal Danger, and equally pressing for aid. The King of Aragon had attempted Cullera, but was obliged to forbear, because there were no stones near to cast out of the Engines, however the Castle of Moncada was taken, and demolished for a Terror to the Insidels. King Abushut, being advertised of all, and not knowing which way to turn, fent D. Lorenço Suarez to get intelligence. He desiring to return into favour with King Ferdinand, underhand gave him notice of the posture of affairs, and having received instructions, how to behave himself, went back to the Moorifo King, and with feign'd tokens of fear, magnified the Forces of King Ferdinand. This Artifice diverted him from thinking of the relief of Cordova, to the great joy of the Christians, which was increased by the News brought a few days after, that he had been killed by his own People at Almeria. His Death fell out very fortunately for us, because he was an Active, Wife, and Valiant Prince, and might have contributed much towards Re-establishing the Dominion of the Moors in

Chap. XI.

Cordova, is feated almost in the midst of Andaluzia, in a Plain, at the Foot of Sierra Morena. Descripti-On the left hand it is Watered by the River Guadalquivir, which having received many other on of Cor-Streams is there Navigable. The City lying along the Bank of the River makes a long Souare. dova. Whilst the Moors possessed it, much of its Beauty was lost, they being not at all curious in Architecture. Formerly it had 5 Gates now 7. The Suburbs are as great as a good City, especially that we said was called Assayauia, on the Bank of the River, without the East Gate, which is encompassed with a Wall, and joins to the City. The King's Palace is on the West fide, shut up within a particular Wall. On the River is a Beautiful Bridge, the Foot whereof reaches to the Cathedral. It was formerly called Colonia Patricia, because of the great number of Nobility that liv'd there. All the Country about is Fruitful and Pleasant, and even the Mountains bear Vines, Olive, and other forts of Trees. On the Mountains about a League from the City, is a Monaftery of Fryars of S. Hierome, where there are fill to be feen some ruins of the Ancient Cordova, either Built, or repaired by Marcus Marculus, when he was Prætor in Spain. Part of the Walls of this City being already possessed by the Christians, Thesiego. King Ferdinand laid Siege to the rest, in the Year of Grace 1236. The Moors being numerous, and expecting relief, defended themselves with much Bravery. Many Bloody Skirmishes hap'ned in the very Streets. Some time was spent in this manner, till Fame, and some Prifoners they took, informed the Besieged, that Abenhut King of Granada was killed, and D. Lorengo Suarez had returned to the Christians, and lay with them before the Town. Thus City surall hopes of relief being taken away, they refolv'd to furrender, and after much time fpent rendred. an opes of tener boung taken away, they receive a countender, and after much time spent in Treating, obtained no better Conditions, than to have leave to depart, where every Man pleafed. The Town was delivered upon the 29th day of June, being the Feaft of St. Man pleased, Inc 1 own was delivered upon the 29th day or June, being the realt of St. Peter, and St. Paul, and immediately the Crofs, and Royal Standard were fet up, in the Steeple of the great Mosque, which was Confected by several Bishops, who followed the Arms. F. Lope, a Monk of Fitero, near Pisurga, was the first Bishop of that See. Because the Moors 260 Years before, had caused the Bells from Santiago in Galicia, to be frought to this City, on the Shoulders of the Christians, he now caused them to be carryed-back, in the fame manner by Moors. All the Infidels departing, the City was left defolate, which oblatine manner by woors. All the innoise departing, the city was left deloiate, which obliged the King to grant extraordinary Priviledges, to fuch as would come and inhabit there. Great numbers reforted, to whom Lands and Houfes were given. Along de Menejes was appointed Governour, and D. Alovaro de Caffro General of the Frontiers. To his other Titles the King added, that of King of Cordova and Baega. At this time the Epifcopal See of Calaborra, was translated to St. Domingo de la Calpada, but those two Cities disputing the right; they were at length both made Bishopricks.

CHAP. XI.

A Moorish King Baptized. Description of Valencia, its Siege and surrender to the King of Aragon, who is Wounded before it. Theobald, King of Navarre goes with others to the Holy War.

THE King of Aragon ceafed not to prefs the Moors of the Kingdom of Valencia. Zeit A Moorifo their King was Banished thence, and being well affected to the Christian Religion, was at length Baptized, by the Name of Vincent. This was done privately, that the Moors might not know it, he fill entertaining hopes of recovering his Kingdoms. His Conversion had been foretold by two Fryars, John and Peter, whom for that reason, he caused to be put to Death. D. Sambo Abones Archbishop of Zaragosa, laboured to have him Marry, because his Life was scandalous, he indulging his former Libertinism. His Wife's Name was Dominga Lopez of Zaragosa. By her he had Alda Hernandez, Marry'd to Blasco Ximnerii, ord Arenos, who inherited many other Towns of his Father-in-Law, and from him came the Family of Arenos. In Prosecution of his design. the King of Aragon was defeated the Territory of mily of Acnos. In Profecution of his design, the King of Argon wasted the Territory of Exerica, burning the ripe Corn on the Ground. Bernard William the King's Unkle, by the Mother's side, was appointed General of the Frontiers to oppose the Moors, he being Famous Mother's fide, was appointed General of the Frontiers to oppose the Moors, he being Famous for Martial exploits. In Olibber following, the Cortes, or Parliament was held at Mongon, Siege of where it was resolved to carry on the War, and Bessege Valencia. It was also determined, Valencia that a certain Coin called Jaquesa, which had much mixture of Brass, should not be called in, resolved because it would be a great loss to those who had any quantity of it. On this account they ordered that every House should pay to the King one Maraveds in Seven Vers. Bernard William repaired the Castle called Poyo de S. Maria, destroy'd by the Moors, and kept a good Garrison in t... Zacar, King of Valencia resolved to Bessege this Castle, with 600 Horse and 40000 Foot.

The Christian the pothing could be Number draw out to Fishe them in the Field, and were The Christians, the nothing equal in Number, drew out to Fight them in the Field, and were reduced to the utmost peril, but at length, their Valour overcame the Multitude, and the Infidels were put to flight. It was given out, that St. George affilted the Christians' in that Dd 3

Fight. When success is beyond expectation. Men are apt to attribute it to Miracle. It is al-

Chap. 1.

fo faid, an Image of Our Lady was found under the Bell in the Castle, to which the Neighbouring People erected a Church. This Battle was fought in the Month of Angul of the Year 1237. King Jaime hearing of the Victory, and being informed, tho' it proved a falle report, that the Moors were returning with a greater force, he with more Courage than differetion, having in his Company only 130 Horfe, advanced beyond Poyo and Monvieldo,
There a firong Squadron of Monife Horfe met him, under the Command of D. Artal de AlaThe King gon, Son to D. Blafeo, then in Banishment. The danger was great, but the King's good Forof Artagon tune, and above all God's Special Providence brought him off, for the Moors marched off an-Inc. and above all God's Special Providence brought him on, for the moors marched on another way, without offering to charge the Christians. It was very dangerous, and expensive to keep the Castle of Poyo, which lay near Valencia, and far from Argon, but the King's Unkle, who Commanded there was dead, which was the cause that the King set out from Zarago, where he had passed the Winter, and exposed himself to that danger. He bestow'd on William Entença, Son to the deceased, all the honours and places of Truth his Father had possessed, which were justly due to him, for that Gentlemans good Service. Berengarius Entença, was made Governour of the Castle, notwithstanding the most were for abandoning of it, yet the King would not consent, because it stood opportunely to forward the taking of Valencia. Understanding the Soldiers designed to make their escape thence, and forsake it, he gathered them in the Chapel of the Castle, and there upon the Altar, took an Oath Solemnly, that he would never return home without being Mafter of Valencia. This his Refolution to encourag'd the Soldiers, that they willingly flayed there. and so difinaryd the Insidels, that their King Zeen sent to sue for Peace, offering to deliver up several Forts, and pay a considerable Yearly Tibute. Yet the King, contrary to the advice of most Men, resused these conditions, not doubting of the Conquest of that City. He was the more incouraged, for that Almenara, Betera, Bulla, and other places were furrended to him. With the King at this time, there were only 1000 foot and 360 Horfe, a final force for fo great an undertaking. With this handful, he durft past the River Guadalaviar, and lay Siege to that great and populous City. He intrenched himself in the Mid way, between Valencia and the Grao, which is the shore so called, for that it rises as it were by Steps, a Mile Descripti. distant from each place. Valencia is seated in that part of Spain formerly called Tarraconensis. Defering the first control and parts of the first control and the control and the first control and for first control and first contro in some places cut in various shapes, in others, so intermixing and intangling their boughs, they make a continued Arbour, always Green and Pleasant. Such were the Elysian Fields, seign by the Poets. Such the beauty of this City, which may compare with the pleasantest in Europe. On the left fide it is Watered by River Guadalaviar, which runs between the -Wall and the Royal Palace, and on the East joins to the City by a Bridge. Many finall Chanels are drawn from this River to Water the Orchards. Three Miles off, near the Sea, is Albufera, a place not very wholesome, but where great plenty of fish is taken. At that time the Walls of the Town were round, containing 1000 paces in Circumference, and had Four Gates. The first called Bogielana towards the South East; the second Baldina towards the North; the third Templaia (fo called of a Church Built there by the Templers) towards the East; the fourth Xaraena, betwixt which and Boatelana, the King incamped, that being the best place for Battery, by reason of a fort of Angle the Wall made there. Great dilgence was used by the Christians, in fixing their Enginew for Battery. King Zaen, the first day before they could intrench, drew out to give Battle, but the Christians would not be drawn to Fight, because their Number was yet small, and supplies came in daily to them. Many Prelates and other Persons of note were at the Siege. A Body of Frenchmen, came under the Command of Aymilius Bishop of Narbonne, also succours out of England, drawn by the Fame of the enterprize. In several Skirmishes the Enemies were worsted, which made them more cautious how they Sally'd. The Christians lodging themselves under the Walls, them more cautious how they saily d. The Chrittans lodging themieves under the Walls, in The feveral places, lay'd open, as much of them as for one Man to pais. Mean while the Befieged were not idle. Peter Rodriguez de Agagra and Ximeno de Urrea, at the fame time took the Town of Cilla, on the other fide of Valentia. Yet the Moors gain'd Courage at the Arrival of the King of Timez, his Fleet confifting of 18 Ships and Gallies. This availed them nothing, for the African understanding a Fleet was furnishing against them at Tortofa, Siled some without we allowing the Cill's contained for the failed away without relieving the City, or taking Penifection on that Coaft as they had defigned. Now the Befieged began to diffmay, not only for this difappointment, but also because Frovisions began to grow scarce, and they feared greater want. On the contary, the Christian Camp was full of hopes, and had plenty of all things, notwithstanding they were so increased, that now they amounted to score Foot, and note Horse. The King gave

The King great demonstrations, as well of his Valour as Conduct, and acted the part not only of a General, but of a Soldier upon occasion, insomuch, that approaching too near the Wall, he was wounded with a dart in the forehead. For five days he could not go abroad. On the 13th of June, this Year 1238. he received Embassadors in the Camp from the Pope, and Cities of Lombardy, offering to put themselves into his hands, if he would assist them against the Emperor Frederick II. By the advice of his Queen Violante, who had great power over him, and by whom he had a Daughter of the same Name, he accepted of their offers, but could the Emperor was reconciled to the Pope, tho' but fuperficially. The Befieged having loft all hopes of Relief, refolved to furrender. Haliabata, the King's Favourite, and after him, Abulbamaler, his Nephew, were fent out to treat. After many Debates, both Parties being eager to come to a conclusion, the Gapitulation was sign'd, and the principal Articles were. That the Moorifb King deliver up the City Valencia, and all other Towns and Castles on this side the River Xucar. That the Moors be safely conduct- Valencia ed to Cullera and Denia. That they have liberty to carry along with them as much Gold, deliverd ed to Childra and Denna. A nat they have inderty to carry along with order as a Truce be up to the silver, Jewels, or any other Goods, as they can, without being fearched. That a Truce be up to the inviolably observed betwirt the two Kings for the Term of 8 Years. Five days were allow. Christians inviolably observed betwirt the two Kings for the Term of 8 Years. Five days were allowed for the performance of Articles, but the Moors before the time was expired, quitted the City to the number of 90000 Men, Women and Children. They march'd thro' a Lane made of the Christian Army. On Michaelmass-Eve, the Victors took possession of that City and Kingdom, Consecrated the Churches, and chose Ferrer de S. Martin, some say he was ty and Kingdom, Confectated the Churches, and choic Ferrer de S. Martin, iome lay he was a Dominican, the first Bishop. People reforted to inhabit there, chiefly out of Catalonia, from Tarragona, Giroma and Tortofa: The Country about the City was equally divided a mong the Prelates, Gentlemen, and Councils of such Cities as were affifting in carrying on the Siege. Also the Knights of S. John, and the Templers had their Quota, To 380 Horse, was assigned a particular share, on account that they should defend the Frontiers, 100 of 'em doing Duty every four Months. Because the City was not naturally strong, and the Walls were batter'd, the King raised a new Wall larger than the former, and square, with 12 Gates, 3 towards each quarter of the World. New Laws were also given to the Inhabitants. Thus Zaen, the Moorish King, lost the Kingdom he had wrongfully Usurped; for no Power ampliftly acquired can be lafting. Great was the Joy for this Success throughout all Spain, and it was the greater, for that Carce any Gentleman of Note was lost in the Expedition. Only D. Artid & Alagon, who feeing the Moors go down the Wind, had return'd to his Allegiance, and together with Raymund Folch, Viscount of Cardona, took Filena, in a skirmish with the Moors, near Saix, was killed with a Stone. This was the conclusion of the Conquest of Falencia. While the Aragonians were buse in this War, the Navarrois committed not the least Hostility. Theobald, Earl of Champagne, was their King, as has been said above. This King being ambitious of Honour, and zealous of God's Glory, and his Kingdom enjoying Peace, agreed with the Earls, Henry of Bari, Peter of Berteigne, and Aymerick of Montfort, Theobald, to go over with their Forces to the Holy-Land. All things being in a readiness on their King of to go over with their forces to the Holy-Land. All things being in a readiness on their King of part, the Genoeser sailed sending a Fleet to transport them. They took their Journey by Maware, Land thro Germany, Hungary, and Timeisa, and passed over the Streight of Constantinople, largest in In Cilicia, about the Passes of Mount Taurus, they were in great danger, being attackly by the Holy vast numbers of Turks, so that caree the third part of the Army that set out, reach'd the City Antioch, and those that did, sick and worn out with their long march. Their Success in Palefine, was answerable to the beginning, very few return'd home. The French Historians place this Expedition of King Theobald, 10 Years later, when S. Luis, their King, went to the Holy-Land. But that cannot be, because Roderick the Archbishop, mentions this Action of Theobald, and his History reaches but five Years after the Conquest of Valencia; besides that, he was dead before S. Luis fet out for the Holy-War.

THE History of SPAIN.

The Thirteenth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The taking of many Towns by the Christians. The Kingdom of Murcia surrendred to King Ferdinand. His Marriage. Salamanca made an University. 20000 Moors defeated by the Christians.

HE two Kings of Spain, Jayme and Ferdinand, tho they were before famous for Peace for their Valour, and other Vertues, became now much more Renown'd, for the ta- fometime, king of Cordova and Valencia. Several Embassies were sent them by Foreign Princes, Congratulating their Success, and exhorting them to root out the Moors, now rethreed almost to extremity. Nevertheless, the War ceased for some time, for the King of Aragon had made a Truce, and soon after, went to Montpelier. King Ferdinand was Celebrating his Nuptials at Burgos. Queen Berengaria his Mother, had concluded a Match for prating his nuprials at surgot. Queen surengaria his product, had concluded a match for him, with the Lady Joanna, Daughter of Simon, Earl of Poisiers, and Adeloyde his Wife, Grandchild of Luie, King of France, and Elizabeth, the Daughter of Alonfo the Emperor. By her the King had Islue, Ferdinand, Sirnamed Poisiers, Luis and Ellenor, After the Solemnities were performed, both King and Queeff clook a Progress throw the Kingdoms of Leon and Cashile. He used to give access to all Ment, and hear their Business, not only in publick Audiences, but even in his Closet, which gain'd him the affections of all his People. Being come to Toledo, he fent a great Sum of Money to Cordova, to relieve the Inhabitants, who fuffer'd want, the Country about them lying ftill wafte. A Bushel of Wheat was worth 12 Maravedies, and a Bushel of Barly 4, which in that Age was an extrodinary rate. In the following Year 1239, we find there were two Eclypses of the Sun, one on the 3d of June, being Friday, when the Sun at Noon day was so darkned, as if it had been night. The other on the 25th of the same Month, as Bernard Guido, an Aragonian Historian writes. But there must be some mistake in this last, for there could not be a Conjunction of the Sum and Moon at that time, and nothing else can cause an Eclypse of the Sun. Pliny affirms, the Eclypse of the Moon cannot return till the 5th Month, and that of the Sun till the 7th. That Year was unlucky to Cashie for the Death of two Notable Men. These were D. Lope de Ha-1239. Eclypfes.

Chap. II.

Bravery ro, to whom succeeded his Son James, and D. Alvaro de Castro, who made good our Party in of a Wo-Andaluzia. This Gentleman perceiving the evil posture of Affairs, went to Toledo to acquaint the King with it; and being upon his return, dy'd by the way at Orgaz. During his absence 50 Soldiers, under the Command of Alonso de Meneses, D. Alvaro's Kinsman, went out of the Castle of Mario, to plunder. Albama, chosen King of Arjona, in the place of Abenbut, having notice of that advantage, laid Siege to the Castle. D. Alvaro's Lady caus'd all the Women to Arm themselves, and cast Stones from the Wall, making show as if they had been Soldiers. Thus they defended themselves till D. Alonso and his Company having had been Soldiers. Thus they defended themselves till D. Alonjo and his Company having Intelligence of their danger, return'd, and being encourag'd by one James Perez. de Vargas, of Toledo, sought their way thro't he Enemy. They being entred, the Moorifh King railed the Siege for want of Provisions. The loss of those two great Men not a little perplex'd the King, who upon it set out from Burgos, travelling with all speed towards Cordova. With him went his two Sons, Alonjo and Ferdinand, Princes excellently qualified, and now at age to bear Arms. At the same time, King Jayme went to Montpellier to try if he could raise some Money in that City, which he stood in need of, no less than he of Castile; sedies, he design'd to quiet that City, then divided into Factions, and punish the Mutiniers. He compassed both his Designs. Albamar, the Moorish King, to his other Dominions, by the consent of the People joyn'd the samous City Granada, and this was the beginning of that Kingdom, which lasted till the age of our Grandsathers. At Murcia, the Citizens in hatred to Albamar, chose for their King one-summed, which gave occasion to the mortal Ennity that continu'd many Years betwist those two Cities. The Moor of Andalucia tired out the Christians with falle Alarms betwixt those two Cities. The Moors of Andaluzia tired out the Christians with false Alarms and Ambushes, but would never come to a Battle: On the contrary, the King's Forces took.

Several from them many Towns, Cities and Cassles. Among these were of Note, Exista, Essay, Ess ing, tome of them were given to the singuist of banding the lolles put the Moors in a tree and Nobles, who ferv'd the King in those Expeditions. These losses put the Moors in the tothe greatest consternation imaginable. One of the Family of the Minibades, whose Name is not known, came now over out of Africk, hoping to raile himfelf a Kingdom, by revenging the harm done his Nation by the Christians, but by some Policy he was taken, tho' the manner, or place where it was done, is not set down in any History. King Ferdinand having concluded a Truce for one Year, with Albamar, King of Granada, after he had fpent 13 Months in this Expedition, return'd now to Toledo, where his Wife and Mother receiv'd him with great Joy for his many Victories. Thence he went to Burgos, and translated the University, Salamanca of Palencia, Founded by his Grandfather King Alonjo, to Salamanca. He was induced to made an make this change by the conveniency of this City for Schollars, the River Tormes coming up University University to it, and supplying it with all Necessaries. Besides this, he had another reason, which was to oblige the Kingdom of Leon, within whose Limits Salamanca stands. His Father Alonso. King of Leon, had there laid some small Foundation of an University, that his Subjects might not be obliged to go for Learning to Castile. Now thro' the Bounty of his Son Ferdinand, and afterwards of his Grandson Alonso, a great Favourer of Learning, it so increased, that no place in the World affords greater Rewards of Learning, or has better Salaries for the Profesiors of Arts and Sciences. D. James de Haro, Lord of Biscay, about this time Revolted twice, the cause not known, the goodness of King Ferdinand, and care of his Son Alonso, still reduc'd him, bestowing greater Favours on him than before. Respect was had to the Services of his Ancestors, and it was of evil consequence to be impleyed in Civil: Broils, when there was so fair an opportunity of Extirpating the Moors. These things hap ned in the Year of our Lord 1240. The same Year, in the King's absence, the Garison of Valencia, under the Command of William de Aguillon, and other Men of Note, plundred the Territory of Xaiva, conditions bolledo by furprize, and beliefd the Caftle of Cipo, which stands on the Mountains, and is an Inlet to a delightful and pleasant Plain. 2000 Moors came to the Relief of it, who charg'd the Christians with great Resolution; but were overthrown; and put to flight. After this Victory the Castle was taken, and demolished. At the King's return, the Moors complained of this breach of Truce, and Reparation was made them. No fooner did that Truce expire, but the King entring their Country, took the Castle of Bayren, seated in a Valley that bears Sugar and Rice, as does all the Territory of Gandia. Villena was also taken, and Cafillon, but Xativa, the Befig'd, held out. In the midft of these Actions, the King was called away to Affairs of greater moment in France.

1240 20000 Moors over-

Each having feeled his Kingdom in the best manner time would permit. The King of Ar-TheKing. Each having tetted his Kingdom in the peit manner time would permit. In exing of Arthurstand ragon prepared to depart into France, and he of Cafile into Andaluzia. A dangerous Sickness dom of detain'd Ring Ferdinand, at Rurgos. Alonso, his eldest. Son, was fent before to carry on the delivered delivered to the control of the control o detain'd King Ferdmand, at furges. Alonjo, in scient. Son, was tent before to carry on the delivered War, becaule the Truce was almost expired, and the Frontiers must be Reliev'd, lest they up by the should be in danger. Alonjo being come to Toledo, there mee thim Emballadors from Haddel, Moers. King of Murcia, offering him that Kingdom upon these Conditions. That Huddel being taken into the Protection of the Kings of Cashie, should by them be defended from all Domestick and Foreign Enemies, and particularly, against Albamar, King of Granada, whom of himself he was not able to withstand. That during his Life, he should enjoy half the Revenimier ne was not able to withintain.

I had during us line, he mound enjoy man the Revenues of that Crown. These Conditions were very advantagious. It was requisite to use diligence, less the minds of those Poople should alter, for the Moors are yety inconstant. Therefore the Prince set out after the Emballadors, without staying to consult his Father. At his Arrival all places submitting, he put Garilons into them, particularly into the Cathle of Murcia. Revenues were align'd all the chief of the Moors. Only the Cities Lorea, formerly call'd Eliorota, Cartagena and Mula, would not submit to the Christians. It was tedious to force them, and Prince Alonso had not a sufficient Power; therefore he returned tedious to force them, and Prince Alonyo nad not a funcient Power; therefore he returned with all fiped towards his Father, who being recover'd, was come as far as Toledo, and defiring to gain the Affectious of the Moors, reloiv'd to vifit that new Kingdom. There is extants Grant fign'd by the King of Murcia, to the Church of S. Many of Valpuesta. Thence the King, and his Son Alonso, were called away upon urgent Ashirs to Burgos. At the fame time, Berengaria, the King's Daughter, became a Nun at Huelgas. Jame, King of Aragon, having recommended the Government of his Kingdom to D. Ximeno, Bistop of Targona, was a superior of Alonson and Progressive come to this time for the commendation. This the Facility of Targona, was now at Mospelier. Thither the Earls of Toslovice and Provence, came to visit him, on pretence of Friendship, but in reality, to treat about a Divorce betwire the Earl of Toslovice, and his Wife Saucha, King, James Anne. The reason was, because Joanna, that Earl's and his Wite Saneba, King Jaymes Aunt. Ine reason was, because Joanna, that Earl's Daughter, and Heirefs, he having no slike Male, would convey her Father's Dommions to her King of Husband, Allonfo, Earl of Pointers, Brother to Luis, King of France. Ring Jayme, left to confiderable a Principality should fall into the hands of the French, fought some colour for a winds of the the Earl of Toulouse Marrying again might have slike Male. This was contrained to the Agreement we mention'd above, was made at Paris. Therefore, in order to gainf the Ring of the oppose the power of France, their three Princes concluded a League on the 5th of June, he king of the Year 1241. The same Year dy'd Pope Gregory IX. Celesin IV. succeeded him, and he dying within 17 days. Introcent IV. was chosen, after the Chair had been void fix Months, In the time of these Popes, Hugo, a Dominican, and Cardinal, famous for his great Learning, writ large Commentaries on the Holy Scripture. He was the first that attempted to write the Concordance of the Bible, a Work almost infinite, yet he compassed it by the help of soo Monks. The like was afterwards imitated by the Hebrews and Greeks, and is a great help to Learned Men.

CHAP. II.

A Defeat of the Christians, who recover, and are successful, take Jaen and many other Places. The King of Granada made Tributary. King Sancho II. of Portugal, Expell'd his Kingdom by his Rebellious Subjects.

THE War in Andajucia was not profecuted with any Vigour, King Ferdinand being full A Defeat of other cares. Roderick Alfonfo of Leon, the King's Baftard Brother, making an In-ofthe curson into the Territory of Grandad, was deteated by the Moors. Several Persons of Note, Christians and a great number of Soldiers being kill'd in the Action. This Success encouraged the Mowish King to waste our Frontiers, no Body offering to oppose him. King Ferdinand being advertized hereof, order'd his Son Alonso speedily to secure the Kingdom of Murcia, refolving himself to march for Andaluzia. Being come to Andujar, he ravaged the Territories of Arjona and Jam, then in the hands of the Moors. Arjona foon after, was taken from them, and other Towns of less note in that Neighbourhood. Thence the King sent his Brother, Alonfo, Lord of Molina, with a good Army, who plundred all the Lands of Granada, and encamped before the City. King Ferdinand believing the Moors would gather from all parts to relieve that place, marched thither with greater Forces. A mighty Army of infidels was there put to the Rout. Yet the City could not be taken, for that it was ftrongly Fortified, well provided, and had a great Multitude of Inhabitants. Besides, that at the

The History of SPAIN. Book XIII. The Christane time Advice was brought, that the Gazules, a powerful Party among the Moors, had finan five Belieged Martos. This mov'd the King to fend his Brother Alonfo, and the Master of Calacterial arraya, before, with part of the Army to relieve the Belieged, but, the Moors had not for their coming. Thus much the King thought might fuffice for the present, and therefore he returned to Cordova, with his Army entire, in the Year 1242. Prince, Alonfo his Son, was no left fortunate in Murcia, and of the three Cities we faid before would not fubmit, he took Mula by force and then wasted all the Lands of Carthagena and Lorca in such manner, that they mediforce, and then wasted all the Lands of Caribagena and Lorca in such manner, that they meditated a Surrender. To Sancho Maçuelos, for his good Service in this War, the Prince gave the Town of Alcaudete, near Bugoria. From him descends the Noble Family of the Earls of Alcaudete, in Cashie. Winter drawing on, the King went to Populo, where his Mother expected him, to treat about important Affairs, sine being now near the end of her days. He spent 45 days with her in that Town, after which, the Queen returned to Toledo, and the King to Andaxar, at the beginning of the Year 1243. The Queen Consort remained at Cordova. All the Landsvabout Jan and Alcala, Sirnamed Bengayde, were wasted by the King in Person. Illo a was burnt, and he warched in sight of the City Granada. D. Pelayo Cortea, Nather of Santiago. Who had dive proof service nuter Prince Alwass. in Person. Illora was burnt, and he marched in fight of the City Grandal. D. Pelayo Cortea, Master of Santiagy, who had done good service under Prince Alayso, in Murcia, came now to Andaluzia, and persuaded the King to lay Siege to Jan, which had been often attempted, and always without Success. Great difficulties seem'd to obstruct this undertaking, as the greatness of the Garison, plenty of Provisions within, and natural strength of the Place, Jaco City which hindred the applying of Engines for battery. That City is seated at the side of a trag-described, gy Mountain, stretching out in length betwixt the East and South, not so broad as long, is plentifully supply'd with Water of several Springs, and the River Guadalquior runs three Leagues distant from it. It was stored with all Necessaries, and well Garison'd, besides its natural strength: Pelayus's Constancy prevailed beyond all these difficulties. All things Besieged. natural trength; Feldjur's Contrancy prevaled beyond all their dimensional trength; Feldjur's Contrancy prevaled beyond all their dimensional descriptions and the dimensional trength, and no advance made. It fell out that the Faction of the Orfimeles, at Cranada, Mittiny'd, which brought that King into great danger of loling life Kingdom and Life. In this condition no Refuge was left him, but among the Christians; wherefore having obtain'd a Pais, he came to the Camp of King Ferdinand. He offered to ferve him faithfully, if he would take him into his Protection, and Fordinand. He offered to ferve him faithfully, if he would take him into his Protection, and in token of fubmillion, kiffed his haid. A League and Friendfhip was established betwixt them upon the following Articles. That Yaen be immediately delivered. That the Revenue of the Kingdom of Granada be equally divided betwixt the two Kings; it was then valued at 17050c Ducats a Year. That the Mooriful King, as Homager, be cobliged, when summoned, to come to the Cortes, or Parliament. That this League be Offensive and Desensive. Thus the Treaty being concluded, the City was surrendred, and the King entred in soliem. Procession. He caused the Walls to be Repaired, the Church to be Consecrated, and made the City a Bishoprick. Authors do not agreeabout the time when this City was taken, the most Learned affirm, it was in the Year 1243. The Annals of Toledo sty three Years later. The Siege lasted eight Months, and our Men kept the Field, tho' the Wigter prov'd verybard. Here Roderick the Archbishop of Toledo concludes his-History, and says it was the 33d Year he had enjoy'd that Dignity: The following Year there were Tumilts betwixt the Catalonians and Aragonians, each lide pretending that Lerida was within their Limits. The Aragonians said, their Borders extended to the River Sgre, and the Catalonians affirm'd that the River Cinea.

Discord in their Borders extended to the River Segre, and the Catalonians affirm'd that the River Cinga Discord in their Border's extended to the New Segre, and the Caratonians aming at that the River Cinga Argonand parted those Dominions. King Jayme was more inclinable to the Catalonian defigning to Alonfo, his eldest Son, and the Principality of Catalonia to Peter, whom he lov'd most, tho the youngest, born of Wiolante, his second Wife.

In sine, the case being put to Arbitration, the King gave Judgment for the Catalonians, to whom he assigned all the Country betwixt the Rivers Segre and Cinga. This resolution of dividing his Kingdom, offended not only Prince Alonfo, but most of the Nobility of Argonal Catalonians, and the Catalonians, the Catalonians and Cingal Rivers Segre and Cingal Rivers Segre and Cingal Rivers Segre and Cingal Rivers Segre and Cingal Rivers River aud Catalonia. Upon this the Prince withdrew to Calatayud, with fuch as were of his party, the chief whereof, were Ferdinand the King's Uncle, Abbot of Montaragon, D. Peter Rodriguez. de Aragon, Peter Infante of Portugal, and other Persons of both Nations, who disliked the King Sun. Portugal was now in an Uproar, and full of Tumults, Sanevo II. Cantu Capeno, of the two of For-form of his Cap, then Reigning, at the first Govern'd not altogether ill, for we find he negal ex-made War upon the Insidels, and gave Mertola, and other Towns, taken from them, to the pelled the Knights of Santiago. In other respects, he was of so easie a nature, it almost came to be an Knigdom Instantion. Montia his Queen, and Daughter to Lope de Haro, Lord of Biscay, had so in-Rebellious tirely gain'd the ascendant over him, that she seem'd to be King, and he only the Instrument of her Will. Her Favourites were of the worfer fort, and at their will Honours were be-flow'd, Crimes pardon'd, and Punishments inflicted. This prov'd the King's ruin, for the Noblity offended to see the Government in the Hands of mean People, first endeavoured to have the King Divore'd, upon account of Confanguinity, and the Queen's Barrenness. The business was mov'd to the Pope, and to the King, who was Confesencious enough, yet it availed not; it being hard to prevail with the Pope, and the King being so in love with the Queen, that the People said, Sbe bad bewitch'd bim. But love is Witchcraft enough of its felf. King Sancho had a younger Brother, called Alonfo, Marry'd to the Countefs of Bologne, in France. The Nobility fent the Bishops of Braga and Coimbra, to Pope Innocent, who then held a General Council at Lyons, in France, to obtain his Confent for Deposing of their King, General neid a General Council at Lyons, in France, to obtain his Content for Deposing of their King, General and Enthroning his Brother; but the Pope could not be brought to it, only granted that A. Concil at Innfo should take charge of the Government. D. Alonfo having first been with the Pope, at Lyons. Paris took an Oath, that he would have regard, above all things, to the Publick Good, then went into Portugal. It was no difficult matter to seize upon the Government, the Nobility being all for him; yet many Troubles ensued, in which Ferdinand, and Alonfo his Son, Kings of Castile, bore a part. At first, King Sancho withdrew into Galicia, whither the Queen had before fied. Afterwards he went to Toledo, to King Alonfo, then Reigning, hoping to regain his Kingdom with the Forces of Cafile. But his Brother Alonfo prevented him, by offering to put away his Wife, and Mary Beatrix, Bastard Daughter to King Alonfo; and moreover, to do him Homage, and pay Tribute for the Kingdom of Portugal, as had been done Originally. Interest bore down Honour, and the Pope declared the first Marriage void. Thus the Nuptials were Celebrated. Certain Towns near the Mouth of the River Guadiana, Thus the Nuptuals were Celebrated. Certain 1 owns near the Mouth of the Kiver Ouaaiana, taken by the Castilians, which the Portugules pretended to belong to their Conquest, were given in Dower. Hence some believe the Kings of Portugal took occasion to add an Orle of Castles to their former Arms. King Sanebo having lost all hopes of regalning his Kingdom, spent the rest of his days at Toledo, living upon Revenues assigned him by the King of Castle. After his Death he was Honourably Buryd in the Casthedral, near to Along the Emperor. Authors do not agree about the time of his Death, some say it was 13 years after this we Authors do not agree about the time of his Death, some lay it was 13 years after this we now write of, others but 3, and that he Reigned 34 years. At the time that King Sancho King Sancho (king Sancho King Sanc was granted, and a little concinued occurrence needed and the Benegers for that time. Freitas was Freitas being come to Toledo, and understanding the truth, caused the King's Tomb to be o-the Name pen'd, and put the Keys of the City into his Hands, saying, My Sovereign Lord, and King, of this ubbill I thought you liv'd, I endured all Miseries, eat Hides, drank Vrine, and encouraged the loyal Go-Tompsmen to do the like. I have done all that could be expelled of a Loyal and dutiful Subjest. Now vernour. you are dead, I deliver up the Keys to you, which is my last Duty, and with your leave, mid advise the Citizens, since they have discharged their Duty, that they submit to your Brother Alonso. An example of Loyalty that well deserves eternal praise.

CHAP. III.

The beginning of the War against Sevil. Aragon under a general Interdict. The Siege and Surrender of Sevil, Carmona, and several other Places.

THE League made with the King of Granada, put King Ferdinand in hopes of subduing Ferdinand Sevil. 500 Light-Horse were sent before, under the Command of the King of Granada, of Cashile to waste the Lands of Carmona, formerly a considerable Town. Alcala Guadayra, thro' that prepares to water the Lands of Carmona, formerly a confiderable 1 own. Audia Guadayra, throe that prepares Rings perfuafions, furrendred. Thence a good Body marched towards Sevil, and fired the to beliege ripe Corn, the Vines, Olive-trees, and all the Country-Houses. D. Pelayo Correa, Mafter Sevil. of Santiago, Commanded this Party. Another under the Ring of Granada, and Master of Calatrava, did the like harm in the Territory of Xerex. King Ferdinand himself was at Alcala Guadayra, providing all Necessaries that the War might be carry'd on before the Enemy had time to gather strength. Now dy'd Queen Berengaria, the sings Mother, and soon after Roderick, Archbishop of Toledo. As to the Year Authors vary, some say it was 1245, others 1247, and this agrees with the Inscription upon his Tomb. The Queen was very ancient; the Archbishop, besides his great Age, was worn with continual Labour, and had been lastly at the Council of Lyons, among other things to reduce the Aragonians to submit to the Jurishing to submit to the Jurishing to submit to sub diction of the See of Toledo. The Prelates of that Country in a Provincial Synod held at Valencia, had Decreed, that the Archbishop of Toledo should not have his Cross carry'd before him in that Province, and Interdicted any Town that should permit him to do it. D. Roderick happening to be there, continued to have his Crofs carry'd as usual, for which, D. Peter de Alvalete, the chief Fomenter of that Contention, declar'd him Excommunicate. They had recourse to Pope Gregory IX. who gave Judgment in favour of Toledo. Yet the Aragonians not submitting, D. Roderick now undertook this Journey to secure his Prerogative. He dy'd in France, being upon his way home. His Body was brought into Spain, and bury'd at Huerta, a Monastery of Benardine Monks, on the Borders of Aragon. Near to the HighAltar is to be feen his Sepulchre, with an Inscription in unpolish'd Latin suitable to that time, to this effect, Birth Navarre gave, Castile me bred, and Paris taught,

His Body dy'd, but the fame of his Vertue will last for ever. John II. of that Name, by some called of Medina, fince-geded him in the Archbishoprick. About the same time dy'd Raymund, Earl of Providee, leaving sour Daughters, Magaret Marry'd to S. Luis, King of France, Ellenor, to Henry, King of England, Sancha, to Richard, the Brother of the said Henry, and

Chap. III.

Belieged

Beatrix, to Charles, Earl of Anjou. This Earl, tho' his Wife was the youngest, by the affi-Rance of King Luis, and confent of that People, inherited the Dominions of his Father-in-law. Mean while King Ferdinand staid at Cordova, resolving to lay close Siege to Sevil. He sent Raymund Boniface, a Native of Burgos, and well versed in Maritime Assairs, to sir out a Fleet in Bifcay, that Country being ftor'd with Wood, and the People good Sea-men. whilft the Fleet was providing, the King laid Siege to Carmona, in the Year 1246. or thereabouts. The Town was well Fortified, had a strong Garison, and plenty of Provisions, for which reasons, it could not be entred, yet it submitted to pay down a great Sum of Money, and a Yearly Tribute for the future. Constantina, Reyna, Lora, Cantillana, and Guillena, were all taken, some by Assault, others surrendred; Reyna was given to the Knights of Santiago. all taken, tome by Allanit, others intremered; Keyna was given to the Kinghts of Sammago, Constantina, to the Council of the City Cordova, and Lora, to the Knights of S. John. All things succeeded prosperously, only it was fear'd less the King of Aragon should be some hindrance to the Assars of Cassile; for that King was displeased with Prince Alonso, upon pretence that he did not keep within the Limits assign'd by agreement, to the Conquest of each Crown. It was fear'd this might come to a Breach, and therefore some Persons employ'd to adjust these Matters, sought means to reconcile all differences. Nothing appear'd more effectual than a Match betwixtPrince. Alonso and Violante, King Jayme's Daughter, which might be advantagious to both Kingdoms. This was no fooner proposed, than agreed to by both Parties, and the Marriage was Celebrated with all Magnificence, at Valladolid, in the Month of ties, and the Marriage was Celebrated with all Magnintence, at Vauadona, in the Molth of November. King Ferdinand was not prefent at the Seleminity, being wholly bent upon the Siege of Sevil; for now Raymund Boniface, with a Fleet of 13 Sail, had Coasted about by Cape Finisterre, and lay before the Mouth of the River Guadalquivir, where he Vanquish the Enemies Navy. The Moor of Tangier and Getta, fitted out a Fleet of 20 Ships and Galleys for the Relief of Sevil, and meeting with our Squadron, there ensu'd a desperate Fight. Those Africans were experienced Seamen, and being so much superior in number, would The Moors not give way to the Bifcainers, who with the lightness of their Vessels had the advantage to vanquish shun the Enemy when there was occasion, and to lay them Aboard when they found it for Sea Fight, their purpose. Three Ships of the Moors were taken, two funk, one burnt, and the

Aragon was now under an Interdict, and all the Churches shut up. The occasion was, that dom of Aragem the King in his Youth had familiarity with D. Torefa Vidaura, who now challenged him for under an her Husband before the Pope, pleading a Verbal Contract. She having no Witness, Sentence laterdich. was given against her. After this, the Bishop of Girona, to whom some say, the King had revealed the fecret, acquainted the Pope with it, upon which, the Pope was inclinable to call the Caufe over again. This being known to the King, in a rage he fent for the Bishop, and caused his Tongue to be cut out. If the Bishop revealed a secret told him in Confession, he well deserv'd that Punishment. As soon as Pope Innocent, who then held the Council at Lions, as has been faid, heard what had been done, he laid an Interdict on the Kingdom, and Excommunicated the King. Hereupon, the King submitting, beggd Absolution, which was granted, and the Pennance imposed on him, that he should finish the Monastery of Benifacianum, begun 20 Years before, in the Mountains of Tortosa, and assign it Revenues to the yearly value of 200 Marks of Silver, also 600 Marks yearly to the Hospital at Valencia, and that he should creek a Chapellany in the Cathedral of Girona, where Prayers should be perpetually offered up for himself and Successors. This account is taken out of the Records of the Monastery Benifacianum, and tho' most Authors make no mention of it, I would not wholly omit it. The Reader may give credit to it as he thinks the thing deserves. In the utmost part of Spain, towards the West, stands the City of Sevil, the Metropolis of Andaluzia, and for Riches may be reckoned among the Chiefest in Europe. Its strength con-

Olive-Orchards call'd Anarase, there were 100000 Cottages and Oil-Mills, which number, fifts not only in the Walls, but the number of Inhabitants, its beauty in the numerous, stately Buildings, and splendour of the People. Betwixt this City, which is on the left hand, and a Suburb called Triana, on the right, runs the River Guadalquivin, hem'd in with high Keys, and carrying water enough for Ships of great burden, which renders it commodious for the Trade of the Ocean and Mediterranean. A Bridge of Wood built upon Boats joyns the Suburb to the City. In the City is the old Palace inhabited by the ancient Kings, in the This mea. Suburb facing the Eaff, is another facely Royal Hone. Near the River stands a Tower, for the the weallange is the result in the This like it be excellency of its Workmanship, commonly call'd the Golden Tower. Near the Cathedral, five is another Tower of Brick, exceeding all the others, being 60 Yards in breadth, and four flaken as times that height, upon it another little Tower, now White-washed, and Painted with sunto height, dry Figures wonderfully beauteous. It would be too tedious to relate all that is great and extraordinary in this City. There were in it at this time 24000 Families, divided into 28 Parishes. The first and chiefest, is S. Mary, and is the Cathedral, none in Spain compares with it for greatness. It is a common saying of the Churches of Spain, that of Toledois Rich, that of Salamana Strong, that of Leon Beautiful, and that of Sevil Great. The Revenue of the Church is 30000 Ducats, the Archbishops 120000, the Canons, and other Dignities proportionally. portionably. The Country is plain, pleafant and fruitful. A great part is planted with Olive-trees, which produce large and pleafant Fruit, thence fruit to other parts. It has fo great a Trade, and the Farmers are fo numerous and rich, that in the time of the Moos, in the it feem incredulous, we have the Authority of King Alongo the Wife's Hiftory to teltifie The concourfe of Strangers is greater than could be imagin'd, especially since the Trade with the West-Indies. All these things stirr'd up King Ferdinand to undertake the Conquest with the West-indets. All these things iter d up King Ferdinand to undertake the Conquett of so important a place. Ascins, King of Sevil, was not unprovided, but gather'd Forces, not brilly of his own, but out of Africk, and laid in great flores of Arms and Provisions. All sevil Best brings being plentfully provided for the carrying on a longsiege, King Ferdinand moved from fieged. As all Guadayra, where he had spent some time, and fate down before Sevil, on the 25th of the All Sevil Best of the Blust had the sevil best of the sevil best of the Blust had the sevil best of the sevil best An ala Guadayra, where he had spent some time, and sate down before seven, on the 25th of Augulf, in the Year 1247. The King himself Encampd on the Bank of the River, below the City, by the Fields of Tablada. D. Pelayo Perez Correa, Master of Santiago, took his post on the other side the River, in a Village called Anassarable, to oppose Abonjajon, King of Niebla, who was possessed of all the Towns in that Neighbourhood. Many Sallies were made by the Moors, to obstruct carrying on the Works, but no consiedrable Action hap ned. It was therchief care to guard all the Avenues, as well the River as the Land, and the Soldiers ceafed not to plunder all the Country. Carmona threightned with these losses, surrendred. No- Carmona thing was omitted by the Belieged that might endamage the Christians, especially they at-surrendthing was officted by the Benegga that might endamage the Christians, especially they at surrend-tempted several times with Artificial Fire-works to burn our Fleet, but the great Vigilance red to the Admiral Englage, disappointed all their designs. D. Pelayo Correa, Master of Santis, go, and D. Lorenco, Suarez, did great service during the Siege. Above all, things incredible are related of Garei Perez Vargas of Toledo, and being such, they are not worthy to have a place are related of Garci, Kerex, Vargas of Losco, and being junt, they are not worthy to nave a piace being many white Prince Alonjo the King's Son, being invited to it by the Townfien, defight to pollels himself of Xativa, in the Kingdom of Valencia, and did adtually take Engierra, a dependance of Xativa. The King of Aragon justly provok'd by these Proceedings, took Villena, and o other Towns, in the Limits of Capita, having Brib'd the Governours. Befigds, at the beginning of the Year 1248, he took from the Moors, a Town called Bugerra, in the fame Territory. These Missinderstandings feem to threaten greater and worse Confequences, therefore Prince Monjo, who was inclined to Moderation, resolved upon a Confequences. ference with the King of Magon, and accordingly they met at Amizza, a Town belonging to that King. There by the Mediation of the Queen of Magon, and D. James de Haro, with other great Men, all matters were adjusted, the Towns wrongfully taken, restored on both Accommittees, and the Limits and Conquests of each Party assignd. By this Contract, Amansa, Sara-modation falla, and the River Cabriolo, were allotted to Murcia; to Valencia, Biara, Saxona, Alarca betwirt filla, and the River Cabriolo, were allotted to Murcia; to Valencia, Biara, Saxona, Alarca betwirt and Finefrato. All things being fetled, the Princes parted. King Jayme laid Siege to Xa-Ciffliand tiva, and had it furrendred to him towards the end of the Summer. This City Rands in a pleafant Country, near the Mouth of the River Xucar. Prince Alonfo, and D. James de Haro, made haft to the Siege of Sevil. Albamar allo, King of Sevil, joyn'd King Ferdinand with a good Body of Men, and that fo opportunely, that the Chriftian Soldiers weary of fo tedious a Siege, were about abandoning the Camp, Sicknefs that began to fpread among them, greatly difficuraged them. Winter was fpent, and no great advance made, King Ferdinand himfelf tired with so many difficulties was dubious whether to raife, or continue the Siege, The Bestegers Besteged in a Sally, having burnt our Engines, and overtura'd the Works, now scoffed at our reinforced Men from the Walls. Nevertheles, the Siege was continued with so much the more resolution, because fresh Supplies came daily into the Camp. Thither repaired the Bishops D. Joshama of Santiago, but falling Sick, made no stay, D. Gaccia of Cordova, D. Sancko of Coria, allot the Masters of Calarava, and the Princes Frederick and Henry, besides a great number of Nobles. It was hard, by reason of the greatness of the City, to secure all the Avenues, tho and the Manters of Canaravia, and the Frinces French and Frenty, beings a great number of Mobies. It was hard, by realion of the greatness of the City, to secure all the Avenues, the they were strictly warched, Boniface the Admiral desiring to destroy the Bridge, provided two great Ships, which with the Flood, and a strong Westerly Wind, with full Sails for ionality bore upon it, that the Chains which held the Boats could not withstand the force of the lently bore upon it, that the Chains which held the Boats could not withit and the force of the flock. Thus the Bridge was cut off on the 3d of May, to the great Joy of the Army. Bridge of Fluffind with this Success, the Soldiers on a fudden gave an onlet on all fides, labouring to see how make a Breach with all forts of Infruments; to refolutely, that the Belieged were in great kendanger, Their refolution, and the firength of the Walls, overcame the labour of the Christians. Provisions beginning to fail, and no hopes of Relief appearing, the Citizens at first in Whitpers began to talk of a Surrender, soon after, it became the publick Discourse, and at last they demanded a Parly. The Commissioners sent out to treat, were for submitting to a proceedings of the public of the Christians. ny Conditions, except delivering the City, and the King would hearken to nothing lefs than a surrender. Whilft the Treaty lasted, a Truce was concluded upon. At first they offer d to pay the same they had always done to the Miramamolines. This offer being rejected, they to pay the same usey man aways come to the contamanament. And once occurs recent, they proposed to deliver the third part, and then half the City, to be separated from the rest by a Wall, over and above those Revenues. King Ferdinand admitting of no Proposal less than the surrender of the City, at last they came to this Conclusion. That the Morifle King, with the turrender of the City, at last they came to this Conclusion. That the Moorish King, with all the Inhabitants, carrying all their Goods might freely depart whither they pleased. That Sevil and excepting Sanshear, Asnalfarache and Niebla, all other Towns and Castles depending on Sectiones in Section 1999. A Month was allowed for performance of Articles. The Cardences of the was presently delivered up, and on the 27th of November, 100000 Moors, Men; Wo-up. men and Children, marched out of the City. Some went over into Astrick, the rest were differed into other Towns and Cities in Spain. This Siege lasted 16 Months, during which time, the Camp was like a City, all things being there plentituly sold in Shops regularly difference.

Descrip-tion of

Chap. V.

sposed, and Smiths, Carpeners, and other necessary, Trades continually, working. On the 22d of December, the King in great State entred the City, and heard Mais in the Cathedral, which to that purpose had been Biessed, Squierre, late Elect, Archbishop of Toledo, in the place of John, who dy'd on the 23d of July, Reymund de Losana, was choten. Archbishop of the new City. Sevil was then quite destinate of Inhabitants; but the King promiting that all such as would come and inhabit, there, should be exempted from Taxes, it was soon Peopled, and treatists its promiting that all and regalific its former Luftre.

the control of the co

S. Luis, King of France, fends Prefents to the Church of Foledot until makes with informate Expedition to the Holy-Lind. Aragon Embroy et . King Perdinand of Castile, after gaining much from the Moors, dies.

King Init

Willis Sevil was Belieged, S. Luis, King of France, Efficient the Church of Toledo with of France, fends Prefens for the many Holy Relicks, which much encreafed the Devotion to that Church, and gain'd fents to the him the effects of the Prophe of Spain. Those Relicks are preferred to this day, and shown Church of in the Treasury of that Church, with the Original Letter felt by S. Zuji upon that occasion, Toledo, & After that, King Luis failed from Evalpilles to the Conquest of the Holy-in the Conquest Damiata, in Agyps, Robert, the King's Brother, was killed in a Battle. Alonfo and Chaires, of the Hol- his two Brothers, together with the King himfelf, were made Priloners, in the Year 1249. In the Year 1249. Stade and Cesarea, by the French, in the Year 1250. This same Year, D. Garete, Archbi-floop of Toledo, dying at Alienza, on the 5th of Angus, as appears by the Annals of Toledo. D. Sancho, Son of King Ferdinand, was promoted to that "Dignity. Some call him Peter, and others folm, but doubtless, both Names are missen. Release the Archbi-floop by order of Queen Beringaria, bred her two Grandsons, Philip and Sancho, at Toledo. He made them both Canons of that Church. Both of them study'd at Paris, particularly, Philip was Disciple to Albertus Magnus, that great Philosopher and Divine. His Learning, and the Interest of his Father, preferred D. Sancho to the Archbishoprick. Pope Innocent IV, approved the Election, but he was not Confectated, because he was not of Age, being the youngest but one of all his Brothers. For his fake, the King gave Ozeda and Lunanoras, to the Church of Toof all his Brothers. For his fake, the King gave Uzeda and Iznatoraf, to the Church of To-ledo, in lieu of Baça, which he had given when Jaen was taken. About this time lived a faof an ine of Baca, which he had given when Jaen was taken. About this time lived a famous Man called Pero Conicates, who leaving the Court, where he had a confiderable Employament, from the reft of his life in infittuiting the People of Gaiteia and Affairas, and was a famous Preacher. His Cottemperary Bernard, a Canon of Santiago, thro his great knowledge of the Canon-Law, became Familiar with Pope Invocent, and writ the Comments upon the Pipilola Devertales. At the fame time, the Aragonians divided into Factions, confumed themselves with Civil Wars. King Jayme by his Queen Violante, had thefe Sons, Peter, Jayme, feve with Civil Wars. King Jayme by his Queen Violante, had thefe Sons, Peter, Jayme, Ferdinand and Sancho, and as many Daughters, Violante, Confantia, Sancho and Mary. The Queen, who govern'd the King, perfuaded him to divide his Dominions among his Sons, and advice defructive to the Kingdom, and unjuft in regard to Alonfo the eldeft. Son. For, this reason, inost of the Nobility revolted from the King, and openly fided with the Prince, who countenanc'd them. In order to compose these Differences, which threatned greater Michiefs, the Cortes, or Parliament, was held in February at Alonizets, a Town in Angon. Indees being appointed to determine betwixt the Father and Son, they gave Judgment against the Son. This avail'd little, the Subjects being distaissied, and the King persisting in his Resolution, insomuch, that even before his Death he gave the Principality of Catalonia to his Son Peter, which incens'd the other Party, the more. This in Aragon. King Ferdinand's Affairs were in a much better posture, for having settled Sevil, where he intended to reside, he took Area, Medina Sidonia, Beggl, Alpebin and Aragharabe. Besseles, about the Sea Coath he fore'd and demolish'd many Forts. The Lands of Nebrixa were wasted; yet some Towns of the Moors Medina Sidonia, Begel, Alpebin and Aznaljarache. Belides, about the Sea Coaff he forc'd and demolifin'd many Forts. The Lands of Nebrixa were wasted; yet some Towns of the Moors being well Fortify'd, resolv'd to endure a Siege, either for that they thought it more honourable, or more safe. There were thoughts of carrying on the War into Africk, and to that purpose a great Fleet was providing in Bisay. Death put a stop to this design, which selfe'd King Ferdinand at Sevil, on the 30th of May, in the Year 1252. He Reign'd over Callis 34 Years, 11 Months, and 23 Days, over Leon, about 22 Years. He was endew'd with all good Qualities, his Life was such, that it purchasted him the Title of the Sain. It is doubted whether his Valour, Piety, or good Fortune excelled most. In 'fine, he acted the part of a good Man, and a Just Prince. No time made his Piety so visible as the Hour of his Death. Rasmund, Arthbission of Sevil. 'Administrate the Bless's Secrament to him; at his Death. Raymund, Archbishop of Sevil, Administred the Blessed Sacrament to him; at the time it came into the Room he fell upon his Knees, with a Halter about his Neck, like a Criminal, with great Humility, begging pardon of his Sins, and at the last gasp asked For-giveness of all that were present. Taking the Candle in his Hand, with Eyes listed up to Heaven, he said, Lord, the Kingdom which you gave me, and all the Honour I could merit, I refor to thee. Naked I came from my Aothers Womb, and Naked I refign my felf to the Earth, Receive O Lord my Soul, through the Merits of thy Holy Passion, and vouchfast to place it among thy Servants. This said, he ordered the Clergy to sing the Litany, and Passon Te Drum, and then yielded up the Ghost. A little before his Death, see gave much good advice to his Son Mondo, whom he appointed his Heir, and recommended to his care, his Queen, and his Son Junio, Manine appointed in their and recommended to instance and instance, and instance other Sons, of which Frederick, Henry and Politip, Elect of Sevil, were prefent at his Death, D. Sancho, Elect of Toledo, was then at his See. The next day the Obfequies were performed with much Grandeur. His Body was bury'd in the Cathedral of Sevil. This King is faid to His good have inflitted the Council of State, which to this day has the Supream Authority in deter-Ordinining Captes. He appointed 12 Judges as a higher Court, whither all Appeals from infe-nances. rition Tribunals flouid be brought, fo that he, who Appeals deposites 500 Piftols, and in case judgment be given against him, forfeits them. The Number of Law sitts increasing, enter judgment pe green against mins, fortests enem. In reduction of Law units increating, and the Mattice of the times fill producing new Frauds, it was necessary to erect this Tribunal, for before each City was content with the determinations of their Judges, or only Appeal'd to the Provincial Courts, looking upon it as Superfluous to have recourse to the King, Belides, this he gave Men of Learning the care of inventing new Laws, and gathering the old into one Volume, now call'd Partidas, which work begun in his time, was perfected and published under King Alonso his 50n. D. Lucas de Tuy, brought his History down to the Death of King Ferdinand, and no farther.

CHAP. V.

The beginning of the Reign of King Alonso, he is chosen Emperour, by part of the Electors, and Richard Duke of Cornwall by the rest. Theobald, the first King of Navarre dies, his Son Theobald the Second succeeds him.

King Alonfo the Tenth of the Name, as was of right, succeeded his Father Ferdinand. His Reign for the strange variety of Revolutions that happen'd, prov'd much more won toth such derful than glorious. For what can be more admirable than to see a Prince bred in War, and ceeds to fo Learned, that few private Ferfons could compare with him; reduc'd to that Unfortunate the Crown State, he could neither obtain the Empire, offer'd him by Strangers, nor fecure the Kingdom, of Cafille.

1 bft him by his Father; but to be reduc'd almost to the state of a private Man. He stilly'd Jeft him by his Father; but to be reduc'd almost to the state of a private Man. He sully'd the Title of the Wise, purchas'd by his Learning, by not knowing how to forestee and prevent the Calamites that fell upon him. At Sevil, where he was when his Father dy'd, he was Proclaim'd King. His first action was to renew the League with the King of Granada; and he remitted him the sixth part of the Tribute he us'd to pay. This was done in respect to his good Services, and to encourage him to continue faithful. That Prince was so great an admirer of King Ferdinand, that, tho' a Moor, he sent Yearly 100 Wax Torches to Sevil, for that Kings Anniversary. There was great fearcity of Mostry, to relieve which want, it was thought fit, that instead of Pepiones, a Coin scall'd, that was made of pure Metal, there should Burgales's be us'd, which were base, and sull of allay. This was no relief to the King's wants; for all things grew dear, and he was forc'd to raise the Salaries of all Officers. But the People were much more invas'd, when another fort of Money was invented called Blade hereause. wants; for an timing grew deat, and ne was force to faire the staintes of an Officers, but the People were much more inraged, when another fort of Money was invented, called Black because it had much Copper; 15 pieces of this Money were worth a Crown, one Burgales was worth two Pepiones. This Method of raising Money has often been found very prejudicial, and foon made King Alonso doious to his Subjects. King Alonso, was troubled for the Barrenness of the Company Method of the Com of his Queen Violante; Flatterers advis'd there might be a Divorce obtain'd, and the King was easy to be perswaded. He sent to conclude a Match with Christina Daughter to the King of Demark, and the was brought into Spain. King Jayme of Aragon indeavourd by fair means to alter this refolution, but those failing, had recourse to Arms. Thus the War broke out, incursions were made on both sides, and the Frontiers plunder'd. Theobald King of National Control of the Property of the out, incurious were made on noth mades, and the tremeter planted of the state of the years dy'd, now on the 8th of 5'idy, 1253. As he was worthy of praife for his zeal towards the Holy Land, so he was Blancable for invading the rights of the Church, on which account in the state of the country of the state of the st time was expir d Peter Remigius, or Gaçoliz Bishop of Pamplona, who had been Banished was Navarre, reconciled to the King, and return'd to his Church. Theobald was honourable for other good dies. reconcined to the Ring, and return a to his character. The had Three Wives, by the first who was Daughter to the Earl of Lorrain, he had no Children. Being Divored from her, by the Pope's Command, he Marry'd Sibila, Daughter to Philip Earl of Flanders, by whom he had Blanch, Marry'd to John Duke of Britanny, called the Red. By his third Wife, the Daughter of Archimband Earl of Faux, he had I beobald, Henry and Ellenor. Theobald inceeded his Fatherbald. ther, being then not is Years of Age, but of an Excellent temper, and promiting hopes, the chard Queen Marguerite, his Mother, fearing Alonfo King of Cafile, being easd of the War with King of the Moors, would again fet up, his pretentions to that Crown, had recourse to the King of Ma-Navare. gon, with him, the had a Conference at Tudela in August, and they concluded a League Offensive and Defensive. It was also agreed, that Theobald should Marry one of King

Garne's Daughters, and that neither of them should be given to any of the King of Castile's

Chap. VI.

Brothers, withhout the confent of Queen Marguerite. However the King of Aragon favd to himfelf, his pretentions to that Crown, on account of the adoption of King Sancho. That this League might be the firmer, they had it confirmed by the Pope. It aim'd directly at Caffile. The apprehensions of a War; caus'd the King of Aragon, and his Son to be reconciled. Thus I find that Alonfo the eldest Son, confirm'd under an Oath, what his Father had given to Pet n not that Monto the chart son, commit a made at said, what his said had given to He rea and Jayme, the two Younger Brothers. A new War enfued. Majarebo, a defigning Moor, promised to deliver up the Cattle of Reguara, King Jayme being a forward Prince, easily gave credit to him, and was on the way with a final handful of Men.

The Moor thus disaprince and been taken, but that he had intelligence of the design. The Moor thus disaprince in the Moor inare, and been taken, but that he had interingence of incurring. The Novi that prointed perfivaded those of Palencia to revolt, thither the King hasted, and it was debated to expel all the Infidels. Interest sway'd the Nobility to oppose this advice, but the Prelate, and Commonalty prevailed, so the Moors were Commanded to depart Valencia, and all its Territory within a time presixt. They the occord fluong and in Arms, obey'd, and directed themselves into the Country of Murkia and Granada. A confiderable number also fetled in that part now called La Mancha de Aragon formerly Montaragon, of a Town of that Name. At that time it was not Tilled nor Improved, at prefent yields Corn that supplies many Places. Ferdinand, Brother to King Alonfo, made a considerable profit of the Moors, for being Governour of Villena, through which they were to pass, he obliged every one to pay a Grown of Gold. These affairs bindred the King of Aragen, from falling upon Castile, and this delay proved fortunate. At the same time that Christina, after her long Voyage, came to Toledo, which was in the Year 1254. it green it appeared that the Queen was with Child. The King moved, at so unexpected an actident, deated changed his hatred into Love, and those who before perfwaded a Divorce, now pleaded for proves with Child with Child and prevents and with the King's confent, Marry'd Christina, who dy'd foon after. Queen Violantes Barrents reness, was chang'd into Fruitfulness, and she bore many Children. These were Berengaria, being di. Beatrix, Ferdinand called de la Cerda, that is, of the Hair, because of long Hair that grew on his back, Sancho, Peter, John, James, Elizabeth, and Fllenor. By a Woman of mean Extraction, the King, had Alonfo Fernandez, by D. Mayor, Daughter to Peter de Guzman, he had from the Beatrix, both Illegitimate. In the following Year 1255. Edward the Eldest Son, of Henry Ring of England, came into Spain, the cause of his coming is not known, unless, is were on account of Christina, who was his Cousin-german. He was honourably received by the King at Burgos, and by him Knighted, according to the Custom of those times. Flonours directed to appeale the Fierce Youth.

vorced

King.

K. Alonjo ichs, and not much beloved by the Neighbouring Princes. Abroad, the Fame of Learning Emperor, gained him renown. This moved the Electoral Princes of Germany, after the Death of the by part of Emperor William, to chook him his Successor. ther to Henry King of England. This Election was made on the 6th of January in the The Archbillion of Trebes, lone lay two Years later. The Archbillion of Trebes, and Duke of Saxony looking upon the other as invalled, on the last day of March following made choice of King Alonfo. Embalidators were fent to them both, and both took the Title of Emperors, but Richard had so much the advantage, that he immediately went over into Germany, and was Crowned the first time at Aquifgran by the Archbistop of Cologne. King Alonso was hindred by his Domestick troubles, and forced to put off his departure. This delay gave time to his party to cool in their Affections, and the other to strengthen it self. Richard seemed to have the better Title, being chosen within the Year, after the Death of his Predecessor, and on the day appointed for the Election, and also, for that within the space of another Year, he was Crowned at Aquisgran, by the Archbishop of Cologne, and seated in the Chair of Charlemaigne, in token of polificino. Besides, the Princes and Governours did him Homage. All these Circumstances pleaded for Richard's right, whereas King Alonso had performed none of the usual Ceremonies. Both the Elector Palatine, and King of Bobenia, who are the Umpires, when there is any thing depending, had declared for Richard. On the other tide, King Alonfo pleaded, that he was Elected according to Custom, within the City Walls, That the Archbishop of Cologue, and the Palatine came with great Military Power, as it was to force the others, and had made a Separate Election without the Town. That the Princes in the City, had waited so long to reduce them to observe Order, and at length, the Archbishop of Treves, with the Duke of Saxony, who had allo the Marques of Frachwards to Check, had Elected King Monso, the King of Bohemia's Emballador joining with them. Besides, these formal reasons, they exprobrated Crimes to each other, one side said, The Archbishop of Treves, was Excommunicated for oppressing his Subjects with Taxes. The other objected he of Cologne, had Wounded the Pope's Legate, and stricken a Bishop, and that the Elector Palatine abused the Churchmen, and in the late Confusions had joyned with the Emperor against the Pope. King Alonso, being far off, was detained by many troubles at home, besides, that he was naturally unconstant, and hoped by some Artistice, to put an end to that dehate. Richard was hindred by the Wars at that time, betwixt England and France, and dy'd the 6th Year after, he took the Title of Emperor. The end of this contest shall be told in its place.

Contests

CHAP. VI.

Aragon and Castile at variance and reconcil'd. Sancho King of Portugal dies in Exile. Death of the Queen and Prince of Aragon. Portugal under an Interdict. Marriages of the King of Navarre, and Printe of Aragon.

TING Alonfo was naturally Mild, had a great Spirit, fought Glory rather than Pleature, K. Alonfo's addicted himself to Learning, yet was very inconstant and covetous, which drew upon qualities him the hatred of the People, and he neglected to gain the Love of the Nobility. To shun idleness, the ground of all intestine troubles, he invaded Andaluzia, his Army divided into se- Towns in veral Bodies, the better to recover divers places, the Moors fill policifed. He in Person Meddayia took Kres, his Brother Henry, Arcos and Nebrixa, a Town near the mouth of the River taken. Guadalquivir. D. Nuno de Lara, was appointed Governour of Xerez. Now might the Moors, have been expell'd, all that Country, had not another War called away the King. Theobald the second King of Navarre, being come to Age, with the assistance of the King of Aragon, with whom he had renewed the League before made, resolved to invade Castile, pretending that Guippseoa, Alava, Rioja, and Brivilesa, belonged to his Crown, and had been wrongfully taken from his Predecessors. Many Nobles of Castile, went over to Aragon and Navarre, having first by a publick instrument, renounced their Country, which was the Custom tied then, not to be thought Traytors. These stirred up, and incensed that Young Prince. Among them the chief was fames de Haro, who soon dy'd at Banares, whether he went to be Differ-Cur'd. Yet his Son Lope de Haro, with a great retinue went to Estela, where the King of ences be-Cur'd. Yet his Son Lope de Haro, with a great retinue went to Eftela, where the King of ences beAragon then was. The lame did Prince Henry, being much difgusted with his Brother. These cwist Case Princes made a League among themselves. The People of Caffin, tho' they had not declared, fills and were of the same Opinion. They were offended at the baseness of the Coin, which caused all things to grow dear, and the King having set rates upon all things thère, ensued a great fearcity, because those who had stocks, would not sell at that rate. King Monso, understanding his danger, began to Treat of some Accommodation, with the King of Aragon, who was not averse to it, being again, tho' old, entangled in the Love of D. Teresa Vidaura; to sinch a degree, that he seemed instautated. At Soria, the two Kings met, and concluded a peace, in the Year 1256. At the same time Marguerite, Mother of Theobald King of Najource, dy'd in Champagne, whether she went to settle the affairs of that Earldom. She was buryed in the Monastery of Claravelle. then Famous for the Sansity of sire Monks. The folburyed in the Monastery of Claravelle, then Famous for the Sanctity of its Monks. The following Year dy'd at Toledo, Sancho Capelo King of Portugal, as Garibay in his Hiftory relates, but Duarte Nunez, will have his Death to have happen'd in the Year 1246. His Brother Sancho K. Alonfo, who had Governed the Kingdom Thirteen Years, only as Regent, now took the Title of of Portugal King. He had by Beatrix, Daughter to the King of Castile, Denis his eldest Son, Alonso Earl dies at of Portalegre, Blanch who lies bury'd at Huelgas, where she was long Abbeis, and Constance Toledoin who dy'd Young. At this time Henry the King's Brother, stirred up both the Moors and Exile. Chriftians at Nobinsa; whether he was withdrawn to Rebellion. D. Nuino de Lara having notice of it, repaired thither from Sevil, and Prince Henry not being able to oppose him, fled by Sea to Valencia. The King of Aragon, at first received him savourably, but for fear of infringing the Treaty, concluded with his Brother, obliged him to take his flight into Africk. Thence after four Years spent at Timez, he went over poor, and miserable into France, and so into Italy, desiring to make War on his Brother, if any Prince would support him. The King of Aragon, having settled Valencia, passed over to Mompellier, designing to meet the King of France. On the 11th of May in the Year 1258, they met at Carbolio, and were perfectly reconciled, both parties freely religning what had been before taken, on either fide. Kings of Catalonia and Barcelona, were also declared wholly independent of the Crown of France, for France and Catalonia and Barcelona, were also declared whosly independent of the Grown of France, for till that time they had acknowledged a certain dependance, tho it was only in form. To make diagon meet, and this Alliance the firmer, a match was concluded betwitt Philip, the King of France his eldest are re-form, and Elizabeth, the King of Aragon's Youngest Daughter, he giving her the Towns of conciled: Carcasson, and Bezietes for a Portion. This Year there hap'ned extraordinary Floods, which continued from August, till the 26th of December, the Rivers swelling beyond their Banks, and doing infinite harm. Many Bridges were carry'd away, and among them that at Toledo, called of Alcantara. But the following Year it was rebuilt, as appears by the Inscription on the first Arch of the Bridge.

Spain was now somewhat quiet, considering how many diffierent Princes ruled it. Yet some misfortunes hap ned. D. Piolante, Queen of Aragon, and her Son-in-Law Alonso dy'd, Death of The King's extravagancies feem'd to have shortned both their Lives. Prince Alonfo was troubled the Prince that his Father showed him no affection at present, and by dividing his Dominions had lef- and fen'd his Inheritance for the future. This was not only grievous to the Prince, but to all the Queen of

Nobility,

Chap. VII.

Nobility, who publickly espous'd his quarrel, and the King, not long before his Sons Death, to pacify them, deliver'd up Valencia to him, ordaining it should be always annex'd to the Grown of Aragon. The Queen was offended that D. Terefa Vidaura, after the had been some time laid associated was now again to great with the King, that he did nothing without her. He was so instituted, that he kept her as well before as after the Queen's Death, with all the State due to a Queen. She twice Challengd the King for promite of Marriage before the Pope. By her the King had Peter Lord of Ayerve, and Jaime Lord of Exerica. Queen Violante was bury'd at Valluena in Caralonia, Prince Alonjo in the Cathedral of Valencia. Zurita, a Noble Historian of Aragon writes, he was interred in the

Monastery of Viruela of Cistercians. Theobald King of Navarre, after the Death of his Mo-

without feeing him The King boafted, he would Marry again the next Day, if he thought it were for the good of his Kingdom. Maud, went herself to complain of the wrong done her, to S. Luis, then King of France, and fent Emballadors to the Pope. That King was too far from Portugal to relieve her. The Pope fent to warn King Alonfo, of the wrong he offered that Lady, and how hainous an offence it was to God; but he gave no Ear to his ad-which were grown Numerous, through the ill Government of King Sancho. He also establish'd wholefome Laws, and carry'd an even hand between the Nobility and Commonalty. In Warlike Affairs, his Government was not inferior to the Civil, for he enlarg'd his Dominions.

taking from the Moors, Faro, Algezira, Albufera, and other Towns in the Territory of Silves. Cafro, Efremo, and Portalgre, were founded by him, and the City Beja, ruin'd by the Wars, was rebuilt. In Lisbon, there is a stately Convent of Dominicans built by him, and another of poor Clares at Santarem. His Liberality towards the poor was such, that having exhausted his Treasures, he often Pawn'd his Jewels to relieve them. At this time, the fame of King Alonjo of Caffile, his Learning being spread throughout the World, there came to on king simply or cipine, his Leathing being spread among over the voice, each claim to him Emballadors from the Soldan of Agypt, blinging prefents of rich Gorments, Carpets and Tapifry, as also several strange Bealts, never before seen in Spain. This was in the Year 1260. This same Year a Town of Guiphscoa, then called Arrasata, chang'd its Monaftery of Viruela of Cifterciani. Theobald King of Navarre, atter the Death of his Mother, valiantly maintained the Earldom of Champagne, againft main Princes of France, who MarriesMarr offormeal, being nothing concern'd at her misfortunes, or at a Letter she sent him, was forc'd to return oriered that Lady, and now hallous an officier is was to God; but he gave to Lat to his advice. At length, he refusing to obey, the Pope excommunicated him, and laid an interdiet on the whole Kingdom, which is faid to have lafted 12 Years, because that King would not mend; nor the fucceeding Popes abate any thing of their rigour. In other cases King Monfo was of a good Temper; and a great Lover of Justice. He cleared the Kingdom of Robbers, une rear 1200. Ins same rear a 10wn or outpylcoa, unen called arrafata, chang'd its name for that of Mondragon, as appears by a Charter of King Alonfo, the ancientest extant its panish, for he was the first King of Spain, that caused all Publick Acts to be writ in Spains, whereas before they were all in Latin. On the 27th of Ostober 1261. dy'd. D. Sanobo, Archbishop of Toledo. Passeasis, or Passeasis Dean of that Chirch, who had carry'd the Crossbefore Roderick the Archbishop, at the Battle of Nabas de Tolofa, increeded him. Doubtless he was very old, and dy'd only Elect, in June following. His Tomb is in the Chapel of St.

Fmhaffy

Lucy in that Cathedral.

Frederick, the Emperor dying, his Son Conrade succeeded him, who also four Years after ended his days in Sicily, either of a natural Death, or as some would have it, poisond by his Bastard Brother Manifedus. This Mansfedus (notwithstanding Conrade had appointed a Son, then a Child, which he left in Germany to succeed in all his Dominions) by force of Arms possess of the Ecclesia that the Kingdom of Naples. The Popes whose feet those Conntries were, admonthed him to desift, but he taking no notice of the Ecclesiastical Consurate were admonthed him to desift, but he taking no notice of the Ecclesiastical Consurate war in Tuscany, where the Gueiphs, a Faction that favoured the Pope, were very powerful, and overthrowing them, foon became absolute Master of that Province. The Pope us'd all possible means to overturn that new Kingdom. Charles Earl of Anjou, and Brother to Luis King of France, was invited into Italy, upon hope given him of being made. King of Siciby. On the other fide Manfredux, lought to obtain aid from all parts, and therefore had recourse in the first place, to Jayme King of Aragon, offering his Daughter Constance for Wife. to his eldest son Peter. This match was not displeasing to the Aragoniani, for belides 220000 Ducats, that he offer'd down with her, she was Heirels to the Kingdom of Sicily, Mansfredas having no Heirs Male. All points being agreed upon, he sen F. Raymund de Penasuerte of the Order of S. Dominick, Embaliador to the Pope, to indeavour to compose the differences betwixt him and Manfredus. The Pope gave no manner of Ear to F. Raymund, but utter'd threatning Speeches against Manifedus accusing him of many Crimes, and affirming, he would never Treat with him, unless he laid down Arms, and came submissively to him. At the fame time he advis'd, and warn'd King Jayme, not to ingage himself with 6 wicked a Man, least he should draw some judgment upon himself. This answer put the King of Magon to a Daugnter of the King stand, but at length interest prevail'd. The Marriage was Solemniz'd at Monpellier in France.

in the Year 1262. The King returning to Barcelona, divided his Dominions among his Sons. The Peter, the eldeft, was affiguid all dragon, Catalonia and Valencia. To his Son Jayme, he gave Russillan, Cerdagne, Coibre, Conflens and Valespira; yet so as that he should do Homage for them to the King of Aragon. They were allo to be govern'd by the Laws of Catalonia nia, and not to have Authority to Coin Money. Besides those Dominions, he gave him Majorca, with the Title of King, and also Montpelier, in France. Thus the Father reconcil'd the two Brothers, who began to be at variance about their Inheritance, the Nobility heightning their divisions; without regard to the Publick, every one of them striving to make his own advantage.

CHAP. VII.

The Family of the Merines obtains the Empire of Africk. The War against the Moors renew'd in Spain. Cuidad Rodrigo built. Troubles in Aragon. The City Murcia taken, and the King of Granada made Tributary.

New and more dangerous War than any of the former, feem'd new to threaten Spain, from The Fa-A a new Empire lately erected in Africk. The Family of the Merines having overthrown mily of and destroy'd the Almohades, reviv'd the former Valour of that Nation, and purpos'd to the Me. musch over into Spain to reflore its Empire there. After the Death of Mahomet, called the interface, who lost the famous Battle of Nahas de Toloja, Arasjus, his Grandson, and Son of Empire of Bullato, who dy'd before his Father, succeeded him. When the Empire of the Almohades examples of the Almohades example of the Alm tended from the Ocean as far as Agypt, the Government of Tremecen, a City on the Shore of the Mediterranean was given to a Moor, call'd Gomarança, of the Family of the Abdaluefes which is very Noble and Rich. This Man was the first that offer'd to Revolt from his Prince. Arrafus coming to suppress him, was treacherously Murder'd. No Enemy is so dangerous as a falle Friend. A Kiniman of Gomaranga pretending to desert from him, slew the King. He being dead, his Forces were easily vanquish'd by the Rebel, who Sally'd out of the Castle Trentesessir, where he was Besieg'd. Such as escap'd the Slaughter fled to Fez, which is near to that part of Africk call'd Algarve, or the Plain Country. Bucar Merin, Governour of Fez, under pretence of revenging his Mafter, gather'd these broken Forces, overthrew the Rebels, and then, as a Raward of his Victory, laying a fide the Title of Governour, affum'd the Stille of King, fecuring the Empire of Africk to himfelf and his Succeffor. Thus, only the Ufurper being chang d. Bucar Merin founded a new Empire in Africk. For Almorcanda, who was of the Family of the Almobades, and had succeeded Arrasius at Morocco, designing to subdue Bucar, was by him defeated, in a Battle fought near a Town call'd Merquenosa, a days Journey from Fex. By this means, that which before made one Empire, was divided into two which were Fez and Morotco, and so continu'd some time. Hidya, the Son of Bucar succeeded him. He dying young, his Uncle Jacob Abenjoleph, who Govern'd in his Name, and was a warlike and wife Man, not only fecur'd to himfelf the Dominion of Fez, but with wonderful case Conquer'd the Empire of Morocco, and almost all Africk, which he left to his Heirs. No People under the Sun are more Inconstant than the Africans, which is the reason that no Dominion is lafting among them. Budebusio, a powerful Moor, of the Family of the Almo-bades, offended that Almoreanda, who was not so near Related to the Kings of Morocco as himfelf, should be preferred before him, offer'd Jacob, King of Fez, all the Lands from that City to the River Nababo, if he would affift him to recover his Right. Almorcanda, by their joynt Force was eafily drove from Morocco, yet Budebufio, not only refused to perform his promise, but threatned the King of Fez. After three Years spent in War between them, Budebujo was despoised of all his Dominions, and the King of Fez, taking Morecco, became abfolute Monarch deal Africk, except the Cities of Tromeçon and Tunez. During these Confufions, two of the Almobades secured those Places, and kept them with the Title of Kings, tho of no great Power. From this Family, without any interruption, descended Muleaffe, King of Tunez, who being Banished his Kingdom by the famous Pyrate, Barbarossa, was restored by the Emperor Charles V.

These were the Families that Rul'd in Africk. In Spain, Mahomet Almahar, was King of Moorish Grand Grand Andrea, both Weak and Tributaries to King Alonfo of Cafile. The Kings in two groups weary of their Subjection to the Christians, and hoping to be relieved by Jacob, spain Re-King of Africk, who began to gain great Rendown, agreed among themselves to Revolt. The voct before they were mortal Enemies, yet their hatred to the Christians, and hope of casting off their Yoke, made them Friends. They carry'd their Defigns very private, left being too foon discover'd, they might accelerate their Ruin. King Alonjo, either that he had know-ledge of these Practices, or else desiring utterly to expel the Moors, had no other care but of renewing the War against them. Some Cities in Andaluzia refus'd to submit to him, which he thought to reduce by force. To this effect, Pope Alexander IV. granted the Croffade to all that would serve in that War at their own Cost and Charges. Embassadors were sent to the neighbouring Princes to obtain Supplies, particularly it was demanded of the King of Marries of Sicily.

Aragon, that he would give leave to his Subjects to take Arms in that Holy War, as had been agreed by the Treaty at Soria. The King of Magon neither flatly deny'd, nor fully granted, for he excepted all the Nobility, who either depended on him for their Etlates, or receiv'd his Pays; but he allow'd, that their Vafais, and others of the Commonalty, might take Arms. This old King defign'd by these means to secure the Nobility, of whose Loyalty he was not fully satisfy'd, if they should get into Cashile. This answer so provok'd King Alonso, that he once design'd to turn his Forces against Aragon, but at last the Publick Good prevail'd. Having taken this Resolution, he deliver'd up the Castles that had been agreed at Soria, to be put into a third hand, by way of Caution or Security. They were put into the Hands of D. Alonfo Lopez de Haro, for him to hold in truft, and that he might perform it with freedom, he was abfolv'd of his Allegiance to Castile. The Castles were Cervera, Agreda, Aguilar, Arnedo and Autol. Whilst the Christians were taken up with these Debates, the Moors understanding all these Preparations were level'd against them, not to lose time, took the Castle of Marcia, and other places in that Neighbourhood, in which were Christian Garifons. Next, they Brib'd the Mogrs in Sevil, to Murder the King, but that delign failing, Moors be- having gather'd Forces from all parts, they invaded the Christian Territories with such fury and fuccess, that on a fudden they recover'd Xerts, Arcos, Bejar, Medina Sidonia, Rhoda and Sanlucar. Garci Gomez, Commander of the Fort of Xerez, gave a molt notable Testimony of his Yalour and Loyalty, for when all his Garison was kill'd or wounded, he could not be prevail'd upon to furrender upon any Conditions, tho' there was no hope of Relief. The Moore admiring fo much Bravery, even in an Enemy, and defiring to fave his Life, contrived with a great Iron Hook to draw him off the Wall, had his Wounds carefully dreft'd, and gave him his Life. King Ano, who was gone to the inward Parts of Spain to raife Men, the following Year came down to put a stop to the Current of the Enemies Success. By the way, not Red builth far from the Ruins of Alarcos, where there was a Village call'd Pocuclo & S. Gil, about a League from the River Guadiana, in a pleasant and fruitful Plain, he Founded a large Town, and called it Villa Real. King Jobn II. of Castile, afterwards chang'd it to that of Cuidad Real, which it still retains. The intent of building this Town was to repress the Incursions of the Moore. and thence to ravage their Lands. Thence he advanc'd into the Enemies Country, doing much harm whereever he came. The damage the Moors sustain'd in the Year 1263. is not to be computed. This Year a great number of Voluntiers came to the Camp, induc'd by a Grant from the King, which made all fuch as ferv'd three Months every Year with Horse and Arms at their own cost, free from a Tax call'd Martiniega. The Moors perceiving they were no way able to withfland fo great a Force as was that of the Christians, made fresh Instances to the King of Morecco, pressing heard for Relief.

Their Embassacdors declared to him the great danger they were in, if not speedly succourd. That King having heard then granted their Townsre Request. He sent them 1000 Light-Horse, who Mutinying, put the Affairs of the Insidels over the March 1000 Light-Horse, who Mutinying, put the Affairs of the Insidels with the March 1000 Light-Horse, who Mutinying, put the Affairs of the Insidels with the March 1000 Light-Horse, who Mutinying, put the Affairs of the Insidels with the March 1000 Light-Horse, who Mutinying, put the Affairs of the Insidels with the March 1000 Light-Horse, who Mutinying, put the Affairs of the Insidels with the March 1000 Light-Horse with March cover'd by into a worse condition than they were before, to such a degree, that Xerez, and all the other the Chri. Townslately taken by the Moors, were again recover'd by the Christians. Near Port S. Mary, (formerly call'd Portus Muestus) was built a Town of the same Name upon the old Ruins, which show'd the footsteps of its former Grandeur and Beauty. In Toledo, also the King. built the Churchof S. Leocadia, behind the Pallace. These things being perform'd in the Year 1264, the King return'd to Sevil, part of the Army was put into Winter-Quarters, and the rest dismised. Fame, which magnifies all things, now gave it out, that the Enemy did not only sollicit for Supplies and Auxiliaries, to be sent them out of Africk, but for a compleat Army to regain their Empire in Spain. These Rumours perplexed the Castilians and Aragonians, who lay most expos'd, and on whom, of necessity that storm must first fall. King Alonfo fearing the dangerous Consequences of this War, sent Peter Tanez, Master of Calarava, his Emballador to the King of Aragon, to propose to him the joyning of their Forces against the Common Enemy, urging the publick danger, the Kindred that was be-Troubles tween them, and the Honour of the Christian Religion. The Affairs of Aragon were not in a in Aragon, peaceable posture, nor had the King's Sons laid aside their Animosities, the Nobles were divided into Factions, and the Commonalty followed their Example. These distractions produced Robberies, Murders, and all fort of Crimes, infomuch, that the Cities of Aragon, which stand in the Mountains, were obliged to institute Brotherhoods to supress those Out-Laws, and by framing new and severe Laws, to terrifie those wicked Men. The greivous-ness of the Punishments were terrible. Indifferent Crimes were chastized with Death, the least with Whipping, or some other shameful Penalty. The Minds of the Nobility were wholly alienated from their King. They complained all Honours were bestowed on Strangers, or mean People. That their Liberties were infringed, and the Authority of the Justice of Aragon, who is to fecure the Franchifes of the People, was diminified. That not only the Commonalty, but the Nobility were oppressed with Taxes. These were the Publick Complaints. Belides these, every Man had his private Grievance. Therefore the King at Barceplants. Bendes inch. or in the Tax called Bovaticum. Raymund Folch, Viscount of Cardona, obflinately opposed him, affirming, unless the King altred, his method of Government, he would never give over. He had not stopped here, but that some other Men of Quality told him it was an unfit feafon to ftir up the People to Mutiny, that it was better to wait a fitter opportunity, and not oppose the publick good. At Zaragoga, the Cortes, or Parliament was held.

in order to raise Money, but most of the Nobllity opposed the King. Fernan Sanchez, his own5on; and Simon de Orrea, his Rether-in-law, were most remarkable in heading the Mutiniers. They carry'd it so far as to depart the Assembly, and make a League among them-falves at Alagon, in order to oppose the King. War must have decided these Controverses, taives at Magon, in order to oppose the King. War mult have decided these controverses, had not fome Religious Persons interposed, and prevail'd with both Parties to stand to Arbitation. The King himself being a Politick Prince, refus'd not to redress all that was amiss. A Truce was concluded, and the Bishops of Zaragoga and Huelea, were appointed Judges, who wifely compos'd all those Differences. These Tumults appeared, Forces were rais'd in order to commence the War on that fide, in the Year 1265. King Alonfo, with a powerful 1265. Army, entred the Territories of Granada. King Jayme undertook Murcia. All things prov'd Theking of Cale. Activity of the state of the st eager than has over expected, for tool thing that any succours came over to the indices one and Med from the Moors, and reftored it to Emanuel, the King of Califie's Brother, who was his Villena gon, indices the Moors, and reftored it to Emanuel, the King of Califie's Brother, who was his called in-law, having Marry'd his Daughter Confiance. After that he had made himself Master of Moors. Elda, Orcelis and Elche, and many other Towns in that Neighbourhood. Then paffing the River Segura, he intercepted a Convoy of 2000 Load of Provisions that was going to Murcia. under a throng Guard. Mean while King Alonso prosecuted the War so vigoroully in Grana-da, that he oblig d those Moors to make humble Suit, that the former Capitulation might be Re-effabilité. The two Kings, Alonfo and Jayme, the better to confult about the future Operations, had an Interview at Alcarax, Queen Violante was at this Conference. After fome days spent in taking the necessary Measures, they both returned to the War. The Aragonians being provided with all Necessaries, march'd from Orcelis towards Marcia, and invested it in January 1266. That City is seated in a Plain, thro' which he River Segura runs, the Country about is very delightful. The River drawn into small Chanels waters the Fields Murcia taand City, which is full of Mulbery, Citron, Orange, and other forts of Trees, which make it ken by sook like a Terrestial Paradise. In our days, the principal Trade of that City is Silk. At the Arthur Markette and the City is Silk. nook inke a letreital raradie. In our days, the principal legic of that City is Silk. At the that time it was well fortify'd, and had a firing Garifon. Some Sallies were made at first, sometis, the Besieg'd came off always with loss. In conclusion, the Siege had not lasted long before the Moors Capitulated, and Surrendred the Place. On the other side, King Alonfo, at Alcala de Bengayde, came to an Accommodation with the Moors of Granada, upon the following Capitulates. That the King of Granada break that legic with Edding Vision of Allaria. Aleala de Bergayde, came to an Accommodation with the Moors of Granada, upon the following Conditions. That the King of Granada break the League with Hudiei, King of Mibria. That he pay 50000 Ducats Yearly, as was done before. That King Alonfo on his part no longer Protect the Moors of Granada and Malaga, provided the Moors of King grant them a Truce for a Year. That the King of Mureia, it taken by the Chriftians, have his Life spard. These Articles being signed, King Alonfo hasted to take possessing, have his Life spard. These Articles being signed, King Alonfo hasted to take possessing the Mureia, after the surround home. At the Town of Santisteyan, Huddel, King of Mureia, met King Alonfo, and falling at his Feet, begg d pardon for what was pass, which was granted, upon condition he should no longer use the Stille of King, but be content with the December 2018. fuch Revenues as were affigned him. The Title of King was given to Mahomet, the Brother of that Abshut, who we faid above, was kill'd at Almeria. Only the third part of the King's Revenue was allotted him, the rest to be paid to the Crown of Castile; this was the end of the War which had held most People in suspence.

CHAP. VIII.

The Kingdom of the Normans in Sicily, extinguish'd by the French. Wars in Italy, The Empress of Constantinople comes into Spain. And Jayme, King of Aragon, to Toledo.

Hilft the War was in Andaluzia and Murcia, the other parts of Spain enjoy'd Peace, or there were no confiderable Troubles, a thing rare among fo many Princes, and in such a time of Popular Liberty. Only Gonçalo Yanez Baçan, a Nobleman of Navarre, having by a publick Instrument renounc'd his Country, with the King of Aragon's consent, built a Calle he call'd Boeta, whence he infested the Lands of Navarre. S. Luis, King of France, at the same time sent to Pamplona a piece of the Crown of Thorns, which was put upon our Saat the lame time tent to compound a piecest the cases and had pawred it to him for a Sum of Confantinople, had pawred it to him for a S Noney. In Italy, Charles, Brother to the King of France, flew King Manfredus, possess possess bimself of all his Dominions, and at Rome was Crown'd King of Sicily and Naples. The Bartho King himter of at the Louentrons, and at come was shown a mag of only and rappe. The Bartho King the was fought near Benavente, which put an end to the Dominion of the Normans, when it of Famel had lasted many years in those parts. The new King oblig'd himself to pay 40000 Ducats Crowned every Year to the Church of Rome, as an acknowledgment for that Feof, and engaged not to King of accept of the Empire, the' offer'd him, without his Procurement. King Jayme much con-Ship. cern'd at the misfortune of his Ally Manfredus, study'd how to retrieve that loss. As soon as the War was concluded in Murcia, he went to the farthest part of Catalonia, to be ready, if there were any means left to reftore the remainder of the Normans, and possess himself of that Kingdom, which he pretended belong'd to his Son, in the Right of his Wife, the only Daughter of Masfredus. Mean while King Alonjo was busie in setling the Affairs of Murcia, gathering

gathering People to inhabit that Country, and building Castles for its security, Castle could not surnish a sufficient Multitude, therefore he brought many out of Catalonia to fettle there. Tho' contrary to the late Capitulation, he ceas'd not to relieve the Moors of Malaga and Guadix. The King of Granada came himself to Murcia, to complain of this wrong, and receiving no fatisfactory answer, return'd home worse offended than he came. Some and receiving no latinsaciny animet, received from the content of this opportunity, and ad-Nobles, who before were disjunted at King Alonjo, laid hold of this opportunity, and ad-Christian visid the Moor to take Arms. The chief of these was D. Nuro Gonzalez de Lara, a Rich and vis a tine moor to take Alins. The chird had much wrongd his Father, D. Nuno, and III flowing his Brother. This was the beginning of new Troubles, at fuch time as the King production. obn, his Brother. This was the beginning of new 1 rousies, at men time as the King prothed the toffice of the t Empress time, the Empress of Constantinople being drove from her Empire, came to confer with the or contract the state of the st King. Baldwin, her Hushand, and Jufinian the Patriarch, being Expell'd Greec by Michael Paletologus, were taken by the way, and fell into the Hands of the Soldan of Agypt. The Empres, whose Name was Marba, agreed to give 30000 Marks of Silver for his Ranfome. To gather this great Sum, she had recourse to the Pope, and King of France, and lastly, coming to Burgot, in the Year 1268, made her address to the King for only the third part of that Sum. The King gave her the whole, which was Profuseness rather than Liberality, at a time when the Layal Treasures were quite exhausted. Some Historians reject this Redation, and say Baldwin was never taken by the Soldan of Agypt. In this, I have followed the Authority of our Histories, the I know Fame often exceeds the truth. Baldwin, the Emperor, having recover d his Liberty, and lost his Empire, went into France, and tence to Namur, which City was his own, where he spent the residue of his Life. By a Grant made to the Knights of Calatrava, in the Year of our Lord 1264, it appears the See of Toledo was then Vacant, unless, as it often happens, the Years therein be miltaken. Either this Year to the Knights of Calatrava, in the Year of our Lord 1204. It appears the See of Toldow was then Vacant, unless, as it often happens, the Years therein be militaken. Either this Year or rather fone time fooner, Santho, Son to Jayme, King of Aragen, succeeded Pascualis, Archbishop of Toldo. I imagine the new Prelate being under Age, staid some time in Aragon thefore he came to his Church, which might give occasion to some to write that the See was yearant. His Father loyd him tenderly, and therefore about this time came to Toldo to fee him, as shall presently be related. Great Wars and Confusions were now in Italy, for Conradin, the Sucvian, strove by force Great Wars and Contisions were now in tray, our contains, the success, trove by force, and against the will of the Pope, to recover his Father's Dominions. Frederick, Duke of Saxony, accompany'd him out of Germany, and Henry, Brother to the King of Cassile, went to him from Rome, where he was a Sanator, his Birth, as I suppose, supplying his Defects. Besides these, all the Gibelliums of Italy trook up Arms for him. With these Forces Contains broke into Naples, and in Abruzza, near the Lake Taliacoso, came to a Battle with King the Contains of the Visions of the Contains of th Charles, who was there ready to receive him. The French obtain'd the Victory. Frederick and Henry, were taken in Fight, Conradin in the pursuit, which was very bloody. Comadin and Fredrick, had their Heads cut off at Naples; a hard Judgment upon fuch great Princes.

The History of SPAIN.

At this time another Debate arose in Aragon, Gerard de Cabrera pretending to the Earldom of Urgel, pleading that his Brother Alonso's Children were not Legitimate. Raymand Folch, Urged, pleading that his Brother Alonfo's Children were not Legitimate. Raymund Folch, their Uncle by the Mother's fide, and other Men of Note inpopreted them. King Jayme feem'd to eipoufe Gerard's quarrel, and that the more, for that he had made over his Right to the King, as not able to carry it off himfelf. The King of Granada prepar'd to make War upon Guadix and Malaga, and was offended that King Alonfo, contrary to what had been agreed, did underhand support them. D. Nuño de Lara, and D. Lope de Haro, being difoligid by the King, blew the Coals. They promis'd the Moor, if he would take up Arms, not only they, but many other Men of Note would go over to him. There was fome rumour spread abroad of these Practices, but there wanted Witnesses to prove the Fact. This mov'd the King to go into Andaluzia. This Year the King chang'd the Name of the Village call'd the King to go into Andaluzia. This Year the King chang'd the Name of the Village call'd the King to go into Andaluzia. This treat the King chang darket. Town. S. Peter de Arizanoa, in Ginjufon, into that of Forgara, and made it a Market-Town. The Affairs of medalucia being fetled, and Winter coming on, King Monfo return'd to Toledo to entertain his Father-in-law, the King of Aragon, who came to be prefent at the first Mass of his Son D. Sanebo the Archbishop, which was to be Celebrated on Christmast-day. D. Sanebo accordingly faid Mais that day, the two Kings of Cashile and Aragon, the Queen, and Prince accordingly fath was that day, the two fines of control and 3 days at Toledo, being refolived, tho very old, to go over to the War in the Holy-Land, inflam'd with the defire of reforing the ancient Glory of the Christians in those parts. A great and valiant Prince, worthy to have succeded better than he did in that Expedition.

CHAPPE IX guren that the transfer of

The King of Avagon's Expedition for the Holy-Land. The Kings of France and Na-VAITE, and the eldest Son of the King of England, move upon the same Enterprise. The Nobles of Castile Revolt. Troublesin Aragon.

THE E Affairs of the Christians in the Holy-Land, were, reduced to the last extremity.

Now whexpectedly a fair opportunity of reftoring their losses offered it felf, and stirred, up at one-time England, France and Spain, to take Arms. Whill Pope Imports IV. held the General Connell at Lyon, in France, he fent four Preachers of the Holy Order of S. Do. Preaching minicks unrounding the Tartins, to try whether that Barbarous People could be reduced to embrace Christianity. Those Preachers were 6 directsful, as to gain Reputation among the International Conference of the Christian Religion. These People was indeed that pair of Swid which was under the Sandants and the great Cham Barbariank, who began to fhow some affection towards the Christian Religion. These People had now livaded that pair of Syria which was under the Saracens, and the great Cham, their King stein tembassador's to invite most Princes of Europe to Bare in that Conquest. Particularly, he sent Embassador's to the King of Aragon, with John Alaricus of Perpegnan, whom the King on account of an Embassy, received before, had sent into Tartary. The Tartar Embassis and Country of the Robert of Santiago, and D. Goralo Pergyra, Grand Prior of S. John. From Toledo, he went to Valencia. Where he gave Audience to the Tartars, and also to another Embassador the Knights of Santago, and D. Gonçalo Pereyra, Grand Prior of S. John. From Toledo, he went to Valencia; where he gave Audience to the Tartari, and allo to another Embaliador from the Emperor Paleologus, who promised to furnih Provillons, and all other Necessaries. After all things were in readiness, at the request of Queen Violatie his Daughter, he went as far as Filieria, and three took his leave of her, his Sons and Grandchildren. On the 4th, of nat as ranging, and there cook insteaveou net, inclosing and organization, of the 4th of September, in the Year 1266, he fet fail with a Fleet of 30 great Ships, and some Galleys.

The Seafon was not fit for such Expeditions. In three days they had sight of Adinora, where layme, a violent Storm dispers d'the whole Fleet, which was drove to several Ports. The King was King of Agont in the Agon a violent Storm dispers d'the whole Fleet, which was drove to several Ports. The King was region in the Marjeilles, and therice remov'd to the Gulph of Agde, Some Ships, and among tent barks for that in which went Fernat Sauchez, the King's Son, weather'd the Storm, and arriv'd at the Holy-Are, in the Holy-Land. After refreshing himself at Mantpelier, the King now repenting Land. After refreshing himself at Mantpelier, the King now repenting Land. Edward, Son and Heir to the King of England, went as far as Lagrano, to meet his Daughter-in-law, who was coming out of France thro' Naviarre to her Husband. This Marriage was Solemniz'd with greater Splendour than was ever seen before, for there were present at it same, King of Aragon, Grandfather to the Bridegroom, Peter, his eldest Son, Philip, elder Son to the King of France, Edward, Son and Heir to the King of England, the King of Grandfath, King Londo, his Brothers, Sons, and Uncle Alonso, Lord of Molina. A great number of French, Italian and Spanish Nobility was there, and among them William, Marques of Montsferatte, who, Jovins says, was Son-in-law to King Ferdinand. Sancho, Archbishop of Toledo, was also present, some as he had to Castie, as being the Son, of Blanch, eldest King of France might quit the Pretensions he had to Castie, as being the Son, of Blanch, eldest Sifter to Ring Henry. After the Solemnity, King Alonfo accompany'd the King at Aragon as for as Tarraponis.

The English and French went further than the Aragonians in the Expedition of the Holy-Land, but without much Success. Edward, eldest Son to the King of England, with a good French in Andrews of the Holy-Land, but without much Success. Edward, eldest Son to the King of England, with a good French in France, setSail from Marfelies on the first of March 1270. Theobald, King of Navarre, has Land Exving committed the Government to his Brother Henry, accompany'd S. Luis. After a Storm pedition, they landed at Tinner, Invested the Town, overthrew the Insides twice in the Field, and continu'd the Siege the space of 6 Months. The great heat causa'd the Plague, whereof vast numbers dy'd, and among them Prince-son, the King's Son, and lastly, the King himself on the 28th of August. Charles, King of Sieity, landing at this Juncture, the Besieg'd agreed to pay him 10000 Ducats a Year, and then the Army went over into Sicily. Theobald, King of Navarre, to Charles, King of Sieity, that of the King of Mavarre, to Charles, King of Sieity, that of the King of Mavarre, to Charles, king of Sieity, that of the King of Mavarre, to Charles, king of Navarre to Charles, king of the Navar

King of France might quit the Pretentions he had to Castile, as being the Son of Blanch, eldest

Sifter to Ring Henry. After the Solemnity, King Alonfo accompany'd the King af Aragonas

King Alonjo at this time was perplex'd with many cares. The ambition of taking upon him the Empire of Germany had not ceas'd. His Nobles were Mutinous, and there was a report that the Moors of Arigh made greater Preparations against Spain than they had ever done before. Yet Peter Marsinez, the Admiral, the last Year had taken Cadiz, from the Moors by surprize. There was some difficulty in maintaining that Island, and therefore it was refor'd to the King of Morocco, whose it was before, by that means to oblige him. King

C. M A P.

Alonso of Portugal, fent his Son Denis, then but 8 years old, to his Grandsather the King of Casille, to obtain of him that Portugal might be independent, he quitting his Claim to any gage to their Party; he was much furpriz'd, and apply'd his Thoughts to prevent the Mif-

Chap. X.

Homage from that Crown. This was propos'd in an Assembly of the Nobility, and oppos'd

Pornget
Homage from that Crown. This was propos'd in an Alfembly of the Nobility, and oppos'd made independent by none but D. Nuño Gonzalez de Lara, the chief: of the Malecontents. Nevertheles, the dependent King carry'd it, and Portugal was made Independant. D. Nuño worfe offended than before, conspir'd against the King with D. Lope de Haro, and Prince Philip; the King's Brothers findnobility verri'd Navarre, to joyn with them, but he excus'd himself with the absence of the King his conspire a Brother. Being disapointed there, those great Men follicited the Kings of Portugal and gainst Grandad, and even the Emperot of Marocco, to joyn with them in making Waryon Cashie.
theirKings
King Alonso was a Man of great sence, but more fit for a Scholler than a King; for whilf he Study'd the Heavens and Stars, he lost the Earth, and his Kingdom. Understanding what was in hand, by the information of Fernan Perez, whom the Conspirators endeavour'd to en-chiefs that threatned. To this effect from Murcia, where he then was, he fent Henry de A-rana, his Embassador, to endeavour some Accommodation with those Nobles, who had then assembled themselves at Palencia, to prepare for War, He, with the Queen, went to Valencia, to Confer with the King of Aragon. That Prince, like a wife Man, having forseen the Storm that threatned Caffile, had at Burgos advis'd King Alonfo not to proceed in making himfelf odious to his Subjects, and that if he could not reconcile the Nobility, he should gain the Commonalty and Prelates, with whole affiffance he might baffle all the defigns of the others. At this Conference nothing of moment was done. King Alonfo, nevertheless, was forced the next Year to return to Alicant, to fee the King his Father-in-law, and defire he would withhold the Nobles of Aragon from joyning with the Rebels of Caffile, as they intended to do. He alfo ask'd his advice, for that the King of Granada made War upon Guadix, and Malaga, which Affair he ought first to take in hand. King Jayme advis d to observe the Treaty made with the Moors, but that avail d nothing, for the King of Granada invited by the Rebels, entred the Christian Territories, burning and destroying all before him. A Body of African Horse, sent by Jacob Abenjoseph, King of Morocco, followed him. Hercupon, King Alonso orders his Son Ferdinand, then at Sevil, with all the Force he could make, to oppose the Moors. Progress He himself went to Burges, to try if there were any means left to reduce the Rebels. In that of the Re- City the Cortes, or Parliament met, all those Mutiniers being summoned upon security of

of the Re-City the Cortes, or Parliament met, all thole Mutiniers being lummoned upon iccurity of bellion in Catilie.

Catilie The King made hast to Toledo, thence to Almagro, and despairing of reducing the Rebels, endeavoured to appeale the King of Granada. It this did not succeed, he resolved to make War upon him with the greatest Force he could gather.

Whilst these things were acting in Cashie, Philip, King of France, Son to S, Luiz, added Poitiers and Toulouze to his Crown by Inheritance. Not long after he expelled Roger Bernard, Earl of Faux, because he would not stand to Judgment. This had like to have caus'd a War betwirt France and Aragon, because that Earldom was a feo for the latter. The wisdom of King Jayme prevented it, for he persuaded the Earl to submit himself to the King Disorders of France, and to the dispute ended. There were some apprehensions of Troubles within the in Aragon. Kingdom. Peter, the King selded Son, being offended at Ferdingul Sandez, his Bastard Brother, for that in his return from the Holy-Land, he had been nobly entertained by Charles, King of Sicily, and he furfreched they had contrived something prejudicial to the Kingdom. Fordinand was at Burriana, thither Peter came with a number of Soldiers, and Ranfack'd the whole House. Mean while Fordinand, and his Wise Aldone, made their ectage. From this beginning, greater Troubles arole, the Nobility being divided between the two Brothers, with fuch heat, that Ferdinand's Party doubted not to raise War against the King himself, All the Effect was that the Viscount of Cardona, and other great Men, lost their Estates. Ferdinand Sancher being taken by his Brother in the Castle of Pomar, was Strangled, and cast into the River Cinga. The Head being taken off, the other Conspirators were soon subdued. But the Death of Fernan Sanchez hap'ned three Years later. He left a young Son, from whom the Family of Castro, in Aragon descends. To Roger Lauria, King Jayme gave an Estate in Valencia, because he had accompany'd his Daughter-in-law from the furthest parts of Italy. This Gentleman proved a great Commander, especially by Sea. A Truce was concluded for many Years with Henry, now King of Navarre, his Brother Theobald dying without Issue. The King of Aragon pretended a Right to Navarre, but finding his own Subjects inclinable to Rebel, thought good to agree with the Foreigners, left they should joyn with his People against

CHAP

CHAP. X.

Rodulphus of Ausburg, chosen Emperor. Henry, King of Navarre dies, his Daughter Joanna Inherits. Alonso, King of Castile, agrees with his Nobles, then goes into France to plead for the Empire, before the Pope, and returns re infe &ta.

King Alonso ardently defired to go over into Germany to take possession of the Empire, Alonso, K. and the more, for that Richard, his Competitor being dead, the Electors were about of Collie, choosing another. This moved him to prepare for that Journey. The wifer fort fail, it aspires to were better to settle the Kingdom at home. Vain Men advised to carry an Army to the simple to the settle the Kingdom at home. fubdue all that should oppose him in Germany. Being resolved upon this Expedition, he denibdue at that more opposed with the Moors of Granada, and his own Nobles. Mean while, Albamar, King of Granada, died, at the beginning of the Year 1273. He was a Man of Courage and Conduct. Some differences arose about the Succession, but that Party prevail'd with which the Outlaws of Caftile joyned, and Mahomet Miralmutio Leminio, eldest Son to the Deceas'd, was Proclaimed King. Tho' this Prince was naturally an Enemy to Chriftians, and many advised him to War; yet because he was not well settled in his Kingdom. Ring Alonghop'd to conclude a Peace. Befides, feveral of the Revolted Nobles began to flacken in their Demands, particularly, Ferdinand de Cafro, and Roderick de Saldaria, upon a fafe-conduct, came to the Cortes, held at Avila. At the fame time in Germany they proceed-Rodulphus and the control of the E of Ausburg, was by the unanimous confent of the E of Ausburg, lectors chosen Emperor. All the Opposition King Alonso's Emballadors, then at Francjort chosen could make, availed nothing. The Cortes at Avila being broken up, King Alonso went to imperor Requena, to confult with the King, his Father-in-law, about the carrying on the War against the Moors. There he was seized with a dangerous Sicksiess, and because nothing sucgaint the Moors. There he was serzed with a dangerous Sickheis, and because nothing succeeded to his Mind, thought good to try whether a Peace could be concluded by the means of the Queen, and D. Sawbo the Archbishop. They two went immediately to Cordowy to set the Treaty on foot. To Pope Gregory X. the King sent Aymarus, a Dominican, and Ferdinand de Zamora, his Chancellor, who before the Pope, pleaded the Illegality of Rodulphus's Election. Ferdinand, Bilhop of Ovicao, was sent to the Electors upon the same Errand. All these Embassies took no effect. But in the following Year 1274, the Pope holding a General Council at Lyons, Fredulus was sent with the Legantine Power into Spain, and Orders of the Wine Manta the tenth of the Ecclesia Flexances for carrying on the Wengerick. to offer King Alonso the tenth of the Ecclesiaftical Revenues, for carrying on the War against the Moors, provided he would give over his vain pretensions to the Empire, and not diffurb the Moors, provided he would give over his vain pretentions to the impure, and not diffure the Peace of the Church. Mean while, King Henry of Navarre, overgrown with Fat, died Epary, K. at Pamplona, on the 22d of July. By his Wife Joanna, Daughter to Robert, Earl of Artois, o'Navarre, the Brother of S. Luis; he left one only Daughter, called like her Mother, Joanna, who discoveded him in the Kingdom, tho' but three years of Age. This was the original of new Joanna and the cause that the Kingdom of Navarre was annexed to France. Fredulus, Queen. his Embally was not ungrateful to King Alonfo, who answered he would entirely refer him-fielf to the Pope. Whereupon, his Holiness in open Consistory, confirmed the Election of Rodulphus, and wrote accordingly to all Christian Princes. He also ordered Rodulphus to pre-Rodulphus, and wrote accordingly to all Christian Princes. He also ordered Rodulphus to prepare to go into lialy, in order to be Crowned. King Jayme, the old, went to the Council at Lyons, and returned thence dissatisfied with the Pope, because he resided to Crown him, whiles he would pay the Tribute agreed by his Father, King Peter, as has been said before. Mean while, the King of Gramada, and Rebellious Nobles of Cassile, by the Queen's Mediation were reconciled to King Monso. All their Demands were granted to the Nobles The King of Gramada was ordered to pay 300000 Maravedies of Gold yearly, and a great Sum of ready Money. Bessides, because King Monso has taken Guadska and Malaga, into his Protection, a Truce for a Year was concluded between them, and the King of Gramada. Gonzalo Russ de Mienza, was then a great Man, and the King's Favourite, who had a great hand in Cassille reconstitute of the Commodation. The King of Gramada, and the Nobles, with Prince Ferdimand, fet comitation out from Cordova, and were kindly received by King Monso, at Sevil. Things being thus King A stelled, the Army of Cassile, under the Command of Prince Ferdimand, and by his Father's loop. order, moved towards Navarre, to Conquer that Kingdom. King Jayme having nade over his Title to that Kingdom to his eldeft son Peter, fint him to gain the good will of the People of Navarre, who naturally were more inclinable to the Aragonians than the Cafillians. Neither the Policy of Aragon, nor the Aragonians of Cafille prevailed, for the Queen, retired into France with her Daughter, under the Protection of that King. Prince Ferdinand attacked Piana, and being repulled, took Mendavia, and other small Towns. All things proved more difficult than had been expected, notwithstanding no Army appeared to oppose him, and the Nobility of that Kingdom was divided into several Factions. Most inclinable to the Aragonians, but chiefly Armengaud, Bishop of Pamplona, and Pero Sanchez de Montagudo, Governour of the Kingdom. Peter, Prince of Aragon, came as far as Sos, a Town on the Borders of both Kingdoms, there he pleaded his Title to the Crown, or at least demanded 7,000 Marks of Silver, which King Theobald not long before had agreed to pay. A Treaty being fet on foot, the Nobility proposed a Match betwixt the young Lady Heires of the Crown, and Prince Peter, who was to have the Kingdom in Dower with her. In case that Match should be disappointed, they engaged to pay the Prince 200000 Marks towards the charge of inould be dilappointed, they engaged to pay the Frince 200000 Marks towards the charge of the War they were to make with joynt Forces against Cafrile, in case that King persisted to relose them. These Articles were agreed on at Olite, in November: King Alonjo being, resolved to take a Journey into France, lield the Cortes, or Parliament at Toledo, that all things being setled, he might set forwards. The Government of the Kingdom he left to his Son being feeled, he might fet forwards. The Government of the Kingdom he left to his Son Ferdmand, to feveral Noblemen he gave Pofts of Honour, and made D. Nuño de Lara, General of the Frontiers against the Moors. The Cortes breaking up, the King and Queen, their younger Children, and Emanuel, the King's Brother, about the end of the Year set forwards. Their Journeys were short, by reason of the greatness of the Retsinue. They wentto Valencia, then to Tartofa, then to Tartofa, where king Yame waited to entertain them. They kept Chrismass as Barcelona, and there began the Year 1275. Both Kings were present at the Funeral of F. Raymund de Penajuerte, a Dominican, and Person of singular Piety. This same Year died D. Pelayo Perez Correa, Master of the Knights of Samiago, very Aged, and Famous for his great Exploits. His Body was Buried at Talavera, in the Church of S. James the Apostle, which is in the Suburb, as the People of that Town affirm. Others say at S. Mary de Tudia, a Church built by him at the foot of Sierra Moorna, in memory of a great Vistory obtained there by him over the Moors. Which was so remarkable, that the Peonle of S. James the Apolite, which is in the Suburb, as the People of that Town affirm. Others fay at S. James the Apolite, which is in the Suburb, as the People of that Town affirm. Others fay at S. Mary de Tudia, a Church built by him at the foot of Sierra Morena, in memory of a great Victory obtained thereby him over the Moore. Which was fo remarkable, that the People gave out the Sun had flood as at Johna's Command. They alfo fay, that Church at first was called of Tenudia, from the words the Master faid to the Mother of God, which were Senotral Ten Tu Dia, that is to Suy, Lady bold the Day. Fear makes one Holfr look like many, and many things are feigned, or fancied in danger which never hap hed. King Jayme no way approved of his Son-in-law King Alonso Journey, and endeavoured all he could to distude him from profecuting of it. King Alonso Journey, and endeavoured all he could to distude him from profecuting of it. King Alonso Journey, and endeavoured all he could to distude him. There the Pope having dismissed the Council, had appointed to meet him. There the King on the day appointed, before the Pope and Cardinals, made a long Harangue in Vindication of his Right to the Empire. The Pope in few words answered all his Pretencialities, meets the Pope hearing him, if fill he thought himself any way wronged, for the love of God, and for his fake to put it up, since it concerned the Peace and Quietness of all Christendom: Then the Pope being a meek Man, and understanding how to appeale Generous Spirits, embraced and kissed him. Thus that Pretension was given over. Yet he set up other new ones, the pleaded a Title to Suevia, since the Death of Conradin, as being descended by the Mothers side from the Princes of that Country, and faid Rodulphus, besides taking the Empire from him, did him wrong in Usurping that Country. Besides, he urged, that he had an ancient Right to the Kingdom of Nasjee, and that the Frence acted unjustly in seizing that Kingdom, which they could pretend no Title to, but that of a forcible poss

The End of Book XIII.

Original of the Custom of making use of the Church Revenues in Castile. And this was all-that King Alonjo profited by that troublesome Journey, made in hopes of obtaining the Em-

THE History of SPAIN.

The Fourteenth BOOK.

CHAP. I

The King of Morocco passes over into Spain; The War with the Moors, the Christians twice defeated, death of Prince Ferdinand the Heir of Castile. Troubles in Navarre betwixt the Natives and the French.

Acob Abenjofeth King of Morocco having now obtain'd the Empire of all Africk, and understanding Andalucia was left defenceles by King Along's departure into France, was dubious whether he should invade Spain, and revenge the Losse sustain'd by his Nation, or whether he had not better stay at Home and settle shis new acquir'd Dominions. An Embally that came to him out of Spain, soon put him out of this doubt. Ma-The Empire of Granda having more regard to his Prosit than the Oath he had taken, was perour of no sooner gone from Sevil, but he began to Meditate how to possess himself of all Andalucia, Morecco Considering of himself he was not able to deal with the Christians, notwithstanding the absence of King, Along's, he resolv'd to invite the King of Morocco, then a famous and potent Prince, to his Aid. The King of Morocco overcome by the Perswasions of the Spanish-Moor, resolv'd upon the War in Spain. He rais'd Men, gather'd Ships, Horses, and Arms; and made all manner of Preparations throughout his Dominions. Nothing troubl'd him so much as want of Money, and the care of keeping his Design private, less the Christians being instructions; he sent Embalsadors to the King of Argon to borrow Money of him, upon pretence of making War against a powerful Moor, who had rebell'd at Cheus. Fame spread abroad what he endeavour'd to conceal: Therefore neither the King of Argon sent him Mony, nor did the Castissan and Tarifa, which as had been agreed between them were to be deliver'd to him by the King of Granda, as cautionary Towns. There he Landed a vast Number of Argin and Tarifa, which as had been agreed between them were to be deliver'd to imby the King of Grandad, as cautionary Towns. There he Landed a vast Number of Arginian. The Horse are faid to be 17000, the Number of Foot not known; but proportionabe to so great an undertaking. The first care was to reconcile the Moors among estimated themselves, so those of Malaga and Guadiz came to agreement with the King of Granda. At Spain Malaga they held their Council of W Malaga they held their Council of War, where it was refolv'd to divide the Army into two parts, that the Multitude might the better fubfilt, and the Christian Territories be the more endamagéd. Thus the King of Morocco undertook the Country about Sevil, he of Granda that of Jaen. D. Naño de Lava was General of the Frontiers, who with all speed, fent to Prince Ferdinand for supplies, whilth he gathering what Forces he could, put himself into Ezisa, a frrong place, by which the King of Morocco mult of necessity pass. A great number of Gentry resorted to him from the neighbouring Parts; whereby finding himself strong, left the Enemy should take courage at his shunning them, he resolv'd to hazard a Battle: At first the Christians seemed to have the better, but the Multitude at last prevailing, were put throw of that escaped field to the City which was near. D. Naño's Head was sent of a Present to the Rians. King of Granada, which was not very pleasing to him, remembring his former Friendship. that escaped fied to the City which was near. D. Noño's Head was sent of a Present to the stans. King of Granada, which was not very pleasing to him, remembring his former Friendship, and how by his Means he had obtained the Crown. Therefore he sent it to Cordova to be buried with the Body. This misortune which happend in May 1275, struck a great Terror into all the Kingdom. Some comfort it was that the Enemy, tho' Victorious, could not enter Exis, yet another disafter follow'd. Sancho Arch-Bishop of Toledo, having heard this sad News, gather'd all the Gentry he could about Toledo, Madrid, Canadakwara, and Talawera and march'd in all hast towards. Andaluxia. The Moors of Granada destroy d all the Lands of Jan, without sparing Man or Beast. These the Arch-Bishop attacks with more Heat than Prusage contrary to the Onione of the wisself who advicid to expect D. Lang de than Prudence, contrary to the Opinions of the wisest, who advis'd to expect D. Lope de Haro, who was upon his March to joyn them with a good Body of Men. Near Martos on

A fecond the 21 ff of Oftober, they fought and were easily vanquish'd, not only by reason of the disparity of Number, but also because the Christians were raw, and the insidely discipling Souldiers. The Rout was shameful, the Dead but sew for so remarkable a Victory. D. Sancho the Arch-Bishop was taken, and the two Moorish Kings being at variance about which of them he belong'd to, Atar Lord of Malaga run him through with his Sword, faying, There was no Realon'flich Men hould fall out about that Dog. The Arch-Bishop's Head and left hand, were cut off. This Diagree was so much the more to be lamented, for that the coner in that Fight might have been utterly overthrown had the Christians expected till D. Lope de Haro could joyn them; for he coming up foon after with only his own Forces oblig'd the Moors to retire; but could not totally defeat them, because Night came on. The Body, Head, and Hand of the Arch-Bishop being ransom'd at a great rate, were bury'd in the Royal Chappel of Toledo, where lay Alonso the Emperour, and his Son Sancho. Ferdinand Abbot of Covarrubias ledo, where lay Alonfo the Emperour, and his Son Sancho. Ferdimand Abbot of Covarrubiat fucceeded in the Archbilhoprick, and he having after fix Months refign'd it; because the Pope would not confirm his Election, the Pope made choice of D. Conzalo, the Second of the Name, who had been Bishop of Cuenca first, and then of Bingos. He is said to have been a Cardinal, and dyed in the Year 1299. This uhhappy Year we now write of, was yet more re-Princeser. markable for the Death of Prince Ferdimand. He dyed at Villareal where he had appointed sinual of the Rendezvous of all the Forces. His Body was bury'd at Husley, and his Death caus'd no Capital less Grief at present, than it afterwards produc'd Troubles, his Brother Sancho petending the Crown of Right appertain'd to him, as'second Son to King Monso then Living, notwith-standing Prince Ferdimand by his Wife the Lady Blanch, left two Sons call'd Alonfo and Ferdimand, whom at the time of his Death, he recommended to D. John de Lava eldest Son to D. Namo de Lava. Prince Sancho being a Youth of good Conduct made Head against the Monso. nand, whom at the time of his Death, he recommended to D. John de Lava eldest Son to D. Nino de Lava. Prince Sancho being a Youth of good Conduct made Head against the Moors and put a stop to their proceedings. He garison'd all strong Places, and avoided giving Battle, by that means gaining time for the sury of the Insides to Spend it fels. The Moors of Falincia encouraged by the success of the others, and despiting King Jayme who wag grown old, revolted, notwithstanding Prince Peter was upon the Borders of Marcia with a good Body of Men. Navarre was no better settled at that time. Philip King Assirs of France, having contracted Joanna the Heiress of Navarre to his Son Philip who succeeded him, and was called the Fair, made Stephen de Belmare a French-Man Vicercy of Navarre, thing that Imployment from Jeter de Monagudo. Affranger, had not sufficient Authority to quell the Tumults that then were in the Kingdom, and Peter de Monagudo offended that he had been removed from that Post loving with Garcia Almarwides who had always fahe had been removed from that Post joyning with Garcia Almoravides who had always favour'd the Cashilians, they both headed the Mutineers. Within the City Pamplona the Two Fa-Rions came to Blows. Such was their cruelty that they burnt the Ripe-Corn, and dain't out the Brains of Children, but the Franch had the worlt of it. Peter de Montagudo inclining afterwards to the French Party, either for the fake of Peace or fome other Caufe, was kill d by his own People. A Man unworthy that hard Fate for his many Virtues.

CHAP. II.

Three Popes Dye in one year. Prince Sancho of Castile contrives to Usurp that Crown from his Nephews. The Death of Jayme King of Aragon, and of Alonso of Portugal. Peter succeeds the first, and Denis the latter.

HE following Year 1276 Was remarkable for the death of Three Fopes, which were Gregory the Kth, Innocent the Vth; and Advian the Vth. Innocent held it but Five Months and Two Days, and Advian only Thirty Seven Days. John the One and Twentieth finceeded him, he was born at Liebon, and a great Scholar as appears by his Writings. In the Ninth Month of his Pontificate he was sill at Vitarb by the fail of the Roof of the Room where he was; Nicholas the III. was his Succeitor. At this same time in Cafile were flowed the Seeds of a Civil War, which prov'd lafting and destructive. Prince Sancho us'd all means to gain the affections of the Nobility and People, which the King his Father had utterly lost. His Journey into France had increased their Discontent. The People was defined to five Nobelities, and the Nobles were well disposed to Rebel. D. Lope de Havo, a Man in great power was reconcil'd at Cordova to Prince Sancho. A Truce was concluded with the Moors for two Years. This done the King of Morecco nat's dover into Africk. Prince Sancho with great speed went HE following Year 1276 was remarkable for the death of Three Popes, which were This done the King of Mireceo pal's dover into Africk. Prince Sanche with great speed went to Toledo upon pretence of visiting his Father, then newly return'd from France. His chief aspires to bave the Succellion settled upon himself with the consent of the King and Ultury the Nobility. D. Lepe de Haro undertook to propose this Affait, which highly displeased King Clown Alonfo, both for that they urg'd the Succession whilst he was yet living, and because he thought from his it a great wrong to exclude his Grand-children. However by the Advice of his Brother Nephews. Frince Emanuel, then a great Friend to Prince Sancho, it was resolv'd the Cortex or Parliament should meet at Segovia to determine this Affair. Their Judgment was given in behalf of Prince Sancho, in which doubtless regard was had to the Peace of the Kingdom which he would otherwise never have ceas'd to disturb. In Aragon King Jayme us'd all his Endeavours to quell the Moors by Policy, or if that fail'd, to apply Force. To this purpose he March'd through Valencia, and in feveral Rencounters, fometimes the one, fometimes the other Party had the better. Whilst the King was at Xativa his Forces were so intirely cut off at Luxen, had the operer. While the King was a Lateron instruction in following the interface of all large, that from that Day which was Tuefday, the People began to account Tuefday an unlucky Day. Garci Ruiz. de Apagra, Son to Peter de Apagra Lord of Albarazin was flain in that Fight, and Slughter the Head-Commendary of the Knights Templers taken. The King griev'd at this lois and be-of the Arabing very much broken with continual Labour left the Charge of the War to his Son Prince gonian. Poer and was carry'd away fick to Algezira a Town in Valencia. There being given over by the Phylicians, he refign'd up the Kingdom to his Son giving him much wholesome Advice, Then he put on the Habit of S. Bernard, intending to figend what remain'd of Life in the Monaftery of Poplere, where he would also be buryed. His Sickness gave him not fo intend Leifure; he dy'd at Valenica on the 27th of July. His Fame will be immortal not only for his great yayne I.K. I suppose he caus'd most of them to be Consecrated, having taken them from the Most. For diese Martial Assairs he may be compar'd to the most renowned antient Commanders, having fought Thirty pitched Battles with the Moors, and been Victorious in them all, whereby he obtained the Name of Conquerour. He reigned Sixty Three Years, and somewhat blemish'd his Good Name by his Incontinency. By Queen Violante he had, Peter, Jayme, Sancho the His Islue, Arch-Bishop, Elizabeth Queen of France, Violante Queen of Castile, Constance marryed to Prince Emanuel; and Mary and Elenor who dyed young. This was his lawful Islue. By D. Prince Emanuer, and Franz and Extent with dyed young. This was instantinue. By L. Terefa Egida Vidaura he hady D. Jaymt Lord of Exercia, and Peter Lord of Ayerve, both whom at his Death he declared Legitimate, and appointed to fucceed in Cafe Queen Violante's Children left no Heirs. By another Woman of the House of Antillon he had Fernan Sanchez, who we faid above was killed by his Brother. By Berengaria Fernandez, he had another Son called Peter Fernandez, to whom he gave the House of Ixar. From them all are descended Moble Families in the Kingdom of Jaragon. It is remarkable that after his four Sons which he declared Legitimate, he appointed the Heirs Male of his Daughters Fielante, Conflance and Elizabeth to succeed, excluding the Mothers themselves and all other Women from ever in-Altabeth to nucceed, excluding the mounters themselves and all other women from ever inheriting the Grown of Argon. He charg'd his Son to expel all the Moors the Kingdom, as being a People never to be trufted. Prince Peter the his Father were dead took not immediately the name of King, but flil'd himself Heir of the Kingdom till fuch time as he was crown'd at Zwangofa, which was on the 16th of November after the Troubles of Valencia Peter were appeared. The Queen also was Crown'd, and the Nobility took an Oath to Prince Crown'd Alonso the new King's Son as Heir apparent of the Crown. To D. Jayme the late King's young. King of March and Committee of the Crown of the Crown. Alonjo the new King's son as Heir apparent of the Lrown. 10 D. Jayme the late King's young. Aing or er Son were given the Islands of Majorea and Minorea, with the Title of King as his Father dragon. had ordered. He had allo the Earldom of Rulllom and Monpeller in France. This Prince had Three Sons, Sancho, Ferdinand, and Philip. The Division of the Kingdom can'd difgusts between the two Brothers which at length broke out into open War. D. Jayme complain'd that the Kingdom of Valencia had been taken from him, and he left a Homager to his Brother, sthus his Ambition pull'd him on to his Ruin, and he never gave over till fripp'd of Manare was nothing quieter than the rest of Spain. Philip King of France having taken Troubles upon him the Charge of that Kingdom refolv'd to go thither in Person, with a sufficient Ar-of Navar. my to compose those Distractions. The Weather was unseasonable, the Pyrenean Mountains cover'd with Snow, and great want of Provisions. Which difficulties caused him to return Home himself; yet he sent forward Charles Earl of Arras with the most and best of the Army. This was a Person of great Authority as being Uncle to Queen Joanna, and therefore his presence was of great use. The contrary Faction being worsted by the French near a Town call'd Reniga, retird to that quarter of Pamplona called Manageria, the French fill purfuing and prefling upon them. Therefore Garcia de Almoravides the head of those People with all his Friends and Kindred in the Dark Night got through the Enemies Centinels and fled out of the Kingdom. Some of them fetled in Cerdagne, where their Posterity remains to this Day Pamplona was taken and fired. Such as remain'd terrify'd with this Punishment Navarre fubmitted themselves; others that were sled being summon'd to appear and answer for brought themselves, upon contempt were in absence attainted of High Treason. The French Gene-under by ral having justed the Kingdoin, went into Caffile and was nobly entertained by King Alonfo, the trench, with whom being formethat familiar; the King faid, He wanted not intelligence from the French Court iof fuch as were near about that King and revealed his Secrets. This, when ther true or falle brought Broquiol the French King's Chamberlain into suspicion, which was increase of the correspondent programs. The remembers in Schamberian into impicton, which was increased by Letters of his to King Almfo written in Cyphers, intercepted by his Enemies, and at laft cost him his Head.

Chap. Ilo

Da. Violante Queen of Cattile feeing her Grand-children flight. Violante ed, and Prince Sambo prefer'd before them, and not thinking her self safe resolved to fly, and Capital that purpose perswaded her Brother the King of Aragon to come to the Monastery of the with her erral upon pretence of visiting him there. With the Queen were her Grand-children, and with her safe when the well-stand her added to the Grand Capital. all together went into Aragon. King Alonso when he understood her design indeavourd to children, prevent it, but too late. No missortune could have troubled him more than this did. files to therefore he vented his Passion upon those he thought had any hand in the Queens departure. He caus'd his Brother Prince Frederick and Simon Ruiz de Flavo Lord of Cameros to be apprehended. The Court was full of discord and many favour'd the King's Grand-children. Simon Ruyz was burnt at Trevize by Prince Sancho his Order; he also caus'd Prince Fredrick's Head to be cut off, which drew on him much hatred, especially for that they were executed without being try'd. Embassadors pas'd between the Two Kings. He of Castile demanded his Wife should be sent back, and the Election of D. Sanche allow'd. The King of Aragon excus'd himself faying, that Business was not yet fully determin'd, and that all Persons found protection in his Kingdom, much more a Sifter. These differences were so heightn'd, that it was tection in his Kingdom, much more a Sifter. These differences were so heighted, that it was thought the King of Aragon would have made War upon Cashile, had not the Moors of Valencia rebelled and taken Montesa, relying upon the King of Morocco. But those Tunnulus were quelled sooner than was expected, for the Moors seeing no Succours came from Africk delivered up to the King Montesa and many other Castles they had, in the Month of Angust 1277. Now King Montesa and Land. Prince Peter the King's Son undertook to subdue that City, but he returned with Shame having lost many Men, and our Fleet being ill manned was destroyed by the King of Morocco. Our Army dispersed, Some say the King of Morocco then built another Algerira, not far from the former. The Body of King Jayme of Aragon was deposited near the high Altar of the Cathedral Church of Valencia, and thence in the Summer translated to the Monastery of Poblete. ted to the Monastery of Poblete.

Book XIV.

Both the Kings of Castile and France, were equally concern'd about the departure of Qu. Violante, he of Castile fearing lest the Children should be carryed into France, where they were fure of Protection, and he of France lest they should fall into the Hands of their Uncle, where their Lives were indanger, or at leaft, their Liberty was certainly loft. Solemn Em-where their Lives were indanger, or at leaft, their Liberty was certainly loft. Solemn Em-lines were fent from both Princes upon this Score to the King of Aragon, who at length The true refolv'd that Queen Violante should return to her Husband, and that the Two Princes should licit of Reits of Capital that Queen Fiolante should return to her Husband, and that the Two Frinces should reduce the the Lady Blanch their Mother, seeing them deprived of Liberty, where she expected they should have been protected. Hereupon she went away to Aragon, and not obtaining any thing of that King passed over into France to persuade the King her Brother to make War upon Castile and Aragon, unless they comply'd with her reasonable demands. The Kingdom of Navarre which the French then possess, lying so opportunely to insest Capital and Aragon moved that King and Prince Sanche to appoint a Conference at a place between The Kingdom of Navare which the French then possess, lying so opportunely to insect Cassille and Argon mov'd that King and Prince Sambo to appoint a Conserence at a place between Requiena and Bunol. There they met on the Fourteenth of Sept. 12-72, and laying asside all former Animostites concluded a League. After the conference the King of Aragon went away to one in Gardonia, then in an Uproar cau'd by the Nobility. Armoyaud de Cabrera, Son to Alvaro de Cabrera, to whom the King not long before had given the Earldom of Urgel, was the great incendiary. The King befored Balaguer, the chief City of that Earldom, and in it took Armongaud himself, and his Uncle Roger Bernard, and some other Lords, whom he long kept Prisoners, especially the Earl of Faux, who had Robelld several times. Thus the Troubles of Cassimia ended, Prince Sancho of Cassile went to Balajoz., whither his Father was gone from Sevil, to endeavour to make Peace between his Grandson, Denis King of Perugal, and Molos that Kings Brother. whom he labour'd by Force to derrive of the Polletsions his Father from Sevil, to endeavour to make Peace between his Grandson, Denis King of Portugal, and Monfe that Kings Brother, whom he labour'd by Force to deprive of the Polistions his Father of Fornigal had left him. King Almfo of Portugal, Father to Denis, dyed at Lisbon the beginning of this of this deth. I fame year. He Liv'd 70 years, Reigned 32. and was buried in the Monastery of S. Dominick, Built by himfelf in that City. Prince South having seen his Father, was sent away to make New Levies throughout the whole Kingdom, in order to March against the King of Grands, who was then taken up in Building the Palace of that City call'd Albambra, an excellent Structure, which cost much Mony, that King being no less skill'd in Works of that Nature and in Military Affairs: What pretence there was for this War. I know not. but suppose Denis fue than in Military Affairs. What pretence there was for this War, I know not, but suppose ceeds to he was not included in the late Treaty made with the King of Morocco. Denis the King of the Crown Portugal, either that he consided not in his Grandsather, or fearing he was more inclinable of Paringal, to his Brother, tho he came as far as Telves, which is but Three Leagues from Badajoz, on a sudden turn'd back and went away. King Alonfo in a great Rage, to be so disappointed, return'd to Sevil. At this time Conrade Langa Admiral of Aragon, with a Fleet of Ten Galleys, four'd the Coasts of Africk, particularly of Tunez, and Tremezen, because they re-fus'd to pay the Tribute agreed upon some years before. A certain Author affirms, this Expedition was undertaken to restore Mirabusar, Expell'd his Kingdom of Tunez by his Brother. All agree, a great Booty was taken by the Aragonian; and that at the Streights of Gibultar they defeated Ten Galleys of the Ring of Morecce, Taking some, and Sinking others. The King of Aragon at Valencia, where he commonly relided, gave a Grant of the Lordship of Segorve to his Bastard Son D. Jayme about the Month of Nevember. CHAP. III.

The Practices of Prince Sancho. He Rebels against his Father. The King of Morocco comes to Aid King Alonso: Returns home, leaving a Thousand Horse to serve under him. King Alonso Disinherits, and Curses his Son Prince Sancho.

N Caffile the Affection the People bore Prince Sancho daily increas'd, and many believ'd when he was once well rid of his Nephews, he would ease his Father of the Burden of the Crown. His Father suspected nothing less than such a Design. Prince Sancho in the Spring of the Year 1280. March'd with the Army he had rais'd, to the Frontiers about Jaen, and Prince being there Recruited with Forces fent by his Father from Sevil, entred the Territories of Gra-Sancho his nada, where he Burnt all the Country as far as that City, and then return'd with a great num- Practices ber of Cattle and Captives to Cordova, and thence bore his Father Company to Sevil. This to gain the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People, which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People which was what he chiefly aim'd at, to fecure the Success endear'd him more to the People which was what he chiefly aim'd at the Company has been also been also be a success endear which was what he chiefly aim'd at the Company has been also be cession to the Crown. Philip K. of France fent Embassadors to demand, that his Nephews should ple War. Nothing being concluded, it was agreed the Three Kings upon fufficient Security given, should meet, and commune together. All the Kings set forward, but they met not; for Prince incould meet, and commune together. All the Kings fet forward, but they met not; for Prince Sancho conningly broke off that Interview, fearing his Father, who was inclinable to his Grandchildren, might conclude fomething that might be prejudicial to him. However it was agreed, that Charles Prince of Teranto, Son to the King of Sicily, should carry the messages between the Kings, yet all came to nothing, Prince Sancho undermining their Designs. The French only ask d, that Prince Alonjo should have the City Jean given him with the Title of King, and to hold of the Grown of Castile. After this Disappointment the Kings of Area of the Alondon of the County of the King of Prante took an Oath, he would resum the Lordship of Mannessier, to which he had presented. gon and France met about the same Affair, and with the same fuccess, only the King of France took an Oath, he would refigu the Lordhip of Mompeligit, to which he had pretended a Right, to Topine King of Majorca. Frince Sancho was extreemly pleas'd that he had disppointed all the Designs of those Kings, yet fear d his Fathers Love towards those Children, and there wanted not some, who incensed King Alonso against his Son. Therefore the Prince resolv'd to strengthen himself with Foreign. Adds, and to that purpose procur'd an Interview between his Father, the King of Angon and himself at a Town call'd Campillo between Mereda and Towardons on the 27th of March 1281. At this Conference a League offensive and League bedefigive was established between the two Kings, upon penalty of 20000 pound weight of with Carlier and Towardons on this that first broke it. Padaquela, Torsia, Xra, and Ayola were now given to ragon, the King of Angon, and in lieu of them to Prince Emanuel the King & Brother, whose those Places were, Espasons was given. This is what was publickly acted: In private they concluded with jourt-Forces to invade Navarre, and agreed what part each was to have when cluded with joint forces to invade Navarre, and agreed what part each was to have when Conquer'd. Prince Sancho obtain'd, that the young Princes his Nephews, should be secured in the Castlete Naviva; and the more to oblige the King of Avagon, he promised after his Fathers Death, to yield him up all the Kingdom of Navarre; and to give him in Castlet, the Town of Requence, with all its Dependencies, which lies on the Borders of Palencia towards Marcia. He wall'd not what promites he made to fecure his Power. D. John Nañez, de Lara, a powerful Man, was then Lord of Albaracin, having Marry'd the Daughter and Heirels of D. Alward & Argara, the Son of Peter Robingues, de Argara, both Lords of that City. Thence he made inroads into both the Kingdoms of Caffile and Argam, carrying away much-Booty, and gave Protection to all those that fled to him on account of any Crimes whatsever. Particularly D. Lope Diaz. de Haro a mighty Lord, being offended at King Alonfo and Prince Sancho for the Death of Prince Frederick and the Lord of Cameros, was retir'd thither. The King of Aragon and Prince Sancho confulted at Taracona about taking that City, and expelling D. John de Lara. King Alonso went to Burgo, to Celebrate the Nuptials of his two Sons Peter and John. Peter marry'd a Daughter of the Lord of Narbonne, and John the Daughter of the and join. Feter marry a a Daughter of the Lord of Navorme, and join the Laughter of the Earl of Monferrat. Spain at prefent feem'd quiet, but a great Storm hung over it.

The Jealousies between King Alonso and his Son Prince Sancho, at length broke out into Rebellion open War. It troubled the King to see himself slighted by reason of his Age, and his Sub-of Prince Jecks gaping after Innovation. Therefore to gain Reputation, he gather'd Forces; and Sancho atthe weak with Age and Troubles, Ravag'd all the Country of the Moors. Nothing per-gaint his slaved him to much so where Moors. The Country of the Moors. plex'd him so much as want of Mony: To redress this he Coin'd a new fort, not so Weighty nor Pure as what was in use. This increased the hatred of the People, who gave out, that he had no regard to Jultice; and that many had their Effates Conficated upon forg'd Crimes. Fredulus Bifnop of Oviselo, a French Man by Birth, was now fent by the King Emballador into France; the pretence was, to Vlift King Philip, and by his means obtain of the Pope the Croifade, for all fuch as would ferve againft the Moore at their own Coff. But the real defign was to treat about fetting the King's Grandsons at Liberty. Prince Sancho was not ignorant of this practice, and therefore to secure himself, went away to Cordova, and made a League with the Moorifi King of Granada, remitting him two Thirds of the Tribute he paid, the more to gain his good will. Besides, the Nobility of Spain before disgusted with the King for his great feverity, declar'd for the Prince. These things were in hand about the beginning of the year 1282. The same year in August, the Marriage between King Denis of Portugal, and the year 1282. The tame year in Linguist, the warriage between King Denis of Portugal, and King Denis Lizabeth, eldeft Daughter to the King of Anagon, was folemnized at the Town of Transel, of Portugal Lizabeth, eldeft Daughter to the King of Anagon, was folemnized at the Town of Transel, of Portugal Lizabeth, who for her great Virtue is enrolled among the Saints, and her Elizabeth Fealth celebrated in that Kingdom. King Denis without reflect to his Uncle, openly made a Lizabeth Region of the Cortes, or Parliament, to Toledo; and to Precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Cortes of Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Parliament, to Toledo; and to precent differences the Parliament and Parliame The Cortes orders, provided fufficiently for his own Safety. Prince Sancho on the other fide, fummons them not Valladolid; and thither the greatest number resorted. Here he marry'd Mary the hing and Daughter of Alonso, Lord of Molina, his Third Coulin, and by her had Perdaman the eldest. king and Daugnter of Zianjo, Lordon Zianjo, and Ordon an Commonalty were drawn into Rebellion, and some in that Confusion saluted Prince Sancho King, calling him Father of his Country, and all other Names given to Sovereigns. He po-Ring, canning min rather to me scountry, and an other rather to stretching. The best fittively refused that Title whilft his Father lived, who nevertheless the Heat was such, that Prince Emanuel D. Sancho's Uncle, in the Name of all the Nobility publickly in open Assembly, depos'd King Alonfo from the Government. This was a just Judgment of Providence for his prefumption, in daring to find fault with the Works of God, as has been deliver'd to us by Tradition. He is also said to have foreseen by his Skill in Astrology this Misver'd to us by Tradition. He is also said to have foreleen by his Skill in Aftrology this Mif-fortune; and that this foresight made him Cruel, which hashen'd what he apprehended. King Alonfo thus forsaken by his Subjects, apply'd himself to the King of Morièceo for Sup-plies of Men and Mony, sending him his Crown, which was of great Value, in Pawn. Alon-zo de Guzman Lord of Sanluca, was at that time in Moroèto, and much in Favour with that Prince; to him King Alonfo writ a very submissive Letter, desiring he would intercede with the Morithy King to grant his Requeste. That King shoping to make his Advantage of the discord among the Christians, did more than was askd of him. He came over to Algeira, which theorete to and had a Meeting with Kingy Alonfo at Labora. Great Compliments Halfed between them, affir King and King Alonfo had the Upper Hand given him, not only as a Stranger; but because he was defeended from Kings, whereas the Moor had gaind his Kingdom, as he himself urgd. Here they consulted how to carry on the War, fince there were no hopes of Peace. Sevil held for King Alonfo, Cordova for Prince Sancho his Son. This City the Moors undertook to Besiege, and King Alonso joyn'd them with what Forces he had; but the Place being well provided with all Necessaries, after 20 Days spent before it; they raisd the Siege. Thence at the instance of King Alonso, the Moors pass'd Sierra Morena, advanced as far as Monries, and having plunder'd all the Country, return'd with their Booty to Ezija. Thither King Alonfo came, but went away privately, being inform'd the Moor defigned to fecure him, whether true or false, is not known. Certain it is, that King highly resented his Honour should be brought in question, and so went over into Africk. Yet he left King Monso 1000 Horse that had long served him. Harnan Ronge Commanded this Body, and its said of them, that meeting 10000 of the Enemies Horse near Cordova, they charg'd so furiously, that they Ring do for them to Flight. Such was their extraordinary. Valour. At Sevi King Alonfo difineris in a folemn Affembly, difinherited his Son Sancho, and pour dout many Curfes upon him. and curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his Fathers Curfes, but renew'd the League with the King of Granular Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his fathers Curfes and Curfes That Prince regarded not his Son nada, and made all manner of Preparations about Cordova, putting the Army into Winter

CHAP.

CHAP. IV.

Quarters in that Neighbourhood,

The Conspiracy of John Prochita in Sicily, against the French; and Slaughter of them call a the Sicilian Vespers, Kings of France and Aragon at War about Sicily. Castile and Aragon under an Interdict at the same time.

This Year was Memorable, not only for the Wrongs done to King Alanfe, but also for the famous Conspiracy of John Prochita. He had been Lord of the Island Prochita; on paind. It the famious Configuracy of John Prochita. He had been Lord of the Hand. Prochita, on French the Coaft of Sicily; a Man of great Parts, much a Friend to King Manffeddis, and fince his Overthrow, fearing the Friends, fled to Angan. There he was honourably entertained by the Two Kings; Johns and his Son Peter, and had large Revenues given him. of The Gibbling at that time oppressed by the Friends, had call their Eyes on the King of Angan for Protection. Charles, King of Sicily and Naples, kept all Italy, and even the City of Rome, in Subjection, and refused to release Beatries, the Daghter of Manfredse, and sifter to Configure Queen of Angan. John Proteins alid hold of thele Diguits between those Princes and Great Men, and hoped to improve them to the recovering of his Effate. In order to it; he wint in diffusite to Could antisoned. and informed the Emperor Paleoleses, how Charles, thing of went in difguife to Confiaminople, and informed the Emperor Paleologia, how Charles King of Scily, with the Power of the French, intended to deprive him of the Empire; and restore Baldwin, whose Daughter he had Marry'd. The Emperor, the convinc'd that what Prachita told him was true, would not openly declare himself, but promis'd under-hand, to affift the King of Aragon in his Pretentions, with a great Sum of Mony. This done, Prochica returns into Italy, where he gave the Pope an account of his Negotiation, and then went into Sicily, to flir the People there to Rebel. Such was the Security of the French, and the Secrecy of the Configurators, that nothing was discover'd. At this time dy'd Pope Nicholas, and Martin the Pope Mar-IVeh native of Tours, succeeded him. This Pope was wholly devoted to King Charles, and to oblige tin and 1Vth native of Tours, increded him. I his rope was wholly devoted to King Congress, and to oblige in and him, Excommunicated the Greek Emperor. Besides, he refused to Canonize Raymand of Pena, the King figure, which the King of Aragon folicited for, pretending that nothing ought to be granted of Aragon him, whilf he resuled to pay the Tribute he ow'd to the Church of Rome, but instead thereof a variance result of the Grant of the Tenths of Ecclesiastical Revenues, which his Predecessor him now Reigning. What might have terrify d the Aragonium, made him, the more gager; and therefore he furnished a mighty Fleet on the Coast of Aragon, giving out, it was to go over into Africk, where two Sons of the King of Tunez, Aragon, tiving out, it was to go over into Africk, where two Sons of the King of Tunez, who was deposed by Comada Lampa, were at variance about the Cities of Conflamina and Bugia. This was given out, but his real defign was against Sicily. The Popes and King of France's Emballadors, pressing to know the intent of those Preparations, as being both concern'd for King Charles, the King of Aragon in a Passion answer'd, If he though his Shirt knew his design, he would take it off and burn it. The Greeian Emperor according to promise, sent a considerable Sum of Mony. The Conspiracy of the Sicilians was put in Execution at the holiest time of the year, to mit, on the 21th of March, being Easter Tucsday, when the French were most secured being wholly bent upon Sports and Passimes. At the time Massice when the Bells Rung to Vespris or Evensors, all the French throughout the whole Island were of the Massical and thence came the Proverb of the Sicilians Sicilians Sicilians seeks, the Sicilians sicilian Yet others affirm, it began at Palermo, where a French Man offering to fearch a Woman for Arms, the People laid hold of that occasion to Rife, and kill all the French in the City, Yet others affirm, it began at Palermo, where a Figure Man offering to fearch a Woman for Arms, the People laid hold of that occasion to Rife, and kill all the French in the City, Castle and Country, without sparing either Age or Sex, infomuch that they slew such Women as they thought to be, with Child by them, that none of the Right might remain. The City of Palermo was Plunder d, as if an Enemy had entred it. 'All Stater Towns follow'd the Example of Palermo. Only Actions was some time quiet; because Hebertus Angeliaumsis Governour of the whole sland for the French, was there, yet soon after the Melinels expell'd the Governour and Garrison. William Porceloste a Provengal, who was Governour of Calarassimia, in the Heat of that Constition was permitted, to depart peaceably, the general opinion concess, of the whole slight and Modelty, protecting him. This was the event of that most famous Conspiracy of John Problins. The Sistians after their Fury was over, reflecting on their Danger, sand, resolving rather to Dye than fall again into the hands of the French, hough fit to have recourse to the Ring of Aragon for Protection. Whill this was doing in Sicily, he was at Tortela, with his Fleet in a readiness, and thence went over into Africk; where having plunders and smind the Sea Coults, on a indican he said dover to Corsia. There he was into the designed Mengan, Statering it with the greatest flury imaginable. The Mechanisms of the Sea Coults, on a find the Said over to Corsia. There he was into the Regard that King Charles was gone in great hafte from Traisany, and had laid sleggent Mengan, Statering it with the greatest flury imaginable. The Mechanisms of the Sea Coults, on a find the said over to Corsia. There he was into find the Labour of Danger. Now the King of Aragon arrived at Palermo, where the more to tye him to the Interest of the Illand, he was Crowned; and there his Fleet was Increas? dwith the Addition of the Ships taken by the Sicilius, and provided by the French against the Greeian Emperor. Hope of Brave, and valu'd himself much upon his Strength and Skill at all Weapons. King Peter lengtherent him a Challenge to Fight Hand to Hand, and decide the Otarrel without the Effusion of review the sound he was a sufficient him a Battel: So say the French Historians. But Kings of the Aragonians affirm, that Kings of the Aragonians affirm, that Kings of the Aragonians affirm, that Kings of the Challenge was accepted; and they agreed to Fight with 100 Gentlenge on a side. A Dispute arising about the Place of Combat, Bourdans was agreed upon as all indifferent Place, being their in the Hands of the Kings of England. They appointed the Disy, and two re to the Conditions of the Combat. The Pope knowing what had been done in Sicily, charg'd the Kings of Aragon to desift, and not disturb the publick Peace; but he resulting to obey, on the Ninth of November was Excommunicated. He also sent to the King of England to sorbid him permitting the Battel in his Dominions, yet that avail'd not. Queen Constance by her Husband's Order went to Sicily that the Sicilians might not Revolt, she being their Natural Sovereign. She arriv'd at Mecina on the 22th of April 1283, and with her, her Son Japune, to whom his Father designd to cina on the 22th. of April 1283. and with her, her Son Fayme, to whom his Father delign'd to 1282

Book XIV.

give the Kingdom of Sicily. Both Kings prepar'd for the Challenge. King Charles went over into France, and he of Argon, with his Fleet, into Spain. On the first day of June, the day appointed for Battel, King Charles with his Troop of Gentlemen, appear'd at Bonries King Peter came not. The French Author's attribute this to Cowardize and Falfhood; acaus. King seer came not. I ne trench Authors attribute this to Cowardize and Falshood; for at the same time the King of Aragon was making Warlike Preparations. Our Historians excuse him, saying, he was warn d by the Governour of Bondeaux; to have a care of Treachery, for that the King of France was Marching that way with a powerful Army, so that his too Aragonian Horse were to encounter with the whole Power of France. This gave occasion to every one to make Research as a constant of the same and was the ground of a lasting War.

a lasting War.

As soon as the King of Magon rethind home, he took in hand two several Assariance in the king. Place, he made Incursions upon the Frontiers of Magon. The other was to appeale the Nodom of billy of Magon and Casadomia, who were then Matinous, and stirr'd up the People-to Rebellion upon the usual Freteness of Liberty and Property. To this effect the Cortes, or Parliament, met first at Tangona, then at Zangopa; and lastly at Barcelonia, where the King gave Order's for the Redressing all Grievances; and so, the People-were pacified. The War he had in hand with the French made him condescend, left whilst he was brief in Steily, or Mady, the Account Round & Bosides he was retrieved in the the Pone had into Andrews. had in hand with the French made him condescent, left whilf he was busie in Sisity, or Italy, the Aragonian flould Revolt. Besides, he was perplex a; for that the Pope had not only Excommunicated, but Deposed him of his Fathers: Dominions, and given the Conquest thereof to Charlet de Valon, the King of France his younger Song. No lefs Troubles were at Rebellion the same time in Castile, caused by the Discord between King Mondo and his Son. The greater in Castile in the Prince Sambo. King Mondo being straished by his sown People, had again recourse to Strangers, and brought the King of Monoceo the second time into Spain, giving out, it was against the King of Grandela, who wisein league with the Prince. This Expedition produced nothing remarkable, because both Christians and Moor were better provided than had been expected; and the King of Grandel having put strong safrisons into all his Towns, would not hazard a latest; and to the King of Monoceo returned into Ariol. without did not hazard a latest; and to the King of Monoceo returned into Ariol. Without did not hazard a latest of the same time to have the Zeal-of Religion make for him, accused his Son before the Pope of Disobeliance, Implety and Ingratitude, in usurping his Crown before he was Dead. The Pope gave Ear to this Complaint, and Excommunicated all this of the safered to Prince Sancho. He also appointed Judges to that one Interdict municated all those that adhered to Prince Sameho. He also appointed Judges to hear both in Cassitie and Angelon, the State of the Prince, for that at one at one time, both in Cassitie and Angelon, the for different reasons, the Churches were share up, yet the Rebellion continued, the Prince threatning Death to the Popes Commissional State of the William his hands. However, the dread of Ecclesialtical Censures caused many to fall off from him. Among the first, his Brothers Peter and John began to take Compassion on their Father, which Prince Sameho understanding, he detained his Brother Peter with the Promise of the Kingdom of Maiorias, but John withdrew privately; and through Peringal, got away to his Father at Scotil-Many Towns repenting their Disloyalty, sought how to obtain the King's Pardon, and clear themselves of the Excommunication they lay under; and having obtained both. Drefently submitted themselves: "Arylands and Trevine were of this number.

Opposition.

CHAP. V.

obtained both, prefently submitted themselves. Myrede and Trevine were of this number. Many Men of Note, as D. John Nance de Large D. John Alasse de Hara, and Prince James, joyn'd the Army of Philip King of Econoc, then marching to the Assistance of King Alasse, and with him entred Cassile, Plundering all the Country as far as Toledo, without meeting any

The Death of Alonio King of Caffale. The beginning of the Reign of King Sancho the IV th. The Defeat of the French Flees on the Coast of Italy. Albarazin taken by the King

Ing Philip of France had a Son of the same Name, distinguished by the Title of the Fair; who this same year (others say the next) Marry'd Jodhna Queen of Novarre, with whom he had that Kingdom. This Prince, now began to plead the Rights of his Predecellors, and by that means sought to extend the Border's of his Kingdom; which his Defigu was not a little forwarded by the Discord at that thind in Caffile. Prince Sambo did as much the cumin as could be in such a Time of Consulton. He qualitate the Territories of Caborra, of collie, of the Campan and Siguenza, and made him retire with more speed than he came. After this it was and his agreed, the Father and Son should have a Conference, in order to which King Alonfo came Son Sarcho as far as Confrontina, and Prince Sancho to Guadalcanal. Great hopes were conceived of an increases, amilicable Accommodation: yet by the personno of some of the Princes Familiars who increases, amicable Accommodation; yet by the perswasion of some of the Princes Familiars who hated his Father, or rather, because many hop'd to make their Advantage of the Publick Calamities: They met not, but the King return'd to Sevil, and the Prince to Salamanca, Dahammer and prince inc. put the range returns to seem, and the Frince to saturners. By Confern or of both Parties, Bearing, Open Donger of Perugal, and the Frince his Wife Mary, who was then deliver d of a Daughter, met at Tore, and labour d all that might be for an Accommodation, but to no Effect; for the Enmity daily increas'd, and with it the Mifery of the Kingdom?

iery or the Kingdom:

This was the Polture of Affairs, when King Monfo dy'd at Sevil, fome fay on the 5th, fome the 21st Day of April, without doubt it was in the Year 1284. In his Will fight'd the foregoing November, he appoints D. Monfo first, and theif Ferdinand, his grand-Children to King Ainfacceed him; and in Cafe they dye without lifte, then Philip King of France to be next for General Research of the Company of the Grandon to King Moofe, who won the Battle of Navas. He made no mention of his Sons and Brothers, in hatred to Prince Sancha, but hop'd to bring the Power of France upon him. Yet at the Hour of Death, at the full of his Son Prince John, he bequeath'd to him him. Yet at the Hour of Death, at the lust of his Son Frince John, he bequeath d to him Secul, and Badajoz; and to his Brother James, the Kingdom of Murcia, with the Title of Kings, but fo as to hold of the Grown of Caffile. He order of his Heart flould be buryl on Mount Caivary, and his Body in Sevil, or Murcia, but it was not performed; for the Heart and Bowels are at Murcia, and the Body at Sevil. He was a great and wife King, had he made use of his Knowledge, to his own Advantage, and had he not blemist'd his good Qualities with Avarice, and overmuch Severity. It was he who first ordanid, that all Contracts, and publick Infruments frould be writ in Spanift, and caused the Holy Bible to be Translated. So that the Latin being no more used, produced a profound ignorance, as well in the Clergy, as Latety.

King Monte being Dead, the his Son Sancho's Title was not good, yet he succeeded him Sancho U.

King Jamijo being Leean, the his son sanctors title was not good, yet he succeeded him sancto u-without any Oppolition. He was at that Time at Avila, fearce recovered of a sickness, in surp the which he had been almost given over by the Physicians at Salamanca, and strength of Coom of Youth help'd the Medicines to take Esset: Here he took upon him the Title of King, which he had forbore during his Father's Life. The Title of the Brave he gain'd by his great Spirit, and Actions, till then more Successful, than Honourable; for glorions Tigreat Spirit, and Actions, till then more successful, than Honourable; for glorions Titless are generally obtained by the favour of Fortuae, righter than by Meri. He was doubtlets Bold, Subtle; and Industrious in all his Undertakings. His Reign lasted 11 Years and a few Days; his Memory defaced with the Wrongs he did his Father, yet the Kingdom he unjustly 'Usury'd, he govern'd Prudently. At Avila he perform'd his Father's Exequies with Magnificence, and at Toledo laying aside his Mourning, put on the Royal Robes. The Gentry who had been against him, now throng'd to make their Court, either in hopes to appeale him, or elfe to hide what was concealed in their Hearts. The new King at prefent diffembled, yet refolved as foon as feel'd to vent his Rage. All the Nobility and Common fwore Allegiance to him and his Daughter Elizabeth, as Heirefs in cafe he had no liftue Male. This was done to exclude the two Brothers his Nephews; whose just Cause many yet favour'd. King Sancho resolv'd to gain the good Will of the King of Aragen, who had those voil d. King Sames resolved to gain the good with of the King of Angen, who had those young Princes in Castrody, and was then preparing to befiege Albarazin, Being no longer able to bear with the Infolencies of D. John Naviez de Lara. Therefore King Sancho because he could not go in Person, sent a good Body of Men to the Assistance of the King of Angen against that Common Engine. This done he went away for Sevil, because Prince John his Brother endeavour'd to pollets himself of that City by virtue of his Father's last Will, but the Citizens oppos'd him, and were headed by D. Alvan Nionex de Lara. These Diffputes ceard upon the coming of the new King, who caus'd his Brother to defift. To this City came Ambassadors from the King of Morocco to settle Peace, but were sent away with Scorn, which provok'd the Mors to invade Spain again. King Saucho to oppose them provided a great Fleet. At that time the Genoses were Famous for their skill in Navigation; value a great rice. At that the the configuration from the results in Navigation; thence the King fent for Benedit Zacarias, who brought with him twelve Galleys, was created Admiral, and had the Town, Port S. Mary given to him and his Heirs, upon Condition they should always maintain a Galley at their Cost. The Cortes or Parliament met at Sevil, their Business was to redress Grievances, and to make void many Grants forc'd in time of Necessity, from the present King and his Father. That Assembly breaking up, the King return'd to Cashis, where some conspir'd to restore his Nephews, but he coming upon Alling return a to capita, where some compire to rettore his Nephews, but he coming upon them, some submitted, and others were put to Death. At this same time Roger Labing, their The Ard-off the Aragonians in Sicily, having near Maksa defeated 20 French Galleys, killing their The Ard-off Capital, William Cornnium, failing towards Naples, offer'd Battle to Charles the Lame, Prince contains of Saleron, and Son to King Charles, who was ready with a mighty Fleet, to pais over into gale was Sicily. Many, and particularly the Pope's Legare advised the Prince not to Fight, but he Videous gave no Ear to them. The Battel was Bloody, but in Conclusion the French were beaten, at Sea. and Prince Charles taken. Anthors differ about the Number of Vessels on each side; the and rinner charies taken. Annors diner about the roumper or venes on each noe; the most received Opinion is that the Angiothinis had 42 Galleys, and the French 70. This Battel was fought on the 23d of Jime, and the Angiothinis making the of their Victory, took feveral Towns in Indy. Three Days after the defeat, King Charles arrived at Gatta, with 20 Galleys from Provence, and there understood how his Son was condemned to Death at Major have Science and Major Charles and Major cina, by the Sicilan, in revenge of the Death of Contadine, executed by the French, after he was taken in Battel. The Queen fav'd him on pretence of acquainting her Husband, yet fuch was the Fury of the People, that they broke the Prisons, and autito the Sword 60 officer nich was me rury on the copie, me say, the had no War abroad, now lay of slege to Milkon-Prifoners. The Kinggift Agon, as if he had no War abroad, now lay of slege to Milkon-zin, and furiously Batter d. it. The City was naturally fortons, well-brottify de nothed a dismain good farrifon, of hardy Souldiers, tyet Provisions falling flore. D. If the Notice de Low aver-ther, by fold to make his Eleape, but advise the Garrifon to hold out whill he went to Nature. folved to make his Elcape, but advised the Garriton to hold out whilt he went to Novarre, where he was, fure of Succour. After his Departure, the City held out a few Days, i and then selparing of Relief, furrendered on Michaelmad Days. The Garriton confifted on the Succourse of Montage of Relief, furrendered on Michaelmad Days. The Garriton confifted on the Manage of Ma by the noble Family of the Agard. of the

226

C'HAP. VI.

The French invade Catalonia, take Girona, and relive back to Grance with Loss. The King of Motocco Bessegs Keres, and is repulsed. The Death of the four Kings, of France, Aragon, Naples, and Morrocco.

The Ring. An The A agenian along was not able to withflash the French, and therefore had recourse of areas to Forteign Aids. He sent Emhaliadors into Germany to the Emperory Robalphay, who bessets in g a cautions Man, and at that time in War with the Swifers, gave only good Words. King against the Sample at the Instance of the King of Areas, and Gobbalt and Borboia. French.

The Ring of Marocco designed to make War in Andalicia. The French washed the Fronters of Major Challette. The Major Challette. King of Morocce, delign'd to make War in Andalizata: the French, walled the frontiers of Angun, and Jayme King of Meigres fided with them: 18000 Morifishingthe belieg'd Kerez. de la Reguera, and made Inquirions as fine as Sevil. King Sancho went with speed to Toledo, where Charles Earl of Artes. Emballador from the King of Frence expected him. His chief Bulines was to procure the Liberty of the King's two Nephews, and perswade King's Sancho not to have to do with the King of Aregon, who was Excommunicated by the Popa. The King's Answer in Publick was, that he would send Emballadors to adjust all things in France, and privately he dealerd himself much the King of France his Friend. The King of Aregen layd, slege to Indala in Neuvere, by that means to divert the Friends, who designed to pass into Aregen, through Ressilian. That City was bravely detended by D. John Nueze de Lura, who lost Albarasan, and was more Successful in the Affairs of others, than his own. All the who loft Albarakan, and was more succeisful in the Amaris of others, than his own. All the Country about was waited, and the Frontier Towns of Angon frongly Garriford to oppose, the Enemy. This done, because Winter came on, the King of Angon returned to Zaragega. There he spent the remainder of this Year, and beginning of the next, which was 1285, in which on the 7th of January, Charles King of Naples departed this Life at Pogia, a Town of Applia, being worn out with Misfortunes, and griev'd at the Imprisonment of his Son. This Prince had been Famous, as well in Peace as War, had the end of his Life been fulfable to the beginning. Age made him feel the Inconfrancy of Fortune, as it has happen'd to many. Befides the Vigour of the French was decay'd, and they debauch'd with Eafe and to many. Bendes the vigour of the French was decayd, and they debauch d with Eate and Pleadure, and their Governours made the King oddious through their Avarice and Exactions. The Death of the King of Naples was equally pleasing to the King of Aragon, and grievous to him of France. To divert his Melancholy by offending his Enemies, he made great Levies. Flis Land Army smounted to 20000 Horie, and 80000 Foot, and at the same time he provided a Fleet of 140 Sail, between great Ships, Galleys, and other smaller Vellels. He resolved to go in Person to this Expedition, and with him Philip and Charles his Sons, and Japan King of Majorea, who followd the French, being highly offended at the Assonium his Brother. With them allo was Cardinal Gervashus sent by Pope Marin the 4th, as his League. That Pope dying at Prosse, on the 2010 to Adments, Honorium the LiVe a Citizen of Rome, of the Family Sabela was chosen in his Place, and thou the Part of the French no less than his Predecessor had done. The Army Rendevouz'd at Narbonne, and thence march d towards Predeceilor had done. The Army Rendevour'd at Narbune; and thence march drowards the Frington. This Town was furgedired to King Jeyne, and admitted the Frinch. The Expense Art ample was followed by all the Towgray Ruffilm, and that Neighbourhood, except one call'd my cuere General, which in hatred to King Jeyne, and hoping to be speedily relievely held out. They Catalania, were deceived in their Expectation; for the Town was taken by Allautt, and all: the Inhabitants put to the Sword, without paring the very Buildings, which were all Burnt and Defiroy'd. The Bastard of Ruffilm, a Man of great Courage, who was in the Town, got into the Tower of the Church, where King Jeyne's Intercedition lavely his Lifter, rather than the Strength or Holinels of that Place. Yet he how'd his Gratitude to the Frinch, for the King of Argon' being posselicit, of all the Passes on the Hyronean Mountains, to that there was no hopes of vertice by the conducted them through Ruyards keyong to him. It if they reach!

hopes of getting by, he conducted them through Ry-paths known to him, till they reach'd the Tops of those Hills, and Encamp'd above the Argonians. Thus the two Kings advanced

The Higher of Same Man.

The Higher of Same Man.

The Little of Same Man.

The Same Man.

The Man of Man.

The Man.

The Man of Man.

The Man

the first and the same and the state of the same of the the Kingmen of Newey Wildory Water of the 1921 High Gringmen steer rejitangen dennet Stronger and Committed Committee Mining Committee of Stronger and Committee of Strong

Chap Will

Chap Med We William Of Salita Lan.

On the State of the S

Chap. VIII.

The land and within the Whith of three Tests, floor frince fround vessels and place with the first of front of floor of at character and made and was the Contain country by the work of the contained by out the think Creates equal to all Valle A H 2 chies a machine accorreason mention and the C. H. A. Ander Villand and an administration and the common members of the common and th

The state of the second second

upon him; first out off his Right Hand, and soon made an end of him. Prince John after wounding fome of the King's Servant, feeing his Father in Law Dead, fled to the Queen's Chamber, who flood before him to flop the King, that follw'd with his drawn 5 word, and by her introduces lav'd his life. However he was put in Prifon to stand Tryal for his Offences It would be tedious to relate all the particulars of this Treason, and the Confusion in the Royal Ramily. The lend Heads being taken off, all Turnults ceased for the present, and the Example terrifyed others from attempting just then to Robel. But when the Terror was fornew hat abtted, that Adjion of the King's began to be openly centured: The Friends and Kindred of those two great Men withdraw from Court; and many gorsout of the Kingdom. Thus a mighty Storm feetif'd to threaten, and therefore the King, as was faid; made halt to conclude the League with of rance. Joanna Wife to the rate D. Lope de Hans, Daughter to D. Alonfo, Lord of Molina, all clack in Mourning, went to fee the Queen her Sifter at Santo Domingo de la Calsada. where the Court then was, and prevail'd fo far with her Tears; and the Queens intercession. that the King was appealed, and granted her Son should not be deprived of his Lord-ship of Bifeny, as had been defign'th the Town of Harp and adthe of Trevine being already feiz'd. Moreovershie Queen promised her Sifter, that if her Soh would be quiet and fubmic himself to the King, he should be restored to his Father's Honours. The Lady Josims, like an unconstant Woman, thinking this proceeded from Fear, incensed her Son against the King, and perswaded him to cast off his Allegiance and go over to Aragon. Mary, Wife to Prince John, then a Prisoner, fied to Navarre, and with her many of her Friends; but others better advis'd then a Priloner, field to Navarre, and with her many of her Prienas, but others better advised flay'd to fee the Event of Things. Callon Victomit of Bearme came speedily to Aragon, resolution for the state of the Event of the Request of all these sub-rings, the King of Aragon released the Two Brothers Princes of Castile, and the most to of castile meetic King Sanota, in the Month of Supermber at Jack, latted Along, the classification of the Works, which presently broke out between Castile and Aragon. The Commonalty of Castile were for a Change; the Gentry for the most part flood by King Santha. He about that time went to Vitoria in the Province of Alavag and there the Queen was deliver'd of a Son, who was call'd Henry. This Journey was undertathere the Queen was deliver'd of a Son, who was called Flowy. This Journey was undertaken in order to meet the King of France at Bayonne, as had been agreed, and so subdue Biffin.

This War proved intre difficult than was expected, by reading the natural Strength of the Country, want of Provisions, and the Resolution of that People. Some Hopes there had been of gaining D. James de Hare Brother to D. Lope, by the niteans of Ray Peric Pance, Master of Calauxona, and the Lord-ship of Bifary was partly offered him; but he choic rather to retire into Arizon, resolving to stand by his Nephew. All things were disposed for a Rupture, when D. James de Hare, Son to D. Lope, dy'd very fortunately for King Sancho. His Death caused the Assections of his Followers to cool, and all Bifary, which till then held out, to submit to the Valour of James Lopez, de Salzedo, a Man in great esteem, to whom that Assar was continited.

King Sancho having fettled Biscay, and put off the Interview with the King of France, left his Brother Prince John Prisoner in the Castle of Bargos, whence he was removed to Cariel, and the himself Being perplexed in Mind about the War with Aragon, went to Sahapail, a Town on the Frontiers of Parnagal. There he concluded a League with that King, against the war he Aragonians, and the out-Law's O'Explic, who prepared for War under Colour of restoring twist Cal-D. Alonso de la Carda, who stilled himself King of Castile, to his Grand-stather's Kingdom. The Things concluded; King Sancho Marched with all the Forces he could gather to meet the Magnian; at Minagani. The Two Armies met in the Month of April 1289, but nothing reinjarkable was done. Only Moren was taken by the Aragoniani, and Managan Bessegd. On the other side, King Saiche entring the Frontiers of Again, destroyed all the open Country, and burnt many Towns. D. Jame Lopez de Hare in the same manner, wasted all On the other tide, King Samebo entring the frontiers of Magon, destroyd all the open Conntry, and burst many Towns. D. Jeally object, destroyd in the same mainter, wasted all the Territory of Cionea and Phiese, and deseated a Party of the Enemy near Pajaron, killing Restories de Sovemayor, Continuader of the Callitians. D. James sent the Colours taken, to the City Friest. One Misfortiant still follow'd upon the Neck of another, and the Innocent People suffered for these Quartets of the great Ones. Most Cities sided with King Sameho, but at Musiny at Badajoz, there happen'd a great Tumult. That City of old, was divided into Two Factions, Badajor the Bejarani, and the Partiques in the Replana being expell'd the City by their Remeiles, apply themselves to the King for Redress, he order'd they should be restored, but the Partiques obey'd not. Herespon the Bejarani having gather'd a good Force, kill'd many of their Advertaries, and forc'd the rest to quit the Place. This done, they fortify d themselves in the upper Part of the City, and proclaim d D. Alondo de la Cerda King. King Sambon highly offended hereat, fad Sage to the Town, which presently intrendered, having Articled only for Life. Contrary to Agreement, 2000 Met and Women were put to the Sword. The same lappend to Talabors, a considerable Town in the Ringdom of Talabor, upon the same Account, 400 of the principal Inhabitants were publishly Quarter'd at the Gate, which for that Realon, was ever since call'd the Cate of Quarters. This she Inhabitant for the Two Tradition, thom Author makes mention of it. The Two Tradition for Interview and Callite from the Kings of frames and Callite from the tree call'd the City in the City of Prance and Callite from the Cate of the City of Prance and Callite from the Cate of the City of Prance and Callite from the Cate of the Cate of Cate of should defift giving any farther Protection to the two Princes of Caftile, That he should renonnce all Claim and Title to that Crown, as Great Grandson to Queen Blanch. And that nounce all Claim and Title to that Crown, as Great Grandion to Queen Blanth. And that both Kings should make War upon Angon. At the same time Toloja, Segira, and Villafranca, which began to be Rebuilt in Biscay, in the time of King Alonso, were now finished by King Santhh, as appears by publick Instruments, sign'd at Vitoria and Valladolid, whither the King of wagen sinding himself too weak to make Head against France, Castilla, and Bray, inclin'd to Peace, notwithstanding Charles King of Nasles did not perform his Promite, at which the King of England, who had procur'd his Liberty, was highly offended. All Parties had recourse to the Pope, laying their Case before him. He answerd he'would fend Legans, who having heard them all, should-endeavour to reconcile these Differences. Beneditt Colona, and Gerard he Farma, two Cardinals, were sent into France to this Purpose. Mean while Charles King of Walles, and the King of Angon who was Security vivon Perfore. Sense of the control of the that he might recover Sielly, and the Aragonian to take off that long Interdict, under which his Kingdom lay, and put an end to the War with France, that he might be at Leifure to bend his Force against Cafile.

231

232

CHAP. IX.

The revolt of D. John Nunnez de Lara, The Death of the King of Aragon: His Brother Matches betwixt the three Kings of Spain. Defeat of the Moors at Sea Original of the Dukes of Medina Sidonia.

D. John Nuñez. de Lava, began again to incline to take part with the Aragoniani, either Namez de Jugarazin to him. King Saspho understanding of what Confequence his stay or departure votes from might be, did all he could texpolige him, and therefore made him General of the Frontiers Calile.

October 1988 of the Stay of the Frontiers Calile.

October 298 of the Stay of the Sta he enter'd Castria, and did an the narm ne could as far as Chenca and Jacron. A Body of King Sambo's Forces coming to oppose him, was defeated, and many Colours taken, after which he forc'd the Town of Moya, and return'd to Valencia with a great Number of Prifoners and Cattle. From thence the King of Moyon, D. James de Hard, and D. John de Lara made an Incurion by the way of Molina, Signenga, Berlangd, and Almagam, and defroyd all the Country without meeting any Opposition. King Sanche endeavour'd to put a stop to this Mischief; butan Ague kept him in such a Condition he could neither Act, nor give the neceffary Orders, infomuch that he was given over by the Doctors. The Queen who was lately deliver d of a Prince call'd Peter, tho not perfectly recovered, fet out to fee the King. Her Prefence was comfortable to him, and produc'd good Effect. She reduc'd D. John de Lara, Prefence was comfortable to him, and produc'd good Effect. She reduc'd D. John de Lura, who now repented his Change, being disappointed of recovering Albarazin. It was agreed that Elizabethy Daughter to the Lady Blanch, and the Queen's Brother, should be Marry'd to D. John the Luksis Son. Her Portion was the Liberdship of Molina, her Father having no suffice D. John was dolemniz'd at Cuenca; thence the King, Queen, and D. John went reconcil'd to Toledo, the latter took up his Lodging in the Monassery of S. Paul of Dominicans without or King the City, on the Banks of Tague. Being at Dice late at Night with a rich Jen, on a sudden a gain ready Servant of his call'd Nime Charuches advis'd him to make his Efcape, for there was a Design to dy to kill him, and in order to it, Arms had been carry'd into the Court. He credited the Income time telligence have a was it for these the City Cates were flux and his Servantis and h from him telligence, but could not get away, for that the City Gates were shut, and his Servants and Horfes within. He fpent the Night in Fear, and having call'd his Servants at break of Day, they perfwaded him not to fit; for that there was not the least ground for any Suspicion. The King was much concerned that he should be Suspected, and the more he endeayourd to satisfy D. John, the more Jealous he was. At this time the League with the King of Granada was renewd, upon Condition Mcssould pay the usual Tribute; for that King was before wavering. Herman Ponce de Leavi, who commanded upon the Frontiers was the chief Infrument of continuing this good birderstanding betwirt the two Kings. From Toledo the King and Queen went to Burger, and thence to Palmicia, where was held a general Chapter of the Order of S. Dominick. D. John de Lara could not be oblig'd by any Favours, but endeavour'd to fir, ng the Nobles to revolt. To oppose him, Prince John the King's Brother, who was belov'd by all Men, was taken out of Prilon, and took the Oath of Fidelity to the King and his Son England to Son the Cathon of California.

and his Son Ferdinand, as Heir apparent, killing his Hand according to the Cultom of Caffile. By his means many were reduced to the King's Service. The King also going to Santiage of Gelicie, under colous of Devotion periwaded D. John Alonso de Albuquerque, aiMan of great Powers, who at the infligation of D. John for Love had revolted, to lay down his Arins. Their Things, happen'd in Castile, in the Year of our Lord 12012 when in the Month of February 1201, the Pope's Legace in Figure 2 of Aring composed the Differences betwist the Kings of Repusery 2 of the Pope's Legace in Figure 2 of Aring on Country Kings of Master was preferred with the Emballadors of the others two Kings. Peace was concluded upon the following Conditions; That the Kings of Regordend and Aring the Pope's Continuery and Dispositence; That the pay the yearly Tribute of 70 Ounces of Gold to the Church, as was promised by his Georgian and father. That he go with a powerful Figer to the Service of the Holy deand. That at his return he advice his Morter and Brother to quite Sie's. That he publish, an Edici, communically all Aragonians under severe Penalties to depart that plaind. That Ohm'es of Valois resign his Claim to the Crown of Argon, on Account of the Gift of the Pope. That his Holinois shall receive the Aragonian into Favour, and send a Velate to take of the Interdict from his Kingdom, to whom the King the Articles, the Emballadors of Sieily were not present, by the Contrivance of the King of the Argonia, knowing they would break all these Measures, as which King Jayane and cluding of these Articles, the Emballadors of Sieily were not present, by the Contrivance of the King of Maple. Abothe contrivance of the King of Maple and the Sieilians were highly offended. They complain'd he who ought to have Protected, had deceiv'd and forsaken them, yet resolv'd rather to dye, than return under the Dominion of the French, and they obtain'd their Ends. The French were disappointed of recovering Sieily, and the King of Angon's Voyage to the Holy Land was prevented, the City Protemary, the last that remain'd in the Hands of the Christians being taken, and utterly subverted by the insides. The Kings of Angon and Naples met a second time at Junguera, in order to establish a lasting Peace; both of them being weary of the War. Therefore as soon and the last of the Siege of Angon was resolved to fulfill all that had been agreed upon when Death cut him off at Barcelona, in the midst of the Inside of the Siege of Angon was resolved to fulfill all that had been agreed upon when Death cut him off at Barcelona, in the midst of the Preparations to the Crown of Angon. The King of Angon was resolved to fulfill all that had been agreed upon when Death cut him off at Barcelona, in the midst of his Preparations to a standard of the Princese Element his Fields. He day of in the Flower of his Youth, being but 27 of Angon. The King of Angon and Provence of the Siege Siege and son the 18th Day, of June. His Body was hury di in the Monaterry Siege and the City, spith the Habit of Angon's Death, his Brother Scarge profession and City, spith the Habit of Angon's Death, his Brother Scarge profession and City, spith the Habit of Angon's Death, his Brother Scarge profession and City.

Home the News of the King of Aragon's Death, his Brother Jame preferrly came over Jame (Inport the News of the King of Aragon's Death, his Brother Jame preferrly came over Jame from Sivily to take Polletion of that Crown which appertain'd to him, as next of Blood, his Crowned Brother dying without Islue, and having in his Will appointed him his Successfor. He was king of received without any Opposition, and Crown'd at Zatagofa, with the usual Solemnity on the 24th of Sprember. He would not allow of that Clause in his Brother's Will, which appointed Prince Frederick his younger Brother King of Sicily, but refolv'd to keep and maintain that King down Alonso de la Cerda, who had only the Title and Right to the Crown of Castile, and Kingsone, Along as the Cerea, who had only the Like and Kight to the Crown of Capitle, and was then prefent, and King Sancho who was a Poffession of the Kingdom, both strove for his Friendhip. The Assentian was more inclinable to the Fortune of King Sancho, than the Justice of D. Along in the Strength decay'd, especially since the Queen politickly drew away D. John Nuivez de Lora from his Party. Besides, King Sancho to strengthen himself, had made D. Jelen Nivez. de Lora from his Party. Belides, King Sancoo to itrengthen nimier, nad made a League with the Kings of Foregad, and concluded a Match betwit his Son and Heir Prince Realmand, and Conflawre, that Kings Daughter, giving fome Towns in Cafilia, to fective the Performance. The Kings of Cafilie and Aragon at length concluded a Peace, and for the Ra. A League tification of it agreed to meet at Monagualo, a Town on the Borders of the two Kingdoms. There, on the 20th of Newimber, they made a League Defensive and Offensive, and articled that There on the 20th of Newimber they made a League Defensive and Offensive, and articled that a Cafilie and Aragon at the Cafilie and Aragon a A tiet on the 2010 of Evernmen, they made a League Detenive and Orientve, and articled that and either finold protect the others Rebels, but deliver them up. Moreover, shot that the King gen, Marocco, notwithlanding the Truce had high d Siege to Beig, the Aragonian obliged himself it, were required to fend 20 Galleys to relieve it. To make this Agreement the firmer, it was refor d the Acagonian should marry Elizabeth the Daughter of the King of Cashile, the body the Vacco of Acagonian should be proposed to the state of the state o tho, pp. 9 Years of Age, hoping the Pope would dipende with the Confanguinty, and accordingly they were Contracted at Soia, on the first of December. The Child was delivered cordingly they were Contracted at Soria, on the first of December. The Child was delivered to her, Hushands, and then the two Kings went to Calarayad, where there were great Enter-tainnesses of all forts. The Nobility of Argon for some Years had been very Mutinous, and in the Region of King Admis they, endeavour'd to Retrench the King's Houshhold, and still abour'd to, after that Laws, and erect a new Form of Government. Now by means of King Sancho they were recognicle and pardon'd. The Kings parted about the end of the Year, when he of Marcoa rais'd his Siege, and retura'd to Africh, feating Beneditt Zacharias, who was Equipping a great Fleet upon the Coast of Calicia; bendess the Town was strong, and bravely deraded on Theic things concluded, Spain at length was reford to Peace, both at Home and Abroad. Only D. John de Laws would not be pacifyed; therefore King Sancho ben this 1975a assents thim, and took the Townside Moya and Calairi, which he had given him when the Coast of Calaria and Arona, field to Prace. After him went the Arch-Bithop of Mayaba, sent by King Sancho to appeale that King, and continue the Amity, that, was betwist theiris econing the Beague Imade with Angon, as of absolute Necessity! to prevent Cavil-Wars. The King of Pacce and Werd, he was no ways displeas'd at it, Distabut his Brother Charles would freely renounce his Claim to Aragon, provided that it, but that his Brother Charles would freely renounce his Claim to Aragon, provided that King would reftore Sieily to the See of Rome. While these things were in Agitation, at the H II

Chap. X.

1992. beginning of the Year 1292. Benedit Zacharias, Admirallof Cafille porthe Coaft of Africk, Morra of County 20. Galleys of the Morra, and took 13 of them. This Low brevented the King of Moore with fought 20. Galleys of the Moore, and TOOK 13. Of them. I his Long prevented the king or quilted at Morece from pating; over to Spain again, as he had altended, having a great Army ready for that purpode at Tangier. King Sancho was encouraged by this Success, to feed down before Tarifa, which after along Siege, he took on the 2117 of September. The King of Partiagetho it was asked, fant no Succour. At the dame time the Queen of Cafilie at Sevil was delivered of a Son call'd Philip. At first Rederick, Master of the Knights of Calantara was made Governour of Tanifa, afterwards. Monly Peres, de Calanta Office of the Casamburgh Links and given to other Governous. He had gather'd much Mony, not only in Spain, but in Africk, while he ferved the King of Moscock With it he bought everal Towns in Andelneis, and added them to his paternal Estate. He also gave great Alms, and was therefore call'd the Good, which Name his Family Itill keepsup. From him are descended the Dukes of Medina, Sidonia. D. Alonso had a Son call'd John, and a Grandson by him, of the same Name, marry'd to Behrik, Baftard Daughter to King Henry the II. who gave him the Town of Mieble, in Dower with the Title of an Earl, and therefore he call'd his Son Henry. John the Son of Henry, was by King Henry the Fourth created Duke of Medina Sidonia, which Title continues in the Family. Let us return to the Kings.

CHAP. X.

Alcal de Henares made an University. Tarifa Besieg'd by the Moors: A brave Action Governour. Sancho King of Castile dyes. Ferdinand the Fourth succeeds. Peace betweet France and Aragon.

vours of modation betwixe

DOpe Nicholas the Fourth, and Sancho King of Castile carnelly endeavourd to compose the Differences betwixt France and Aragon. The Pope fent to this purpose, Boniface Calamanagers a Knight of S. John, into Angon; but Death puts a flop to his good Intentions. The Set of Rome was vacant two Years, the Cardinals not agreeing. King Sanche, as to the faire of Angon, made amends for the want of a Pope; for having received a favourable Angon, wer from the King of France, he invited the Aragonian to Guadalajara, hoping they would terminate that Affair. They met, but nothing was concluded; only they agreed upon another Conference at Logroin, and invited Charles King of Naples thirter, who came not, the Reasonian of known; but the Aragonian restored him his Children as had been promised by his Readonishot known; but the Aragonian reftor d him his Children as had been promised by his Brother. The following Year 1293, the Kings of Caffile and Aragon met at Logrono; all the fruit of the Conference wasse that they grew Jealous of each other. The Father in Law treated the Son harfilty and wreated all things to his own Advantage. From that time the Aragonian began to have no Kindnets for the Lady Elizabeth, and to this purpose pleaded Confanguinity and want of a Dispensation. By the means of Calamardra he had a Conference with the King of Naplest at Yanguera, where they treated of Contracting an Allyance by Marriage, but very privately. Time, that discloses all Secrets, made it appear, they confusted about the Restitution of Sicily, and manying the King of Aragon to Blanch, the Daughter of King Charles. At this time King Sonche, by a special Charter granted ed there should be publick Schools at Alcali de Henares, with the same Priviledges as at Salamare. Il Elizabeth, Wife to D. John de Lara the younger, dying, the Lordship of Moline tectural to the King. Sa next of Blood. D. John de Lara the younger, advance, and the King's turn'd to the King, as next of Blood. D. John de Lara the younger, and Prince John the King's Brother begain to realis Tumults. The King to prevents War, reduced them by fair means. D. John de Lara, and his Fathers, who now return a from Homes, were reconcild to the King. Prince John the King's Brother rething to Peringal, thence together with D. John de Albiquerque made Incursions into the Country of Leon. The King sent D. John de Lara, the Elder, with Forces to oppose him; but he was overthrown and taken. Being set at Liberty, he came to Toro, where the King was very joyful, for that he had a Daughter born there call'd Beatrix. There was a Report that the King of Granada design'd to make War, and he of Maysee to return into Spain, therefore the King fent D. John de Lara with his two Sons, D. John, and Tentin into Spain, therefore the King lent D. John at Lara with his two Sons, D. John, and D. Naine to the Frontiers of Andalusia. But all this came to nothings for the Manrish Kings were quiet, and D. John de Lara dy'd at Cordeva. This Storm being blown over, Prince John the King of Porthead, left he should feem to infringe the Peace-sto-depart his Kingdom, went over to Tangla. The King of Adverces, thinking he might be sof life for carrying on the Way in Spain, entertain'd him Tarifa be Honourably, and fent him with space Horse to attagk Zarifa. Passing over into Spain his batting dy ter'd than Place with all mannes as Engines, and the Refine of an over 10 the Spain with the batting dy the Company of the Montal Annie Perez, de Gastrany; and the Steingth of their Wall, defended, themselves as resolutely. It happen'd the Governour's only Son was taken, whom the Moor prefented to the View of the Befieged, threatning to cut off his Head, unless they Surrendred, in The Father not the least daunted answer'd, if he had an Hundred Sons, they should all dye fooner than he would Stain his Honour, by delivering that Place he had been Entrufted with; and to shew his Resolution threw a Sword down from the Wall for them to Execute him with. This done he went away threw a sword down from the variety of the following the f Bloody Barbarian execute the Ianocent-Child. The Fact was more hainous, because done by the Command of Prince John. The Father underflanding the Cause of that Shout, calmly said, Is hought the Enemy had entred the City, and so return'd to Dinnat with his Wife, without the least sign of Concern. The Moore desparing of Success since they could so move the Governor's by the Detart of his only Son, yeturn'd into Africk. Besides they restored the City of Myerira to the Ring of Granada, to the great Satisfaction of the Crissians, who fear'd that might serve as an Inlet to the African Moors. About this time Prince Homy the King's Uncle, who had been long a Prisoner at Naples, arrived in Spain, was received with much Joy by the King, and they both went together from Myerge, into Biscony, to oppose D. James de Havo, who with Assistance out of Moogin endeavourid to recover that Province. Having expell'd him the Country, they return'd to Valladolid, and thence to Moold de Hanore. There has king received the News of what had happen'd at Taris, whereupon in the Moonth of Jamany, 1295. the King wrote a Letter to Alondo Preze de Gusman, extolling his Loyalty and 1295. Bravery, comparing him to Abrabana in Sacristing his Son, giving him the Title of the Good, to be anney'd to his Strame, and inviting him to Court. The Original Letter is preferred to this Day, by the Dukes of Median Scionia. Three Months after on the 25th of Aprilthe King San, King dy'd at Tolieds. He fell Sick at Media, and was carry do Mens Shoulders to Toleddo to the of the Good feel if change of Air would contribute to his Recovery, but nothing avail'd. He Reigned 11 lite time. fee if change of Air would contribute to his Recovery, but nothing avail'd. He Reigned I file dyer. Years and 4 Days, was Refolute, Wife, Subtle, and not a little Gruel. He appointed his Son Ferdinand Ferdinand, the 4th of the Name to Succeed him, and the Queen to govern during his Missolly, the Wife notwithstanding the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, there were not the substitution of the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, there were not the substitution of the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, there were not the substitution of the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, there were not the substitution of the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, there were not the substitution of the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, there were not the substitution of the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his Lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his lawful Wife, by reason of Confanguinity, the was not his lawful Dispensation granted them. Next to the Queen D. John de Law had all the Power, which was done to oblige him, and prevent Troubles. The King's Body was bury'd in the Royal Chappel of the Cathedral. In the time of King Sancho two famous Civilians flourished, who were William Calum in Angen; and Garcia Mijpensu in Caffile.

At this time Bonifus the Vill. fat in the Chair of S. Peter, being Successor to Fope Celegist Pope Celegist none. Therefore the more was his Successor to blame, who brought him back when he was Therefore the more was an action in the prifor, where he dy'd a Year and half-after, and was Canonized by Pope Clement the Vib. Boniface this fame Year also Canonized Elen kind of France: Now by the Industry of Pope Boniface, who was a great Scholar and States-man, of remet. Now by the industry of Pope compace, who was a great Scholar and States-man, that was brought to país, which had been labour of for so many Years in Valn, which was the Peace betwith Piance and Aragon. To effect this, there met at Again the Pope, Charles King France. of Naples, and the Embaffadors of Prance and Aragon, Men of the first Quality. The Conditions while the king of Aragon marry Blanch, the Embaffator of the King of National Planck, the Thingston of the King of National Planck. That her Portion Despisor Pound weight of Silver: That her Portion Despisor Pound weight of Silver: That liefly and all the Aragon marry Posters of the King of National Planck of Rome: That if the Sciling shall refuse to submit, the Victor of Silver is the Victor of Silver in the Victor of Silver is the Victor of Silver in Silver in the Silver is the Silver in the Silver in the Silver in the Silver in the Silver is the Victor of Silver in the Sil

the King of Aregon be obligd to farmin fuch a Number of Troops, assignified protection of Aregon is collision of them. That the Pope ablove all that lye under any Ecclefiation to have to the Kingdom of Aregon. That the Pope absolve all that lye under any Ecclefiation Centures, upon account of thee Differences: That the Inflague be fet at Liberty. At the Instance of the Fope and King of France, it was granted the King of Majorca should be restor'd to his Kingdom. This is what was spoken in Publick. In Private the Pope gave a hint of deliver-Instance of the Pope, and King of France, it was granted the King of Majorca should be restored to his Kingdom. This is what was spoken in Publick. In Private the Pope gave a hint of delivering the Islands of Sardinia and Corsia to the King of Aragon, as lying Opportunely for him, being near to Spain. There is still a Bull of Pope Bastless extant to this effect, data the Science of the Subject of the Store of the Subject of the Store of the Subject of the Subject of the Store of the Subject of Subject of the Subject of Subject of the Subject of Subject of the Subject of Subj the diffike of those People, since the they were govern'd by Strangers, they did not take to themselves, all Employments of Profit and Trust.

8,80

or now thom the West for their ren after he retured.

The Fifteenth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

apparent for to the de-New Troubles and Warrin Castile; where Prince Henry takes the Government from the Queen. Prince John Proclaim'd King of Leon and Galicia. Castile irreaded by the Moors, Portugueles, and Aragonians.

Rebellion

Moors, Portugueles, and Aragonians.

HE Affairs of Cafille, were now in a versunfeith politic, the Nobility being divided, each firtuding as exert his Authority, agentiding to his Power, and the Common in Confinion gaping after Novelies. Robberies, Murders, and all fores of Crimes were committeed. The Oneen was dighted by reafon of her Sex, and the Common in Confinion gaping after Novelies. Robberies Murders, and all fores of Crimes were committeed. The Oneen was dighted by reafon of her Sex, and the King was not regarded because of his Aga; notwithfrauding he had been proclaimed the day after his Father's Death, with all the Solemnity usual in like cafes. The Opeen immediately and the Excise the Excise the Agent of the Agent of the Agent of the Head of the Agent of the Head of the Agent of the Head of the Head tens held Correspondence with the Enemy. There Prince John was problaimed King of Loon, Galicia, and Soul. Soon after D. Analog of Lorda was in the fame manner, proclaimed King of Colinical, and Soul. Soon after D. Analog of Lorda was in the fame manner, proclaimed King of Colinical Soldson. Thenest they therefore, and well Garrison to defended if their brive leagues of the Stage larted till Longate. Mean, while the Conse or Parliment, was summoned to frees at Galicia. Valuation. The first that the first was reflected them, who as foon is he aligned, without changing his Reding, Aparell, went to the Opieten then at Mids in the Caffle. After the shad Reverence, with a felging Sorrow, he laid before her the Danger of the Kingdom, and urged, how little Defence therewas in a Woman, a Child, and an Old Man: Then advised the to Marry the Prince of Largon, by Whom he might be Proceeded, and the Count of Endod. The Olden put lifth welly with figns of Differentiation. Thus Prince Henry! Defigh fell to the Ground. About 4000 Horfe were levyle, but Prince Homy; Ould not be prevailed upon to March with them, and raife the Siege of Mayorga, exculing himself with the War in Andaluzia. Yet they March'd to Zamora to fettle that Place, then wavering in it's Duty to the King. The length of the Siege allay'd the Fury of the Besiegers; and the Heat of the to the King. The length of the Siege allayd the Fury of the Befiegers; and the Heat of the Weather, together with the Want of all Necessaries, caused much Sickness among them. These things, and the Death of their Gaeral, Prince Peter, of Angen, obliged them to preturn some much weaker than they set out. At their, first entring Capita, they consisted of 1000 Men at Arms, and 30000 Souldiers. The King of Angen at the same time, and mercia the terrespondent in Marcia; for he took the City of that Name, and all other Places about it, ken by the except the Towns of Lorca, Modis and Mula, which held out for King Ferdiansistic, and Marcia these Dangers and Troubles Pratice Firms; who govern'd Capita, acted nothing for Tabler sides but seemed to than Neuron's 6 that he obliged not the Enemy, and drew on himself the Hatted Of all Men, who late Missing of all the Loss suffained, to his Charge. The Opicer winks distribute Pratices of the Frince: but some Men of Nord did not there to unbraid him finele Daingers and Troubles Prince Henry, who govern'd Capitie, acted nothing for angeling finely but found to that of the the Newton', to that he oblig'd not the Enemy, and drew of himfelf the Hasced of all Men, who late the Diame he has been of the Henry Cheen winked stringle Frederics of the Frince; but fome Men of Note did not pare to upbraid him there with. The Chief of these was Almip Perez, & Collinary, who bravely defended the Frontiers of Medicia, and more than any, iophs'd the Design of Prince Henry. With apply to Men he gather'd, the Prince march'd to Administrate, left Ethould be thought attock the left of the was Almip Perez, & Collinary, who bravely defended the Frontiers of Medicia, and in a Skirmish he had with the Moors near Arions, was defeated, and in great the of being taken, his Keins being Car, to that he could not guide his Rioft. Month Privated of being taken, his Keins being Car, to that he could not guide his Rioft. Month Privated of being taken, his Keins being Car, to that he could not guide his Rioft. Month Privated Colmon in the danger franklish him with another Horte, on which he efterpd. Asker this Rencotimer, a Treaty of Peace was proposed to the Moors. The King of Grandal demanded Tarips, offering in hear of 'th, 22 Castles, 2000 Crowns in ready mony, and to advance the usual Tarips, offering in hear of 'th, 22 Castles, 2000 Crowns in ready mony, and to advance the usual Tarips, offering in hear of 'the Academy approved of these conditions, because of the preferent design of the Moors hear of the Perez de Guide opposed in The Tarips and differences when he hear of the Academy and the Academy approved of the Moors hear of the Cartery and want of Moors. Almos Perez de Guide of the Guide of the Tarips and Academy and the high and the Academy and the Academy and the Academy an

Book XV.

Chap. H.

R. Jame Aragon at Rome, whither he was call'd by the Pope, was Proclaim'd King of Sardinia, and of Aragon Corfica. Thither went from Sicily, Confiance his Mother, Violente his Sifter, Roger Lawia R. of Sar, the Admiral, and John Prochita. A Match was concluded betwirt the Lady Violente, and proclaind the Admiral, and John Prochita. A Match was concluded betwirt the Lady Violente, and dina and Rebert Duke of Culabria, Heir to the Kingdom of Naples. The Nuptials were parformed Corfica.

Corfica.

Ring Frederick prepared to defend the Kingdom which had been given him by to general a Content of the People. Was declared against him, as the disturber of the Peace of Christendom, and his Brother the King of Aragon prointed Generalismo. All things being thus order d., the King of Aragon returned home to prepare for the War. Repart Lauria was sent to Naples to serve that King. Queen Capitance and John Prochita, weary of Sion many Troubles, and pitying the unfortunate State of Sicily, Ray of at Rome. Some lay they both dy detere, but most Authors agree, she ended her days Five, Years after at Barcelong, and was buried in the Monastery of St. Francia, where there is a Tomb to this day, with an instription, and her Name.

CHAP. II.

Peace betwixt Castile and Portugal setted by the means of double Allyances betwixt those Princes. The Progress of the Wars in Sicily. The Jubilee first instituted. Bilbao Built; and Prince John reconcil'd to the King.

E King of Aragen being return'd home, the Towns of Lerida, Ulia, Filera, and A Salvatierita, were reflored to the Crown of Naviers, in pursuance of the Articles made at Agnani, not fulfill'd till then. Alonfo Ronco, a Freinchman, was Viceroy of Naviers in the year 1298. The City Albaraxin was taken from the King of Aragen's Bastard Brother, 1298. In the year 1298. In the Lity Albaratin was taken from the King of Aragin's Baltard Brother, and reflord to D. John the Lara, on pretence of doing him Justice, but indeed, to draw over that powerful Man. D. John thou the Cath of Fidelity to the King at Valuria, on the 7th day of Aragin Litter of the King of Aragin did to strengthen himself, to invade at once Catific and most exposed to Ruin. He of Cashile was reconcild to the King of Portugal, by the means Portugal of two Matches that were concluded. The one was betwitt King Ferdinand, and Confinence reconcild the Panables of Willia Dime, they the wounder Ara. They were Controlled with practical with present the confinence of the Cashile and the Panables of Willia Dime, they the wounder Ara. They were Controlled with practical with practical with practical controlled. might exposed to Rain. Heof Cassie was reconciled to the King of Perugal, by the means of the Aposte to Rain. Heof Cassie was reconciled to the King of Perugal, by the means of the Dampher of King Demis, the's the was under Age. They were Contracted with great Solemnity at Alemins, a Town on the Borders of Perugal, and the Publick Joy was the greater, for that Blanch; a Town on the Borders of Perugal, and the Publick Joy was the greater, for that Blanch; a Town on the Borders of Perugal, and the Publick Joy was the greater, for that Blanch; a Town on the Borders of Perugal, and the Publick Joy was the greater, for that Blanch; a Town on the Borders of Perugal, and the Publick Joy was the greater, for that Blanch; a Town on the Borders of Perugal, and the Publick Joy was the greater, the Joy and the Perugal of the Peruga

Sail with a mighty Fleet, in which were no less than 80 Galleys. "They went directly to Rome, where the Pope Bleft their Standard, and gave them his Benediction." At Nagles, Robert Duke of Calabria, joyn'd them with another Squadron. They scour'd the Coaft of Sicily, where at first they found less Opposition than had been expected. The City Pati, and some other Places about it, were taken; then turning Cape Milazzo near Mecina, and passing the Streight, they came to the City Siracusa, and laid Siege to it. Whist the Forces of understand the City Siracusa, and laid Siege to it. Whist the Forces of understand the City Siracusa, and laid Siege to it. Whist the Forces of understand the City Siracusa, and laid Siege to it. Whist the Forces of understand the City Siracusa, and laid Siege to it. Whist the Forces of understand the City Siracusa, and laid Siege to it. Whist the Forces of understand the City Pati, and he with the Forces of understand the City Pati, and I see that the City Raid of the Necessaria, and a paid Streight the Siracusa, in the Streight, and he with its of his Galleys taken. The occasion of this disaster was this, the Siracus were section and Siracusa, Siracusa, and rapid Streight where they Fought, which is betwirt halp and Siracus Siracusa, and rapid Streight where they Fought, which is betwirt halp and Siracus site the Siege, having lost sing encouraged by King Frederick, who lay not fair off, waiting to Jay hold on any Advantage that van be Men by Sickness. At Mecina, John Luwis was try d, and condemn'd as a Traytor, and deagninhald his Head cut off. Reger Luwia rav'd with Pallion, knowing that Affront was offer d to man, him; but could not then feek Revenge, being gone into Spain with the King of Magon. As soon as the Winter was over, they both return'd to Sicily, with a greater Fleet than before. Robert and Philip, the King of Magen his Two Sons, joyn'd them by the way. They fail'd together to Cape Orlando, near the City Pati, the Fleet consisting of So Galleys, and a great number of other Vesses, King of Magon. As soon as the Winter was over; they both return'd to Sicily, with a greater Fleet than before. Robert and Rive Hinters was in great danger; for after a Brave Defence, he fainted away, and great cruely towards the Prisoners, killing many Sicily, where at first they found less Opposition than had been expected. The City Patri. unexpectedly, that he was defeated, and taken Prisoner; which occasion'd a Treaty of Peace; and those two Nations concluded an Allyance as Fortunate, as the War had been unexpectedly, that he was defeated, and taken Prifoner; which occasion'd a Treaty of Peace; and those two Nations concluded an Allyance as Fortunate, as the War had been Destructive.

It was now the last year of this Century, viz. 1300. remarkable for the Jubile first in 1500 introductive.

It was now the last year of this Century, viz. 1300. remarkable for the Jubile first in 1500 introductive.

It was now the last year of this Century, viz. 1300. remarkable for the Jubile first in 1500 introductive of the Jubile first introductive of the Jubile first introductive of the New Jubile first introductive of the Jubile first interpretable first introductive of the Jubile first introductiv

CHAP.

C. H. A. P. Milleren & to an exercise

Of Raimundus Lullus, and the Majler of Calatrava. The Marriage of Kienthardiand. Peace concluded between the Kingsief Sicily and Naples. A Smood of Bijlooping you. bles in Castile. Pope Boniface dyes Benedict the Eleventh succeeds him

Romanda: A T this time dy d Raimundau Lullun, born in the Island Majorca, who beling bred a Mer-Lullun. A T this time dy d Raimundau Lullun, born in the Island Majorca, who beling bred a Mer-Lullun. Books of all Raysand Sciences, sill deve of Dilinity, but so obscure they are scarce Intelligible. He assistant belong to the Description of Dilinity*, but so obscure they are scarce Intelligible. He assistant belong to the scaling to instruct that Bartdrous People, he was the first time Imprison'd, and the second stoned to Death. "His Book' carry'd to Majorca, is there held in great Veneration, the not Canoniz'd as a Saint. His Books are variously spoken of, some Condemn, and others highly Esteem them, but 500 Propositions taken out of them, were condemnd at Avigorus by Pope Gregory the XIsb. Thus much of Raymundau Lullus. Garci Lopez, see Padilla, Mastery of the Ringhus of Castravan, by his great severity and harsh Temper, had offeed his some by Pope Gregory the XIsb. Thus much of Raymundau Lullus. Garci Lopez, see Padilla, Mastery of the Ringhus of Castravan, by his great severity and harsh Temper, had offeed his some by Pope Gregory the XIsb. Thus much of Raymundau Lullus. Garci Lopez, see Padilla, Mastery of the Consistant were not able to make Head against the Moore, who the last Year took from the sain were not able to make Head against the Moore, who the last Year took from the Ringhus of Castravan, by his season of the Moore, and now lastly they lay'd Siege to Janu. The blame of all these Missortius was allowed the proposition of the proposition of the proposition of the Castravan, by his value of Aribert of the Castravan, by his value of Aribert of Ar egole D. John Name. de Frado in his Place. He being paff Service, voluntarily left the Mafeferfihip to his Competitor, only referving to himself some Towns in Arigon for his Maintendition.

Pope Boniface being well Affedted to Spain, the Kings of Spain and Portugal had a Meeting and Plasferica, when they agreed to fend an Embally to him, as they did, and obtain'd a Dispendation for continuous ting the Marriages betwirk those Kings and their Queents, he also Fredisand dispensed with the Marriage of the last King Sancho, tho then dead, As food it Dispendence at the Confanguation, and the Lady Confance at Plasferica, having the first dead of the Confanguation, and the Lady Confance as the Confanguation. The King settled his Houthood, and took upon him the Government. D. John Names, and Sangievan de Gornag, given him in lieu of the Government he lost. All these rayours could not overcome his Wicked Inclination, for fill he held Correspondence with the Arigonium and Moors, and cause of the Sige of Minagan, which Place held for D. Alonso de la Catad, to be rais'd, and the Forces to be sent to other Parts. At Hariza se had a Meeting with the King of Arigon. That King held Lorea, a strong Place in the Kingdom of Marcia Bellicula a long time, and at last it was Surrendred to him at the beginning of the 1302. Year 1302. Gentle first day of April, a synoid of the Province of Toledo was celebrated at A Sproad Hariffeld of the Canoni at the Canoni order to which those three Princes, met, between Jaca and Calatabelora, where, after much con-

order to which those three Princes meebetween Jaca and Calardodora, where after much contestings, they agreed upon these Articles. That Philip Brince of Taranton and all Prisoners on the Continent, and the Armon, all they have a serious and the Armon, and the Armon of the King Brederick, and retain Sleity as her Rortion, tilliuch time, as with the Popes leave and allifance, Sardinia, or, fome other Kingdom be conquered. If this facced not, King Brederick, Heirs shall be obliged to guit Sieity, upon, assaying 2,50000 Crowns of the King Frederick, Heir shall be obliged to guit Sieity, upon, assaying 2,50000 Crowns of the King of Kapire, the Conditions were Sign'd Heir and the laft day of Anguly and all Heillings ceased. This aftern the contributions were Sign'd Heir and the Laft day of Anguly and all Heillings ceased. This aftern the Fourth part of the Country People, was confund the lag in the Tayouthes.

About this time Indianated leads on to, the King, of Adapter, teligning his Right to that Crown, became a Francycan Frian.

About this time Indianated leads on to, the King, of Anguly and the Month of the Country and Armona, where publick Expences, were Retrenended, and a great sum of More Towns and England Country and Country and neral of the Dominicans, was in the next Canctave choice Pope, and took the Name of remedit the Xish.

I the Xish.

I the Xish.

The Differences between the Kings of Caltile and Aragon reconciled. After a pick that Joyn is I case a gain fix the Moore, but he not confidenable Effect. Death of Rose Lauria, the great Admiral of Aragon? and Divisions among the Moore.

Sean. weary'd out with long Troubles, dulpy of tome Peace, but they, rather wanted Power, en than Will to dilly the the Difference betwitche Princes were great, and it was Mighry required to compole them. Collies and the great was the Collies and the Will to dilly the theorem of the Kingdon's Of Mar-Divisions that the Collies and took between, a Town for the wastern from Bacca. Prince 1968, the Kings Inteles, and the Family of Hard were Enemies, the former pretending, to the Londing 1968, the Kings Inteles, and the Family of Hard was Discontented, and ready to take up Arms. King 1967, the William of the William of the William of the Collies and t fet out from Barges, and in April came to Balaigon to meet his Father in Liaw, the King of Permiss, of whom the expected for second color of the hawlet of the him, during in Balain-rity. This enterview produced Distonances, and publing wish done, but only enthelighted the him of the him is the him of him of him of the him of him of him of him of the him of hi Token, it was protracted to a long time of Some Overtures of Accommodation were made, and became the King would not hanken to the first his Army broke up of it felf and disbanded. Another others, Prince John fagority D. John de Larg, and the Buliness was carry'd to flich a beight that the King was fored to Pardon hims, only taking from him the Towns of Maya and Cover, the Gift of King South. Nor was the Peace latting, for both those Centiemen imagining the King had a Delign to take away their Lives, openly rebell d. again. Prince you was foon appeared, but it was not to easy to reduce D. John de Larg. D. Alonfo de la Cardo forfaken of all Men, and seeing no Hopes of obtaining the Crown, sent Marrin Ruiz, to take possession of the Towns allign'd him by the Arbitrations, and was ever after call the D. Alonfo the Dissipations.

240

The Moors of Granada about this time began to Muttay, for that their King was blind, Discord a Ene course or cramatar about this time began to Muttays for that their King was blind, bloody and his Brother-in-Law the Eord of Malaga; govern'd the State with the fame Grandeur as if mong the had been another King. The Nobility were not wanting to incense the Continous, Among them Aboveder, a Gentleman defeeded from the Kings of Moviece, third Almeria, and call the himself-King of that place. Most of the People favour'd Makipine Aser the King's Brother; and Were for putting the Grown upon his Head. Aboveder was expelled Almeria by the contrary Faction; and the designing to feire upon Centa, a City on the Coast of Africk, belonging to the Kingslow of Centages at the last to obtain Aid of the Coast of Africk. belonging to the Kingdom of Granda, thought to obtain Aid of the Christians. This form'd a good opportunity to drive the Moors quite out of Spain, and in order to it the Two feem'd a good opportunity to drive the Moors quite out of Spain, and in order to the Two Rings of Capilla and Argon index at the Monaftery of Huetra, upon the Borders of both Ring, dome, at the beginning of the Year 1309. There, and at Mooreal whither they removed, it represents a space of First, to passify D. Monfo de la Cerda, somewhat mollifying the Decree of the Argon in Arbitrators, left while they were sun in the War with the Moors, he should raise Tumults League a la Capilita. Next, to make War and Moor with two Armies, and at once befine American the action of the Moor with two Armies, and at once befine American the Moor with two Armies, and at once befine American the Moor with two Armies, and at once befine American the Moor with two Armies, and at once befine American the Moor with two Armies, and at once befine American the Moor with two Armies, and at once befine American the Moor with two Armies, and at once befine American the Moor with two Armies, and at once before American the Moor with two Armies, and at once before American the Moor with the Moor with the Moor with two Armies, and at once before American the Moor with two Armies, and at once before American the Moor with two Armies, and at once before American the Moor with the Moore with the starty. Ettenorities Sixter of Kingsperdmand, her Dower to be the fixth part of what was gaind in Wasi, and particularly the City America. After the Interview broke up, great preparations were made. King Fordinged went away to Toledo, to see the Body of his Fasher Ring. Sambactranslated to a state of the body come will be the Queen. This King was naturally made and merciful, and of Body come and well shaped. He advised a Gentleman to wind be had given the Government of Galicia, not to put to death some Men of Note that had rais debellion in that Country, but to send them to him, which proved very advantagious, rais a Rebellion. In that Country, but to fend them to him, which prov'd very advantations, for they to blot out the shame of their Crimes, did extraordinary Service against the Moors. The Army marchd into Indulatia, and the Cashiam laid Slege to Algeria on the 27th of Centa the Sume. About the middle of the next Month the King of Aragen set down before Almeria, hen. Silver Victory & Almeria, hen. The Flunder was given to the Indulation letter for the Aragenian-Fleet fails to the Armeria. Afficie, and took it. The Flunder was given to the Souldiers, the City to Aborrabe, that Affice, and took it. The Flunder was given to the Souldiers, the City to Aborrabe, the Argenians that after a sharp Diplute they sled; and a given Saughter was delived made, tho the Woods which were near sa'd many. Whilst the Aragenians were busy in overthe Pursuit, the Beseged allying entred their Works, but the Christians returning Victori-thown eus, soon drove them liack into the City. On the 13th of Ottober 40000 Moors again at Sauted the Aragenians in their Works, and met with the Same Succession and one before.

Notes Walder and Inditty was side by the Cashian at Machine the Cent the lace being from Notes Valour and Industry was used by the Castilians at Algeria, but the place being strong and well Garrifond, they advance to but little: Because the sleep feem divedious, the Arch-Bishop of Sevil, and D. John Nutice, de Liera, were sent with some Forces to nattack Gibralter. Monifo Perezi de Gusman to much spoken of, was killed by the way, in a string the within the deservation the great grief of all the Kingdom. Gibraltar surrender of the King Terdinand, Gibraltar who came thirther to that purpose. The Moore were permitted to go over the Africa, taken, address their. Goods with them: Winter and other hardships made the Souldier before sacgarry their spoos with them. Whiter and other hardinips made the Solinger before Agezira Real away from the Camp, and many Meno of Note went off, as Well as the meaher fart, and among them Prince John, and D. John Manuel, and D. James Lopez de Hare dy'd before the Towns of Prince John. In fine, the Siege was raised, the Moore delivering up the Towns of Quefold and Bedwar. The Araginian did the fame at America, only upon having the captive Christians reftored to them. This was all the Fruit of that mighty Expeditions.

The second section of the second seco หารไปอย่าสุด (a.d. หน้าทางกระทางพระพาง เมื่อ การจุดสอบ (a.d. ซึ่งไม่ โดยกระทำสุดสอบ การการการ เปิดสอบ (a.d. หน้าคระทางพระหารสอบ (a.d. หน้าคระทางพระหารสอบ) เปิดสอบ (b.d. หน้าคระทางพระหารสอบ)

วิทธิส ใชยสัญเสารา

CHAP.

Chap V.

CHAP. V.

The King of Granada depos'd, The King of Castile's Sifter marry'd to the Duke Britany. The extirpation of the Kanghis Temple's. The Death of Ferdinand the Tvib,

During the site War, the filind King of Grands was depos'd by his Brother Atar, kept fometime Priloner at Almonecae, thence carry'd back to Grands, and there murder'd. D. John Nover to Lora had been fent Emballador into France, and having dispatch'd the Bulinest he went about, return'd to the King then at Sevil. His Embally was the Post to obtain of him a Grant of the Tenth of Exclassified Revenues, which were to the Pope, to obtain of him a Grant of the Tenth of Ecclefiaftical Revenues, which was done, and to advite him not to lay any, blemish on the Memory of his Predecessor, Pope done, and to advue hum not to lay any, blemun on the memory or his fredecenor, Pope Bouiface, at the infrance of the King of Frage. In Guipufcoa, the Town of Angelia was now Founded. From Sevil, the King went to Burge, to afflit at the Marriage of his Sifter Elizabeth, that had been contracted to the King of Aragon, and was now given to John Duke of Britany. D. John Manuel was made Lord Steward of the Houthold, Prince Peter from whom that Employment was taken, shewing no discontent. D. John was also General of the whom the individual content was taken, newing no ancontent. 1. John was and ceneral of the Fronties in Advisa, and Feter Lope. de Ayda executed that Command as his Lieutenant. All this was done to oblige that Gentleman, who was a Man of great Interest, and so impresses, this Configure, his Daughter of the reduced of the Configure, in Daughter of the reduced of the Configure, and Joanna, whom he had by Klappe, he Daughter of the reduced of the Configure, and Joanna, whom he had by Klappe, he had the reduced of the Configure, the Ring in his way to Burge, pass of through Toledo, at the times when D. Gongate the Arch Bispop, dyd. D. Guirer the Ild. then Archdeacon of that Configure the Gendeur. There was no confidence to be reposed in Prince John the Rings Uncleivand therefore there was a delign of making away with him at Burge, which the went to the Wedding. D. John Mandall of the Configure of the Configure of the Configure of the Configuration of Configuration of the Configuration of Con Frontiers in Murcia, and Peter Lopen de Ayala executed that Command as his Lieutenant.

in Ostelonia;

A General Costage: was now silvabled by Pope Glement, at Flemic in Dauphint. Among A general other Things strended to be prought before the Council, wearing Gale of the Knights Tembeld at Fig. 19 pers, who were accused of most basious, and unleared of Cotmes. And indeed fuch were one in the Articles Said to have been preferred against them, as by their Absurdity feem to prove Dauphine. the Impocancy of those Gentlemen, and so earnet them, as by their Abbardity icen to prove the Impocancy of those Gentlemen, and so convince the Mindel Matter was an Impollute; for it is beyond all helief, that so many Men of Quality, Party, and Honoun throughout the whole World. Hould be entangled in such Follies and Enormities. To show somewhat of the haniounless of the Articles exhibited against the many which were; That when sirill they were admitted into the Order, they renounced Griffe, the Bielled Virgin, and all the Saints. That they deny d Salvation through Griffe, the Bielled Virgin, and all the Saints. That they deny d Salvation through Griffe, which were; That the Groß, and languist of Christs, and that particularly air the Poly. Wheele, when Ghriffians scapetree the Mentery of his Fallion. That they deny'd the real Presence in the Euchavist; and rejected that; and the other Sacrament of the Christs. That the Friefs of that Orderdald not pronounce the Words of Conferration in the Mass; as reputing them mee shreations of them. That they held the Great Mastery and all who presided in any Hosse or Converse of their Order, the do Priefs, had the Pawer of Armitting Sint. "They a Catavist to come to shirt Allembiesh which they revened as conjung from Heaven." That they had an Idol, sometimes with three, and ometimes with one Head; and other times a dead Many Skul, and cover'd with the Skin of a Man, of whom they acknowledged all Benefits received. That Bey founds certain Cords to this Idol, which they were Superfittionly about them. That they had an adole the Saint and others, vindicate the Knights, tho the generality condemns them. Their vaft Riches, were doubtless the cause the Knights, tho the generality condemns them. Their vaft Riches, were doubtless the cause the Knights, tho the generality condemnathem. Their vaft Riches, were doubtlefs the cause of their Ruin; thence proceeded the latted of the People towards them, and Princes laid hold of the Opportunity, to feize upon their Estates and Treasure. Sixty two Knights of the Order, are faid to have been examin'd before the Pope, and owning their Grimes, to have beg'd Pardon. Their first Accusers were two of the Order, so mis, the Prior of Montfalcon, in the Territory of Toulouze, and Nofus an out-Law of Florence; Witnesses scarce allowable in a Matter of fuch Moment, Others came in to them, and among the reft the Pope's Chamberlain, who took that Halift at eleven Years of Age. The Heads of these Acculations Chamberlain, who took that Habit at eleven Years of Age. The Heads of their Acculations were that to the King of France, then at Paising with the Pope. By their oxder all the Knights throughout the Kingdom were apprehended, on the Yoy of October, 1306. They were all put to the Rack, where some through excels of Fain, said any thing they would have them, yet many dy'd with Resolution. The Great Master of the Order, Japut de Mala, as he was led to be Burnt, being proms dis List in the would confess, openly protested the Innocency of his Order, declaring he had fallly charged them with those Grimes at the instigation of the Pope, and King of France, for which he beg'd Forgiveness of God. Many others did the like. The following Year Pope Clement by his Bulls, appointed the Arch-Bishop of Toledo and Santiaga, with other Prelates Judges over the Knights Templers in Cafillo, the Bishops of Valencia and Zaragora, for Aragm, and for in all other parts of Spain, and throughout Christendom. They had all Orders, after examining the Cafe, to give Sentence in the Provincal Synods. In Aragm those Knights shoot upon their Defence, in several strong Places, but particularly at Mongrom; yet the King's Forces coming upon them, they ware dall taken. In Cafille, the Ring summon'd them to appear before the Arch-Bishop of Toledo, and at the same thing dummon'd them to appear before the Arch-Bishop of Toledo, and at the same third cause detains to be apprehended, and their Estates to be put inforthe Alands of the Bishops, till such time as they were try'd. A Synod met at Salanancie, where after a full Hearing, the Templers were acquirted; Yet the final Determination was refer-Hands of the Bilipops, till fuch time as they were try'd. A Synod met at Salamanica, where after a full Hearing, the Templers were acquitted; Yet the final Determination was referred to the Poppe, whole Decree, superficed the Opinions of all those Briedated, and the whole Order was abolished. By wirtue of this Decree, King Ferdinand Seiz'd upon all they possess, as well in Lands, as Goods. In Casticia, they had the Towns of Penferrada and Be Possesson.

on In Legan, Baldarrada, Tayloria, Almanica, Internation, Villagian, Alcanica, Incided in Spain.

Castile, Villagiande, In the Temptrony of Murcia, Caravaca, and Alcanchel. In the Kingcastile, Villagiana, Baldae & Pedra de Lazera Revenilla, and many other Towns. Catring Principanaes, 182 the Augusty of Season and Augustian and Augustian and Many other Towns, and Houses too regions to repeat. They are faid to have had Twelve Monasteries in Spain. They were summon'd before the Arch-Bishop of Totedo, in the Year 1310. In 1889. Spain. They were fummond before the Arch-Billop of Toledo, in the Year 1310. In 1889, and held at Monifer in Germany the Templers were declared innbcent. At latt the Council of Vienna was open'd upon the 16th of Ottober 1311. Here it was decreed that Pope Boniface, Bould not be condemn'd. Some Difcourse there was about renewing the War, in the Holy Land, but to no effect. As to the Knights, Templers, it was ordain'd their, Order, finguld be totally abolified, their Goods to be given to the Knights of S. John, who had then taken the Highad of Rhodes. Only Spain allowed not of that Decree, by reason of the War, with the Adorr, which it was thought would proceeding out.

All the Ward, was altonified at the Tain of the Templers. Children was full of Joy for the Prince Children of whom the Ones was elaborated on the 2 of children and the found found.

Birth of Finice Alonfo, of whom the Queen was delivered on the 3d of Magnif, and he foon Callie has before been with Child, and was thought to be Barren. A Match was agreed betweet Prince before been with Child, and was thought to be Barren. A Match was agreed betwixt Prince Peter, King Ferdinand's Brother, and Mary Daughter to the King of Angon. The two Kings met at Calanyad with a great, Court, and there the Marriage was celebrated with extraordinary Pomp. Elenor the Sifter of King Ferdinand, before contracted to Prince Jayme, the King of Angon's Son, was now marry'd and deliver'd to her Father in Law. Some Diffeored there was about carrying on the War against the Moors in the Spring. There was a Difference betwixt the Kings of Caffin and Portugal, about the Towns of Morgand Spra, near Cape S. Vincent, which had bean deliver'd to the Portugues contrary to Equify diving King Ferdinand's Minjority. The King of Angon's Brother was cholen Umpire in this Difference. This done, Prince John the King of Angon's Brother was cholen Umpire in this Difference. This done, Prince John the King of Angon's Brother was fent into Portugal about that Angon's King Ferdinand wegat to Valladolid, where he allemble the Cores or Parliament, and demander Moorm of Carrying on the War. which was readily granted. In homes of driging the Infidels quite was readily granted. ny for carrying on the War, which was readily granted, in hopes of driving the Infidels quite out of Spain. Frince Peter the King's Brother being made General in the Spring of the Year 1312, marchid and lay'd Siage to Alcanders, which as was before faid, the Moore had taken. The King follow'd to Morros, there a very firange Accident happen'd. Two Brothers, Pe-war with rer and John Carvajal, week apprehended, for the Murder of a Gentleman, of the Family of the Morros, kill'd at Palescia. Many had been troubled for this Fact, but it could not be prov'd upon any Rody. Laftly these two. Gentleman was the could not be prov'd appanents, kill'd at L'alexia. Many had been troubled for this Fact, but it could not be prov'd upon any Body. Laftly these two Egntlemen were condemn'd for it, without being sufficiently Convicted or Confessing. They were adjudged to be cast headlong off from a Rock, and no Intercession could mitigate their line concerncy, and appeal'd to his Tribunal; before destall which they summon'd the King to appear within 30 Days. These Words at first look'd up-ludgen as Vain, were afterwards much Restected on. The King little regarding them, went means away to the Camp before Alexaders, there a viblent Sickness forc'd him to return to Jaen, 1904 with landing the Moors were upon surfendring. His Disease increased, so that he could hot attend any Business, and one day being somewhat Joyful with the News brought him, that the Moors had surrendred, herethy'd after Dinner to Sleep, and was found Dead. His Feedman that the Moors had surrendred, he retir'd after Dinner to Sleep, and was found Dead. His Ferdinand Death was upon a Thursday, the 7th of September. He was taken off in the Flower of his Youth the 17th at the Age of 24 Years, and 9 Months, when he began to know somewhat of Happinels. He cassile

Blanch of

244

Kuights

246

Reign'd '77 Years, 4 Months, and 19 Days, wid was the Fourth of the Name. Some faid excellive Eating and Drinking caus'd his Death, joined that it was a Judgment, for the dy'd exactly the gost Day after he was Summon'd. "For this reason he was call'd Risk for dinand the Summon'd. His Body was deplyifted at Cordona, because hy reason of the great floor of the Weather, it could not then be carry'd to Sevil or Tables, the Burial Places of the Risk It was the more considently believ'd he dy'd in pursuance of the Summons, because the same liappen'd at the same time to the Pope, and King of Fraince, who were allo cited by feveral Knights Templers, as they were led to Execution. What the King of Asson decreed, as to the Difference betwirt Cassis and Fraince of the Towns, but it was visible he favoured the Foreigns. dom to this Day.

CHAP VI

The beginning of the Reign of Alonso the XIsh King of Castile. The many Confusions in that Kingdom, by reason of his Infancy. The Moors of Granada emped their King. The Turks their Original and Growth.

The Turks their Original and Growth.

Aluss accompany to the Death of King Fordinand, because the new King was bett a Year and 26 Daysold. As soon as the King dyddy Frince Month is Son was producted a few of the country of the coun at last joyn'd with Brince Peter, and Queen Mary his Mother, yet upon Condition they The Mari fhould not carry the King out of the City. At this Time Azar King of Granada was fored expel or retire to the Ahambraka a Krong Pallace in the highest part of the City, because I float of the cheir new Son of Farraquin had caus a the Townsimen to Rebel against him. Prince Peter who was then chap. Will.

The latherty of S.R.A. 1.N.,

at Sewl, march'd thicher to relieve that King, who was his Friend and Alv, but came too late, for he had already agreed to quicking the the and Antority of a King, and remain conceousails only the City Guadas, feated in the pleasant Plains of the authent Todals. The treatment of the plain of the cook from the Adae's affecting Could and Relieves he endoargent the Relieves him; for he took from the Adae's affecting Could and Relieves he can always the plain of the was deflored. Joseph and Antonia and Relieves he can be a surfaced to the competitor and Nephew, sping the Son of Farrispash, and his Sifter, fucceded that. The killing of the spin of Page 1 and the flow size of the significant of the medicine Distance and Nephew. While the size in the Monattery of Salagan, we include the Confidence of the Intelligence of of the In wild the best of the was of the world be the best of the best of the contract of the best of the contract of t CHAP. VII.

Stady on the common than the stady of the St

CHAP.

Chap. VIII.

The Affinis of the Catalonians in Circle. The Was in Andaluzia. Death 3 This Holin, King of France. Phillip the Line Gittered him John the XXIII chalin Pope. Defeat of the Moors, by Prince Peter of Catalo.

Into, King of France. Pullip the Lange (global time). John the Xxin the plan Pop.

Defect of the Moors, by Prince Peter of Calille.

Adies of Va. Hen the Tasks had possible humiliess of a given part of Asia, they began to call their the Care. A 180, the covered the core. And for some numerite narrow Streight that parted those had no congress, was should select that hunder designes. Advances the Emperor being femilies of his Danger, thought the to have revenue to foreign Asia. The Castanian after Peace was feeled in Scip. East of Prince. The State had gain it great Fame by his Exploits, was originally a foreign. As few de brinder, of their Chief Commander was avived to Greece with mighty promises from the Rungeror. This Man had gain it great Fame by his Exploits, was originally a foreign, and gain in much represent the War of Stoly, and gain in much remained the Emperor Treative, and had afterwards few King Fraderick, and had signed the Stoly, and gain in much remained the war of Stoly and a gain in much remained the war of Stoly and a face of Stoly, and gain in much were in Stallers, 1500. Horfe, and short the Conflorations with a filter of Stoly, and gain in much were in Stallers, 1500. Horfe, and short the Conflorations with a filter of Stall, in which were in Stallers, 1500. Horfe, and short the Conflorations with a filter of Castanians past dover into far. A few minorial, here many the state of the Castanians past of Castanians past dover into far. The first the Young the war one foreign and 1000 foreign and 1000 foreign past the Task of the foreign past of the Stoly and the state of the past the first far young the war of the foreign foreign past the first far young the state of the past far young the war of the far the first far young the war of the far the far foon mutiny'd, kill'd him and plunder'd the City, but referv'd the Title of Duke for Frederick King of Sicily, in hopes he would relieve them. King Frederick accepted of the Title, and fent Governours and Officers, under whom the War was continu'd with various Success. This Dukedom he left to his younger Son William, and he to his Brother John; then succeeded Frederick his Son, who dying without Islue, that Title fell to Frederick King of Sicily, Great Grandson to him that first sent the Catalonians to Greece. Hence the Kings of Aragon, as Kings of Sicily Stil'd themselves Dukes of Athens and Neopatria.

Line Havin King of France dying on the 5th of June, 1315. Philip the Long his Brother fuc21th ceeded him, Journa his Daughter being excluded by the Saligue Law. But the could not be Tree liking excluded him from the Grown of Argumen, because her Grandmother not many Years before had dyes, and exclared from the Crown of Nyspares, necaule her is sandmorner nor many items before had dyes, and inher at that Crown. Popp Clement dying at dyingnot, the See of Rome was Vacant two Philipsec-Verse and four. Months, through the Divilion among the French and Indian Cardinals; at ceeds. last 30m the Xido was chosen on the 7th of August, 1316. He made Zaragopa and Arch Bi-1316 hopticks, to whate Invitalishing the Divilion among the August, 1316. He made Zaragopa and Taragona, all 70m the which and Zaragopa it self were before Subordinate to Taragona. In Casile things were very which and Zaragopa it self were before Subordinate to Taragona. which and 200 goods It let were potore Supportunate to 1 arragons. In Captus, tampes were very much undited; and yet they made War upon the Moors. As a not brooking his Fall, Pope. contrary to Agreement, assumed the Title of King, and being of himself too weak, with the Affishance of the Christians. It was not fit to let hip to good an Opportunity of extirpating the Moors. Prince Perer was appointed Gendral against them both, because of his Age, and because he had many Friends among the Infidels. As also because his lance, Prince John, was then affilicted with the Death of his eldest Son, D. Along, who dy'd at Monater, near Toro, and was bury'd at bean. About this Time Prince Ferdinand of Majorca dy'd in the Morea, whither he went therefore is Wife's Dominions. His Body was brought to Spain, and buryd at Perpignen. He left a Son call'd D. Jayme. Prince Peter in Andelszia provided a great Convoy for Guadia, which fuffer'd want, and the Enemy lying in the way he March'd with it himself. Near Alagen a great Number of Moorish Horse commanded by Ozmin, a brave Souldier, met him. After a sharp Ingagement the Moors were put to Flight, 1500 of them infailed kill'd, and among them ao of the Noblett of Granada. Guadax was reliev d, and two Forts Prince Fee sail d. and among them 40 of the Nobicu of Grandal. Gladix was relieved, and two Forts Prince Pecalled Gmills and Algabords, takes. This Success which ought to have gain d him the Love er of Caof all Men, rais'd Emulation, and many fought his Ruin, whom his Uncle Prince John in-file. cens'd. It was proposed the Governours fhould deliver up fome Towns of their own for Security, that they would Govern purightly. This Buliness was moved in the Cortes at Burger first, and then at Carrion, where Prince Peter to his great Honour comply'd with all their Demands. Mony was wanting, and the People would not hear of Taxes; therefore upon Demands. Mony was wanting, and the reopie would not a local of a local of the local field from the Cartade to all that ferv'd upon their own Coff. Besides the Country rais'd some Mony. Thus.our Army being increased, wasted all the Country as far as the Walls of Gramada, the Moor refighing to hazard a Battle. The Infidels deligning to beliege Gibralton, it was provided with all Necessaries, so they desisted, and at the same time the Castle of Belines was vided with all Necesiaries, to they desired, and at the same time the Lastie of Belines was taken from them. It was now the Year 1316, in which Received Arch-Bishop of Taragona dying, the Chapter elected Prince John the King of Angon's 34 Son, but the Pope could never be brought to confirm the Election. Therefore they were forced to proceed to a new Choice, which fell upon D. Xinnen de Luna Arch-Bishop of Zaragon. D. Peter de Luna succeeded him in that See, and Prince John was made Abbot of Manual Line, vacant by the Promotion of D. Power to the Archbishoprick.

CHAP. VIII.

Institution of two new Orders of Knighthood in Aragon and Portugal. Peter and John Princes of Castile kill dby the Moors. The Government of that Kingdom in Confufion. Agrest Overthrow given the Navarrois, by the Biscainers.

IN the Year 1317, the King of Aragon obtain'd leave of the Pope to inflitute a new Orlights of det of Knighthood out of the Ruins of the Templers. That they should be the Coffer of Montfall in the Coffer of Montfall in the Coffer of Montfall in Badge was a plain Red Crois, on a White Cloak. Their principal Seat Montfall whence and of they took their Name. They did as good Service againft the Moort, who infested the Coasts Christian Portugal. of Kalencia, as any other Order. Soon after in Portugal by Remillion of the fame Pope, was Portugal infiltrated another Order called of Christ, the chiefest in that Kingdom. Their Badge a Red Crofs, with a white Twift in the middle. To them also were given the Lands of the Templers, their chief Seat is at Tomar. The Portugueses had long enjoy'd Peace, which was now difturb d by Cavik Diftord. Prince Monjo was displeased with his Father, the true Caufe was Ambition, and the defire of busining before his Time; but he pretended his Baltard Brother Mongo Sanches had, too much gewer, and more Interest with the King than was reasonable. Many forfook the King and followd the Prince, who feized upon the Cities of Caviffer and Mongo Sanches had too many for the caviffer and the Ca imbra, and Porto, The King endeavour'd to appeale him by fair means, and us'd all possible Methods to prevent a War. Mean while in Aragon dy'd Queen Mary, Sifter to the King of Cyprus, whence the came the Year before, and was marry'd to the King of Aragon. The Marriage was Celebrated at Girona, and the was bury'd at Torola, where the ended her The Marriage was Celebrated at Girona, and the was oury Q at 1 origin, where the chiefant 1218 Pays in the Year 1318. The following Year 1319, was Remarkable for two extraordinary 1218 Accidents. One, the unfortunate Death of the two Princes, John and Peter. The other, the voluntary Refignation made by D. Jayme, Heir to the Crown of Aragon. Prince John entwo extraordinary y'd the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter was a trutordinary of the Honour and Efteem his Competitor Prince Peter acquir'd, and Prince Peter acquir'd his peter acquir'd h

Book XV.

Man would take no wrong. It was fear'd these Differences might break out into open Hofillities; for Prince John, under colour of the Wat with the Moors, had rais'd great Forces numers y for rrince your, under colour of the War, with the Moors, had rais'd great Forces in Old Cathid. The Queen made up their Breaches at Manachela, where the Correction for and it was agreed, both Princes hould Command severally against the Moors, and cathid have the payment of his own Army. In this Allembys the Archbishop of Santiago in the Policis Name, proposed the Business's Along de last Creata, 'threating to proceed to Exclediation Confured in the Weet on the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet on the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet on the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet on the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of the Santiago in the Policis of the Weet of Cenfires if he were not faits? A. D. Alonfo now demanded those Towns, which he refused when offered him. The Nobility excused themselves, saying, it was against the Oath they had taken, to lessed any thing of site King's Parimony during his Minority. All that could be obtained was, that Ferdinand, D. Alonfo's younger Brother, should be made Lord Steward of the Houshold. The Ouen went to Evided Roding, to reconcile her Son-in-Law Pfilice Alonfo, to his Father, but all in vain. The two Princes John and Peter, went several ways to Andaluxia: Ilmael King of Granada, to obtain Succours out of Africh, gave the King of Morecco, Alexina and Rodin, with all their Dependencies: Prince Peter took Tiscen, a strong and populous Town. Mahomet Andon, whose the Town was, surrendered the Castle. Prince John Castle of Castle of the Castle of a rain defign, confidering the great Heat of the Season. At Alcandois the two Princes joyn'd their Forces, which confilted of 9000 Horse, and a great number of Foot. They march'd into the Enemies Country, destroying all before them. Prince John ied the Van, and Prince Peter brought up the Reer. They took the Town of Albra, but being in great haste, did not make themselves Masters of the Castle. On a Saurday, being the Eve of Midfinisher-day, they appeared in fight of Granada, and reftee the next day. The 3d day, perceiving what Difficulties surrounded them, they began to reture, Prince Peter in the Van, and Prince Jehn in the Recr with the Bagiage. The Aday! Bearing of their Retreat, Sally'd out of Granada, to the number of 5000 Horie, and a Multifude of Foot, under the Command of Ozmin. Their delign was only to flick upon our Reer, without hazarding a Battel. In the Heat of the day our Men were far from the River, and wanted Water. Hereupon the Moore charg'd them with great Fury, and hideous Cries. Prince Peter hearing the Noife, Fac'd about to fuccour those that Fought. The Soldiers were dispers'd, and Eainting with Fac'd about to fuccour those that Fought. The Soldiers were differs'd, and Bainting with the Heat, whom the Prince endeavouring to encourage and bring on, oppress with Labour, and the Fury of the scotching Sun, he fainted away, and dy'd, without any affistance. The The death same befell Prince John, who yet fensless, liv'd till Night. This News being spread abroad, of the the Soldiers drew themselves into a Close Body, and the Moort having plunder the Baggage Princes of retir'd. Night saw of the Christians. The Bodies of the Princes were bury'd at castle, Pe. Briggs. Prince's John led's Son of the same Name, call'd alio One-ey'd, because he was reter to the same of the Son of the same Name, call'd alio One-ey'd, because he was readily to this lifelinations give no better than his Presence. Mary Wife to Prince Peter, was deliver'd at Cordons of a Daughter, call'd Blanch; the Education of whom, and the Care of her Ether to work when him. New Though her Estate, Garcilasse de la Vega, a great Friend of her Fathers, took upon him. New Troubles ensu'd in Castille upon the Death of the Princes, every one striving to have the greatest share in the Government. At the same time Aragon was disturbed upon a very extraordinary thare in the Government. At the fame time Aragon was diffured upon a very extraordinary occision. D. Famme the King's eldest Son, had resolved to renounce and resign his Right Jameheir and Title to the Inheritance of that Crown. His Father us'd all possible Arguments to disconstant with the state of Aragon Swade him, but all to no purpose. Therefore on the 23th of November, before the Cortes or abdicate. Parliament then also male data Tarragona, he made a publick act of Resignation. That done, he took the Habit of Calaurawa, and soon after that of Montels. The Lady Ellenor, who had been Contraded to him, was fent back Maid into Califer. His loofe mainer of Life was a fufficient proof, that it was not Virtue, but weakness and inconftancy, that mov'd him to refule a Kingdom. D. Alono his second Brother, succeeded in the Title to the Crown, and had at the time by his Wife the Lady Terefa, a young Son call'd Peter, born the 7th Month This Ladys Portion was the Earldom of Urgel, left her by her great Uncle Armengand, Brother to her Grandmother.

The Moors incouraged by their last Success, took Huescar, Orles, and Galera, Towns behen by the firing place where they figar'd neither Sex, nor Age; fome Christians sav'd themselves up oft a Rock; near the Town, add in the Castle. Castle was full of Confusion, caus'd by the many Competitors to the Government. Queen Mary according to what had been agree'd fonce year's before, pretended it belonged to her alone, and fent her Letters to all Places, exhorting the People to flick by her. Being a Women the was look'd upon as too weak to undergo fo great a Burthen, and many firove to 'any themeleves to the fupream Power. Among these the chief was Prince Philip, the King Uncle, D. John Manuel, and the other Among these the was rune rune runny, and was Lord of Bisco, all powerful Men, of the Blood Royal. These were all put into Power, not by publick Consent, but in part, as every ones Interest lay. Several Assemblies of Provinces were held, the result was that Andaluzia Governors chose Prince Philip for their Governour. The Kingdom of Toledo and Estremadura, elected chosen in D. John Manuel, most part of old Castile stood by D. John, Lord of Biscay. These things were not lasting, but at every foot the Governours were chang'd, as the Peoples Minds alter'd, which caus'd an uni peakable Confusion D. Ferdinand de la Cerda had no great Interest, and was suspected by all Men; he resolv'd to joyn with D. John, the Lord of Biscay.

This was the condition of Cafille in the Year 1320. The fame Year Prince John the King of Aragon's third Son, was confecrated Arch Shipop of Toledo, at Levida. Once Mary was somewhat jealous of that Prince, but the Rope by his Letters, affur'd her he would do all things in the Expour. The new Arch Billhoft had great Disputes with the Prelates of that Kingdom show the carrying his Crub, brough their Disocelles, and he persisting to do so, the Arago Billhop of Zaragopa excompanicated him, and that up all the Churches. This hedid, relying one a Decree of the Prelates of that Kingdom, by which they declare any Bishop excommunicate, that shall carry his Cross in the Diocess of another. The King of Aragon was highly offended at it, and wrote to the Pope Letters, full of Passion and Threats, and had perhaps gone farther, but that he was diffuseded by his Friends. The Pope's Answer was Ambiguous, for he blam'd the Arch-Bishop of Zaragora, yet order him of Toledo to be abfolved of the Excommunication, left it might have been just. The new Prelate being come to Toledo, behaved himself in such manner towards Difform Manuel, who was marry'd to his elder sifter. Confance, that all Apprehensions of his favouring him ceased. He would by no means suffer him to receive the King's Revenue in his Arch-Bishoprick, whence there ensured a mortal Enuity betwirt them. At the same time the Nawarou still suggest to France, sustained a great loss in Biscay. Philip the Long, Kingol France dying without Heirs, on the second of June 1321, his Brother Charles the Fair, succeeded him, and equall'd his Brothers in Liberality, Valour, and Beauty. In his time the Biscainers him, and equation is propers in Liberainty, value, and beauty. In this like the objection feired the Caftle of Corricia, in Guipplean, pretending the Navarrois withheld it from them wrongfully. 60000 Men-march'd out of Navarre (if the Numbers are not miffalen) and bifaints. came to Botivara on the 19th of September. 800 Biscainers having secur'd the Passes of the and Navar Mountains, from thence roll? down Barrels full of Stones, and Bodies of Trees, on the rolls and Mountains, and Bodies of Trees, on the rolls and Mountains, and Bodies of Trees, on the rolls and Mountains, and Bodies of Trees, on the rolls and the rolls and Bodies of Trees, on the rolls and the rolls and the Report of the R ome his Legate, into Callie, to endeavour to put an end to the Distractions of that Kingdom. He procurd the Corres or Parliament should meet at Palencia, at the same time that Queen Mary the Protectress of three Kings, and Honour of Cafrile, worn out with Age and Troubles dy'd at Valladolid, on the first of June 1322. She built the Monastery of Hullaga in that City, where she order'd her felf to be bury'd, another at Bargos, a third at Tird. and others in feveral Parts of the Kingdom. The Cortes at Palencia it feems, took no effect. and others in several Parts of the Kingdom. The Cores at Talegarian Lecins, took no enect. A Synoid of all the Bishops of Capile was held at Valladolid by the Legate. There on the 2d. A Spanifo of Angush, many wholsom Constituous were enacted. Among other things, those that shall eat held at of Angulfy, many wholfom Conditions were enacted. Among other things, those that shall eat shed at Flesh, or fell it publickly in Lent, or the Ember-days, are Excommunicated. Such as are Patadoid. The Christians are forbid to be present at Divine Service; yet if Baptiz'd, they, are allow'd to be eapable of Benefices. The common way of Purgation used in Spain is Condemned. The Decrees of D. John Archbishop of Totalo, published at that time, are preserved to this day. He ordains, that Divine Service do not go forwards till the Jone of Moor, go out of the Church. That Monies gather'd upon the Croisade, be deliver'd to the Prelate for Redemption of Captives, and Relief of the Poor: That Priests isy Mass at least four times a year; and that after they have said. Mattins. That what is gotten by the Church shall not be left to Children, the got in Wedlock. This same year, Jimael King of Granada, was kill'd in the Advantage of the Standon's who was been the lost a Republic of Moorio, he took from him a Beautiful Captive; the other, because he lost a Nephew he dearly lov'd there. Scarce was his Death known abroad, when his Son Makomer but 12 years of Age, was carry'd on a Chair on Men's known abroad, when his Son Mahomer but 12 years of Age, was carry'd on a Chair on Men's Shoulders through the City, and proclaim d King. By this means the Governor of the City manifelted his Loyalty, and prevented the deligns of the Conspirators, who intended to have fet up a King of their own making, but were now forc'd to quit the City, and to fly to feveral places.

CHAP. IX.

King Alonso the 11th of Castile, takes upon him the Government. The Conquest of Sardinia by the Aragonians. The Death of King Denis of Portugal. His Son Alonfo succeeds him. Jaymethe 2d, King of Aragon, is succeeded by his Son Alonso

Pon the Death of Queen May, the Diforders of Coffile were doubld. No hopes of Remedy remained, but in the King's coming to Age to take upon him the Government. is of clothic There were great Tokens to be feen of his Prudence and Virtue. At laft being arrived at locality of the Times obliged him to take up the Go-on the Periment of his Kingdom. Besides the Subjects press a him, and particularly Garcilass de la veroment. Vega, and Alvan Nunez Ossorio, Mea of great Note, who labour a to get into the King's Favour, thereby to obtain Pardon of the Crimes they had committed during his Minority. He admitted them into his Family, and they grew to great, that he was chiefly govern'd by them. One Josepha Jew of Exist a very Rich Man, and Chief of the Farmers and Managers of the Revenue, had the next place to these Two Gentlemen. The King sent Letters of Summons to the Governours of the Kingdom, who presently some to him to Full returns of the first in gaining his Favours, the their Higherwere not fineere, as the first in gaining his Favours, the their Higherwere not fineere, as the first had been pearly from only Prince Philip Pay'd with the King. D. John Mamuel, and D. John Lord of Biford, withdrawing privately from Court. Their pretence was as usual, Evil Countellors. They joun'd their Forces, and made a folemn League at Cigales. The Form of Covenant formerly used among the Nobles of Cafile was thus: Having read the Articles of Agree-The Rock ment, one of the Gentlemen concerned, in the Name of all the reft faid: "I fwear by Al-afforder. affociate mighty God, and by his most glorious Mother, that every one of us will perform all that of Affocia has been read in this Publick Instrument, without Fraud or Deceit. That we will not go one without the other against our Enemies, nor in any manner act contrary to what has been here established. Whosever shall first violate it, that very Day do Thou, Almighty God, in this World has away his Life, and torment his Soul in the other, with cruel and everlasting Torments; let his Strength and his Speech fail him; and in Battel his Horse, Arms and Spurrs; and his Vallals when he has most need of them. Then all prefent answerd, Amen. Other times they divided the Confectated Host into Two Parts, and each took one; then followd the Curfes and imprecations. This is the follom manner of Associating themselves long us'd in Capille. This Union was dangerous to the King, and therefore to break it, he agreed to Marry D. John Manuel's Daughter, who thereupon came therefore to break it, he agreed to Marry D. John Manuel's Daughter, who thereupon came to Penafiel, fubmitted himfiel to the King, and deliver'd him his Daughter, as yet too young to be marryd. The other D. John teeing himfelf forfaken, thought of Marrying Blanck the Daughter of Prince Peter, kill'd in Andalunch, for her great Portion, he being Lady of Almaçan, Alecer, and other Powns upon the Borders of Angen, which lay opportunely to forward his designs. To prevent him, the King, managed as for fore year, which lay opportunely to forward his designs. To prevent him, the King, managed as for fore peter, was the chief Man that gave this Advice. D. John Mahniel being reflor'd to the King's Favour, meditated Revenge against the Archbishop of Toledo. Hereupon some hard words passing between the heing offended, withdrew into Angon, and there exchanged Churches with D. Kinnes de Lova. Archbishop of Tarragona, with the additional Title of Patriarch of Alexandria. Garcilasso was inside Chancellor, and from that time the Ossice Stephen with D. Kinnes de Lova. Archbishop of Tarragona, with the additional Title of Patriarch of Alexandria. Garcilasso was inside Chancellor, and from that time the Ossice Stephen with D. Kinnes de Lova. Archbishop of Tarragona, which the additional Title of Patriarch of Alexandria. Garcilasso was inside Chancellor, and from that time the Ossice Stephen with D. Kinnes de Lova. Archbishop appointed Deputies to execute it, and now they have only citafo was made Chancellor, and from that time the Office fell to nothing, the afterwards for fom years the Archbilhops appointed Deputies to execute it, and now they have only the hare Title of Lorids Chancellors of Galliet. D. John the Archbilhop, increased the number of 13 Péor, malitained at the House of those Prelates, to 30; which holds to this day.

Chap. X.

Sadinla conquered The King of Archon in the france of the Ports Grant, was refolved to possess them to the by the Allong of Archon in the term of two years Conquered it, defeating those of Pifa, in several Encounters. Yet most of the Archonians dy'd through the unhealthfulness of the Country. Prince Peter, younger Brother to Mosses, innoved by the fresh example of Cassis, and inherit the Crown, which he understanding, soon concluded, a Peace with Pifa in the Month of June 1324, upon these Canditions, That Prisoners on both sides be fet at liberty; That Trade be restored; That the Cassis of Pifa; That all the rest of the fluid belong to the Arcagonians. This done, he came over into Spain, and prevail'd with his Father, to declare his Sons Heirs of the Crown, notwithstanding he should dye before them, in the Cortes at Zaragora, and there the Oath of Fidelity to them as Heirs, was accordingly taken. The following 1325: in January, and at Sasisarem, dy'd as Heirs, was accordingly taken. The following 1325: in January, and at Sasisarem, dy'd as Heirs, was accordingly taken.

as Heirs, was accordingly taken. The following 1325, in January, and at Santaern, dy'd Danis Kof Denis Kang, of Perugal, a Prince famous for the long time he Reigned, which was 45 Years, parantal 9 Montis and 5 Days, as alford in is continual Profiperity till the latter end of his Reign, when dies, it was diffurb'd by his Son. He was bury'd in the Monastery of St. Bernard, built by himfelf, it was diffured by his Son. He was bury'd in the Monastery of St. Bernard, built by himself, set buer a League and half from Lisbon. Queen Elizabeth his Wife, fiv'd 11 Years after him, and offeringed, dy'd on the fourth of July 132. She was afterwayded Canonized for her extraordinary Virtue, and Acts of Piety. Alonfo, King Denis his eldest Son, succeeded him, and was call'd the Brave, and Acts of Piety. Alonfo, King Denis his eldest Son, succeeded him, and was call'd the Brave, offeringed, Alonfo, Denis, and John; "Mary Rever, and Elenor outliv'd their Parents. This year dy'd Sancho King of Majorea at Cerdapie; and because he had no Children, appointed D. Jayme his Brottler Bradianast's Son, his Heir. The King of Alonfo, Denis delication, but the Argonian was powerful; therefore with instance of Philip the late King's Brother, by him appointed Governour during the Miliority of D. Jayme, the was agreed, That D. Jayme should Marry Confance, Grandchild to the King' of Aragon, who should give her in Dower, the Right he pretended to that Crown.

Rebels of Castile was not yet quiet, which caus'd King Alonfo, the antarally merciful, to punish Receis of Castile was not yet quiet, which caus'd King Alonso, the naturally merciful, to punish punished. some Heads of Mutineers, whence he got the Name of the Revengeful. D. John the Lord of Biscoy, who aspired to marry the Lady Blanch for her great Estate, and design's to call D. Alonso de la Cerda out of France, to stir up new Troubles, was the first that suffer'd.

King upon pretence of making War against the Moors call'd D. John to him, and made some Overtures of giving him his Sister Ellering in Marriage. He came to Court on the Day of all Saints in the year 1327, and being invited to a Feast, was there put to Death by the King's Saint in the year 1327, and being intract to a cent, mastere put to Location in the Hands of the Hards of the her. The Towns and Forts D. John had by Inheritance, which were above 80. were eiher. The Towns and forts D. John had by Inneritance, which were above so, were either taken by Force, or Surrander'd, and anged'd to the Crown. D. John Manuel commanded in the Frontiers against the Moory, and tho he did not much conside in the King, yet he carry'd on the War vigorously. The Infidels had not long before surprized the Carlet of Rue; and design'd an Incursion, into Andaluxia, quier their General Ofinit then reconcil'd to the King, D. John ingag'd them near the River Guadalborga, routed them, and killed a great Number. After this Victory he retir'd to his Estate much Discontented, for that the King put away his Daughter Constance, and marry'd Many, Daughter, to the King of Portugal. This was highly referred by D. John, and the King of Angon, Uncle to the Lady Constance. Alons the Ivis at this time was King of Angon, his Father King Symie the Lady Constance. Alons the Ivis at this time was King of Angon, his Father King Symie the Lady Constance. Alons the Lord of Bilgar was Isl. King put to Death in Cassille. The Lady Terefa the King's Daughter in Law dy'd 5 days before dies. In a Lawager, and was shere bury'd in the Monastery of S. Francis. D. Alons who since Alons the ceeded King Jayme, had by his Wife the Lady Terefa these Children; Peter, Tomes, and Ivis incomplance, for four others of alons the Instancy. King Jayme ordaind that the Principalities eccled. Of Drage, Catalonia, and Valencia hould never be partled. He was so great an Enemy to Laway. Suits, that he for ever bandiffed Ximnon Rada, a great Lawyer, by whose Contrivance many bad instance of the Constance of killed a great Number. After this Victory he retir'd to his Estate much Discontented for of a Laughter Carle Diament Supplies Laws of France in County and Interest the City Confine of Wars German to the three late Kings on the one fide, and Edward King of England, as Son to the Lady France Elizabeth, Sifter to those three Kings on the other, pretended to that Crown. The States and Engof the Kingdom according to the Saigue Law, proclaim'd Philip de Valies, whence entired land, bloody Wars-ketwirt those two Nations, and the Kings of England took the Title of Kings of France, and quarter'd, the Flower de Luces in their Arms. Navaire was more Fortunate, for it was delivered from the Dominion of France. Joann the Daughter of King Luis Husin marry'd the Earl of Eureux, call'd Philip, and they were proclaim'd King and Queen of Nature 1981. warre at Fampings, by the general confent of all People, that Lady having the undoubted Right to the Crown by her Mother. The King of France made, no Oppolition, as well in regard to her Title, as because the Earl was fils near Kinfman, being Great Grandson to S. Luic King of France. Before the Government was well fetled, the People of Navarre mitiny'd, and were so outragious against the Jews, that in only the Town of Estela 10000 are faid to have been kill'd; perhaps there may be a miltake in the Numbers.

CHAP. X.

The Wars betwist the Christians and Insidels. Rebellions in Castile. Aragon, Castile and Portugal joyn in League. The King and Queen of Navarre come into that Country, and return again to France.

A T the same time in Cafille great Preparations were made for the War with the Moors. Cafille at The Moorifs King's tender Years, and the Distractions among the Infidels offer d a good War with the Moorie. Opportunity of making fome confiderable Advantage. Besides that a Son of Ozmin, call'd Abraham the Drunkard, because he drank much Wine, had deserted to the Christians. With him came a good Body of Men. King Alonso went to Sevil, and from thence made Incursions, wasting the Enemy's Country. He took from them Olivera, Pruna and Ayamonte. Thus the Summer was spent, and Winter coming on, the Souldiers return'd Rich with Plunder, to Quarter in Sevil. D. Alonfo Jofre the Admiral, brought tilither the News to the King, that Leaves in Sevil. D. Jumps yet the Admiral, prought untitler the News to the king, that he had defeated 24 Galleys of the Moors, taken 3, and funk 4. Some of these belong it to Granada, the rest were of Africk. Above 1200 Moors were kill'd and taken. Embassaors were sent to Treat about the Kings Marriage. D. John Manuel seeing the King resolv'd to put away his Daughter, publickly recounting his Allegiance, joynd in League with the Kings of Aragon and Granada. Besides he made Inroads from Chinchill and Almans, two strong Places wasting all the Country. At the same time the King at Sevil gave the Title of Earl of Trasiamara, Lemos, and Sarria to Alvar Nuñez. Oforio his great Favourite, an Ho-nour had not been given in Castile for many Years past. The Ceremony was very odd. Three Sops were put into a Cup of Wine, and fet before them; the King and Earl complimented one another three Times about taking the first; at last the King took one and the Earl another. The Earl was allow'd in the Camp to keep a Kitchin apart for his Company, and in the Army to have Colours with his own Devile and Coat of Arms. His Patent being fign'd and read, all that were present cry'd, Let the Earl Live. This was the manner of creating and read, all that were pretent cryd, Let the Earl Live. This was the manner of creating an Earl in those Days. At Cordeys the King caused John? Property to be Beheaded, for that he had not obey'd his Orders in restoring the Castle, of Cabra to the Knights of Sanitage, from whom he took it during the late Troubles, besides he was given d'as a Seditious Person. Mary Citizens of Cordova luster'd the same Punishment for the Sane, so other like Crimes. Carrello de la rega was murder'd at Socia in the Church at Mass, by the contrivance of the Nobility. The King was much concern'd, and, had fent him not long before from Revil to thwart the Defigus of D. John Manuel. Efedona finall Town in the Kingdom of Toledo mutiny'd, and was for joyning with the Rebels. In Cafile there were Uproars, particularly Toro, Zamora, and Valladolid had revolted. The chief Contriver of this Rebellion was Her-Toro, Zamora, and Valladolid had revolted. The chief Contriver of this Rebellion was Hernar Radiguez, de Balboa, Grand Prior of the Order of S. John. His Pretence was the Greatness of the new Earl, Alvar Oforio and Joseph the Jew. The King lay'd Siege to Efadoma, but hearing the News of Cafile, was forc'd to quit it. He came to Valladolid, where they would not admit him unles he calf off the Earl Oforio, which was accordingly done. This Affront was so hainously resented by Oforio, that he Rebell'd and joyn'd with D. John Manuel, which prov'd his utter Ruin. Ramiro Flores de Gazman counterfeiting he fled from the King, gail'd his Friendthip, and finding an Opportunity, stabb'd him. The King presently seiz'd all his Lands and Treasure, and declar'd him a Traytor, no body appearing upon Summons an instances and resulted and tectard time a trayor, no body appearing upon summons to Nindicate him. Jefesh the Jew was protected by his Meannels, and general Contempt of that Nation. The King was married at Guidad Robrigo, where with him of Portugal he contrivid to draw away the King of Dagwer from the Interest of D. John Mannel. To this purpose they offered him Ellenor the King of Cashie's Sister in Marriage, which he accepted of and the Lady was fent into Aragem, his first Wife Terefa being dead before. D. John the and the Lady was left into "argo", his lift while trajed being dead belief: "John the Partiach, and Arch-bilhop of Tarragona went as far as Alfger tomeet her. The Ceremony was performed at Taragona, the King of Cafille being prefent with him of Argon; this was at the beginning of the Year 1320. To make this League the firmer, Blanch the Daughter of Prince, Pear who was kill'd by the Moors, was contracted to Peter the King of Portuga's el-Accord Frince, First who was all the process of the control of the process of the to make the bett Interest ne could, marry a the Daughter of Leva likewife marryd Mary the Daughter of D. John, Lord of Bilcay, hoping with their loyat Forces to recover that Province which the King had taken from that lady. D. John de Lava, and D. John Manual were in open Rebellion, others confented underhand, as D. Feter de Caffre, and D. John Alonfo de Albuquirque, Son to Hernon Sanchez, and Grandson to King Denis of Portugal. The greatest of all was D. John de Huro, Lord of Cameros: Great part of the Kingsom follow'd these Rebellions Noblemen. This Year the new King and Oucen of Navarre came to Pamplona, and were receiv'd upon these Conditions. That no Mony should be coin'd during the Term of 12 Years, because it was then usual to Stamp base Metal; That Foreigners should not be put into places of Trust; That it should not be in their Power to sell or change the Kingdom, or alienate the Revenue; That their first Son, as foon as he came to Age should be King, and take upon him the Government, and his FaAffairs of ther Philip should allow 100000 Crowns for his Expences. The King and Queen swore to Affairs of ther Finity mount amount of the Articles, and were thereupon Grownid in the Cathedral on the Sthoff March. Great Joy was express by all forts of People; for that the Kingdom was reflored to Plinces of their own, after it had been 55 Years subject to Foreigners. Thefe Princes had 3 Sons, Charles, Philip, and Luis, who had all great Polfeilions, and as many Daughters, Joanna, Mary, and Blanch, who also were well Marry'd. At this time the Elemant of the Statistics and the Sta Daugners, Joanna, Dawy, and Diame, who also well well marry at Art and all the termings weige in Rebellion, and had imprison'd Lait their Earl, who getting loofe was by them befieg d in Gam, whence he fled to the King of France for Protection. That King fent Embassiadors to Flanders, but they proving unfuccessful, he had recourse to Arms. Many Princes went to that War, and among them Philip King of Navare. The two Armies met near went to that War, and among them Imp rang or Consumer. It is, two failines mer near Cafel. After some Skirmishes, one day in Angustr, in the heat of the Day, the Hemmings surprized the French Camp, gaind their Works, and came to the King's Tent, killing many before they could defend themselves. The King himself was in Danger, till the Forces gathering from the other part of the Camp, the Hemmings spent with the thest were put to the rout. After this Victory, the Earl was easily reflor the King Philip returned to his King-man the Camp of the Camp, the Camp of the Camp, the Hemmings spent with the the American services and other Cathage. Heavy no new the work of the Camp dom, which he found full of Robbers, and other Outlaws. Hereupon new Laws were Enacted, which are commonly call'd Fuero Nuevo, that is The new Charter. The Affairs of the Kingdom being settled, the King and Queen return'd to France, upon pretence of Affisting the Franch King, their Kinsman in his Wars against the English, but in Reality the Love of their Country and Riches of France drew them, which caus'd them to despise the Poverty of Navarre. Harry Soliberte a Frenchman was lest to Govern the Kingdom.

Chap. X.

Adsossine Casilie was ingag'd in Civil Discord, and the War with the Moors at the same time, become at sides great want of Mony. The Corres or Parliament met at Madrid, where it was Enactment and Corres of the Corres of Employment in the King's Houshold, That no new Taxes should be rais'd without the Consent of the Cortes. That no Benefices should be given to Foreigners. Mony was easily granted, because the Moors had taken Priege, a Town belonging to the Knights of Cadastrava, the Governour delivering it up without Bloodhed. To pacify D. John Manuel, his Daughter Conflance till then kept in the Nature of a Philoger at Toro, was delivered up 800 him. Isoleph the Jaw being call'd in Queltion for the King's Revenue Awhereof he'was Preasurers, could not make good his Accounts, and was therefore deprived of that Place. It was ordain'd, that none who was not a Christian should for the future enjoy that Imployment. Also that the Treasurer should not be called Almojarife, a Word odious, because Moorish, but for the sture should have no other Name but that of Treasurer. The King of Portugal sent 500 Horse for the War against the Moors. The King of Argan, and D. John Manuel promised to invade them with Forces of their own. D. John had the Command of the Frontiers of Marcia, and Peter Lopez de Apala was his Lieutenant. The King of Cassis married into the Kingdom of Granada, and lay'd Siege to Teba de Hardalet, a strong Town, in the year 1330. Oximin lay with 6000 Horse at Tirom, 2 Leagues from Tebas, and did great harm to the Christians on that Side, whilst he made himself Master of their Camp. The King having Notice of k, sent a strong Body to meet the Moors at the River, and stay d himself with the rest in the Camp. The Moors being put to Flight, our Men pur-Ore the People of Tebas having no hopes of Relief, Surrendred in Angust, Articing only for the Moors, and Work and the Camp, and plundered all their Baggage. Thus there was new Cause of Offence against D. John Manuel, nor the King of Angun rakes assured the strong the consense of the Scales, bedieds the Persuguit Horse were returned Home. This them was new Cause of Offence against D. John Manuel, and therefore Peace was concluded with the Moors, upon Condition they should pay 12000 Ducats yearly. That done Trade was restore

The End of the Fifteenth Book.

History of SPAIN.

ાં દિવસ અને

The Sixteenth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The King of Granada goes into Africk. Abomelique passes over into Spain. The War with the Moors. A Truce concluded. Alonso de la Cerda rightful King of Castile, bullimits to King Alonfo the Poffeffor.

Frick is the Third Part of the formerly known World. It is bounded on the Fick is the Third Part of the formerly known World. It is bounded on the West with the Aslantick Ocean, on the East, by Egyè and the Red Sea, on the North, by the Mediterrinean, where it is broadelf, and from theace running to march the South, groweth still narrower, in the nature of a Pyramia, till it ends in the Geo of Good Hope. The lababitants differ in Laws, Customs, Religions, Habit and Colour. The inner parts are inhabited by the Ethiopians and Blacks. Next is Lybia, then Nimidia, divided by Mount Aslas. Along the Coast of the Mediterranean, are the People peculiarly call'd Africans, and Moort, which is Barbay. The Country bears Corn, and Feeds Cattle, but has little Wood; it feldom Rains there, and there are but few Rivers and Springs.

The People are Healthy, Laborious, and Active. In War they are more fuccessful by their Numbers, than Valour their chief frength confifts in Horse. Here Alboacon the IXth; King of Moreov, of the Family of the Merine, possess and a mighty Empire, having subdu'd all the neighbouring Princes, and was the only Prince that could aspire to the Crown of Spain, being terrible to the Christian, a Man of noted Valour, and endud with many other good natural Parts. He was at War with Beterein, King of Tremeten, which War he had as an inheritance from his Father. This was the only thing that hinder'd, him from invading Spain. Mahomet King of Granada being of himself too weak to withstand the Christians, sail'd into Africk, Mahmet to perfivade Mbocen to joyn with him in the attempt of conquering Spain. At Fee, he was a mortal Enemy to Ozmin and his Family. Both Kings frove to out-do one another, in Courtefy and Liberality. After these Formalities being come to treat of their Affairs, the King of Granada earnestly press d the African to joyn with him, that they might restore the Honour of their Fore-Fathers, in Spain, and offer'd freely to yield him all that should be taken, contenting himself only with the Pleasure of Revenge. Albacen promis'd, as soon as the Wars in Africk were ended, to go over in Person, and the mean while was willing to send his Son Abonselique with a good Body of Horse, as a Pledge that he design'd to follow. While these Things were contriving in Africk, the Moors of Granada, under the command of Reduan, and Abuceber, made an incursion into Murcia, wasted all the Country, carri'd away 1200 Captives, and burnt the Town of Guardamar fo call'd, because it lies upon the Mouth of the River Segura. King Mahomet being come to Granada. D. John Manuel and the other Rebels, enter'd into a League with him, which was concluded by Peter Carillo, who pass'd between them. Their Hearts were so full of Venom, that they had no respect to Loyalty or Christianity.

Elizabeth Queen of Portugal was still living, and the very aged, spar'd no Labour that Abolo de Elizabeth Queen of Portugal was fill living, and tho very aged, ipar'd no Labour that he Carda might conduce to the publick Good. She prevail'd with the King of Cashile to meet her at of Cashila, de La Cerda who had so long with undoubted Right, strugt'd for the Grown, met him unexpectables to be compared to the Carda who had so long with undoubted Right, strugt'd for the Grown, met him unexpectables and the carda who had so live upon. D. Alonfo in France had marry'd a Lady of the Blood Royal, call'd Madelfa, by whom he had two Sons Luis and John. Luis the eldest, came with him into Spain; John, on account of his Kindred with the King of France, was by him created Duke of Annoules such as a Constable of France, which was the next Dionity to the King, in Marof Angoulesme, and Constable of France, which was the next Dignity to the King, in Martal Affairs; now in Spain it is but a bure Title. The King came to Talawera, in the Kingdom of Toledo. Samellala was a Town half way betwirt Toledo and Talawera; it belong to D. John Manuel, and thence fome wicked Men us'd to break out and commit Murders and Robberies. These being apprehended by the King's Order, were put to death. Such another Example was made at Toledo, whence the King went to Madrid, Segovia and Vallado-

tid. Here the Lady Ellener was broughted bed of a Son, who was call'd Peter, to whom the Lordship of Aguilar del Campo was give. There being great fearcity of Mony, a base fort of Coin was then stamped, called Cornada, which caused all Provisions to grow excessive deat, of Coin was then stamped, called Cornada, which caused all Provisions to grow excessive deat, and street to cease. At Mark Embassadors came to the King from that part of Bissay, and street of Office of the Country, which till then was free, and government of the Country, which till then was free, and government of the Country, which till then was free, and government of the King, the mark the street of the Country, which till then was free, and government of the King, the mark the street of the Country of the C thole Knights wore, about four fidgers broad, of Corous Red or Crimfon on the right of the four of Shoulder, and falling under the left Arm. None were admitted to this Order, who had ferv'd 10 Years in the Court of Army. The King illimfelf was malter of the Orders, which was long held in great efteem, but in time fell to nothing: So that only the bare memory of it remains. The King villed the Church of St. Jamestie Apolite's to Compelle, was tifere Knighted, sind at Buggs both he and the Queen will Crown'd. The Queen for modely take was not anothing! beliefed; that the was with Child. Many Gentlemen arm'd, Cappe were Knighted, and at Buggs both he and the Queen will Crown'd. The Queen for modely take was not anothing! beliefed; that the was with Child. Many Gentlemen arm'd, Cappe were Knighted, but it was bridghd that for the future, all Persons should receive that Honour, in that posture. Two Things disturbed the Publick Joy, one was, that Frince Peer of Personal begin to take of putting away the Easy Blanch. The others that he was about Matrying Confined the Daughter's Order of Personal Pers

CHAP. III

The Moors of Granada murde Mahomet their King. Wass among all the Christian Kings of Spain. Alonso Kings Aregon dies. Fresh Rebellions in Castile. The Portugues Fleet-beaten by the standards.

THE Kings of Caffile and Granda, after concluding the Truce, direct together, and frowe to outdo one another in making Rich Profitally which provid the ruin of the later. The King of Caffile went to Sevil; Abstratus to Meirick, and he of Granda, to Adjaga, Mainart There the Sons of Ozmin, hating the King of the sentertaining Friendlips with the Christians, King of confipired with one Abmar of the antient Blood Royal of Granada, international the months of the middle munder.

Book XVI

258

20th of August. Reduan a Gentleman of great Notes, who had been Governour of Granada, and had no hand in this Treason, set up Joseph Bullingia, Brother to the deceased, which difpleas'd many, because there was another Brother Edder than he, call'd Ferrachen. Thus the pleas'd many, because there was another Brother Bider than he, call'd Ferrachen. Thus the Moors were in confusion, D. Gongalo and Ferdinand de Aguille, two Brothers, Lords of Montilla and Aguilla, went over to the New King, being distributed by their own. Including were made upon the Borders, and the Pruce lately concluded, "tolated. More mischighed ensu"d, but that Abomelique was call'd into Africk by his "rather its serve against Trenieren.

1331 He, being gone, a Truce was again concluded in the beginning of war 134 with the New King for four years; yet so that the Moors were freed from the Tribute they used to pay, the King of Cafile being wholly bent upon fibrid his Rebels. At this time the Lady Elemor de Guerman the King's Militris, was brought to Bed of two Sons at a Birth, which were Homy and Fredrick, of whom we shall have much occasion to speak. In the Spring the King return'd to Carella and the state of the Sagovia, and thence with to Valudadia. The Rebellium Nobles not being able to press in maintain a War, were hard press'd, and most of the Towns belonging to them taken, the Capite.

2 Capite. State of the Siley Wilmtiting to the King, to whom they swore Fidelity under, an Old Tree at Guernica, as is their Custom. Some few Places impregnable by Nature, $\frac{1}{2}\text{in Military Martine, and In Martine of the Montine of the Montine of the Martine, the Agure of the Montine of th Tree at Guernica, as is their Custom. Some few Places impregnable by Nature, still held pressed in maintain a War, were hard pressed, and most of the Towns belonging to them taken, the agreatest part of Bissa Submitting to the King, to whom they swore Fidelity under an Old Tree at Guarriac, as is their Castom. Some few Places impregnable by Nature, All' held Sug for D. John de Lura. D. John de Haw was beheaded as a Traytor in his owing Town of Submigle, and his Elitate Considera, except the Town of Cantrers, given to his Brothers D. Mora and D. Alms, that Su Noble a Family might not wholly perhip. The Governour of the Castle of Jies shut the Gatssagains the King, and being taken, lost his Head. For the fame. About the end of Jongst the Queen was delivered of a Son at Burgi, who was call'd Feel, and his Brothers Son call'd Feel dinhard. In Adaption two Brothers of that King dy'd one after another, one, was D. Sopme Maker of the Kinghas of Montes, who had renounced his Right to the Crown, and D. John Artonish flow of Townson, in whose Pace Anadas Castome Bishop of Lorigia, accessed in Commentation of the King, the Cown, and D. John Artonish flow of Townson, in whose Pace Anadas Castome Bishop of Lorigia, accessed in the King, through her importunity obtained of him several Towns for her Sons Ferdinand and John; to the prejudice of Prince Petris. Queen Elhor who governed the King, through her importunity obtained of him several Towns for her Sons Ferdinand and John; to the prejudice of Prince Petris. And is awas faid, "contrary to the King Own The Queen had a meeting with her Brother of Capitile, and his promise to the King Own The Queen had a meeting with her Brother of Capitile, and his promise to the King of Son as a contracted to Awar Awar and was the fair of the King of the great for the King of the great such as a supplied to the King of the great and the such as a supplied to the King of K to the King of Coffile, from the Kings Edward of England, Philip of France, and Alboacen of Morecco. The last marking Prefents, and defir'd to have the Truce renew'd. The English

offer'd a Wife for Prince Peter, which was refus'd by reason of his tender Age. This in the offer'd a Wife for Prince Peter, which was refused by region of his tender Age. Insin the Year 1335. Soon after at the beginning of the following Year, D. Alonfo King of Aragon 1336. dy'd at Barcelona. He was a just, merciful and religious Prince, and was therefore call'd Alonfo King of Aragon 1336. dy'd at Barceona. The was a spint, increase it is father's Reign than his own, and that by reafor Pions. Trewas more portunate during in a latter strength and to with an anatory rea-fon of his continual Indiapolition. To D. Jayme his youngest Son, by his first Wife he left die-the Earldom of Orgal, and Prince Peter was Heir to the Crown. To his Sons by the 2d Wife he left other Possenius, when he was all adoves Opene Elleron fearing her Son in Law, went away to Albarazin, being a place of great Strength, and near the Frontiers of Castile. D. away to Albarasin, pening a place of great strongers, and that the Frontiers of capital. D. John, and Peter de Exercise follow'd her. Asstorm threatened Cyfile from Perngal, and no great Confidence could be repos'd in the Loyalty of D. John Manuel, and D. John de Lora; the former was much troubl'd at the delays of the Marriage with Portugal, but fear'd to the former was much the King's leave lest he should seize his great Patrimony in Castile. D. Rebellion ther in the without the Kings reave ten in month of the state of the s de Larn, and belieg'd him in the City Lerma, all possible Means were us'd to enter the Place que que de Law, and belieg'd him in the City Lerma, all politice Means were us'd to enter the Place or bring the Townsimen to deliver up D. John, but they stood firm to him. D. John Manuel in order to relieve the Place, went to Peinssel a Town of his own, and narrowly escap'd being taken by the King. D. John Albuquerque submitted himself. The King of Portugal sent Embassalors to perswade him of Castile to raise the Siege; but they did nothing, and their King assembling his Forces, lay'd Siege to Badajoz. Along de Souss sent by him with a Party to plunder the Country, was routed and many of his Men kill'd and taken, which mov'd ty to puntier the country, was routed and many of the annual and laken, which moved the Paraguet to raife the Siege, and return home. Letma having lost all Hopes of Relief was furrender'd. Nevertheless D. John de Lara was reftor'd to the King's Favour, and to all his Estate in Biscay. Only Lerma was Dismantled, as a Punishment for its Rebellion. This year the King of Morocco added the Kingdom of Tremeçen to his Dominions, having overthrown and kill'd that King, which rais'd the Hopes of the Moors, and was a new Terror to

The King of Castile labour'd in vain to gain his Nobles by fair means. He kept his Christ-Rebels of mas in the Year 1337. at Valladolid. There he made D. John de Lara his Standard-Bearer; harden di and pardon'd D. John Manuel a false Man, who Treated with both the Kings of Castile and and pardon'd D. John Manuel a false Man, who Treated with both the Kings of Castile and Aragon at once, that he might always have one to fly to. The Emnity betwixt the King of Aragon and his Mother in Law continu'd, and tho he was Solicited by an Embassador, to an Accommodation, he only gave fair Words. The King of Castile met his Sister at Asson, and there at her. Request, order'd D. James de Haro to make an Incursion into Aragon, with the Forces of Sories, Moling, Caenca, and that Neighbourhood. Queen Elemor went to meet the King at Madrid, he having appointed a great Rendezvouz of his Forces at Badajoz, in order to make Was; upon Poringal. Now was Born to the King; by the Lady Ellenor, another Son call'd D. Tello. By the way of Badajoz, the Castilians Broke surfacely, and Harrafs'd all the Country, but the King falling Sick of a Fever at Olivinga, was oblig'd in June to return to Sevil. About the same time Gossey, Admiral of Castile having scour'd all the Coast. not far from Libon, fought the Portugues; letter, commanded by Persona. all the Coaff, not far from Libon, fought the Portugues Fleet, commanded by Pecanus, a Genocfe. At first the Portugues had the best, and took two Cassisian Galleys, but their Cassisian Admiral being soon after taken, and his Flag lower'd, the Enemy was soon put to Flight, of of their Galleys sunk, and 8 taken, with their Admiral and his Son Charles. This Victory was so great, that the King himself went out to meet the Admiral at his Return to So. 28 test. vil. The Arch-Bishop of Reims, Embassador from the King of France, and the Great Mafter of Rhodes, from the Pope were here endeavouring to conclude a Peace, but effected nothing, and the King of Cafile being recover'd, broke into Portugal again through Algaree, where formerly were the Turdetani, whilft the Portugues with whom his Subjects were highly offended, made the War upon Galicia. The King of Cashile having met no Array of the

CHAP. III.

Enemy in Autumn, return'd to Sevil:

The Death of Frederick King of Sicily. A Fruce between Castile and Portugal. The Death of Abomelique, and defeat of his Army. Peace betweet Castile and Aragons A Synod at Barcelona.

ON the 25th of June 1337, dy'd Frederick King of Sicily, of a great Age, and Famous for 1337, the War, he long maintain'd against Powerful Princes. He lies bury'd at Catanea. His Frederick Son Peter succeeded him in the Throne. The Dukedoms of Albent and Nepatria, he left sicily to his 2d Son William, and other Legacies to his 3d Son John. His four Daughters he total dis. ly excluded from inheriting the Crown, contrary to what had before, and was afterwards us d in that Kingdom. D. Ximeno de Luna, Arch-bishop of Toledo dy'd on the 16th of November, and was bury'd in his own Cathedral. Giles Alvarez de Cuenca, otherwise call'd Albornoz, at the Instance of the King was chosen to succeed him. This Prelate was Famous for his Learning, Piety, and Virtue. Being created Cardinal, he was very Serviceable to the Popes. He founded a College at Bolonia, in Lombardy, for 4 Chaplains, and 30 Students. all Spaniards. Besides he left to the Chapter of Toledo the Town of Parachellor, with an Obligation of paying a Pension to the Church of Villaviciosa, built by himself. The Arch-bishop of Reimes, and Great Master of Rhodes went from place to place exhorting the Kings of Spain to Peace. It was agreed he of Caffile should go to Merida to Treat, there a Truce was concluded for one Year, in the beginning of that which was of our Lord 1338, but no Peace could be Established.

260

Great Preparations for War were now making in Spain, and it was much labour d to let-tle a General Peace in the Country, because Fame which always is greater than Truth spread it abroad, that Albohagen King of Morocco defign'd to land in Valencia with an innumerable It abroad, that Journal an manuscrape Multitude, bringing over their Wives and Children, in order to fettle in Spain. The King of Angon entertain a the English Emballadors, who came to fettle Peace, with Ambiguous, yet fair Words. On the 20th of July he marry'd Mary, Daughter to the King of Navarre, having deferred it to long, by reason she was not of Age. An Embassy was sent to the Pope, begging he would order the Tenths of Ecclesiastical Revenues granted for carrying on the War against the Moors to be paid according to the full Value, because they were worth lit-tle as they were in the Ancient Records. This in Aragon. The King of Cossile was gone to Burgos to hold the Corres or Parliament, where Laws were established to regulate Excess in Dyet and Cloathing. Godfrey Tenorio the Admiral was fent to the Streights, to dbiffuich the Pytiliage of the Moors. From Burges at the Request of his Sister, the King went to Chemica, and with him D. John de Lara, and D. John Manuel, who were now reconcild to him. Thither came D. Peter de Agagra from the King of Aragon, to propose an Allyance against the Moors, and offer the 3d part of the Fleet that should be requisite to hinder their Passage. The Capillan answerd, that the Friendship of the Aragonis would be very grateful to him when he had given Satisfaction to his Sifter Ellener, in the Complaints she had against him. In Peace be the Correst of Aragon sheld at Daroca, Prince Peter the King of Aragon's Uncle, and D. John twist Ca.

Manual were chosen Arbitrators to decide these Differences, and they agreed that D. John shit and de Exerica shoulds be pardon'd, and all that had been granted to the Queen and her Sons by the late King confirm'd to them. It happen'd fortunately, that D. Peter de Linna, Arch-bishop of Zarigoça was then at Rome, who might have obstructed this Agreement. The King of Castile signed these Articles at Madrid, and Queen Ellenor, with her Children return'd to of Coffin light their Articles at Padaria, and Queen Elemor, with her Children returned to Aragon, where they were received with great Pomp. The Archi-bifthop of Keinna, the Graza Master of Rhodes, and Arch-bifthop of Braga, Emballador from Pornigal, were diffused because they demanded Confinence the Daughter, of D. John Manuel, for the Prince of Pornigal. Velop Redulgate. Commade, Master of the Khights of Samiage vilya, his Nielhew Veloc Lopez, was by the Knights challenge to succeed him, at which the King was offended because he dewas by the Knights challenged linceed him, at which the King was offended because he designed that Honour for his the frederick. Many Objections were made against the new Mafter and his Election, whereupon he fied to Portugal, and was therefore deposed, and D. Alon-Jo Milandez, de Charman, Uncle by the Mother's Side twittederick the King's Son chosen Mafter. D. Roy, Perez. Master of Alcanton was also deposed, and D. Gorjalo Martinez, elected in his Place. A mighty Army was gathering about Sevil's for the War with the Moors. The King, of Cost its was all Expedition, because he understood Aboutlague was come out of Africk Territo with 5000 Horfs, and the time of the Truce was new experient. All the Territory of American Archidona and Ronda was wasted, and a great Multitude of Moors to the last, and fell upon our Rear, routed by D. John de Lara, D. John Mankel, and the Maward. the lair, and relition our acar, routed by D. John de Lava, D. John Mantel, and the Mafter of Santiago, who Commanded there. In the Purfuit, many Moors who had fled to the Ridges of the Mantains, cast themselves headlong for fear of the Christians. This done the Army return'd to Sevil, and was dispersed into Garrisons to guard the Frontiers. At this times general Gilderre Admirals of Argon, with 12 Salavas to joyn the Fleet of Castile, and guard the Mouth of the Strigists. There was great water of Mony. In September the King went to the Cartes he had Summond to meet at Madrid, leaving the Master of Santiago to Command as Generals, and, other Noblemen in other Both. Carte there of Carte the Santiago to Command as General, and other Noblemen in other Posts. Great store of Corn was lay'd up at Nebrisa) near the Mouth of Gandalquivir, which the Moors, knowing the King was gone, thought to make themselves Masters of. Our Men tho' it was the dead of Winter, drew thought to make themselves Masters of. Our Men tho' it was the dead of Winter, drew out of their Garrisons. About page incampal near Xerz, and sent 1900 Horse to Nebrixa. The Town defended it selfs, but all the Country was destroy d. Perhan Perc. Perceavero, Mour Perc. de Guissan; and Offerer Pence de Levi, with a small Party march'd Day and Night, and near Aries overtook the 1900 Morr, who mov'd slowly by reason of their great Rooty. They charged them to suivoilly, that few escapt being kill'd or taken, and the whole Repy was recover'd. Incorraged with this Success, they resolv'd to fall upon Aboutering whole Repy was recover'd. Incorraged with this Success, they resolv'd to fall upon Aboutering whole Repy was recover'd. Incorraged with this Success, they resolv'd to fall upon Aboutering the wind of the Moore, who the state of the Success of Day, fell on with extraordinary Bravery, 500 Moore made there is the confision as the Colling over the Inside is not field and were enabled to Persthrieum. Aboutsign the Constitution of fying astock was kill'd in the Crond, his Cousin Aliane dy'd in the Battle, and 1000 Moore were lain, as the Report went. The Christians having taken all the Enemie's Tents, and Saggage, return'd Joyful, and with Honour, after, obtaining two Victories to their Quarters.

ters. This year the Arch-bishop of Tarragona held a provincial Synod at Barcelona, and the Synod at Body of Saint Eulalia was in folemn Procession translated to a more honourable Tomb. The Barcelona. King of Aragon went to Avignon to do Homage to the Pope for the Islands of Sardinia and

CHAP. IV.

A new Invalion of Spain, by Alboacen King of Morocco, with 470000 Moors; he Besseger Tarifa, and is there routed with the loss of 200000 Men, by the Kings of Ca-Stile and Portugal. Three Defeats of the Infidels at Sea.

THE Death of Abonetique was much lamented in Africk, and stir'd up an earnest desire 470000 of Revenge. Great Levies were made throughout all that Empire, in order to in-theory in vade Spain. Thus 70000 Horse, and 400000 Foot were rais'd, the greatest Army ever yet vade Spain. vade spain. A rus 70000 from, and 400000 from were russ of the greater Army ever yet enter d. Spain. Besides the Moors sitted out 250 Ships, and 70 Galleys. Whilst the King of Cassile was affilited with the Thoughts of making Head against that Multitude, another Missortune increased his Trouble. D. Gonzalo Marsinez, or Nunez, Master of Calatrava was impeach'd of feveral halmous Crimes, and being Summon'd to appear and answer for himself. fled to the King of Granada. Besides the Admiral of Aragon making a descent near Algezira was kill'd in a Skirmish with the Moors. Nevertheless in the Spring the King went into Andaluzia, and belieg'd the Master of Calatrava in Valencia, a Town within the Bounds of the Antient Lustrania. He was taken, condemn'd as a Traytor, Beheaded and Burnt for a Terror to others: D. Nuno Chamizo, a Man of known-worth was chosen in his Place. Alboacen began to fend over his Army into Spain, and had Landed 3000 Horse, who made an Incursion into the Territories of Xerez, Arcos, and Medina Sidonia. As they return'd louded with Booty, and fearing no Danger, the Garrison of Xerez fell upon them unexpectedly, recover d the Prey, and kill'd 2000. Five Months being spent in passing over all the Mobifs Army, at last they Randezwow'd near Algerica. The People lay'd the blame upon Tenerio The Chilthe Admiral of Cafile, and said he might have hinder'd their Paliage, which Reflection his defroyd the Admiral of capita, and said he might have ninder differ the large, which Reflection his defiror of reat Spirit diffaining to bear, he adventured to Fight the Enemy's whole Fleet, but was byte overthrown, all his Squadron logs, himself kill'd, and only 5 Galleys escap'd to Tavifa. The Mort. King much the role of Admira the dangerous Posture of Affairs in Spain, assembled all the Prelates and Nobility at Spil, where he was making Preparations for the War, lay'd before them the Gondition of the Kingdom, the greatness of the Danger, and want of Mony, and them in Condition of the Inigious, in greatures of the Dangers, that want of monly, and then withdress that they might debate with more Liberty. Some were positive for making Peace with the Moor at any rate, being in no Condition to withfundshem Others refolutely opposed that Opinion; and would hear of nothing but carrying on the War, fince no Peace could be then Honourable or Secure. This advice prevailed, and it was refolved to refitted at Sanhara, and the Command of it given to D. Almo Artiz Caldron, Great Prior of S. John. The King of Aragon fant his Fleet, commanded by Peter de Monodda, 15 Galleys came from Genea, at the Charge of the King of Castile. John Martinet. de Leiva went Embassador to the Pope, and obtain'd the Croixade for all those that serv'd three Months at their own Expence. To oblige the King of Portugal he of Caftile confented that the Lady Confiance, Daughter to D. John Manuel, fhould be fent to Portugal, and marry'd to Princas Stere, which was accordingly perform'd at Ebora. Her Portion 350000 Ducats. Befides Mary Queen of Caftile went by the King her Husband's Order to Portugal, to intreat the King her Father of Laffitt went by the king ner russand sorder to Portugal, to intreat the Ising ner father to joyn his Forces with thole of Caffite, againft the common Enemy. Her Father promised to go in Person, and immediately sent is Galleys, commanded by the Admiral Pecano, who was now released. The two Kings of Caffite and Portugal had a Meeting at Journella, a Town on the Banks of the River Guadiana, and parted good Friends, laying sides all former Grudges. Forces from all Parts marched to Sevil, and fill they were hastened; because News was brought that Allocacen and the King of Grandel haddey'd Siege to Twife. They had down Twife before it of the Sevil and Association in the Committee of the Sevil and Sev was brought that Alboacen and the King of Grandal hadday'd Siege to Twife. They fat down Twife bebefore it on the 23d of September, and batter'd it furiously, applying great Wooden Towers fit by to the Walls, for the more Terror. The the Carrifon, was numerous, it was fear'd they the Moore, could not long hold out, and therefore the King fill gave them freth affurances of Relief, and provided for it with all possible Diligence. The Kings being come back to Sevil, and the King of Portugal soon following him with 1000 House, more valuable for their Bravery, than Number, they both instantly set forward from Sevilg; where the Rendezvoux was, resolving to relieve the Town, or hazard a Battle for it. The Number of the Christians was not to compare with that of the Moore, for they had but 14000 Horse, and 25000 Foot, yet with that Force they march? to Twife. The Mooriel Kings understanding the Resolution of our Army. Burnt their Forciers word no filed themselves of carriers hills near their tion of our Army, Burnt their Engines; and possess themselves of certain Hills near their Camp. They intrench'd not, believing the Victory secure. Our Army being come to a Village call'd La Pena del Ciervo, there discover'd the Ruemy, and held a Council of War. Here it was refolv'd that at Midnight 1000 Horfe, and 4000 Foot should be put into Tarifa, who when they saw the Armies ingaged, were to fally and flank the Infidels upon the Hills; the rest of the Army was ordered to refresh themselves, and be ready for the Fight at break of day. Great Joy was among the Christians that Night, they offer'd up their Vows to or day. Great jby was almost the Christians that right, they offer dup their vows to Heaven, and fwore to fland by one another, and never to return Home, unles Victorious. At break of Day, the Kings and others by their Example receiv'd the Holy Communion, and then the Army was drawn out: D. John de Lora, D. John Momela, and the Mafter of Santiago commanded the Van, D. Gonzalo de Aguilar the Rear, and D. Pero Vicios., a Referve of Foot. The main Body was headed by the Two Kings, and with's them the Arch-Bishop of Toledo, and many Prelates and Nobles. A French Gentleman call'd Jugo, by the Popes appointment, carry'd the Standard of the Croizade, and all the Spulliers wore a red'Crois on their Breafts, in Token they fought for the Faith. The King of Poringal undertook to charge him of Granada, and had with him, besides his own People, the Mastersof Cala-The Battle trava and Alcantara. The King of Castile, just as the Armies were ready to fall on, encouof Balado. rag'd his Men; and then the Signal being given, they mov'd towards the Enemy. Betwixt the two Armies was a River call'd Salado, which not far from thence, falls into the Sea; from this River the Battle took Name, and was ever called of Salado. Whoever first pass'd feem'd to have gain'd some Advantage, therefore the Moorish King sent 2000 Horse to guard the Pallage. Mean while he not doubting of the Victory, Rode among his Battalions, exhorting and animating them. D. John de Lara and D. John Manuel were the first of the Christians that came to the River, and made a Stand, which caused many to believe they acted treacheroully. The Two Brothers Gonzalo and Garcia Laffo passing over a small Bridge, were the first that ingaged. They were in great danger, being overpowerd by Numbers, when Alvar Perez de Guzman reliev'd them, and then all the rest follow'd. The King of Portugal march'd on the lest, along the Hills; he of Castile taking a Circuit by the Shore, sell furiously on the Enemy. Both Sides rent the Skies with hideous Cries, and being come to Handystrokes, stood their Ground without giving way, the Generals causing the Standards to be advanced where the greatest Danger was. Certain Bands of Christians, through By-ways, got to the Enemies Camp, which they plunder'd, having Ilain those that were left to Guard it. They that Fought understanding what had happen'd, were dismay'd, and soon after fied. A mighty Slaughter of them was made. 200000 are said to have been kill'd, and a great Number taken. Only 20 Christians are reported to have perish'd, which seems absolutely incredible. Those Soldiers that belong'd to the Fleet did no Service, for all the Aragonian remain'd aboard. Navarre sent no Succour, that King being taken up in the Wars of France.

Chap. V.

Reginald Poncina a Perich-man govern'd that Kingdom. The Arch-Bishop of Toledo never stirr'd from the King of Castile's Side, during the Battle, and hinder'd him from casting himself dethe Year of Grace 1340. Authors vary about the Day, but I look upon the most certain Account to be, that it was upon a Manday the 30th of Otheber, as it is set down in the Kalendar

The routed Moors fied to Algerira, and thence fearing a Siege, the King of Granada Particulars withdrew to Marbella, Albohacen to Gibraltar, and that fame Night fail'd over into Africk, fearof the two ing left his Sone Abderhaman hearing of his defeat should rebell against him. In this Fight, Estima, Daughter to the King of Tunez, Albahaeth's chief Wife, and three other of his Wives, as also his Son Abohamar were taken. Two other Sons of his were kill'd. In the Moorish Camp, vast Riches were found, of all forts, but particulary, so much Gold and Silver, that it cause the value of Mony to fall in Spain, and all Commodities to rife. Our Victorious Kings returned at Night to the Camp; those that pursu'd the Enemy came back, tird with killing, and fuch as lov'd profit more than Honour loaden with Plunder. Next day they The Kings furnish'd Tarifa with all Necessaries, and order'd the Breaches to be repair'd. It had been expedient in that confernation of the Moors, to beliege Algezira, but the Army being unreturn to provided for a Siege, Provisions growing scarce, and Winter drawing on, they return'd to Sevil. There they were received in Triumph, and great Rejoycing was throughout all Spain, with publick Thanksgivings. The King, of Portugal of all the Booty, took only some Horse-Furniture and Cimiters, to keep as a Trophey of that Victory. Some Slaves also were given him, and he return'd Home with great Honour, the King of Castile bearing him company, as far as Casalla de la Sierra. A Present was sent to the Pope then at Avignon, of 100 Horfes, each carrying a Cimiter and Buckler, hanging at the Pummel of the Saddle, 24 Colours taken from the Moors, the Royal Standard, and the Horse upon which King Alonfo Charg'd. The Cardinals came out of Town to meet John Martinez de Leyva, the Embassador. The Pope himself after saying a thanksgiving Mass, spoke much in Commendation of King Alonfo. The King of Caffile appointed Giles Bocanegra a Genoese Admiral, giving him in Charge, to fecure the Streights Mouth, left the Moors should return. This was done to oblige the Genoeses, that they might not recal their Galleys as the Aragonians and Progress Portugueses had, tho they soon after sent them again more in Number, than at first, it beof the Chrising fear'd the Moors having recruited their Army, would return in Spring.

of the Church of Toledo, where according to antient Custom, a Thanksgiving Day is kept

This Danger being over, all Mens Thoughts were bent upon wholly driving the Moors gainst the out of Spain. It was requisite to raise Mony, for all that was taken had been expended in Gratifying and Paying the Souldiers, and the King was in great want. Only the Merchants were rich; the relie of the Kingdom being exhausted with Taxes. At Ellerena and chants were rich; a traction of the Engineering variances that it was finall in regard of the prefining Nacchities of the Crown. Low ever, at the beginning of the Year, 1341, the Army having Rendezvous'd at Cordons, cheese the Kingdom of Granda. Some Ships were fent loaden with Provisions to divert the Enemy, as if it were deligned to befige Malagi. The Moors Redezvousd at Cordova, entered the Kingdom of Chandal. Some Ships were feel loaden with Provisions to divert the Enemy, as if it were deligated to beige Adlags. The Moori fupply'd that Place with all Necellaries, and the King on a fiddian let down before Alcalilla Real, which churendes deliche 25th of August, upon condition the Inhabitants might freely departer whiter this, Pring, Ruse, Benaviei, and feveral other Towns and Califes were taken. Then the Army, as further thoughts were fixed upon befiegeing Algesian, and raijing Mony. He was advis'd to lay a Duty upon Merchandize, which then feem'd early, yet, afterwards was found to be attended with fome Incopreniencies. This Advice being approved of, the King, wente away for Buyen, leaving, the care of the Frontiers to the Mafter of Samiago. He kept his Christman at Valladoid. In the Leginning of the Year 1342 the King fumond and the Christman at Valladoid. In the Leginning of the Year 1342 the King fumond and the Christman at Valladoid. In the Leginning of the Year 1342 the King fumond and the Christman and Nobles to Burges, particularly, the Arch-Bishop of Toledo, the Bishop of Dalage, and D. John de Lawa, that they might gain the others. At theirs, and the Bishop of Dalage, and D. John de Lawa, that they might gain the others. At theirs, and the Bishop of Dalage, and D. John de Lawa, that they might gain the others. At theirs, and the Kings to Joseph art of all things that should be fold, towards the War against the Moors, but this only during the Siege of Meezing. This Example, set by Burges, was followed by Leon, and most of the Towns in the Kingdom. This new Imposition was against the Dury, by the News brought that the Moors had been defeated at Sea. At Capte, on the Coast of Africk, there lay 83 calleys in order to renew the Wars, and 12 more in the Port of Bulleon. Their last set whole Fleet of tens of the Indies are overtherown, at the Mooth of the River Guadamen's 3 after a Bloody Fight, the Infi that in prize them, before they, could joya the main rices. Afterwards the whole steet of feats of the Infidels, was overthrown, at the Mouth of the River Guadamesti, safet a Bloody Fight, the Infidely, and the Infidels, and the Infidels are also of the Infidels and Grande kill'd. The sets at Galleys, of Argon were not, in this Action, but they coming from Home, defeated 13 sets.

Galleys of the Enemy, laden with Provisions, part Hopens, took four, and funk two of them, the roll fled into Africk. Both sea and Land favour of the Christians. The Victory at Constant of the unit Africa. Both sea and Land tayourd the Christians. The Victory state of Canadamerii had been greater, had the Moore been affailed by Sea and Land, and the King halted cowards Xerez, in order of the There the News of the Victory cycrook him. An Accident caused the Battle, taying given to foon, for Three of our Ships being left aground upon the Biby, the Moore attacked them, and the Christians coming up to refer them, that bloody Battle enfued. Ty of the ord !

The Siege and Surrender of Algerica. The Insidels attempt to Mustder King Alondo of Castile; the Earls of Dorby and Sallahing, come to bu Alighance, out of Hingland, and the Earl of Faux, out of France. Robert King of Naples decrease.

HE late Successes made all Things appear easy. Our Fleet lay in the Port of Alexind Xatarez, near Tarifa. Thinter the Kingi went to take a View of the early by Sea, befield and finding it a Beautiful and Spacious City, the Captives allowed the early by Sea, befield and finding it a Beautiful and Spacious City, the Captives allowed the early has ill provided with Corn, he resolved to lay slege to interest for the Captives allowed the war in all, and he had no store of Provisions. Nevertheless he called together all gives carlings of the Neighbouring Places, and summon many of the Nobility to attend him. The things went away to Sevil, to provide Magazines, shoot Horfe, and about 1000 Foot being girthered, he fet down before Alexara, with the Third of Angels. The Galleys of Captive and Aragem were to guard the Sea, for those of Portings all store the Victory of Galdenies pill, returned Home. In the Town were 800 Horfe, and 12000 Archers, Force great enbughts have given Battle in open Field. They made often Salleys, and skirms at with a trops sleeces, yet the Tower of Cartaging and the City, was taken from them. Quic Day if King, wasing great danger of being kill the Sea, was the from them. Quic Day if King, wasing great danger of being kill the Sea, and shirt of the King's great-Diffatisfaction, in September the Fleet of Aragem went way, on pretence of the War with Majorca. Yet foon after, upon the King of Captive prelling thances, to Galleys were fent him under the Aragonian, Viceadmiral Mathies Merces, and against the Camp and provided the Malter of Sanings, a Man of Savet Worth, and much the King's In Oldschird under many Hardfinly, effective war was the King and much the King and the King was onlied to borrow of Port Clemen the Vith, and the Kings of Frence and the King was oblig'd to borrow of Popp Clement the VIth, and the Kings of France and

Chap. VI.

Portugal. The King of France lent 50000 Ducats, 20006 downs and the rest upon Bills at Genoa. The Pope gave the 3d part of Ecclessississal Bavenues. These were but small Sums Peringal. Ine King of France ient (2000 I Ducats, 2000 cowns, and the reit upon Bills at Groot. The Pope gave the 3d part of Reclamities Bavenues. These were pure finall Sums attempts yet the King's Resolution overcame all Difficulties. The being direction of the Infection of the Infection of Country of the Country of Estina, whilst he Burnt Palma, a Town Scheeping of the Country of Estina, whilst he Burnt Palma, a Town Scheeping of the Country of Estina, whilst he Burnt Palma, a Town Scheeping of the Country o was then the Seat of the African Empire in Spain. No Province wild be convey d into the Town except a few Boats that foole in by slight, which was a final Raisely where Hunger began to pinch.

Alevira It was now doubtful, whether itswere not extract to real the State of the Raisely where Hunger began to pinch.

It was now doubtful, whether itswere not extract to real the State of the Raisely of Commada advanced with his Army, as far as the River Conditions, a Leagues from Afgering in Causa a great Fleet was ready with the Power of Africk, to pais over into Spain. These week all Difficulties. Considerable Succours came to him at the lame thin from England, the Raisely all Difficulties. Considerable Succours came to him at the lame thin from England, the Raisely and Navarra. From England the Earls of Porty and Scholary. (This Earl of Derivan Barrell and Raisely and Navarra. From England the Earls of Porty and Scholary. (This Earl of Derivan Barrell and Raisely and Navarra. From England the Earls of Porty and Scholary. (This Earl of Derivan Barrell and Raisely and Navarra. From England the Earls of Porty and Scholary.) (This Earl of Derivan Barrell and Raisely and Navarra. From England the Earls of Porty and Scholary.) (This Earls of Derivan Barrell and Raisely and Rais

Mary Mary Const.

CHAP. VI.

The King of Aragon congress Majorca, and all its Dominions. Great Poubles in Aragon. The Rebels supprist An Universal Plague. The Knights of Calatrava as Variance, at length reconstitute.

Dithing the time of the War in Analysis, the King of Majorea was deprived of his King-bedged done, by Prive the Committeen, King of Angeon, who ought thirdly to have protocked being. The City Momentum in France, was thighed to the Kings of Majorea, for which pale by the Act the Kings of Majorea, for which pale by the Act the Kings of Majorea, for which pale by the Act the Kings of Majorea to whom of right to belong 4, but thok Kings refuting, the French by force indee themselves Masters of many Towns, fibiled to Mampellar, and put Garrisons into them. The King of Majorea being a Dependant on the Crown of Angeon, begged allifunce of that King. The Angeonian cunningly temporal with the King of France, and gave the other pothing has us good Words. At length they may, and the Angeonia promised to all his Kingiam, in clast the King of France fould refute to put the Difference between them to logdomen. Embandato's were frent on this Mediage; but this was only to gain time, for mean while the King of Majorea was charged with many Crimics, whicher true or faile, is not known, on funct is fevry in or a presence to deprive him of his Grown. The Pobe and Queen of Notice has a did not a complete the Differences; the Moldroyainra walled with heavy Tale act was call from the Stope of Angeonia, and a Fleet of 1 of Sail fixed out. The 18th of the Complete of Notice has a complete the complete of the Angeonia of Notice has a complete the Complete of Notice has a complete the Complete of Notice has a complete the Complete of Notice has a complete of the Notice of Notice has a complete of the Notice of Notice has a complete of the Notice of Notice has a complete o Durling the time of the War in Andaluzia, the King of Majorea was deprived of his King-Majorea

Constance, as Heires of the Crown. Ximono de Orrea, Peter Coronel; Blafe de Alagon, and D.

266

Lope de Luna were appointed Conservators of the Liberties of the People. De Jayme Earl of thop were at Daggers 'draw, the former regarding nothing but his Interest, and the latter not enduring to fee the Poor Illanders opposed. The Ring of Cashie hearing of these Diforders, lent one Pres Bathe who possess thin self of the Illander, and thild them to a Gentleman calle New Anthonians and the self of the Illanders, and the Casholic Ring of Cashie's. But not being able to conquery find Cashies, the fold four of the Illander othe Catholic Ring Fermional and received Committed into himself the Illander of the Ring Fermional Conquery and the Catholic Ring Fermional Cashies and Catholic Ring Ring Fermional Cashies and Catholic Ring Fermional Cashies Rings and the Catholic Rings of the Rings of Abathe Rings and the Latty Eliments.

CHĂP. VIL

The Store of Gibraliar, the King dies and the Slore it railed. King Peter Jucceed, him.
The Lyen, Ellowor ded Suzman kill'd. Some Nobles nobel and are Jubda'd. Biling anmen die office Crown of Castile. Interviews of Kinger.

The Logis, Elleagon des Juzuman till. Some Noblewhelt and ag Juda's d. History as new 1800 the Crown of Castile. Interview of Kirlys:

The Bell'against his Tethery and possession of the thing of the Kingdom of Fee in Africa, and of Confinon Giresian, Rend and Allestiff places, tubled to the African Chown in Spain. He bland his first places are all the losses of the places, tubled to the African Chown in Spain. He bland his first places, tubled to the African Chown in Spain. He bland his first places, tubled to the African Chown in Spain. He bland his first places are the confidence of the People, and the girldy Mustude early, gave fair to their Speeches, and adherd to him. These Brobles among the places are the confidence of the People, and the girldy Mustude early, gave fair to their Speeches, and adherd to him. The Brobles among the places of the places are the confidence of the first to the Lords of Recognital and to the Ling of Anagem, they also Plains of Falsis, King of Frances and the Analysis of the Last of Anagem, they also the last of Frances and the Analysis of the Last of Anagem, they also the Last of Government and Complement of Government and Complement and Complement chapd, but the Child from dying he cally failed all that ordfine, and annex'd Bifcay, Lerma, and Lara, with other Places, to the Crowing having before their'd Johann and Elizabeth, Sifters to the Child deceard. Their things were deed in the year of Grace 1351. Great rejoycing was slighth dought for life Birth of Prince John, which put an end to the thrie there had been about the Sidecetion. Their things were appointed his Tutor, and the young Prince was created Duke of Sirionia. From this time forward the elded 150 to the King of Abon was give by Dike of Sirionia. Both the Kings of Culife and Angon endeatout did make a 1st the sillenge of the Abon was give by Dike of Sirionia. Both the Kings of Culife and Angon endeatout did make a 1st the sillenge of the Sirionia with the sillenge of the Sirionia with the control of the Sirionia with the sillenge of the Sirionia with t ni dan milya (1966) Galamanian milyangga CANAT VIII (2004)

Chap. VIII.

Empaffadors fent by King Respect Caffile into France, to obtain for his Wife, Blanch, Daughter to the Date of Sources, who is brought into Spain, and Marry & so the King; but he being before in I ove with the Ludy Mary de Padilla, flights and for Jakes his Queen.

Some Towns in Old Cafile had, an antient immemorial Enviting of chuting their Lords, and were therefore called hebeters, from the Greek word Heiers, figuitying a Company. It shall be an advanced in the Greek word Heiers, figuitying a Company. It shall be an advanced in the Cares, laboured that it should be established, for the future the Higg flood was made to be a control. The first provide was shared to Marry the King; and to that purpole you are keeped histop of history, and show Greice de Dumbre Marry the King; and to that purpole you are keeped histop of history, and show Greice de Dumbre Marry the King; and to that purpole you are keeped histop of history, and show Greice de Dumbre Marry the King; and to that purpole you are the state of the Lords of Royal in France, which Dube of they flould most approve of for the King. The Duke in ling there'd them his Daughters, because they made choice of that any Marke, and the was Contracted to the King, by Proxy. This to K Peter Laidy, was blest with all Perfections of Soul and Body; but unfortunate in her Marrings; of Castile, which only he was not able to oppole. The King of France, taking compatition on the Earl, and forming any misoritume might be followed to the King. Whom he was not able to oppole. The King of France, taking compatition on the Earl, and forming any misoritume might be fall his Grandson the King. Of Calife, his People being incens distant him, met him at Condad Rabeigo. There he perivaded him to pardon Count. Herry, It the beginning of the year 1352. Discontents before to break out in Ameldacia, 1252 Advanced by the King Soith, and had long been at the word of the Capital Soith, and had long been at the word of the Capital Soith, and had long been at the word of the Capital Soith, which the King he finding in the Strength of Aguilar, there had been about the following in the Strength of Aguilar, there is the high the bond for the Morry. He was fallowed the King, for that during fills the king to the fill had the continued in Huithingen. His W was brought him, that Count Henry had Rebell'd at Gion in Alberian, and file Brother D. Tella committed many Outrages, making Incursions from Montaguedo on the Frontiers of Aragon's This oblig'd him to March to Assay, where Gion surreader'd, upon promise of Pardon for themselves and Count Henry, who lurk'd in the Mountains. In this march it was that the Ring stell in Love with Dr. Maria de Padillay a young Maid that was bred in the House of Dr. Da. Maria Lango de Albuquerque. Their familiarity began at Sabagin, which provide Fatal to the King de Padilla and Kingdom. John de Hinestrofe the Ladies Uncle, was the manager of the unhappy. Bar-Misses was the Manager of the Unhappy. Bar-Misses we will be the Ring march to Assay and the Westerla other Towns; for Dr. Missing Peirin had abandon'd it, and was fled to Assay and the Westerla other Towns; for Dr. Missing Peirin had abandon'd it, and was fled to Assay and the Westerla other Towns; for Dr. Missing Peirin had abandon'd it, and was fled to Assay and the Westerland of the Missing Peirin had abandon'd it, and was fled to Assay and the Westerland of the Missing Peirin had abandon'd it, and was fled to Assay and the Missing Peirin had been supported by the Baragon being so hear one another, set only the Baragon and the Missing Peirin had been supported by the Baragon being so hear one another, set only the Baragon and the Baragon being so hear one another, set only the Baragon and the Baragon being so hear one another, set only the Baragon and the de Abaganque, and Remere de Geirgere, concluded a Peace at Taracomi. A League offentive and desentive was chabitude, and they succeed the one thould person. D. I give, and the other D. ferdinged de Aeggen. Like 2008 ferm schurft dutter and the stiges of four Montis, took, drainer in the many 1 1833. H. Jalonje Create the beings, taken, was Executed as a Traytor, with him of the Lam good of the Town was differented, and the King pardonid the multiples. On the 184th of the lam month of d. D. George Archibilappool fuchs. D. P. give, or the the Billion of the lam month of d. D. George Archibilappool fuchs. D. P. give, or the the Billion of the lam month of d. D. George Archibilappool fuchs. D. P. give, or the the Billion of the lam month of d. D. George Archibilappool fuchs. D. P. give, or the the Billion of the lam month of the Compiler the Ring; went to Conduct a the Conduction of th

CHAP. IX.

King Peter of Castile remains his Officers, punishes some Rebels, and reduces several Forms, siles War of Sardinia, where Disasteraging in the Aragonian drmy, that King case up a dishonourable Peace, and resume to Aragon.

D. Almorate Abaquerque being in differece frent some time upon his own Elaste, and them reasing the King would pursue him, sted to Poringal. D. Frederick Master of Santing had been discontented, ever since the King aus'd his Mother to be put to death; but being now reconciled, cime to Castler, where the Court resided. D. Telle his Brother, at Sejovia, Marry of Johnson, Daughter to D. John de Larg, and had with her the Lordhip of Billey. The Kindred of Da. Moria de Patilla promoted this Masteh, to oblige the King's Prothers who were Enemies to D. Almos de Manauerque. Queen Binghe resided at Medina All Campo with the Queen her Mother-in-Law, Hying like a Widow, and spending her time in modest Recreations. Theace she was by the King's Order, removed to Mevode, and for

Chap. INC.

The History of S. P.A.I. N.

27/1

forbit converting with her Mottley in Layer or any of the Nobility. Print Could Bithop of Septih. and Tide Palamegas a Genethemand? Seek Awyer annothed to guard her. The King K. Penr. chaige? the Officers of the Hanthold; and mind your of August Print Grantle. Annother in the Control of the Country of t

Chap. Xoo

Dour'd to reconcile these Nations, but all in vain Mariamus Judge of Arberra, an antient Prince of Sordinia, and a Powerful Man sided with the Generics, and joyn'd Mathem Deria their chief. Thus they should be self-dependent of all the Illand, except the two Towns of Sacer and Calfer, which always continued firm to the Manging, except the two Towns of Sacer and Calfer, which always continued firm to the Manging. The dangerous Posture of their Affairs, being known in Arbera, a Fleet was fitted out consisting of a 100 Sail, among which y were Galleys. In it were took them as Army, soo light thorse, and about 12000 Foot, all of known, it were took them as Army, soo light thorse, and many Souldiers and Persons Manote came to Sarye the King of Manging out of Emplay. Gengary and Neurone. All the Nobility of Angew, iterave to suppose this Expedition, and fighted as Congress was Admiral of the Fleet, which Randezvous dat 1617. And left fail thence about the mattle of Jame. Prince forer, the Kings Uncless was left to govern the Kingston. They had a good Voyage, in 8 Days arrived at Sandana them of the Fleet, which Randezvous dat 1617. And left fail thence about the mattle of Jame. Prince forer, the Kings Uncless was left to govern the Kingston. They had a good Voyage, in 8 Days arrived at Sandana the Fleet which was the first of the Calfer and Lawren follow? with the Fleet. Since they was left to govern the Sandana and and no Danger to engourage them. About forer thereof Calfers upper d in the San, rules to fleet their Swittness they was feet and to a good the Army because the fighted his Men, and many of Danger to engourage them. About forer themselves the fighted fit fight of the Army and the Lawren follow?

Mill the Argenta Army sandana house health of the Army and the Army the Army and Army and the Army the Army and Army

CHAR X

The Mobility of Castile, and particularly the Knight Bustard Brothers in Resellibn, they treat with the King without success, the Queen Mapper spins thing the King girl the bester, and executes many of them.

First the King of Cafille Bed reduced most of the Towns belonging to D. Alonfordes Albertogenes A.A. querque, being about to its out to beliege this Baltard Brothen Frederick, who made him the rebell off firtong in the Castle of Sewer, he Beit Join Franciste, de Highfrefa into old Cafille, to liou in Cabine and Jecture her in the Fallace of Trade, on protence of the Rebellion, that was in the Kingdom. Being come to Taledo, the went directly to the Cathedral, under thow of Devotings but when there, would not come on the fact was in the Kingdom. Being come to Taledo, the went directly to the Cathedral, under thow of Devotings but when there, would not come on a Pallar Sessinal, to Confident the Sanctuary. The King understanding what had happend, in a Pallar Sessinal, to Confident the Sanctuary. The King understanding what had happend, in a Pallar Sessinal, to Confident Brother Preservice. This was the beginning of admitting Sparty, Man, and confident that the Corder, in Sayour of De Maria de Pallar, whole Brother the Man was. He my while the Fower of the Rebellious Nobles increas'd, D. Your de la Corde in the Man was. He was made the Fower of the Rebellious Nobles increas'd, D. Your de la Corde in the Alama, where the Queen his Mother was. The People of Totals fent for D. Erderig who came with 700 Horie, and the other Nobles flocking together, kept the King being d in Tordellia. Elemin Queen of Argens was sun by them to propose to him, to banifi De Maria et Pallas, and the families of the other Nobles flocking together, kept the King being d in Tordellia. Elemin Queen of Argens was sun by them to propose to him, to banifi De Maria et Pallas, and the families of the other Nobles flocking together, the Rebels march'd towards Valladelid, thinking to supprise that place, but being disappainted, remord to Medina del Campe, and took it without bloodhed. Thither came the Bastard D. Frederick, and there dy a John Alonfo de Albergary, hoyford by one Paul a Roman Queen, bribd by his Engile. The Mode delberger and the War.

what they defir'd in relation to Queen Riserb, it should be done, provided their Deniands ended there. Ferdinand de Ayald being appointed by the Nobles to speak for them with, very submissive Words excus'd their coming arm'd into his presence, extoll'd the kiruse of Opesa ended there. Ferdinand de Apida being appointed by the Nobles to fleak for them with, very fibbnillive Words excused their coming arm'd into his prefence, extelled the virtue of Queen of the King to comfort and protech her, and prevent the Run that thereard the king to remove and the Danger that threstends her from Da. Marga de Padija, and beggd of the King to comfort and protech her, and prevent the Run that threaten the kingdom, for each fide were appointed too agree upon Articles of Peace, Thus they parted, and the King well finch delays, that all hope of adulting Affairs, vanish d, especially because he went away from Tore to meet his Mifrest, The Queen Mother herspron joyald with the Rebels, and delivered, the City Tore up in them. The King Bartled, at the News, Tentral to A gray with Game Leving and the history of the City Tore up in the Levin a lyst, who was his Kreatings. The Queen Mother received him with great Affection, and he told her he cannot one with him wears leven the Agray with the Officers of his Houfehold changed. D. Friedrick was made I and Charmbarlain, trupper British and Qi. Angon Chancellory iD John, de la Glorde Standard bears. D. Friedrick has Guite bears of the Houfehold changed. D. Friedrick was made years to prevent a first proper british her feecond Contin. The Bengade House the King's Buttend Start, but was divored as heady and Angole de Magnerous, thinking the War at an and . The Bengade House the Control of the Robers, fleet on tolog. This was the beginning above the king, the King, the King Started sing. The Properties and Control of the Nobles, fleet on Segrets, and, with him was held at Bargot. There the King complain of the Vear 1355; the Corte or Parliament was held at Bargot. There the King complain of the Vear 1355; the Corte or Parliament was held at Bargot. There the King complain of the Vear 1355; the Corte or Parliament was held at Bargot. There the King complain of the Vear 1355; the Corte or Parliament was held at Bargot. There the King complain of the Vear 1355; t this sain from the Royal Family, caused her to be kill'd at Coimbra. An unjult feverity, when Lady Atfield had born him four Children, D. Alonfo who dy'd young, D. John, Denis and Beatrix: In nee de CaJuly dy'd Luis King of Sicily. His Brother Frederick call'd the Simple, being naturally fo, fine froe ceeded him. The Reigns of both those Kings were tempestuous, which open'd the way to She is the King of Aragin, to recover that Island. But let us leave that a while to go on with

The History of S. P. A. I. N.

The Corte at Burger being broken up, the King went to Medina del Campo. There he put K. Peter to death Peter Knit de Villegat, Lieutenant of Cafille, and Sancho Knit de Koja Wo Men of Note, posithe Some others he impriford. John Fernandez, de Hineftrofa, was let out of Prifon at Toro, up. Rebels upon parole that he would return if he did not appeale the King; but he broke his Word. Hemy and Frederick the King's Baftard-brothers, feiz'd the City Tolcdo, rob'd all the Jews, and murder'd about two of them. but the Vince coming woon them before they water required. Acting and preferring the Kings Baltaro-prothers, leized the City Toledo, robed all the Jews, and murder'd about 1000 of them, but the King coming upon them before they were provided to make refiftance, they were forc'd to fly for their lives. The King reveng'd himself upon the Town, executing some Gentlemen, and Twenty two of the Commonalty. Among those condemn'd was a Goldshith Eighty Years of Age, a Son of his of Eighteen Years old offer'd to die for him, and the King accepted of the Exchange. Peter Gomes, Barrofo Billop of Siguenca. was imprison'd for Expossing the Townshing and Onean Relack for to the of Siguença, was imprisond for favouring the Towns-men, and Queen Blanch sent to the Castle of Siguença. Toledo being subdu'd, the King went about to reduce the other Cities. Chemca flut the Gates against him, and being a strong place he would not use Violence. D. Sancho another Bastard-brother of the Kings was bred there, under the care of Alvar Garcia de Albornoz, who fied with him into Aragon. Two was belieged, within it were the Queen Mother, D. Henry, D. Frederick, D. Peter Esevanes. Carpinero who call'd himself Master of Calatreva, D. Henry, D. Frederick, D. Peter Estevanez, Carpintero who can'd nimient Mainer of Catairava, with the best Forces of the Association. During the Siege Do. Maria de Padilla was delivered at Taddssillar of a third Daughter, call'd Establi. D. John de Padilla Master of Santiago; classification a Skirmish with a party of Rebels. The King would not bestow that House leaving it as a Basit to attract D. Frederick to his Service. Pope Innocent sent the Cardinal of Solonia to compose the Differences, but he effected nothing, only obtaining that Bishop Peters and Carpin Service. ter Gomez, Barroso should be released. Count Henry fled from Toro to Galicia. D. Frederick Tore taken went over to the King. Lastly on the 5th of January 1356, one of the Towns-men who had by R. Peter.

the Guard of a Gate, gave the King entrance. The King being Master of the City, caus'd Peier Estevaher. Carpintere, Ruy Gonzalez, de Cassaneda, and other great Men to be put to death in the Queen's presence: She fainted away at the fight, and coming to her felf, louddeath in the Queen's presence: she said the King her Son, and foon after with his leave went away into Portugal, where the bridge as leadily as the King her Son, and foon after with his leave went away into Portugal, where the Portugues' Gentleman, the was poisoned by the King her Brother. Some fay it was by her Farberhot her King Amp the IV.h. The King of Caffile wentoo Tordefillas, and therehad a Turneament the Queen for loy of his fuccets. Next Morning he caused two of D. Fredericks Followers to be put to Moother of death, which terrify'd their Mailer, but no harm was done him. This Year there was a great were upon the Steeple fell down, and the Chappel-Royal newly, finish'd by King Almos at Libon, was destroy d. This was look'd upon as Ominous, and Froccesson. We king the divine Wrath. After the taking of Two, Count Henry fled into Blicsy, to his Brother Tello, who made his Party Good, and wice defeated the King's Forces. Thence he went by Sea to Rechel in France. At the fame time the King of France furprised,; and made Prisoner him of Newarre, as he was at a Feat with the Dashbir of Rechel in France. Thus the Spaniardi crediting in France were divided. Count Henry-received Pay of the King of Prance, and Philip's the King of Newarre's Brother joyald withe English in Normandy. The Earl of Faux did the fame, effended at the wrong done to that King his Brother-in-Law. Thus great Revolutions and Bloody Wars threaten'd France and Again at the same time. ly curs d the King her Son, and foon after with his leave went away into Portugal, where the istory of SPAIN.

The End of the Sixteenth Book.

THE

Million 6

The Seventeenth BOOK

CHAP. I.

The beginning of the Wandstatagon. Many Rebellions Nobles in Castile put to Death. The War between Castile and Aragon carried on by Sea and Land.

TE shall now write of a War betwist two Kingdoms Ally'd by several Marriages. A War bloody all destructive, which consumd many Noble Perious and aftly him this began it, giving a new Race of Kings to Cassile, and efforting seace. The motives of this War consider'd singly and apart, were inconsiderable, but concurring all together, made a mighty Flood of Discontents. Both the Kings of Cassile and Argon were Princes of high Spirits, alike in Conditions and War behardness of Nature; yet he of Casile as the younger, was hottest. The Argonian come wint Cassile and Oributal. The King of Casile as the younger, was hottest. The Argonian come wint can all Oributal. The King of Casile was incered; for that the Galleys of Argon had taken certain Ships laden with Corn at the mouth of Guadalquiori, which made the want there was before more grievous; besides that, the Out-laws of Casile were protected in Argon; and also, that the Argonian Kinghts of Casirava and Saniage, would not obey their Masters in Casile. Another new Complaint was added to all these, which was, That the King having reduced Casile went to Sevil, and thence for his Diversion, in a Galley to set the Fishery at Almadrava, near S. Luca. Two Ships lay then at Anchor in that Port: Ten Galleys of Argonian King and thence for his Diversion, in a Galley to set the Fishery at Almadrava, near S. Luca. Two Ships lay then at Anchor in that Port: Ten Galleys of Argonian than an and the control of the Ships should to the Assignite the English, Coasting that way, spyd those two Ships, and carry'd them away before the King's Facc. This was a hainous Assignite and The Castat those Ships belong du Gemoelet, with whom they were then at War, and might therefore lawfully be made Prize. Having received this positive Antwer from the Admiral, the King of Casile fent Gilet Visaquez de Sagovia Emballador into Argonia demand Refriction of the Ships hould be delivered and the the Commander of the Castat the Castat the Sagovia Emballador into Argonia demand Refriction of fore lawfully be made FIRE. Having received this pointive Aniwer from the Admiral, the King of Cafrile fent Giles Velazquez de Segovia Emballador into Arigon, to demand Reflictution of the Ships taken; and that the Commander of the Galleys should be delivered up to him. At that time the King of Aragon was fitting out a Fleet at Barcelona, to fluidue the Rebels of Sardinia, and therefore returned a favourable Aniwer, faying, He would give Saitsaction to the King of Castile, would banish his Fugitive Subjects out of Aragon, and punish the Admiral at his Return. But as for the Knights of Santiage and Galatrava, that they being Religious Men, he would stand by whatsoever the Pope should decree in that case. Gitel Velazinez was not fatisfy'd with this Answer; and therefore in his King's Name, declar'd War: The King not missly a with this Amwer; and therefore in his kings Name, declar'd War. The King of Angor reply'd, he thought there was no fufficient ground for a War; and therefore sould not commence it, but did not doubt, if invaded, to repulie it. Thus the War; brocke out. Many Cardonian Merchants refided at Seuil, in a moment they were all fecult, and their Effects feit'd upon. Both Kingdoms made Preparations, and endeavour'd to obtain Foreign Aids. Particularly Luis Brother to the King of Navarre, then a Prisoner in France, was followed by both Parties, but he would declare for neither, the refiner inclin'd to the Aral comment. genian. Incursions were made three soveral ways, into the Kingdom of Valencias. Prince Ferdinand of Aragon hoping that Kingdom would rebel, but he was deceived, for they were terrify'd with Punishment. Thus the War was carry'd on at the end of Angust, with great Desolation of the Country. Near the same time was the memorable Battle of Poisiers in France, vidory of Defolation of the Country. Near the fame time was the memorable Battle of Poisiers in France, videory of in which the whole power of that Kingdom was discomstited by a small Number of English, the English the King of France, and his younger son Philip taken, and a great number of Nobility Ilain. At Patitler. That famous Battle was fought on the 19th of September, 1356. Upon occasion of this defeat, 1356 the King of Navarre broke Prison, and getting to Paris, headed the People against the Dauphin. There in a great Assembly he complaint of the Wrongs done him, and pleaded his right to the Crown, as Grand-Son to King Lais Hutin, whereas the King of England was son to the Lady Elizabeth that King's Sister. This had been a ground of new Confusions, but that the King of Navarre womend Rower However he prevailed to Confusions, but that the King of Nevarre wanted Power. However he prevail of far as to have all that was his own reftor'd be him, with an addition of the Lordhips of

Chap. II.

A ME TO THE TELL

Adorm and Shebrer. Yet he could not obtain the Earldons of Champager, Brie, and Bergendy, to Michael he presended to have right. How part of Trahmara, eCaping from that Fight, field to the King of Argen, being invited by him. This was the first they he role towards obtaining the Crown of Califa. It was agreed betwith the King of Argen, and the the Ring food of the Crown of Califa. It was agreed betwith the King of Argen, and that the Ring holds, etc., thin pay by Sco Hort, and a smarp Foot, the very feet to farry being thing. Agent paying if the Year (5.59, filth Wir what on the bank of the Crown of Califary Michael Control of the Crown of the California Control of the Control of the California Control of the C Addion and Biggire. Yet he could not obtain the Earldoms of Champagne, Brie, and Burgundy, to which he pretended to have right. Hony Earl of Traffamara, escap-were up-held by the Valour of D. Adas de Aragim. Eatl of Militers, and Lord Juftice of Sicily, who overthrew the Enemy in Battell, punished forme Rebels, and reduce others.

CHAR II

The Kings of Castile and Aragon both calls he Moors to their assistance. The War is carry d on vigorously on both sides. The Castilians treacherous to their King. He punishes many of them. The computation of time in Aragon alter'd.

many of them. The computation of sme in Aragon alter d.

New, that they call the More reasile and Aragon headlong to their Ruin, and do blinded them, that they call the More reasile allifance. The King of Ordinals fent a Body of led by the Horie to the Service of Calile, as what agreed betwire them. The King of Magon call a Chillian over the King of Morece. Pope inherent by Letter grievoully complained of this Action, but in to their vain. The Nobles of Calile were wrough upon by the Magonian, and for fook their Prince. The first was frinken at the beginning of the Tank 1888, by D. Fredrick Malker of Seminge. This offence, by his Guards, understanding he dealt underhand with the Aragonian. From Sent the withed king were write the Aragon and the Lady English, and the Prince, the three lady Prince for the other Brother D. Tello, who inflored his fresh by Sent the Prince, the three lady Prince for the other Brother D. Tello, who fullpeching it field by Sea into Faine, that thence into Aragon. D. Tello being gone, Prince John of Magon beggd of the King for would put films fine Profession of the Lordhip of Micro, to which he had right by his Wife the Lady Prince filling free; cally dinn to be flain by his Guards in his presence, and his Body to be this or the Mills Body was carry to Burgar, there call into the River, and never after flow. Pour Prince that Princes Mother and the Lady English his Wife, were four Prifoners from Fast on the Calific of Castrowers. Six Heads of Men of Note were brought to him a Burgar from Evertal Places. He had rebly to execute others at Valuabild, bit was prevented by the Incursions, Count Hory and Princes Mother and the Lady English his Wife, were four Prifoners from Fast on the King of Aragon, that he had broke tile Truce. That King answerd, the first had been by the River in the King of Magoni, the other; the Kingdom of Magola. From Office the King went to Burgar, to provide again thee Irruptions. Thence he fent to Complain to the King with the Aragon, that he had broke tile Truce. T other freet, ann he naving gather of an Army from all parts, marcin a way to Amagina, and thence into the Enemies Country, where he took feveral Towns. Winter drawing on, he return to Sevil, refolving to fit out a great Fleet, to which purpose the thing of Foringal his Uncle, eith him Ten Galleys, and he of Grandala Three. This Year was remarkable for the Birth of the Lady Ellenot, Daughter to Feier King of Angon, and of D. John Son to Count Himy, whom Heaven had decreed fhould be marryd together, and inherit the Crown of Cafille. This Year allo it was wedgland in the Correc of Kalomia, that the computation of few bobeginning of the Year 1359, the King of Angon laid Slegeth the Itrong Lown of Addina 1359 Cafile being on the way to relieve Medina Celi, understood the Cafalhal of Folonia, the Pope's Legate, was arrived at Almagan. In that place the Legate, was arrived at Almagan, in that place the Legate with the Christians, and employ he Arms against the linkels. The King answerd he had been already impossit upon the King of Angon, under pretence of Peace, and therefore was resolved to give no more Lar to it, unless the Angonia who had therefore has resolved to give no more Lar to it, unless the Angonia wind a three King of Angon, under pretence of Peace, and therefore has resolved to give no more Lar to it, unless the Angonia Martines Ministry, and supply the King of Angon, under Dretence of Peace, and therefore was resolved to give no more Lar to it, unless the Angonia Martines Ministry, and supply the King of Angon, under the Legate went to the King of Angon who exceed himself, and lad the blame upon his Enemy, as is usual. The time was spent in Mellages to and fro, and yet not to much as a truce could be concluded.

All hopes of Peace being laid aside, the King of Cafille at Almagan, declar'd Prince Erratinand Expedition.

All hopes of Peace being laid afide, the King of Caffile at Almaçan, declar'd Prince Ferdinand Expedition and the two Brothers Count Henry and D. Tella Traytors. Queen Ellenor was put to death in on of King Prifon, and foon after the Lady Hamma declara. Her Sifter the Lady Elizabeth was fent with Queen by Blanch from the Caffle of Signetiff to Kaffie de la Frontera. This done the King imbarqu'd aboard.

Book XVII.

a Fleet of at Galleys, and 80 ships; to well thord, and carrying to powerful an Army, that they were provided for any great Emerorize. By the way he took a mighty Vinetian Chrack, only because it resisted; it was carry d.to 'Cathagema, and all its rich Lading secured. The Fleet fail'd to Guardinar, and took both the Town and Caltle by Storm: Alcant was aban-Elect fail'd to Gine Minine, and took both the Town and Cattle by Storm. All cant was abandoned by the Argenians. D. Guinre' de Toltade was left with a good Force to secure the Towns taken. The King with the reflect of the Fleggial'd to Tortole, at the Mouth of the River Elect. There the Legate came about his calley, and again made some Overtures of Reach, but the value through the Town of the River Elect. There is a light to Barblone, where he found it Calleys of Angle, Palette, but the value attempted to carry off but could not be be made the pale the palette he was a large of the River and were bravely defended by the Carolinian. Thus disappointed he fail'd for the opposite Islands. He landed at Toire, and the he islanded the Town of that Name, could not take the Mountaints and the way to the Mountaint and the way to the Mountaints and the way to the Mountaints and the way to the Mountaints and the landed the Caroline will be the Carolinians. were bravely defended by the Candonium: Thus disappointed hessail for the opposite listands. He landed at Toirs, and tho he assailable the Town of that Name, could not take the list of the Candonium; and tho he assailable the Town of that Name, could not take the list of the Candonium of the Union. The Assailable the Landonium of the Candonium of the Candonium the Treaty was renewed, and continued, could any thing be brought to Perfection; for the Aragonians were incouraged with their late success, and the King of Catille after fo many Dilappointments would not wield the leaft Point. Yet finding to much Fallhood among his People he knew not who to with a difference every Day changed the Officers of his Household and Army. This was the unhappy condition of King Peter.

C'HAPIII.

The Death of Queen Blanch, and Da. Maria de Padille. Peacebetwist Castile and Assign, The Way with the Moors, and Dady of their King. The King of Aragon's Designer, marry d to the King of Sicily.

178

HE Treaty of Peace was forcerry'd on, that fill fresh Preparations for War were made ion both Sides. The King of Caftile went from Sevil towards Leeve in fipeed to appre-fiend Peter Nature, de Cheman Lieutenant of that Kingdom, but he having Notice of the King's approach field to Period, a fign he was not Innacent. Peter Musica. Opino heing at Diduct with D. James Garcia de Padilla Master of Calarrena was put to Death by two of the King's Guards. From Leasthe King went to Burges, where the put to Death, James Aries Maldendal the Archdescon, for keeping a Correspondence with Count Hamy. Many others fav'd their Lives by the fudden Irruptions of the Aragonian under Count Henry, D. Telo, and the Count de Ofssae, into the Territory of Rioja, where they took the Town of Hare, and City Notara, killing a great Number of Yenis, and making great Slaughter and Destructions. In this heat they advanced as for as Pancerus. Complete with the Lucio, Governous of Twa-gold, for the Kings of Caffile delivered it up to the strategies. The Kings of Caffile march'd towards the Enemy then at Najara, and encamp Tagar a small Town call'd Acofr. Here a Priest came to tell him he had a Revelution that his Bastard Brother, Count Hemy would kill him unless he mended his Life; but the King for his Intelligence caused him to be pubickly Burn in the Camp. From Anofier the King marché towards Nojers, and there towards print in the Camp. From Anofier the King marché towards Nojers, and there towards provided to befielege it. Within two or three Days the Anogheira abandon'd Have and Nojers, and the King pur Garrifons into them. Having secured the Frontiers he return'd to Sevil, and there agreed with the King of Peringal, thia teach floud deliver up the Out-laws that field from the other? The King of Peringal, thia teach floud deliver of the Out-laws that field from the other? The King of Peringal, thia teach floud deliver of the Out-laws that field from the other? The King of Peringal, thia teach floud deliver of the Out-laws that field from the other? The King of Peringal, that the Pering I was present that the field fin her Death field to Count Have, who after wards for his good executes Packets, who had a Haigh fin her Death field to Count Have, who after wards for his good executes Others were delivered to the King of Cafille, who put them to Death at Sevil. One of these was Peter Number de Gardine, the Lieutenant of Low. Another was Gennez Carillo believed of the Wasser Feter Number de Gardine, the Lieutenant of Low. Another was Gennez Carillo believed of the Wasser Feter Number de Gardine, who had a Have a Carillo believed to the King of Cafille. The control of the Party of Count Plenry. Gasierre Fernandez de Titledo, and James Gennez Brother to the decease of inder standing he was Executed, fled to Anagon. D. Kafee, Arch-billing of Teledo was banished the Kingdom without allowing him time to change his Cloatts. He went to Caimbre, where in a Monaftery of Dominisan he ended his Days hollily. Some Years after his Body was Translated to the Cathedria of Teledo. lickly Burnt in the Camp. From Azofra the King march'd towards Najara, and there to Toledo was bailiffed the Kingdom without allowing nim time to change his Librains. He went to Caimbre, where in a Monaftery of Dominicans he ended his Days hollify. Some Years after his Body was Translated to the Cathedral of Toledo. Many call this Archbishop Blafe. It is supposed Di Vafor resigned the Archbishopticas is son as he was Banishd, for the same Year we find D. Comez Manwings succeeded him. Whilst these things happen'd in Cassile, the King of Aragon sent 4 Galley's well equiped, to the Assilence of the King of Transcen his Ally. They met 5 Galley's of Cassile, which took and carry'd them to Serol, there many of them with their Commander Mathew Merzero were put to Death by the King's Order. Samuel Levis from was the King's Creature, and had the dipodal of all the Revenue, where Syn he gather'd great Riches, which now prov'd his Ruin. He was accused of many Frauda, and being put to the Wrack dy'd upon it. The King selz'd upon his Estate, wall'd at 400000 Ducats, others say more, besides Moveables and Jewells: At the end of this Year Mahomet Cassile, the State of the State hatred towards her. It was faid he caus'd her to be Poison'd in the Prison where he kept Blanch Q. hatred towards her. It was faid he caus'd her to be Poision'd in the Prison where he kept Blamb of her. She was doubtles the most unfortunate Queen of Spain. There is a report that the of capitle King being a Hunting near Medina Sidonia, there met him a Shepherd of a terrible Afpect, diest threatning him if he had not Compassion of Queen Blanch, and that the King sending presently to see whether it was not some body employ'd by her, she was found at Prayers, and closely Guarded. The Shepherd being releas'd out of Prison, was never after seen. Doubtles were this a Vision, he had never been put into Prison. The Lady Elizabeth de Lara, Daughtert of D. John de Lara, was also Poison'd in Prison at Xerex. An Historian who filles himself head Catter to Queen Elizabeth of Cabit. In contain Commentarias he write worm what himself head Caterer to Queen Ellener of Castile, in certain Commentaries he wit upon what happen'd in his Time, says, Queen Blanch dy'd at Orena near the City Tore in old Castile. This uncertainty as to the Place of her Death makes it appear, the manner of it is not fo certain, tho the Malice of Authors, who all humour'd the Success of Hemy the Bastard, caus'd all Crimes to be laid to his Predecessor Perer, because he was Unfortunate.

Chap. IV.

580

Da. Meric L'The publiche Geief for 16 many Calamities was fornown at allwaged by the Death of Da. de Pedia.

Meta-de Padika, who ended her Eaysas Sevil in 18th. A Woman, laying aide her Incontinue of the Market de Padika, who ended her Eaysas Sevil in 18th. A Woman, laying aide her Incontinue of the Market de Padika, who ended her Eaysas Sevil in 18th. A Woman, laying aide her Incontinue of the Market de Market de Market de Guene. Her Funeral-kites were performed throughout the Mindow, with the Same i Magnificence as if the Inde been Queen. She was buryl in the Monaftery of Danishas Sas depotited in the Cathedral of Tudela, by Some French Centlemon, who child the Sas Sevil and Cathedral of Tudela, by Some French Centlemon, who child the Sas Sevil and Cathedral Cathedral of Tudela, by Some of the Lady Terefa, by Whom King Parter of Danishas Islans at Tudela there are 3 Tombs, one of the Lady Terefa, by Whom King Parter of the Cathedral of Tudela Cathedral of Tombs in the 18th Interest in the Market Cathedral of Da. Maria L'The publicke Grief for fo many Calamities was fomewhat affwag'd by the Death of Da. de realisa mining ar matika. who ended her Daysas Sevil in 1849; A Woman, laying aide her Inconti-des de realisa mining ar matika. who ended her Daysas Sevil in 1849; A Woman, laying aide her Inconti-noncy, in all other Refpects worthy to be a Queen. Her Funeral Rites were performed

s councils have to see constitution of the first of the f

La contrata de la compania del compania del compania de la compania del compania del compania de la compania del compania CHAP. IV.

Castile and Navarre joyn in League. The War is carry'd on Successfully against Aragon, by King Peter of Castile, who declares the Lady Mary de Padilla to have been his lawful Wife. The Death of John King of France, and Constance Queen of

THE War with the Moore being ended, the King of Caffile bent his Thoughts against Ara-THE War with the Moore being ended, the King of Cashile bent his Thoughts againft Maning the John gave outleth at the Preparations he made were to defend himself againft Mane.

He refolved to make a Lesigne with England, fearing the King of France would take Revenge Cashile and for the Wrongs done his Neece, Queen Blanch. A Revisa he had a Meeting with the King Masare of Newborn, land they made a Lesigne againft. Angon, the Newborn is regional in the King Masare of Newborn, land they made a Lesigne againft. Angon, the Newborn is a difficult him when he was Pringer in Fame. Having therefore alienable all the Force of this Kingdom, he land siege to the Town of Sai in Managem, and took it after a vigorous Relistance made. At the same time the King of Cashile with an Army of 10000 Hories, and 30000 Foot entred Angon, refolving to being Calasayad. By the way he took Harista, Access, Carina, gad Alhanse, and in Time fat down before the frong City of Calasayad, within it was a ninerous and refolute Gerrifon. The King of Angon Condicions the Danger the Besief deverein, fent havis, and in June fat down before the frong City of Calatayiad, within it was a numerous and refolute Garrison. The King of Argen confidering the Danger the Besing'd werein, sent the Count de Ossan, Son to Bernard Calvera, D. Peter de Lima, his Brother D. Arad, and other Gentlemen to attempt getting into the Town, that they might encourage the Besing'd and other Gentlemen to attempt getting into the Town, that they might encourage the Besing'd ill he could send them Relief. They being come to Micete, a Town near Calatayind, King Peter who had notice of it surprized the Place, and carry'd them away Prisoners to the Camp. The King of Magon being unprovided sent to desire Asi in France, and to call Gount Henry and his Brother D. Tello to his Assistance. Relief was long a coming, and the City nesses to have the Camp. The Comment of the Camp of Magon and Estates, as they had been under the Count of Assent This City heart taken and a good Garrison with no comments in the comments of the Count of Assent This City heart taken and good Garrison with the comments and continue the control of the count o Caty no longer able to hold out, was intrendred upon the 25th of Anguir, upon Condition the Inhabitants flould-remain free in their Pérfons and Eltates, as they had been under the Crown of Anguir. This City being taken, and a good Garrison put into it, under to Calarayad he had held the Cories or Parliament, in which he publickly declar'd and vouched that Do. Maria do: Padilla had been his lawful Wife, he being privately Marry'd to her long before Queen Blanch, came into Spain, which made his Marriage with that Lady void. That Do. Maria do: Padilla had been his lawful Wife, he being privately Marry'd to her long before Queen Blanch, came into Spain, which made his Marriage with that Lady void. That Do. Maria he had, not discover'd to before, fearing the Malice of the Nobility's but thought himself declared now obliged in Confeience to do it, as also for the lake of the Children he had by him He order's himself and the health of October following dy'd his Son. Monfo, whom he design'd his Peir. On the 18th of twen his 17th of October following dy'd his Son. Monfo, whom he design'd his Peir. On the 18th of twen his 17th of October following dy'd his Son. Monfo, whom he design'd his Peir. On the 18th of twen his 17th of October following dy'd his Son. Bennels represent him, the his volent Nature often Habit Wic. of S. Pancis, betwirt Da. Maria de Padilla, and his Son. Monfo. It appears he was not fo remote from gody Thoughts as his Enemies represent him, the his volent Nature often Habit Wic. of S. Pancis, betwirt Da. Maria de Padilla fuccessively his Heirestes, and after them his Son John, by the Lady Joanna de Castro. The Witnesses of the Marriage producd, were of undoubted Reputation, such as D. Oarcja de Padilla, Master of Castarava, John Fernandez de Himselfola, one John Allons de Masorga, and John Perce, a Priest, who all made Oath upon that Matter. In one Article of his Will, he forbid his Daughters on pain of incurring his Curse, and forfeting the Crown, marrying of Prince Ferdinand of Angur, or Count Hemy, Aragon, or Count Henry, or D. 1 tolo ins Battard Brothers; Dut order a Destrict the Finding Prince of Pornigal, and that the Crown of Cashile flould be her Dower. D. Garet Alvarez, de Tolado, Mafter of Santiago, was appointed her Tutor. He also ordain'd that D. James de Padita, Mafter of Calarava, and D. Sarro Marinez, Mafter of Macarara flouid be imported in their Eflettes, Honours, and Dignities. Having fettle all things in the dead of Winter, being the beginning of the Year 1263, the War was carried on with great Vigour. Levies were made throughout the Kingdom, and a League with the King of League England. Malvinda, Aranda, and Borgia, with other Towns of less Note were taken, and with engagement the King of Naviarre made an Incursion into Aragon, land. Tarapona beliegid. On the other fide the King or Industry made an incurron more angular, and definely deall the Country wherever he came. Line, Brother to the King of Industry, Gills Fernandez, Carvallo, Mafter of Santiago in Portugal, with 300 Horle, and fome French Gentlemen came to ferve the King of Capita. The King of Arapon courted him of Granda to make War in Andalasta, but he refuel, acknowledging the Favour lately received. He also folicited the African Moory, and excuss himself for to doing, by the Example of the King of Cafile, whom Fewers, and excuse animent of to doing, by the Leading of Granada. Count Homy was daily expected out of France with 3000 Lances, yet all the Power of Aragan was inferior to that of Cafile, wherefore Taragona, Tervel, Segorbe, Exerica, and many other Places furrendered. The Cafilian without Opposition peired into the Heart of the Minadage with the Cafilian without opposition peired into the Heart of the Minadage with the Cafilian without opposition peired into the Heart of the Minadage with the Cafilian without opposition peired into the Heart of the Minadage with the Minadage wi the Kingdom, and took Monoista. On the 20th of July they befield Valencia. In Angeon they gave themselves for lost, when Colint Hany arriving reinford their Army, to that they durft advance towards the Enemy. But the Army of Castil being much wesken'd with Garrifoning the Towns taken, the King would not hazzard a Battel, and therefore retir'd to Monviedro. The Aragonian perceiving hecould not draw the Enemy to a Battel, retir'd to Burthma a firing Town. 2006 Horfe were left by the King of Caffile to diffurb their March, but they did nothing worth taking notice of. Whill their Things were in Asplation in Spain, King John of France dy'd at London, whether he went to railton the Hoffsiese left there whell he was released. His Son Charlet the Vib Incceeded him. Charlet the Went with the Caffile of the King of the King of the King of All the Son Charlet the Vib Incceeded him. Charlet the Went of the King of the King of The King's Brother, who foon after dy'd. His death mov'd the King of Nature to propose a Peace between the King's Spother, who foon after dy'd. His death mov'd the King of Nature to propose a Peace between the King's of Spain. Besides, he began to pity his Kinstan, the King of Aragon, and was envious of the Success of the Cassilian. Hercupon Luis Kinstan, the King of Aragon, and the Abbot of Fusion, the Popes Nuncio, went to creat with the King of Cassilian to find found, with him the Count & Domia and Bernard & Cassilian. Emplashed to from the King of Aragon, These Gentlemen mollify'd the King of Cassilian, Emballadors from the King of Aragon, These Gentlemen mollify'd the King of Cassilian, This is what was proposed publickly. Understand the death of Hony Earle of Trassanan, and Prince Fordinand Garrisoning the Towns taken, the King would not hazzard a Battel, and therefore retir'd för his Daughtef. Bestrist, with John Duke of Girons, Heir of that Crown. This is what was proposed publickly. Underland the death of Henry Earle of Trafamans, and Prince Fredment of Argon. were, contrived but the King of Argon was mayling to condecend. Neverthalefs whether it was to pleafe the King of Cafile or for any other Reason. Frince Is administration was put to death at Caffein, a Town near Burrisma. The old Autmotities were revived, and he was about making his close into France, with some Caffliage that followed him. His Wife flying towards Prince large into France, with some Caffliage that followed him. His Wife flying towards Prince placed at the death of Prince Fredment, as being thereby delivered a nonwerful Combetton in his pretensions to the Crown of Caffle. But his toy hed Some lay this Meeting was at 250, og the Frience, and wont thirty on his Meeting him. Some the Growth of Meeting the Count Harry was not in little pleas'd at the death of Prince Ferdinand, as being thereby deliver'd of a powerful Competitor, in his pretentions to the Crown of Cafile. But his joy had like to be but fhort, for the next day he was in evident Danger of his Life, without knowing any thing of it. The Kings of Argon and Never's had agreed to meet together; with Count Harry, in the Cafile of Oncafiel, belonging to the Argonian, lorthe Borders of Mouvere, and there to kill him. The Count the ignorant of the Delign was jealous, and would not go into the Cafile. To fatisfy him, John Ramirez, de Ardinao was midd Governour of the Place, in whom doubtlefs the Count had fome Confidence, and went thither upon his patole. Some has this Meeting was at 260, og the Frontiers of Mouver. This Caudion fav'd Count Harry's Life, for the Kings could had prevail with this Cayernour to third the Meeting was at 260, og the Frontiers of Mouver. This Candon fav'd Count Harry's Life, for the Kings could had prevail with this Cayernour to the fifth the Count was he Friend; and befilder, he had ingaged his Hours to him, and therefore on no account would blat his Kepitation, with the Nameo'd Treachiery, the fifth deled Mary, who afterwards indicated her Father's Kingdom, which in hier right came to Marin Her Husband, the Son of another Marin Duke of Mouleane, and laftly, King of Aragon. The Treaty of Peace being broke up, the King of Mouleane, and laftly, King of Aragon. Muela, Galola, Denia, Gandia and Oliva, and in the Month of December laid Siege to Valencia the Metropolis of that Kingdom. Valencia the Metropolis of that Kingdom.

CHAP. V.

Count Henry proclaimed King of Castile. King Peter expelled the Kingdom. Refus d entertainment in Portugal, pathers a Fleet in Galicia, and siles into France to the protection of the Baglish.

The King of Argon who kept his Christma at Lerida, was much furprised at this Advance of the Castilian. On the 23d of February 1364, he had a Confedence with the Costeders King of Meroure at Ses. Count. Henry was there, being reconciled to the Two Kings, or what a likelyest, not knowing what had been designed against him. They make a Confederate was to have Bisan, and old Castile; he of Argon, the Kingdoms of Merois and Toledo, Count Henry all the other parts. Only Bernard of Coheren like not these Proceedings, therefore they resolved to kill him, which was not for private, but he had some notice of it, and fied to Navarre. Count Henry sent some Officers after him, by whom he was apprehended at Carcastillo, and delivered to the King of Argon. That King having gather'd his Fores, marched to raise the Siege of Valencia. The Castilians would not come to a Battel, but kept within their Intracchiments, and for the Argonians got into Valencia. The Fleet of Castile consisting of 24 Galleys, and 46 Ships said to Monviscio, there they understood that the Viscount Cardona was with 17 Galleys of Argon, in the River of Cultera. The King of Castile made thither resolving to take them, but at the Mouth of the River, a sudden Tempet forced him ther resolving to take them, but at the Mouth of the River, a sudden Tempest forc'd him back to the Port from whence he fet out. The King himself was in great Danger, and therefore as foon as he Landed went in Pilgrimage to the Church of our Lady del Pueb, to give Thanks. He is faid to have done this Barefoot and in his Shirt, which hews he was not fo mgodly as he is represented. After this, the King of Angon returned to Parcelonatelle of Cafile to Murcia, and chance to Sevil, in the Heat of Summer. On the 25th of Sully, Boward Ceffile to Murcia, and thence to Sevil, in the Heat of Summer. On the 20th of Suby, Remark de Cabrera was publickly put to death at Zaragesa, the King himself giring sentence against genard the him, and conflicating all his Lands. This was doublels a cruek Act, for the Subject well Cabrera was Innocent, and had been the King's Tutor, all his Crime was freaking the Truth to the truely put King's Advantage; but King's Outriv'd his death. The Queen, the King of Naviere, Commerce de Toledo Matter of Cabrera Hemy, and Count de Ribagera contriv'd his death. The War continued hot. April to death Hemy, and Count de Ribagera contriv'd his death. The War continued hot. April to death Hemy, and count de Ribagera to contrivid his death. The War continued hot. Absent of Galactrava, leading a Convoy to Manusedra, was defeated and killed by the destagement. Martin Lopez de Cordova, succeeded him. The King of Caffile thought to make himself Matter of Oributia, But the Aragenian Offering him Battel, and he refusing, the place was relieved, and he Aragenian return'd home. At the beginning of the Year 1365, the King of Aragen better of the Caffilians after along Siege took Oributel. D. Genet de Poras Prior of St. John, either becaute he fear'd King 224. ter, for loofing Monviedro, or to curry favour with Count Herry, deferted to the Aragonismi, with 600 Horse that were in that Town. From this time the Forces of Cassile began to decreafe, and there being Peace betwitt Enance and England, many Frenchéanne to serventhe King of Arabin. These were no better than common Robbers, to whom the Pope and King Foreign of France gave great Summ's of, Mony to inverhase their absence. They were invited into encompaint by Count Feling. This Body was made up of English and Germany, askyell as French, to the count for the country of the crease, and there being Peace betwixt France and England, many French came to serve the Aragon met at Zaragoca where the foreign Forces were. There the League betwirt them Aragem met at Langera where the torigin forces were. There the largue network them was renewd, the limits of their Dominions in case they fucceeded determined, and was agreed that D. John the Count's Son should marry. Ellenoy the King's Daughter. This doine the King fayd at Zargera, and Count Henry having assembled all his Army enter? Cafile by the way of Alfaro. This Lote. the Henry having assembled all his Army enter? Cafile by the way therefore the Armystay'd not to beliege it, but march'd towards Calaborra, the chief City in those parts, seated on the River Environment Bishop's they place, and Fernan Sarabas, destroy and the Governour open'd the Gates to the Count on the Stok of March. Here in Councel. was held to confider how to proceed. Some were for marching directly to Burgo, the chief City of Cafile. Others advised Count Henry to take the title of King, that to there might remain City of Cafile. Others advised Count recomy to take the third of Knings surger, the third price of Cafile. Better of Cagine fooke much to this pur-Heary the pofe, and all the chief Officers of the Army fiding with him, they cally perfivaded him to ac-Balard cept of the Title, and immediately proclaim? I him about the Streets. The new-made King proclaim? was bountful of what was not his own, giving Towns and Cities to all prefent. To Berrambinelit R. Claquin he gave Traflamara, and to Hugo Carvelaye Carrien, with the Title of Earls. To his of Capite. Brother D. Yello he reflored Biscap, to D. Sancho he gave Albuqueque, the Mater-Ship of Sanching to Gonpulo Mexia, that of Calatrava to Peter Munic, to D. Alonfo de Angon that King's Uncle, the Marquiface of Villena, and all that belonged to D. John Manuel, and as much more to many others.

Thus Cafille was divided betwirt two Kings striving for the Crown. Nothing stept the Cafill all people in their Obedience to King Peter but fear, the his was the undoubsticklight sile other vided. Deeple in their Obedience to King Peter but fear, the his was the undoubsticklight sile other vided. Deep a Baltard. Henry advanced towards Burgon, leaving Logrono as believing it invan to atvempt it. Navarrete and Britishe's invended. King Peter was at Burgor, doubtful that course to take, as confiding big little in his People. At length he refolved to go, to Sevil? for their were his Children's and Treadire. The People of Burgor offered to stand by him, henthanked them, but would not stime make use of their glead, and abole them from their Oath of tidelity, that if they were put to Streights, they might receive Count Henry without being looked upon as Rebels. Before his departure he gut to death 1960 Fernander. Actions, sending orders Ring Peter by the way to the Commanders of the konquered places in Aragon to burn them, and with expelled all Speed march to meet him at Toledo. Thus all he gald in some Years, was lost nogen the Ring-Day He stay'd some time at Toledo to secure that Cityand less D.Garci. Alvarez, de Toledo Master of Saniage, to command there. No sought was King Farer, gone from Burgos but the Citizens sent to invite Count Henry thither. They shill him Count, but offer d him the Crown, if he would take it in that City, according to anoieth Caltann. He accepted their Offer, march'd thither and was Crown of in the Monaletry of Henry san. Thus his Power became equal to Cities in that Kingdom within 25 Days submitted to him. Thus his Power became equal to his Adversary, the Nobility and Commonalty striving to gain the Favour of the new King.

Chap. V.

The Affairs of Castile and Least being stelled, he removed to Toledo, where he was received The Affairs of Califa and Leab being feeted; he senoved to Toleday where he was received with joy. Generi-Alleanair. de Toleda, refligned the Masterlinip of Sanniaga, in lieu thereof, and for desirating his Master, had Oragle and Naldeorine given him. Moont Hemy being poffised of Toleda all the reft was casy, for that King Perer durft not thay longer in the Kingdom, but imbanculus his Children and Treasure aboard a Galley, the tree Rorrigal. The King Or Pornial would not receive him. Ferdinand his Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant with the National State of the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant with the King Perer had no Wrong offerd him, but was infered to pass quietly the state of the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Son favour'd Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Kingdom into Galleia, where he deligned to Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Kingdom into Galleia, where he deligned to Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Kingdom into Galleia, where he deligned to Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Kingdom into Galleia, where he deligned to Count Henry, and kept correspondant in the Kingdom into Galleia, where he deligned to Count Henry and kept correspondant in the Kingdom into Galleia, where he deligned to Count Henry and kept correspondant in the Kingdom into Galleia, where he deligned to Count Henry and Kingdom into Galleia, where he deligned to Count Henry and Kingdom into Gal death. Flaving got together Twenty two Ships and iome smaller Nelleis, he ice Sail for France, carrying with him his Son D. John; and two Daughters, for sair in the delde was line flavored the polydrate of the sair in the delde was line flavored by the People of Sevil to please being then flavored main. Land. I have a confiderable part of his Treasure, for the rest which his Land. See aliver Marin. Land. I have in a Galley, was taken by the People of Sevil to please Count House, who after the surrender of Condeav was expected at Sevil. The new made King Hing, who after the surrender of Condeav was expected at Sevil. The new made King Hing, who allowed the concluded Peace with the Kings of Portugal and Grandon. That done, a six is nothing more timained too do, he disbanded his Army, retaining only 1,0000 Lines with Backenger Change and Barrend Son to the tances of Faux. His Wife and Daughter-in-Law, the Princess Elleur came to him but of Aragen, and with them D. Lope Fernander, de Luna, Arch-Biffiop of Zaragora, and feveral other Man of Note. It was requifite to fettle the Kingdom and raife Mony, for it was not doubted but a storm threaten'd from França: Therefore: the Cores were allembled at Burgos, and there John the Son of the new King Himy was from Heir to the Crown, after his fathers Decease. The Tenth of all things fold, was here given him without any limitation of time. Their hatred to King Refer blinded them, to as not to reflect how heavy a Burden they lay'd up-Their hatred to King Reim blinded them, to as not to reflect how heavy a Burden they lay'd upon the Country. King Etherry gave to the City Bargis, for their Service at his Coronation, the Town of Maineda de Ebro. D. Dominick was at this time, Bilhop of Burgeys, who Electioniswas remarkable. His Predecellor Fralmond dyings, the Chapter could not agree who hould discoced. It was therefore refolved to Rand the Declipin of this Dominick, being then one of the Canons. He without regarding the Competitors hid, Since there mult be a Bilhop let Dominick bindeft be Bilhop. All the Chapter reloyed at his Choice, and he was according by confectable. About this time D. Lape de Lama the Archbillop, same again into Capile, being sant Emballador: by the King Jargens, to demand Performance of Goverants, and agreat: Somm of Mony he had land: Count Partys, in The Jargens, Maine sant was demanded to be due, but his their the Erich and all that was demanded to be due, but his their to extraordifary Dangers, yet affoot as he were well fixed, he will be stored the first of the sant while looked upon the King of Argens as his Father and Frederice. This he faid to amule that King, be being refolved to part with nothing. Thus Princes devote themelieves to their Interest. being resolv'd to part with nothing. Thus Princes devote themselves to their Interest without regarding Promifes or Oaths.

to the same of the control of the co

The War bernist Hrance, Navaffe, and Aragon. King Peter of Castile Supported by the English in France: Is brought into Spain by the Prince of Wales with an Army; Overthrows Henry the Usurper, and recovers his King dom.

The War commend three Years befor this betwirt France and Newers, fill continued, with disdyanasses to the latter, who loss several Towns. At Touloute a League was concluded betwirt the Kingsof France and Aragin, wherein it was agreed that the Araginian house make War upon Navarre, to which effect the King of France was to aligh him with you Lances maintain'd at his own cost. This being known to the King of Navarre, to with the Lances maintain at misown control in speng known up the rang out resource, no third distributions the head against the Angionian, by whose command Lair Coronal was already waiting the Frontiers of the Royal Region at Egisten the Queen his Wife, the with Child, into Proceed in vain for the King of France was refolved to desire all that the Novarrois policis d in France. At Europe in Normany, the Queen was brought to Bed of her Second Son call'd Peers, who was fart of Mornants. With him in the heart of Summer, the returned to Novarros, not like ing her Entertainment in France. It was requisite for the King of Navarre to feek some new Allyes; he thought it convenient to joyn with King Beter then in Banishment, who made him great Offers, as Men commonly do in diffress. King Peter of Capile was then bufy foliciting for Succours to recover his Kingdom, and particularly applyed himself to Edward Prince Articles of Wales who then govern d Guisme for his Farber. They met at Cabreron, a Town not far berwing, from Bayerne; King Charles of Navarre, was with them. The Prince invited them to Dinner, Peter and King Peter was feated on the Right Hand, and the Prince next to him; on the left fat King Charles the Prince by himself. Therethey swore to the Articles of Allyance made betwixt them, which were,

That King Peter fhould be reflored to his Kingdom r. That the Prince for his Sarvice therein: fibold have Bises, the King of Novemer Legrens; and, That King Peter finoid legrechis Baughters in Guieme, as Holtages for performance of articles, and payains of highly lent him to defray the Army. The King of Nagen renew d his League with Rener. Le of Nagen artistaring all the Burden of the War would fall upon him, changed his Minds and investing Henry, the new-made King of Naverre hould not give Passage with those physics it was Articled, That the King of Naverre hould not give Passage to the Regula Repugh his Somitions: That he finoid, as the themy against them, and deliven up octain goods the Security of Performance: That Henry should give him the Town of Legrens, specially also him devilong before by King Peter. About this time League Brother to the King of Naverre marky defractors. Dutcher's of Denazar, in Macedagia, is cledit Daughter, and Heires to Duke Charles, because there is generally a militake made in the Genealogy of these Frances. That King Peter should be restored to his Kingdom r. That the Prince for his Service thereof Manies. Because there is generally a mittake made in the Generalogy of their sequence throught good to dee it down here. Charles the life, King of Mapie, was father to John Duke of Darazze John had Charles and Luis. Charles was fiather to John and Margaries. Luis the other Son. 30. John had Charles that came to be King of Naples, Mad Jonna who we said may right Luis, iBrother. to the King of Navarie. On the 18th of Maniery 1367, (fome Authors peter King for a Wear later) King Peter of Paragal dy'd at Estremas. He.lly'd 44 Vears, 9 Months of Paragal and onetDay's and reign do Vears, 9 Months, and 28 Days. His Body was bury'd with dec. and one Day'; and reign'd o Years, o Months, and 28 Days. His body was bury'd with decessor and reign'd or Years, o Months, and 28 Days. His body was bury'd with decessor pray for his Soul, and thoic of his his discellers. He left a Revenue for Capplains or pray for his Soul, and thoic of his his discellers, was arigorous observer of judice, and much lamented by his People. He order'd that nothing flould be taken up for his Use upon Frift, but paid for at the full Value with ready Mony; made wholsome Laws to curb the Avarice of Judges and Lawyers, was most Severe against Malefactors, particularly for Adultery, infomuch that he is say'd to have fruck the Bishop of Rere on that Account, and us'd Yearly to distribute a considerable Sum of Mony among his Servants according to the Merits of every Man. His Son Ferdinand succeeded him, who concluded a Peace with the King of Ferdinal Capples of the Merits of Embalishors. This King kept the Lady Ellenor de Meneles, whom he took from her nand & of Husband Lawrent Fashex' de Acquirs, who the refore field to Capille, and its 'faid always to have Frontal. Worn in his Cap a pair of Silver Biorn's denoting the King's Lust, and his own Shame.

11 All France and Spain 'refounded with Warlike Preparations. Hemy the gest made King The Engward Lawrence and Spain' refounded with Warlike Preparations.

was at Bayor gathering an Army to oppose the Endmy, who had passed the Mountains at the Read Registrations, Private Remover and the Read Registration of the Read Registration of the Regi Embalfadors, and Bertran Claquin were against Fightings and gave several Reasons for this their Opinion. Others more hot would not hear of Delays. The worst Advice was taken and the Army march'd towards Alevis to oppose some Parties of Horse that spoil'd that Country. Near Salarian they encampd in Sight of the Enemy upon an Advantagious Ground, the Rear close'd up with Mountains. The English perceiving that Advantage, march'd away towards Lagrano, which was for King Pena; resolving to draw the Enemy to a Battle, or else towards Lagrone, which was for King Pener, regioning to draw the anemy to a starte, or elle-to pierce into the Heart of the Kingdom. Henry understanding their Designmov'd back-wards towards Nejara, made famous by the Battle fought there. Some Letters pass'd be-twixt the Princes, but the Difference being a Crowing it was impossible to reconcile them, and therefore they ordered their Battles. On the right Henry place'd the French, and his Bro- The Bat-ther Sancho with most of the Nobility of Cashile, on the left his Brother D. Thus, and the tle of Na-Earl of Denis: He and his Son D. Monfo commanded the main Bodys: On the Enemies delarate who confifted of about 10000 Horfe; and as many Foot, the Duks of Lagrafian led the Non, whit Hago Carbolaye, who was gone over to the Engills; the Count de Assachus land Monfour de la Brie, commanded in the Body; the Rear was brought up by King Foring the Prince of Wales; and Jayms Son to the King of Majoros, who after he escaped out of Principals and Jayms Son to the King of Majoros, who after he escaped out of Principals and ry'd Jamila Queen of Naples: Challes King of Novare, fent 300 Horfe under Martin Emi-que to fervé King, Feire: Henry had pass'd Raver that the between the two Armies, and drawn up his beyond it. Here both artifies met with great Fury. The Right of Henry's Army whete Claquin commanded; stood from a deem'd to have the better, but D. Tello on the Left fled without fo much as giving a Gharge: Thus Bertran, and D. Sancho being encompass don all sides, were casily Overthrown, with a great slaughter of the No-bility and Commanders. Hemy did all that sould be expected, to stop and rally his Man, but feeing all loft, fled to Najara, and thence into Aragon, with a few Men of Note that follow'd him. He made no flay, fearing that King, but want quite through into France.

Bis Army was fo differfed, that wan one Body was to be found in any Place. After the Fight, then

Ris Army was fo differfed, that wan one Body was to be found in any Place. After the Fight, then the Prince of Wales is fay'd to have blam'd him for that Severity. Prov Lapet de Ayale, who tenfored. writthe Hiltory of King Peter, was one of the Prisoners, and therefore deserves little Credit; having writ Malicioully, as being Attainted of Treason at Alfaro. This Battle was fought upon a Saturday, being the 3d of April 1367. D. Tello carry'd the Nows of the defeat to Barger, and the Lady Jeanna, Wife to Henry, with the Archbilhops of Tolede, and Zaragera, fearing Ring Paris, field to Anager, where they were not well received, for that King was referred to fide with the Cobinerob. "To that purpose Flago Carbolage was already in Anagon, and becapie it required more time to feetle a Fede, a Truce was for the prefent concluded in Ming Peter with all his Army marched to Barger, where he apprehended the Arch-Mingrof Brags for fling with his Enemy, and put him fate a Dungeon. The King was perfice of Walay performing what he had Covenanced; it was hard to deliver up Bilogy to the Prince of Walay because that People would never consistent to be Subject to a Stranger, and it was not left difficult to raile for great a Sum of May as was due to the English." In order to raile the Mony, he whente to Toledo, and thence to Coulon, where he can't to Men of Note to be Executed, for admixing his Enemy. Others were executed at Swill. Admixing hem Do. Ornead as Office was Burnti; and a Maid of hers is fail to have call the felf wolinthing into the Fire. The King of Navarre after the Fight came from Borgia, where he had been Prisoner to Tudolas, and kept Molfon Oliver Prisoner to Tudolas, and kept Molfon Oliver Prisoner, left as a Fiolizage for Ferformance of what was agreed between This Prince Peer, left as a Hostage for Performance of what was agreed betwirt them. This fame Year, on the 24th Manuff dy'd the Cardinal D. Gille de Albornoz, a Man of great name reary. On the Lara successful of the Cardinal D. Gilla de Alberton, a Main of great Partis, and much in Favour with a Peper. He recovered the Parlimony of the Church, from those that had using details, and by the means made way for the Peper to return to Remie. His Body was deposited at Alley, and thence translated to the Cathedral of Tolebelly The Pepe granting Indulgence to ficther as should carry him upon their Shoulders. People came slocking out of the Towns that lay in the way, and in that manner he was carry'd to Tolebe.

Chap. VIII

286

CHAP. VII.

King Peter Excommunicated and Absolv'd. Count Henry returns into Spain, is again received by many Places. Toledo opposes him, and is hessey'd. Ring Peter comes to its Relief, is overthrown, betroy'd to, and Mander'd by Henry the Bastard.

THE Author we have above spoken of who calls himself Q Enterer makesmention R. Auton we have anove ipoken on who cairs imment of sements. Caterer, make smennon excommended in the Battle of Najara, and put to Death by King Per was and to be sment on the Bifteen of St. Bernard taken in the Battle of Najara, and the leaft Memory remaining of tuch and the best of the state of the s would hear fome News from the Leann. The King drawing near to hearken to him, he pronounced the Sentence of Excommulcation and immediately? Hed down the River. The King in a Royal to hearken to him, he pronounced the Sentence of Excommulcation and immediately? Hed down the River. The King in a Rage figured his Horfe into the River, and went to hark hie had been drowned, had not a

French

nounce the Sentence of Excommunication and immediately; fied down the River. The King in a Rage four red his Horfe into the River, and went fo fary's he had been drown'd, had not a Boat brought him off: He vow'd to be revenged of the Pops, and immediately gave orders for fitting out a great Fleet, and raifing a powerful Atmy: The Pope dreading the Anger of King Potes, some fitting out a great Fleet, and raifing a powerful Atmy: The Pope dreading the Anger of King Potes, some fitting out a great Fleet, and raifing a powerful Atmy: The Pope dreading the Anger of King Potes, some fitting out and abolive him. They were reconciled by these gate upon these Conditions, That the Dignity of Master of S. Bernard being existed, all the Crown, so as never to be alterated: That the 3d part of Ecclesiatical Revenues then pay'd to the Pops without the Himself Configuration of the Crown, so as never to be alterated: That the 3d part of Ecclesiatical Revenues then pay'd to the Pops without the Himself Configuration of the International Master International Configuration of the International Configuration of Configuration of International Configuration of Configuration of International Configuration of Configuration Configuration Configuration of Configuration Adian Celtare Lineally descended. It happen'd well for Count Henry, that the Prince of Wales return'd to Galema much offended at King Peter, for that he neither gave him the Lordship of Bifeny, 183 had been agreed, nor pay'd him the Money lent, or the Army their Arrests Besides an Cassie many great Mendeclar'd for him, as did the Provinces of Gaipassand Bifendes and Cassie many great Mendeclar'd for him, as did the Provinces of Gaipassand Bifendes and Cassie many great Mendeclar'd for him, as did the Provinces of Gaipassand Bifendes and Cassie many great Mendeclar'd for him, as did the Provinces of Gaipassand Bifendes and Cassie many great Mendeclar'd for him, as did the Provinces of Gaipassand Bifendes and Bif coy, and the Towns of Segovia, Avila, Patencia; Sulamanca, Kulladolid, and other's in the Kingdom of Henry te-Toledo. Henry having gather'd an Army, enter'd Aragon, at the Pais of the Pyrenean; call d Valdeturns into andorra, and march'd with fuch swiftness that he was in Castile before the Aragonian could stop him, tho he endeavour'd it. On the Banks of the he ask'd whether that were the Daminion of Cafile, and being told it was the tollerin Cafin never more to go out of Cafile. Only this into die. Then he mov'd to Cafabar the first City of Cafabar, and was received there will effect toller. Then he mov'd to Cafabar the first City of Cafabar, and was received there will effect thin in Procedion. He released to Philip de Cafre a Nobleman of Philip, and Tourish with the Cafre a Nobleman of Philip, and Tourish the Cafre a Nobleman of Philip, and the thin in Procedion. He released to Philip de Cafre a Nobleman of Philip, and the thin son to him of Majorca like the Cafre a Nobleman of Philip, and the thin you there places follows: the Cample of Barbar, and the thin that the Cafre and the thin upon the last Day of April 1368 the Thin the Cafre and the thin upon the last Day of April 1368 the Thin the Cafre and Siege to Toledo believing nothing would withfrand him, that City once taken. He incamped on the Plain, that lies on the North Side, and fecur'd the Palics beyond the River Tagw which encompalies the City on three fides. To fecure the comminication he built a Wooden Bridge, which previd very ufeful. The Toy almost held out coursaiously dreading King Reter, who had carry'd away the principal him as figures. Gardous had, now rebell'dy, and King Reter askd Aid of the King of Grandat to beliege it. "Labboure tent a good body of Aloric, with whom, and his own forces he laid Siege to that City, and press'd it for hard, that the Moor, Cal'd the Walls and took the old Palace; but the Citizen's dreading the King if the Town were taken, fought to desperately, they again drove out the Moor, killing many; the very Women affilting the Men. The two Kings despairing of Successis'd the Siege. King Peter went to Sewit to provide for the War, meeting with greater difficulties than he had imagin'd. The King of Grandato plunder'd Jaen and Weld, willich were in Rebellion; he also wasted all the Country of Andalusia; carrying away's vall multitude of Capitres, in 60 mich that it is faid above troop Souls were taken, in only the Town of Utrans.

were in Rebellion; he also wasted all the Country of Andalacia; Carrying away's yast multitude of Capitives; in so much that it is said above trooc Soulswere taken, in only the Town of Obrigo.

King Peter in case for the Gicki Polisher Scioliv'd with what Forces he had to give the Ene. R. Peur my Battel; the People of Sevol addied him to stay till his Arthy was recruited, and his provides friends, could joyn him, both he wastenning to his Ruin; at this Conjuncture another seem instortupe held him, which was that Visitin, Solvanier, and Logione, that said addied to shim were taken by the Souls for Visitin, Solvanier, and Logione, that said addied to find the continuous and the Citizens being divided; the Faction of the one Enemy to King Peter, was at variable with his Brother Homy, and diverdire kept in Bisay. The Siege of Toledo continuous and the Citizens being divided; the Faction that was for Homy, attempted to secure a Town spingle to the Canne, and being disappointed, thought to give the Enemy entrance over & Marini Bridge; the other Farry having Sociec of it, they came a Blows, and many Townsien were killed. King Peter betring of these Tunnils; made the more hast to relieve the City. His Sons Sancho and James, With all his Treature, he put into Carmona a strong Town neargood. Then gathering his Army, he prepar'd to march to Toledo. He had 3000 Horse, the hill of them were Moor, and therefore no great Confidence was reposed in them. At the time of his departure he is faid to have confulled a Moor call'd Bengarin, who foretold his death, but of Merilin's Prophecy, but these Prophecies always come to light, after the Event. King Peter marched to Magind's frong Town in that part of Spain, call'd La Mancha. Henry being inform dagh his approach; left Ganeet Ammique Arch-Bishop of Toledo, to continue the Siege, and magind's away in last to meet King Peter, without expecting the Foot. At Organ ive Legues from Toledo. Between Caspain of Objection and the Caspain of Caspain of Caspain of Caspain of Caspain of Caspa wounded him in the Face, they clasped one another, and both fell to the Ground, but Henry Brother.

Book XVII

288

was undermost, till Berrass turning them, Henry got uppermost, and then stabb'd the King several times till he dy'd. A horrid sight so, behold, a liwful King descended of Kings murder'd by a staturd. Evolute a France, Hillorian, writing that as Henry enter'd the place, where the King was, he said, Where a pies french Son of a Where the Ling with the said, the said of the son of the said when the king answered, Then yet the Son of a Where, for I am the lawful Son of King Alonso. Hing Rener dy'd on the 23 of March, in the slower of his Age, being but 34 Years and 7 Months old; he reign'd to Years lacking 3, Tays His Body, was carry'd without any Pomp to Auger, and there deposited in the Church of S. James. Afterwards he was translated by King John the II.4, to the royal Monastery, of Dominican Nuns at Madrid. After the King's death, several of his Followers were apprehended.

CHAP. VIII,

Soveral Foreign Princes passenders to the Crown of Castile. War with Aragon, Portugal, and Granada. Affairs of Aragon, Sardinia, and Navarre. The League be-

Several percent of the Charleson, and Totado upon the News of the King's Death was furpered by the Content of the Crown. All agreed that Homy being a Baffard, could have no Right, and every one of the Grown. All agreed that Homy being a Baffard, could have no Right, and every one of the Grown. All agreed that Homy being a Baffard, could have no Right, and every one faid, had already taken feveral good Towns belonging to Cafilie. Medina, Canters and Requent were betrayd by their Governours to the Aragonian. The King of Cafilie and Leon, being great Grandion to King Sancho, and Grandion to Rearisch in Daughter. He was already polificia of Cada Reading, Alemana, and Tow, The King of Granded, always a Friend to King Peter, hop'd to make his Advantage. Yet the greateff Storm was threaten'd from Lepland and Cuiennes, for John Duke of Lanceffer, Brother to the Prince of Wales, had married Confinese Daughter to King Peter, and the Earl of Cambridge another Brother, had it (Wife Etzabeth the younger Sifter, both Daughters to Do. Maria de Padila. The only femedy againfall these Evils that hung over the new King Horry was to tecure the Affections of the Mobility, and Commons of the Kingdom. Therefore he immediately went away to Sexily, where he was received wight the titual poy of the Rabble; thirther all the Cities of Madazais furt to Make their Submillion, except Carmona, where Madient of Calariana, who fill continue distribut to his dead Mafter. At Sevil King Horry was to leave the Affections of the Mobility, and Commons of the King of the Affection Loye & Cardona, Mafter to Calariana, who fill continue distribut to his dead Mafter. At Sevil King Horry was to leave the Affection of the Calariana, who fill continue distribut to his dead Mafter. At Sevil King Horry to a continue of the Affection of the Calariana, who fill continue distribut to his dead Mafter. At Sevil King Horry to a continue of the Affection of the Calariana, the Calariana, the Calariana, the Calariana base of the Calariana, the Calariana of the Calari fent for Clayabe to command his Army in that Expedition. At the same time he destructed the King of Nature to assist him. That King engly'd togo into France, the he had but then sent Jame Crazate Dean of Madela, into dragen to dettle a Confederacy. He destruit fent John Christe Dean of Massis, into Aragon to uettle a Contederacy. He eleft, his Ogien to govern Navare, and went to his own Estate in Normandy, refolving not to this the King of France, but to make his advantage of those Wars. The King of France for Embaliadors to him, and at last they had a Meeting at France, on the Seins. Affect they agreed the Navareous should deliver up. Rames, Astilan, and the Country of Longardille, about which they were at variance, and in site in the state of thould have the Lordship of Managements. These they were done later in the Year 1375, therefore legis return to Caffile.

King Hamp's Joy for his Success was innew hat abated by the many Enemies he had yetto hem the King Hem?'s low for his Success was somewhat abated by the many Enemies he had yet to hem; the deal with, for fell King Petr's Party was not extinct. The Regregates had a frong Garri- Uniper so in Coolids Bedrigo, and thence infessed all the neighbouring Country. This place King finds ma-Hemy laidsiges to at the beginning of the Year 1370, but the Perryudes detended it so mes. bravely that the was forc'd to quit that Design for the present, and march away to Medina. 1370 which was the grant of the Here of the Heavy of the Petryudes at the Medina 1370 was the grant of an extraordinary Subsidy towards the War. There was due to Berreau Claquine 20000 Doubles promis'd him for betraying of King Pier at Meyrich, this was a wast. Summi in the GiDays. Jayne King of Naples was delivered to him as payment of 6000, the Treathery Queen his Wife offering to much for him, the reft was paid down in Gold. Befides the King rewarded. Queen his in the Towns of Seria, Almasan, Alienea, Montagudo, Molina, and Seria, This done he return'd into France where he was made Conflicted, and fervid, well against the English. In July the Argonians and Navarrow concluded a League only defonsive as was given out but in reality design'd against Henry of Castie. Then the Towns of Salvariers, and La Re-In July the Argonium and Naturria concluded a League only defensive as was given out but in reality design'd against Henry of Cassite. Then the Towns of Salvariers, and La Redformerly helonging to Argon, were restored to that Crown by the Olegend Research. In Cassis, the Commentary helonging to Argon, were restored to that Crown by the Olegend Research. In Cassis, the Commentary of the Portugal Fleet, Kept the Mouth of the Rivesto and think the Commentary of the Commentary of the Portugal Fleet, Kept the Mouth of the Rivesto and the Commentary of the Could not have with flood of any of the Could not have with story of the Could not have with the Could not the Could not have with story of the Could not have the

CHAPIX.

in the Monastery of S. Francis at Palencia.

The Siege of Carmona. The King of Cortugal marries the Lady Ellenor de Meneles, Peace betwixt Castile, Portugal and Arrafte.

In geteny cased of two great Trombles, by the Truce made with the Moor, and the removal of the Portugues Fleet, laid siege to Committee only Refuge of King Peter's Friends, in the Common the Belieged, who kept their Gates allows open, making continual Saleys. One Day just at by the U. Noon, the Heat, being very great, the belieged obtery othe Enemy to keep very close in their furger. Tents, and thereupon fallying furiously enter'd their Trenches, and went directly to the King's Tent, resolving by his death to put anised to the War. He was in extreme Danneer, but that some Gentlemen came to his rescue, and stopd the Furry of the belieged, till the Army statement, they were semiled with a considerable Loss. After the King the resolvent has gathering, they were gapuls a with confiderable Lofs: After this King Henry attempted, by Night to Icale the Walls, about 40 Menat Arines got up, and fecur da Tower, but the Townsmen taking the Alarm, fellou them with fuch Bravery, that the Ladders not able to bear them, point down broke, and those that were in the Tower were left behind. Marin Laps. de Content the Covernoity, who was not of the Singerhalt Night, returning caused them all to be pair to Death. Provinged failing, the Governoor was at last force of to Surrender upon Arbandar in the Covernoity, who was not of the Banes and the brave Governoor Massin Laps. de Coverno, published the Marin Laps. A covernoity of the Covernoity of 290

Conclusion of this Affair, hoping to find some other means of Accomodation. About this time King Hemy belief and took the Cityling; which Men Redriguez de Sandria, and other banish'd Men of Castile held for the King of Portugal. He also sent 12 Galleys, under the Command of Micr Ambright Bosanora his Admiral, to the Affiltance of the King of Prance. These having Join'd the French near Rechel, defeated the English, took several Snips, and the vision at Earl of Pembrook, with many other Men of Note, and much Mony. All was sent to the King Sac of the shorts Russas. From this Ambrose Bocasteria, are descended the Earls of Palma. The King San and Bornate. Earl of Pembroos, with many other rates of Note, and much mony. All was sent to the King Spaniards of Aragon had 3 Children by his Wife Queen Ellung. Daughter to the King of Sicily y their over the weete Prince John the Heir of the Crown, Martin and Conflance, who as has been lad, was really marry of to Frederick King of Sicily. In June Prince Martin marry of the Lady Mary de Lana, Heirels to the Earl D. Lope de Luna, het Dower was the Earldoms of Luna and Sogn've; the King gave him the Barony of Exerica made an Earldom, and foon after appointed him Confable of the Kingdom. Prince John marry'd Martha, Sifter to the Earl of Amagine, and had with her 1 50000 France. Of them was born the Princel's Johnson and Arry'd afterwards to Matthew Earl of Faux. On the 22d of Angult D. Bernardine de Cabrera, Grandfon to Bernard de Cabrera was reflored to all his Grandfather's Eflate, except the Town of Vique, and the Country a League about it. The War broke out again betwixt Cafitie and Portugal, on 'Ac was become that the Portugueles took certain Ships belonging to Bifeary. King Henry was then at wint Cacount that the Portugueles took certain Ships belonging to Bifeary. King Henry was then at wint Cacount that the Portugueles took certain Ships belonging to Bifeary. King Henry was then at wint Cacount that the Portugueles took certain Ships belonging to Bifeary and to a Cabrera was the Cambridge of Cabrera was the Cabrera was to be the Cabrera was a Lambra was ordered to equip 12 Galleys at Sevil, and foour the Coaft of Portugal. King Fordinand of Portugal was at Variance with his Subjects, therefore King Henry laying hold of this Opportunity, entered Portugal with a great Power, Burning and Plundering all the Country, and took the Towns of Almyda, Panel, Celavico, and Limbars. This was about the end of the Year. He Heirels to the Earl D. Lope de Luna, her Dower was the Earldoms of Luna and Sogerves, the at Variance with his Subjects, therefore King Homy laying hold of this Opportunity, enter'd Poringal with a great Power, Burning and Plundering all the Country, and took the Towns of Almysda, Penel, Charico, and Limbaris. This was about the end of the Year. He now received Letter's from Guido, Cardinal of Bolonia; fent by Pope Gregory to fettle Peace betwitt, him and Portugal. King Hony; fent to defire him to expect his coming at Guadalajora, where the Queen was. The Cardinal antwer'd it was not it for him to respect what he came about, which was putting an end to the War, and therefore made half to Guidad Rading of the Yearh 1712, King Hony took the City Visco, march'd hinght of Guidad Rading of the Yearh 1712, King Hony took the City Visco, march'd hinght of Guidad Rading of the Yearh 1712, King Hony took the City Visco, march'd hinght of Guidad Rading of the Yearh 1712, King Hony took the City Visco, march'd hinght of Guidad Rading of the Yearh 1712, King Hony took the City Visco, march'd hinght of Guidad at Samigran; the King of Poringal being too weak for his Entemy kept himlelf within the Walls, and King Hony march'd away to Lubon. At his first coming he entered and burnt the Suburbs, but the City being firon and well defended, could not be taken. However fome Ships were burnt in the River, and others taken by the Fleet of Calife, a great Number of Prioners, and a rich Booty was darry'd away. Mean while the Legate ceased not to labour for Feace, and at lath brought the two Kingstogether into a Boat upon the River Togat, on the 28th of March, and they agreed to these Conditions, That the King of Poring Lady a certain Day Hould be mith his Kingdom the Genifemen that leaf from Calife, who were about 1900 in Number: That all Places taken during that War should be retired on two were about 1900 in Number: That all Places taken during that War should be received to were about 1900 in Number: That all Places taken during that War should be received to the King of Portugal should be retired on the War should be r

292

Chap. X.

Peace concluded between Castile and Aragon. Several Matches of Princes. French and Spaniards befiege Bayonno invain. The Papal Chair refiter at to Rome. Death of Frederick King of Sicily.

From Brioms the King of Cafille return d to the Kingdom of Teledo, he of Navare to his Court, whence he sent the Queen into France to appeale that King, who was highly offended fulpeting the Navaresis had employ d'epople to Positon him. Then the King of Newarre went in Person to Madrid to perswade King Heirly to forsake the French, and ade with the English. Offering is he would pay the Arrears due to the Prince of Welse, and his Army from King Perer, that the English would quit their Claim to the Crown of Cafile, and lay down all other Animosities. King Henry answerd he would never depart from the lateracted of France, where he had sound Relief in his Distress but that if the English would make Peace with France, he would join in it, and pay them as much as should be adjuded by impartial Judges. Thus nothing was concluded, and the Navarous return'd to Pampione, the Cafilian to Andalascia. The Lady Mary, Daughter to D. Erdmand de la Carda, marry'd in France to the Earl of Almeion, sent to demand of King Henry the Lordships of Silogs and Lawa, as of right appertaining to her: He reply if the would sent two of her Sons to reside at his Court, they should be put into Possessing but they offer'd him if the Kingdom were conquered; the Cafiles of Murcia, Cuenca, and Soria, with all their Dependencies, but the King of Angara could not be prevailed upon. In February happen'd a great Earthquake in the Earldom of Ribagor pa, in which many Towns were wholly swallow'd up. Luis Duke of Anjaw came to Carcassom to endeavour to lettle a Peace betwint Gastile and Angara, searing left the English, the mortal Enemies of France should become Masters of Cafile. After much debating it was resolved to referr the Diction of their Differences to Guida. Cardinal to Radania, the Posital Legate. On the 18th of Gastan Posital Ville. file. After much debating it was refolv'd to referr the Diction of their Differences to Luis Duke of Anjav came to Carcafforme to endeayour to fettle a Peace betwirt Gafile and Angam, fearing left the Englifs, the mortal Enemies of France should become Masters of Cafile.

After much debating it was resolved to referr the Diction of their Differences to Orders of Guido, Cardinal, of Balania, the Pope's Legate. On the 15th of October Dope Gregory the Kith Sa. 186.

Pentecost. In the Peace could not be concluded, a Truce was agreed upon till the Feat of legat of pentecost. In the Peace will not be concluded. A Truce was agreed upon till the Feat of legat of the City Tokoth. Some Years after the Order of the Islandian was taken from this same. In Section 1914, 1914, 1914, 1914.

Pentecost. In the Peace could not be concluded. A Truce was agreed upon till the Feat of legat of the Country to Bourdaux, with a Design to conquer Cafile. He seat Embalances to the Kings of Angam and Newton, to ask Supplies, but they thought it safet to look on as Neuters. King Henry fearing this Storm, went to Bargar, where he made all possible Preparations to withstand it. D. Sameho his Brother and the Spear, and dyd. The Lady Beaviry his Wife left with Child was delivered of a Daughter called Luner, who was marry'd to Prince Servitama, afterwards King of Angam. King Henry to appeal a Sedition among the Souldiers, was wounded in the Face with a Spear, and dyd. The Lady Beaviry his Wife left with Child was delivered of a Daughter called Luner, who was marry'd to Prince Servitama, afterwards King of Angam. King Henry to Joya his Forces with his Lady better and to Angam, when they came to Boardaux were not about 6000 frong, and therefore had layd afide the Design of entries, but good Men. The Englift Forces confund a good Opportunity to expel them States and besieged the Place, but his King the Salandian to the Place, but his King promis'd to Prince John should be marry'd to him, her Dower 200000 Florins lent by the Araganian to King Henry, at the beginning of the Civil Wars: That Molina should be reforced to Capiti, and That the Angonian thought pay 12000 Florins towards the Charge of the War. This Agreement was celebrated with great Joy in both Kingdoms.

the War. This Agreement was celebrated with great Joy in both Kingdoms.

This Year was Fortunate to all Christendom, as well as Spain, because Pope Gregory the Pope Green's Rib returned to Rapie; after the Popeigrich is Redecelfors had redded 70 Years at Abit 200 Min. P. Ber. Levy the tran Claquin having for his good Service goe the Earldom of Longuinille in France 100 Min. Statis colored in Spain to King. History for 260000 Doubles. At Soria on the 27th of 2429, Frince Rome after Charles of Quavare marry'd Ellenor, King Homy's Daughter, and on the 19th of May, Frince Rome after Charles of Quavare marry'd Ellenor, Daughter, and on the 19th of May, Prince Rome after Charles Observed that D. Ferdinand de Castro, who the last Year steel to Portugal, was dead Year and Min. the Errdinand de Castro. Admiral of Castile had done much harm along effects. Prince John Ins Son took to write Letters, Daughter to the Amig of Langua, was dead been 70 was now brought that D. Ferdinand de Caftre, who the last Year fled to Portugal, was dead been 70 in England. Also that Ferdinand de Tover, Admiral of Cassis that Goalts of that Island. From Soria King Hinry went to Burgos. He designd to assist the Coasts of that Island. From Soria King Hinry went to Burgos. He designd to assist the French with all his Power against the English. His Son Alons Earls of Gijon, to avoid marrying Elizabeth, Daughter to the King of Portugal sed into France, but was soon brought back by his Father. At the end of this Year dy'd D. Gomez. Manrique, Arch-bishop of Toledo. The Chapter having chosen two to succeed him, the Decision of the Controversy was left to the Pops, who allow dessenter of them, butgave that Dignity to Rear Tenorie, then Bishop of Conjust, jabout, this time dy'd some Men of Note of Newarts. Particularly D. Redwick Orritz, a Man of a great Estate and Interest, was by the King's Command apprehended, and Beheaded in Pamphona, at the latter end of March 1376. Some private Correspondence he held with the King of Cassis was the cause of his Death. It was Reported he intended to betray the Cassis of Cassis and Caparrose, but it is not likely they should so son the State of Tudata, and Caparrose, but it is not likely they should so son July, in Banishment at Agrain in Italy. D. Martin Cassa, a most kearned Man, was Frederick chosen to succeed him. Frederick King of Sicily departed this Life at Mellouis, on the 26th he thd. St. Of July. His Daughter the Lady Mary was left fole Heires of that Kingdom, and Newsterick. Dutchies of Athens and Neoparia, which produc'd Differences betwirt feveral Princes aspiring to marry her. This also administred to the Aragonians a fair Opportunity of enlarging their Dominions.

The End of the Seventeenth Book.

1. 14 1.6

THE

ad plur di-

ant"

of them to the City, fulpecting some Treachery, and therefore would not go himself. Those fent being admitted into the Place, were some of them taken and stript, only a few establish. Among these Marin Emiquez. the King and added bearer, defended himself with only his Sword, against a great Number, and a rate side of the control of the standard, leaping off the

THE

Lot litter of

History of SPAIN.

The Eighteenth BOOK.

CHAP. I.

The Wass of Navarre. Masches of some of King Henry's Children. The Schism in the Church, caus'd by the Election of the Two Popes, Urban and Clement. The death of King Henry of Castile, and of Mahomet the Moorish King of Grags, and grown weary of the long Wars. With the Moors there was a Truce.

The Duke of Lancafer ingag'd in the Wars of France, could not apply himself to the Conquest of Castille. King Henry having thus put an End to all the Wars, apply thinself to the Civil Coyenment, and reformation of many Abuses, crept in by the liberty of the Times Only Aragen was under the Apprehensions of a War, for Lun Duke of Anjone, to whom Jayme Prince of Majorea had made over his Title to that Kingdom, began your to fet up his Persensions. The King of Aragon all Properties of the Congressions of the Congression of the betty of the Times Only Aragon was under the Apprehensions of a War, for Luis Duke of Anjou, to whom Jayme Prince of Majorch had made over his Title to that Kingdom, began now to fet up his Pretensions. The King of Aragon assembled the Corres at Mompon, where new Impositions were laid upon the Jenus and Moors only, for none would be allowed upon the Christian; yet they offerd to defend the Country at their own Charge. Great Preparations were made for that War. It is reported that 40 Galleys were fitted out on the Coast of France, and Acoco Men at Arms gathered, and it was feard in Majon, that peace being concluded with the English as was expected, the Pope interposing, all the Power of France would fall upon that Kingdom. Besides a Matter of small Moment had like to have produced another War. D. John Romires, de Archanor returning from Rome through Aragon, at Barcelons was challenged and called Traitor in the King's presence, by the Viscount de Rosa, for that he had enticed D. Jayme Prince of Majorca to invade, Aragon. The Challenge was accepted and the time fix'd for sighting so Days after. King Momy labour'd to prevent the Combat, but the King of Aragon savouring the Viscount, they could not agree. The King of Castis hereupon said, They Bould Fight, but he would find 3000 Horse to see Justice done, which was as good as declaring War. This mov'd the Aragonian to desist. A Treaty of Peace was set as on a second as declaring War. This mov'd the Aragonian to desist. A Treaty of Peace was set as foot at Bruses in Flunder's first, and in the Year 1377 Bruges in Flunder's first, and in the Year 1377 at 1878 Grandchild, and Son to the Black Prince, succeeded King Edward. The Duke of Burgundy after the Treaty broke up came into Spain, to pay a Vow he had made, to visit the Body of the Aposlie's Prince of the Sum-timed by the Aragon of the Winter at Sevil. All the Wartiske Preparations made invade Net. In the Castiske Preparations made in Prance, sell upon the King of Navarre's Dominions; Charles, Peter and Mary, Princ Newere were in France. With Charles went Baldwin, who was Governour of feveral firong holds in Normandy, and Jaques de la Rue his Favourite, who had Orders to propose to the English, that the King would make War upon France, if they would give him the Dutchy of Guieme, to be held in Feof of them. The French having intelligence of this Design, secured Rue, put him to the rack, and he confessing was executed at Paris. Baldwin was commanded to deliver the Hardwin was commanded to deliver the Hardwin was commanded. ed to deliver up all the Towns in Normandy he held for his King. Charles the Heir of Navarre, was confin'd to the Court, and his Brethren, Peter and Mary were imprison'd at Bretol. All the Dominions of the Navarrois in France were taken from him, except two Towns, and Cher-bourg which was pawn'd to the English. Not content with this, the French labour'd to induce the King of Castile to invade Navarre, and he wanted not the Will, only look'd for some specious pretence to declare War. It happen'd opportunely that the King of Newarz complain'd that the Ming of Newarz complaint that the Ming of Newarz complaint that the Ming of Newarz complaints and on the Ming of Newarz complaints and of Newarz complaint The Governour gave his King an account of it, who order'd him to carry on the Plot, and fecure the King of Navarre. He did fo, and that King coming with 400 Horse, fent part of shear to the Chry, fully claims, from trageleys, and threefore would not go himstelf. Their fast being admitted into the Piace, were greater of them taken and firity, only it she dishilling. Among their Marine Euriquez. the Kings greater of the bearer, defended himself with only his sword, against a great Number, and arbited fired himself and the Standard, leaping of the Bridge into the River Ebr. This was the beginning of the Warr. King Henry gave the Command of his Army to his Son Ryine, Spin, who entered Navarre planted changed the Command of his Army to his Son Ryine, Spin, who entered Navarre planted the Command of his Army to his Son Ryine, Spin, who entered Navarre planted the Command of his Army to his Son Ryine, Spin, who entered Navarre planted the Part of the Navarre Land of the His Son Ryine, Spin, who entered Navarre planted the His Ray two plants and he was able to withsham. This in the Year 1378. The King of Califit residents Borgar, where the marriage of his Rahrd Son D. Monie See and of Califit residents Borgar, where the marriage of his Rahrd Son D. Monie See and of Califit residents Borgar, where the marriage of his Rahrd Son D. Monie See and of Califit residents Borgar, where the marriage of his Rahrd Son D. Monie See and the Califit of t he had two Sons who dy'd young, and a Daughter call'd Elicabeth, afterwards marry'd to

CHAPTI

d, lespine, It ib ing Hopey Errein

Rous John facceeds his Father in the Throng of Castile. Charles the Of France alors Charles the Vib facceed him to Clement own a in Spain through the

Jab and Land Market Managemy of the Rether was Crown drogether with his Wife Queen Elected to Land Managemy of Hallow at Burgar. He Rainenced too young Bentletines, acted from cording to the manner of thole Times, and gaye the To winds famours to the City in Faying the Crown cording to the manner of thole Times, and gaye the To winds famours to the City in Faying the Crown cording to the manner of thole Times, and to reward interview to the City in Faying the Crown was held in that City, which feveral Laws were enacted. One was, that a Man who had received the Helier Orders, it he marry of, should be priviled day, a Church Man. Great reported was throughout the whole Kingdom for the King Coronation. The low was the greater, for that if was hold he would prove an excellent Prince, being Generous, sharp Wifted, Mild, Religious, and not Conceined, but always inclinable to be advised. Of Status a contract was the contract of the Revenue of the Revenue, which raised him to death of the Revenue, which raised him to a great height. Some Took of the was Receiver General of the Revenue, which raised him to great height. Some Took of King, for, butting of him immediately, to beath, and inding out the Executions of the King, for, butting of him immediately to beath, and finding out the Executions of the King, for, butting of him immediately to beath, and finding out the Execution of the Revenue, which raised him to great height. Some Took of Kote for health with the Revenue of the Contrivers of the King, for, butting of him immediately to Death, and finding out the Execution of the Revenue, which raised him to great height. Some Took of Kote for health with the Revenue of the King, for butting of him immediately to Death, and finding out the Execution of the State of the Contrivers of the was current of the Revenue of the State of the Contrivers of the Amour of the Contrivers of the Amour Year, and beginning of the next, which was a 80, the Rains were in great, and continu'd fo'long, that all the Rivers overflow'd, and all the low Lands were under Water. Parti-Type. Year, and beginning of the next, which was 1880, the Rains were fo great, and continued from the follogs, that all the Rivers overflow'd, and all the low Lands were under Water. Particularly the River Ebre, near Zewages begke down it's Banks, and rain a new way, fo that it coff much Mony and Labour to bring it back laine it's own Channel. From Barger King John went to Toledo; where he again repeated his father's Exequies, and plac'd his Body in the Tomb built for him. Then he fet out for, Andalustica, refolving to all the French againft the English. At Sevil he fitted sout 20 Galleys, with which Fernan Samchez, de Tovar, having coalted along Spain and France, came to the English Shore, and rain up the River Thames, defected for Spain and France, came to the English Shore, and rain up the River Thames, defected Revenge against the Open of Angels, the chief causer of the Schliffur Momo met wicked laste had rendred Infamous. He invited Charles Duke of Dwarze, defecteded of the Kings of Laples and rendred Infamous. He invited Charles Duke of Dwarze, defecteded of the Kings of Laples and rendred Infamous. He invited Charles Duke of Dwarze, defecteded of the Kings of Laples and Proper than 1880 and the Cown when the Cown with the Cown with the Country of the Co nours as he well defery d for his good Service in Navarre. Luis Duke of Anjon govern'd France; for King Charles who was under Age. The King of Aragon fear'd left he should lay hold of the Opportunity to conquer the Kingdom of Anjon for the Which he pretended a right as has been faid, but he had bent his Thought upon feeting the Crown of Naples to himself and his Heirs. However King John of Caffile fent Emballadors into France to accommodate that Assair, and it was agree'd he should fell the Title he had bought. King John advanc'd a good Summ out of kindness to his Father-in Law, and kookenire the Peace of Spain. He also sent benefit and Daughter had dy'd in Prison. The barbarous king granted his Request, and releas'd the Prisoner, sending him into Spain with Letters, full of Pride and Arogancy in relation to him-felf, but honourably writ in regard to King John, whose Power and Valour he extoll'd denoming his Friendship. Three Years after that unfortunate King cashe into France, and the control of the Spain, where the King entertain'd him honourably; and gave him the Towns of Madrid and Andarym, which accompetent Revenue for his Maintinance. He stayd not long in Spain, but return'd into Strakes, designing thence to go into England, to persyade those Kings to make Peace, and unite their Forces against the Enemies of the Golpel in Asia, Death cut him off without doing any thing of what he intended. In the Church of the Califfain at Pa-make Peace, and unite their isorces against the Enemies of the solpes in Alia. Death cut him off without doing any thing of what he intended. In the Church of the Calginar at Paria, there is to this Day an Arch, in the Wall of the great Chappel, with a curious Marble Tomb, and an Inscription fignifying, L = 0 King of Armenia lies there.

The Christian Brinces were weary of hearing the Legates of the Two Popes. The King A Schlim of Capitle resolved to hold the Cortes at Medina del Campo, to decide this debate in Capitle. The Legates of both Popes laboured hard to be received, believeing all Spain would follow, whether the one Comparison difficult from ware for the one Comparison of the Armenia difficult from ware for the one Comparison difficult from ware for the one Comparison of the Armenia Capitle Comparison difficult from ware for the one Comparison delivery and the compar Legates of John Popes labourd hatt to be received, believeing an John Would Malow, whatever was decreed there. Opinions differ'd, fome were for the one, fome for the other; but the wifer fort were for standing Neuter, as if there were no Pope, till a general Coincel had determined that Controveriy. Mean while the Queen on the 28th of November was Pr. Ferdla. deliver'd of a Son, who was call'd ferdinand, exceeded all the Princes, his contemporaries in nand born greatness of Spirit, and good fortune, and at length came to be King of Aragen. A great in Gafile. Number of Benedictine Monks came to the Cortes, complaining that the Noble Men who Number of Benedictine Monki came to the Corea, complaining that the Noble Men who were their Patrons did them figual Wrongs, whereupon it was order'd that the King alone flould be their Protector, which lasted during his Reign. D. Petri de Lune was one of the Cardinals that favour'd Christini, who at the beginning of the Year 1381, fent him as his Legate into Spain, to draw thole Kings to his Party. In Argon he effected nothing, but in Castili the Cores: which had been adjourned to Salamanca, on the 20th of Moy, acknowledged Pope Genome who resided at Avision. The Interest of France (way'd more with them, than Christinian and Justice. Many look'd upon it as a Judgment for this wrongin Decree, that Castile Queen Yomma the King's Mother a most Pious Woman and of 6 great Charity, that he was Castile the Mother of the Poor, dy'd foon after. During her Widowhood she wore the Habito of a Nun, and was bury'd with it at Toledo near her Husband Henry.

CHAP. III.

Charles Duke of Durazzo Crown'd King of Naples. The War with Portugal. Peace concluded. The King of Portugal dies. Actions of the Aragonians and Catalonians in Greece: And of the former in Sardinia.

Harles Duke of Durazza call'd by Pope Urban, came out of Hungary into Italy. The Charles Flarentines gave him a great Summ of Mony that he might not enter Tuscary in warlike Duke of Forentines gave him a great Summ of Mony that he might not enter Tuscowy in warlike Duke of manner. At Rome the Pope gave him the Title of Senator of that City, and crown'd him Durage King of Naples. All things succeeded better than he had expected, for all places even the crown'd City of Naples, receiv'd him joyfully. The Queen fortify'd herfelf in Castel Nuevo. Only her K of Nathusband was defeated and taken, whereupon she deliver'd her felf up to the Victor. Soon her her, ter she was hanged in the same place, where she had strangl'd her Husband Anidreass. Other was set at Liberty. Thus Pope Orban was successful. The Duke of Anjou had enter'd Iraly, with a powerful Army, but he dy'd in Apulia. Prince Line of Navoure, and the new King Charles had married two Sisters, but that Prince was not with him in this Expedition, being larged in a War for expenses. ingagd in a War for recovering of Aisen and Neparria, on the account of the antient Title the Kings of Naple had to those Dominions. The chief of that Country being descended from Caralonia, ceas'd not to invite the King of Aragon to take possession of those Ditchies, as

A new Storm broke out betwirt Cafrile and Poringal, which reduc'd the Country to great saging Streights, and put King John in danger of lofing his Kingdom. The English and Poringales is you with entred into a League, and joyn'd their Forces against Cafrile. The English presented at right of Poringals the Crown of Cafrile, because the Duke of Lancafter had marry'd the eldel Daughter of King Rind Ca Peter, and the King of Portugal was not pleas'd to fee his Title laid afide. Befides, he look'd upon John as an Excommunicated Perion, for adhering to Clement, whereas Portugal was for Pope Urban. Alonfo Earl of Gijon laid hold of this Opportunity to mutiny. King John

198 intend to Ovision, the capital City of Afrarias and seduce hint, and at the fame time order'd Deries to be made; and a Fleet equip'd against strength. The Earl early submitted, but when their sincereity will appear hereafter. The Rendery of the Army was appointed at Simiancai Affoon, as all things were in readingly, the Rendery of the Army was appointed at Simiancai Affoon, as all things were in readingly, as things repair'd thinger, march'd directly into Peringul's and I laid Siege to Almonda, a Towright far from Badayor. The Place being fitting and fravely defended, the Siege went on likely. At Sea 16 Galleys of Cafile met. with 23 of Porugal. They fought and the Cafilla substaint a memorable Victory, aking the fitting of the Enemies Galleys, and in them their Admit a memorable Victory, aking the fitting of the Enemies Galleys, and in them their Admit a Cafile for the Enemies Galleys, and in them their Admit a Cafile for the Enemies of the Simple of the Enemies of used in other Countries. Herman Alvarez de losas, and Piere Kuiz Darmento, were made Ma-vifibali, equal to our Major-Generals. Winter being fpent, the Randezvous was again ap-pointed at Symancas, that Country being plentiful to fupply the Army. As foon as all was in a readyness, the King fet out for Badajoz, being inform'd that the Enemy defign'd to in-trade Caffill that way, and were already advanc'd as far as Elous, which is but three Leagues The Paringue Forces were 2000 Horfe, and 2 great Number of Fort; the English 2000 Horfe, and 2 great Number of Fort; the English 2000 Horfe, and as many Archers. In the Army of Caftile, were 2000 Horfe, and a English 3000 Florie, and as many Archers. In the Army of Cassilie, were 5000 Horse, and a smitch greater Number of Foot, all old Soldiers and eager to fight. Yet the King of Cassiliator than put all to the hazard of a Battel, thiught good to make overtures of Peace. D. The State of the Stat

Daughter Bistrie, the Heireis of that Crown, to Edward the Son of Edmand Earl of Cambridge.

A Treaty being fet afoot, the following Articles were agreed upon. That Bestries the Daughter of Portugal should be contracted to Ferdinand, younger Son to the King of Calille and Capille, that to Periugal might not be united to Cafille. That the Prisoners and Galleys taken in the Sea Fight should be restored to the Portugues. That the King of Cafille should furnish the English with a Fleet to return Home. These were hard Terms for the King of Cafille, but the Desire of Peace overcame all Disscuties, and he gave Hostages for the Performance of shose Conditions. Thus the Batfel was prevented, and the War ended.

The Inv conceived, for this Peace was interrupted by the death of some eminent Performance of the Conditions.

ance of those Conditions. I have the Battel was prevented, and the War ended.

The loy conceived, for this Peace was interrupted by the death of fome eminent PerDeath of fons. King John returned to the Kingdom of Tolede, and lay Sick at Cheller, when his the Qu of With Queen Elemon dy'd in Childbed of a Daughter that liv'd not long. Her Body was Buried in the Royal Chappel at Toledo. Her death mov'd the King of Portugal to alter the first Article of the late Treaty, and he fent to offer his Daughter to the King, thinking by ried in the Royal Chappel at Totedo. Her, death mov'd the King of Foreigal to after the frif Article of the late Treaty, and he fent to offer his Daughter to the King, thinking by that means to fecure the Succession of the Crown of Foreigal, it being tedious to expect, till that means to fecure the Succession of the Crown of Foreigal, it being tedious to expect, till when the Crown of Foreigal, it is being tedious to expect, till when the Crown of Foreigal, till the Frincess had a case king for dismand dy'd, the Queen Dowager should govern Foreigal, till the Frincess had a Colid of Age. The City Elvas was the place appointed for the Marriage. These things happened in Spain, about the end of the Year. At the same time in Greece the Anagonians and November, where at War, about the Dutchess of Abban: and November, Philip Dalmao, Viscours Recebert, Admiral of the Anagonian Fleet, subdivid those Dominions, for he expected the November, and the Crown on whom he pleased. To this purpose heacall to not Lombardy, John Calents, who, was not yet Duke of Milan; but he would not go because the Anagonian had taken his Fleet in the Port of Pifa some time before. The Nobility of Sciely were offended that D. Arial should pretend to the whole Power of Government. William Raymond de Monadae, having Communicated his Design to the King of Aragon, enter'd Canana, leiz'd the Onech, and conveyd her away to Anagonia, then him by the King under the Command of Roger, de Monadae. D. Arial seeing himself disappointed, lay'd Siege to Longlike, a Iten him by the King under the Command of Roger, de Monadae. D. Arial seeing himself disappointed, lay'd Siege to Longlike, a Dalmao in his Return out of Greece, such'd in Scily, and understanding how Affairs shood, forc'd the Ethemy to raise the Siege; and conveyd the Queen safe into Spain. The Queen afterwards marry'd in Aragon, and by that means the Kingdoms of Aragon and Sicily were united with a stronger and more lasting Band than they had been before. Charles the Heir of Nayare was still detained a Prisoner in France. The King of Cafile interceding for him, he was fet at Liberty, which star was a still detained a prisoner. The King of Cafile interceding for him, he was fet at Liberty, which star was a still be supported by the star of the King of Cafile. He came to Pales was the beginning of the Kear 1383, and was received with Joy. His Bether grown Oll as spreected his courie of Life. The Marriage of Marriage the King of Cafile, writing the Princes of a rugad was folemate dwith great Pomp, at the of the King of Cafile, writing the Princes of the rugad was folemate dwith great Pomp, at the of Cafile again raised appears in Albuma. Some are seen the which cashly reduced him to his Princes of Duty, and the King wentoo hold the Cameric Special, where nothing memorable was, dong, Perical, but altering the Commontaccount, as help goen done before at Valuenia, offseckoping from the Albuma the Commontaccount, as help goen done before at Valuenia, offseckoping from the Albuma the Livid ag. Years, 10 Months, and 18 Pays, sink signed a 9 Years, 10 Months, and the Duty, and the Marriage of Marriage good Princes for his detections to Spontaccounter at Cafe and may the technical ones of the Special and the Marriage of the Commontactor of the Cafe and t

CHAP. IV.

Portugal full of Devisions about the Succession to the Crown. King John of Canile have ing been proclaimed as Capacit, enter this Kingdom, has many Place Milvier also him, Belings Lisbook our is force to easily this Siege, and eligible in Castile.

thin, Belgage Labott our of force to reals the Suge, and regard to Callie.

The King of Formula's Death, was the cause of bloody. Ware between the Room and Divisions of Callies. The Foole would not hear of submitting six a Stranger; all were for Room in particulated. Some of their own. A Meeting of the Nobility was held it Leibon, but noting courcings Hing of their own. A Meeting of the Nobility was held it Leibon, but noting courcings Hing of the great Ones underhand invited King Found Capitle by take follelling of the Kingdom. Among their was D. John, the Masteriothy-sing who dealt thould be besude the Cown. he had not yet gain'd the Affections of the Foodle. Time was figure in Capitle consulting, the Affair, till the Opportunity was loof never to be, excovered. A last it was decread the King should go before in peaceable manner; and the Army follow to subdeep it there were Occasion, luch as offer d to oppole him. The Billiop of Casaria, which is on the Borders of Foringal, who had fled to Capitle, was imprisoned at Teleda for no other to the late King of Portugal, who had fled to Capitle, was imprisoned at Teleda for no other to the late King of Portugal, who had fled to Capitle, was imprisoned at Teleda for no other to the late King of Portugal, who had fled to Capitle, was imprisoned at Teleda for no other to the late King of Portugal, who had fled to Capitle, was imprisoned at Teleda for no other to the late King of Portugal, who had fled to Capitle, was imprisoned at Teleda for no other to the late King of Portugal, who had fled to Capitle, was imprisoned at Teleda for no other to the late King of Portugal, who had fled to Capitle, was imprisoned at Teleda for no other to the late King of Portugal, who had fled to Capitle and the left in Chargewith the Arch-bilhoff of Toledo, who kept him long at Juliane Capitle for the Arch of the Arch of

300

to be taken. With him went 500 Horfel; a species Number, in time of Peace, but too similit to quell Rablels. The Governours of the Lindon of Toledo ceased not to make new Levies, and self-dathem towards Foringal. This greatest want was of Mony, the Treasury and Country beling exhausted with the last wars. They therefore took to the value of cook Marks of Silver out of the Treasury of the Church of our slegs of Lady of Guadalues, which the People look'd upon as an ill Omen, the Law began with Sacriledge. Charles Prince of Naviers, that he might not be though a migrateful was gathering agrood Body of Men to assist the Ring John. The King of Angree Salyth it facelt to look on. In Paringal after much Consultation it was resolved the Quein Towards floudiffered in the Government of earlier the People, provok'd them the more to Mutiny. They hated the Givernment of earlier with the People, provok'd them the more to Mutiny. They hated the Givernment of earlier who had much to loft, were concerned at their Consultions, and swoot of king John. Their our date who had much to loft, were concerned at their Consultions, and swoot of king John. Their K. of Ca. were International England, with many more. Begins the many of the Nobles of Sintra and Primeral, with many more. Begins the many of the Commonalty, opening and Sintra and Sintra

The state of the s pries to the Come opportunity. Offer'd to expose himself for his Country. Yet the People arthat time did not fewer or one opportunity. Offer'd to expose himself for his Country. Yet the People arthat time did not fewer or but name D'ijohn that was Prilonel' in Casile their Governour. The more to incense the Feople, he was painted upon their Colours in krons. The Command of the Army was given to the Marker of Avis. They fad Queen Elshor was not lawfully marry to the Marker of Avis. They fad Queen Elshor was not lawfully marry to the Marker of Avis. The fad Queen Elshor was not lawfully marry to the Marker of Avis. The Canada was the follower of the Marker of the Mark Wife, the Princes John and Mariin. The Blame was laid upon the Mother in Law, but Prince John and offended his Father by the Trying privately the Lady Violance. Daughter to the Duke of Berri, not regarding the Oscar of Sicily, which was much the better match. The King vented his Paffion upon John Lat Job Ampurian, in whose Dominions, and under whose Protection they with Marry d, for a fibon as his Son returned home and was Pardon'd, he saiz'd the greatest part of the Earl's Blants. The Earl's himself fied by Sea to Avignon, refolving to make about the Forces of his the forecast of the Earl's Blants.

Iohn the Baffard, Master of Avis proclaim'd King of Portugal. King John of Castile fends in Flore, then inters Portugal himself with an Army. The famous Battle of Aljubarrota, and rout of the Castillans.

Anthe he Man, then enter Portugal himself with an Army. The Janous Bastle of Alipharrora, and rout of the Calfellans.

A T the beginning of the Feat 1385, the King of Cafile was employ din eating Lind.

I speces, and had fitted a Beet of 12 Galleys, and 20 Ships. Yet all things went on flowly, because he felt Sick, and was in Danger of Death, yet as from as recovered he forwarded, all Preparations. News was brought that the Garrifon Son are me had taken it falls the Mafer of the February of the Sick, and the Loy concerved he forwarded, all Preparations. News was brought that the Garrifon Son are me had taken it falls the Mafer of the February of the Sick of the Repels in that City had confilled together, and other than the state of the Repels in that City had confilled together, and other than the state of the Repels in that City had confilled together, and other than the state of the Repels in that City had confilled together, and agreed in was absolutely Necessary to choose them a Fedd, and that for the greater Authority he ought to be declared King. Some chught this too bold an Agenty, and were against excluding Queen Barrix, whose Right is way, of far Provoking the Anger of Cafile. Others awourd Frince Joba, the then a Frisoner at Totale, but this was wholly rejected, he being in no Condition to sailt them. Therefore they all voted for the Mafter, of Asia, who was prefent, such proclaim A lim King on the 5th of Arisi, at the Montalety of St. Promeirs in Cafiles, which that conditions was held. All that were prefent, even this that had before opposed in killed his Flund, and did Homage to him to express their Zeal. Prophetics were such as a Called his the Cafile of the Arisis of the Cafile of Cafile of meet them. They discover'd one another about the Mid-way, and there Intrench'd them-

Chap. VI.

STEEL PAR

Famous Battel of

All Ports mits to 302 felves. The fleriguessis were in a narrow Flacer, having a skins on the Front, and deep Maraille, we each side, which four dishells alone they were accepted, and covered for the fleriguessis of the state of the flower of the fleriguessis of the state of the flower of

Mionor For

CHAP. VI.

The Portugueles makes on Inroad into Castille, and defeat a Body of Castillans. The Duke of Lancaster and at Corunga, and takes several Towns. The Death of the Kings of Naples, Aragon and Nations.

The Revegueis reloising to projected their victory and make the most of their Success, fent is folemn Embally into England its joys in League with the Duke of Lenzeliev, the old pretender to the Crown of Cafilic, in virght of his Wife. Whilit this Bulines's was in agitation, to avoid lying idle and hinder the Enemy from recovering themselves, the new King, of Pranged travers dail the Country, recovering entirely all that was politically by the Cafilines. His Contable Mano Prayes, made an Incursion into Anadaucia pillaging and washing, all that Frovince. Press Phases, made an Incursion into Anadaucia pillaging and washing, all that Frovince. Press Phases, Marger of Samings, Genetal Nutric de Guerman Mortander of Calastraca, and the Earl of Nickle, with what Forces shad escaped the late Rout, vertexor went out to meet the Paragardsivith owers clea in Number, and inflored them is it were in a of the Ca. Net, near a Town call'd Phosesto. They feen gheir Danger offer'd to capitulate; but For. Milman, pune fill famour with a spite Boosey. Nume Persya the Conflict of Samings' Horiz, and their he himself was kill'd. His Methaking this for an Ill Quitei, drev off, and the Paragards the temperature of the present with a spite became with a spite became with a spite Boosey. Nume Persya the Conflict, and and the Paragards the King of Capital Minds Matter of Samings, in Read of Persy Nines. That King was consterned how to defend himself against the English. He went away from Savit to Valladoid, to hold the Certis or Parliament. Cheeks Son to the King of Perso Nines. That king was consterned how to defend himself against the English. He were away from Savit to Valladoid, to hold the Certis or Parliament. Cheeks Son to the King of Perso Nines. That king was consterned from the defend himself against the English of Mony is Nan, Son there was great Carticity of it. Priving on which was indied to the most himself would be feat to all Savit to the Capital Saving and the Capital Saving and the Capital Saving and the Capital Saving THE Recentific reloving to project their victory and make the most of their Success, femous foleann Embally into England in joyn in League with the Duke of Lancaster, the old pretender to the Crown of Castile, in right of his Wife. Whilst that Business was in Crown to him. The King also fent Persons of Note to justify his Title, but underhand to Crown to him. The King also sent Persons of Note to justify his Title, but underhand to propose a Match betwirt his Son and Heir Henry, and the Dukes Daughter by the Lady Constance. This Proposal was no way displeasing to the Duke. Yet in publick he answerd, He would bear of no Terms bis delivering up the King dom.

Near about this time, the fair remote as to Place dy'd three King. On the ash of June, the King dom.

Near about this time, the fair remote as to Place dy'd three King. On the ash of June, the King of Navarre and this Days at Pamplona. Some say it was till sear before: His Body was buried in the Of Peter K. Catherial of that City: Four Days after Peter this Vin, King of Angeon, departed this Life of Angeon. He lived 74, Years, and reign'd $3, wanting to Days. Of Stature he was simil, not Healthy, very quick, a great lover of Honour, and of making a show of Majesty, in 6 much that he was call'd Peter the Cremmions. He maintain'd Was asinft powerful Princes, without Foreign Aids only by his own Valour and Conduct, was a lover of learned Men-and particularly addicted to Astrology, and Chimiltry. His Body was first bury'd at Barctions, and thence translated to Popter, as he had ordain'd. Chapter King, of Napter upon the death of Luis King of Hungary, had that Crown offer'd him by the Nobility; he went thirter, and being entertain'd at Dinner by the Queen, was murder'd by her. Order. He left'a Son and a Daughter, which were Ladiflaus and Joanna, they both reigned in Napter successively, and the one being a Child, the other unfit for Government, they were the cause of Bloody Wars in Indy. The King of Navarre had long before troubled with a Leaprously. It was commonly reported he was burnt to death, for that by the Advice of Phistians, he as do be wraped in Closeth dipth in Brimtone, on which a Spark of Fire accidentally falling, is said to have consumed the Red and Him. This was the more easily believed, Because he of the Death of him Deceased, Friend and Brother in Law to the King of Califie, inherited t of Newarra. He returned out or Capitle, and in the Cortes cause pope Cieman, to be own'd, as had been done in Capitle, for till then Newarra as well as Aragon had flood Neuter. This was thought to be done, rather to please the French and Capitlems, than out of respect to Justice. The King of Capitle to oblige the new King withdrew his Garrisons out of several Towns in Nawarra, which he held by Contract, and forgare him a great Sumin of Mony his Father, ow'd. Thus the new King was encouraged to attempt the retovery of many Towns taken from his Father in Normandy, by the French and Inglish, and tent Embalishors to them accordingly. This King was relied, liberal and generous, whence he came to be called the Mobie. By his Wife the Lady Ellemer, he had the Princell's Joannia. Mary, Rlanch, Rearist and Elizabeth; his Sons Charles and Law died Young. Illegitimate, Fodder's Marques of Certes, the Founder of that Family, and Joannia marry d to Ingle Lange. In Assess King John was Crown'd, after the death of the Stater. He was a meet K ince if not provok'd. He crown'd ould not be present at the victorinem of his Father, being then Sick at Girma, nor attend K. of Assess the Government then in Confusion, the Queen Downger, her Brother, and many Men of Note being imprison'd, they endeavoured to By for fear of the new King. The Queen was accused by a year, of having given her Husband, some bewinding Potion; I everals wet cortured and put to death, on this account, and the Queen condemn'd to the Wrack, but it was not put in Execution, yet all her Elates was first d, and she only allowed a Pension to live on The first thing the King did, was the submitting his Kingdom to Pope Clemin, as Casilis and Neware had done before. John Earl of Ampersas being at Barcelone, in Hopes to be rewarded for his Services to the new King, while Frince, was gate into Prison upon Pretence that he had call'd in the French, to recover his likeste. De Ximeno Pares de Armor the King's Lord Chamberlain, was fent to compose the Affairs of Swainia. He ag was fent to compole the Affairs of Sordinia. He agreed with the Lady Ellenor Abores, in behalf of her Son Marianus, whom the had by her Husband Brancaleon Doria. That the Judicature of Aboras flould remain to them and their Heirs. That for other Towns they pretended Right to they should be lest to Arbitration. That all Places taken during the War, should be restord. Both Parties having Sign'd these Articles, the War ceas'd.

CHAP. VII.

Peace Concluded with the English. The Heir of Castile in imitation of the Prince of Wales in England, is created Prince of Afturias: A Truce with Portugal and the Moors. King John of Castile kill'd by a fall from his Horse.

HE Treaty of Peace with the English was still afoot, and yet the War was vigorously Profecuted. 600 English Horse and as many Archers, for the rest were consum'd with Projection.

Soo Enguja Floric and as many Archers, for the reit were contain a wan seeknels, fat down before Benevieurs, which them 2000 Portuguss Horse, and 5000 Foot.

Alongo Ofore the Governour, defended the Place bravely, and did the Enemy fome Harm. The King of Casilla was unwilling to hazard a Battel, which gave the Enemy the Opportunity of taking some Towns in that Neighbourhood. Yet their Loss was greater than the Advantage, they could propose to themselves, for the Flazue, fag'd among the Foreigners, and famine consum'd them all. Therefore after two Months speat in the Siege, they setturn'd into Peringal. The Treaty of Peace drew marks to a Conclusion, therefore the King of Cullie feat back the Succours, that came to him from France. He also sent Emballadors to the Duke nability there he received the Emballadors. The Duke was at Trances, a Town in Peringal breview there he received the Emballadors. The Articles agreed upon were, That the King's Son the English and Duke's Daughter should immediately be contracted. That the Bride by way of Joynture and Cambould have Saria, Asienpa, Almagan, and Molina. That the Duke should have Socooo Flavines padd him at gertain times appointed, and accoopy yearly during his Life, and the Life of his Wife Continues. These are the Heads of that Agreement. The King of Partural from'd, not thinking himself secure as long as he of Carille reign'd. On the other side, the Duke complaind that the King had consummated the Marriage with his Daughter, before the dicomplain'd that the King had confummated the Marriage with his Daughter, before the dicomplaind that the King had confimmated the Marriage with his Daughter, before the dipenation came, and therefore from Peric, failed directly for Bayome in France. Upon his Departure, the Towns in Galicia that held for the English, submitted to their King, as did the Gentry that fided with them, having obtain'd Pardon. The King of Cashie commonly reided at Salamanic or Tow, to be at Hand upon all Occasions. He fent Emballadors to Bayonine, to ratify what had been concluded. The greatest Difficulty lay in rating the Mony, to pay the Duke of Lancaster. To this intent the Carres met at Briviles, about the bedinging of the Year 1388. To oblige his subjects the King granted all their Requests, it was essent to lay the Tax upon Estates, without exempting the Nobility or Clergy, but the great Ones opposing it, as a Breach of Privilege, other Methods were found out. After the Carres broke kings of up. the Kings of Cashie and Newwere met first at Calabora, then at Nawarent where there Cashies up, the Kings of Caffile and Navarre met first at Calaborra, then at Navarrete, where they Caffile and on, recognized to capture and avoiding the accompance the accompance of the second company, and with his meet. Consent stay din Cafile to try, whether her Country Air could cure her, as the pretended, but in reality to be parted from him, as afterwards appeared. After this interview the King of Cafile reality to be parted from him, as afterwards appear'd. After this interview the King of Caftile appointed the City of Palencia for the Cartes to meet, because the Plague was skilled Burgot. Here his Son was with great Pomp marry'd to the Duke of Langelin's Daughter. Their Ages, were not answerable, the Princes being but 10 Years of Age, the Lady Catharine 19. The eldest their otcatality of the Castile created his Son Prince of Asserting the Lordships of Bisin and Andyor, Place of Which Custom, has continued to our Days, and so we shall hereafter call the Heir of the Asparian. Crown. The chief Thing done at the Cortex, was setting how the Mony for the Duke of Lancester should be rais'd. That done, and Peace concluded, Constance the Dutches, King Peter's Daughter laying alide the Title of Queen, came in Angust to Medina add Campo, to see the Ring, who embersaind her soolly, and gave her the City Huace. Betwixt the King and the Duke rich Presents and the Duke spent her to Guadalajora, and took Possessing a very curious Crown of Gold. The Dutches went to Guadalajora, and took Possessing a very curious Crown of Gold. The Dutches went to Guadalajora, and took Possessing a very curious Crown of Gold. The Dutches went to Guadalajora, and took Possessing a very curious Crown of Gold. The Dutches went to Guadalajora, and took Possessing to the Tear 130s; The King stay dat Madrid, bither came Embassidates to him from the Duke of Lancester, desiring they might meet on the Borders of Guienne and Biscay. He fet on it in order to it, but sell sicks by the Way at Bayon, yet went on as far as Visionia, where he took leave of the Dutches, sending some Persons of Note to bear her Company, and explice, him to her Husband, on acceptive of his Indisposition. In reality he fear'd meeting the Duke, if the Bouke, or break with France. The Duke thus disappointed, communicated his Design to the Embassacous to take him of from siding with the French, and he was unwilling to disoblige the Duke, or break with France. The Duke thus disappoin appointed the City of Palencia, for the Cortes to meet, because the Plague was still at Burgos. Here with success, and resort dies continue the state, and invale content, yet by the industry of R. Ferdimand the flesses, one of the Embassackers, he agreed to a Truce for 6. Months. On the 15th of Ottobr dyd, at Reme, Pope Orban the Virb. In his place the Cardinals of that faction, foon chose the Cardinal Peter Tomorello of Naples, who was called Boniface the IX. No on, 1001 Choic the Carginal, seen a smarten of Avaptes, who was call a longitude the Line of the Truce expired, but the Portugues fat before Tay, a City in Galifia, plundering all the Country about it. The King of Calific was affected to magnet a Battel, but lent the Arch-bishop of Toledo, and Matter of Alcantas, to carry Rollef to the beliegid. They came when the City was taken, but lost not their Labour, for they concluded a Trace for 6. Years spon Condition Tsy and all other Towns taken, during the War, should be reford, on, both sides. The Year 1390 was very remarkable in Castile for the Cotter then as 1390. If the Cotter then as 1390, and the important shall sim them, debated. First, the King offerd to refign the act othe Crown to his Son the Frince, hoping that done, the Porngueses would easily admit so fais course of Wife's Title. Neither the Nobility nor Commons would upon any account content to it. Castile. Describe the Prince was mades Am. Navy is were considered under the day of the those because the Prince was under Age. Next it was consider'd what should be done with those who during the War, had deferted the King. A general Pardon was decreed for all excepting only the Earl of Gijon, who had often relaps d, and was still a Prisoner, and doubtless the K. if he

GhabXVald.

A Course of Act. This wo

306

durft, would have made an end of them. It was enacted that the fliggions in hould furnish a furnicate Sum of Mony to pay the Rahding Forces, which then not no liveupon Diferction, and rain the Farmeta, To this purpose a Reform of Mar Trotop was manking to that only acco. Men. Armis, i yoo light Horfe, and too' Arthers which left on Foot, who were to be ready upon all Ocaffons, and live, from their Pay, All, Subjectives forbid for viga my forcing rivines, which was afterwards firstly objerted. —The Foots 1876 to give Benefited in Spide to Footsgivers, where it followed that thois Renfelces were englishered and the Natives wholly neglected Learning. It was therefore made a Requelly difference of the Common, that he would remedy that Abule. Bendes the great Men in the Times of Montagion that foreign difference in the Priests as they plead, allowing themfand! Stipends, and Rept to themselves all the refl of the Profits. The Billiops of Bargo and Calabora, who were most concernid thinging for Redricts, and the King favour'd them, but feeling thois great Men concernid upported it, he would proceed no further, fearing to Guillinghe them more than he had done by a Decree which allow all values of Louds to appell fresh their Courty to the King. Molecular training the plant of Louds to appell fresh their Courty to the King. Molecular training to the thing the Landon of Louds to appell fresh their Courty to the King. Molecular training the head cheer Thoughts in his Heiric a supplement of the plant of the Molecular training the head cheer Thoughts in his Heiric a supplement of the Molecular training training the Molecular training the Mol durit would have made an end of them! It was enacted that the Ringdom should furhish a fur-

you so more remained to the first first first first for the party country of the second of the secon

CHAP, VIII.

John Wide of African upon Complaint his Subjetts complies with their Demands.
Tractions of his Traigh into Aragons, Henry the IIIA proclaimed King of Castille.
The girm of Government appointed there during his Minarity.

John the first, the new King of Anti-acted nothing like his Father, who was an active qualities and amothing on the first and amothing again to Dominions. King fish was meek and af- of fing fable, sulgisproyacking more inclined to the East than warline Affairs. He loved Hawking, form of Huntings in Monick, and Poetry, and all things that represent Grandenty so that the Revenue was no small for his Expence. The Queen was in all things like her Husband, so that the Court was fall of Footings. Balls and Eleature. Great Rewards were given to Poets, and so fond was the King, of them, that he sent an Embassy into France only to have some choice ones tent. him. Inc. Nobellity of Angon offended at the King's Extravagancy, mer at Calalana, at the same tipps the Corres sat an Adongon. They sent their Complaints in Writing to the Corres, which was received by a Woman. This was meant of Dr. Caropa de Milliergin Favourité to the Queen, who entirely sulf the King. Mellages passed to and fro, and at length the King being dam east Nature, comply d with their Demands, retreach d his Expences, set, put Proclamation for restraining the Disorders of the People, baissing that Lady, and for but the Queen intermedling, in the Government. Thus those Disontents were broken into the Queen intermedling in the Government. Thus those Disontents were layed, when the finds a War feem'd to thereath from France, Bernard May Armiting French brokes into Casalana, with a Body of Breton, yet made more Noise than he did hairs. Soon invades the same and the same and the contractions. Soon invades the same and the sa lay de graphen at the fame time a War feem d to threaten from, France, Bernard and Arminine French broke hitto Catalonia, with a Body of Breton, yet made more Noise than he did harm. Soon invade after the was followed by his Brother, the Earl, of Armetina with greater Forces! Tomick a Tagon. Catalonian killforian writes he had 18000 Horfe; a fallhood which yet thews their Nouther was great. Therewashe cause to make War, but the define of Robbing. They burnt fome Towns, and farms, and carry'd away a great Number of Prifoners and Cattle. This missing the farms, and carry'd away a great Number of Prifoners and Cattle. This missing the farms of the priority of Ampunia, and Girman. The Forces of Ampunia femble and had several Rancounters with them: In one, Bernard de Coheria or while we 8 Companies of French near New year. In another, Raymonk Bases, page Companies Companies of French near Neware. In another, Raymund Bags near Cevaria overniew is good Body of them, and took their Commander call'd Martin. The King fet our from Girean to oppose, them, but they return d into France by the way of English, where they did much harm. The King of Magon had kird up Arigore of Awarga to make War upon the much harm. The King of Argon had ftird up Argore of Awvergne to make War upon the Lands of Armagona, which moved the Earl to return to defend his own. Luis the Son of Line Philes of Modes, and fill'd himfelf King of Hernfaton and Scholler, Who day in the Conquest of Modes, and fill'd himfelf King of Hernfaton and Scholler, the Daughter of the King of Argon at Barcelona. The end of this Match was that the Argonian should affish his Son in Law in the Conquest of Mapter. D. Martin, Lord of Exercise the King of Argore shephers, as being the Son of his Brother Martin, with the King's Confent marry'd Mary Queen of Sicily, the Pope also agreeing to it becapite thee King's Confent marry'd Mary Queen of Sicily, the Pope also agreeing to it becapite thee King's Law in the Pardon he had received took up Arma again at the beginning of the Year 1301, on pretence of afferting the Peoples Libertees. With this appealons pretence he drew to his ide the Geneles, and many of the substance of the Church of the Single Sing Clament created Martin Bishop of Pamplona Gardinal, who was the first of those Prelates that manding falt that has stants in the usual to go over to decide a seat this sume times super clauses. Created Mexics ships of the Arch-biftop of The Origins of the Arch-biftop of The Origins of the Arch-biftop of The Origins of the Arch-biftop of The Mexics and the Arch-biftop of the Arch-biftop of the Arch-biftop of the Arch-biftop of the Mexics and the Arch-biftop of the Mexics and the Arch-biftop of the Righ Female, was then at Courts Many courted her, and among them her Coulin the Duke of Benavente; but Prince Ferdinand was preferred before him, and they were Contracted, yet so that the Match should not go sorwards till the King was 4 Years of Age. This was that in case the King dy'd before that Age, the Prince might marry Queen Cashvine, the Duke of Lancespay' Daughter as had been agreed. The Bride Wore to the Contract, being 16 Years of Age, but the Prince was too young to sweeting they had the Carter were about setting the Government of the Prince was too young to sweeting they had the Carter were about setting the Government of the Prince was too young to sweeting that the late King had made a Will.

8. Fand of This Will being shand and read, raisy days variety of Opinions. This was to grave of Age, Do the State of Age, Do the Stat

C'HAP. IX.

The Contentions between the Nobility of Castile about the Government: They agree on a Settlement; then after it. The Affairing the Moore at Granada. Warrenew'd with Portugal. King Charles the Vish of France runs distrated.

Strife a. T. Was the Custom of the States of the Kingdom to meet in a certain Church of Madrid.

The Duke of Bensowne and Earl of Traftamana came arm'd into that Assembly, leaving of Casilia.

Guardar about the Church, as if it were besige'd. The Arch-bishop of Traftawara, from which place by his Letters he stirr'd sprite People, to rife in Arms and deliver the Kingdom, from those who under the Title of Governours were become Tyrants. These same Complaints he sent to Form Minimal, and to the Kingstof Strawe, and Aragon. Soon after the Duke of Bensyone beat Militarited withdraw to his Town of Bensyone, without taking his leave of the King. He was a straight for the same archabiling of Talesh, and the Marrout de Wilman, the then he ently joyn'd with the Arch-bishop of Toled, and the Marques de Villena, tho then abpresents point with the Arabibility of Totals, and the marques as vision, the time and then there is no considered with the meaning of the Governours feat abroad their Letters, requiring all fuch as were Menthers to be prefent at the Corest They excurd themselves up there accounts. Pope Comme feat F. Dominick of the Order of Freachers, and the property of the Corest of the Corest They excurd the property of the Corest of the Corest They excurd the core of the Corest of the fent, being out of Cafrile fided with them. Those that remain'd of the Governours fent were affigued him tearty for the prefeir, with a promile of the Place, in cale the Marques would note comply. "Destinate their frightlord, there loyed with the Arch-bifliop of Toledo, the Maffeer of Medical and Tames Mandages from whom the Dukes del Infamade are descended. They gather it 150 Place, and 3500 Per With this Force they march? to Maddelid, white the King was, and encounty of the talks of the River Pilate 3/2 black runs they that City and from after full that the two patters to have a Conference. Deputies met accordingly at the Town of Perales. This is a conference. Deputies met accordingly at the Town of Perales. This is grown will ought up be valid or not. The Arch-bifliop of Samiage dominingly defining of failing to the Arch-bifliop of Samiage dominingly defining the dead of third of Toledo, whether he flould have that Will allowed in all its Articles. He of Toledo made some hestation, fearing to be entrapped, and particularly to disputie the Duke of Bandenie, who so not named in it. As last he answerd crastily, he would provided the Duke of Bandenie, the Earl of Trassamera, and the Master of Samiage in the the against their Wills, as fearing to provoke shock great a public Peace. "The other party to against their Wills, as fearing to provoke shock great a mance or commune ingue resugges to the number of Governours, it being fo requisit for the publick Peace. The other Party the against their Wills, as fearing to provoke those great They and then Wills, as fearing to provoke those great They and then Wills, as fearing to provoke those great They and then they are the will will be a fear to the those of the time.

Thus those communities the will be that time.

By this new extrement the Arch-bishop of Toledo became so powerful, it was fear'd he TheCones alone would sway more than all the rest in the Congruence. Therefore the Arch-bishop of fettle the some would have been a reasonable to be a reasonable to be received the Releasing of the Residence of the Early of Government, that he imight be a real to the Other. Accordingly, they took him out of Prison men. and Probleth him to 'Kite the King's Eland, who order a lim to be reflored to his Efface. The Operation are at Barry of Manda been agreed. The fettlement made, being brought The third inter at Bury and Than been agreed. The fettlement made, being brought upon the Stage, the Arch-biffop of Santingo faid hel-would not fland to it, millefs the Earl of Gijan were admitted as well as the other three Molleingo, fince he was inferiour to none of them for Birth, or Effate. It troubled the Arch-biffopport flated to be taken in his own State, and the Cafe came to be hotly debated, fo that to prevate further Michief, it was confunded to by both Parties, that it should be left to Arbitration. D. Ganzalo Bishop of Secolis, and Mou Matinet, both well vere a in the Civil and Canon Law, were appointed, didges: They could not agree, but continued divided the beginning of the Year 1392, when at last it was decreed the Earl should be admitted. The management of the Revenue was distributed among them, and it was ordered that five should govern one half of the Year, and five the other. This fettlement it was hopd would end all debates, but it was sono broken by an Accident. Two of the Duke of Benevonts's Servants hilled one belonging to the Earl of Schwill as was infinitely that the well of the min agent of the Carl of Schwill as was infinitely to their Matter. Order, whereuson looking on him as broken by an Accident. Two of the Duke of Bendenth's Servants filld one belonging to the Earl of Chion, as was suffected by their Madlette Order, whereupon looking on him as Flerce, and Ill Frincipi'd, the Cores alter a life form of Government, and ordain'd that the King's Will should be fulfill'dly yet to that till the theory of Government, and Count Nobla being fent for by the King, came to Court, the Archibigo of Tabels should alter for them, and have 3 Votes among the Governours. Two Millions of Managuadies were allowed the Duke of Bena-fent for by the King, came to Court, the Arch-billion of Totale should act for them, and have 3 Votes among the Governours. Two Millions of Manuslain were allow'd the Duke of Bennoumen and Earl of Gioba yearly, during their Lives, in lieuwid the Government. Besides, it was granted to the Arch-bishop, that he alone should have the Management of half the Revenue. The trace with Portugal was upon expiring, and it was no time to renew the War. The King, being in his Minority, and the Kingdom exhausted, Emballadors were feat to renew and prolong the Truce. Them Month de Gournan Early of Niebla, left his House to arctend the Government, whereupon ensired a great Mutiny at Sevil. James Hurrade de Man-A Musiny desse being great with the King, affoir'd to be made Admiral, which could not be discount without should not he store the Government, who had some time been in possible on the store without should not the Lord of Niebla shour of the new Pretender, whereupon it should not he pointing the Truce. The Duke of Bendevine being ill look'd upon at Court; and deptived of the Government, withdraw to his Mates, and it was reported he held intelligence with Parties of and had agreed to marry thinking Bellard-daughter. Bendeville he office the Lady Elletion de Albudgraus, and mild of the might have her, to break off the office Match. The Government withdraw to his Mates, and it was reported he held intelligence with Parties, it and had agreed to marry thinking the Hard-daughter. Bendeville him of the Lady Elletio de Albudgraus, and mild of the might have her, to break off the office Match. The Governous confloring the three office of the Match. The Governous confloring the batte of Affairs, consented and appointed the place for celebrating the Marriage and mild if he might have her, to break off the office Match. The Governous confloring the Batte of Affairs, consented, and one first the Match of the Confloring the took the Field was the Duke of Busyant, who, with the Horle, and a great number of Foot incarnyal near People, a Town set for Some manine City, was the first was bredged and respectively. A Grande the Advantage manine City, was the beginning of this year King Manney, algary, a Friend to the Christians, de de His Son Was titted the many Chaiffans duffing his Father's Life. The alg Goodness was paradically him. He had four Sons Jajan, Manney, he had four Sons Jajan, Manney, Helian, and Honge, Advances was indicated and having no choese of obtaining the Crown by fair means, with Craft, giving our time as father was a Moor only in Name, but in his Actions a Christian. Man supon this Account lided with him, and smoog the Ears. An Embaliador of the King of Manney, his was there at that time, interpoold, and he Advantage might then be made upon the Christians if they were united. This he did so effectually, that all the Rebels were pacing, and Advance, promise to full himself to his Father. After this they gathered 700 forse, and joe foot, and carryed away many Captives. Mong Rejardo the Lieutenant of that Country purish them with many, and yaptives. Mong Rejardo the Lieutenant of that Country purish them with many, and Incurion into the Kingdom of Murcia, took a great Booty of Gattle, and carry'd away many Captives. Monfo Espando the Lieutenant of that Country puriod them withouty too Horfe, yet charg'd them fo furious, and fortunately, that he routed them, killed many, and recovered the Prey. Thus Spain was deliver'd of a great Danger that threatened on that ide, which was fifth that the King of Argam willing as leafly concerned, that he king he might be the more at leafure to oppose the Moore, lay'd up a greatfleet he had fitted out against. Brancasen, Deria, who again revolted in Sordina. This Defeat to terrify'd the Moore that they fout to beg a Truce of the King of Cafile, which was easily granted, in regard to the War that was expected with Paragad. The Paragad King was puffed up within Success feeing himself so fetted in the Throne, and having in the space of four Years, as many. Sons by his Wife, the K. John of Lady Bhilipps. The if was in the space of the 14th Honry, Duke of Vifes, and Madres of his lifes.

In the other of Christ, and much given to the Study of Albrology, by the help of which; and the greatness of his Spirit, he first attempted to Goal along the valt and unknowing shore of Africa, by that means opening the way to those, who start him discovered the remost Sponthies of the East, to the great Honour and Profit of the Paragas Nation, as shall be shown in its place. This King of France, ran diffracted. The Conflate of France was murder'd by a Contennan, who infinediately field to the Duke of Brismy. This Action, so, larged the Kings, that because the Duke refus to deliver up the Murderer, he march dagainshim in Person, and one day, being upon his March at Noon when the Heat was molt violent, he fuldenly drew his Swood kill'd with that were next him, and wounded snotter, a range in Person, and one day, being upon his March at Noon when the Heat was molt violent, he fuldenly drew his Swood kill'd with that were next him, and wounded snotter, ranging in that distracted manner till he full from his Horfe. He because born in the English Colours.

CHAP. X

The Devisions among the Nobility of Castile continue. A Truce beswint Castile and Truce of the Nobility of Castile at length passify d. Sicily brought un-

THE oblinacy of the Duke of Benguent, troubled all Calife, especially, those who had the Charge of the Government. They were desirous of appealing him, but could find no means to effect it. The Arch-bishop of Totale who labour dail ways for the Publick, refolked, to undertake another lourney to Treat with him. He hopd by his Authority and offering, more advantagious Ferms, to contine him. At the beginning, of the Year 1393 they met. He perfunded him to proceed downly in his Markh, with Portugue, and see yield they met. He perfunded him to proceed downly in his Markh, with Portugue, and see yield they met. He perfunded him to proceed downly in his Markh with Portugue, and see yield they met. He perfunded him to proceed downly in his harkh with Portugue, and see year they then the Truce which was again in Aguadhen was concluded. It could not hopfand of him to dishard his Forects and return to Court. His Excuse was that he had anny powerful Brennies at Court, and could not be fast during the king's Minority, besides that it was not becoming a Person of his Rank, to appear at Court without any Polt. He Archbishop departed from him at such time as the Language was not becoming a Person of his Rank, to appear at Court without any Polt. He Archbishop departed from him at such time as the Language was not him, gooder to deliver that Language was the second time in danger of being between the process of the Society of the Archbishop of Person, and Totales, with his Markhis Forger Came up in Ingist of the City, relying his the Promites of the Governous such as Society of the Cards. This Man was was diobling it for that this Bobbs by this last Will desprive him where they deed double princes Steward and for this Reafon he herrayd the Oarth. There is the princes steward and for this Reafon he herrayd the Oarth. There is the princes of the princes was disputed because he that for the princes of the princes was disputed because he that for the princes of the princes was disputed because he that for the princes of the

The Joy conceiv'd by all Caffile, for the Truce concluded with Portugal was much aba- Arch bited by the Imprilonment of the Arch-biling of Toledo. That Prelate acted for the Duke floop of Benevente, and endeavour d to have John de Velafea Chamberlain to the King, reflord Toledon and the Company of the Compan to part of his Pension, cut off by the late King's Will. Tho he labour'd much, yet he die king will are the part of his Pension, cut off by the late King's Will. Tho he labour'd much, yet he the king could not prevail, and therefore in a Passion resolv'd to withdraw from the Court. It was fear'd by the other Governours that his Absence might cause new Discord, he being very Powerful, Haughty, and Ambitious. A Confultation being had before the King upon this matter, it was agreed to arrell him, which was accordingly executed together with his Friend youn de Velajoo in the Palace. This Gentleman was confidentable of the felf, and had not long before the Town of Villalpando in Dower with his Wife. His Father was Peter Hernandez, de Velasco, who dy'd with many more at the Siege of Lisbon, and was the Founder of the Noble Family in which the Honour of Constable of Castile continues was the Founder of the Noble Falling in which the Honord Contained of Contained to this Day. D. Peter de Caftilla, Bishop of Osma, and John Abbot of Figles, two great friends of the Arch-bishop were also apprehended. It was look'd upon as a great diffessive to apprehend such eminent Churchmen, but the pretence of the publick Good excus'd it. Zamora, Palencia and Salamança were put under an Interdict, the King and all the Nobles concern'd were excommunicated. But the Prisoners were soon releas'd, givthe Nobles concern'd were excommunicated. But the Priloners were loon releas'd, giving Sureties. The Archbishop gave four chis Kindred as Hostages, and put his Towns of Talaviera and Aleals into a third Hand. John de Velasco deliver'd the Castle of Soria, which he held for the King. Absolution from Ecclesiatical Censures was begged of the Pope, which he impower'd his Nuncio Dominick, Bishop of S. Ponec, and of Albi in France, to grant. The King in the Cathedral of Burges on his Knees swore to be obedient to the Churth, and make Satisfaction to the Arch-Bishop, restoring him his Towns, another was absolved on the 4th of July. The Interdict was taken off, and to make this Joy the Nobility more compleat, the Duke of Renaments through the good Management of the Arch-Bishop of Casille. more compleat, the Duke of Benavente through the good Management of the Arch-biftop of Caffile of Santiago, who did all, disbanded his Forces, and fubmitted to the King. In lieu of the cird. Portion, he was to have from Portugal he was allowed 60000 Florins, and to have liberty to marry where he pleas'd, except in Portugal. Besides a Pension was sett'd upon him, and then he came to Court without demanding any Security for his Person. The King received him with Affection, and as foot as he took the Government upon himfelf, treated him with great Respect. Thus the Kingdom began to breath after so many Troubles. This Action gain'd the Arch-bishop of Santiago great Reputation, but his Satisfaction was not lafting, for foon after the King took upon him the Government, and the Arch-bishop of Toledo being taken into Favour his Interest declind. The English rethe Arch-dinop of 10140 delig taken into rayour his interest decline. The Engils Tendro'd to the King of Navarre the Town of Cherkoning in Namandy, which had been Mortgagd to them for a Sum of Money. Martin de Lacarra was made Governour of that Place. The Marriage of D. Martin of Aragon, with the Queen. of Sicily, was at length confinimated, the King of Aragon, and the Pope confering to it, as has been hinted before. In Sicily the Barons, continued in Rebellion, and had fecured a great part of the Island. No hopes remain'd of reducing them by fair means. Therefore the King and Siely requent, with the Duke of Monblane the King's Father, went over with a good Fleet to due'd unfibdue the Rebels. At first the Aragonians were successful, but afterwards the Tor-der the tune of War was so chang'd, that the King and Queen were forc'd into the Castle of of Aragonians, and there besseg'd. D. Bernard de Cabrera, a Man then of great Note had been - 24 upon that Expedition, but return'd into Aragon being appainted Admiral of a fleet that King had fitted out to fubdue Socialise. This Gentleman knowing what had happen'd in Sicily, refolv'd to remedy it. He gather'd a good Body of Catalonians and Cofems, and for their Pay mortgag'd all his Eftate. He fet fail, and landed in Sicily, when all was reduced to Extremity. By the Conduct the Success was from changed, for in feveral Rencounters he overthrew the Espeny, by which in the state of Aragon, as it has ever fince continued to this Day, and in all Probability is like to continue much longer.

. . . . 66

1. 14

The End of the Eighteenth Book.

THE

HIGSTOFS PAIN.

de ben, i ensprintencer december

The Nineteenth BOOK.

C H A P. 1.

King Henry takes upon him the Government. The Cortes at Madrid. Discontents among the Nobility. The death of the Master of Alcantara. The Biscainers invade the Canary Islands; The Plague at Madrid.

Canary Islands; The Pieges at Madrid;

was at length somewhat Calm. All K. Berry these Confusions proceeded from the many Hands employ d in the Government on the Confusions proceeded from the many Hands employ d in the Government of the Michael of the Confusions proceeded from the many Hands employ d in the Government of the Administration of his Affairs, tho as yet he wanted two Months of 14 Years of Age; remnent plus of the Indian May have the King and the Confusion of the Government. At the beginning of Angalf, the King affembled the Nobility and Prelates, in the Monastery of Hubigus, where the Kings of Cassis us to be Grown'd. There he spoke to the whole Assembly, inguirying that he now took upon him the Government, praying to God it might be for the Good of the Kingsdom; that he desired they would help his Youth with their Astrocky and that he there were the Kingsdom; that he can't be the man the Corement. All the Commons agained as Noblemen and Prelates applauded his Resolution with great expressions had behaved themselves in their Charge. To this the King answerd, He man well fairly 4 of him Hubigus, and would shave make the Governours of him Hubigus, and would shave make the Governours of their Hubigus, and would shave make the Governours of the Fusions, and the Popes the Hubigus, and the Resolution with great expressions had behaved themselves in their Charge. To this the King answerd, He man well fairly 4 of him Hubigus, and would have make the fairly the Governours in the Coremon of the proposite of the Carter were again funnound to extend the Fusion of the Carter were again funnound to use there Enwer, as before. This Affair was now again debated, in the Governation of the Kings, yet to thing could be determind for the Popes ontinued to use there Enwer, as before. This Affair was now again debated, in the Governation to meet at Mudatia. Magan while at the earnest required to the Biseaner, the new King went in Person to take possession of the Kings yet to thing could be determind for the propension o sels, and Riches of those Hands, and the Profit might be made of them if conquer'd, as afterwards, they were.

Mean while the Corres met at Madrid, and the King repair'd thittier in November. The Cortes first day of the Sellion in few Words, he told them the had good Examples of his Progenitors meet at to govern by what during his Minority, evil Differed had almost ruin of the Nation, and he Madrid, design diwith their Advice to remedy those Differed had almost ruin of the Nation, and he Madrid, design diwith their Advice to remedy those Differed had almost ruin of the Nation, and he Madrid, design diwith their Advice to remedy those Differed had almost ruin of the Nation, and he Madrid, design diwith their Advice to remedy the behald, or the Gram's made in his Nonage vacated. His would fram'd Speech was pleasing to them all, the they perceived use only spoke what his Favourites had publicages Mouth, and many were offended they were not in the same Pols. The Men most in the King's wifer were. John Hydrady de Mandre, Lord Steward of the Houshold, James Lopez de James, chief justice, and key Lopez, Davado, Lord Chamberlain. They, agreed among, themselves, a thing rare among Court Favourites. Their chief, Aim was to curb the King's tender Years, to take care of the Government, and to protect the weaker against the great Ones. When in the Commons answer d, the People were so exhausted they could bear no more Taxes, yet they

Chap blook

they would grant the 20th Penny of all Merchandizé, and it were requisite to lessen the Number of standing Forces, or at least their Page 31 also to Retrench the Pensions of great Men. This was look of upon as the bearing and all Pensions granted during the King's Minority were strick out of his Books. Many's goncernd, in private referred this Reform, but in publick all Men spoke well-aft. After his the King besigning at age, was marry'd to Open Caberine. A spoke well-aft. After his the King besigning at age, was marry'd to Open Caberine. A spoke well-aft. After his the King besigning at age, was marry'd to Open Caberine. At spoke well-aft. After his the King besigning at a spoke of the spoke of th efteemid for having obtaind it without huking any Interest for it. Besides he was honoured and fear dry his Adversaries, and the orien undermin'd by them; yet he always triumph'd over all their Contrivances in the end.

Discontraines in the end.

It was grievous to the great Ones to have their Pensions retrench'd, and therefore some them are also Tunults in old Casille. The Duke of Benavine went away from Madridin'in Pession and feiz'd upon the King's and Church's Revenues wherever he could. Garxi Gençalir. Nobility of Casille. Here he Magshal was sent to reduce him by fair means. He had also order to the reduce to the fair of Gissa and Trassmera, who designd to join their Forces on the sine score. The Duke of Bensevine unswered, he had left the Court because he could not endure to fee Men raised from nothing to that all the Power, and would not return hilles the Children of the titlee Favouriets, were given him as Holzages. Much to the same partyole was the answer of the other Munimise. He had left the Court because by the Ring to order the Archbishop of Samides to Court, for it was subjected he held Corressionated with the others. He answer to the Ring to retrin him to come to Court while his was there. The King of Nauver understanding the Constitutions of Casille thought this avec of Doportunity to recover his Wife. His Embassidors proposed their Busines to the King of Casille at Meda de Hemmer, yet the the King was displested with the Opeen, he would not use any force towards her, the excusing her felf as such add one before. Then the Embassidors proposed at least that the counting her is the True sign by certain Robbenen who had refused to sign before. These the Embassidors proposed at least that the counting the Teles and the Party of the Mense said he whuld not sign because the Madries of the True sign by certain Robbenen who had refused to sign before. The few was the Madries of the True sign by certain Robbenen who had refused to sign because the had no hand in the Treaty. He of Gisp before he sign, de he was killdswith all his Men, none offering to turn his Back. With the Moore Primillion the Body of ather Mafter was convey'd together was and there bury'd in the Cathedral with this inforitrion on the libraribe which he had assleyed to be carried himself. Here in his information the libraribe with the land of the libraribe was conveyed to the land of the converted himself, and the white he will be an active of the land o

Another Rebellion in Califle guilt d by the King. Pore Clement dyes, and Benedict the XIIIth is elected, which continues the Signature of the strange Death of John King of Aragonal this padaptives the sur

THE Nobility of Old College water differentiated, and analysis of Men, on presence of Rebellion Treating the King protection, and the second of the second o mor and of the many to affire that was designed again that the Queen, went away from Court to Ros. where the was to affire her that no Violence the unit be offer dher . His Departure troubled where the was rotains her that no Violence though be offered her a. His Departure troubled the King, fearing they Thributs and the more from that it was fulpected he had communicated his Deligns with the Bankerin Submerns, who was therefore lent for to Court, and being come was arrested and fecuration though the first her forces he had prepared, against the farl of Gigen marched heldly to Row. The Earl field in time to Galician, Jhe Queen understanding the Freis Danger the was in went out with her children in Mourning to appear to the King, and ex-Trouble Danger the was in went out with her children in Mourning to appear to the King, and ex-Trouble being the freis daying the had not faind in the Earls of Gape, and could do no left than receive in cettle her Brother; who came to comforther. These Excutes fermides latisfy the King, yet he fecured the Town, leaving the put the Revenue, and carryly heaving the had the might to they. Mean while the Earl of Gign for this himself in that Place, and the King march dipeedily for Alluria. He took the City Oviedo, which held for the Earl, and then advanced, and incompeded for the first many the force, because of its natural Strangth; and the Coldings of the Season, and Sickness in the Army would not allow to lye long before it. Wet the Lapon was not quite loft, for the Earl of Trafamara submitted, was pardon't and came to the Camp. It was also

Chap. III.

consignated betwirst the King and the Earl of Given, that the King flood put Garriffons into all Toward file in Hatter, except only that a singlement the Barl infound appear in Perfon be, for the King of Former, who by both Part of the singlement the Barl infound appear in Perfon be, for the King of Former, who by both Part of the singlement the Barl infound appear in Perfon be, for the King of Barl delivery in the Barl of the State of the Sta

A Second Second

The Queen of Navalting eners to his Tubands. The Earl of Faux invades Aragon.
The Was being the saile and Postugal renewed. Joseph King of Granada dies.
Mahomet his 2d San afarps. The Gueen ever into Burope.

Mahomet his 26 Mar alury. They was a super over two Bittope.

Till, Kingdom of Angen labour a Under the Apprehentions of a War, and all the Company of the State of the State

Chap. IV

The History of Soma I'N

fülduld the Rebels in Scrily refolved to return into Sain. By the way be touched in Sardmin, and pacify that Bland, and thence went untherly the following the foreign of the Company of t

CHAP. IV.

Two Francisches research as the Moore of Granada fuffer Margellow. The Truce with Portugal research Two grees Players in Spain and France. The Year of Jubiles 1406.

Programment of the Programment o

330

The Hillory of SPRAN. Book XIX.

Formule as from France. The Baffard of Tarder pulling the Pyreuran Mountains, possessed himself of the pulling the Register of the Pyreuran Mountains, possessed the pulling of the Pyreuran Mountains, possessed the Register of the Pyreuran Street North Control of the Pyreuran Street St France. The Bastard of Tardes passing the Pyrenean Mountains, possessed himself of control of the contro

he Delay of the Sicily. Of Pamerlan and Bajazet: Hope Benedict again received in Canta of the King of Cattile has a Son born. Pope Boniface dies. Innocent the VIII shoft at Ro

THE Lady Country Daughter to John King of Angon, was during her Pather's Life conDaughter to the English Singles as was fast before. Her Martiage was delay'd, because to the first supplier as the solution of the Martiage was delay'd, because to the first supplier and her supplier to the first supplier. So was no bly Good Delay any claim to the Grown of Angero in her Right. This maryed one has was no bly Good Delay any claim to the Grown of Angero in her Right. This maryed the Kingger Gelise allembled the Cores at Tordessillar, where many good Laws were ended, particularly to restrain the Avarice of the Farmers of the Revenue and Officers of Julice. In the Mother and Angero Laws were the Angero of Siely dy'd at Camene, as was thought of Grief for the war of on Death of her Son, who ended his Days at the Anger of Flood remain'd King, and all the Nobility sim discharacy their Daughters were buryed is that Gity. However her the first of Blood remain'd King, and all the Nobility sim discharacy their Daughters were buryed in that Gity. However, who afterwards inherited her Father's Kingdom. The Kings of Angers and Algebra, but her Departure and Marriage was in the Year 1402.

In Nagember the same Year the Queen of Calife was deliyed of a Daughter call'd Mary, who was afterwards marry'd to her Coulin German Motof King of Anger and Kappy, who was afterwards marry'd to the Coulin German Motof King of Anger and Kappy, who was afterwards marry'd to the Fernis and Hungarians at Nicopolis, Bajes to Emperor of the Teck Tomotom.

was afterwards marry'd to her Coulin German Alonje King of Aragin and Marijes, but they had no lifue, for the provid Barren, After the Defeat of the French and Hungarians at Nicopolis, Bajaces Emperor of the Turks Tamestan lay'd Siege to Confirmingles. At the same time Gamestan the Turks with an incredible Army as the reason is reported of Accocce House, and Goocoo Foots overriff all the Last. His Coulom was when he say they were red, to demote her would fined the History of Mercy, the feeded Day they were, red, to demote her would fined the History of the Linabitants, and the third black, which figure the Last Poolisation of the Place. It happend the City Benyme did not furreader, before the feeded Day, and then fent out their Women and Children cloudy did not furreader, before the feeded Day, and then fent out their Women and Children Coulombia the with Boughs in their Hands to appeale him, but he nothing moved caused his Horse to trample them to Death. A Geocofe who followed his Camp took the Boldness upon this Occasions to put him in this de was Man, and he with a furious. Counternance answered. Dot thou think I am a Man'l I am no flich, I am the Sounge of God, and Plague of Mankind. Bajaca feeing all Life was in danger of being Iost, raised the Siege, of Confiamingle, and packed were into Also. On that part of Mount Taura cally Sellas they came to a Battle, and after, a model being the force back, and feeding him like a Dog with bits thrown from his Table. King Henry of Castile, though fickly, attended the Affairs of the Government, and fent Embassies to all parts; and particularly to the Layant he served the Arasia and Instituted to Spain fent along with them an Emballador of his given to settle feede and Unity with the remotes to Spain fent along with them an Emballador of his given to settle feede and Unity with the remotes to Spain fent along with them an Emballador of his given to settle feede and Unity with the remotes to Spain fent along with the man Emballador of his given to settle feede and Unity Spanish Embassadors, who writ a Journal of that Embassy, which is still Extant. Tomerlon's of casile. Spanifi Emballadors, who writs Journal of that Embally, which is still Extage. Tameland of one of Glory was not lasting. At his return home he built a beautiful City which he called Marami. He left two Sons, who differing about he inheritance tore in the called Maramish of the Left two Sons, who differing about he lander inner to left the Empire muchas'd by their Eather. This Year was unhappy to the Portugules and Newarous, for the Heirs of both Kingdoms dy'd. D. Magic ellest Son to the King of Portugules and Newarous, for the Heirs of both Kingdoms dy'd. D. Magic ellest Son to the King of Portugules was but 1.2 Kears of Age. He was bury dia, the Carbinal of Ragan. This Loss was the more tolerable, for that there were leveral Brothers' before, as the Princes Edward, Peters, Managa, and Fredinand, and two Sisters, Blanch and Ellestebth. At Paintona dy'd the Princes Charles 4, Years, and My, but 6 Months of Salestebth. At Paintona dy'd the Princes Charles 4, Years, and Lipu, but 6 Months of Salestebth. This Waspar at the end of the prefent Year, and beginning of that of our Lord 1403, the Rains were 16 great in Spain that most Rivers over-flowd, doing great harm, Perticularly Guadalquiver well'd, above the Waspar's sever-floods. The Six Machael. Munio Perez, then Governour, by his Industry prevented much Milchief that might have been done. The See of Paledo was vacant fings the came as far as the Church of St. Michael. Anomo Perez, then Governour, by his industry prevented much Milchief that might have been done. The See of Faledo was vacant find the Death of the late. Archbillopy, D. Peter Tangio. This was caus'd by the Differon between the Popes, for Caftile had in fuch manner different a Pope Benedit, that it did not fubrill to the other. To repredy this Poil the Cortes alignfulfed at Valadolid. Thither the draftman Emballadors repair d in favour of Pope America, who after he had continued two Vearsat Anignon, in the nature of a Prisoner, made his escape in a Disguise down the River Rosne. His Interest was to well managed by the King of Angel Interest was so well managed by the King of Angel Interest was so well managed by the King, Nobility and Palergy, The same was done in France on the 26 of May, but this was not lasting. France, by virtual matties Submission, Pope Benedit, as he had designed two Years before, gave the Arc and trick of Take to De Benedit, as he had designed two Years before, gave the Arc and trick of Take to De Benedit, as he had designed two Years before, gave the Arc and trick of Take to De Benedit was which aware to sellow, a Town in Promete, by reach of other Palary. Bope Benedit was which aware to sellow, a Town in Promete, by reach of other Palary. Bope Benedit was which aware to Sellow, a Town in Promete, by reach of the Angel Cardinal's Cap to Michael de Salua his Nephew. Mathew Earl of Faunt departed this Life, and with him dych his Pretentions to the Grown of Angel Sellow in Faunt departed this Life, and with him dych his Pretentions to the Grown of Angel Sellow in Faunt departed this Life, and with him dych his Pretentions to the Grown of Angel Sellow in the Angel Sellow in the Lady Hamile in the Conflict of a Silurial and the Lady Hamile Sellow in the Sellow in the Conflict of the Sellow in the Sellow in the Conflict of the Sellow in the Sel about a Longue distant from one another, and that if Death had not prevented him he intended to joyn those two Towns by a continu'd Gallery built betwitt them. The Kings of Gabili and Grandals feering to vie with one another in fending rich Prefents; and other after of Gonzada feering to vie with one another in fending rich Prefents; and other after of Gonzada feering to the Money to Support that Prigothip, because they may be a support of his continual Middleostico. One rich leading the time it by one of his Wiley, for the Proper especially the Kings have many.

Bonifeet the Monifold Line in the Support of the Money of the Children and the Money of the Children and the Money of the Money of the Children and the Money of the Children in the Money of the Children in the Money of the Children who took the Name of Interest the Pope Support of the Children in the Childr tended to joyn those two Towns by a continu'd Gallery built betwirt them. The Kings of mennade Admiral. Miles has been the stand

CHAP

Great Comales in Aregon appear a by the Corres. A Battle between the Caltilians and the Boortes of Caltile meet at Toledo, and King Henry dies there. A

A Property this time was full of Tumules. At Property there were two Factions, the A Property there were allo two Factions, they of the Property there were also two Factions, they of the Stores, and that of the Contellar. They decided all their Differences by dainy of Sword, Milling and plunderings the Officers of The Ring affembly the Corres at Mahla, a Town in Aragon to have period to these Troubles. There many good Laws were enacted. It was also Chap, VI. The History of S.P.A.I.N.

Chap, VI.

The Hillory of S.P.A. IN.

223

ordain'd that Marin King of Sirily houldens as an date endeavour arteriated to reverte the religible person of the same as and age endeavour arteriated to reverte that Kingdom arbitrate in the manner of the same as an age of the condition of the condit

324

Chap. VII.

The History of S. R.A. N.: Book X.I.X ceived for his Death, he being a hopeful button and the Kingdom by his Death left exposed to all the Calamities that generally, and an activate the kingdom by his Death left exposed to all the calamities that generally, and an activate the was diable, and liberal, cloquents; and visit of the total child. "As to his Parts he was diable, and liberal, cloquents; and visit of the monitoring of the control of the control of the carties of Quality. Returning of the parts of the form his place of the diable of the carties of Quality. Returning of the parts of the from his place of the diable of the parts of the from his place of the diable of the parts of the from his place of the diable of the parts of the from the place of the diable of the parts of the from the place of the diable of the parts of the from the parts of the parts of

After the Ceremona was the Hills and a litter of the performal with the Romp and Male and the Litter of the Ceremona was the Hills and the Litter of the Ceremona was the hills and the Litter of the Ceremona was the hills and the Litter of the Ceremona was the property of the Litter of the Ceremona was the property of the Many thoughts of the Many the Many

Cháp. VII.

"The Hillory of S PAIN.

"After Ray Love hid, duty. The other Nobles beg dishe finish of him, and there wanted not former by preceding the other Nobles beg dishe finish of him, and there wanted not former to preceding the other of the state of the property of the life of it, by vropsing of introduction with the covered as the former in the property of the life of it, by vropsing of introduction, which was his product of the life of it, by vropsing of introduction, which was his product of the work of the life of it, by vropsing of the them's king, which was his product of the work of the care of the

Chap. Vill.

326

the Moore loft that Neft, whence they continuously interfeed the Christian Territories. Prince Fredmand went to Cordova, and them, to Sevil, and the fifth fick, at high of the as their came to that Gity the Earl of Merche, but in 1-49 to the Sungal, Newvire, of the bell Blood of France, of a greated Prisease, and in Courtgous, that he gaind the Affectors of all Men. He brought with him $67 mile to Courtgous, that he gaind the Affectors of all Men. He brought with him $67 mile to the War, which was expected within three long and dentrions. The Moore were not left, our first fataulted Lucrata a great Jown, and incline five, could not carry it, they match d away to Barga. Their Nambert were great, for it is not they amounted to 7000 footh, and 100000 foot, an incredible Multitude; but flich it was as put the whole Kingdom into a Conferencion. Neverthelethery could not take the Gity, form, was bravely defended, but, they burnt the bulgarbs. All the Christians far, and never took the Afarm, and gather to relieve that amportant Place, which shows the same and near took the Afarm, and gather to relieve that amportant Place, which shows the an in the Comity of the other Hand Amore Engages, the Admiral obtained a confedence in the Same and the Same are Cair. The Kings of Teners and Commentation in the Comment of the Court of Anademses, at the Request of their Confedence in the Same are Cair. The Kings of Teners and Teners and the Miles of Grimeda. The Admiral when he difference did the most of the first of Grimeda. The Admiral when he did from Sevi on the rife to signal and revealed the same with the first of the same while trings for the sale in the Same and the same and put the reft to light. Mean while Prings Fredward recovering and when the disputer did fills had but to give the Same and the Same an harder of the Book of Orleans by him of Burgundy. The War carry'd on with More and a state concluded. Original of M. Alvaro de Luna. Continuation of Constitute dyid in Sashara, John Lewing, Saila, Chancellor of Calille, a Man reduction of this form may thinks, and personal stocked to the Chronicle he wrote of the Kings, John Wood and I and Personal II, the item's generally, believed he wrone of the Kings, John Wood and III and Personal II, the item's generally, believed he wrone of King, John John M. Chronicle, for the Sailance of Angille Management Law Enduced Orteons to be, murder'd inclined the wind throat Course in the Sailance Competitor, the Julia Reggers, all prings to the Management Course in the Sailance Competitor, the Julia Reggers, all prings to the Management Reggers, and the Course of the Kings, We categorie, all prings to the Management Reggers of the Sailance Course of the Kings of the Reggers, and the for illimit to risk the fifth of life Dutchell Deways he was fummon'ds to appear and answer for illimit to risk the Sailance Course of the Management Course of the Management Course of the Management Course of the Sailance Course of the Management of the Sailance of kill a Tyrant, was long diffured among the Dirines, and the Countil of Configurativhich finet not fong after, something the property of the King of Grance, and the Thirty of County been of Orle on was Stocher to the King of Grance, and the Thirty of Grance County been of Orle on the Stocher to the King of Grance, and the Thirty of Grance County been of Orle on the County been of Orle on Mother relided at Guadalogie, it being a comperate and indistintil Place in Thirther the Court of Cortes were allended to Grandologie, it being a comperate and indistintil Place in Thirther the County of Cortes were grant for any of the War. All were willing to for-grant fine haufted. However, the prefing Intances of the Price, and other great Men prevailed fo War with far that 1800 on the War. All were will not to be mispoly d. Whilt the Corte were fitting, the King of Wishest lay de Siege to Alcander, with a production of Note the Price, and whether were fitting, the King of Wishest lay de Siege to Alcander, with a production of Andrew were fitting, the King of Wishest lay the County being in Danger; and all Andrew allarmed the price of the County being in the Condition to oppose for great a Power, because the Forces were disperse, and whether beards may not the top to the county of the Condition of the County of the Condition of the content of the content of the content of the content of the condition of the content of t tended he had always dent of the first outlet ago be fo well felt heby a wird Hand. Emballedors were fent by Popie Gregory to agree in the place of Meesting, and after much content of the property of the place of Meesting, and after much content of the property of the place of Meesting, and after much content of the property of the place of Meesting, and after much content of the place of Meesting, and after much content of the place of Meesting of Meesting of the place of Meesting of Meesting of the place of Meesting of Meestin neither Pope fhould create Cardinals till they had conferr'd together. After this Pope Renebit immedjately imbarqu'd for the place appointed, that the World might believe hadered to compose Matters. Pope Gregory thought not that place fleging, and growning his Advertiary, yet came as far as Landy and Pope Benedit? advanced to Benedit and beautagered to him. All he acted was deceitful, and even Pope Gregory contrary to what had beautagered created three new Cardinals, which diffigured those of his Faction, and they withdraw to Pife. Pope Benedit? for this hard gone from the contrary to what had beautagered created three new Contrary to what had beautagered created three new Contrary to what had beautagered created three new Contrary to what had beautagered contrary to make a proposed to be recognized pure of what he had don't had beautagered to be some contrary to what had beautagered to be the submissions to put an end to the scotting and analog no assumption between mind of the first state of th clected a third Pope, who was Pierr Philogon, a Native of Condia, of the Order of Fryer.

CHAP. VIII.

Advance, and Archbithop of Miles. In his Manacy be took the Jame displayment the Web.
His Reign was short, and extended not to a Year. In which was logical unanyas a Remedy, only fored to increase the Display of infleed of two, show these wiere lift in Popes, each presenting to be the Light. So weak is all humans Folloy.

The Death of Martin King of Sicily. Soveral presenders to the Ground of Aragon.
Their feveral Claims. Martin King of Aragon profess that of his Name Produce.
Perdinaged of Castile, obbanists.

Their fewers, Claime, Martin King of Aragon profess that of his Nature Pract Ferdinand of Califle, the unjust.

Patine Evaluated govern'd the Kingdom of Cafile processity, we let the 100 Opportual test of the Cafile of Cafile of the Cafile

cale may the design of the company o

The History S.P.A.I.N.

The Moon was the model of the first Tansories, Prime Fordinand the model of the mod

THE Truce with the steers was now expire, and shear Boldness provoked and obliged before the Christians to sense the Wardingshey somether Town of Zaline a raying dall the Country and drove the Cartle. To plue a hope of their they, and revenge the Wrongs received, prince for singular years and accountry and accountry and revenge the Wrongs received, which is the Month of Formany however of the Wart, was the Amaron country of the Wart, which time as the Amaron of the Walt, and put the Page into a Roundry of the Walt, and put the Page into a Roundry of the Castle of the Ca

D. Rey Love: Debilai, and only the minds of the course before the City Angeless in the first down before the City Angeless in the first down before the City Angeless in the first was a Coop for march. Press of City, and the first march of their rathes and considering march. Press of City, and the first camp plunder, and the first work had core in good. Breatwork, had core in good Breatwork had core in good Breatwork and core in the first camp comments of form the time them, and the first camp comments of form the time them. The first camp comments and the forces at the time them, and the first camp comments of forces at the time them. The first camp comments and the forces of the time time them and the first camp comments and present in Angeles Ring comments at the first camp comments and the first camp

the thir Tible in the production of the control of and Vivandiers were in unlefs relieved in time. The Cariffians immediately marchid out of their Trenches, and charged the Infidels for pigoroully that they obliged them to retire towards Archingge. They were, too bard prefed to get into the Town, in fight whereof above age, were killed, many taken, and the reft, entirely different and routed. Of the Charlenge only, two yerse fields, and a fight wounded. On account of this Nictory we may git, and feeling the Lower's book, after this Action happened to negretary. The Hill British of the Archive the Archive the Archive the Wash and the Charlenge of the Charlenge o of 1981 of the limited of the control of the contro

Chap. II.

The Hiftery of S.P.AIN.

History of SPAID

The Twentieth BOOK.

CHÁP. I.

The State of Christendom. Nine Judges appointed in Aragon to decide the Dispute about the Succession. Arguments us'd by each of the Candidates. The Bovernment of King John of Portugal.

Turbulent State of Cort only Spain, but all Christendom was affilicted with bloody Mars, civil Differentiation.

Longitude of Confusions as made eyen Peace it fold dangerous and destructive Christendem.

Longitude Ambition of three Peace, each pretending a Right to S. Pear's Chair.

This was in a great Measure the fault of the Emperors, who ought to page 400 pto those growing Eritit. Longitude of Amyon favour'd, the Popes of Anjewer. Galenizae 100 pto those growing Eritit. Longitude King of Nagles, on the one fide imported Prop. Greate, the XIIIs.

On the other Line Duke of Anjon favour'd, the Popes of Anjewer. Galenizae 100 pto those made his Advantage of their conficions to the large his Dominicaes, and Makagang Ring of Behinnis by his negled of the Soverheament gave occasion to John Han, and Makagang Ring of Behinnis by his negled of the Soverheament gave occasion to John Han. An Handard Makagang Ring of Behinnis by his negled of the Soverheament gave occasion to John Han. An Handard Palassage the Ring of Behinnis by his negled of the Soverheament gave occasion to John Han. An Handard Ring of Behinnis by his negled of the Soverheam and Indule Greec. To provide against this Storm Radional Relatestation his his his high the Palassage the Ring for that Ringdom was involved. In War, and fall of Distrations fine the Duke of Bargand of the Bulk Greec. To provide against this Storm Radional Relatestation, the People were divided and could not agree who should inherit that Ordern. A civil War was much fewed, the all possible means were used to adjust that Affair about the boundary of the Bengerous his forces being inconsiderable, and no Supplies coming to him from Spain. In Science and Storm Related and College the Cheen Bengerous Helical Storm Related and College the Cheen Bengerous Helical Storm Related TOT only Spain, but all Christendom was afflicted with bloody Wars, civil Dif-leord, and such Confusions as made even Peace it folls dangerous and destructive.

his Go. new King by his good Actions made some amends for the route in his burth. The upun a vernment Monaftery of Dominicant at Alphborrous, called Bardlan, or the Battle, in Memory of his Success over the Castilians in that Place. On the Banks of Tagus his founded the Town of America, at Sim're creded a Royal Palace, befides many other fately Work. He was remarkable for administring Justice, to such a degree, that he caused Ferdinand Allongh as Samarah his Visce-chamberlain to be taken out of the Church and burnt, for having to do with D.

Beatrix de Caftro, one of the Queen's Ladystand turn'd Her out of the Court. The Portugues were so rich and powerful, that they relibive to undertake new Conquests, and pass guafer were so rich and powerful, that they restolved to undertake new Conquests, and pass over into Africh, which was the surface they advanced towards mighty Undertakings. This was the general Posture of Afairs in Christendom. The Schism in the Chuch perplex of the Control of Aragen was more notify departed in Spain.

The Carden again, Cardenian, and Falling in the Nations comprehended under the Consustation of Aragen, assembled every one afair to determine what ought to be done in re-onsing attaint to the Succession of the Crown. Their Opinions and Inclinations could not be re-value. The Control of the Cardenian was to be considered the new King they should be successful to the Control of the Cardenian and drove their own Interest rather than his. Most of the Cardenian control of th concilidate Each of the Candidates had Friends, whole chief aim was to oblige the new King they thought to fet up, and drove their own Interest rather than his. Most of the Catalian involved the Earl of Orgel, and among them, particularly the two noble Fainlies of Cardinarian Monada. Those of Alagon and Lima among the Aragonian fided with shifting and that to passionately, that Antony de Lima to carry on his Design caused D. Gartin de Heraldia, Archebishop of Zardoopa to be murder dy way-laying, him near Abshimia, for no other reason, but only that he was the chiefest that opposed the Earl of Orgel. This was a lainfow Action; and accordingly resented. The Actions were exceptionaicated, and the Earl's Cause them. reatin, Arch-bihop of Zeriegos to be murder'd, way laying him near Abhania, for no other reatin, but only that he was the chiefest that opposed the Earl of Orgel. This was a haintous Action, and accordingly resented. The Actors were excemimunicated, and the Earl's Ching suffice'd bysig for many dreaded a King who us'd such horrid means to obtain a Crown. The Nobility of Asyon had recourse to Arms, some to revenge stee Detth of the Arch-Determination, such the more for that a War was expected from France, and the Troops of Determination, such the more for that a War was expected from France, and the Troops of Capital appeared on the Frontiers, both ides threating Force if the Crown was not given them by shirmmens. The three Provinces having confluted what was to be done, after Judges to meet at Raspe, a Town in Angron, there to hear and determine between the experiment of the Winter of the Number of Station, and the Troops of the Number of Station, and the Aradia, and Brentarius of Paridae. The Candidates to decide Whatsberger of the Station of the Aradia, and Brentarius of Bardae. The Candidates to decide what the Station of the Number of Station of the Aradia, and Brentarius of Bardae. The Candidates to decide of the Number of Station of the Aradia, and Brentarius of Bardae. The Candidates to a station of the Number of the Comment of the Aradia of Aradia of the Comment of the Aradia of Aradia of the Comment of the Aradia of Aradia of the Comment of the Comment of the Aradia of Aradia. The Aradia of Aradia of the Comment of the Aradia of the Comment of the Aradia of the Aradia of the Comment of the Aradia of the Aradia of the Comment of the Comment

Truce et a footed with the colour fac dependent the post of the spirit of the research

Perdujand Frage of Caltile declar'd King of Aragon by the Judges, and afterwards Probleming as Lausgoca: Athiosoche Kingdom, volloger and takes the Earl of Urgel, who affire taken Crowning afficence -

When the Judges had heard what each of the Competitors had to fay, and the case perdinant had been thoroughly argued their close the Informations and conferred together scelared about the Judgment they were to give. They kept their Opinions private, and held the argue by Solemany they was editions to fee the end of that Debatt. To give Judgment with the the Solemany that was requisite, and to the satisfaction of all Men, they caused a large Scaffold Judges.

to be erected before the Church, which this dies might be feen all round. Mat was faid by the Billiop of Fluefon, as is utual in fisch Cafes. Then the Judges came onto the Church, and feared themselves at the upper end of the Scaffelin, and it another place the Embalfadors of the Candidrie. Pope Benedit was presented as a grat Fland in the Affair. E. Fincer Fluefon, the ingreat sandity and particular skill in preaching was simpley do to make Aspect to the People, and pronounce the Sentence. This plantage their, ended, all Men were attentive to hear the new King nam'd. Then F. Hieren with a loud. Voice, read which Decree of all the Judges which he had in Writing. When he came to name. Evidence the Shorts and Acclamations were fo great they feem'd to rend the Shies, and sisting effectively heard for a long time. After they had fomewhat ceast, the Mulick Histor wady faing the To Deum. This remarkable Act was performed on the last day of June, which embalf halfen his coming. He was then at Cuence in care for the Event of that Affair. Embalfidors came and Acclamations were to great they isem'd to rend the Shies, and assimilar else children for a long time. After, they had fomewant ceast, the should children ready fing the Tr. Dissum. This remarkable Ad was performed on the last days of Joseph wildensigh, immediately Emballadors were fent to give Notice thereof to Prince Foreiman, and Marken his company. He was then at Cumes in care for the Event of that Affair. Emballadors came from all particle Congratulate with him, Some out of Love, others to temporize. Particularly Stiffman the new Emperor, elected the last Many, a Prince more increase in the Ready of the new Emperor, elected the last Many, a Prince more increase in the Schim that had the long continul, finite to give him, loy for his Absention to hat to the Schim that had the long continul, finite to give him, loy of his Absention to hat the Schim that had the long of the particularly stiff the was trictained King on the 2 of Stiffman. The Nobility did relimines and which City he was trictained King on the 2 of Stiffman. The Nobility did relimines and which City he was trictained King on the 2 of Stiffman. The Nobility did relimines and the unit Cont of Allegiance to him and his eldest Son Prince Many Stiffman and the stiff the stiffman in minimin of Califf, whereas till then the Crown absence of the in in minimin of Califf, whereas till then the Crown absence of the in in the Control of the company which he stiff then the Crown absence of the company which he stiff then the Crown absence of the company which he stiff then the Crown absence of the company which he stiff then the Crown there came to that for the company of the Crown which he stiff then the Crown there exists to the Crown there exists to the company of the Crown which he stiff then the Crown there exists the stiff the stiff the stiff the stiff the the company of the Crown and the company of the Crown and the company of the Crown and the company of th

334

Register Chair Lieutena as sing with an integrated as a distance could gather in Argin married agreement the second street in the secon

CHAP, III.

The Christian Princes of Confine 1818 Mr Emperor 107 pas an end to the Sobifm in the Church in Investment of the Mineral Stationary of Association of the Conference with Pape Beingdist. The Connected Confinence. The two Papes John and Gregory abdicate.

Within what has been selected historial in "Sees", all the Princes of Christendom fent Applications to Stiffendor the Emperor, destring him to find out fome means to on for a reflecte the Unity of the Charest by questing an end to the Schiffin which had lasted forms miting the name of the Charest by questing an end to the Schiffin which had lasted forms inling the name of the Schiffin which had lasted forms in thing the high schiff of the Schiffin schiff of the Schiffin for the Schiffin schiff of the Schiff of the Schiffin schiff of the Schiff of the Schiffin schiff of the S and would hear of no Propofals of Peace. It was given in charge to the King of Aragon to reduce him to Reason. He and the King of Propose fent Emballadors to him upon that Acto reduce him to Reason. He and the King of Panner sent Emballadors to him upon that Account. At the same time the King of Parigon having subdird Orgel, and established Peace in his Kingdom return'd to Zaragoga, and either'd that City in Triumph. There he was a crown'd on the 11th of February 14.4, that Geremony having been deferr'd till then for several Reasons, and was now perform'd by the Arch-bishop of Tarragona, as Primate of all that Kingdom. The King was crown'd with the Crown sent him by his Silter in Law, Catherine Queen Downger of Castile, the value of its Workmanship, being equal to that of the Matter, the made of Gold set with precious Stones. Several Emballadors of Forreign Princes were present, as also the Prelates and Nobles of that Kingdom, particularly D. Bennar & Cabrera, Earl of Osion and Modica, now restor'd to the Kings Fayour, and D. How de Villena. 4 Man no less remarkable for his extraordinary Learning. That for the Mis-Henry de Villena, a Man no less remarkable for his extraordinary Learning, than for the Miffortunes he underwent, and was at that time deprived of his Inheritance, and the Mastership of the Order of Calatrava. The manner of it was thus. D. Conzalo de Guzman dying, D. Hemy de Villena through the Favour of King Hemy the IIId obtained that Dignity. Many of the Knights objected that he was marry'd, and therefore according to the Conflitutions of the Order could not be Master. His Ambition was such, that he resolv'd to be Divorced from his Wife the Lady Mary, de Albornoz, tho her Portion was great, the being Lady of Alcoger, Salmeron, Valdolivas, and the other Towns of the Infantada. To carry on this Divorce he own'd himself naturally Impotent, and to the end his own Estate might not fall to the Order, made over to the King the Towns of Tineo and Cangas, and his Right to the Marquisate of Villena. The Commendaries of the Order easily perceiv'd this was all Fraud. They affembled again, and having taken this Affair into Confideration depos'd D. Henry as illegally elected, choosing D. Lus de Guzman in his Place. This Election caus'd Disputes, which lasted 6 Years. All the Knights of that Order did not agree, some were for the first, some for the last Master. In conclusion, the Cistercian Monks by order of Pope Benedit, having hear'd both Parties gave Judgment in favour of D. Luis de Guzman. Thus he who valud himself upon his great Learning, was found not to understand his own Interest, and taking his Wife again, spent the remainder of his Days in Poverty; for the the Mastership was taken from him, the Patrimony of his Ancestors was not restor'd him. After the Solemnities at Zaragora were performed, the new King bent his Thoughts to the Affairs of the Church, as all Christian Princes desired. Having signifyed so much to Pope Belars of the church, as an control of the Borders and the Kingdom of Valencia on the Borders confers with Pope of Aragon and Catalonia. The King fignaliz'd himself in treating the Pope with all manner Benedith. of Respect. For first he led the Horse on which he rode to the Church, and thence to his Lodging, carry'd his Train; next day he waited upon him at Table, and Prince Henry did the Office of Cup-bearer. His Service, which was of Pewter, he chang'd into Silver and Gold. all to foften his obdurate Heart. They met several times to treat of the Affair in Hand. The Pope would not yield to lay down that Dignity, and his followers obstructed it: 50 Days were spent and nothing concluded. At the same time came News from Italy of the Death of Ladiflaus King of Naples, who was reported to be poison'd in the height of all his Profperity, when he might have hop'd to make himself Master of all Italy. He had no Issue, for which reason that Crown sell to his Sister Josepha, Widow of William Duke of Anstria, not above 30 Years of Age, and no less leud than the other Queen of Naples of the same Name, we have before mentioned. Many Princes confidering a Kingdom was her Dower were ambitious to marry her, and she was contracted to John, second Son to the King of Aragon, who on that Account went over to Sicily, and yet the Match was broken off, and that Queen marry'd to James of Bourbon, Earl of Marche, a comly Youth. Pandolphus Alopar was greater with the Queen than became the Regal Dignity, which was centur'd by the People, and refented by the Nobility. All hopes of reducing Pope Benedit being loft, the Christian Princes fill continu'd their Refolution of allembling a General Council, and appointed the City Confiance in Germany to be the Place of Meeting. The Bishops of Lady and France came first. Pope Gregory feath his Embalfadors with full Power to renounce the Papacy for him, if requir'd. Pope John came in Person, relying on his Friendship with the Emperor. King Ferdinand ceased not to press Pope Benedist to comply as well as his Competitors. After much contesting they sent an Embassy to the Emperor, desiring they three might meet in some convenient Place. The Prelates continued to assemble at Constance, and about 300 met. The Council was open'd on the 5th of November. At the fame time in Aragon a great fews con. Number of Jews was converted by S. Vincent Ferrerius.

Chap. IV.

336

To facilitate the Conversion of the verted. reft several severe Laws were enacted against them. At Constance on Christmas Night which preceded the Year 1415. Pope John and the Emperor went together to Matins, two Chairs were fet for them, the Pope's somewhat above the Emperor's. After the Divine Service they began to discourse of the Affair in Hand, and it was agreed by all the Prelates that the three Popes should freely abdicate, to which Pope John, tho with some Reluctancy, condescended.

1415. On the 4th of March he faid a folemn Mass, and that ended, promis'd in publick to renounce Pope John the Papacy, which gave great Satisfaction to all Men. This was but Counterfeit, for not forced to the Papacy, which gave great Satisfaction to all Men. forced to long after he fled away by Night, with a delign to keep that Division afoot. Some Persons were sent after him, who apprehended and brought him back to Constance, where he was forc'd to refign the Papacy, and given in Custody to the Count Palatine; yet three Years after he escap'd, and to pacify him had his Cardinals Cap restor'd, and dy'd at Florence, where he was also bury'd. The Treasures he had heap'd whilst Pope were left in the Hands of Cosmo de Medices, a Noble Citizen of that Place, which is faid to have been the first step of como ar executes, a route curren or that riace, which is late to have been the first tep he afcended by, and his family afterwards to be Princes of that Dominion. The Joy conceiv'd for the deposing of Pope John was redoubled 5 Days after, when Charles Malanester, Pope Gregory's Commissioner made a folerur Act of Renunciation in his Name. Only Pope Benedist remain'd, of whose Obstinacy they fear'd he would continue the Schism, should they elect another before he refign'd. There was but one way left, which was that the Emperor, Pope and King of Aragon should meet as had been proposed. To this effect Embassadors were fent to the two last, and the City Nice on the Coast of Piemont, appointed for their Conference. Still it was hop'd Benedist would follow the Example of his Competitors, and fubmit to the Refolutions of all Nations.

CHAP. IV.

The Portugueles pass over into Africk and take Ceuta. All Endedvours us'd to move Pope Benedict to resign the Papacy prove vain. Ferdinand King of Aragon his Death. The Council of Constance puts an end to the Schism in the Church.

Hilft these things were in Agitation at Constance, the King of Aragon at Valencia with Marriage all Majesty solemniz'd the Marriage of his Son Alonso, with the Princess Mary, Si-of the fter to King John of Castile. To Honour the Solemnity, Pope Benedist came thither, as did all Prince of ther to King John of Capite. 10 Figure 10 Figure 20 Figu deferv'd it for his good Parts, and the fignal Services he had done to the Crown. Prince Alonfo was marry'd on the 12th of June. Her Father left the Princefs the Marquifate of Filena for her Dower, but it was taken from her, and in lieu of it she had 200000 Ducats, because the Castilians would not allow that Estate to be given to the Aragonians, it lying on the Borders of both those Kingdoms, very opportunely to make Incursions in time of War, The King of Portugal fince the last Year was fitting out a powerful Fleet. All the Neighbouring Princes, as is usual in such Cases, were jealous lest it might be design'd against bouring Princes, as is ulial in tuch Cates, were jeasous test in might be denight a against them: Particularly the King of Arsgon was concern'd, because it was reported the Portugues design'd to undertake the Protection of the Earl of Vegel, which would diffurb the Peace of Aragon. They were all deceived, for the Designs of the Portugues were of another Nature, and the provided the provided them. He soud Fortune which the provided them which the provided them. Aragon. They were an decerved, But the Dengins of the Language were of another Pattern en by the to wit to pass over into Africk and make new Conquests there. His good Fortune which ranguage. had gain'd and fix'd him in that Kingdom, to which hehad no Right, encourag'd him, and he fought new Conquests to bestow on his many Children, because the Limits of Portugal were but very Narrow. By the Queen his Wife he had the Princes, Edward, Peter, Henry, John, and Ferdinand, and the Princess Elizabeth, Besides them a Bastard Son call'd Alonfo, afterwards Earl of Barcelas. He fitted out 30 great Ships, 27 Galleys, 30 Galliots, and many other small Vessels, which in all made up 120 Sail. With this Fleet the King set fail towards Africk, notwithstanding that at the same time Queen Philippa dy'd, whom he caus'd to be buryd in the new Monastery of Batalla at Aljubarreta. At his first Landing on the 222d of August he took the City Centa, seated upon the Sreights of Gibraltar by Storm. The first that mounted the Wall was a Souldier call'd Cortereal, another call'd Albergueria was first at entring the Gate. Both were rewarded by the King as they deserved, and others were honour'd according to their Merits. Of the Moors, some were put to the Sword, others fled, and others were made Slaves, This lucky beginning put the Portugues in hopes of fubduing large Territories in Africk. This same Year they also after'd their manner of Computation from the Era of Celar, and began to reckon from the Birth of our Lord, as all other Countries did. The Council of Confrance still labour'd to settle the Assairs of the Church. Countries and The Countries of companies and land of the land of t vice of his Table of Pewter, in token of Mourning for the unhappy State of the Church. Thither resorted Embassadors from France, Castile, and Navarre. All the World was in Expetation what this Meeting would produce. King Ferdinand by reason of his Indisposition could not attend the Conferences. Yet from his Bed conjur'd Pope Benedict to restore the Peace of the Church, and to remember the Promises he had formerly made. He urg'd the Example of his Competitors, and fhew'd how short a time he could expect to live, being of a great Age. Pope Benedict was resolved not to agree to any Composition, and therefore only study'd to protract or delay time. Both Princes prefs'd him to come to fome Refolution. One X x day he made a long Harangue indefence of his Right, alledging, that if ever there was any doubt of the dueners of his Election it had now ceas'd by the Relignation of his Competitors, he only being left as fole Governour of the Church; that the Older he was the more cause he had to fear offending God, by timoroully yeilding to quit his Charge. He spent 7 whole Hours in this Discourse without the least sign of Weariness, tho he was 77 years of Age. and the Auditors tir'd flip'd away one after another. At last he urg'd, that in case he were not the true Pope, yet the choosing of another appertain'd to him alone, as being the only Cardinal left alive of those promoted before the Schisin by a Pope, whose Right was indif-Pope Be- putable. Much time was spent in these Debates, and no hopes of any Conclusion. The Emperor weary of these delays departed from Perpignan, threatning Pope Benedit to make use of Force, since he could not be reduc'd by fair means. Yet he made some stay at Narbonne, to see whether King Ferdinand could work upon that hard Heart; but all was in vain, for Pope Benedict fled to Piniscola, hoping to maintain himself there, it being seated on a Rock encompass'd' almost on all sides by the Sea. At length the only remedy remaining was made use of, which was to disown him in Aragon, as was done by Edict, and all Persons forbid to 1416. acknowledge him as Pope. F. Vincent Ferrerius, who had always adher'd to him, was the Man that now advis'd to cast him off. Some Persons still retain'd a scruple, but the generality easily consented. Benedist himself was 10 offended, that he say'd, he who was most beholding to him was his chief Enemy, and he hop'd God would for his lingratitude deprive him of the Kingdom which he had given him. Whillt these things were hottest in Debate, Ellenor Queen of Navarre dy'd on the 5th of March at Pamplona. She lies in an Alablaster Tomb in the Cathedral of that City, with an Inscription signifying the time of her Death.

338

King Ferdinand's Disease continu'd, and he earnestly desir'd to return to Castile, to try whether his Native Air would recover him. Sickly Perfons, especially at the Point of Death, fancy whatever they defire. Besides he was solicitous to promote the Interest of Castile on account of his Kindred with that King, and as Governour to him during his Minority. He also was desirous that Kingdom should cast off Pope Benedict, as Aragon had done. To this purpose he return'd from Perpignan to Barcelona, and at the beginning of the Summer set out for Castile. Travelling increased his Distemper, and he was forc'd to take up at Igualada, 6 Leagues from Barcelona. There the Phylicians gave him over, and having received the Sa-Ferdinand craments, he dy'd like a good Christian upon the 2d of April. He was a Prince endi'd with of diagon excellent Perfections, of a graceful Prefence, and dextrous at gaining the good Will of all dies. Some accuse him of being very flow, for abandoning Pope Benedith, for making his Advantage of the Revenue of Caffile, for being lavish of his own; and covetous of what belong'd to others to supply his Extravagances. He reign'd 3 Years, 9 Months, and 28 Days. His Body lies at Poblete in a very mean Tomb. By his Will made some Months before at Perpignan, he provided for his Children in this manner. To Prince John he gave the Estate of Lara, and Medina del Campo, also the Town of Monblane, with the Title of Duke in Catalonia, and feveral other Towns. To Prince Henry he left Albuquerque, and to D. Sancho Montalvan. He appointed Alonso his eldest Son, Heir to the Crown. In case all the Brothers fhould die without Issue, he order'd the Sons and Grandsons of his Daughters, Mary and Ellenor, should succeed, yet excluded the Mothers. King Ferdinand's Death was the cause that Castile for some time continu'd to give Obedience to Pope Benedict. He had many Friends, whom he had oblig'd in Castile, and particularly the Arch-bishops of Toledo, and Sevil, D. Sancho de Rojas, and D. Alonfo de Exea stickl'd for him. Fresh Tumults began in Castile, which shew'd how necessary the Prudence and Valour of

Troubles King Ferdinand had been for the Peace of that Country. Queen Catherine immediately entred

in Caffile. upon the whole Government of the Kingdom. She committed the Education of the King to the Arch-bishop of Toledo, and joyn'd with him John de Velasco, and James Lopez de Zuniga, the chief Juftice. Many complain'd they had no share in the Preferments given, and among them were D. Alonso Enriquez the Admiral, and D. Ruy Lopez Davalos the Constable. At 1417. the beginning of the Year 1417, a Truce was concluded with the King of Granada for two Years, by which he was oblig'd every Year to release 100 Christian Slaves. The Prelates at the Council of Constance attended to all that was for the Advancement of the Church. To John Hus pacify the Rebellion in Robenia, and reduce the Hereticks, they brought their Heads, John and Hie- Hus 4 and Hierome of Prague to that City, having obtain'd them a fafe Conduct from the Emperor. Herefy once fix'd, is hard to be rooted out. They both fled from the City, and being apprehended by Parties fent out after them, were publickly Burnt. The Hereticks being punish'd, and their Heresy condemn'd, the Bishops again apply'd themselves to make up the Divisions in the Church. On the 26th of July they excommunicated Pope Benedict, who only remain'd of the three, and depriv'd him of any Right he could pretend to S. Peter's Chair. This Sentence being made publick, they proceeded to the Election of a new Pope. There were present 22 Cardinals of those that had follow'd the three Popes; to these were joyn'd 30 other Electors, some of them Bishops, the others Men of Note, all which were shut up in the Conclave. All of them to a Man agreed to the Election of the Cardinal, Otho Colonna, a Native of Rome. This was done on the 11th of November, and he took the Name of Martin the Vth. The Joy for this Choice was universal, for all Nations laying afide former Prejudices submitted to the new Pope. Only the King of Scotland, and Earl of Armegnac with some few Cardinals for a while stuck to Pope Benediet, but they also has not some and the forest calculated for a white index to rope between, our tney and in a floor time for fook him. Soon after the Council was diffolved, but it was decreed they should meet again within 5 Years, and the second time 7 Years after that, and then at the end of 10 Years, and that for ever after there should be a General Council once in 10 Years. The new Pope fent two Cifercian Monks to advise Benedict to submit to the Decree of the Council, and admonish his Cardinals to leave him. They prevail'd not upon Reneditt, but his four Cardinals who were Spaniards, and whom he had retain'd upon promise of Preferment left him, and repair'd to the new Pope at Horence. This Year was unhappy to France, The Cana-and no lefs fortunate to Cafelle for the renewing of the Voyage to the Canaries, by content tire con of the Queen of Gastile, by which means John de Betancon, a French Man, who undertook this Expeditions subdu'd 5 of those Islands. Menante his Kinsman succeeded him. Pope Martin gave the Bishoprick of those Islands to a Fryer call'd Mendo. These two fell at Variance, and Peter Barba was fent by the King to compose them. He bought the Islands for a Sum of Mony of Menante, and fold them again to Peter Peraga, a confiderable Citizen of Sevil, whose Heirs posses'd them till the time of King Ferdinand the Catholick, who intirely subdu'd and annex'd them to the Crown of Castile. This is what relates to Spain. The Misfortunes of France happen'd in this manner. Henry the Vth King of England demanded of Charles the VIth Henry the of frame, in Bughter Catherine in Marriage, which he refuling King Henry fail'd over into the Normandy, overthrew the French Army, took the Dukes of Orleans and Bourbon Prisoners, Bugland and after a troubletom Siege made himself Master of Roam, the Metropolis of that Province Prace. This was not all, for Elizabeth Queen of France left her Husband, and with her Daughter Catherine, fled to Tours, whence she sent to the Duke of Burgundy, who not only secur'd the Queen and her Daughter, but also the King and City of Paris. Charles the Daughin made what Head he could against the English and Burgundians. The Dauphin and Duke of Burgunav agreed to have a Conference upon a Bridge over the Seine, on the middle of which was a and agreement accommendation of the Dauke to come over to him, and some Words arising kill'd him which the Daukh were most fatal to France is doubtful, for his Son Philip too to be a Death of his Father deliver'd up the City of Paris with the King, Queen and Princes Gatherine to the English, whence ensu'd innumerable Calamities which happen'd later, and are forreign to our purpose.

The History of SPAIN.

CHAP. V.

The Death of the Queen of Castile. Marriages of Princes. Prince Henry of Aragon feizes the King of Caltile. Tumults in that Kingdom. Strange Prodigies. Many Colledges built in Caftile.

Queen Ellenor of Aragon after the Death of the King her Husband retir'd into Caftile, and there fpent the time of her Widowhood with her Children. A motion was made that the King of Caffile should marry her Daughter the Princes Mary. Queen Catherine approved Catherine not of that Match. To prevent it the pleaded the King was too young, whereas if reality Queen of the was rather inclinated to Match him in Portugal with the Princess Ellenor, who was her Neece, capital and not only she, but most of the Court thought that Match would unite the two Kingdoms and not only use, our more or the Court through that makes would unter the two Kingdoms in a lafting knot of Amity. Death prevented those Designs, which suddenly took away Queen Catherine at Valladoid; then Thirfday the 2d of June, in the Year 1418, at the age of 50. Of Body slie was large and gross, somewhat free in drinking as is the Custom of her Country; open hearted, and bountfull, which Virtues some made use of to advance their Interest, and slander others. Most of her Countellors and Ministers were mean Persons, which is very dangerous for Princes. She was bury'd in the Royal Chappel of Toledo in a particular Tomb, where she had given Revenue for 15 Chaplains to pray for the Souls of her and her Husband. The Queen's Death produc'd great Alterations. The King notwith-John King standing his tender Age came out of that profound Ignorance in which his Mother had kept of Caffile reading its tender Age came out of that probable agnorance in which his prother had kept scapine him, and began in form Measure to govern the Kingdom, affilted with the advice of some govern the Kingdom, affilted with the advice of some govern him. Among them the chiefest was the Arch-bishop of Toledo, who being of Archbishop of Toledo, who are the Archbishop of Toledo, who being of Archbishop of Toledo, who are the Archbishop of Toledo, where the Archbishop of Toledo, who are the Archbi a haughty Spirit, ambitious of Honour, and a bufy Man, feiz d'the Government into his own flop of Hands, fo that under the Shadow of the King's Name he turn'd all things which way he Toled. pleafed. Two Embassadors came from France to sue for some Succours in that time of need. They were put off with an excuse grounded on the King's Minority, the late Troubles, and new ones that were fear'd! It was again propos'd to marry the King. The Archbilhop ow'd all his Preferment to the Crown of Argon, and therefore prevail'd the Match with Argon flould be preferr'd before that of Pointgal. On the 21st of October the King and Princess were contracted at Medina del Campo with great Pomp. One of the Articles of Marriages Marriage was that the Princess Catherine, younger Sister to King John should be marry'd to of Princess. one of the Princes of Aragon. None was particularly nam'd because Prince John the eldest was unresolved where he should take a Wife. First he was contracted to Elizabeth, Daughter to the King of Navarre, and broke off in hopes of marrying Johna, Queen of Naples, as was faid before. He spent some time governing Sicily, instead of Queen Blanch, whom her Father the King of Navarre caus'd to return home, she being the eldest Sister, and Heires of that Crown. Many Princes made suit to her for her great Fortune, but her Father preferr'd before them all this Prince Solm for 'his good Qualities, and because he hoped Aragon and Navarre might come to be united, King Bloofs his Brother having no Issue. Her Dower for the present was 420000 Florins. It was also articl'd, That in case Queen Blanch should die without slike, her Husband after the Deccase of his Father and Mother in Law should during his Life stile himself, and be actually King of Navarre. They were marryd by Proxy at Olite. The Prince's Commissioner was Same Gamer, he Sandonal. Narshew to the Acceler. Olice. The Prince's Commissioner was James Gomez de Sandoval, Nephew to the Archbi-

Martin the Vth. chosen Pope.

Chap. VI.

Nobility of Castile

340

Olite. The Prince's Commissioner was James Gomes, de Sandoval, Nephew to the Archbishop of Toledo, Lieutenant of Cassile, and Steward to the Princes, with Mylon he afterwards was in the highest Favour, and at last was cast down, as fail, be shewn in its place. This Contract was made in the Year 1419. This same Year the Admiral Vincent Eurerius of the Order of S. Dominick changed this Life for a better at Vames in Arrany, and was afterwards for his Virtue and the Miracles he wrought, put into the number of the Saints. His Body was bury'd in the Cathedral of that City. Let us return to King John of Cassile. Cassile began to be disturb'd, the Nobility being at Variance. The King was too young and weak to curb them. Many envy'd the Arch-bishop of Toledo, and were oftended that a Priest should have more Power than all the Nobility. The King was advised to take upon him the Government, since he was 14 Years of Age. To this purpose the Cortes met, at Madrid, to which all Persons of Note reforted. On the 1th of March all that Assembly being together in the Palace of that Town, the Archbishop made a study'd Speech, declaring to them how the King intended to take the Government upon himself, and lay assemble in Tutors. D. Alonthe King intended to take the Government upon himself, and lay aside his Tutors. D. Alon-To Emignez the Admiral in the Name of all there present approv'd of his Resolution, and for Emiguez the Admirgal in the Name of all there prelent approvd of his Relolution, and they altogether appliaded it. It was requifite the King's tender Years flould, have fone fupport, therefore he admirted to his Council all those who had been of it in his Father's time, and during his Boage. The Arch-billiop of Toledo, the Admiral, the Conflable, Peter Manying. Lieuwepant: of Loon, and John Hurtado de Mendoya the Lord Steward, were appointed Commissioners to consider of all Grants, and bestow Preferments in Conflate of the Conflate of Conflate of the Conflate of Confl Among others the Princes of Aragon, John, and Henry, Master of the Order of Suniago were then at Court; them the Arch-bishop endeavour d by all means to draw to his Party, were then at Court; them the Arch-billop endeavour o by all means to draw to his carry, that they night fupport him againft his Enemies, and he continue fixt in the Government. From Madrid the King went to Segovia, where a Dispute happening betwirk the Courtiers and Townsinen, they were very near coming to blows. The Princes of Aragon did not agree among themselves, both alpiring to posses themselves of the King and Government, and admitting of no Competitor. The Nobility was divided, D. Ruy Lopez, Datuslos the Constable, and Peter Marrique favour'd Prince Henry, Ferdinand Earl of Trastamara, and the Arch-bishop of Toledo sided with Prince John. The King was young and changeable, the Arca-Dinop of 10000 ince with Frince Johns. The King was young and stangeable, Johns foon angry, and as foon pleastd. His feature was large confidering his Age, his Comparater, plexion-clear, but withal he was weakly, and had no good Face, yet of Temper was mild and tractable. He delighted in Hunting, Jufts, and Tuncaments, lov'd Learning, and could himfelf make indifferent Spanife Verles." These Virtues which shew'd themselves in his Childhood, in his riper Years spread more and grew to Perfection. Yet all this was his Childhood, in his riper Years ipread more and grew to Perfection. Yet all this was defaced by his love of Eafe, and neglect of the Government. He gave little attention to Business, and that always in half; in More the was not fit to rule a Kingdom. This it was D. Always that put his Courtiers in the way of obtaining great Preferments; especially Always de Luna, who began already to be more in his Favour than any other. Queen Mother of the Luna, who began already to be more in his Favour than any other. Queen Mother of me Years before to oblirued his unreasonable Advance in the Ring's. Esteem, had prudently forbid him the Court, ordering him to return to Aragim. Years he acked very indiscrectly, in keeping the King as she did till her Death, which was fon above 6 Years lock'd up at Valladolid in a House near-the Monastery of St. Paul swithous infering him to go abroad, or permitting any Body to visit him, but his menial Servants. (This she did that the Nobility might not feize him, and disturb the Peace of the Kingdom. A miterable fort of Education for a Prince, so that afterwards he knew not the Noblemen that came to visit him. The riper Years are for the most part answerable to the Education, as appears by this Prince. For a Prince, to that afterwards he knew not the Noblemen that came to with him. The riper Years are for the moft part anleyable to the Education, as appears by this Prince. For after the Queen's Death, as if he had been kept in a dark Place, or were just come from his Mother's Womby, he always behav'd himfelf like an utter stranger to the Assars of the Government. Business perplex'd and troubl'd him. This is the reason he was always govern'd by his Courtiers and Favourites, which was the cause of great and continual Troubles. At the beginning of the following Year which was the cause of great and continual Troubles. At the beginning of the following Year which was the cause of great and continual Troubles. At the beginning of the following Year which was the cause of saming, either to facilitate his Marriage with the Princess Catherine, or to get the upper hand of his Adversaries, came to that Town with a party of his followers; secured John Hurtado de Mendoya, tors the word of the Household, and others belonging to the Court, and took the King himself, Steward of the Houlhold, and others belonging to the Court, and took the King himfelf, collitus on permitting him to go any whither, or to dispatch any Business. A great disprace to the Kingdom, that the King fhould be detaind Prisoner by his own Subjects. This Aft der its froat mov'd the Nobility to take up Arms. Prince John of Aragon headed them, who have

ing spent but four Days in celebrating the Solemnity of his Marriage at Pamplona, set out immediately for Castile, moved to it by the Report of what had happen'd, and the Letters immediately for Cafile, moved to it by the Report of what had happen'd, and the Letters of many that fivited him thither. At Aiolia the King of Cafile was marry'd without any Magnificence, or demonstrations of Joy, by reason most of the Nobility were absent, and he himself no better than a Prisone. Prince Henry for his own security, and to strengthen his Party, kept 3000 Horse in that City. His Brother Prince John was at Olmedo, and had an equal number of Horse canton'd in the neighbouring Towns. "To him reforted all forts of People from all Parts of the Country, designing to revenge the Assirond one to the King and Kingdom. It was endeavour'd to have the two Brothers meet, but it was prevented, and would be a supposed to the King and Kingdom. The was endeavour'd to have the two Brothers meet, but it was prevented. and Kingdom. It was enquayour a to have the two brothers meet, but it was prevented, nor would they fuffer Prince John to fipeak to the King. Prince Henrytho he had all the Power in his own Hands, yet to provide for the future contrived to have the Cortes meet in that City. No body had liberty of Speech, or durft utter his Thoughts, the Town being full of Souldiers, and the place where they met furrounded with armed Men. Thus Prince Henry was by those Cores clear'd of any thing that might be lay'd to his charge till Prince Henry was by those Corres clear of any thing that might be lay d to his charge till that time. No Man durft oppose this Resolution, or mutter, in so much, that as it were to reward that Exploit by the King's Consent it was obtain'd of Pope Martin the Vib, that the Mastership of the Order of Santiago should be set!'d hereditary upon Prince Henry and his Heirs, which had 'prov'd a new Plague to Spain, had not the King when he came to riper Years cancell'd that Decree. The Princes Catherine openly oppos'd Prince Henry. She faid plainly the would not have a Husband, who aimed by force of Arms to take what he faid planny the would not have a Husband, who aimed by lorce of Arms to take what he ought to hope for as the reward of his good Service. However her weak Refolution was vanquilfid, and they were marry'd at Talavera; a great Town near Toledo, whither the King went from Avila. He had with her the Lordflip of Villena, with the Title of a Duke. To Alvaro de Linia the chief of the Courtiers for being infrumental in this Affair, was given the Town of Santifevan de Gormaz. This was the first step he advaned towards the great Preferments and Riches he afterwards acquir'd. About this time every day there were Earthquaks, and noises under Ground in Catalogia from Tolofa to Performan. Near Girona Prodigles. Earthquaks, and noises under Ground in Catalonia from Tolofa to Perpignan. Near Girona Pr was a Town call Amer, where the Earth gap'd in two Places and cast out Fire that burnt all that came within two Stones throw of them. Out of another Mouth near those of Fire gush'd black Water, and half a mile from thence mixt with a River (which I suppose to be Sameroca) so that that Town was destroyd, and all the Fish in the River dy'd. The stence of the Water was such, that the Birds clapt their Wings as they slew that way, and it extended as far as Girona, tho at four Leagues distance. Jams de Amaya Arch-bishop of Sevit built the College of St. Baribolomem, at Salamanca, and endow'd it with Revenues to maintain a good Number of Scholars, in imitation of the College built at Bolonia by the Cardinal City of Mariana. This good Evample was afterwards follow'd by several Perssence Comp. tain a good reminer of Scholars, in mination of the Content of the American Open Cardinal Giles de Mortoz. This good Example was afterwards followed by feveral Perfons of Quality, who built other Colleges, which have brought forth many Men famous for Learning. Three other Colleges were built at Salamanca, and call'd the Great Ones, a fourth at Valladolid, a fifth at Alcala, and many others of less Note.

CHAP. VI.

Original of the Portugues Discoveries. King Alonso of Aragon adopted Heir to the Crown of Naples. The King of Cashile escapes from his Consinement, and suppresses many of the Rebels. D. Alvaro de Luna made an Earl.

Now it was that the two Nations of the Aragoniams, and Portugueses made themselves way to obtain new Dominions. Heavy Son to the King of Portugal, being much ad Discoved in the vast Ocean. To this purpose he sent out several Ships, and in the way between the courses found a simall, but fruitful sliand, so full of Trees that they remain a simal state of the state of Portugal after him at length came to the Coasts of Assa. India, and China to their no less Honour than Profit. Luis Duke of Assa being Jonaina Queen of Naples within that City. The cause of making War upon her was the antient hatred he bore to that Crown, and the Lendness of the Queen, whose Husband no longer able to Sear with her, returned to France, and became a Franciscan Fryar. The Queen being reduced to great Streights, sent of her assay the strength of the Assay of Aragon, the results are compensed of which Serves of Aragon the said france promising to adopt him as her Son, and leave him the Kingdom of Naples, and opped He said from Sardinia to Naples, and rais'd the Siege, in recompense of which Serves Helr of Helr of Helr of Helr of the Raples. He said from Sardinia to Naples, and rais a the siege, in recompense of which service new was adopted Heir to the Crown, said the Pope approved of that Act. It is needless to dispute the Legality of that Adoption, but certain it is it was the cause of tedious and bloody Warts betwixt Spain and France, which have lasted till our Days. King Alonso having subdu'd Sardinia and abandon'd Cossess to the Geneeles, fail'd with speed to Paterno in Sicily, hoping to secure the Succession to the new Kingdom, and was the more bent upon it, for that a certain Mathematician five years before told him, That Heaven promifed him great Things, that he should be Master of Naples, that he should have many Subjects, and heap mighty Riches, whereupon he encourag'd him boldly to purfue his Fortune. mighty Kiches, whereupon he encourage nim botaly to pursue his rorrune.

The depriving the King of Caftile of his Liberty causid great Commotions, and the ImK. John of prifonment of feveral Perfons of Note. The Court was at Talwor'a, as has been faid, and the Califle King, as if heminded not the wrong done him, diverted himself in Hunting. This gave him
